

Data & Analytics

Data Solutions that Drive Impact

Today's leading organizations must harness data's full potential to navigate crises, lead business transformation efforts and drive strategic decision making. At FTI Consulting, our global Data & Analytics ("D&A") practice solves our clients' most complex challenges by empowering them to maximize the transformative power of their data.

We specialize in turning data into actionable insights, helping clients navigate their toughest data-driven challenges whether responding to high-stakes investigations or litigation, streamlining corporate operations or driving innovation through the strategic deployment of advanced technology. Our multidisciplinary team – including former regulators, technologists and data scientists – combines deep technical expertise with industry knowledge to deliver practical impactful solutions.

Our cross-functional experts excel in applying modern analysis methods and advanced technologies to address the most challenging business problems facing our clients, combining our:

- Analytical Approach: We leverage strategic methodologies and innovative problem-solving techniques to uncover insights and drive better decision-making.
- Industry Expertise: Our team draws on decades of experience across sectors, supported by former regulators, technologists, corporate executives and attorneys who deeply understand our clients' challenges.
- Technical Acumen: Our experts harness the power of artificial intelligence, machine learning, data architecture and advanced analytics to deliver flexible, sustainable and scalable solutions.

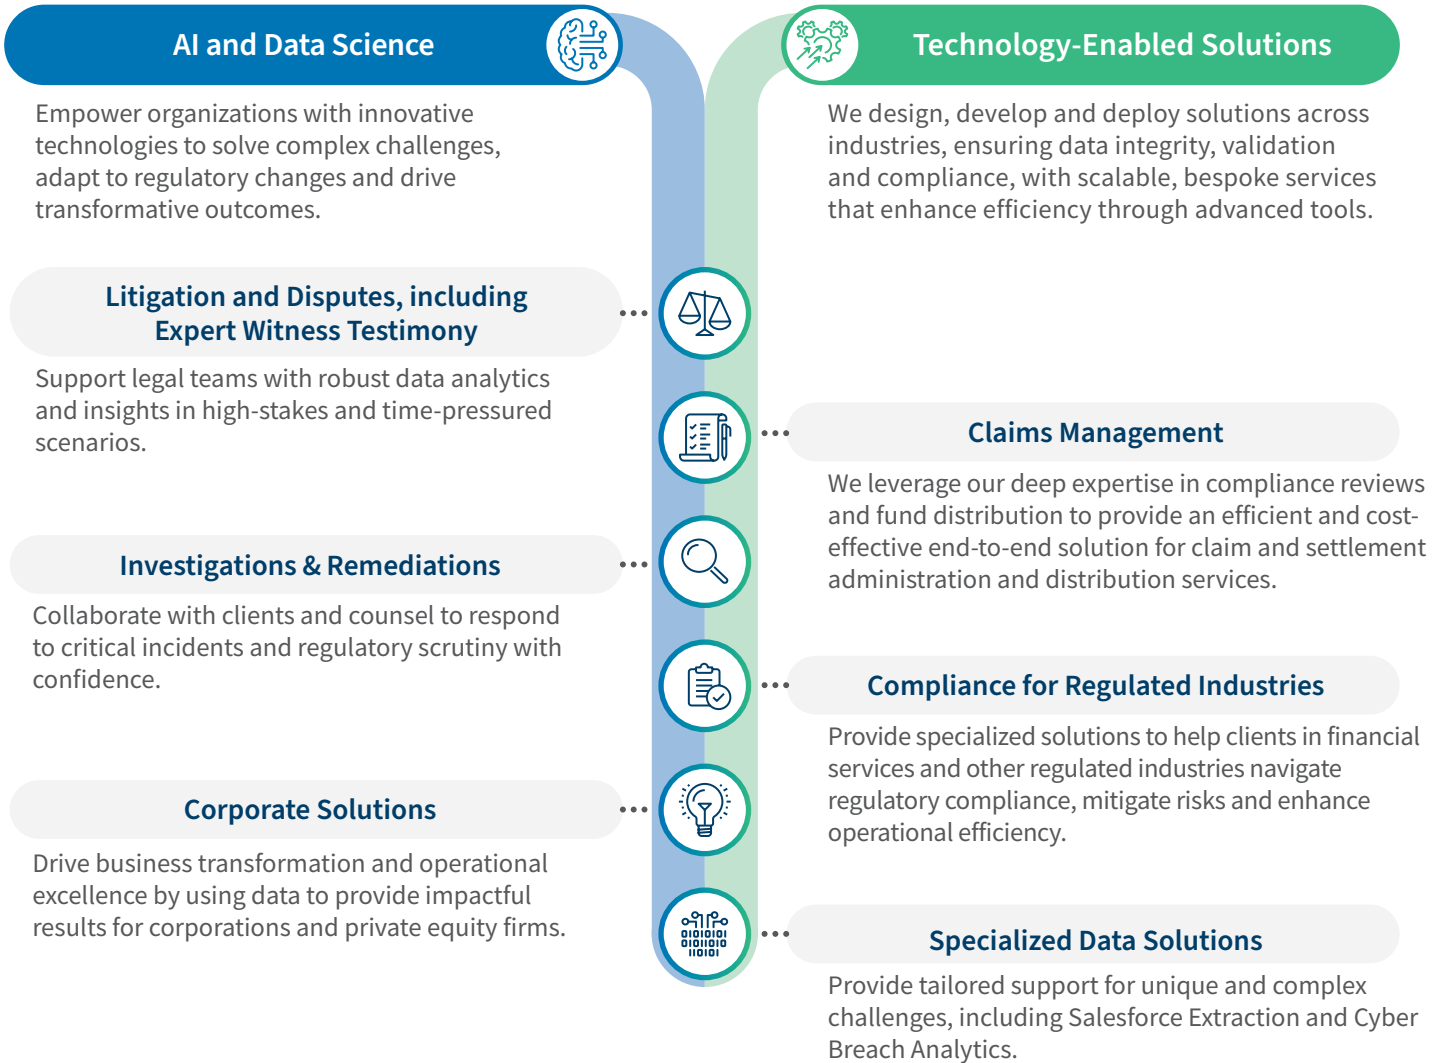

With our tailored, precise and forward-looking approach, we provide the clarity and confidence clients need to make informed decisions in critical moments. The D&A practice does not just solve problems; we create pathways to success by using data to drive insights in a rapidly evolving data landscape.
