FTI Consulting's Economic & Financial Consulting (EFC) practice provides critical insight and expert testimony in legal and regulatory proceedings, strategic decision making and public policy debates. We provide law firms, corporations and government agencies with sophisticated and comprehensible analyses of complex economic issues to assist them in understanding the issues and opportunities they face. Our EFC practice is involved in a wide range of engagements related to economics, finance and accounting. We have deep expertise in loss quantification in litigation and international arbitration, valuation, quantitative finance, and the economics of regulated industries. We have extensive industry experience in construction, oil and gas, mining, hospitality and real estate, network industries, financial services, and shareholder disputes, among other sectors.
