financial statements as a whole are free of material misstatement, the auditor should express a qualified opinion or a disclaimer of opinion.[10]

6. Respondents failed to comply with PCAOB rules and standards in connection with each of the Firm's audits described below.

Audit of Grid Petroleum's Financial Statements

7. Grid Petroleum Corp. is a Wyoming corporation located in Buffalo, Wyoming. Grid's public filings disclose that, at all relevant times, it was focused on the development, exploration, and production of oil and gas in North America. Grid filed its Form 10-K/A on July 14, 2015.[11] At all relevant times, it was an issuer as that term is defined by Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

8. Scrudato, as engagement partner, authorized the Firm's issuance of an audit report, dated July 9, 2015, expressing an unqualified audit opinion on Grid's financial statements for the year ended March 31, 2015.

9. In connection with the audit of Grid's financial statements, Respondents failed to exercise due professional care and professional skepticism and failed to perform the audit in accordance with PCAOB standards. Specifically, Respondents failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence concerning a significant balance in Grid's financial statements. Scrudato and the Firm failed to perform sufficient procedures related to the valuation of Grid's largest asset, oil and gas properties, which represented approximately $7 million, or 99%, of total reported assets.

10. When an auditor uses the work of a specialist in connection with an audit, the auditor should evaluate the qualifications of the specialist as well as the relationship of the specialist to the client.[12] In addition, auditors should obtain an understanding of, among other things: (1) the methods or assumptions used by the specialist and (2) how those methods and assumptions compare to those used in the preceding period.[13] Grid's management engaged a specialist to assess the fair value of its oil and gas

---

[10] See Auditing Standard No. 14, Evaluating Audit Results ("AS 14") ¶ 35.

[11] Grid's financial statements for the fiscal year ended March 31, 2015 were amended to correct that an extension filed on June 30, 2015 was incorrectly filed as a Form 10-K when in fact it should have been filed as a Form NT 10-K.

[12] See AU § 336.08 and.10, Using the Work of a Specialist.

[13] See id. at .09.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

properties. Respondents failed to evaluate the relationship of the specialist to the client, as well as the qualifications of the specialist used for the valuation of Grid's oil and gas properties. In addition, Respondents failed to perform sufficient procedures to evaluate the methods and assumptions used by the specialist to assess the fair value of the oil and gas properties.[14]

11. The audit of the March 31, 2015 financial statements was the first year audited by the Firm. Under PCAOB standards, an audit firm should include language in its audit report indicating that the prior period financial statements were audited by another auditor when the predecessor auditor's report is not presented.[15] Contrary to PCAOB standards, Scrudato and the Firm failed to include language referring to the predecessor auditor's report in its audit report issued on Grid's financial statements for the year ended March 31, 2015, even though the predecessor auditor's report was not included in the filing.

Audits of Baltia Air Lines' Financial Statements

12. Baltia Air Lines, Inc. is a New York corporation located in Jamaica, New York. Baltia's public filings disclose that, at all relevant times, it was intending to commence scheduled non-stop service from JFK International Airport to Pulkovo II International Airport in St. Petersburg, Russia, upon completion of the Federal Aviation Administration certification process. Baltia filed its Form 10-K/A on September 10, 2015.[16] At all relevant times, it was an issuer as that term is defined by Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

13. Scrudato, as engagement partner, authorized the Firm's issuance of an audit report, dated September 8, 2015, expressing an unqualified audit opinion, which included a going concern explanatory paragraph, on Baltia's financial statements for the years ended December 31, 2013 and 2014.[17]

---

[14] See AU § 328.05, footnote 2, Auditing Fair Value Measurements and Disclosures.

[15] See AU § 508.74.

[16] Baltia's financial statements for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2014 were amended to, among other things, correct minor errors to the financial statement footnotes.

[17] Prior Baltia financial statements were audited by Patrick Rodgers, CPA, PA (2007 and 2009) and Michael Cronin, CPA (2008, 2009 (reaudit), 2010, and 2011).

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

14. In connection with the audits of Baltia's financial statements, Respondents failed to exercise due professional care and professional skepticism and failed to plan and perform the audit in accordance with PCAOB standards. PCAOB standards require auditors to identify and assess risks of material misstatement at the financial statement level and the assertion level.[18] Factors that should be evaluated in determining whether a risk of material misstatement is a significant risk include, among other things, the effect of qualitative and quantitative risk factors on the likelihood and potential magnitude of misstatements.[19] Respondents failed to appropriately plan the audits by not identifying a significant risk of material misstatement related to whether Baltia's fixed assets were properly valued.

15. As of December 31, 2013 and 2014, Baltia's largest asset was a single Boeing 747 airplane. The airplane represented $1.5 million and $2.1 million of total assets, or approximately 80% of total assets, in 2013 and 2014, respectively. Except for obtaining management representations, Scrudato and the Firm failed to perform sufficient procedures in either year related to whether the Boeing 747 existed and whether Baltia had legal title to it.[20] Further, aside from obtaining management representations, Scrudato and the Firm failed to perform sufficient procedures to evaluate whether Baltia's airplane was impaired as of December 31, 2014 in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles.[21] In fact, Scrudato noted that an updated impairment analysis would be completed in the future.

See In the Matter of Patrick Rodgers, CPA, PA and Patrick E. Rodgers, CPA, PCAOB Rel. No. 105-2014-002 (March 6, 2014); In the Matter of Michael F. Cronin, CPA and Michael F. Cronin, CPA, PCAOB Rel. No. 105-2013-003 (May 14, 2013).

[18] See Auditing Standard No. 12, Identifying and Assessing Risks of Material Misstatement ("AS 12") ¶ 59.

[19] See AS 12 ¶ 71.

[20] See AS 15 ¶¶ 4-6; AS 14 ¶ 32-36.

[21] See AS 14 ¶ 30, ASC Topic 360-10-35-21, Property, Plant, and Equipment, Impairment or Disposal of Long-Lived Assets, When to Test a Long Lived Asset for Recoverability; see also ASC Topic 360-10-35-17, Property, Plant, and Equipment, Impairment or Disposal of Long-Lived Assets, Measurement of an Impairment Loss.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

Audits of American International Ventures' Financial Statements

16. American International Ventures, Inc. is a Delaware corporation located in Lithia, Florida. AIV's public filings disclose that it is a gold and silver exploration and extraction company. AIV filed its Form 10-K on October 28, 2014 for the year ended May 31, 2014. At all relevant times, it was an issuer as that term is defined by Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

17. Scrudato, as engagement partner, authorized the Firm's issuance of an audit report, dated September 26, 2014, expressing an unqualified audit opinion on AIV's financial statements for the years ended May 31, 2013 and 2014.

18. The audit of the issuer's financial statements for the fiscal year ended May 31, 2014 was a first year audit by Scrudato and the Firm. The Firm's audit opinion, however, covered the financial statements for the year ended May 31, 2014 as well as the financial statements for the year ended May 31, 2013. The financial statements for the year ended May 31, 2013 were required to be reaudited because the Board revoked the registration of the predecessor auditor.[22]

19. PCAOB standards require that a successor auditor who accepts a reaudit engagement plan and perform the reaudit in accordance with applicable professional standards.[23] While a successor auditor may consider the information obtained from inquiries of the predecessor auditor and review of the predecessor auditor's working papers in planning the reaudit, the information obtained from those inquiries and review of the prior working papers is not sufficient to afford a basis for expressing an opinion.[24] The nature, timing, and extent of the audit work performed and the conclusions reached in the reaudit are solely the responsibility of the successor auditor performing the reaudit.[25]

---

[22] AIV's fiscal 2013 financial statements were originally audited by Jeffrey and Co. See In the Matter of Jeffrey & Company and Robert G. Jeffrey, CPA, PCAOB Release No. 105-2014-005 (May 6, 2014). The audit of AIV's fiscal 2013 financial statements was not part of the disciplinary order against Jeffrey & Company.

[23] See AU § 315.14-.20, Communications Between Predecessor and Successor Auditors.

[24] See id. at .15.

[25] See id.

ORDER

20. The Firm and Scrudato failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to support its audit opinion on the issuer's financial statements for the fiscal year ended May 31, 2013. In fact, the only procedures performed were: (1) obtaining copies of certain of the predecessor auditor's work papers; and (2) obtaining a copy of a balance sheet at the end of the prior year, which indicated procedures performed by the predecessor auditor and supporting documents obtained by the predecessor auditor related to certain account balances. By simply obtaining and reviewing certain copies of the predecessor auditor's work papers without planning and performing their own procedures, Scrudato and the Firm violated PCAOB standards.

21. In connection with the 2014 audit of AIV's financial statements, Respondents failed to exercise due professional care and professional skepticism and failed to plan and perform the audit in accordance with PCAOB standards. Scrudato failed to identify a significant risk of material misstatement with respect to the issuer's mining claims, which represented approximately $1.3 million, or 70%, of total assets.[26] Respondents also failed to perform sufficient procedures to assess whether the mining claims existed, whether AIV owned the claims, and whether the related footnote disclosure was accurate. AIV acquired the mining claims prior to fiscal year 2014 and the balance remained unchanged from the end of fiscal year 2013 to the end of fiscal year 2014. During the audit of the 2014 financial statements, Scrudato and the Firm failed to: (1) perform procedures to validate the purchase, ownership, and consideration paid for the mining claims; and (2) test the completeness of the mining claims. Instead, Respondents merely obtained an issuer-prepared schedule of mining claims detailing the mining claim asset amounts and the form of the consideration paid for the claims. In fact, the only notation on the schedule indicated that the mining claims balance was unchanged from the prior year. The schedule, however, was inconsistent with AIV's footnote disclosure which included an additional mining claim not included on the issuer-prepared schedule in the Firm's work papers. Yet Respondents failed to address or note the discrepancy.[27]

Audit of U.S. Precious Metals' Financial Statements

22. U.S. Precious Metals, Inc. is a Delaware corporation located in Marlboro, New Jersey. USPM's public filings disclose that, at all relevant times, it was an exploration stage company engaged in the acquisition, exploration, and development of mineral properties. USPM filed its Form 10-K on September 10, 2014 for the year ended

---

[26] See AS 12 ¶ 59.

[27] See AS 15 ¶ 10.

ORDER

May 31, 2014. At all relevant times, it was an issuer as that term is defined by Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

23. Scrudato, as engagement partner, authorized the Firm's issuance of an audit report, dated August 29, 2014, expressing an unqualified audit opinion on USPM's financial statements for the years ended May 31, 2013 and 2014.

24. The May 31, 2014 financial statements audit was the first fiscal year audit of USPM by Scrudato and the Firm. The Firm's audit opinion, however, covered the financial statements for the year-ended May 31, 2014 as well as the financial statements for the year-ended May 31, 2013. The financial statements for the year ended May 31, 2013 were required to be reaudited because the Board revoked the registration of the predecessor auditor.[28]

25. As noted above, PCAOB standards require that a successor auditor who accepts a reaudit engagement plan and perform the audit in accordance with applicable professional standards.[29] In planning the 2013 reaudit, Scrudato failed to identify a significant risk of material misstatement associated with the issuer's investment in mining rights – which represented approximately $157,000, or 68%, of total assets.[30] Scrudato and the Firm also failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to support the Firm's audit opinion on USPM's financial statements for the fiscal year ended May 31, 2013. In fact, the only procedures performed were: (1) obtaining copies of certain of the predecessor auditor's work papers; (2) obtaining a copy of a balance sheet at the end of the prior year, which indicated procedures performed by the predecessor auditor and supporting documents obtained by the predecessor auditor related to certain account balances; and (3) documenting that certain account balances agreed to the balances for the year under audit.

Audits of Green Parts' Financial Statements

26. Green Parts International, Inc. is a Nevada corporation located in Atlanta, Georgia. Green Parts' public filings disclose that, at all relevant times, it was a salvage

---

[28] USPM's fiscal 2013 financial statements were originally audited by Jeffrey and Co. See In the Matter of Jeffrey & Company and Robert G. Jeffrey, CPA, PCAOB Release No. 105-2014-005 (May 6, 2014). The audit of USPM's fiscal 2013 financial statements was not part of the disciplinary order against Jeffrey & Company.

[29] See AU § 315.14-.20.

[30] See AS 12 ¶ 59.

ORDER

and reclamation company. Green Parts filed its Form 10-K on March 31, 2014, and April 15, 2015, for the years ended December 31, 2013 and 2014, respectively. At all relevant times, it was an issuer as that term is defined by Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

27. Scrudato, as engagement partner, authorized the Firm's issuance of audit reports, dated March 20, 2014 and April 5, 2015, expressing an unqualified audit opinion on Green Parts' financial statements for the years ended December 31, 2013 and 2014, respectively.

28. In connection with the audits of Green Parts' financial statements, Respondents failed to exercise due professional care and professional skepticism and failed to plan and perform the audit in accordance with PCAOB standards. Specifically, Respondents failed to perform sufficient procedures to test whether revenue was properly recorded. Green Parts reported revenue of approximately $12.7 million and $15.2 million for the years ended December 31, 2014 and 2013, respectively. According to the financial statement footnotes, Green Parts derived most of its revenue from the sale of recycled products, including salvage vehicles and scrap material. During both audits, Scrudato reviewed the general ledger for large and unusual items over a certain threshold and, as a result, selected certain transactions for testing. Scrudato also performed cut-off testing at year end. While PCAOB standards state that an auditor may decide to select specific items within a population for testing because they have a specified characteristic, they also state that this approach does not constitute audit sampling and the results of those audit procedures cannot be projected to the entire population.[31] Respondents failed to perform sufficient procedures to test the remaining population of revenue.

29. PCAOB standards provide that fraud risks are significant risks, which require an auditor to perform substantive procedures, including test of details, to specifically respond to the assessed risk.[32] PCAOB standards further require auditors to presume that there is a fraud risk involving improper revenue recognition and evaluate which types of revenue, revenue transactions, or assertions may give rise to such risks.[33] In both 2013 and 2014, Scrudato failed to identify revenue recognition as a fraud risk

---

[31] See AS 15 ¶¶ 25-27.

[32] See AS 12 ¶ 71 and AS 13 ¶ 11.

[33] See AS 12 ¶ 68.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

requiring substantive procedures, including tests of details that are specifically responsive to the assessed risks in the financial statements.[34]

30. Lastly, contrary to PCAOB standards, Scrudato and the Firm failed to perform sufficient procedures over Green Parts' reported inventory, which represented approximately 45% of total assets in 2013 and 2014.[35] More specifically, in auditing scrap inventory – which constituted 54% and 34% of reported inventory in 2013 and 2014, respectively – Respondents failed to perform sufficient procedures to test whether Green Parts' scrap inventory was properly valued. In fact, Scrudato failed to perform procedures over the estimate used by management to calculate the value of Green Parts' scrap inventory in either audit year.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondents' Offers. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), Scrudato & Co., PA and John Scrudato are hereby censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(B) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(2), John Scrudato is barred from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm, as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i);[36]

---

[34] See AS 13 ¶ 11.

[35] See AS 15 ¶ 10; AS 13 ¶ 8.

[36] As a consequence of the bar, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act will apply with respect to Scrudato. Section 105(c)(7)(B) provides: "It shall be unlawful for any person that is suspended or barred from being associated with a registered public accounting firm under this subsection willfully to become or remain associated with any issuer, broker, or dealer in an accountancy or a financial management capacity, and for any issuer, broker, or dealer that knew, or in the exercise of reasonable care should have known, of such suspension or bar, to permit such an association, without the consent of the Board or the Commission."

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

C. After two (2) years from the date of this Order, John Scrudato may file a petition, pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5302(b), for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm;

D. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(A) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(1), the registration of Scrudato & Co., PA. is revoked;

E. After two (2) years from the date of the Order, Scrudato & Co, PA may reapply for registration by filing an application pursuant to PCAOB Rule 2101; and

F. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty of $15,000 is imposed upon Scrudato & Co. PA. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of this civil money penalty will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. Scrudato & Co., PA shall pay this civil money within 10 days of the issuance of this Order by (1) wire transfer in accordance with instructions furnished by Board staff; or (2) United States postal money order, certified check, bank cashier's check or bank money order (a) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, (b) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006; and (c) submitted under a cover letter which identifies Scrudato & Co., PA as the Respondent in these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to the Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

_____

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

December 20, 2016

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street, N.W.
Washington, DC 20006
Telephone: (202) 207-9100
Facsimile: (202) 862-0757
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of HJ & Associates, LLC, S. Jeffrey Jones, CPA, Robert M. Jensen, CPA, and Charles D. Roe, CPA, Respondents.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-001 January 24, 2017

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("Board" or "PCAOB") is censuring HJ & Associates ("HJ" or the "Firm"), revoking the Firm's registration, and imposing a civil money penalty in the amount of $10,000 upon the Firm;[1] censuring S. Jeffrey Jones, CPA ("Jones"), barring Jones from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm, and imposing a civil money penalty in the amount of $10,000 upon Jones;[2] censuring Robert M. Jensen, CPA ("Jensen") and suspending him from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm for a period of one (1) year from the date of this Order; and censuring Charles D. Roe, CPA ("Roe") and suspending him from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm for a period of one (1) year from the date of this Order.

The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that the Firm, Jones, Jensen, and Roe (collectively, "Respondents") violated PCAOB rules and standards, as follows: (a) the Firm, Jones, and Roe failed to comply with PCAOB auditing standards in connection with the audits of two issuers; (b) Jensen failed to comply with PCAOB auditing standards in connection with the audit of one issuer; and (c) the Firm failed to comply with PCAOB quality control standards.

[1] The Firm may reapply for registration after two (2) years from the date of this Order.

[2] Jones may file a petition for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm after three (3) years from the date of this Order.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act") and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondents.

II.

In anticipation of the institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondents have each submitted an Offer of Settlement (collectively, the "Offers") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over Respondents and the subject matter of these proceedings, which is admitted, Respondents consent to the entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order"), as set forth below.[3]

III.

On the basis of Respondents' Offers, the Board finds that:[4]

A. Respondents

1. HJ & Associates, LLC is, and at all relevant times was, a professional corporation organized under the laws of the state of Utah, and headquartered in Salt Lake City, Utah. The Firm is registered with the Board pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules. The Firm is licensed to practice public accountancy by the state

[3] The findings herein are made pursuant to Respondents' Offers and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

[4] The Board finds that Respondents' conduct described in this Order meets the conditions set out in Section 105(c)(5) of the Act, 15 U.S.C. § 7215(c)(5), which provides that certain sanctions may be imposed in the event of: (A) intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, that results in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard; or (B) repeated instances of negligent conduct, each resulting in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

of Utah (license no. 114967-2603). At all relevant times, the Firm was the external auditor for Blue Earth, Inc. ("Blue Earth") and Jameson Stanford Resource Corporation ("Jameson").

2. S. Jeffrey Jones, age 50, of South Jordan, Utah, is a certified public accountant licensed by the state of Utah (license no. 326621-2601). At all relevant times, Jones was a partner of the Firm and had primary responsibility for HJ's audit practice. Jones served as the engagement partner for the Blue Earth and Jameson audits discussed below. At all relevant times, Jones was an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

3. Robert M. Jensen, age 59, of Salt Lake City, Utah, is a certified public accountant licensed by the state of Utah (license no. 149726-2601). At all relevant times, Jensen was the managing partner of the Firm, and he served as the engagement quality reviewer for HJ's audit of the 2012 financial statements of Blue Earth. At all relevant times, Jensen was an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

4. Charles D. Roe, age 65, of Salt Lake City, Utah, was at all relevant times a certified public accountant licensed by the state of Utah (license no. 145257-2601). Roe's license with the state of Utah expired on September 30, 2016. At all relevant times, Roe was a partner of the Firm, and he served as the engagement quality reviewer for HJ's audits of the 2013 financial statements of Jameson, the 2013 financial statements of Blue Earth, and the 2013 internal control over financial reporting ("ICFR") of Blue Earth. At all relevant times, Roe was an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

B. Summary

5. This matter concerns Respondents' violations of PCAOB rules and auditing standards in connection with the audits of the 2013 financial statements of Jameson, the 2012 and 2013 financial statements of Blue Earth, and the 2013 ICFR of Blue Earth (collectively, the "Audits"). Respondents repeatedly failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence and to exercise due care and professional skepticism in connection with the Audits. More specifically: (a) the Firm and Jones failed to comply with PCAOB auditing standards in connection with each of the Audits; (b) Jensen failed to comply with PCAOB auditing standards in connection with the audit of Blue Earth's 2012 financial statements; and (c) Roe failed to comply with PCAOB auditing standards in connection with the audit of Jameson's 2013 financial statements, and the audits of Blue Earth's 2013 financial statements and ICFR.

ORDER

6. This matter also concerns the Firm's violations of PCAOB rules and quality control standards by failing to establish and implement quality control policies and procedures sufficient to provide HJ with reasonable assurance that Firm personnel would comply with applicable professional standards and the Firm's standards of quality.

C. Respondents Violated PCAOB Rules and Auditing Standards in Connection with the Audits.

7. In connection with the preparation or issuance of any audit report, PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons comply with the Board's auditing and related professional practice standards.[5] An auditor may express an unqualified opinion on an issuer's financial statements only when the auditor has formed such an opinion on the basis of an audit performed in accordance with PCAOB standards.[6] Among other things, those standards require that an auditor exercise due professional care and professional skepticism in performing the audit.[7]

8. PCAOB standards require auditors to take certain steps in connection with the identification and assessment of risks of material misstatement. The auditor should perform risk assessment procedures that are sufficient to provide a reasonable basis for identifying and assessing the risks of material misstatement, whether due to error or fraud, and designing further audit procedures.[8] The assessment of risk should continue throughout the audit and, when the auditor obtains audit evidence that contradicts audit evidence on which the original risk assessment was made, "the auditor should revise the risk assessment and modify planned audit procedures or perform additional procedures in response to the revised risk assessments."[9]

---

[5] See PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards; and PCAOB Rule 3200T, Interim Auditing Standards.

[6] See AU § 508.07, Reports on Audited Financial Statements.

[7] See AU § 150.02, Generally Accepted Auditing Standards; AU § 230, Due Professional Care in the Performance of Work.

[8] See Auditing Standard No. 12, Identifying and Assessing Risks of Material Misstatement ("AS12") ¶ 4.

[9] Id. ¶ 74; see also Auditing Standard No. 9, Audit Planning ("AS9") ¶ 15 (auditors should modify overall strategy and audit plan as necessary if circumstances

ORDER

9. In the case of significant transactions that are outside the normal course of business for the entity, or that otherwise appear to be unusual given the auditor's understanding of the entity and its environment, PCAOB standards require the auditor to gain an understanding of the business rationale for such transactions and whether that rationale (or the lack thereof) suggests that the transactions may have been entered into to engage in fraud.[10] And the auditor should evaluate whether the company's selection and application of accounting principles are appropriate for its business and consistent with the applicable financial reporting framework and accounting principles used in the relevant industry.[11]

10. PCAOB auditing standards require auditors to design and implement appropriate audit responses to the risks of material misstatement.[12] The auditor should determine whether it is necessary to make pervasive changes to the nature, timing, or extent of audit procedures to address adequately the assessed risks of material misstatement.[13] "The auditor's responses to the assessed risks of material misstatement, particularly fraud risks, should involve the application of professional skepticism in gathering and evaluating audit evidence."[14] Where a risk of fraud is identified, the auditor is required to perform substantive procedures, including tests of details, that are specifically responsive to the assessed fraud risks.[15]

11. The auditor must plan and perform audit procedures to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to provide a reasonable basis for the auditor's opinion.[16] The "auditor should take into account all relevant audit evidence, regardless of whether it change significantly during audit, including discovery of previously unidentified risk of material misstatement or revised assessment of risk of material misstatement).

---

[10] See AU § 316.66, Consideration of Fraud in a Financial Statement Audit.

[11] See AS12 ¶¶ 12-13.

[12] See Auditing Standard No. 13, The Auditor's Responses to the Risks of Material Misstatement ("AS13") ¶ 3.

[13] See id. ¶ 6.

[14] Id. ¶ 7.

[15] Id. ¶ 13.

[16] See Auditing Standard No. 15, Audit Evidence ("AS15") ¶ 4.

ORDER

appears to corroborate or to contradict the assertions in the financial statements."[17] The auditor should evaluate the results of the audit to determine whether the audit evidence obtained is sufficient and appropriate to support the opinion to be expressed in the auditor's report.[18] "If the auditor has not obtained sufficient appropriate audit evidence about a relevant assertion . . . the auditor should perform procedures to obtain further audit evidence to address the matter."[19] The auditor must evaluate whether the financial statements are presented fairly, in all material respects, in conformity with the applicable financial reporting framework.[20]

12. The auditor must evaluate the reasonableness "of accounting estimates made by management in the context of the financial statements taken as a whole."[21] Further, while management representations are part of the evidential matter the auditor obtains, they are not a substitute for the application of those auditing procedures necessary to afford a reasonable basis for an opinion regarding the financial statements under audit.[22] If management representations are contradicted by other audit evidence, the auditor should investigate the circumstances and consider the reliability of the representation made and, based on the circumstances, consider whether his reliance on management's representations relating to other aspects of the financial statements is appropriate and justified.[23]

13. As described below, HJ and Jones failed to comply with the above PCAOB rules and auditing standards in connection with the Audits.

---

17 Auditing Standard No. 14, Evaluating Audit Results ("AS14") ¶ 3.

18 See id. ¶ 4.

19 Id. ¶ 35.

20 See id. ¶¶ 30-31.

21 AU § 342.04, Auditing Accounting Estimates; see also id. § 342.07.

22 See AU § 333.02, Management Representations.

23 Id. § 333.04.

ORDER

Jameson Stanford Resource Corporation

14. At all relevant times, Jameson Stanford Resource Corporation[24] was a Nevada corporation headquartered in Las Vegas, Nevada. The public filings of Jameson disclosed that it was a mining development company. At all relevant times, its common stock was registered under Section 12(g) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 ("Exchange Act") and was quoted on the OTCQB marketplace. At all relevant times, Jameson was an issuer as that term is defined by Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

15. Jones was the engagement partner for the Firm's audit of the December 31, 2013 financial statements of Jameson, and he supervised the work of the engagement team. On April 15, 2014, Jones granted permission for the Firm's issuance of an audit report expressing an unqualified opinion on Jameson's 2013 financial statements. The audit report was included in the Form 10-K that Jameson filed with the Commission on April 15, 2014. HJ and Jones failed to exercise due professional care and professional skepticism, and failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence in connection with the audit of Jameson's 2013 financial statements.[25]

Common Stock

16. HJ and Jones failed to comply with PCAOB auditing standards in connection with their audit of Jameson's reported common stock. During the audit, HJ and Jones learned that the CEO and majority shareholder of Jameson (the "CEO") sold Jameson common stock to a third party for approximately $750,000,[26] failed to record the issuance of the common stock in Jameson's books and records, and deposited the proceeds from the stock sale into the bank account of an entity that the CEO controlled. HJ and Jones also learned that the CEO: (a) purportedly used these funds to pay company expenses; (b) caused Jameson to issue a note payable to himself to cover those expenses; and (c) later caused Jameson to extinguish that note payable in exchange for approximately 1.5 million shares of company stock.

---

[24] On November 24, 2014, Jameson filed a Form DEF-14C, Definitive Information Statement, with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission ("Commission") stating that the company had changed its name to Star Mountain Resources, Inc.

[25] See AU § 150.02; see also AU § 230 and AS15 ¶ 4.

[26] For 2013, Jameson reported total assets of approximately $195,000.

ORDER

17. After becoming aware of these facts, HJ and Jones failed to revise their risk assessment or to consider modifying planned procedures or performing additional procedures to address these matters.[27] HJ and Jones also failed to gain a sufficient understanding of the business rationale for these significant unusual transactions to assess whether the transactions may have been entered into to engage in fraudulent financial reporting or to conceal the misappropriation of assets.[28]

18. HJ and Jones also failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to evaluate Jameson's reported share balance. HJ and Jones identified a significant difference between the number of common shares outstanding, as reported by management, and the number of shares outstanding as set forth in a stock register that the Firm received from Jameson's stock transfer agent. HJ and Jones asked Jameson management about the discrepancy. Management replied that the company had improperly issued shares to the CEO, but represented that the company had rescinded the issuance of those shares as of the balance sheet date. HJ and Jones failed to obtain sufficient appropriate evidence to corroborate management's representations.[29] Indeed, HJ and Jones failed to reconcile conflicting audit evidence, including a board of directors' authorization to rescind the shares issued to the CEO that was not effective until four months after the year under audit. This evidence suggested that the shares issued to the CEO had not, in fact, been rescinded as of the balance sheet date.[30]

Reported Expenses

19. During audit planning, HJ and Jones identified a risk of material misstatement with respect to management override of controls. The Firm, moreover, understood that the company's general and administrative expenses increased by over 350 percent between 2012 and 2013. HJ and Jones, however, failed to design and implement appropriate audit responses to these identified risks.[31] Moreover, HJ and Jones failed to perform procedures to gather additional audit evidence to address red flags that they encountered during the course of audit.[32] These red flags indicated that

---

27 See AS12 ¶ 74.

28 See AU § 316.66.

29 See AU § 333.02.

30 See AS15 ¶ 29.

31 See AS13 ¶ 3.

32 See AS14 ¶¶ 34-35.

ORDER

the CEO may have been improperly submitting and approving his own personal expenses as expenses of the company.

20. In the course of the 2013 audit, Jones reviewed work papers that documented first quarter of 2014 cash disbursements, including disbursements that appeared to be highly unusual. For example, the CEO submitted expense reports to Jameson for cash withdrawals from an ATM located in Las Vegas.

21. HJ and Jones failed to gain an understanding of the business rationale for these significant unusual business transactions, and whether that rationale (or lack thereof) suggested that the transactions may have been entered into in connection with fraudulent financial reporting or the misappropriation of assets.[33] Further, HJ and Jones failed to evaluate whether to revise their risk assessment in light of these facts.[34] Despite being aware of these red flags, HJ and Jones failed to perform any procedures to obtain further audit evidence to address these matters.

Restatement

22. On October 10, 2014, Jameson filed an amended Form 10-K with the Commission containing the company's restated 2013 financial statements. Jameson disclosed that it was restating its financial statements to correct "an error related to the failure to record the issuance of common stock to the [CEO] for the period covered by the Original Report." It further disclosed that the company's "Financial Statements also contained errors relating to the incorrect classification of our [CEO's] personal expenses as expenses of our Company." The restatement increased advances to related party shareholders from $0 to $1.23 million. This asset, as restated, constituted 87 percent of Jameson's total assets.

23. The amended Form 10-K also disclosed that the CEO had resigned and the company had filed a civil complaint against the former CEO for committing, among other things, "wrongful and fraudulent acts and omissions resulting in at least [approximately $2.6 million] in losses for the company, [approximately $1.3 million] in fraudulent claimed business expenses, [approximately $1.3 million in] investment monies diverted from the company and monies deposited directly into [the CEO's] personal accounts and the improper issuance to [the CEO] of 25,000,000 shares of the Company's common stock."

---

[33] See AU § 316.66.

[34] See AS12 ¶ 74.

ORDER

Blue Earth 2012 Financial Statement Audit

24. At all relevant times, Blue Earth, Inc. was a Nevada corporation headquartered in Henderson, Nevada. Blue Earth's public filings disclosed that it was a comprehensive provider of energy efficiency and renewable energy solutions for commercial and industrial facilities. At all relevant times, its common stock was registered under Section 12(g) of the Exchange Act and was quoted on the OTCQB marketplace.[35] At all relevant times, Blue Earth was an issuer as that term is defined by Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

25. Jones was the engagement partner for the Firm's audit of the December 31, 2012 financial statements of Blue Earth, and he supervised the work of the engagement team. On April 1, 2013, Jones granted permission for the Firm's issuance of an audit report expressing an unqualified opinion on Blue Earth's 2012 financial statements. The audit report was included in the Form 10-K that Blue Earth filed with the Commission on April 1, 2013. HJ and Jones failed to exercise due professional care and professional skepticism, and failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence in connection with the audit of Blue Earth's 2012 financial statements.[36]

Revenue

26. Blue Earth reported revenue of approximately $9.9 million in 2012, which constituted an increase of approximately 87 percent over the prior year. HJ and Jones failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to support the occurrence, completeness, and valuation of Blue Earth's reported revenue for 2012. HJ and Jones identified revenue as a significant audit area and as a risk of fraud involving improper revenue recognition.[37] HJ and Jones also understood that Blue Earth management had identified a material weakness related to the company's revenue controls in 2012, and planned to test revenue solely through substantive procedures in response to those risks.

---

[35] On August 1, 2016, Blue Earth filed with the Commission a Form 15, Certification and Notice of Termination of Registration.

[36] See AU § 150.02; see also AU § 230 and AS15 ¶ 4.

[37] An auditor "should presume that there is a fraud risk involving improper revenue recognition and evaluate which types of revenue, revenue transactions, or assertions may give rise to such risks." AS12 ¶ 68. "For significant risks, the auditor should perform substantive procedures, including tests of details, that are specifically responsive to the assessed risks." AS13 ¶ 11.

ORDER

27. To substantively test revenue, the engagement team tested major customer transactions for certain months. This approach did not constitute sampling under PCAOB auditing standards, and the results of the Firm's audit procedures could not be projected to the entire revenue population.[38] As a result, HJ's revenue testing did not provide any audit evidence for approximately 84 percent of Blue Earth's 2012 revenue.[39]

28. The engagement team also performed analytical procedures that the engagement team intended to serve as substantive procedures over Blue Earth's reported revenue. However, these procedures were not substantive analytical procedures because the engagement team failed: (1) to develop expectations at a sufficient level of precision to provide assurance that material differences would be identified for investigation, and (2) to establish a threshold for significant differences and evaluate whether there were significant, unexpected differences requiring further investigation.[40]

29. HJ and Jones also failed to gather sufficient appropriate audit evidence with respect to revenue that Blue Earth accounted for using the percentage of completion ("POC") method. HJ and Jones understood that more than half of Blue Earth's 2012 revenue was recognized using the POC method. To support reported POC revenue, management provided the Firm with budgets and estimates to complete ("ETCs") for projects that were accounted for using the POC method. HJ and Jones failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to support the Firm's POC revenue estimates.[41]

Intangible Assets

30. Reported intangible assets constituted approximately $8.3 million, or 56 percent, of Blue Earth's total reported assets as of December 31, 2012. Under generally accepted accounting principles ("GAAP"), a company is required to assess intangible assets for impairment and to follow certain procedures in performing these

---

[38] See AS15 ¶¶ 25-27.

[39] The engagement team also confirmed transactions in Blue Earth's year-end accounts receivable balance; however, this testing covered 12 percent of revenue, and it only provided evidence regarding balances that were outstanding at year-end.

[40] See AU §§ 329.17 and .20, Substantive Analytical Procedures.

[41] See AU § 342.10.

ORDER

assessments.[42] GAAP also requires that an assessment be made of the remaining useful life of an intangible asset to ensure that it has been amortized properly.[43]

31. Blue Earth evaluated intangible assets for impairment by comparing the carrying value of these assets at year-end to the present value of the estimated revenue projections for these assets. Blue Earth's impairment analysis, however, did not include cash outflows related to the revenue projections. HJ and Jones reviewed Blue Earth's impairment analysis and concurred with the company's conclusion that the carrying value of the intangible assets was recoverable because that value did not exceed the present value of the company's revenue projections for the assets.

32. HJ and Jones understood that, as of December 31, 2012, Blue Earth had approximately $34.1 million in accumulated deficit, and had a net loss of approximately $9.6 million, and a negative cash outflow from operations of approximately $5.5 million in 2012. HJ and Jones, nonetheless, failed to perform sufficient procedures to test Blue Earth's impairment analysis.[44] First, HJ and Jones failed to evaluate whether the projected revenues that Blue Earth used to test recoverability were reasonable. Indeed, HJ and Jones failed to perform any procedures beyond management inquiry to evaluate the assumptions underlying management's revenue projections. Second, HJ and Jones failed to evaluate whether management's analysis should have also included cash outflows associated with future expenditures necessary to maintain the value of the intangible assets. Finally, HJ and Jones failed to perform any procedures beyond management inquiry to evaluate the reasonableness of management's estimate of the intangible assets' remaining useful life.

Blue Earth 2013 Financial Statement Audit

33. HJ also audited Blue Earth's 2013 financial statements. Jones was the engagement partner for this audit and he supervised the work of the engagement team. On March 3, 2014, Jones granted permission for the Firm's issuance of an audit report expressing an unqualified opinion on Blue Earth's 2013 financial statements. The audit report was included in the Form 10-K that Blue Earth filed with the Commission on

---

[42] See Financial Accounting Standards Board Accounting Standards Codification ("ASC") Section 350-20-35, Intangibles – Goodwill and Other – Goodwill – Subsequent Measurement; ASC Section 350-30-35, Intangibles – Goodwill and Other – General Intangibles Other Than Goodwill – Subsequent Measurement.

[43] See ASC Section 350-30-35.

[44] See AU § 342.07.

ORDER

March 3, 2014.[45] HJ and Jones failed to exercise due professional care and professional skepticism, and failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence in connection with the audit of Blue Earth's 2013 financial statements.[46]

34. The departures from PCAOB standards in the 2012 Blue Earth audit – related to revenue and impairment testing – were brought to HJ's and Jones's attention during a PCAOB inspection in summer 2013. However, as discussed below, in performing the 2013 audit of Blue Earth's financial statements, less than a year after receiving the inspection feedback, HJ and Jones violated PCAOB standards in precisely the same respects as they had in the earlier audit.

Revenue

35. Blue Earth reported revenue of $10.3 million in 2013. HJ and Jones again failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence relating to the occurrence, completeness, and valuation of revenue.

36. The engagement team used the same approach to test revenue in 2013 that it had used in 2012. This approach did not provide any audit evidence for approximately 50 percent of Blue Earth's 2013 revenue.[47] The engagement team also performed analytical procedures that were intended to serve as substantive procedures over revenue in 2013; however, these procedures – which were similar to the procedures used in 2012 – did not constitute substantive analytical procedures.[48]

---

[45] Blue Earth filed with the Commission four amendments to the company's Form 10-K to correct various errors or omissions in the company's original filing. The amended Form 10-Ks were filed with the Commission on the following dates: April 11, 2014; May 1, 2014; May 9, 2014; and May 13, 2014. In its amended filings, Blue Earth did not disclose that it was restating its financial statement footnotes or management's assessment of ICFR. In addition, HJ did not update its opinion on the company's financial statements or ICFR.

[46] See AU § 150.02; see also AU § 230 and AS15 ¶ 4.

[47] The engagement team also confirmed certain accounts receivable transactions, but those procedures covered only a small percentage of revenue, and those procedures only provided evidence for transactions that were outstanding at year-end. See AS15 ¶¶ 25-27.

[48] See AU §§ 329.17 and .20.

ORDER

37. HJ and Jones also failed, again, to gather sufficient appropriate audit evidence to evaluate Blue Earth's POC revenue. Approximately 60 percent of total revenue was recognized using the POC method in 2013. The engagement team's procedures for testing POC revenue in 2013 were similar to its procedures in 2012. HJ and Jones again failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to support the Firm's POC revenue estimates.[49]

Intangible Assets

38. Reported intangible assets constituted approximately $19.8 million, or 23 percent, of total reported assets as of December 31, 2013. HJ and Jones failed to perform sufficient audit procedures to test Blue Earth's evaluation of intangible assets for impairment. As in the 2012 audit, in 2013 HJ and Jones again failed to gather sufficient appropriate audit evidence to evaluate Blue Earth's impairment analysis for certain intangible assets, which included cash inflows, but not associated cash outflows.[50]

39. Further, HJ and Jones failed to perform any procedures beyond management inquiry[51] to evaluate: (1) the assumptions underlying the revenue projections used in management's impairment analysis; and (2) the reasonableness of management's estimate of the intangible assets' remaining useful life,[52] despite Blue Earth's growing accumulated deficit, net loss, and negative cash flow.[53]

Evaluation of Notes Accompanying Financial Statements

40. HJ and Jones failed to evaluate Blue Earth's 2013 financial statements with due care and professional skepticism. The notes accompanying Blue Earth's 2013 financial statements disclosed that the company recognized revenue under the completed contract method of accounting. In fact, the majority of Blue Earth's 2013 revenue was recognized under the POC method. HJ and Jones failed, in their review of

---

[49] See AU §§ 342.07 and .10.

[50] See AU § 342.07.

[51] See AU § 333.02.

[52] See ASC Section 350-30-35.

[53] HJ and Jones understood that, as of December 31, 2013, Blue Earth had approximately $62.7 million in accumulated deficit, a net loss of approximately $25.4 million, and a negative cash outflow from operations of approximately $11.9 million.

ORDER

Blue Earth's financial statements, to evaluate whether the notes accompanying the financial statements contained the information essential for a fair presentation of the financial statements in conformity with GAAP.[54]

41. The notes accompanying Blue Earth's financial statements also did not include a required disclosure related to the gross carrying amount and accumulated amortization of the company's intangible assets.[55] HJ and Jones failed to identify this omission in connection with their review of Blue Earth's financial statements.[56]

Acquisition Accounting

42. HJ and Jones also failed to gather sufficient appropriate audit evidence to evaluate Blue Earth's purchase accounting for three acquisitions. The acquired entities constituted approximately 69 percent of Blue Earth's total reported assets as of December 31, 2013. GAAP requires acquired intangible assets to be measured at their acquisition-date fair value.[57] For each of the acquisitions, Blue Earth management assigned values to the acquired assets and liabilities, and assigned the entire excess purchase price, $58.2 million, to intangible assets. HJ and Jones failed to perform any procedures, aside from recalculating the excess purchase price, to evaluate whether the values that management assigned to the individual intangible assets represented the fair value of those assets as of the acquisition dates.[58]

---

[54] See AS14 ¶ 31.

[55] See ASC Topic 350-30-50-2(a)(1), Intangibles – Goodwill and Other – General Intangibles Other than Goodwill.

[56] See AS14 ¶ 31. In response to a Commission comment letter, on April 11, 2014 Blue Earth filed a Form 10-K/A with the Commission. This filing included a restatement of the company's 2013 financial statements to include the missing mandatory disclosure. On May 1, 2014, Blue Earth filed another Form 10-K/A with the Commission, in which Blue Earth again restated its 2013 financial statements, to include a more complete version of the mandatory disclosure. Blue Earth did not identify the filing as a restatement. And HJ did not update its opinion on the company's financial statements or ICFR.

[57] See ASC Section 805-20-30-1, Business Combinations – Identifiable Assets and Liabilities, and Any Non-Controlling Interest – Initial Measurement – General – Measurement Principle.

[58] See AU § 328.15, Auditing Fair Value Measurements and Disclosures.

ORDER

43. The acquisition agreement for one of the acquired entities contained a provision for contingent consideration (the "earn-out provision"). GAAP requires companies to recognize the acquisition-date fair value of contingent consideration.[59] In its purchase price allocation, Blue Earth management did not assign any value to the earn-out provision. HJ and Jones understood that the acquired entity was expected to generate revenue. HJ and Jones, however, failed to perform any procedures beyond management inquiry[60] to evaluate whether it was appropriate not to recognize a liability for the earn-out provision.

Blue Earth 2013 ICFR Audit

44. HJ also audited Blue Earth's 2013 ICFR. Jones served as the engagement partner for the ICFR audit and he supervised the work of the engagement team. On March 3, 2014, Jones granted permission for the Firm's issuance of an audit report expressing an unqualified opinion on Blue Earth's ICFR. The audit report was included in the Form 10-K that Blue Earth filed with the Commission on March 3, 2014. HJ and Jones failed to perform procedures adequate to afford a reasonable basis for HJ's ICFR opinion, and they did not obtain appropriate audit evidence that was sufficient to obtain reasonable assurance about whether material weaknesses existed as of the date specified in management's assessment of Blue Earth's 2013 ICFR.[61]

45. When conducting an ICFR audit, auditors must plan and perform the audit to obtain appropriate evidence that is sufficient to obtain reasonable assurance about whether material weaknesses exist as of the date specified in management's assessment.[62] When forming an opinion on the effectiveness of ICFR, auditors should evaluate evidence from all sources, including misstatements detected during the financial statement audit, and any identified control deficiencies.[63] Indicators of material

---

[59] See ASC Topic 805-30-25-5, Business Combinations – Goodwill or Gain from Bargain Purchase, Including Consideration Transferred – Recognition – General – Contingent Consideration.

[60] See AU § 333.02.

[61] See Auditing Standard No. 5, An Audit of Internal Control Over Financial Reporting That Is Integrated with an Audit of Financial Statements ("AS5") ¶ 3; see also AU § 150.02 and AU § 230.

[62] See AS5 ¶ 3.

[63] See id. ¶ 71.

ORDER

weaknesses in ICFR include, among other things, restatements of previously issued financial statements to reflect the correction of a material misstatement.[64] If, after issuing an ICFR report, an auditor becomes aware of conditions that existed at the date of the report that might have affected the opinion had he or she been aware of them, the auditor should evaluate what, if any, effect those conditions would have had on the audit report.[65]

46. HJ and Jones understood, at the time of the 2013 ICFR audit, that Blue Earth had determined that the company did not have effective ICFR in 2012. Management identified six 2012 control deficiencies, which constituted material weaknesses, related to controls over revenue and over the period-end financial reporting process. These facts should have, but did not, cause HJ and Jones to increase their due care and professional skepticism in connection with the 2013 ICFR audit.

47. HJ and Jones failed to evaluate evidence obtained from the 2013 Blue Earth financial statement audit when forming the Firm's 2013 ICFR audit opinion. Specifically, HJ and Jones knew from their substantive testing that management's impairment analysis for intangible assets included only cash inflows and did not include associated cash outflows. HJ and Jones failed to consider whether this omission from management's analysis suggested the existence of a control deficiency that required evaluation in forming the 2013 ICFR opinion.[66] That failure was particularly egregious because, in connection with their substantive testing, HJ and the Firm expressly documented for certain intangible assets that management had improperly failed to consider cash outflows.[67]

48. In addition, HJ and Jones understood from their substantive testing procedures that management assigned no value to the earn-out provision included in one of the purchase agreements. As stated above, in the course of the financial statement audit, HJ and Jones failed to exercise due care and professional skepticism

---

[64] See id. ¶ 69.

[65] See id. ¶ 98; see also AU § 561, Subsequent Discovery of Facts Existing at the Date of the Auditor's Report (setting forth procedures to follow when, subsequent to date of audit report, auditor becomes aware of facts that may have existed at date of audit report which might have affected report had auditor been aware of such facts).

[66] See AS5 ¶ 71.

[67] See id.

ORDER

in evaluating whether this treatment was appropriate and instead relied on management inquiries.[68] HJ and Jones also failed to evaluate, for the ICFR audit, whether management's conclusion not to assign any value to the earn-out provision suggested the existence of another control deficiency that needed to be evaluated in forming the Firm's 2013 ICFR opinion.[69]

49. HJ and Jones also failed to identify and evaluate the potential ICFR implications of: (a) the omission of a GAAP-required financial statement footnote disclosure concerning intangible assets; and (b) a potentially inaccurate disclosure concerning Blue Earth's revenue recognition policy.[70]

50. HJ and Jones understood that, after the Firm issued its 2013 ICFR audit report, Blue Earth filed four amendments to its 2013 Form 10-K. Each of these amended filings contained restated 2013 financial statements to correct, among other things, errors and omissions identified in Commission comment letters. HJ and Jones failed to evaluate whether the multiple restatements reflected conditions that existed at the audit report date and, if so, whether those conditions would have affected the Firm's unqualified IFCR opinion.[71]

D. Respondents Failed to Comply with PCAOB Auditing Standards in Connection with the Engagement Quality Reviews for the Audits.

51. PCAOB auditing standards require that an engagement quality review ("EQR") be performed on audits and interim reviews of financial statements, among other engagements, conducted pursuant to PCAOB standards.[72] The engagement quality reviewer may provide concurring approval of the issuance of an audit report only if, after performing a review with due professional care, he or she is not aware of a significant engagement deficiency.[73]

---

68 See AU § 230; see also AU § 333.02.

69 See AS5 ¶ 71.

70 See id.

71 See id. ¶ 98.

72 See Auditing Standard No. 7, Engagement Quality Review ("AS7") ¶ 1.

73 See id. ¶ 12.

ORDER

52. A significant engagement deficiency exists when, among other things: (1) the engagement team failed to obtain sufficient appropriate evidence in accordance with PCAOB standards; or (2) the engagement team reached an inappropriate overall conclusion on the subject matter of the engagement.[74]

53. HJ appointed Jensen to serve as the engagement quality reviewer for the audit of Blue Earth's 2012 financial statements. And HJ appointed Roe to serve as the engagement quality reviewer for the audit of Jameson's 2013 financial statements, and the audits of Blue Earth's 2013 financial statements and ICFR.

Jensen

54. Jensen failed to exercise due professional care when performing his EQR for the audit of Blue Earth's 2012 financial statements.[75] Jensen understood that the engagement team had identified improper revenue recognition as a fraud risk but failed to evaluate sufficiently the engagement team's audit response to this identified risk, as required by PCAOB standards.[76] Specifically, Jensen reviewed the revenue work papers and understood that the engagement team's methodology for testing revenue involved selecting only certain transactions involving major customers for detailed testing. Jensen, however, failed to evaluate sufficiently whether that approach resulted in sufficient coverage over total revenue. Jensen also failed to evaluate sufficiently whether the engagement team obtained sufficient appropriate audit evidence to support the Firm's POC revenue estimates.

55. In addition, Jensen understood that Blue Earth's valuation of intangible assets presented a risk of material misstatement. Jensen failed, however, to evaluate the engagement team's audit response to this identified risk, despite being aware of audit evidence showing that management's impairment analysis was flawed.[77] Jensen also failed to evaluate the engagement team's failure to perform any steps beyond management inquiry to test management's impairment analysis.[78]

---

74 See id. and Note.

75 See id. ¶ 12.

76 See id. ¶ 10(b).

77 See id. ¶ 12.

78 See id.

ORDER

Roe

56. Roe failed to exercise due professional care when performing his EQRs of the 2013 financial statements and the 2013 ICFR of Blue Earth. For example, despite his responsibility to review Blue Earth's financial statements, Roe failed to identify omissions and potential, material inaccuracies in the notes accompanying the 2013 financial statements when he performed his EQRs.[79] Further, despite being aware of potential significant deficiencies identified by PCAOB inspectors related to HJ's audit of Blue Earth's 2012 financial statements, Roe failed to evaluate whether the engagement team: (1) responded appropriately to identified significant risks related to revenue and intangible assets in planning and performing the 2013 audit; (2) obtained sufficient appropriate audit evidence to conclude that the 2013 financial statement notes were presented in accordance with GAAP; and (3) responded appropriately to significant risks related to whether Blue Earth's 2013 ICFR was operating effectively.[80]

57. Roe also failed to exercise due professional care when performing his EQR of the 2013 financial statements of Jameson. Roe was aware of evidence indicating that Jameson's CEO may have improperly deposited Jameson funds into a bank account that the CEO controlled. Despite the requirement that Roe evaluate the engagement team's response to fraud risks and confirm with the engagement partner that there are no significant unresolved matters,[81] Roe failed to discuss with the engagement team, or otherwise to evaluate appropriately, the engagement team's assessment of and responses to this known fraud risk.

E. The Firm Violated PCAOB Rules and Quality Control Standards.

58. PCAOB Rule 3400T requires registered public accounting firms and their associated persons to comply with PCAOB quality control standards.[82] PCAOB quality control standards require each registered firm to establish policies and procedures to provide the firm with reasonable assurance that work performed by engagement

---

79 See id.

80 See id. ¶¶ 10(b) and 12.

81 See id. ¶¶ 10(b) and (e).

82 See PCAOB Rule 3400T, Interim Quality Control Standards.

ORDER

personnel meets applicable professional standards, regulatory requirements, and the firm's standards of quality.[83]

59. HJ violated PCAOB Rule 3400T and PCAOB quality control standards. During 2012 and 2013, the Firm failed to implement and maintain a system of quality control that would provide it with reasonable assurance that Firm personnel would comply with applicable professional standards. Indeed, as described above, multiple HJ audit partners committed multiple audit violations during the audits of multiple issuers conducted over the course of multiple years. Jones, Jensen, and Roe each failed to comply with PCAOB auditing standards in connection with the Audits. The Blue Earth audit failures in 2012, moreover, continued in 2013 despite the fact that the Firm received notice from PCAOB inspectors that the 2012 Blue Earth audit work did not appear to have been performed in compliance with professional standards.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondents' Offers. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), HJ & Associates, LLC, S. Jeffrey Jones, Robert M. Jensen, and Charles D. Roe are hereby censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(A) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(1), the registration of HJ & Associates, LLC is revoked;

C. After two (2) years from the date of the Order, HJ & Associates, LLC may reapply for registration by filing an application pursuant to PCAOB Rule 2101;

D. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(B) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(2), S. Jeffrey Jones is barred from being an associated person of a registered

---

[83] See Quality Control Section 20.17, System of Quality Control for a CPA Firm's Accounting and Auditing Practice.

ORDER

public accounting firm, as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i);[84]

E. After three (3) years from the date of this Order, S. Jeffrey Jones may file a petition, pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5302(b), for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm;

F. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(B) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(2), Robert M. Jensen and Charles D. Roe are each suspended, for one (1) year from the date of this Order, from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm, as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act;[85] and

G. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of $10,000 is imposed upon HJ & Associates, LLC, and a civil money penalty in the amount of $10,000 is imposed upon S. Jeffrey Jones. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of these civil money penalties will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. HJ & Associates, LLC and S. Jeffrey Jones shall each pay their respective civil money penalty within ten (10) days of the issuance of this Order by (1) wire transfer pursuant to instructions provided by Board staff; or (2) United States Postal Service money order, bank money order, certified check, or bank cashier's check (a) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, (b) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006, and (c) submitted under cover letters which identify HJ & Associates, LLC and S. Jeffrey Jones as Respondents in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB release number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant

---

[84] As a consequence of the bar, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act will apply with respect to Jones. Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act provides: "It shall be unlawful for any person that is suspended or barred from being associated with a registered public accounting firm under this subsection willfully to become or remain associated with any issuer, broker, or dealer in an accountancy or a financial management capacity, and for any issuer, broker, or dealer that knew, or in the exercise of reasonable care should have known, of such suspension or bar, to permit such an association, without the consent of the Board or the Commission."

[85] As a consequence of the suspensions, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act, discussed supra, at n.84, will apply with respect to Jensen and Roe.

ORDER

to this Order. A copy of each cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to the Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe W. Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

_____

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

January 24, 2017

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street, N.W.
Washington, DC 20006
Telephone: (202) 207-9100
Facsimile: (202) 862-0757
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of KAP Purwantono, Sungkoro & Surja, Roy Iman Wirahardja, and James Randall Leali, Respondents.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-002 February 9, 2017

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("Board" or "PCAOB") is: (1) censuring KAP Purwantono, Sungkoro & Surja ("EY-Indonesia," or the "Firm"), Roy Iman Wirahardja, and James Randall Leali (collectively, "Respondents"); (2) imposing a civil money penalty in the amount of $1,000,000 on EY-Indonesia, $20,000 on Wirahardja, and $10,000 on Leali; (3) barring Wirahardja from being associated with a registered public accounting firm;[1] and (4) limiting Leali's activities in connection with any "audit," as that term is defined in Section 110(1) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), for a one year period from the date of this Order, by prohibiting Leali from serving in certain capacities in any audit as described in Section IV.E. herein.

The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that: (a) the Respondents violated PCAOB rules and standards in issuing, or authorizing the issuance of, unqualified audit reports concerning the December 31, 2011 financial statements and internal control over financial reporting ("ICFR") of PT Indosat Tbk ("Indosat" or the "Company") (the "2011 audit"); (b) Wirahardja and EY-Indonesia through certain of its employees violated PCAOB rules and standards by improperly altering work papers for the 2011 audit in connection with a Board inspection; and (c) EY-Indonesia and Wirahardja violated PCAOB rules by failing to cooperate with a Board investigation.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and

[1] Wirahardja may file a petition for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm after five (5) years from the date of this Order.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondents, and also pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(3) with respect to EY-Indonesia and Wirahardja.

II.

In anticipation of the institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondents have submitted Offers of Settlement ("Offers") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over Respondents and the subject matter of these proceedings, which is admitted, Respondents each consent to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order").[2]

III.

On the basis of Respondents' Offers, the Board finds[3] as follows:

A. Respondents

1. KAP Purwantono, Sungkoro & Surja (formerly known as "KAP Purwantono, Suherman & Surja") ("EY-Indonesia" or the "Firm") is the Indonesian affiliate of the Ernst & Young global network ("EY-Global").[4] EY-Indonesia has offices in Jakarta and Surabaya, Indonesia. EY-Indonesia served as Indosat's independent auditor at all relevant times and issued the audit reports for the 2010, 2011, and 2012

---

[2] The findings herein are made pursuant to Respondents' Offers and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

[3] The Board finds that Respondents' conduct described in this Order meets the conditions set out in Section 105(c)(5), which provides that certain sanctions may be imposed in the event of (i) intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, or (ii) repeated instances of negligent conduct, each resulting in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard.

[4] This matter involves personnel from various EY-Global affiliates. The term "EY" is used herein when referring to personnel from EY-Global affiliates other than EY-Indonesia.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

Indosat financial statements and ICFR. EY-Indonesia is, and at all relevant times was, registered with the Board pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules.

2. Roy Iman Wirahardja, 54, of Jakarta, Indonesia, is a public accountant licensed under the laws of Indonesia (license no. D-29.271). Wirahardja, at all relevant times, was an EY-Indonesia partner in the Firm's Jakarta office. At all relevant times, Wirahardja served as the Professional Practice Director ("PPD") for EY-Indonesia.[5] Wirahardja was the engagement partner on EY-Indonesia's audits of Indosat's December 31, 2010 through 2012 financial statements and ICFR. In that capacity, Wirahardja led the EY-Indonesia engagement teams, had final responsibility for those audits, and released the audit reports on Indosat's financial statements and ICFR for the years ended December 31, 2010 through 2012. Wirahardja is, and at all relevant times was, an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

3. James Randall Leali, 55, of Chicago, Illinois, is a certified public accountant licensed under the laws of Ohio (license no. 19784) and Illinois (license no. 065.42348). Leali is currently a partner with Ernst & Young LLP ("EY-US"). At all relevant times, Leali was a partner in EYEA LLP[6] and seconded to the PCAOB-registered EY-Global affiliate in Hong Kong where he served as the EY Area Professional Practice Director ("Area PPD")[7] for the Asia-Pacific region, which included Indonesia. In his capacity as Area PPD, Leali consulted on the audit of the 2011 Indosat financial statements and ICFR. In that capacity, Leali authorized Wirahardja to release the audit reports on Indosat's 2011 financial statements and ICFR. Leali is, and at all relevant times was, an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

---

[5] As the EY-Indonesia PPD, Wirahardja, among other things, (a) served as a technical subject matter expert for consultations on auditing and accounting matters; (b) assisted in the development of guidance, training, and monitoring programs and processes; and (c) assessed and assigned engagement partners and engagement quality reviewers to audits.

[6] EYEA is a Delaware limited liability partnership.

[7] As the Asia-Pacific Area PPD, among other things, Leali worked with the EY-Global Professional Practice Director to establish and monitor implementation of global audit quality control policies and procedures, including overseeing the country Professional Practice Directors in the Asia-Pacific region.

ORDER

B. Issuer

4. PT Indosat Tbk ("Indosat" or the "Company") is an Indonesian telecommunications network and service provider headquartered in Jakarta, Indonesia. It is incorporated in the Republic of Indonesia and substantially all of its assets, operations, and customers are located in Indonesia. At all relevant times, Indosat filed financial statements with the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC" or "Commission") on Form 20-F as a foreign private issuer, and its common stock was registered under Section 12(b) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. At all relevant times, Indosat was an "issuer" as the term is defined in Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii). The Company delisted its common stock from the New York Stock Exchange on May 6, 2013.

C. Summary

5. This matter concerns Respondents' violations of PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the audit of Indosat's December 31, 2011 financial statements and ICFR. In connection with the 2011 audit, Respondents failed to exercise due professional care and professional skepticism and obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence in evaluating Indosat's accounting for its over 4,000 leases related to spaces, or "slots," on cellular towers. During the 2011 audit, the partner responsible for performing the cross-border regulatory review of the Indosat audit as required by PCAOB standards (hereinafter, the "Appendix K review")[8] expressed concern to Wirahardja and the engagement team regarding the sufficiency of Indosat's tower slot lease analysis. In response, Wirahardja and the engagement team repeatedly requested that management complete a properly supported lease accounting analysis. Respondents failed, however, to obtain and evaluate a completed analysis before releasing audit reports on Indosat's December 31, 2011 financial statements and ICFR. And although those audit reports contained unqualified audit opinions, Respondents released the reports based on the audit evidence obtained to date and subject to the requirement that management provide a completed – and properly supported – tower slot lease accounting analysis in the future. Respondents further understood that, depending on the outcome of that analysis, a restatement of the 2011 and prior year's financial statements might be required.

---

[8] See SECPS 1000.45, Appendix K—SECPS Member Firms With Foreign Associated Firms That Audit SEC Registrants. Appendix K is meant to enhance the quality of SEC filings for companies whose financial statements are audited by international affiliates of U.S. firms. Appendix K provides that financial statement filings of audits performed by a foreign associated firm should be reviewed by a person knowledgeable in accounting, auditing, and independence standards generally accepted in the U.S.

ORDER

6. Respondents released the audit reports even though the Appendix K reviewer informed Wirahardja that he did not believe that Indosat's tower slot lease accounting was adequately supported and, thereby, indicated that he was not in a position to conclude that a significant unresolved matter did not exist.

7. The failure to gather sufficient appropriate audit evidence regarding tower slot lease accounting also precluded Respondents from properly evaluating the severity of an identified deficiency related to tower slot lease classification controls. Consequently, Respondents failed to obtain appropriate evidence sufficient to provide reasonable assurance that Indosat's ICFR was effective, as required by PCAOB standards.[9]

8. In the months after the release of the audit reports, Wirahardja and the engagement team pressed management for a properly supported analysis, but they obtained no additional evidence from management to support Indosat's tower slot lease accounting. Ultimately, the proper accounting for Indosat's historical tower slot lease arrangements was not determined until February 2013 – ten months after the 2011 audit reports were released.

9. This matter also concerns Wirahardja and EY-Indonesia's violations of PCAOB Auditing Standard No. 3, Audit Documentation ("AS 3") and PCAOB Rule 4006, Duty to Cooperate with Inspectors, in connection with (a) improperly creating work papers after the audit documentation completion date and (b) making those documents available to PCAOB inspectors during the 2012 inspection of EY-Indonesia. After EY-Indonesia was notified in late June 2012 that the 2011 Indosat audit would be inspected in December 2012, numerous engagement team members improperly created and added to the audit documentation dozens of new audit work papers. The engagement team members did so without indicating when the work papers were added, who prepared the additional work papers, or the reason for adding them after the documentation completion date.

10. The creation of misleading documentation continued when the PCAOB inspection field work began in December 2012. When the inspectors asked about the existence of a particular memo related to tower slot leases, certain engagement team members, with Wirahardja's knowledge, created the requested memo, added the memo to the work papers, and made it appear as if the memo had been generated during the 2011 audit. Wirahardja then instructed an audit manager to copy-and-paste the memo into a document with a metadata creation date that preceded the issuance of the 2011 audit reports. When a hard copy of the memo was provided to the inspectors, neither

---

[9] See Auditing Standard No. 5, An Audit of Internal Control Over Financial Reporting That is Integrated with An Audit of Financial Statements ("AS 5").

ORDER

Wirahardja nor any other engagement team member disclosed that the document had just been created.

11. Wirahardja also failed to cooperate with a PCAOB Investigation. When PCAOB staff asked him about the memo during his sworn investigative testimony, Wirahardja failed to disclose his knowledge that the memo had been improperly prepared during the PCAOB inspection or his involvement in the memo's improper preparation.[10]

12. Finally, the Firm violated PCAOB quality control standards by failing to have an adequate system in place to provide reasonable assurance that its personnel would comply with AS 3[11] and by failing to have an adequate monitoring system to provide reasonable assurance that its quality control system as to the preparation and archiving of audit documentation was operating effectively.[12] Additionally, when it came to light that a memo had likely been improperly added to the audit working papers in response to PCAOB inspectors' questions, a member of the engagement team informed a member of EY-Indonesia management that Wirahardja had knowledge of and was involved in the creation of the memorandum. This individual, however, failed to timely follow up on the allegations despite the Firm having commenced an internal investigation into the matter.

D. Background

13. As part of its operations, Indosat owned thousands of cellular towers throughout Indonesia that provided cell coverage for its customers. Generally, Indosat's towers consisted of the physical vertical tower with spaces (i.e., slots) upon which cellular radio antennas could be attached. Based on an April 2012 study of 2,500 Indosat's towers, average capacity was 3.6 slots per tower.

14. On each tower it owned, Indosat placed a cellular antenna for its cellular network. In 2008, Indosat began leasing out open slots to other cellular companies for use in their networks. Slots were not leased on a single-slot basis, but were leased as bundles of slots on multiple towers to build out the lessees' cellular networks. The leases were typically for a period of 10 years with a renewal option by the lessee. Indosat characterized these transactions as "lease-out" arrangements.

---

[10] See PCAOB Rule 5110, Noncooperation with an Investigation.

[11] See QC § 20.18, System of Quality Control for a CPA Firm's Accounting and Auditing Practice.

[12] See QC § 30, Monitoring a CPA Firm's Accounting and Auditing Practice.

ORDER

15. In 2010, Indosat analyzed these lease arrangements under International Accounting Standard 17, Leases ("IAS 17") and concluded that its lease-out arrangements were operating leases, analogous to service arrangements.[13] In early February 2012, in conjunction with evaluating a pending material cellular tower sale and leaseback transaction, Wirahardja informed management that Indosat needed to perform an analysis of its historical tower slot lease arrangements to assess whether the leases should have been accounted for as operating or finance leases at the time the leases were originated.[14] The distinction between a finance and operating lease for lease-out arrangements was significant because if a lease-out arrangement was determined to be a finance lease, the present value of minimum (future) lease payments ("PVMLP") would be netted against the book value of the leased asset with a potentially material gain (or loss) recorded in income and a portion of the tower asset removed from Indosat's balance sheet. Respondents recognized that, depending on the results of the analysis, a restatement of Indosat's 2009 and 2010 financial statements might be necessary.

16. In order to determine if a lease was a finance or operating lease under IAS 17, management – after consultation with Respondents – focused on two indicators of whether the risks and rewards of ownership had passed to the lessee: the economic life test and the present value test. Under the economic life test, if the lease term covered the major part of the economic life of the asset – 75% or more of the economic life under a guideline Indosat applied – the lease was a finance lease. Under the present value test, if the PVMLP at inception of the lease amounted to substantially all of the fair value of the leased asset – 90% or more of the fair value under a guideline Indosat applied – the lease was a finance lease. Respondents understood that, if either test indicated that a lease was a finance lease, Indosat would likely be required to change its historical and future accounting for the lease.

---

[13] Under IAS 17, a lease arrangement had to be analyzed to determine if it was an operating lease or a finance lease. A lease is a finance lease if it transfers substantially all the risks and rewards incidental to ownership. Otherwise, it is an operating lease. A finance lease is accounted for in the same manner as a sale with the leased asset removed from the balance sheet, and any corresponding gain or loss is recorded on the income statement at the time of the transaction. Conversely, with an operating lease, the leased asset remains on the lessor's books and lease payments are recorded as revenue ratably over the life of the lease. Id.

[14] Prior to assessing the proposed sale and leaseback transaction, Indosat incorrectly treated the tower as the "unit of account" instead of the individual slot when assessing whether a lease-out arrangement was an operating or finance lease under IAS 17.

ORDER

17. In performing the present value test, Indosat management used a discounted cash flow method to estimate the fair value of a slot.[15] The discounted cash flow analysis was based on a number of management assumptions, including an assumption regarding the average utilization rate of slots in Indonesia. The utilization rate was an estimate of the proportion of a tower slot's useful life during which the slot would be leased (i.e., generate rental payments). The utilization rate was significant because, all other things being equal, if a slot was expected to have a higher utilization rate, that slot would have a higher estimated fair value, which, in turn, meant that there was an increased likelihood that a lease-out arrangement for that slot would be categorized as an operating lease.

E. Respondents Failed to Exercise Due Professional Care and Failed to Obtain Sufficient Appropriate Audit Evidence in Connection with the 2011 Indosat Audit

18. Wirahardja led the 2011 Indosat audit as engagement partner. Because Indosat was a foreign private issuer audited by a foreign affiliate of EY-US, the 2011 audit was subject to an Appendix K review. An experienced audit partner and International Financial Reporting Standards ("IFRS") expert working in EY's Capital Markets Group served as Appendix K reviewer for the 2011 audit, as he had for 2010. As Appendix K reviewer, this partner was involved in all significant auditing, accounting, financial reporting, and independence matters, including assessing the auditing of and accounting for Indosat's historical tower slot leases and associated internal controls over tower lease accounting.

19. Indosat's accounting for its historical tower slot lease arrangements was identified by Wirahardja and the audit engagement team as a significant accounting and auditing matter for the 2011 audit. Wirahardja and the engagement team recognized that the application of IAS 17 to Indosat's historical tower slot lease arrangements had the potential to result in a restatement of Indosat's 2010 and prior financial statements. Additionally, they recognized that management's past failure to properly apply the applicable accounting guidance to its tower slot leases was a control deficiency, the severity of which needed to be evaluated under AS 5. As a result, Wirahardja and the Appendix K reviewer consulted with Leali, the Area PPD, at various times throughout the audit.

20. The Appendix K reviewer and Respondents understood that management needed to provide an analysis of Indosat's current tower slot lease arrangements to support its accounting in 2011 and prior years, and that that analysis needed to be [15] Indosat was required to estimate the fair value of the tower slots it leased out because there was no market for the sale and purchase of individual slots.

ORDER

evaluated by the engagement team. Moreover, they understood that a proper analysis required a properly supported utilization rate assumption.

21. Initially, management indicated that a 100% utilization rate assumption was appropriate based on its assertion that all of its existing lease-outs would be renewed at the end of the lease term. The Appendix K reviewer, however, objected to management's asserted utilization rate because he believed that it was not appropriate to consider whether a slot was currently leased when estimating a slot's utilization rate.

22. During the course of the audit, Indosat retained an international telecommunication industry specialist (hereinafter, the "Telecom Specialist" or "Specialist") to conduct a study of the Indonesian cellular tower market to support Indosat's accounting for the pending sale-leaseback transaction. Management also intended for the study to support the accounting for its historical tower slot lease arrangements. On April 13, 2012, the Telecom Specialist completed its draft market study report for Indosat (hereinafter, the "Tower Market Report"). The Tower Market Report provided the Specialist's expert opinion on tenancy forecasts for the Indonesian tower market, which, taking into account the Telecom Specialist's forecast that average available slot capacity was 3.6, evidenced slot utilization rates below 50%.

23. Even after receiving the Specialist's Tower Market Report, Indosat management continued to assert that a 100% utilization rate was appropriate for determining the fair value of a slot. Only after the Appendix K reviewer, Wirahardja, and the engagement team continued to object to the 100% rate, did management lower its utilization rate assumption to 80%. But Wirahardja and the engagement team failed to obtain sufficient appropriate evidence to support the reasonableness of this assumption. In fact, as noted above, the Tower Market Report contained information that appeared to contradict management's 80% assertion. Wirahardja and the engagement team, however, failed to evaluate the contradictory information. This failure was troubling because the engagement team had performed a sensitivity analysis, which indicated that a utilization rate below 65% would very likely require Indosat to restate its financial statements.

24. After receiving the Tower Market Report and the information that management was moving to an 80% utilization rate assumption, the Appendix K reviewer continued to press Wirahardja and the engagement team for support for the utilization rate assumption. Wirahardja, in turn, repeatedly requested additional support from management but did not obtain anything more.

25. In evaluating the severity of the identified control deficiency related to Indosat's processes for classifying tower slot leases, Wirahardja and the engagement team concluded that the control deficiency was not a material weakness, but a significant deficiency. They did so despite failing to obtain sufficient appropriate evidence for management's asserted utilization rate and despite knowing that a utilization rate below 65 percent could require a restatement.

ORDER

26. On April 28, 2012, on a conference call with Wirahardja and a member of the Appendix K reviewer's capital markets review team, the Appendix K reviewer informed Wirahardja that he believed that Indosat had failed to provide sufficient analysis to support the assumptions used in its tower slot lease accounting and thereby failed to support the accounting conclusions reflected in the 2009, 2010, and 2011 financial statements. The Appendix K reviewer thereby indicated that he could not conclude – as Wirahardja had – that significant unresolved matters did not exist with respect to the financial statements and management's assessment that its internal control over financial reporting was effective.[16] At the end of the call, the Appendix K reviewer instructed Wirahardja to arrange a conference call with EY-Asia Pacific leadership, starting with Leali, to discuss the situation and to conclude as to the appropriate course of action.

27. After the call with the Appendix K reviewer, Wirahardja and an engagement team manager briefly discussed the situation with the EY-Indonesia Quality & Risk Management Partner. In addition, Wirahardja reached out to Leali via email, text, and telephone. Wirahardja also directed a senior manager on the engagement to gather support for management's utilization rate assumption. The senior manager searched through the night but found nothing to support an 80% utilization rate assumption.

28. On the morning of Sunday, April 29, 2012 (Jakarta and Hong Kong time), Leali retrieved Wirahardja's voicemail, text, and email messages. He immediately called Wirahardja and was told of the Appendix K reviewer's concern regarding the reasonableness of management's utilization rate assumption. After discussing the issue, Leali authorized Wirahardja to release the audit reports subject to Wirahardja obtaining a completed analysis supporting Indosat's lease accounting in the near future and explaining to Indosat management that the support ultimately obtained could require a restatement of Indosat's financial statements.

29. After the call with Leali, Wirahardja informed the Appendix K reviewer that Leali had authorized the release of the audit report and informed Indosat management [16] The Engagement Quality Reviewer ("EQR") provided concurring approval of issuance of the 2011 audit reports on April 25, 2012. Wirahardja did not inform the EQR that, based on the Appendix K reviewer's position communicated to him on April 28, 2012, significant unresolved matters existed.

---

ORDER

that EY-Indonesia had granted permission for the Company's use of the audit reports in connection with the issuance of the Company's financial statements. On Monday, April 30, 2012, the SEC accepted Indosat's Form 20-F filing that included EY-Indonesia's unqualified reports on the December 31, 2011 financial statements and ICFR.

30. After releasing the audit reports and continuing over the next ten months, Wirahardja and the engagement team repeatedly attempted to obtain additional evidence to support the reasonableness of management's utilization rate assumption and, thereby, the reasonableness of the lease accounting that Wirahardja and Leali accepted on April 29, 2012. Those efforts proved unsuccessful.

31. By mid-June 2012, Wirahardja and the engagement team's efforts to obtain support collided with the need to archive the 2011 audit work papers. Under AS 3, a complete and final set of the work papers needed to be assembled by June 13, 2012.[17]

32. In preparing to archive the work papers, the engagement team asked the Appendix K reviewer to sign-off on the EY Review and Approval Summary ("RAS") forms documenting the completion of his Appendix K review. In response, the Appendix K reviewer declined to sign-off on the RAS documents because he disagreed with the decision to release the audit reports on April 29, 2012 due to his disagreement over the sufficiency of the audit evidence supporting management's tower slot lease accounting.

33. Upon learning that the Appendix K reviewer was refusing to sign the RAS forms, Leali suggested that a "qualification" memo be prepared to document the circumstances leading to the Appendix K reviewer's conclusion to not sign-off on the RAS documents. Subsequently, it was decided that the "qualification" memo – which came to be called the "RAS-F memo" – should include Leali and Wirahardja's rationale for releasing the audit reports notwithstanding the Appendix K reviewer's objections.

34. Between June 21, 2012 and July 9, 2012, the Appendix K reviewer, Leali, and Wirahardja drafted the RAS-F memo. Multiple drafts were prepared and edits were made by the Appendix K reviewer, Leali, and certain senior EY personnel.

---

[17] AS 3 provides that a "complete and final set of audit documentation should be assembled for retention as of a date not more than 45 days after the report release date (documentation completion date)." AS 3 ¶ 15. Wirahardja released EY-Indonesia's audit reports on April 29, 2012; consequently, the documentation completion date for the 2011 audit was June 13, 2012.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

35. On July 9, 2012, after all those involved in the drafting and review process had approved its language, the final RAS-F memo was signed by the Appendix K reviewer, Leali, and Wirahardja. Wirahardja and Leali's signatures evidenced their "agreement with the facts as set forth [in the RAS-F memo] and with the decision to release the Reports."

36. As set forth at the beginning of the final RAS-F memo, the purpose of the memo was to document:

> the facts and circumstances relating to a) the conclusion with respect to the completion of procedures required by the [EY] Global Assurance Policy Manual 3.9 related to the offering review, cross-border IFRS review and regulatory review … that caused [the Appendix K reviewer] to qualify his signoff on the RAS-F relating to the issuance of EY-Indonesia's reports related to IndoSat's financial statements and internal control included in IndoSat's 2011 Form 20-F (hereinafter referred to as "the Reports"); and b) the conclusion of EY-Indonesia Engagement Partner/EY-Indonesia PPD Roy Wirahardja and EY-Asia Pacific Area Professional Practice Director Randy Leali to issue the Reports, dated April 25, 2012, notwithstanding the aforementioned qualification.

37. The RAS-F memo documented that "[s]ignificant analysis was still required to confirm the utilization factor rate and other portions of the lease analysis" as of the date of EY-Indonesia's audit opinions.

38. In documenting the circumstances leading to Leali and Wirahardja's decision to release the audit reports, the RAS-F memo states:

> On April 29, 2012 (Jakarta-time), Wirahardja and Leali discussed the release of the Reports covering the 2011, 2010, and 2009 periods to be included in the 2011 Form 20-F for IndoSat. In the course of that discussion, Wirahardja and Leali concluded that while additional work was required to complete the Company's assessment of the utilization factor and its accounting implications, it appeared that sufficient appropriate audit evidence had been obtained to reduce audit risk to an acceptably low level, and thereby enable them to a [sic] draw reasonable conclusion regarding materiality to base the opinions in the Reports. Wirahardja and Leali further considered that even if there was an error, it was most likely to be in the form of an unrecognized gain

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

rather than a loss. Leali and Wirahardja concurred that it was prudent not to recognize gains that were unsupported at the time.

At the conclusion of that discussion, Leali authorized the release of the reports by EY-Indonesia, subject to the following:

- EY should continue to press IndoSat management for completion of the lease analysis in the near future. As of the date of this memo that analysis is ongoing.

- EY should explain to IndoSat that if the result of ongoing work substantiated a utilization factor materially different from 80% a restatement of the previously issued financial statements and internal control assessment could be required. This was communicated to the company in call and meetings on April 29, 2012 and May 2, 2012.

- EY should communicate to IndoSat that there was a significant deficiency in its internal control over financial reporting relating to these matters. This was communicated to the company during the Audit Committee meeting on April 25, 2012 and then reiterated during phone calls through April 28, 2012.

39. As noted in the RAS-F memo, the lease analysis necessary to support the 2011 financial statements, and any evaluation by the engagement team of that analysis, was still not finished as of July 9, 2012. And by the end of July, Wirahardja, Leali, and the Firm knew that it still was not done.

40. Ultimately, an appropriately supported lease analysis was not completed until February 2013. Although that lease analysis would have resulted in 88% of Indosat's historically leased-out tower slots being classified as finance leases, Indosat did not record the gains associated with the finance leases because it concluded that, under the new methodology adopted, the expenses associated with each leased slot could not be measured reliably and, therefore, under IAS 18, Revenue, the gains could not be readily determined and recognized at inception. Indosat therefore classified all of its historical lease-out arrangements as operating leases.

Respondents' Audit Violations

41. In connection with the preparation or issuance of an audit report, PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons comply

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

with the Board's auditing and related professional practice standards.[18] An auditor may express an unqualified opinion on an issuer's financial statements only when the auditor has formed an opinion on the basis of an audit performed in accordance with PCAOB standards.[19]

Failure to Exercise Due Professional Care and an Attitude of Professional Skepticism

42. PCAOB standards require auditors to exercise due professional care in planning and performing an audit.[20] Due professional care requires an auditor to exercise professional skepticism.[21] Professional skepticism requires a questioning mind and a critical assessment of audit evidence.[22] An auditor must gather and objectively evaluate the audit evidence during the audit.[23] And to do so, the auditor must consider the competency and sufficiency of the evidence.[24] Finally, the auditor should not be satisfied with less than persuasive evidence because of a belief that management is honest.[25]

43. Wirahardja failed to exercise due professional care and professional skepticism in connection with his role as engagement partner on the 2011 audit. At the time he released the 2011 audit reports, Wirahardja was aware that (1) significant analysis was still required to support management's tower lease accounting; (2) a

---

[18] See PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards; PCAOB Rule 3200T, Interim Auditing Standards. All references to PCAOB standards are to the versions of those standards in effect at the time of the audits.

[19] See AU § 508.07, Reports on Audited Financial Statements.

[20] See AU § 150, Generally Accepted Auditing Standards; AU § 230, Due Professional Care in the Performance of Work; see also Auditing Standard No. 8, Audit Risk ("AS 8") ¶ 3.

[21] See AU § 230.07.

[22] Id.

[23] Id.

[24] Id. at .08.

[25] Id. at .09.

ORDER

restatement could result from the completed lease analysis; and (3) the Appendix K reviewer disagreed with the conclusion that a significant unresolved matter did not exist.

44. Leali also failed to exercise due professional care and professional skepticism in connection with his role in the 2011 audit. Leali authorized Wirahardja to release the 2011 EY-Indonesia audit reports without a sufficiently supported lease analysis over management's tower slot lease accounting.[26] As Leali was aware, depending on the outcome of a supported lease analysis, a restatement of the 2011 financial statements could have been required. As the Area PPD, Leali was supposed to ensure that the EY-Global policies and applicable professional standards were followed. Rather than do so, Leali failed to meet his professional obligations by authorizing Wirahardja to release the 2011 audit reports.

45. Finally, EY-Indonesia, through the actions of its PPD Wirahardja, failed to exercise due professional care and skepticism and further violated PCAOB standards through its 2011 audit reports which incorrectly stated that the audits were performed in compliance with PCAOB standards when, in fact, they were not.[27]

Failure to Obtain Sufficient Appropriate Audit Evidence

46. PCAOB standards require auditors to plan and perform the audit to obtain appropriate audit evidence sufficient to support the opinion expressed in the auditor's report.[28] As the risk of material misstatement or the risk associated with an internal control increases, the amount of evidence that should be obtained also increases. The higher the quality of the evidence obtained, the smaller the need for additional corroborating evidence.[29] And, to be appropriate, audit evidence must be both relevant and reliable.[30] Furthermore, the auditor should consider all relevant audit evidence, regardless of whether it corroborates or contradicts management's assertions in the financial statements.[31] Finally, if audit evidence obtained from one source is [26] See Auditing Standard No. 14, Evaluating Audit Results ("AS 14"); Auditing Standard No. 15, Audit Evidence ("AS 15").

---

[27] See AU § 508.07.

[28] AS 15 ¶ 3.

[29] Id. at ¶ 5.

[30] Id. at ¶ 6.

[31] AS 14 at ¶ 3.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

inconsistent with that obtained from another, or if the auditor has doubts about the reliability of information to be used as audit evidence, the auditor should perform the audit procedures necessary to resolve the matter and should determine the effect, if any, on other aspects of the audit.[32]

47. PCAOB standards require auditors to evaluate the results of the audit to determine whether the audit evidence obtained is sufficient and appropriate to support the opinion to be expressed in the auditor's report.[33]

48. PCAOB standards also establish requirements for auditors who audit, and express an opinion regarding, an issuer's ICFR.[34] Among other things, "the auditor must plan and perform the audit to obtain appropriate evidence that is sufficient to obtain reasonable assurance about whether material weaknesses exist" in the issuer's internal control as of the date specified in management's internal control assessment.[35] PCAOB standards provide that "a company's internal control cannot be considered effective if one or more material weaknesses exist."[36] In order to obtain reasonable assurance about whether a material weakness exists, the auditor must also evaluate the severity of each control deficiency that is identified during the audit "to determine whether the deficiencies, individually or in combination, are material weaknesses."[37]

49. As a result of the conduct described above, Respondents failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to support the opinions expressed in the audit reports on Indosat's 2011 financial statements and Indosat's ICFR as of December 31, 2011. Specifically, by failing to gather sufficient appropriate audit evidence regarding the reasonableness of the utilization rate assumption and the associated lease classification for tower slots, the Respondents were not in a position to properly conclude as to whether the financial statements were materially misstated. For the same reasons, they were not in a position to determine the severity of the deficiency related to the tower slot lease classification control, and thereby conclude as to whether it represented a material weakness.

---

[32] AS 15 at ¶ 29.

[33] See AS 14 ¶ 2.

[34] See PCAOB Auditing Standard No. 5, An Audit of Internal Control Over Financial Reporting That Is Integrated with an Audit of Financial Statements ("AS5").

[35] AS 5 ¶ 3 (footnote omitted).

[36] Id.

[37] Id. at ¶ 62.

ORDER

50. Lastly, by failing to obtain and evaluate a completed tower slot lease analysis prior to releasing the audit opinion on Indosat's 2011 financial statements, the Respondents also failed to properly evaluate whether the utilization rate assumption provided a reasonable basis for the fair value measurement of the tower slot, and thereby, the determination of lease classification, as required by PCAOB standards.[38]

F. The Firm and Wirahardja Violated PCAOB Rules and Standards Relating to Audit Documentation, Work Paper Alteration, and Cooperation with PCAOB Inspections.

The Engagement Team Failed to Timely Archive the Audit Work Papers and Improperly Altered and Created Audit Documentation After the Archive Date.

51. Under PCAOB standards, prior to releasing the audit reports on April 29, 2012, EY-Indonesia was required to "have completed all necessary auditing procedures and obtained sufficient evidence to support the representations in the auditor's report."[39] And the work papers documenting the 2011 audit had to "contain sufficient information to enable an experienced auditor, having no previous connection with the engagement… [t]o understand the nature, timing, extent, and results of the procedures performed, evidence obtained, and conclusions reached, and … [t]o determine who performed the work and the date such work was completed as well as the person who reviewed the work and the date of such review."[40]

52. The engagement team, under Wirahardja's supervision, was required to assemble a "[a] complete and final set of audit documentation … for retention as of a date not more than 45 days after the report release date (documentation completion date)."[41] And if audit documentation was added after the documentation completion date of June 13, 2012, the documentation had to "indicate the date the information was added, the name of the person who prepared the additional documentation, and the reason for adding it."[42]

---

38 AU § 328.28, Auditing Fair Value Measurements and Disclosures.

39 AS 3 ¶ 15.

40 Id. at ¶ 6.

41 Id. at ¶ 15.

42 Id. at ¶ 16.

ORDER

53. In addition to failing to complete all necessary audit procedures and failing to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence before releasing the audit reports, Wirahardja and the engagement team failed to assemble the 2011 audit work papers for retention by the documentation completion date. In fact, the 2011 work papers were not archived until July 16, 2012. Archiving was delayed because the audit team was still compiling, creating, and modifying work papers in late June and July 2012.

54. When the Firm learned that the 2011 Indosat audit would be subject to PCAOB inspection, it reiterated the need for Wirahardja and his team to comply with AS 3. On June 29, 2012, EY-Indonesia's CEO directed Wirahardja to ensure that the file was archived because the Firm had just learned it would be inspected in 2012. Because of the pending inspection, Leali also specifically instructed Wirahardja to follow EY-Global documentation protocol.

55. Notwithstanding Leali's instruction that the work papers were not to be changed, over the next five months, numerous members of the engagement team systematically – and improperly – created or modified, and added without proper disclosure, dozens of documents to multiple areas of the 2011 audit work papers. Improperly adding to or modifying the work papers was likely easier because the Firm's work paper system relied heavily on hardcopy work papers. Moreover, contrary to EY policy, access to the hard copy work papers was not adequately restricted or monitored after the documentation completion date, after the archiving date, or after notification of a PCAOB inspection in order to prevent the improper addition or alteration of documentation.

56. When the 2011 audit work papers were officially archived on July 16, 2012, numerous documents that were added after the documentation completion date did not include proper AS 3 disclosure. For example, the final version of an analysis attempting "to determine whether an 80% utilization rate [wa]s appropriate using qualitative and quantitative analysis," was added to the archived work papers on or after July 16, 2012, but was dated April 24, 2012. And spreadsheets summarizing the impact of tower slot lease arrangements were improperly finalized and added to the work papers without any disclosure that they were added after the documentation completion date.

57. After the work papers were officially archived, the engagement team continued to improperly alter the work papers. Documents improperly added to the 2011 work papers after archiving included documents related not only to the tower slot lease issue, but also to fixed assets, journal entry testing, receivables and payables, revenue, expenses, and income taxes. Engagement team members also requested and obtained a backdated legal letter not obtained during the audit.

ORDER

58. Much of the improper work paper alteration was done with the knowledge that the altered work papers would likely be reviewed by the PCAOB inspectors. In many instances, work papers related to particular audit areas were improperly added to the audit documentation shortly after the Firm was notified by PCAOB inspectors of the selection of those audit areas for inspection.

59. In early November 2012, Wirahardja and the engagement team learned from certain EY personnel that journal entry testing would likely be a focus of the pending PCAOB inspection. While Wirahardja reminded the engagement team, at the time, that the work papers were not to be changed, over the course of November and early December, at least eight different engagement team members participated in the improper creation and alteration of journal entry work papers. As a result, approximately 60 journal entry work papers were improperly created and/or modified in advance of the PCAOB inspection.

The Engagement Team Created an AU 336 Memo with Wirahardja's Knowledge and Participation.

60. The creation of misleading audit documentation did not end when the PCAOB inspection began. During the course of the inspection, the PCAOB inspectors asked whether the engagement team had prepared a memorandum documenting the engagement team's evaluation of the qualifications of the Telecom Specialist hired by Indosat under AU § 336, Using the Work of a Specialist. In response, engagement team members stated that an AU 336 memo existed and that it would be provided to the inspectors.

61. In reality, a memo did not exist. But, rather than tell the inspectors, engagement team personnel, with Wirahardja's knowledge and participation, created a memo evaluating the Telecom Specialist and presented it to the inspectors as if it had been created during the 2011 audit. While the memo was given to the inspectors in hard copy, Wirahardja instructed that the memo be cut-and-pasted into an electronic document with a creation date from the 2011 audit period. In addition, Wirahardja printed out information about the Telecom Specialist and directed that it be attached to the hard copy.

62. Wirahardja, by participating in the improper creation of the AU 336 memo, violated PCAOB standards.[43] And by allowing the memo to be given to the PCAOB inspectors without disclosing to them when the memo had been prepared, Wirahardja violated PCAOB Rule 4006.

---

[43] AS 3 ¶ 16.

ORDER

63. As the independent auditor of Indosat's 2011 financial statements and internal controls, EY-Indonesia was required to comply with PCAOB standards in its audits. The Firm – through multiple personnel knowingly creating misleading audit documentation – failed to comply with AS 3. In addition, the Firm – through Wirahardja and numerous other members of the Indosat engagement team – violated its duty to cooperate with the PCAOB inspectors by making misleading work papers available to the inspection team.

G. EY-Indonesia Violated the Board's Quality Control Standards.

64. PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm comply with the Board's quality control standards.[44] Accordingly, EY-Indonesia was required to have a system of quality control that provided the Firm with "reasonable assurance that its personnel comply with the applicable professional standards and the firm's standards of quality."[45] Among other things, the Firm's system of quality control needed to include the element of monitoring.[46] Monitoring was necessary to provide the Firm with reasonable assurance that its quality control policies and procedures were suitably designed and were being effectively applied.[47]

65. An effective quality control monitoring system includes policies and procedures that provide a firm with reasonable assurance that its auditors comply with the requirements of AS 3. EY-Indonesia's quality control system did not provide reasonable assurance that its engagement personnel would comply with audit documentation requirements. Nor did it provide reasonable assurance that audit work papers would be archived timely or that hardcopy work papers would not be improperly altered after archiving.

H. The Firm and Wirahardja Failed to Cooperate with the Board's Investigation.

66. Section 105(b)(3)(A) of the Act authorizes the Board to sanction an associated person of a registered public accounting firm for "refus[ing] to…cooperate

---

[44] PCAOB Rule 3100; PCAOB Rule 3400T, Interim Quality Control Standards.

[45] QC § 20.03.

[46] Id. at .07

[47] Id. at .20; see also QC § 30.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

with the Board in connection with an investigation."[48] Board rules include procedures for implementing that authority.[49] Noncooperation with a Board investigation includes (a) "knowingly mak[ing] any false material declaration or mak[ing] or us[ing] any other information, including any book, paper, document, record, recording, or other material, knowing the same to contain any false material declaration;" and (b) "abus[ing] the Board's processes for the purpose of obstructing an investigation."[50]

67. As discussed above, Wirahardja knew of, and participated in, the creation of the AU 336 memo in December 2012. During the investigation of this matter, PCAOB staff asked Wirahardja about the creation of the AU 336 memo. In response, and under oath, Wirahardja failed to disclose his knowledge that the memo had been improperly prepared during the PCAOB inspection or his involvement in the memo's improper preparation. Wirahardja thereby failed to cooperate with a Board investigation.

68. EY-Indonesia also failed to cooperate with the Board's investigation by failing to timely disclose its full knowledge of the improper document creation including Wirahardja's involvement. Soon after the PCAOB investigators made EY-Indonesia aware of information suggesting that audit work papers may have been improperly altered, the Firm commenced an internal investigation.[51] During the course of that investigation, the engagement team member who was directed by Wirahardja to copy-and-paste the AU 336 memo into a document with a creation date during the 2011 audit period and improperly alter the memo informed a member of the Firm's senior leadership that Wirahardja was involved in the improper alteration of the AU 336 memo. The member of senior leadership did not promptly follow up on that information or inform those performing the internal investigation. Instead, the member of senior leadership allowed the internal investigators to conclude – and to inform the PCAOB staff – that no evidence existed that any senior Firm personnel – including Wirahardja – knew of or participated in the improper conduct. Only after the PCAOB investigative staff informed the Firm that it had learned from the engagement team member of

---

[48] 15 U.S.C. § 7215(b)(3)(A).

[49] See PCAOB Rules 5110, 5200(a)(3).

[50] PCAOB Rule 5110(a).

[51] Throughout the course of its internal investigation, the Firm voluntarily disclosed its findings to the PCAOB investigative staff, including its findings that improper creation and alteration of work papers occurred beyond the scope of the improper creation raised by the PCAOB investigative staff.

ORDER

Wirahardja's involvement and senior management's knowledge,[52] did EY-Indonesia conduct a further internal investigation and then make its own disclosure to the PCAOB investigative staff regarding the scope of Wirahardja's involvement and senior management's knowledge.[53] Through its actions, EY-Indonesia obstructed the Board's investigation.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondents' Offers. The Board, in determining the appropriate sanctions as to EY-Indonesia, has taken into account the remedial steps taken by the Firm beginning in November 2014 to improve its system of quality controls.[54] Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(b)(3)(A)(iii) and 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5) and (b)(1), EY-Indonesia and Roy Iman Wirahardja are hereby censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), James Randall Leali is hereby censured;

C. Pursuant to Section 105(b)(3)(A)(i) and 105(c)(4)(B) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(2) and (b)(1), Roy Iman Wirahardja is barred from

---

[52] The engagement team member – who was no longer with the Firm – provided substantial assistance to the PCAOB investigation by confirming the scope of the improper document alteration and identifying those at the Firm who were involved in or had knowledge of it.

[53] In addition, the Firm disclosed that the member of senior management who was told of the improper conduct would be removed from leadership as a result of the internal investigation.

[54] In response to the findings of its internal investigation, the Firm took measures to improve its quality controls related to AS 3 compliance and took disciplinary action against several individuals (including terminating five senior personnel).

ORDER

being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm, as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i);[55]

D. After five (5) years from the date of this Order, Roy Iman Wirahardja may file a petition, pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5302(b), for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm;

E. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(C) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(3), for a period of one year from the date of this Order, James Randall Leali's role in any "audit," as that term is defined in Section 110(1) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(a)(v), shall be restricted as follows: Leali shall not (1) serve, or supervise the work of another person serving, as an "engagement partner," as that term is used in the Board's Auditing Standard No. 10 or AS 1201, Supervision of the Audit Engagement; (2) serve, or supervise the work of another person serving, as an "engagement quality reviewer," as that term is used in the Board's Auditing Standard No. 7 or AS 1220, Engagement Quality Review; (3) serve, or supervise the work of another person serving, in any role that is equivalent to, but differently denominated from, engagement partner (such as "lead partner" or "practitioner-in-charge") or engagement quality reviewer (such as "concurring partner"); (4) exercise authority, or supervise the work of another person exercising authority, either to sign a registered public accounting firm's name to an audit report, or to consent to the use of a previously issued audit report, for any issuer, broker, or dealer; (5) serve, or supervise the work of another person serving, as the "other auditor," or "another auditor," as those terms are used in the Board's Interim Auditing Standard AU Section 543 or AS 1205, Part of the Audit Performed by Other Independent Auditors; (6) serve, or supervise the work of another serving as, a professional practice director; and

---

[55] As a consequence of the bar imposed in this Order, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act will apply with respect to Wirahardja. Section 105(c)(7)(B) provides: "It shall be unlawful for any person that is suspended or barred from being associated with a registered public accounting firm under this subsection willfully to become or remain associated with any issuer, broker, or dealer in an accountancy or a financial management capacity, and for any issuer, broker, or dealer that knew, or in the exercise of reasonable care should have known, of such suspension or bar, to permit such an association, without the consent of the Board or the Commission."

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

F. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), civil money penalties in the amount of $1,000,000 payable by EY-Indonesia; $20,000 payable by Roy Iman Wirahardja; and $10,000 payable by James Randall Leali are imposed. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of these civil money penalties will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. EY-Indonesia, Roy Iman Wirahardja, and James Randall Leali shall pay these civil money penalties within 30 days of the issuance of this Order by (1) wire transfer in accordance with instructions furnished by Board staff; or (2) United States Postal Service money order, bank money order, certified check, or bank cashier's check (a) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, (b) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, and (c) submitted under cover letters which identify each as a Respondent in these proceedings, set forth the title and PCAOB Release number of these proceedings, and state that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letters and money orders or checks shall be sent to Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe W. Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

_____

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

February 9, 2017

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street, N.W.
Washington, DC 20006
Telephone: (202) 207-9100
Facsimile: (202) 862-0757
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of Cutler & Co., LLC, and David J. C. Cutler, CPA, Respondents.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-003 February 23, 2017

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("Board" or "PCAOB") is: (1) censuring Cutler & Co., LLC (the "Firm"); (2) revoking the registration of the Firm,[1] (3) imposing a civil money penalty in the amount of $20,000 upon the Firm; (4) censuring David J. C. Cutler, CPA ("Cutler"); and (5) barring Cutler from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm.[2] The Board is imposing these sanctions on the Firm and Cutler (collectively, "Respondents") on the basis of its findings that Respondents violated PCAOB rules and auditing standards in connection with the audit of the financial statements of one issuer client.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended ("Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondents.

II.

In anticipation of the institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondents have each submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offers") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any

[1] The Firm may reapply for registration after two (2) years from the date of this Order.

[2] Cutler may file a petition for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm after two (2) years from the date of this Order.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over them and the subject matter of these proceedings, which are admitted, Respondents consent to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[3]

III.

On the basis of Respondents' Offers, the Board finds[4] that:

A. Respondents

1. Cutler & Co., LLC, is a registered public accounting firm located in Arvada, Colorado. The Firm is licensed by the Colorado Board of Accountancy (License No. 13300). Cutler is the owner and sole principal of the Firm. The Firm has been registered with the Board pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB Rules since 2013. At all relevant times, the Firm was the external auditor for the issuer identified below.

2. David J. C. Cutler, CPA, 60, is a resident of Arvada, Colorado. Cutler is a certified public accountant licensed by the Colorado Board of Accountancy (License No. 0018394). He was the engagement partner for the Firm's audit of the financial statements for the issuer identified below and authorized the issuance of the Firm's audit report on those financial statements. Cutler is, and at all relevant times was, an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

B. Summary

3. This matter concerns Respondents' violations of PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the issuance of an audit report on Sungame Corp.'s

---

[3] The findings herein are made pursuant to Respondents' Offers and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

[4] The Board finds that Respondents' conduct described in this Order meets the conditions set out in Section 105(c)(5) of the Act, 15 U.S.C. § 7215(c)(5), which provides that such sanctions may be imposed in the event of: (1) intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, that results in violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard; or (2) repeated instances of negligent conduct, each resulting in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard.

ORDER

("Sungame") financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2013 (the "Audit"). As detailed below, Respondents failed to exercise due professional care, including professional skepticism, and failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to support the opinion expressed in the auditor's report. Specifically, Respondents failed to obtain sufficient appropriate evidence to address identified fraud risks related to Sungame's revenue and unearned revenue. Respondents also failed to adequately document critical aspects of the audit, and Cutler failed to adequately supervise the audit.

C. Respondents Violated PCAOB Rules and Standards

4. In connection with the preparation or issuance of any audit report, PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons comply with all applicable Board auditing and related professional practice standards.[5] An auditor may express an unqualified opinion on an issuer's financial statements only when the auditor has formed that opinion on the basis of an audit performed in accordance with PCAOB standards.[6] Those standards require, among other things, that an auditor plan and perform the audit to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to provide a reasonable basis for the auditor's opinion.[7] PCAOB standards further require an auditor to exercise due professional care and professional skepticism in performing the audit.[8]

5. In addition, PCAOB standards require the auditor to design and implement audit responses that address the identified risks of material misstatement.[9] As the assessed risk of material misstatement increases, the amount of evidence that the

---

[5] See PCAOB Rules 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards; 3200T, Interim Auditing Standards. All references to PCAOB standards in this Order are to the versions of those standards in effect for the Audit.

[6] See AU § 508.07, Reports on Audited Financial Statements.

[7] See Auditing Standard No. 15, Audit Evidence ("AS 15"), ¶ 4.

[8] See AU § 150.02, Generally Accepted Auditing Standards; AU § 230, Due Professional Care in the Performance of Work.

[9] See Auditing Standard No. 13, The Auditor's Responses to the Risks of Material Misstatement ("AS 13"), ¶ 3.

ORDER

auditor should obtain also increases.[10] "The auditor should perform substantive procedures for each relevant assertion of each significant account and disclosure, regardless of the assessed level of control risk."[11] If the auditor performs confirmation procedures, "[t]he auditor should direct the confirmation request to a third party who the auditor believes is knowledgeable about the information to be confirmed."[12]

6. In the case of significant transactions that are outside the normal course of business for the entity, or that otherwise appear to be unusual given the auditor's understanding of the entity and its environment, PCAOB standards require the auditor to gain an understanding of the business rationale for such transactions and whether that rationale (or the lack thereof) suggests that the transactions may have been entered into to engage in fraudulent financial reporting or conceal misappropriation of assets.[13] The auditor should also perform substantive procedures, including tests of details, that are specifically responsive to the assessed significant risks, including any fraud risks.[14]

7. The auditor's assessment of the risks of material misstatement, including fraud risks, should continue throughout the audit.[15] "When the auditor obtains audit evidence during the course of the audit that contradicts the audit evidence on which the auditor originally based his or her risk assessment, the auditor should revise the risk assessment and modify planned audit procedures or perform additional procedures in response to the revised risk assessments."[16]

8. "The auditor's responses to the assessed risks of material misstatement, particularly fraud risks, should involve the application of professional skepticism in

---

[10] See AS 15 ¶ 5; AS 13 ¶¶ 9(a), 37.

[11] AS 13 ¶ 36.

[12] See AU § 330.26, The Confirmation Process.

[13] See AU § 316.66, Consideration of Fraud in a Financial Statement Audit; see also AS 13 ¶ 15(c).

[14] See AS 13 ¶¶ 11, 13.

[15] See Auditing Standard No. 12, Identifying and Assessing Risks of Material Misstatement ("AS 12"), ¶ 74.

[16] Id.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

gathering and evaluating audit evidence."[17] "[I]f the auditor has doubts about the reliability of information to be used as audit evidence, the auditor should perform the audit procedures necessary to resolve the matter and should determine the effect, if any, on other aspects of the audit."[18] "[T]he auditor should not be satisfied with less-than-persuasive evidence because of a belief that management is honest."[19] Moreover, "[i]f a representation made by management is contradicted by other audit evidence, the auditor should investigate the circumstances and consider the reliability of the representation made."[20] "If the auditor is unable to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to have a reasonable basis to conclude about whether the financial statements as a whole are free of material misstatement, . . . the auditor should express a qualified opinion or a disclaimer of opinion."[21]

9. The engagement partner is responsible for proper supervision of the work of engagement team members and for compliance with PCAOB standards.[22] In supervising the audit, the engagement partner should, among other things, evaluate whether: (1) the work was performed and documented; (2) the objectives of the audit procedures were achieved; and (3) the results of the work support the conclusions reached.[23] "To form an appropriate basis for expressing an opinion on the financial statements, the auditor must plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement due to error or fraud."[24]

10. As detailed below, Respondents failed to comply with the aforementioned rules and standards, among others, in connection with the Audit.

---

[17] AS 13 ¶ 7.

[18] AS 15 ¶ 29.

[19] AU § 316.13.

[20] AU § 333.04, Management Representations.

[21] Auditing Standard No. 14, Evaluating Audit Results ("AS 14"), ¶ 35.

[22] Auditing Standard No. 10, Supervision of the Audit Engagement ("AS 10"), ¶ 3.

[23] See AS 10 ¶ 5(c).

[24] Auditing Standard No. 8, Audit Risk, ¶ 3; AS 14 ¶ 32.

ORDER

1. Background

11. Sungame was, at all relevant times, a Delaware corporation with its principal office located in Las Vegas, Nevada. Sungame's public filings disclosed that it was a development stage company, seeking to develop a media content management and discovery platform, called "Flightdeck," and a business directory service, called "Vidirectory." During 2013, Sungame also began a new line of business, selling glasses-free 3D tablets. Sungame had no history of producing or selling such tablets. At all relevant times, Sungame's common stock was registered under Section 12(g) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, and was traded on the OTCBB exchange. At all relevant times, Sungame was an "issuer" as the term is defined in Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

12. In its Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2012, filed on March 29, 2013,[25] Sungame disclosed that it was "grossly undercapitalized in 2012 and unable to raise a significant amount of capital, other than receiving $653,593 in advances from our majority shareholder." Sungame reported that its only assets at year-end 2012 consisted of $2,604 in cash, $612 in fixed assets and $121,043 in capitalized software. At the same time, it reported $1.9 million in liabilities, virtually all of which were attributable to loans and accounts payable that were due to related-parties. Sungame further disclosed that it had "no significant revenues from operations," and that "if we do not begin to generate revenue or cannot raise additional needed funds, we will either have to suspend development operations until we do raise the funds, or cease operations entirely."

13. In January 2014, Sungame retained the Firm to serve as Sungame's independent auditor. The Firm audited Sungame's financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2013, and issued an audit report, dated April 15, 2014, containing an unqualified opinion on those financial statements. The audit report also included going concern explanatory language regarding those financial statements. The audit report was included in a Form 10-K filed by Sungame with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (the "Commission") on April 15, 2014.

14. Cutler served as the engagement partner for the Audit, and authorized the release of the audit report. Cutler supervised the work of an assistant who served on [25] The 2012 financial statements were audited by Ronald R. Chadwick, P.C., whose Board registration was revoked in 2015. See In the Matter of Ronald R. Chadwick, P.C. and Ronald R. Chadwick, CPA, PCAOB Rel. No. 105-2015-009 (Apr. 28, 2015).

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

the engagement team.[26] That assistant performed the majority of the audit procedures during the Audit. The engagement quality review for the Audit was performed by an auditor from outside the Firm, who was hired by Cutler.[27]

15. During the Audit, Respondents did not speak to any Sungame executive officer or director prior to issuing the audit report on Sungame's 2013 financial statements. Respondents only obtained written representations and brief responses to questionnaires from Sungame's CEO. All of Respondents' verbal communications with Sungame during the audit were either with a consultant or with Sungame's controller, who they understood acted as a bookkeeper.

2. Respondents Failed to Gather Sufficient Appropriate Audit Evidence

16. During the audit, Respondents identified several significant risks. Among others, Respondents identified a fraud risk involving improper revenue recognition.[28] Respondents also identified fraud risks related to "a clear lack of segregation of duties and a high risk of management override of controls." Respondents further identified a specific fraud risk of misappropriation of assets by management, including a risk that the cash deposits could have been inappropriately diverted by management to related parties. However, Respondents failed to perform sufficient appropriate procedures to specifically address the identified risks.

17. Sungame disclosed in its 2013 financial statements approximately $122,000 in revenue from tablet computer sales in 2013. Fifty-four percent of the revenue ($66,000) was attributed to sales to Sungame's majority shareholder, Chandran Holding Media, Inc. ("CHMI"), which was controlled by Sungame's CEO. Approximately $43,000 (35%) of Sungame's revenue was recorded on the last day of the Company's fiscal year, December 31, 2013. Other than obtaining written management representations concerning related party revenue, Respondents failed to plan and perform any procedures regarding Sungame's revenue.

---

[26] See Donna Lynn Johnson, CPA, PCAOB Rel. No. 105-2017-005 (Feb. 23, 2017).

[27] See Edward Andrew Hamilton, CPA, PCAOB Rel. No. 105-2017-004 (Feb. 23, 2017).

[28] See AS 12 ¶ 71 (fraud risks are significant risks); see also AS 12 ¶ 68 (the auditor should presume a fraud risk involving improper revenue recognition).

ORDER

18. As of year-end 2013, Sungame reported approximately $1.9 million in unearned revenue, which it attributed to deposits for future deliveries of tablet computers and advertising services. Sungame disclosed in its 2013 Form 10-K that the unearned revenue originated from deposits received from "resellers" and a new "master distributor." Respondents identified that Sungame's unearned revenue was a significant account, and that the transactions underlying Sungame's unearned revenue were "unusual."

19. Sungame represented to Respondents that virtually all of the deposits for Sungame's unearned revenue balance had been obtained through the master distributor. Respondents obtained a confirmation from the master distributor, confirming $1.78 million (95%) of Sungame's unearned revenue balance. However, during the audit, Respondents learned that the vast majority of the deposits had been received directly from individuals solicited through "multi-level marketing," and not from the distributor. Additionally, the master distribution agreement wasn't signed until 2014 and stated that it was effective as of December 31, 2013 (i.e., it was not effective until the last day of the year under audit). Moreover, the agreement did not cover prepayments for tablets by third parties; the agreement provided for the distributor's purchase of tablets for resale and distribution, with payment occurring after delivery. Despite this information, Respondents failed to consider whether the master distributor was sufficiently knowledgeable to provide confirmation of Sungame's year-end 2013 unearned revenue balance and failed to perform procedures necessary to resolve any doubts about the reliability of the information received.[29]

20. During the audit, Respondents also learned that Sungame had not received approximately $500,000 of the deposits recorded as unearned revenue. Instead, those deposits had been paid to CHMI rather than Sungame. In lieu of receiving the cash, Sungame received credits against an undocumented loan from CHMI. Respondents failed to gain an understanding of the business rationale for the undocumented loan to determine whether it may have been entered into to engage in fraudulent financial reporting or to conceal misappropriation of assets.[30]

21. In addition, Respondents failed to evaluate red flags concerning Sungame's unearned revenue. For example, Respondents reviewed receipts sent to Sungame's customers for their deposits, and realized that they lacked both customer contact information and terms, and might not be reliable. In addition, Respondents reviewed Sungame's bank statements, which reflected that numerous deposits had

---

[29] See AU § 330.26; AU § 333.04; AS 15 ¶ 29.

[30] See AS 13 ¶ 15(c); AU § 316.66.

ORDER

been sent with notations indicating they were an "investment" or for the purchase of stock. Respondents, however, failed to perform any audit procedures necessary to resolve those inconsistencies and determine the effect, if any, on other aspects of the audit before the Firm issued its audit report.[31]

22. On August 15, 2014, Sungame filed a Form 8-K with the Commission, announcing that Sungame's audited December 31, 2013 financial statements should no longer be relied upon.[32] Sungame subsequently disclosed, in a Form 10-Q filing for the period ended June 30, 2014,[33] that, "all items previously recognized as revenue and deferred revenue [for the year ended 2013 and the first quarter of 2014] will be restated as rebate liability, advances payable, or debt."

3. Respondents Failed to Prepare Appropriate Audit Documentation

23. PCAOB standards require that auditor document the procedures performed, evidence obtained, and conclusions reached with respect to relevant financial statement assertions.[34] "Audit documentation must clearly demonstrate that the work was in fact performed."[35] Among other things, the auditor must document significant findings or issues, actions taken to address them (including additional evidence obtained), and the basis for the conclusions reached in connection with each engagement.[36] Significant findings or issues that must be documented include risks of

---

[31] See AS 15 ¶ 29.

[32] Subsequent to the Audit, in July 2014, a consultant hired by Respondents to perform a post-issuance review of the Audit identified publicly available information that raised concerns related to Sungame's recorded revenue and unearned revenue balances. Some of that information was publicly available at the time of the Audit. Respondents conveyed that information to Sungame in July 2014. Sungame thereafter conducted an internal investigation, which led to the August 15, 2014 Form 8-K filing.

[33] That Form 10-Q, filed with the Commission on September 18, 2014, stated that the financial information contained therein had not been reviewed by Sungame's independent accountant.

[34] See Auditing Standard No. 3 ("AS 3"), Audit Documentation, ¶ 6.

[35] Id. ¶ 6.

[36] See id. ¶ 12.

ORDER

material misstatement that are determined to be significant risks and the results of the auditing procedures performed in response to those risks.[37] "The auditor must identify all significant findings or issues in an engagement completion document."[38]

24. Respondents violated the foregoing standards during the Audit because they: (1) failed to document the engagement partner review, (2) failed to adequately document significant issues and findings; and (3) failed to adequately document other audit procedures so that an auditor with no previous connection with the engagement could understand the nature, timing, extent, and results of the procedures performed, evidence obtained and conclusions reached.

4. Cutler Failed to Appropriately Supervise the Audit

25. As the engagement partner, Cutler was responsible for the Sungame audit engagements and its performance.[39] Accordingly, Cutler was responsible for proper supervision of the work of the engagement team members and for compliance with PCAOB standards.[40] Cutler was required to review the work of engagement team members to evaluate whether the work was performed and documented, the objectives of the procedures were achieved, and the results of the work supported the conclusions reached.[41] As discussed above, the engagement team failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence in several areas during the Audit, and failed to adequately document the Audit.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondents' Offers. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), Cutler & Co., LLC and David J.C. Cutler, CPA are hereby censured;

---

37 See id. ¶ 12(f-1).

38 Id. ¶ 13.

39 See AS 10 ¶ 3.

40 See id.

41 See id. at ¶ 5.

ORDER

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(B) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(2), David J.C. Cutler, CPA, is barred from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm, as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i);[42]

C. After two (2) years from the date of this Order, David J.C. Cutler, CPA, may file a petition, pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5302(b), for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm.

D. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(A) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(1), the registration of Cutler & Co., LLC, is revoked;

E. After two (2) years from the date of this Order, Cutler & Co., LLC, may reapply for registration by filing an application pursuant to PCAOB Rule 2101; and

F. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of $20,000 is imposed upon the Firm. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of these civil money penalties will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. The Firm shall pay the civil money penalty imposed within ten (10) days of the issuance of this Order by (1) wire transfer pursuant to instructions provided by Board staff; or (2) United States Postal Service money order, bank money order, certified check, or bank cashier's check (a) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, (b) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, and (c) submitted under a cover letter that identifies the Firm as a Respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB release number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of said cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to Office of the Secretary,

---

[42] As a consequence of the bar, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act will apply with respect to Cutler. Section 105(c)(7)(B) provides: "It shall be unlawful for any person that is suspended or barred from being associated with a registered public accounting firm under this subsection willfully to become or remain associated with any issuer, broker, or dealer in an accountancy or a financial management capacity, and for any issuer, broker, or dealer that knew, or in the exercise of reasonable care should have known, of such suspension or bar, to permit such an association, without the consent of the Board or the Commission."

ORDER

Attention: Phoebe W. Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

_____

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

February 23, 2017

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street, N.W.
Washington, DC 20006
Telephone: (202) 207-9100
Facsimile: (202) 862-0757
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of Edward Andrew Hamilton, CPA, Respondent.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-004 February 23, 2017

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("Board" or "PCAOB") is censuring Edward Andrew Hamilton, CPA ("Hamilton" or "Respondent"), and suspending him from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm for a period of one year from the date of this Order. The Board is imposing these sanctions on Respondent on the basis of its findings that, in connection with his role as the engagement quality reviewer for the audit of an issuer client, he violated PCAOB Auditing Standard No. 7, Engagement Quality Review ("AS 7").

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended ("Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondent.

II.

In anticipation of the institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondent has submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offer") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over him and the subject matter of these proceedings, which are admitted, Respondent

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

consents to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[1]

III.

On the basis of Respondent's Offer, the Board finds[2] that:

A. Respondent

1. Edward Andrew Hamilton, CPA, 55, of Denver, Colorado is a certified public accountant licensed by the Colorado Board of Accountancy (License No. 0012112). He served as the engagement quality reviewer for the issuer audit identified below. Hamilton was, at all relevant times, an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

B. Summary

2. This matter concerns Respondent's violations of AS 7 while serving as the engagement quality reviewer for the audit that Cutler & Co., LLC ("C&C")[3] performed for Sungame Corp.'s ("Sungame") financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2013 (the "Audit").

3. During his engagement quality review ("EQR"), Respondent failed to properly evaluate the significant judgments made, and the related conclusions reached, by the engagement team. As a result, Respondent provided his concurring approval of

---

[1] The findings herein are made pursuant to Respondent's Offer and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

[2] The Board finds that Respondent's conduct described in this Order meets the conditions set out in Section 105(c)(5) of the Act, 15 U.S.C. § 7215(c)(5), which provides that certain sanctions may be imposed in the event of: (A) intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, that results in violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard; or (B) repeated instances of negligent conduct, each resulting in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard.

[3] See Cutler & Co., LLC, and David J. C. Cutler, CPA, PCAOB Rel. No. 105-2017-003 (Feb. 23, 2017).

ORDER

issuance without performing the EQR with the due professional care.[4] In addition, Respondent failed to appropriately document his EQR, as required by AS 7.[5]

C. Requirements of PCAOB Auditing Standard No. 7

4. In connection with the preparation or issuance of an audit report, PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons comply with applicable auditing and related professional practice standards.[6]

5. AS 7 provides that an EQR and concurring approval of issuance are required for all audits conducted pursuant to PCAOB standards.[7]

6. The engagement quality reviewer may provide concurring approval of issuance for an audit report only if, after performing with due professional care the review required by AS 7, he or she is not aware of a significant engagement deficiency.[8]

7. In an audit engagement, an engagement quality reviewer should evaluate the significant judgments made by the engagement team and the related conclusions reached in forming the overall conclusion on the engagement and in preparing the engagement report.[9] The engagement quality reviewer should, among other things, evaluate the engagement team's assessment of, and audit responses to, significant risks, including fraud risks, identified by the engagement team or other significant risks

---

[4] See AS 7 ¶ 12. All references to PCAOB rules and standards are to the versions of those rules and standards in effect at the time of the Audit.

[5] See id. ¶ 19.

[6] See PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards; PCAOB Rule 3200T, Interim Auditing Standards.

[7] See AS 7 ¶ 1.

[8] See id. ¶ 12 ("A significant engagement deficiency in an audit exists when (1) the engagement team failed to obtain sufficient appropriate evidence in accordance with the standards of the PCAOB, (2) the engagement team reached an inappropriate overall conclusion on the subject matter of the engagement, (3) the engagement report is not appropriate in the circumstances, or (4) the firm is not independent of its client.").

[9] See id. ¶ 9.

ORDER

identified by the engagement quality reviewer through performance of the procedures required by AS 7.[10]

8. In an audit engagement, the engagement quality reviewer should review the engagement completion document and confirm with the engagement partner that there are no significant unresolved matters.[11] The engagement quality reviewer should also evaluate whether the engagement documentation that he or she reviewed indicates that the engagement team responded appropriately to significant risks and supports the conclusions reached by the engagement team with respect to the matters reviewed.[12] To the extent necessary to satisfy the requirements of an EQR under AS 7, the engagement quality reviewer should (1) hold discussions with the engagement partner and other members of the engagement team, and (2) review documentation.[13]

9. Finally, documentation of an EQR should contain sufficient information to enable an experienced auditor, having no previous connection with the engagement, to understand the procedures performed by the engagement quality reviewer, including, but not limited to, the documents reviewed by the engagement quality reviewer.[14]

D. Respondent Violated PCAOB Rules and Auditing Standards In Connection with the Audit

10. Respondent served as the engagement quality reviewer for the Audit. As detailed below, he violated AS 7 by providing his concurring approval of issuance without performing an EQR for the 2013 Audit with due professional care.

11. During the Audit, C&C provided Respondent with substantially all of C&C's work papers for the Audit, which identified several significant risks and audit issues. Among others, the work papers identified a fraud risk involving improper revenue recognition.[15] The work papers also identified fraud risks related to "a clear lack of

---

[10] See id. ¶ 10(b).

[11] See id. ¶ 10(e).

[12] See id. ¶ 11.

[13] See id. ¶ 9.

[14] See id. ¶ 19.

[15] See AS 12 ¶ 71 (fraud risks are significant risks); see also AS 12 ¶ 68 (the auditor should presume a fraud risk involving improper revenue recognition).

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

segregation of duties and a high risk of management override of controls." The work papers additionally identified that Sungame's unearned revenue was a significant account, and that the transactions underlying Sungame's unearned revenue were "unusual." The work papers further identified a specific risk of misappropriation of assets by management, which principally concerned the cash Sungame generated through deposits giving rise to Sungame's unearned revenue.

12. Respondent violated AS 7 because he failed to evaluate the significant judgments made, and the related conclusions reached, by the engagement team. Respondent failed to adequately evaluate the engagement team's responses to significant risks. Although Respondent reviewed certain audit engagement documentation related to revenue and unearned revenue, he failed to properly evaluate whether the engagement documentation that he reviewed supported the conclusions reached by the engagement team. The work papers failed to demonstrate that the engagement team took steps to specifically address the risks of fraud connected with revenue and unearned revenue. Further, Respondent failed to hold any discussions with the engagement team to evaluate the judgments and conclusions reached with respect to Sungame's revenue and unearned revenue.

13. Respondent also violated AS 7 by failing to appropriately review the engagement completion document and confirm with the engagement partner that there were no significant unresolved matters.[16] The engagement completion document provided to Respondent did not meet PCAOB standards because it did not provide all information necessary to understand the significant findings and issues or cross-references to other available supporting audit documentation that provided such understanding.[17] Additionally, although the engagement partner did not document his review of the work papers,[18] Respondent failed to confirm with the engagement partner that there were no significant unresolved matters in the audit.[19]

---

[16] See AS 7 ¶¶ 10(e), 11.

[17] See Auditing Standard No. 3, Audit Documentation, ¶¶ 3, 13.

[18] See fn. 3, supra.

[19] See AS 7 ¶ 10(e).

ORDER

14. For these reasons, Respondent failed to perform the engagement quality review for the Audit with due professional care, and violated AS 7 by providing his concurring approval of issuance of the engagement audit report.[20]

E. Respondent Violated PCAOB Rules and Auditing Standards by Failing to Adequately Document His Engagement Quality Review

15. PCAOB auditing standards require an engagement quality reviewer to document an engagement quality review.[21] "Documentation of an engagement quality review should contain sufficient information to enable an experienced auditor, having no previous connection with the engagement, to understand the procedures performed by the engagement quality reviewer," including information that identifies the documents reviewed by the engagement quality reviewer.[22] Respondent failed to comply with this requirement for the Audit.

16. The only documentation of Respondent's engagement quality review for the Audit was a short e-mail to the engagement team. Respondent did not document the procedures he performed or the documents that he reviewed. As such, Respondent's documentation failed to comply with the requirements of AS 7.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondent's Offer. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), Edward Andrew Hamilton, CPA, is hereby censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(B) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(2), Edward Andrew Hamilton, CPA, is suspended from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm, as that term is defined in

---

20 See id. ¶ 12.

21 See id. ¶¶ 19-21.

22 See id. ¶ 19.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i), for a period of one year from the date of this Order.[23]

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

_____

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

February 23, 2017

[23] As a consequence of the suspension, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act will apply with respect to Hamilton. Section 105(c)(7)(B) provides: "It shall be unlawful for any person that is suspended or barred from being associated with a registered public accounting firm under this subsection willfully to become or remain associated with any issuer, broker, or dealer in an accountancy or a financial management capacity, and for any issuer, broker, or dealer that knew, or in the exercise of reasonable care should have known, of such suspension or bar, to permit such an association, without the consent of the Board or the Commission."

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street, N.W.
Washington, DC 20006
Telephone: (202) 207-9100
Facsimile: (202) 862-0757
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of Donna Lynn Johnson, CPA, Respondent.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-005 February 23, 2017

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("Board" or "PCAOB") is censuring Donna Lynn Johnson, CPA ("Johnson" or "Respondent"), and suspending her from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm for a period of one year from the date of this Order. The Board is imposing these sanctions on Respondent on the basis of its findings that she violated PCAOB rules and auditing standards in connection with the audit of one issuer client.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended ("Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondent.

II.

In anticipation of the institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondent has submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offer") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over her and the subject matter of these proceedings, which are admitted, Respondent consents to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[1]

[1] The findings herein are made pursuant to Respondent's Offer and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

III.

On the basis of Respondent's Offer, the Board finds[2] that:

A. Respondent

1. Donna Lynn Johnson, CPA, 62, is a resident of Westminster, Colorado. Respondent is a certified public accountant licensed by the Colorado Board of Accountancy (License No. 0009658). She served as a member of the Cutler & Co., LLC (the "Firm")[3] engagement team for the issuer audit identified below, reporting directly to the engagement partner.[4] Johnson was, at all relevant times, an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i). Johnson left the Firm in October 2015.

B. Summary

2. This matter concerns Respondent's violations of PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the Firm's issuance of an audit report on Sungame Corp.'s ("Sungame") financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2013 (the "Audit"). Respondent performed the majority of the procedures during the Audit, under the supervision of the engagement partner.

3. As detailed below, Respondent, under the supervision of the engagement partner, failed to exercise due professional care, including professional skepticism, and failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to support the opinion expressed in the auditor's report. Specifically, Respondent failed to perform sufficient appropriate procedures, and to obtain sufficient appropriate evidence, to address identified fraud

---

[2] The Board finds that Respondent's conduct described in this Order meets the conditions set out in Section 105(c)(5) of the Act, 15 U.S.C. § 7215(c)(5), which provides that such sanctions may be imposed in the event of: (A) intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, that results in violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard; or (B) repeated instances of negligent conduct, each resulting in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard.

[3] See Cutler & Co., LLC, and David J. C. Cutler, CPA, PCAOB Rel. No. 105-2017-003 (Feb. 23, 2017).

[4] Id.

ORDER

risks related to Sungame's revenue and unearned revenue. Respondent also failed to adequately document critical aspects of the audit.

C. Respondent Violated PCAOB Rules and Standards

4. In connection with the preparation or issuance of any audit report, PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons comply with all applicable Board auditing and related professional practice standards.[5] An auditor may express an unqualified opinion on an issuer's financial statements only when the auditor has formed that opinion on the basis of an audit performed in accordance with PCAOB standards.[6] Those standards require, among other things, that an auditor plan and perform the audit to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to provide a reasonable basis for the auditor's opinion.[7] PCAOB standards further require an auditor to exercise due professional care and professional skepticism in performing the audit.[8]

5. In addition, PCAOB standards require the auditor to design and implement audit responses that address the identified risks of material misstatement.[9] As the assessed risk of material misstatement increases, the amount of evidence that the auditor should obtain also increases.[10] "The auditor should perform substantive procedures for each relevant assertion of each significant account and disclosure, regardless of the assessed level of control risk."[11] If the auditor performs confirmation

---

[5] See PCAOB Rules 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards; 3200T, Interim Auditing Standards. All references to PCAOB standards in this Order are to the versions of those standards in effect for the Audit.

[6] See AU § 508.07, Reports on Audited Financial Statements.

[7] See Auditing Standard No. 15, Audit Evidence ("AS 15"), ¶ 4.

[8] See AU § 150.02, Generally Accepted Auditing Standards; AU § 230, Due Professional Care in the Performance of Work.

[9] See Auditing Standard No. 13, The Auditor's Responses to the Risks of Material Misstatement ("AS 13"), ¶ 3.

[10] See AS 15 ¶ 5; AS 13 ¶¶ 9(a), 37.

[11] AS 13 ¶ 36.

ORDER

procedures, "[t]he auditor should direct the confirmation request to a third party who the auditor believes is knowledgeable about the information to be confirmed."[12]

6. In the case of significant transactions that are outside the normal course of business for the entity, or that otherwise appear to be unusual given the auditor's understanding of the entity and its environment, PCAOB standards require the auditor to gain an understanding of the business rationale for such transactions and whether that rationale (or the lack thereof) suggests that the transactions may have been entered into to engage in fraudulent financial reporting or conceal misappropriation of assets.[13] The auditor should also perform substantive procedures, including tests of details, that are specifically responsive to the assessed significant risks, including any fraud risks.[14]

7. The auditor's assessment of the risks of material misstatement, including fraud risks, should continue throughout the audit.[15] "When the auditor obtains audit evidence during the course of the audit that contradicts the audit evidence on which the auditor originally based his or her risk assessment, the auditor should revise the risk assessment and modify planned audit procedures or perform additional procedures in response to the revised risk assessments."[16]

8. "The auditor's responses to the assessed risks of material misstatement, particularly fraud risks, should involve the application of professional skepticism in gathering and evaluating audit evidence."[17] "[I]f the auditor has doubts about the reliability of information to be used as audit evidence, the auditor should perform the audit procedures necessary to resolve the matter and should determine the effect, if any, on other aspects of the audit."[18] "[T]he auditor should not be satisfied with less-

---

[12] See AU § 330.26, The Confirmation Process.

[13] See AU § 316.66, Consideration of Fraud in a Financial Statement Audit; see also AS 13 ¶ 15(c).

[14] See AS 13 ¶¶ 11, 13.

[15] See Auditing Standard No. 12, Identifying and Assessing Risks of Material Misstatement ("AS 12"), ¶ 74.

[16] Id.

[17] AS 13 ¶ 7.

[18] AS 15 ¶ 29.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

than-persuasive evidence because of a belief that management is honest."[19] Moreover, "[i]f a representation made by management is contradicted by other audit evidence, the auditor should investigate the circumstances and consider the reliability of the representation made."[20]

9. As detailed below, Respondent failed to comply with the aforementioned rules and standards, among others, in connection with the Audit.

1. Background

10. Sungame was, at all relevant times, a Delaware corporation with its principal office located in Las Vegas, Nevada. Sungame's public filings disclosed that it was a development stage company, seeking to develop a media content management and discovery platform, called "Flightdeck," and a business directory service, called "Vidirectory." During 2013, Sungame also began a new line of business, selling glasses-free 3D tablets. Sungame had no history of producing or selling such tablets. At all relevant times, Sungame's common stock was registered under Section 12(g) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, and was traded on the OTCBB exchange. At all relevant times, Sungame was an "issuer" as the term is defined in Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

11. In its Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2012, filed on March 29, 2013,[21] Sungame disclosed that it was "grossly undercapitalized in 2012 and unable to raise a significant amount of capital, other than receiving $653,593 in advances from our majority shareholder." Sungame reported that its only assets at year-end 2012 consisted of $2,604 in cash, $612 in fixed assets and $121,043 in capitalized software. At the same time, it reported $1.9 million in liabilities, virtually all of which were attributable to loans and accounts payable that were due to related-parties. Sungame further disclosed that it had "no significant revenues from operations," and that "if we do not begin to generate revenue or cannot raise additional needed funds, we will either have to suspend development operations until we do raise the funds, or cease operations entirely."

---

[19] AU § 316.13.

[20] AU § 333.04, Management Representations.

[21] The 2012 financial statements were audited by Ronald R. Chadwick, P.C., whose Board registration was revoked in 2015. See In the Matter of Ronald R. Chadwick, P.C. and Ronald R. Chadwick, CPA, PCAOB Rel. No. 105-2015-009 (Apr. 28, 2015).

ORDER

12. In January 2014, Sungame retained the Firm to serve as Sungame's independent auditor. The Firm audited Sungame's financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2013, and issued an audit report, dated April 15, 2014, containing an unqualified opinion on those financial statements. The audit report also included going concern explanatory language regarding those financial statements. The audit report was included in a Form 10-K filed by Sungame with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (the "Commission") on April 15, 2014.

13. Respondent was the only member of the engagement team besides the engagement partner during the fieldwork and completion phases of the audit. Respondent performed the majority of the substantive testing for the Audit, and prepared the majority of the audit documentation.

14. During the Audit, Respondent did not speak to any Sungame executive officer or director. Respondent only obtained written representations and brief responses to questionnaires from Sungame's CEO. All of Respondent's verbal communications with Sungame during the audit were either with a consultant or with Sungame's controller, who she understood acted as a bookkeeper.

2. Respondents Failed to Gather Sufficient Appropriate Audit Evidence

15. During the audit, the engagement team identified several significant risks. Among others, the engagement team identified a fraud risk involving improper revenue recognition.[22] The engagement team also identified fraud risks related to "a clear lack of segregation of duties and a high risk of management override of controls." The engagement team further identified a specific fraud risk of misappropriation of assets by management, including a risk that the cash deposits could have been inappropriately diverted by management to related parties. Respondent performed the audit procedures for both revenue and unearned revenue, subject to the supervision of the engagement partner. However, Respondent failed to perform sufficient appropriate procedures to specifically address the identified risks.

16. Sungame disclosed in its 2013 financial statements approximately $122,000 in revenue from tablet computer sales in 2013. Fifty-four percent of the revenue ($66,000) was attributed to sales to Sungame's majority shareholder,

[22] See AS 12 ¶ 71 (fraud risks are significant risks); see also AS 12 ¶ 68 (the auditor should presume a fraud risk involving improper revenue recognition).

ORDER

Chandran Holding Media, Inc. ("CHMI"), which was controlled by Sungame's CEO. Approximately $43,000 (35%) of Sungame's revenue was recorded on the last day of the Company's fiscal year, December 31, 2013. Other than obtaining written management representations concerning related party revenue, Respondent failed to perform any procedures regarding Sungame's revenue.

17. As of year-end 2013, Sungame reported approximately $1.9 million in unearned revenue, which it attributed to deposits for future deliveries of tablet computers and advertising services. Sungame disclosed in its 2013 Form 10-K that the unearned revenue originated from deposits received from "resellers" and a new "master distributor." Respondent identified that Sungame's unearned revenue was a significant account, and that the transactions underlying Sungame's unearned revenue were "unusual."

18. Sungame represented to Respondent that virtually all of the deposits for Sungame's unearned revenue balance had been obtained through the master distributor. Respondent obtained a confirmation from the master distributor, confirming $1.78 million (95%) of Sungame's unearned revenue balance. However, during the audit, Respondent learned that the vast majority of the deposits had been received directly from individuals, and not from the distributor. Additionally, the master distribution agreement wasn't signed until 2014 and stated that it was effective as of December 31, 2013 (i.e., it was not effective until the last day of the year under audit). Moreover, the agreement did not cover prepayments for tablets by third parties; the agreement provided for the distributor's purchase of tablets for resale and distribution, with payment occurring after delivery. Despite this information, Respondent, under the supervision of the engagement partner, failed to consider whether the master distributor was sufficiently knowledgeable to provide confirmation of Sungame's year-end 2013 unearned revenue balance and failed to perform procedures necessary to resolve any doubts about the reliability of the information received.[23]

19. During the audit, Respondent also learned that Sungame had not received approximately $500,000 of the deposits recorded as unearned revenue. Instead, those deposits had been paid to CHMI rather than Sungame. In lieu of receiving the cash, Sungame received credits against an undocumented loan from CHMI. Respondent failed to gain an understanding of the business rationale for the undocumented loan to determine whether it may have been entered into to engage in fraudulent financial reporting or to conceal misappropriation of assets.[24]

---

[23] See AU § 330.26; AU § 333.04; AS 15 ¶ 29.

[24] See AS 13 ¶ 15(c); AU § 316.66.

ORDER

20. In addition, Respondent failed to evaluate red flags concerning Sungame's unearned revenue. For example, Respondent reviewed receipts sent to Sungame's customers for their deposits, and realized that they lacked both customer contact information and terms, and might not be reliable. In addition, Respondent reviewed Sungame's bank statements, which reflected that numerous deposits had been sent with notations indicating they were an "investment" or for the purchase of stock. Respondent, however, failed to perform any audit procedures necessary to resolve those inconsistencies and determine the effect, if any, on other aspects of the audit before the Firm, as authorized by the engagement partner, issued its audit report.[25]

21. On August 15, 2014, Sungame filed a Form 8-K with the Commission, announcing that Sungame's audited December 31, 2013 financial statements should no longer be relied upon.[26] Sungame subsequently disclosed, in a Form 10-Q filing for the period ended June 30, 2014,[27] that, "all items previously recognized as revenue and deferred revenue [for the year ended 2013 and the first quarter of 2014] will be restated as rebate liability, advances payable, or debt."

3. Respondent Failed to Prepare Appropriate Audit Documentation

22. PCAOB standards require that auditor document the procedures performed, evidence obtained, and conclusions reached with respect to relevant financial statement assertions.[28] "Audit documentation must clearly demonstrate that

---

[25] See AS 15 ¶ 29.

[26] Subsequent to the Audit, in July 2014, a consultant hired by the Firm to perform a post-issuance review of the Audit identified publicly available information that raised concerns related to Sungame's recorded revenue and unearned revenue balances. Some of that information was publicly available at the time of the Audit. The Firm conveyed that information to Sungame in July 2014. Sungame thereafter conducted an internal investigation, which led to the August 15, 2014 Form 8-K filing.

[27] That Form 10-Q, filed with the Commission on September 18, 2014, stated that the financial information contained therein had not been reviewed by Sungame's independent accountant.

[28] See Auditing Standard No. 3, Audit Documentation, ¶ 6.

ORDER

the work was in fact performed."[29] Among other things, the auditor must document significant findings or issues, actions taken to address them (including additional evidence obtained), and the basis for the conclusions reached in connection with each engagement.[30] Significant findings or issues that must be documented include risks of material misstatement that are determined to be significant risks and the results of the auditing procedures performed in response to those risks.[31] "The auditor must identify all significant findings or issues in an engagement completion document."[32]

23. Respondent violated the foregoing standards during the Audit because she failed to adequately document significant issues and findings and failed to adequately document other audit procedures so that an auditor with no previous connection with the engagement could understand the nature, timing, extent, and results of the procedures performed, evidence obtained and conclusions reached.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondent's Offer. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), Donna Lynn Johnson, CPA, is hereby censured;

---

29 Id. ¶ 6.

30 See id. ¶ 12.

31 See id. ¶ 12(f-1).

32 Id. ¶ 13.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(B) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(2), Donna Lynn Johnson, CPA, is suspended for one (1) year from the date of this Order from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm, as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).[33]

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

February 23, 2017

[33] As a consequence of the suspension, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act will apply with respect to Johnson. Section 105(c)(7)(B) provides: "It shall be unlawful for any person that is suspended or barred from being associated with a registered public accounting firm under this subsection willfully to become or remain associated with any issuer, broker, or dealer in an accountancy or a financial management capacity, and for any issuer, broker, or dealer that knew, or in the exercise of reasonable care should have known, of such suspension or bar, to permit such an association, without the consent of the Board or the Commission."

1666 K Street, N.W.
Washington, DC 20006
Telephone: (202) 207-9100
Facsimile: (202) 862-0757
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of Canuswa Accounting & Tax Services Inc. and Jun Zhang, CPA, Respondents.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-006 March 20, 2017

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("Board" or "PCAOB") is censuring Canuswa Accounting & Tax Services Inc. ("Canuswa" or "Firm"), revoking the Firm's registration,[1] and imposing a $20,000 civil money penalty on the Firm; and censuring Jun Zhang, CPA ("Zhang") and barring him from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm.[2] The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that the Firm and Zhang (collectively, "Respondents") violated PCAOB rules and standards, and the Firm violated Section 10A of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 ("Exchange Act"), in connection with two audits for one issuer.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted against Respondents pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended ("Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1).

II.

In anticipation of institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondents have each submitted an Offer of Settlement (collectively, "Offers") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to

[1] The Firm may reapply for registration after three (3) years from the date of this Order.

[2] Zhang may file a petition for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm after three (3) years from the date of this Order.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over them and the subject matter of these proceedings, which is admitted, Respondents consent to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[3]

III.

On the basis of Respondents' Offers, the Board finds that:[4]

A. Respondents

1. Canuswa Accounting & Tax Services Inc. is a corporation organized under the laws of the state of Washington with headquarters in Bellevue, Washington and offices in Richmond and Burnaby, British Columbia, Canada. The Firm is, and at all relevant times was, registered with the Board pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules. The Firm is licensed to practice public accountancy by the Washington State Board of Accountancy (License No. 5680) and the Chartered Professional Accountants of British Columbia ("CPABC"). At all relevant times, it was the external auditor for the issuer identified below.

2. Jun Zhang, CPA, age 52, of Bellevue, Washington is a certified public accountant licensed under the laws of the states of Washington (License No. 29895) and Colorado (License No. V5H4T2). He is also a chartered accountant licensed by the CPABC. He is the president and sole owner of the Firm, and was the engagement partner on the two audits at issue herein. He is, and at all relevant times was, an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

---

[3] The findings herein are made pursuant to Respondents' Offers and are not binding on any other persons or entities in this or any other proceeding.

[4] The Board finds that Respondents' conduct described in this Order meets the conditions set out in Section 105(c)(5) of the Act, 15 U.S.C. § 7215(c)(5), which provides that certain sanctions may be imposed in the event of (1) intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, that results in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard; or (2) repeated instances of negligent conduct, each resulting in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

B. Summary

3. This matter concerns Respondents' violations of PCAOB rules and auditing standards in connection with the preparation and issuance of an audit report on the 2012 financial statements of issuer American Jianye Greentech Holdings Ltd. ("AJ Greentech"). As set forth below, Respondents failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence and failed to exercise due care and professional skepticism in connection with their audit of AJ Greentech's 2012 financial statements ("2012 Audit"). The Firm also violated Section 10A(a)(2) of the Exchange Act by failing to perform procedures to identify related party transactions, and Zhang violated PCAOB Rule 3502, Responsibility Not to Knowingly or Recklessly Contribute to Violations, because he took actions that he knew, or was reckless in not knowing, would directly and substantially contribute to the Firm's violation.

4. In addition, the Firm failed to comply with PCAOB Auditing Standard No. ("AS") 7, Engagement Quality Review, because it failed to obtain an engagement quality review and concurring approval of issuance for the 2012 Audit.[5] Zhang violated PCAOB Rule 3502 because he took actions that he knew, or was reckless in not knowing, would directly and substantially contribute to the Firm's violation of AS 7.

5. This matter also concerns the Firm's violations of Section 10A(b) of the Exchange Act, and Respondents' violations of PCAOB rules and auditing standards, in connection with the 2012 Audit and Respondents' unfinished audit of AJ Greentech's 2013 financial statements ("2013 Audit"). Respondents' violations arise from their failure to have taken certain actions required by Section 10A(b) and PCAOB Interim Auditing Standard ("AU") § 317, Illegal Acts by Clients, in response to becoming aware of information about possible illegal acts by AJ Greentech relating to the 2012 Audit and 2013 Audit. Additionally, Zhang violated PCAOB Rule 3502 because he took actions that he knew, or was reckless in not knowing, would directly and substantially contribute to the Firm's violations of Section 10A(b).

---

[5] All references to PCAOB standards are to the versions of those standards in effect at the time of the relevant audits. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its auditing standards using a topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Release No. 2015-002 (Mar. 31, 2015); see also PCAOB Auditing Standards Reorganized and Pre-Reorganized Numbering (January 2016), https://pcaobus.org/Standards/Auditing/Documents/PrintableReferenceTable.pdf.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

C. Respondents Violated PCAOB Rules and Standards, The Firm Violated Section 10A(a) of the Exchange Act, and Zhang Contributed to The Firm's Violation

6. In connection with the preparation or issuance of an audit report, PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons comply with the Board's auditing and related professional practice standards.[6] An auditor may express an unqualified opinion on an issuer's financial statements only when the auditor has formed such an opinion on the basis of an audit performed in accordance with PCAOB standards.[7] Among other things, those standards require that an auditor exercise due professional care and professional skepticism in performing the audit.[8] They require that an auditor plan and perform audit procedures to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to provide a reasonable basis for his or her opinion.[9] If the auditor is unable to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to have a reasonable basis to conclude about whether the financial statements as a whole are free of material misstatement, the auditor should express a qualified opinion or a disclaimer of opinion.[10]

7. The Exchange Act further requires a registered public accounting firm to include, in each audit required by the Exchange Act, procedures designed to identify related party transactions that are material to an issuer's financial statement amounts or otherwise require disclosure.[11] PCAOB standards similarly require an auditor to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to determine whether related parties and relationships and transactions with related parties have been properly identified, accounted for, and disclosed in the financial statements.[12]

---

[6] PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards; PCAOB Rule 3200T, Interim Auditing Standards.

[7] AU § 508, Reports on Audited Financial Statements, at .07.

[8] AU § 150, Generally Accepted Auditing Standards; AU § 230, Due Professional Care in the Performance of Work.

[9] AS 15, Audit Evidence, ¶ 4.

[10] AS 14, Evaluating Audit Results, ¶ 35.

[11] Section 10A(a)(2) of the Exchange Act, 15 U.S.C. § 78j-1(a)(2).

[12] AU § 334, Related Parties, at .02.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

8. PCAOB Rule 3502 prohibits an associated person of a registered public accounting firm from taking or omitting to take an action knowing, or recklessly not knowing, that the act or omission would directly and substantially contribute to a violation by that registered public accounting firm of the Act, rules of the Board, the provisions of the securities laws relating to the preparation and issuance of audit reports and the obligations and liabilities of accountants with respect thereto, including the rules of the Commission issued under the Act, or professional standards.

The 2012 AJ Greentech Audit

9. At all relevant times, AJ Greentech was a Nevada corporation with principal executive offices in Flushing, New York. AJ Greentech's public filings disclosed that it earned revenue by marketing, manufacturing, and distributing alcohol-based automobile fuel products in the People's Republic of China. Its common stock was registered under Section 12(g) of the Exchange Act and quoted on the OTC Bulletin Board. At all relevant times, AJ Greentech was an issuer as that term is defined by Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

10. Canuswa was engaged as AJ Greentech's external auditor for the 2012 Audit. As the Firm's engagement partner for the 2012 Audit, Zhang authorized the issuance of the Firm's audit report, dated September 30, 2013, expressing an unqualified auditor's opinion on AJ Greentech's 2012 financial statements. The report was included in a Form 10-K containing copies of AJ Greentech's 2012 financial statements that AJ Greentech filed with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission ("Commission") on September 30, 2013.

11. In connection with the 2012 Audit, Respondents violated PCAOB rules and auditing standards because they failed to plan and perform audit procedures to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to provide a reasonable basis for the opinion in the Firm's audit report;[13] failed to evaluate the results of the audit to determine whether the audit evidence obtained was sufficient and appropriate to support the opinion expressed in the audit report;[14] and failed to exercise due professional care and professional skepticism.[15]

---

[13] See AS 15 ¶ 4.

[14] See AS 14 ¶ 2.

[15] See AU § 150.02; AU § 230.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

12. In particular, Respondents failed to perform any procedures to establish an overall audit strategy and develop an audit plan for the 2012 Audit,[16] establish a materiality level for the financial statements as a whole,[17] determine an amount or amounts of tolerable misstatement,[18] identify and assess the risks of material misstatement at the financial statement level and the assertion level,[19] and examine journal entries and other adjustments for evidence of possible material misstatements due to fraud.[20] Also, they failed to obtain written management representations[21] and prepare an engagement completion document.[22]

13. In addition, the 2012 financial statements included in the Form 10-K AJ Greentech filed with the Commission on September 30, 2013 ("2012 Financial Statements"), reported approximately $13.7 million in the aggregate of assets held for sale. This represented approximately 94 percent of AJ Greentech's total reported assets. Respondents failed to perform any procedures to test whether these assets were properly valued, presented, and disclosed in the 2012 Financial Statements.[23]

14. The 2012 Financial Statements also reported approximately $12.4 million of advances from related parties, including AJ Greentech's Chairman and CEO. These advances represented approximately 99 percent of AJ Greentech's total reported liabilities. Other than obtaining representations from management, Respondents failed to perform any procedures to identify and test related party relationships and transactions.[24] In addition, by failing to perform any procedures to identify material

---

[16] See AS 9, Audit Planning, ¶¶ 8-10.

[17] See AS 11, Consideration of Materiality in Planning and Performing an Audit, ¶ 6.

[18] See id. ¶ 8.

[19] See AS 12, Identifying And Assessing Risks of Material Misstatement, ¶ 59.

[20] See AS 13, The Auditor's Responses to the Risks of Material Misstatement, ¶ 15(a); AU § 316, Consideration of Fraud in a Financial Statement Audit, at .58.

[21] See AU § 333, Management Representations, at .05-.06.

[22] See AS 3, Audit Documentation, ¶ 13.

[23] See AS 13 ¶ 36; AS 14 ¶¶ 4(e)-(f); AS 15 ¶ 11.

[24] See AU § 334 at .04-.11.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

related party transactions, the Firm violated Section 10A(a)(2) of the Exchange Act, and Zhang violated PCAOB Rule 3502 because he took actions that he knew, or was reckless in not knowing, would directly and substantially contribute to the Firm's violation.

D. The Firm Violated A PCAOB Standard Concerning Engagement Quality Reviews and Zhang Contributed to The Firm's Violation

15. AS 7 provides that an engagement quality review be performed for all audits and interim reviews conducted pursuant to PCAOB standards.[25] A firm may grant permission to a client to use an engagement report only after an engagement quality reviewer provides concurring approval of issuance of the report.[26]

The 2012 AJ Greentech Audit

16. In connection with the 2012 Audit, the Firm violated AS 7 because it failed to obtain an engagement quality review and concurring approval of issuance before authorizing AJ Greentech to use its audit report on the 2012 Financial Statements.

17. At the time, Zhang was the sole owner of the Firm and the engagement partner for the 2012 Audit. He was responsible for the 2012 Audit and ensuring that the Firm complied with PCAOB rules and standards in performing the 2012 Audit.[27] By failing to obtain an engagement quality review and concurring approval of issuance, Zhang violated PCAOB Rule 3502 because he knew, or was reckless in not knowing, that his acts and omissions would directly and substantially contribute to the Firm's violation of AS 7.

E. The Firm Violated Section 10A(b) of the Exchange Act, Zhang Contributed to The Firm's Violation, and Respondents Violated PCAOB Rules and Standards

18. When conducting an audit of an issuer's financial statements required pursuant to the Exchange Act, registered firms must comply with the requirements of Section 10A of the Exchange Act. Section 10A(b) requires a firm to take certain defined

---

[25] AS 7 ¶ 1.

[26] Id. ¶ 13.

[27] See AS 10, Supervision of the Audit Engagement, ¶ 3.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

actions if, in the course of an audit, it detects or otherwise becomes aware of information indicating that an illegal act has or may have occurred.[28]

19. Unless an illegal act is clearly inconsequential, Section 10A(b)(1) requires that a firm inform the appropriate level of management about the illegal act and assure itself that the issuer's audit committee, or board of directors in the absence of an audit committee, is adequately informed with respect to the illegal act.

20. In addition, under Section 10A(b)(1), if a firm concludes that it is likely that an illegal act occurred, the firm must consider the effect of the illegal act on the issuer's financial statements. If the firm concludes that the illegal act has a material effect on the financial statements, that senior management has not taken (and the board of directors has not caused them to take) timely and appropriate remedial actions, and that the absence of remedial action is reasonably expected to warrant departure from a standard report of the firm, when made, or warrant resignation from the engagement, then Section 10A(b)(2) requires the firm to report those conclusions to the board of directors as soon as practicable. If the board of directors fails to take certain required actions in response to such a report, Section 10A(b)(3) requires the firm to resign from the engagement or report its Section 10A(b)(2) conclusions to the Commission.[29]

21. In addition, AU § 317 provides that when an auditor becomes aware of information concerning a possible illegal act by a client, the auditor should obtain an understanding of the nature of the act, the circumstances in which it occurred, and sufficient other information to evaluate the effect on the financial statements.[30] The auditor should also inquire of management at a level above those involved, if possible, and, if management does not provide satisfactory information that there has been no illegal act, the auditor should, among other things, apply additional procedures, if necessary, to obtain a further understanding of the nature of the acts.[31]

---

[28] Section 10A(b)(1) of the Exchange Act, 15 U.S.C. § 78j-1(b)(1).

[29] If the firm resigns from the engagement pursuant to Section 10A(b)(3)(A), the firm must report the matter to the Commission pursuant to Section 10A(b)(4).

[30] AU § 317.10.

[31] Id. at .10-.11.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

The 2012 and 2013 AJ Greentech Audits

22. During the 2012 Audit and 2013 Audit, Respondents became aware of information concerning possible illegal acts by AJ Greentech. During the 2012 Audit, Zhang reviewed the Form 10-K containing AJ Greentech's 2011 and 2012 financial statements and approved the inclusion of the Firm's accompanying audit report in that Form 10-K, which AJ Greentech filed with the Commission on September 30, 2013 ("2012 10-K").

23. AJ Greentech inserted in that audit report a statement that the Firm had audited both AJ Greentech's 2011 and 2012 financial statements included in the 2012 10-K, notwithstanding that the Firm had audited only the 2012 and not the 2011 financial statements. In addition, the 2012 financial statements included in the 2012 10-K reflected certain amounts in financial statement line items and disclosures that were significantly different from corresponding amounts included in the Firm's 2012 audit work papers. In response to this information, Respondents took no action to satisfy the Firm's obligations under Section 10A(b) of the Exchange Act and Respondents' obligations under AU § 317.

24. Respondents were engaged to audit AJ Greentech's 2013 financial statements but did not complete the 2013 Audit and did not issue an audit report. Nonetheless, in a Form 10-K AJ Greentech filed with the Commission on April 14, 2014, and Forms 10-K/A AJ Greentech filed with the Commission on July 10, 2014, January 12, 2015, and February 9, 2015, AJ Greentech included 2013 financial statements and an unqualified audit report on those financial statements purportedly issued by the Firm. Respondents became aware of this information in February 2015 while the Firm was still engaged as AJ Greentech's external auditor, but they took no action other than to tell a third party, who had arranged for the Firm to serve as AJ Greentech's auditor, that AJ Greentech should stop using the Firm's name in its Commission filings and should cancel the abovementioned filings. The Firm failed to inform management of the information and also assure that the audit committee was adequately informed of it.

25. The abovementioned acts by AJ Greentech violated or may have violated federal securities laws and regulations, including but not limited to the requirement that reports filed with the Commission contain information necessary to ensure that statements made in such reports are not materially misleading.[32]

---

[32] See Exchange Act Rule 12b-20, 17 C.F.R. § 240.12b-20 (requiring reports to include "material information . . . as may be necessary to make the required

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

26. Accordingly, the Firm violated Section 10A(b) of the Exchange Act, and Respondents violated AU § 317, by failing to take required actions in response to becoming aware of the abovementioned information concerning possible illegal acts by AJ Greentech. In addition, Zhang violated PCAOB Rule 3502 because he knew, or was reckless in not knowing, that his acts and omissions would directly and substantially contribute to the Firm's violation of Section 10A(b).

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondents' Offers. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), Canuswa Accounting & Tax Services Inc. and Jun Zhang, CPA are censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(A) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(1), the registration of Canuswa Accounting & Tax Services Inc. is revoked;

C. Pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5302(a), after three (3) years from the date of the Order, Canuswa Accounting & Tax Services Inc. may reapply for registration by filing an application pursuant to PCAOB Rule 2101;

D. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(B) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(2), Jun Zhang, CPA is barred from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm, as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i);[33] statements, in the light of the circumstances under which they are made not misleading"); see also SEC v. Parklane Hosiery, Inc., 558 F.2d 1083, 1085 n.1 (2d Cir. 1977) (implicit in requirement to file annual report is requirement that report not be materially false or misleading).

---

[33] As a consequence of the bar, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act will apply with respect to Zhang. Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act provides: "It shall be unlawful for any person that is suspended or barred from being associated with a registered public accounting firm under this subsection willfully to become or remain associated with any issuer, broker, or dealer in an accountancy or a financial

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

E. Pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5302(b), after three (3) years from the date of this Order, Jun Zhang, CPA may file a petition for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm; and

F. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of $20,000 is imposed upon Canuswa Accounting & Tax Services Inc. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of this civil money penalty will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. Canuswa Accounting & Tax Services Inc. shall pay the civil money penalty within ten (10) days of the issuance of this Order by (1) wire transfer pursuant to instructions provided by Board staff; or (2) United States Postal Service money order, bank money order, certified check, or bank cashier's check (a) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, (b) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006, and (c) submitted under a cover letter that identifies Canuswa Accounting & Tax Services Inc. as a Respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB release number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to the Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe W. Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

_____

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

March 20, 2017

---

management capacity, and for any issuer, broker, or dealer that knew, or in the exercise of reasonable care should have known, of such suspension or bar, to permit such an association, without the consent of the Board or the Commission."

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street, N.W.
Washington, DC 20006
Telephone: (202) 207-9100
Facsimile: (202) 862-0757
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of Wander Rodrigues Teles, Respondent.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-007 March 20, 2017

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("Board" or "PCAOB") is censuring Wander Rodrigues Teles ("Teles" or "Respondent"); barring Teles from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm;[1] and imposing a civil money penalty in the amount of $10,000 on Teles. The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that Teles violated PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the audits of the consolidated financial statements of Sara Lee Corporation ("Sara Lee") as of and for the fiscal years ended ("FYE") July 3, 2010 and July 2, 2011.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended ("Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondent.

II.

In anticipation of the institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondent has submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offer") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over him and the subject matter of these proceedings, which are admitted, Respondent

[1] Teles may file a petition for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm after two (2) years from the date of this Order.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

consents to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[2]

III.

On the basis of Respondent's Offer, the Board finds[3] that:

A. Respondent

1. Teles, 56, of Sao Paulo, Brazil, is an accountant licensed by the Conselho Regional De Contabilidade for the Federal District of Brazil (license No. DF-005919/O-3). From July 1992 to June 2014, he was a partner of the Brazil-based firm PricewaterhouseCoopers Auditores Independentes ("PwC-Brazil"), which is registered with the Board.[4] Teles was the lead partner for PwC-Brazil's audit work in connection with the audits of Sara Lee's FYE 2007 through FYE 2011 consolidated financial statements. U.S.-based PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP ("PwC-US") prepared and issued the audit reports on Sara Lee's consolidated financial statements, which were filed with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission. Teles and PwC-Brazil performed the audit procedures on the special purpose financial information of Sara Lee's Brazilian subsidiaries, which was prepared for Sara Lee's consolidated financial statements, for the express purpose of assisting PwC-US's audits. As the lead partner for PwC-Brazil's audit work, Teles was responsible for supervising the PwC-Brazil engagement team's audit procedures, and for issuing PwC-Brazil's interoffice reports on the Brazilian subsidiaries' special purpose financial information. At all relevant times,

---

[2] The findings herein are made pursuant to Respondent's Offer and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

[3] The Board finds that Respondent's conduct described in this Order meets the condition set out in Section 105(c)(5) of the Act, which provides that such sanctions may be imposed in the event of: (A) intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, that results in violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard; or (B) repeated instances of negligent conduct, each resulting in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard.

[4] While a partner of PwC-Brazil, Teles participated in financial statement audits of issuers (as defined in Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii)) in which PwC-Brazil issued the audit report, including issuer audits in which he served as the engagement partner or engagement quality reviewer. Teles also participated in issuer audits where PwC-Brazil performed referred work and another audit firm issued the audit report.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

Teles was an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

B. Issuer

2. Sara Lee was, at all relevant times, a Maryland corporation headquartered in Illinois. Sara Lee's common stock was registered with the Commission under Section 12(b) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 ("Exchange Act"), and was quoted on the Chicago Stock Exchange, New York Stock Exchange, and the London Stock Exchange. At all relevant times, Sara Lee was an issuer, as defined in Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii). The company's public filings disclosed that it was a global manufacturer and marketer of consumer products, focused primarily on the meats, bakery, and beverage product categories.

3. Sara Lee Cafés do Brasil Ltda. ("SLCB") was, at all relevant times, a Brazilian subsidiary of Sara Lee. SLCB was a producer of roasted coffee and coffee-related consumer goods, which it primarily sold to wholesalers, retailers and retail customers in Brazil.

C. Summary

4. This matter concerns Teles's repeated violations of PCAOB rules and standards[5] as the lead partner for the audit procedures that PwC-Brazil performed under his supervision on SLCB's FYE 2010 and FYE 2011 special purpose financial information. Teles, an experienced audit partner, violated PCAOB rules and standards in connection with PwC-Brazil's testing of SLCB's net accounts receivable ("Net A/R"),

[5] All references to PCAOB rules and standards are to the versions of those rules and standards in effect at the time of the relevant audits. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its rules and auditing standards using a topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Release No. 2015-002 (Mar. 31, 2015); see also PCAOB Auditing Standards Reorganized and Pre Reorganized Numbering (January 2016), https://pcaobus.org/Standards/Auditing/Documents/PrintableReferenceTable.pdf.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

net revenues, and trade promotions accounts, which were identified as areas having increased risks of material misstatement, including a risk of fraud.[6]

5. Teles knew of red flags suggesting that SLCB's reported Net A/R and net revenues may have been materially overstated, and that its reported trade promotion accounts may have been materially understated, due to SLCB (1) failing to record trade promotions, or (2) failing to record adequate reserves for receivables for which collection was not probable. Teles, however, failed to respond to those red flags and the increased risks with appropriate due professional care and professional skepticism, and failed to obtain sufficient competent evidence concerning those accounts.

6. During both the FY 2010 and FY 2011 Sara Lee audits, Teles knew that a material portion of SLCB's accounts receivable balance was overdue and disputed by customers. As recorded in SLCB's accounting records, approximately 87 million Brazilian reais ("R$") of SLCB's A/R were overdue at both FYE 2010 and FYE 2011 (40% and 36% of those balances, respectively), including approximately R$20 million in receivables more than 90 days overdue (10% and 8% of SLCB's reported A/R balance at FYE 2010 and FYE 2011, respectively). Teles was aware that many of the customers' disputes involved claims that SLCB had failed to recognize trade promotion obligations that should have offset the accounts receivable. Teles also knew that, with very few exceptions, SLCB had not accrued A/R Reserves or trade promotion liabilities to offset the disputed amounts.

7. Teles further knew that SLCB management was re-aging overdue receivables by extending their due dates in SLCB's accounting system. Teles understood that the re-aging of receivables could cause overdue receivables to appear current. Teles therefore knew, or should have known, that an even larger portion of SLCB's receivables was likely overdue than what was shown in SLCB's accounting records. He further understood that the re-aging could cause SLCB to underestimate its A/R Reserves and thereby cause an overstatement of SLCB's reported Net A/R.

8. In light of the information that Teles had and the risks associated with SLCB's Net A/R, net revenues, and trade promotion accounts, Teles failed to exercise due professional care and professional skepticism, and failed to obtain sufficient

---

[6] Net A/R consisted of SLCB's gross accounts receivable less reserves for doubtful accounts and sales returns and allowances ("A/R Reserves"). Net revenues consisted of SLCB's gross sales less sales returns and trade promotion costs. SLCB also reported a liability for trade promotions. Trade promotion liabilities were typically satisfied by SLCB crediting the customers' A/R balances.

ORDER

competent audit evidence, with regard to those accounts. Among other things, Teles repeatedly failed to address the impact of management's re-aging of SLCB's overdue receivables when planning the audit procedures and evaluating the audit evidence. As a result, Teles and his engagement team improperly relied on SLCB's re-aged A/R data as audit evidence, and failed to obtain other sufficient competent evidence to support Net A/R. Teles also unreasonably assessed the audit risk for trade promotions as "normal" in both audits, contrary to instructions he received for the audits and despite internal control deficiencies at SLCB related to trade promotions. As a result, Teles failed to plan or perform sufficient procedures to respond to the risk of material misstatement from unrecorded trade promotions indicated by the substantial customer disputes.

9. Teles's violations impaired his and the engagement team's ability to detect material misstatements due to error or fraud in SLCB's financial information. As a result of his violations, Teles improperly authorized PwC-Brazil's issuance of interoffice reports on SLCB's special purpose financial information for FY 2010 and FY 2011.

10. In 2012, Sara Lee disclosed that an internal investigation had identified intentional overrides of certain internal controls as well as extensive cross-functional collusion by management of SLCB, resulting in improper revenue recognition and overstatement of accounts receivable due to the failure to write-off uncollectable customer discounts, among other things. As a result of the internal investigation, which included findings indicating fraud, Sara Lee restated its FY 2010 and FY 2011 financial statements and concluded a material weakness existed in internal control over financial reporting as of June 30, 2012. The restatements reflected that, based on the internal investigation, SLCB's Net A/R, as originally reported, was overstated by approximately R$151 million (or 246%) at FYE 2010, and R$170 million (or 263%) at FYE 2011, and that SLCB's total assets, as originally reported, were also overstated by approximately R$102 million (or 14%) and R$121 million (or 15%) at FYE 2010 and FYE 2011, respectively.

D. Background

1. Structure of the Audit

11. PwC-US is a public accounting firm, organized as a Delaware limited liability partnership, and is headquartered in New York, NY. PwC-US is a member of PwC Global network ("PwC Global"), which comprises firms that are members of, or have other connections to, PricewaterhouseCoopers International Ltd. PwC-US is registered with the Board pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules.

ORDER

12. PwC-US served as the independent auditor of Sara Lee's FY 2010 and FY 2011 consolidated financial statements, and issued unqualified audit reports on those financial statements, and on the effectiveness of Sara Lee's internal controls over financial reporting as of those fiscal year ends. In both of those audits, PwC-US relied upon affiliates in the PwC Global network to perform audit procedures concerning specific Sara Lee subsidiaries around the globe. To do so, PwC-US utilized Netherlands-based PricewaterhouseCoopers Accountants N.V. ("PwC-NL") to coordinate and report on the audit procedures performed on Sara Lee's international operations.

13. For both the FY 2010 and FY 2011 audits, PwC-NL instructed PwC-Brazil to perform what it described as an "integrated audit" of SLCB's special purpose financial information, which included both a balance sheet and income statement, using a planning/performance materiality of 2.25 million Euros (approximately R$5 million). PwC-NL further instructed PwC-Brazil to perform its audit work in accordance with PCAOB standards, and to opine on whether SLCB's financial information was presented in accordance with Sara Lee Corporation's Finance Policy Manual ("Sara Lee policies"), which the instructions stated, Sara Lee had "developed . . . in accordance with U.S. GAAP."

14. As the lead partner for PwC-Brazil's audit work, Teles authorized the issuance of PwC-Brazil's interoffice reports on SLCB's special purpose financial information for both the FY 2010 and FY 2011 audits (the "Interoffice Reports"). The FY 2010 and FY 2011 Interoffice Reports, dated August 5, 2010, and August 2, 2011, respectively, stated that PwC-Brazil had audited SLCB's special purpose financial information in accordance with PCAOB auditing standards. Except for certain qualifications that are not relevant to this Order, both Interoffice Reports stated that SLCB's special purpose financial information "has been prepared to give the information required to be shown in accordance with the policies and instructions contained in [Sara Lee's policies]."

15. Teles understood that PwC-NL would rely upon PwC-Brazil's Interoffice Reports to issue its own interoffice reports on consolidated special purpose financial information of Sara Lee's international subsidiaries. Teles further understood that PwC-US would rely upon PwC-NL's interoffice reports in preparing and issuing its audit reports on Sara Lee's consolidated financial statements. And, in fact, PwC-US issued unqualified audit reports on Sara Lee's FY 2010 and FY 2011 financial statements based, in part, on PwC-Brazil's Interoffice Reports.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

2. SLCB's Revenue Recognition, Trade Promotions and Accounts Receivable

16. SLCB earned revenue from the sale of coffee. Customers were primarily large distributors and grocery chains. SLCB provided a variety of sales incentives to its customers, including discounts, promotional credits and other consideration ("trade promotions"). "Key account" customers had written agreements with SLCB,[7] which granted them certain trade promotions. Additionally, salespersons were able to offer temporary trade promotions to both key and non-key account customers.

17. Consistent with U.S. GAAP,[8] Sara Lee policies required that SLCB report its revenues net of its estimated trade promotion costs. SLCB was to record the sale price before any discounts or rebates as gross sales and record the cost of any related trade promotions in contra-revenue accounts.

18. For trade promotions that a customer was immediately entitled to receive as a discount, SLCB was to record accounts receivable net of the trade promotions. For trade promotions that could not be immediately applied to the customer account (e.g., promotions payable on a future date), SLCB was to record accounts receivable based on the gross sale price, while also recording a liability to recognize its obligation to provide the trade promotions. When SLCB's customer became entitled to receive the trade promotions, SLCB would reduce the liability either by paying the customer or offsetting the liability against the accounts receivable.

19. Teles understood that, when an SLCB customer believed it was entitled to a trade promotion, it was common for the customer to take a "self-deduction" to claim the anticipated trade promotion—i.e., the customer would pay the net amount owed after the anticipated trade promotion, rather than paying the gross sales price and waiting for reimbursement. Teles further understood that it was an accepted practice for SLCB customers to use self-deductions to claim the benefit of an agreed-upon trade promotion that had not been reflected in the invoiced amount. Sara Lee policies recognized that customers would claim trade promotions through self-deductions. In such scenarios, assuming that SLCB had properly recorded the trade promotion liability at the time of sale, SLCB was expected to reduce the trade promotion liability established for that sale by the unpaid portion of the gross sales price.

---

[7] In contrast to key accounts, non-key accounts were typically smaller accounts for which there were no written master agreements.

[8] See FASB Accounting Standards Codification ("ASC") 605-50, Revenue Recognition – Customer Payments and Incentives.

ORDER

20. Teles knew that customers also took self-deductions when no specific trade promotion liability had been recorded. This would occur, for example, if a salesperson had agreed to a discount at the time of sale, but SLCB failed to record it. Self-deductions taken when no specific trade promotion liability had been recorded, until resolved, remained a part of SLCB's receivables balance.

21. Teles was aware that many self-deductions were essentially disputed receivables, and raised a risk of non-collectablility. Self-deductions presented a risk that SLCB might not have recorded all of its trade promotions. If SLCB failed to record all of the costs of its trade promotions, its net revenues would be overstated. In addition, accounts receivable would be overstated or the trade promotion liability would be understated.

3. Teles's Knowledge of the Risks and Red Flags

22. Before beginning work on the FY 2010 and FY 2011 audits, Teles became aware of several risks and red flags that should have caused him to heighten his professional skepticism with respect to SLCB's Net A/R, net revenues, and trade promotions. Teles and his engagement team recognized these risks, and documented a "critical matter" for Net A/R in both years.[9]

a. Teles Understood that SLCB was Experiencing Significant Levels of Overdue Receivables

23. At the time of the FY 2010 and FY 2011 audits, Teles knew that SLCB's receivables more than 90 days overdue were significant. SLCB's records indicated that there had been an eleven-fold increase in SLCB's accounts receivable recorded as more than 90 days overdue at FYE 2009. SLCB's records did not indicate significant improvement in the aging of SLCB's receivables at either FYE 2010 or FYE 2011 when compared to FYE 2009.

---

[9] A "critical matter," sometimes referred to as a "significant matter," was a defined term in PwC-Brazil's internal guidance. That term referred to significant findings or issues that were important to the procedures performed, evidence obtained, or conclusions reached, within the meaning of Auditing Standard No. 3, Audit Documentation, ¶ 12. Under PwC-Brazil policy, Teles was required to be involved in the resolution of critical matters and to review the documentation of the critical matters.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

b. Teles Understood that Significant Overdue Accounts Receivable Were Disputed

24. During the FY 2010 and FY 2011 audits, SLCB management informed Teles that a significant portion of the A/R more than 90 days past due were the result of customers taking self-deductions. Teles understood from his discussions with SLCB management that the customers were taking self-deductions to dispute their obligation to pay the remaining balances, claiming that SLCB owed them trade promotion credits. Management also represented to Teles that the overdue receivables had increased in conjunction with a global financial crisis.

c. Teles Understood that SLCB Was Re-Aging Overdue Accounts Receivable

25. Teles understood that SLCB's accounts receivable, as reflected in SLCB's records, had been re-aged. Before issuing the FY 2010 Interoffice Report, Teles learned from management that SLCB had extended due dates on some of its receivables (including self-deductions) that were the subject of disputes by SLCB's customers.

26. Teles understood that, when SLCB extended due dates, SLCB revised the due dates for the overdue receivables in its A/R subledger, the basis for which Teles did not test.[10] Teles also understood that changes to the due dates of receivables in the A/R subledger would cause the receivables to appear less overdue, and possibly current. As a result, Teles knew, or should have known, that any analyses of the A/R aging prepared from the A/R subledger would depict the receivables as less-aged than they really were.

d. SLCB Had Identified Internal Control Deficiencies Concerning Net A/R, Net Revenues and Trade Promotion Accounts

27. Teles knew, or should have known, that the Sara Lee internal audit function ("Internal Audit") had identified internal control deficiencies related to SLCB's Net A/R, net revenues and trade promotion accounts. During the FY 2009 audit, Teles received access to an internal audit report ("2009 IA Report") that indicated that there had been several deficiencies in SLCB's internal controls, which could cause misstatements in SLCB's Net A/R, net revenues and trade promotion accounts.

[10] Management represented to Teles that it had extended due dates based on negotiations with SLCB's customers.

ORDER

Although SLCB purported to have taken steps to address those deficiencies, Teles received access to another IA Report in mid-FY 2010 ("2010 IA Report"), which noted several similar deficiencies.[11]

e. Teles Understood that there Were Audit Risks, Including a Risk of Material Misstatement Due to Fraud, Associated with SLCB's Net A/R, Net Revenues and Trade Promotions

28. For both the FY 2010 and FY 2011 audits, PwC-NL advised Teles and his PwC-Brazil engagement team that there were increased audit risks relating to Net A/R, net revenues and trade promotions. In addition, in both years, Teles understood that there were risks of material misstatement due to fraud related to those accounts. Among other things, the disputes between SLCB and its customers raised a major concern for Teles about whether the recorded accounts receivable balance was accurate. That concern was documented, in part, in the FY 2010 and FY 2011 "critical matter" work papers.

29. In both years, PwC-NL's audit instructions indicated that it was unlikely that evidence from controls and substantive analytical procedures alone would be sufficient to address the risks identified for revenue and trade promotions, and that tests of details were typically necessary to address such risks.

E. Applicable PCAOB Standards During the FY 2010 and FY 2011 Audits

30. In connection with the preparation or issuance of an audit report, PCAOB rules require that registered public accounting firms and their associated persons comply with applicable auditing and related professional practice standards.[12] As the lead partner for PwC-Brazil's audit work on SLCB's special purpose financial information, Teles had an obligation under PCAOB standards to supervise the audit and

---

[11] The 2010 IA Report indicated that the deficiencies were "important strategic, financial, compliance or operational issue[s] for the operating company." It also indicated that "[t]he related risk[s] ha[ve] mitigating controls in place and/or the likelihood of having a significant effect on the operating company is small."

[12] See PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards; PCAOB Rule 3200T, Interim Auditing Standards.

ORDER

to obtain "sufficient competent evidential matter."[13] To be competent, audit evidence must be both valid and relevant.[14]

31. Teles was required to plan PwC-Brazil's audit procedures based on assessments of both audit risk and materiality.[15] Although an audit client's internal controls could impact the assessment of audit risk, a determination that audit risk was lower due to the client's internal controls was required to be based on an assessment of both those controls' design and effectiveness.[16] Additionally, Teles and his engagement team needed to perform substantive tests for all relevant assertions related to all significant accounts, regardless of assessed level of control risk.[17]

32. Teles was required to perform his work with due professional care, which, in turn, required him to exercise professional skepticism.[18] Teles also was required "to be thorough in his . . . search for evidential matter," to be "unbiased in its evaluation," and to consider relevant evidential matter regardless of whether it appeared to corroborate or to contradict the assertions in SLCB's financial information.[19] Teles could not be satisfied with less-than-persuasive evidence because of a belief that management was honest.[20]

33. Teles should have conducted PwC-Brazil's audit procedures "with a mindset that recognizes the possibility that a material misstatement due to fraud could be present, regardless of any past experience with the entity and regardless of [his] belief about management's honesty and integrity."[21] To ensure that the risks of material misstatement due to fraud were appropriately identified and assessed, Teles was required to consider how and where SLCB's financial information might be susceptible

---

[13] See AU § 311, Planning and Supervision; AU § 326.22, Evidential Matter.

[14] See AU § 326.21.

[15] See AU § 312, Audit Risk and Materiality in Conducting an Audit.

[16] See AU §§ 319.03, .66, .80-.81, .86, Consideration of Internal Control in a Financial Statement Audit.

[17] See AU § 319.107.

[18] See AU §§ 230.02, .07, Due Professional Care in the Performance of Work.

[19] See AU § 326.25.

[20] See AU § 316.13, Consideration of Fraud in a Financial Statement Audit.

[21] See AU § 316.13.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

to material misstatement due to fraud, and how management could perpetrate and conceal fraudulent financial reporting.[22] To do so, Teles should have considered whether there were accounts or classes of transactions that may have been susceptible to manipulation by management.[23] In particular, PCAOB standards instructed that Teles should have presumed a risk of material misstatement due to fraud relating to revenue recognition,[24] and PCAOB standards also warned that "[f]raudulent financial reporting often is accomplished through intentional misstatements of accounting estimates."[25] Teles also should have considered whether there were "fraud risk factors" present,[26] including deficiencies in internal controls that increased the opportunity for fraud.[27]

34. Teles was also responsible for ensuring that the procedures performed by the engagement team adequately addressed the identified risks of material misstatement due to fraud.[28] The response to risks of material misstatement due to fraud should have included application of professional skepticism in gathering and evaluating audit evidence, including critical assessment of the competency and sufficiency of the audit evidence.[29] PCAOB standards required Teles to thoroughly probe the issues of potential fraud, and acquire additional evidence as necessary, rather than rationalize or dismiss information or other conditions that indicated a material misstatement due to fraud may have occurred.[30]

35. As detailed, below, Teles violated these and other PCAOB standards in both the FY 2010 and FY 2011 audits.

---

22 See AU §§ 316.14, .34.

23 See AU § 316.39.

24 See AU § 316.41.

25 See AU § 316.63.

26 See AU §§ 316.31-33.

27 See AU § 316.85.

28 See AU § 311.13; AU § 326.25; AU § 316.02, .46, .48(b), .51-.56.

29 See AU § 316.46.

30 See AU § 316.16.

ORDER

F. Teles Violated PCAOB Rules and Standards

36. Teles violated PCAOB standards during the FY 2010 and FY 2011 audits because he failed to appropriately plan and supervise PwC-Brazil's audit procedures with due professional care and professional skepticism. He further failed to ensure that the engagement team adequately responded to the risks of material misstatement, including risks of material misstatement due to fraud, and red flags for SLCB's Net A/R, net revenues and trade promotion accounts. As a result, he failed to obtain sufficient competent audit evidence.

37. Teles determined that, in light of the risks described above, he should be directly involved in, and review, the work performed over SLCB's accounts receivable, and he designated SLCB's Net A/R a "critical matter." Nevertheless, he failed to ensure that PwC-Brazil adequately responded to the identified risks and red flags related to SLCB's Net A/R.[31] For audit procedures that his engagement team did perform, he failed to consider whether the audit evidence obtained to support SLCB's reported Net A/R was relevant or reliable, in light of SLCB's re-aging of receivables. He also failed to sufficiently address contradictory evidence obtained by the engagement team concerning Net A/R.[32]

38. Moreover, although Teles was aware of the risks relating to trade promotions, he inappropriately determined to treat trade promotions as a normal risk. As a result, he failed to plan or perform procedures beyond control testing and analytical procedures to address trade promotions. And the procedures that the engagement team did perform failed to address the risk that all of SLCB's trade promotions were not recorded.

1. Teles's Failures Concerning SLCB's Net A/R

39. When planning PwC-Brazil's FY 2010 and FY 2011 audit procedures for SLCB, Teles inappropriately determined to place high reliance on SLCB's internal controls and analytical procedures, and to reduce the extent of substantive testing for Net A/R. Besides performing tests of internal controls and analytical procedures, PwC-Brazil's principal audit procedures for Net A/R in FY 2010 consisted of: (1) attempting to confirm a sample of receivables and performing alternative procedures for nonresponses to confirmation requests, (2) reviewing SLCB's A/R aging and A/R Reserves for doubtful accounts, and (3) reviewing bad debt write-offs. For the FY 2011

---

[31] See AU § 312; AU § 316.

[32] See AU § 326.25.

ORDER

audit, despite the continuing risks surrounding Net A/R, Teles and his engagement team eliminated the confirmation procedures, including alternative procedures for non-responses, and review of bad debt write-offs, and relied principally on the review of SLCB's A/R aging and A/R Reserves.

40. The procedures performed, however, were inadequate to respond to the risk that SLCB was re-aging and otherwise delaying the write-off or reserving of uncollectable receivables.

41. Teles failed to identify and address the deficiencies in PwC-Brazil's planned procedures, their execution, or the evidence that they produced. He failed to appropriately supervise and review the engagement team's performance of those procedures. As a result, Teles failed to exercise due professional care and professional skepticism, and failed to obtain sufficient competent evidence to support that SLCB's Net A/R existed and was appropriately valued.

a. Teles and His Team Failed to Appropriately Perform Confirmation and Alternative Procedures on SLCB's Receivables

FY 2010

42. Under PCAOB standards, it is presumed that an auditor will request confirmation of accounts receivable,[33] and PwC-NL explicitly requested that PwC-Brazil confirm accounts receivable for the FY 2010 audit. PwC-Brazil accordingly planned to perform confirmation procedures for A/R and alternative procedures for nonresponses, including tracing the receivables to subsequent cash receipts.[34]

43. Despite the importance of the confirmation and alternative procedures, Teles failed to appropriately supervise those procedures, or evaluate their results with due professional care. PwC-Brazil's confirmation testing and alternative procedures

---

[33] See AU § 330.34, The Confirmation Process.

[34] PCAOB standards provide that "[t]he nature of alternative procedures varies according to the account and assertion in question." AU § 330.32. They also provide that "[i]n he examination of accounts receivable, for example, alternative procedures may include examination of subsequent cash receipts (including matching such receipts with the actual items being paid), shipping documents, or other client documentation to provide evidence for the existence assertion." Id.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

were performed on a non-representative sample of ten receivables.[35] Additionally, those procedures were not performed with due professional care, and did not address contradictory evidence. As a result, they did not provide sufficient competent evidence to support either the existence or value of SLCB's FYE 2010 accounts receivable.

44. PCAOB standards provide that, in order to obtain relevant audit evidence about a population of transactions through a test of details performed on a sample of transactions, a sample should be designed so that it is reasonably expected to be representative of that larger population.[36] However, the engagement team failed to select a representative sample of receivables for its confirmations and alternative procedures, and instead made a targeted selection of ten very large receivables from those that SLCB had marked "current." Other receivables in the A/R population did not have an opportunity for selection.[37] Accordingly, the results of the test could not be extrapolated to the entire A/R balance, including the population of high-risk overdue receivables for FY 2010. However, because Teles did not appropriately supervise the confirmation testing, he was not aware that his team had restricted that testing to "current" receivables.

45. Teles's failure to appropriately supervise the confirmation and alternative procedures also resulted in the engagement team failing to appropriately respond to contradictory evidence obtained through the alternative procedures. When positive confirmation procedures are performed, but no replies are received, the auditor should apply alternative procedures to the nonresponses to obtain the evidence necessary to reduce audit risk to an acceptably low level.[38]

46. PwC-Brazil did not receive any responses from customers confirming the receivables, which was consistent with the engagement team's experience on the prior year's audit and Teles's experience in Brazil, generally. PwC-Brazil attempted to apply alternative procedures for the receivables not confirmed by examining subsequent cash receipts for the selected receivables. However only two of the ten receivables tested for subsequent cash receipts were matched to a cash receipt of equal value to the [35] The confirmation and alternative procedures were performed on a selection of just ten current receivables from SLCB's May 31, 2010 A/R balance. That selection covered just 2.4% of the total value of the May 31, 2010 A/R balance, which was comprised of more than 32,000 receivables totaling R$205.8 million.

---

[36] See AU §§ 350.16-.17, .24, Audit Sampling.

[37] See AU § 350.39.

[38] See AU § 330.31.

ORDER

receivable. For three other receivables, SLCB provided PwC-Brazil with information indicating that SLCB had received cash, but the amounts of the cash it received were different from the amounts of the receivables. PwC-Brazil did not obtain any evidence that the customers had designated the cash for the receivables it was testing, nor did it perform any procedures to test whether the cash receipts had been appropriately applied.[39]

47. For the remaining five receivables, PwC-Brazil did not obtain evidence of cash being subsequently received by SLCB. PwC-Brazil did, however, receive information that three of those receivables (totaling 18% of the tested value) had been subsequently reversed by applying credit memos for trade promotions. Such information alone did not provide audit evidence that the receivables were valid. In particular, the relative magnitude of the receivables reversed through credit memos within PwC-Brazil's selection should have garnered additional attention from Teles.

48. At the end of the FY 2010 audit work, Teles signed-off that the engagement team had properly performed accounts receivable confirmation testing and alternative procedures. However, before doing so, Teles failed to properly evaluate the evidence obtained, including contradictory audit evidence that cast doubt on whether A/R Reserves and/or trade promotion liabilities had been appropriately recorded to prevent misstatements of SLCB's special purpose financial information.

FY 2011

49. For the FY 2011 audit, Teles and his engagement team did not perform any confirmation or alternative procedures for A/R. Teles and the engagement team documented that they decided to forego confirmation of A/R with SLCB's customers, based on the prior year's poor response rate. Although an auditor may choose to forego confirmation of accounts receivable where the use of confirmations would be ineffective,[40] PwC-Brazil was still required to obtain sufficient competent evidence concerning the existence and value of accounts receivable, a significant account, through substantive testing,[41] and neither Teles nor his engagement team recorded the reason for eliminating the subsequent cash receipts testing they had performed the prior

---

[39] As reflected in AU § 330.32, examination of subsequent cash receipts as an alternative procedure for receivables confirmations typically includes "matching such receipts with the actual items being paid."

[40] See AU § 330.34.

[41] See AU § 319.107.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

year. Nor did Teles or his team devise or carry out any other alternative procedures to test SLCB's A/R as of FYE 2011.

b. Teles's and His Team's Analysis of Receivables' History, Aging, Collectability and Bad Debt Write-Offs Was Flawed

50. For both FYE 2010 and FYE 2011, Teles and his engagement team planned to respond to the risks indicated by the customer disputes and overdue receivables by testing the reasonableness of management's estimated A/R Reserves for doubtful accounts. PwC-Brazil's procedures to evaluate the reasonableness of the A/R Reserve for doubtful accounts included recalculating the aging of SLCB's A/R by using aging data in SLCB's A/R subledger, and holding discussions with management about customers with large overdue balances. The procedures also included examining period-to-period changes in the age of receivables balances. That testing, however, was flawed because it ignored the impact of SLCB's re-aging of receivables and placed undue reliance on management representations that were contradicted by other information.

51. Teles knew that there was an elevated risk that Net A/R was materially overstated with uncollectable receivables and amounts that should have been offset by trade promotion credits. Teles also understood that a material portion of SLCB's reported A/R more than 90 days overdue were disputed by SLCB's customers, and therefore raised the risk of uncollectability. Teles also should have realized that the disputed receivables, and thus the potential for overstatement of Net A/R, were not confined to those A/R that were recorded as being more than 90 days overdue, since he knew SLCB had been re-aging some overdue A/R that had been the subject of disputes.

52. Under PCAOB standards, Teles needed to assess the reliability of SLCB's A/R subledger data, before he could use that data to evaluate the reasonableness of SLCB's estimated A/R Reserves.[42] Nevertheless, Teles failed to make an appropriate assessment of the reliability of that data. Teles never sought to have his engagement team determine the extent and impact of the re-aging, nor did he seek to quantify the amounts in dispute. Had he done so, data already contained in PwC-Brazil's work papers would have allowed Teles and his engagement team to observe that SLCB's FYE 2010 and FYE 2011 receivables balances had been significantly re-aged.

---

[42] See AU §§ 342.04, .09-.12, Auditing Accounting Estimates.

ORDER

53. PwC-Brazil's review of SLCB's bad debt write-offs was also compromised by the practice of re-aging, and that review provided insufficient evidence as to the reasonableness of A/R Reserves. That review did not take into consideration that uncollectable receivables, if re-aged, might persist in the A/R balance without being written-off as bad debts. Without evidence to support that all bad debts were being timely written off, this procedure could not provide competent evidence to support the reasonableness of the A/R Reserves.

54. Because the aging analysis and the bad debt write-off review both failed to yield audit evidence that was either relevant or reliable, PwC-Brazil's substantive testing of the AR Reserve for doubtful accounts amounted to little more than management inquiry about the collectability of SLCB's A/R. In both FY 2010 and FY 2011, Teles and the engagement team made inquiries to various members of SLCB's management, including SLCB's CFO, about the overdue receivables. Teles and the engagement team received representations that SLCB was pursuing the overdue receivables and that management believed SLCB would be successful in collecting them.[43]

55. However, management inquiry, alone, could not provide sufficient competent evidence as to the collectability of A/R or the reasonableness of the A/R Reserves. Although management representations "are part of the evidential matter the independent auditor obtains, . . . they are not a substitute for the application of those auditing procedures necessary to afford a reasonable basis for an opinion regarding the financial statements under audit."[44] In particular, "[i]f a representation made by management is contradicted by other audit evidence, the auditor should investigate the circumstances and consider the reliability of the representation made."[45]

56. Teles failed to obtain evidence to corroborate management's representations. Teles should have sought additional evidence to corroborate management's representations, particularly because the claims by SLCB customers that they were owed additional trade promotions constituted contradictory evidence as to the existence and value of the overdue receivables, and as to the adequacy of SLCB's related estimates for its A/R Reserves. .

---

[43] Sara Lee's internal investigation indicated that SLCB management did not accurately represent the circumstances surrounding the receivables.

[44] See AU § 333.02, Management Representations.

[45] See AU § 333.04.

ORDER

57. At the request of Teles and the engagement team, management also presented the engagement team with management's own analyses of changes in the aging of the receivables from period-to-period, but those analyses (like the ones prepared by PwC-Brazil) were based on altered due dates.

c. PwC-Brazil's Control Testing and Analytical Procedures Did Not Provide Sufficient Competent Audit Evidence to Respond to the Elevated Risk of Material Misstatement for Net A/R

58. During the FYE 2010 and FYE 2011 audits, Teles placed significant reliance on SLCB's internal controls to substantially reduce the level of substantive testing for Net A/R. That reliance was unreasonable for the following reasons:

a. Teles had direct knowledge that SLCB was re-aging overdue receivables, and did not test the basis for the re-aging.

b. PwC-Brazil's test of the control for estimating the A/R Reserves for doubtful accounts only examined whether the calculation was being performed and reviewed.

c. As highlighted by the 2009 and 2010 IA Reports, some of SLCB's revenue and receivables were recorded during a period when Internal Audit had identified deficiencies in related internal controls.

59. Although Teles relied on control testing related to sales transactions, those tests did not provide sufficient competent evidence to support the existence or valuation of accounts receivable at either fiscal year-end. In the FY 2010 control test the engagement team selected 25 sales transactions and sought to verify the existence of (1) an invoice, (2) an inventory picking list, (3) a delivery confirmation slip, and (4) a subsequent payment. When performing the same control test in FY 2011, the engagement team selected 45 sales transactions, but failed to seek evidence of subsequent payment. Although the engagement team obtained evidence indicating that the shipments had occurred and/or been delivered, the engagement team did not perform procedures to test whether the receivables had been correctly recorded or appropriately credited.

60. Teles also relied on PwC-Brazil's analytical procedures for A/R, but those procedures did not provide substantive audit evidence to overcome the deficiencies in PwC-Brazil's other Net A/R testing. The analytical procedures could not provide the high level of assurance needed to address the elevated risk and fraud risk associated with A/R. Among other things, PwC-Brazil's expectation was not precise enough to provide a high level of assurance, because it was based on overall changes to total revenue and A/R, and not disaggregated (e.g., by customer or customer type).[46]

ORDER

2. Teles's Failures Concerning Net Revenues and Trade Promotions

61. Teles also violated PCAOB standards by failing to appropriately plan and supervise his team's testing of trade promotions with due professional care and professional skepticism, in light of the red flags and risks associated with trade promotions. As a result of those failures, Teles and the engagement team failed to appropriately assess the reasonableness of the trade promotion estimates. And they failed to obtain sufficient competent audit evidence that SLCB had appropriately recorded its obligations relating to trade promotions.

62. SLCB's trade promotion accounts were significant accounts and were susceptible to fraud risks. SLCB's recorded trade promotion costs totaled R$320 million in FY 2010 and R$639 million in FY 2011, and comprised a significant component of SLCB's net revenues. As a constituent part of SLCB's revenue, there was a presumptive fraud risk for trade promotion costs.

63. In both FY 2010 and 2011, PwC-Brazil also identified in its work papers that SLCB's trade promotion liability was a significant management estimate for which there was a risk of fraud. As Teles was aware, by FYE 2010, SLCB's trade promotion liability had been almost entirely exhausted. And although the trade promotion liability balance had increased to R$5.9 million as of FYE 2011, it was still relatively low in light of the volume of SLCB's trade promotion activity and customer disputes over trade promotions.

64. During both FY 2010 and 2011, there were also multiple indications that there was an increased risk of material understatement in SLCB's trade promotion accounts, which should have caused Teles to expand the testing of trade promotions. For example, Teles knew that SLCB's management attributed much of the A/R more than 90 days past due to customer disputes and claims that they were owed additional trade promotions. Further, during the FY 2010 audit, Teles was provided with information demonstrating that SLCB's FYE 2010 trade promotion liability balance of just R$1.1 million was more than R$13 million below its budgeted amount. PwC-NL's instructions for the audits also indicated that trade promotions were a "key" risk in FY 2010 and an "elevated" risk in FY 2011.

---

[46] See AU § 329.14, .17-.19, Analytical Procedures.

ORDER

65. Nevertheless, Teles changed PwC-NL's risk assessment for trade promotions, and decided that the audit risk for SLCB's trade promotion accounts was normal. Teles decided that PwC-Brazil would seek a low level of assurance from its substantive testing for those accounts and would evaluate trade promotions through a combination of control testing and analytical procedures. Teles also permitted the engagement team to forego several of the procedures that were identified as part of the planned response to the risk of fraud for the trade promotion liability, including retrospective review of the trade promotion liability estimate. Moreover, despite PwC-NL's instructions specifically identifying a high risk to completeness and accuracy of revenue related to trade promotions, Teles failed to ensure that PwC-Brazil's testing adequately addressed these assertions for trade promotions.

66. Teles's decision to reduce the assessed risk for trade promotions was unreasonable, and demonstrates his failure to exercise due professional care and professional skepticism. Teles did not document the reason for his lower trade promotions risk assessment, and nothing in the circumstances of SLCB supported that risk assessment. Indeed, Teles should have considered that the disputes between SLCB and its customers indicated an increased risk that SLCB may have failed to record all trade promotions, and therefore may have materially understated its trade promotion costs and related trade promotion liability, and overstated its net revenues. Likewise, the re-aging of the disputed receivables and the history of adverse findings in the IA Reports relating to trade promotion controls should have caused Teles to perform additional procedures and obtain additional audit evidence during the FY 2010 and FY 2011 audits.

67. In light of the actual audit risks surrounding SLCB's trade promotions, Teles's decision to restrict the trade promotion testing to certain tests of controls and analytical procedures violated PCAOB auditing standards,[47] as did his decision not to perform planned retrospective reviews of the trade promotion liability.[48] PwC-Brazil's control tests and analytical procedures were neither designed nor executed to provide the level of assurance for substantive testing necessary to address the increased risk of misstatement, including for fraud, in trade promotions. The nature, timing and extent of the control tests—including the small number of occurrences and transactions tested—were too limited to provide sufficient competent evidence as to whether all trade

---

[47] See AU § 319.107; AU § 329.09; AU § 316.51; see also AU § 316.41.

[48] See AU § 316.64 (the auditor should perform a retrospective review of significant accounting estimates reflected in the financial statements of the prior year to determine whether management judgments and assumptions relating to the estimates indicate a possible bias on the part of management).

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

promotion costs were appropriately recorded.[49] Also, the tested controls failed to address the risk that SLCB's trade promotions could be understated because of failures to record liabilities and reserves for agreed-upon trade promotions and other incentives/concessions. And the analytical procedures performed by PwC-Brazil did not serve to provide a high level of assurance, because they did not employ any detailed expectation based on a plausible relationship.[50]

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondent's Offer. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), Wander Rodrigues Teles is hereby censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(B) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(2), Wander Rodrigues Teles is barred from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm, as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i);[51] and

---

[49] See AU § 350.44.

[50] See AU § 329.14 (as higher levels of assurance are desired from analytical procedures, more predictable relationships are required to develop the expectation); AU § 329.17 ("The expectation should be precise enough to provide the desired level of assurance that differences that may be potential material misstatements, individually or when aggregated with other misstatements, would be identified for the auditor to investigate.").

[51] As a consequence of the bar, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act will apply with respect to Teles. Section 105(c)(7)(B) provides: "It shall be unlawful for any person that is suspended or barred from being associated with a registered public accounting firm under this subsection willfully to become or remain associated with any issuer, broker, or dealer in an accountancy or a financial management capacity, and for any issuer, broker, or dealer that knew, or in the exercise of reasonable care should have known, of such suspension or bar, to permit such an association, without the consent of the Board or the Commission."

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

C. After two (2) years from the date of this Order, Wander Rodrigues Teles may file a petition, pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5302(b), for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm; and

D. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of $10,000 is imposed upon Wander Rodrigues Teles. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of this civil money penalty will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. Respondent shall pay the civil money penalty imposed within ten (10) days of the issuance of this Order by (1) wire transfer pursuant to instructions provided by Board staff; or (2) United States Postal Service money order, bank money order, certified check, or bank cashier's check (a) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, (b) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, and (c) submitted under a cover letter that identifies Teles as a respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB release number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of said cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe W. Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

_____

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

March 20, 2017

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street, N.W.
Washington, DC 20006
Telephone: (202) 207-9100
Facsimile: (202) 862-0757
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of Michael John Morrell, Respondent.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-008 March 29, 2017

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("Board" or "PCAOB") is: (1) censuring Michael John Morrell ("Morrell" or "Respondent"); (2) barring Morrell from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm;[1] and (3) imposing a civil money penalty in the amount of $35,000 on Morrell. The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that Morrell directly and substantially contributed to a registered firm's failure to cooperate with a Board investigation.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondent.

II.

In anticipation of the institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondent has submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offer") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over him and the subject matter of these proceedings, which are admitted, Respondent

[1] Morrell may file a petition for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm after five (5) years from the date of this Order.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

consents to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[2]

III.

On the basis of Respondent's Offer, the Board finds[3] that:

A. Respondent

1. Michael John Morrell, 61, is a retired partner of a Brazilian entity in the Deloitte Touche Tohmatsu Limited network ("Deloitte Brazil Entity"). From June 1, 2012 until May 31, 2016, Morrell served as Chairman of the Policy Committee, the governing body of the Deloitte entities in Brazil, including PCAOB registered firm Deloitte Touche Tohmatsu Auditores Independentes ("Deloitte Brazil" or "Firm"). On June 1, 2016, Morrell rotated out of the chairmanship of the Policy Committee, and on September 21, 2016, he retired from the Deloitte Brazil Entity. At all relevant times, Morrell was an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

B. Respondent Directly and Substantially Contributed to Deloitte Brazil's Failure to Cooperate with a Board Investigation

Applicable PCAOB Rules

2. Section 105(b)(3)(A) of the Act authorizes the Board to sanction a registered public accounting firm for "refus[ing] to…cooperate with the Board in connection with an investigation[.]"[4] Board rules include procedures for implementing that authority.[5] Noncooperation with a Board investigation includes: (a) "fail[ing] to comply with an accounting board demand"; (b) "knowingly ma[king] any false material

---

[2] The findings herein are made pursuant to Respondent's Offer and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

[3] The Board finds that Respondent's conduct described in this Order meets the condition set out in Section 105(c)(5)(A) of the Act, which provides that certain sanctions may be imposed in the event of intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, that results in violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard.

[4] 15 U.S.C. § 7215(b)(3)(A).

[5] See PCAOB Rule 5110, Noncooperation with an Investigation; PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(3), Commencement of Disciplinary Proceedings.

ORDER

declaration or ma[king] or us[ing] any other information, including any book, paper, document, record, recording, or other material, knowing the same to contain any false material declaration"; (c) "abus[ing] the Board's processes for the purpose of obstructing an investigation"; and (d) "otherwise [failing] to cooperate in connection with an investigation."[6]

3. PCAOB rules also prohibit associated persons of registered public accounting firms from taking or omitting to take any action "knowing, or recklessly not knowing, that the act or omission would directly and substantially contribute to a violation by that registered public accounting firm of," among other things, the Rules of the Board.[7]

Respondent Violated PCAOB Rules in Connection with a Board Investigation

4. During the relevant time period, the Policy Committee oversaw, among other things, the governance of the Firm and the compliance of its partners with applicable law and with the Firm's policies and procedures. As Chairman of the Policy Committee, therefore, Morrell was one of the partners with the most responsibility for setting an appropriate tone and establishing controls concerning integrity, ethics, and compliance.

5. On October 15, 2013, the PCAOB Division of Enforcement and Investigations (the "Division") issued a document request to Deloitte Brazil as part of an informal inquiry, requesting that the Firm produce, among other things, the work papers from the Firm's audit of Gol Linhas Aéreas Inteligentes S.A., also known as Gol Intelligent Airlines Inc. ("Gol"), for fiscal year 2010 ("2010 Gol Audit"). In response to that request, the Firm produced a set of 2010 Gol Audit work papers that had been improperly altered in connection with a 2012 Board inspection of the audit. At the time the Firm produced the work papers to the Division in 2013, it did not disclose the improper alterations, which it had made to conceal deficiencies in the 2010 Gol Audit.[8]

6. On or about March 7, 2014, Morrell had conversations with two senior Deloitte Brazil partners in which: (a) Morrell, in his capacity as Chairman of the Policy Committee, was informed about the Firm's production of improperly altered work papers to the Division, and was asked to concur in the decision not to disclose the improper

---

[6] See PCAOB Rule 5110(a).

[7] PCAOB Rule 3502, Responsibility Not to Knowingly or Recklessly Contribute to Violations.

[8] See Deloitte Touche Tohmatsu Auditores Independentes, PCAOB Rel. No. 105-2016-031 (Dec. 5, 2016).

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

alteration to the Division; (b) Morrell was made aware by the senior partners that informing the Division of the improper alterations could have negative consequences for the Firm; and (c) Morrell concurred with the Firm's course of action, thereby directly and substantially contributing to the Firm's obstruction of the Division's inquiry. Morrell subsequently had a conversation with a different senior Firm partner in which Morrell again concurred with the decision not to disclose the improper alterations, despite being made aware that the failure to disclose could have negative consequences for the Firm.

7. After the Board issued an Order of Formal Investigation in June 2014, the Firm continued to provide false documents and information to the Division, including by failing to produce the original work papers from the 2010 GoI Audit. Morrell was aware that the Firm was failing to cooperate with the investigation. Despite his responsibilities as the Chairman of the Policy Committee (including the responsibility to establish a tone of integrity and compliance), however, Morrell failed to take any steps to halt the Firm's noncooperation with the investigation or to rescind his support for the Firm's plan to conceal the improper alterations from the Division.

8. Given Morrell's position as Chairman of the Deloitte Brazil Policy Committee, his actions and omissions directly and substantially contributed to the Firm's failure to cooperate with the Division's investigation. Morrell knew, or was reckless in not knowing, that his actions and omissions played a direct and substantial role in the Firm's noncooperation.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondent's Offer. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), Michael John Morrell is censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(B) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(2), Michael John Morrell is barred from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm, as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i);[9]

[9] As a consequence of the bar imposed in this Order, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act will apply with respect to Morrell. Section 105(c)(7)(B) provides: "It shall be unlawful for any person that is suspended or barred from being

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

C. After five (5) years from the date of this Order, Michael John Morrell may file a petition, pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5302(b), for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm; and

D. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of $35,000 is imposed upon Michael John Morrell. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of this civil money penalty will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. Morrell shall pay this civil money penalty within ten (10) days of the issuance of this Order by (1) wire transfer in accordance with instructions furnished by Board staff; or (2) United States Postal Service money order, bank money order, certified check, or bank cashier's check (a) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, (b) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, and (c) submitted under a cover letter, which identifies Morrell as a respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB release number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe W. Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

March 29, 2017

---

associated with a registered public accounting firm under this subsection willfully to become or remain associated with any issuer, broker, or dealer in an accountancy or a financial management capacity, and for any issuer, broker, or dealer that knew, or in the exercise of reasonable care should have known, of such suspension or bar, to permit such an association, without the consent of the Board or the Commission."

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street, N.W.
Washington, DC 20006
Telephone: (202) 207-9100
Facsimile: (202) 862-0757
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of Juarez Lopes de Araújo, Respondent.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-009 March 29, 2017

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("Board" or "PCAOB") is: (1) censuring Juarez Lopes de Araújo ("Araújo" or "Respondent"); and (2) barring Araújo from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm. The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that Araújo failed to cooperate with a Board investigation.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(3) against Respondent.

II.

In anticipation of the institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondent has submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offer") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over him and the subject matter of these proceedings, which are admitted, Respondent consents to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[1]

[1] The findings herein are made pursuant to Respondent's Offer and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

III.

On the basis of Respondent's Offer, the Board finds[2] that:

A. Respondent

1. Juarez Lopes de Araújo, 62, is a retired partner of certain of the Brazilian entities in the Deloitte Touche Tohmatsu Limited network ("Deloitte Brazil Entities"). From June 1, 2008 through May 31, 2016, Araújo served as Chief Executive Officer ("CEO") and Managing Partner of the Deloitte Brazil Entities, including PCAOB registered firm Deloitte Touche Tohmatsu Auditores Independentes ("Deloitte Brazil" or "Firm"). In that capacity, Araújo served both on the Policy Committee, the governing body of the Deloitte Brazil Entities, and on the Executive Committee. On June 1, 2016, Araújo rotated out of the CEO and Managing Partner positions, and on July 18, 2016, he retired from the Deloitte Brazil Entities. At all relevant times, Araújo was an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

B. Respondent Failed to Cooperate with a Board Investigation

Applicable PCAOB Rules

2. Section 105(b)(3)(A) of the Act authorizes the Board to sanction an associated person of a registered public accounting firm for "refus[ing] to…cooperate with the Board in connection with an investigation[.]"[3] Board rules include procedures for implementing that authority.[4] Noncooperation with a Board investigation includes "fail[ing] to comply with an accounting board demand ['ABD']."[5]

---

[2] The sanctions that the Board is imposing on Respondent in this Order are imposed pursuant to Section 105(b)(3) of the Act, 15 U.S.C. § 7215(b)(3), and PCAOB Rule 5300(b).

[3] 15 U.S.C. § 7215(b)(3)(A).

[4] See PCAOB Rule 5110, Noncooperation with an Investigation; PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(3), Commencement of Disciplinary Proceedings.

[5] PCAOB Rule 5110(a)(1).

ORDER

Background

3. Beginning in 2013, the PCAOB Division of Enforcement and Investigations (the "Division") conducted an informal inquiry and, beginning on June 24, 2014, a formal investigation of Deloitte Brazil in connection with, among other things, the Firm's audit of Gol Linhas Aéreas Inteligentes S.A., also known as Gol Intelligent Airlines Inc., for fiscal year 2010 ("2010 Gol Audit").

4. In response to that inquiry and investigation, Deloitte Brazil, with the knowledge and participation of certain of its senior partners, obstructed a PCAOB investigation by providing false documents and information to the Division, including improperly altered versions of certain 2010 Gol Audit work papers.[6]

Respondent Failed to Cooperate with a Board Investigation

5. On October 4, 2016, the Division issued an ABD to Araújo requiring him to appear for testimony on November 3, 2016. The Division informed Araujo that it intended to take his testimony concerning his possible knowledge of or participation in the Firm's provision of false documents and information to the Division in connection with its investigation of the 2010 Gol Audit.

6. Although the Division accommodated Araújo's request to change the date of the testimony, Araújo informed the Division through his counsel on November 28, 2016 that he would not appear for testimony as required by the ABD. By not complying with the ABD, Araújo failed to cooperate with a Board investigation.[7]

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondent's Offer. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(b)(3)(A)(iii) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(b)(1), Juarez Lopes de Araújo is censured; and

---

[6] See Deloitte Touche Tohmatsu Auditores Independentes, PCAOB Rel. No. 105-2016-031 (Dec. 5, 2016).

[7] See PCAOB Rule 5110(a).

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

B. Pursuant to Section 105(b)(3)(A)(i) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(b)(1), Juarez Lopes de Araújo is barred from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm, as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).[8]

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

March 29, 2017

[8] As a consequence of the bar imposed in this Order, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act will apply with respect to Araújo. Section 105(c)(7)(B) provides: "It shall be unlawful for any person that is suspended or barred from being associated with a registered public accounting firm under this subsection willfully to become or remain associated with any issuer, broker, or dealer in an accountancy or a financial management capacity, and for any issuer, broker, or dealer that knew, or in the exercise of reasonable care should have known, of such suspension or bar, to permit such an association, without the consent of the Board or the Commission."

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street, N.W.
Washington, DC 20006
Telephone: (202) 207-9100
Facsimile: (202) 862-0757
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of Ernst & Young, S.L., Respondent.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-010 March 29, 2017

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("Board" or "PCAOB") is censuring Ernst & Young, S.L. ("Firm" or "Respondent"), a registered public accounting firm, and imposing a civil money penalty in the amount of $10,000 upon the Firm. The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that the Firm failed to timely disclose certain reportable events to the Board on PCAOB Form 3, Special Report, in violation of PCAOB rules.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondent.

II.

In anticipation of institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondent has submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offer") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over Respondent and the subject matter of these proceedings, which are admitted, Respondent consents to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[1]

[1] The findings herein are made pursuant to the Respondent's Offer and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

III.

On the basis of Respondent's Offer, the Board finds that:

A. Respondent

1. Ernst & Young, S.L., is, and at all relevant times was, a limited liability corporation organized under Spanish law, and headquartered in Madrid, Spain. The Firm is a member of the Ernst & Young Global Limited network. At all relevant times, the Firm has been registered with the Board pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules. As of its 2016 Annual Report on PCAOB Form 2, the Firm had 288 accountants, issued one audit report for one issuer during the reporting period, and did not play a substantial role in the preparation or furnishing of an audit report for an issuer that was issued during the reporting period. The Firm is licensed in Spain by the Instituto de Contabilidad y Auditoria de Cuentas ("ICAC"), the foreign auditor oversight authority in Spain (license no. S0530).[2]

B. Summary

2. This matter concerns the Firm's failures to timely disclose four reportable events to the Board on Form 3 as required by PCAOB rules. PCAOB rules required the Firm to complete and file a PCAOB special report on Form 3 to report any event specified in that form within 30 days of the event's occurrence. Among the events that the Firm needed to report on Form 3 were (a) its becoming a respondent in certain disciplinary proceedings; and (b) the conclusion of certain disciplinary proceedings in which it had been a respondent.

3. In February 2011, the Firm became a respondent in two separate disciplinary proceedings initiated by ICAC. Each of those two proceedings was a reportable event under Form 3. With respect to both proceedings, the Firm failed to file a Form 3 reporting the initiation of the proceedings for more than four years after learning of the initiation of the proceedings, well after the 30-day reporting deadline. The Firm also failed to file a Form 3 reporting the conclusion of one proceeding until approximately two years after becoming aware of the conclusion of the proceeding, and failed to file a Form 3 reporting the conclusion of the second proceeding until approximately three months after becoming aware of the conclusion of the proceeding.

---

[2] A "foreign auditor oversight authority" means any governmental body or other entity empowered by a foreign government to conduct inspections of public accounting firms or otherwise to administer or enforce laws related to the regulation of public accounting firms. See Section 2(a)(17) of the Act, 15 U.S.C. § 7201(a)(17). See also PCAOB Rule 1001(f)(iii).

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

C. Respondent Failed to Timely Disclose Certain Reportable Events to the Board, in Violation of PCAOB Rules

4. PCAOB Rule 2203 provides that a registered public accounting firm must file a special report on Form 3 to report any event specified in that form within thirty days of the event's occurrence.[3] One such specified event occurs when a firm "has become aware that, in a matter arising out of the Firm's conduct in the course of providing professional services for a client, the Firm has become a defendant or respondent in a civil or alternative dispute resolution proceeding initiated by a governmental entity or in an administrative or disciplinary proceeding other than a Board disciplinary proceeding" ("Item 2.7 Proceeding").[4] Another such specified event occurs when a firm "has become aware that" an Item 2.7 Proceeding "has been concluded."[5] With respect to four such events involving two Item 2.7 Proceedings, the Firm failed to timely file a Form 3 with the Board.

5. First, on or about February 2, 2011, the Firm became aware that it had become a respondent in a disciplinary proceeding initiated by ICAC. The proceeding arose out of the Firm's audit of a Spanish company that was not an issuer.[6] The proceeding concluded no later than February 26, 2015.

6. Second, on or about February 25, 2011, the Firm became aware that it had become a respondent in another disciplinary proceeding initiated by ICAC. That

---

[3] See PCAOB Rule 2203, Special Reports. As the Board noted when adopting its rules on special reporting, "[R]eportable events will sometimes occur, and the public interest, as well as the ability to consider whether prompt action is warranted by the Board's inspection staff or enforcement staff, will be served by contemporaneous reporting of the event." PCAOB Rel. No. 2008-004, at 17 (June 10, 2008).

[4] PCAOB Form 3, at Item 2.7 (italics in the original removed). To be reportable under Item 2.7, the proceeding only has to relate to professional services for a client, and does not necessarily have to involve an audit of an issuer, broker, or dealer as those terms are defined under PCAOB rules.

[5] PCAOB Form 3, at Item 2.10.

[6] The term "issuer" means an issuer (as defined in Section 3 of the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934 ("Exchange Act")), the securities of which are registered under Section 12 of the Exchange Act, or that is required to file reports under Section 15(d) of the Exchange Act, or that files or has filed a registration statement that has not yet become effective under the Securities Act of 1933, and that it has not withdrawn. See PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

proceeding also arose out of the Firm's audit of a Spanish company that is not an issuer. The proceeding concluded no later than June 20, 2013.

7. In violation of Rule 2203, the Firm did not report the initiation and conclusion of these proceedings until June 25, 2015, approximately four years and four months after it became aware of the initiation of the proceedings, approximately three months after learning of the conclusion of the first proceeding, and approximately two years after learning of the conclusion of the second proceeding.

8. The Firm's internal compliance and reporting systems failed to identify the initiation and resolution of the proceedings before ICAC as being reportable to the PCAOB and to provide reasonable assurance of timely reporting pursuant to PCAOB rules.

IV.

9. The Firm has represented to the Board that, since the events described in this Order, it has established and implemented the following changes to its policies and procedures for the purpose of providing the Firm with reasonable assurance of compliance with PCAOB reporting requirements:

a. The Firm has revised and supplemented its policies and procedures for the purpose of providing the Firm with reasonable assurance of compliance with PCAOB reporting requirements, including policies and procedures providing reasonable assurance that reportable events are identified by Firm personnel who participate in the Firm's PCAOB reporting process and that those events are reported on the applicable PCAOB form in a timely and complete manner;

b. The Firm has established policies to ensure training concerning PCAOB reporting requirements, at least annually, of any Firm personnel who participate in the Firm's PCAOB reporting process; and

c. The Firm has assigned the role of compliance with PCAOB reporting matters to an individual within the Firm who possesses adequate knowledge and experience with PCAOB reporting requirements and sufficient authority within the Firm to fulfill those requirements on behalf of the Firm.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

V.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondent's Offer. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), the Firm is hereby censured; and

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of $10,000 is imposed upon the Firm. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of this civil money penalty will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. The Firm shall pay this civil money penalty within ten (10) days of the issuance of this Order by (1) wire transfer pursuant to instructions provided by Board staff; or (2) United States Postal Service money order, bank money order, certified check, or bank cashier's check (a) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, (b) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, and (c) submitted under a cover letter, which identifies the Firm as a respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB release number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe W. Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

March 29, 2017

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street, N.W.
Washington, DC 20006
Telephone: (202) 207-9100
Facsimile: (202) 862-0757
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of Grant Thornton Daejoo, Respondent.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-011 March 29, 2017

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("Board" or "PCAOB") is censuring Grant Thornton Daejoo ("Firm," "Daejoo," or "Respondent") (formerly BDO Daejoo), a registered public accounting firm, and imposing a civil money penalty in the amount of $10,000 upon the Firm. The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that the Firm failed to timely disclose certain reportable events to the Board on PCAOB Form 3, Special Report, in violation of PCAOB rules.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondent.

II.

In anticipation of institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondent has submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offer") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over Respondent and the subject matter of these proceedings, which are admitted,

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

Respondent consents to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[1]

III.

On the basis of Respondent's Offer, the Board finds that:

A. Respondent

1. Grant Thornton Daejoo is a limited liability corporation organized under the laws of the Republic of Korea, and headquartered in Seoul, Republic of Korea. The Firm is a member of the Grant Thornton International Limited network. Daejoo was formerly named BDO Daejoo LLC. On May 29, 2016, BDO Daejoo LLC filed a special report on Form 3 disclosing that it had terminated its member firm agreement with BDO International Limited, initiated a new member firm agreement with Grant Thornton International Limited, and changed its name to Grant Thornton Daejoo. At all relevant times, the Firm has been registered with the Board pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules. As of its 2016 Annual Report on PCAOB Form 2, the Firm had 331 accountants, did not issue an audit report for an issuer during the reporting period, and did not play a substantial role in the preparation or furnishing of an audit report for an issuer that was issued during the reporting period. The Firm is licensed in the Republic of Korea by the Ministry of Finance and Economy (license no. 87).

B. Summary

2. This matter concerns the Firm's failures to timely disclose seven reportable events to the Board on Form 3 as required by PCAOB rules. PCAOB rules required the Firm to complete and file a PCAOB special report on Form 3 to report any event specified in that form within 30 days of the event's occurrence. Among the events that the Firm needed to report on Form 3 was its becoming a respondent in certain disciplinary proceedings.

3. In 2014 and 2015, the Firm became a respondent in seven separate disciplinary proceedings: three initiated by the Securities and Futures Commission of the Republic of Korea, three initiated by the Trust Supervision Commission of the Republic of Korea, and one initiated by the Korean Institute of Certified Public Accountants. Each of those seven proceedings involved a reportable event under Form 3. The Firm failed to file a Form 3 reporting one of the proceedings for over a year after learning of the initiation of that proceeding, and failed to report the other six proceedings

[1] The findings herein are made pursuant to the Respondent's Offer and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

on Form 3 until months after learning of the initiation of those proceedings, and well after the 30-day reporting deadline.

C. Respondent Failed to Timely Disclose Certain Reportable Events to the Board, in Violation of PCAOB Rules

4. PCAOB Rule 2203 provides that a registered public accounting firm must file a special report on Form 3 to report any event specified in that form within thirty days of the event's occurrence.[2] One such specified event occurs when a firm "has become aware that, in a matter arising out of the Firm's conduct in the course of providing professional services for a client, the Firm has become a defendant or respondent in a civil or alternative dispute resolution proceeding initiated by a governmental entity or in an administrative or disciplinary proceeding other than a Board disciplinary proceeding."[3]

The Firm Failed to Timely Disclose the Initiation of Seven Reportable Events

5. During 2014, the Firm became aware that it had become a respondent in four separate disciplinary proceedings. Each of the proceedings arose out of the Firm's audit of one or more Korean companies that were not issuers.[4] The Firm learned of each of the proceedings on or about the following dates:

- Proceeding 1 June 24, 2014

---

[2] See PCAOB Rule 2203, Special Reports. As the Board noted when adopting its rules on special reporting, "[R]eportable events will sometimes occur, and the public interest, as well as the ability to consider whether prompt action is warranted by the Board's inspection staff or enforcement staff, will be served by contemporaneous reporting of the event." PCAOB Rel. No. 2008-004, at 17 (June 10, 2008).

[3] PCAOB Form 3, at Item 2.7 (italics in the original removed). To be reportable under Item 2.7, the proceeding only has to relate to professional services for a client, and does not necessarily have to involve an audit of an issuer, broker, or dealer as those terms are defined under PCAOB rules.

[4] The term "issuer" means an issuer (as defined in Section 3 of the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934 (the "Exchange Act")), the securities of which are registered under Section 12 of the Exchange Act, or that is required to file reports under Section 15(d) of the Exchange Act, or that files or has filed a registration statement that has not yet become effective under the Securities Act of 1933, and that it has not withdrawn. See PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

- Proceeding 2 November 5, 2014
- Proceeding 3 November 5, 2014
- Proceeding 4 December 18, 2014

6. In violation of Rule 2203, the Firm failed to file a Form 3 with respect to the four proceedings described above until June 22, 2015, nearly a year after learning of the initiation of the first proceeding and several months after learning of the initiation of each of the second, third, and fourth proceedings.

7. During 2015, the Firm became aware that it had become a respondent in three additional disciplinary proceedings. Each of the proceedings arose out of the Firm's audit of one or more Korean companies that were not issuers. The Firm learned of each of the proceedings on or about the following dates:

- Proceeding 5 April 27, 2015
- Proceeding 6 September 23, 2015
- Proceeding 7 November 3, 2015

8. In violation of Rule 2203, the Firm failed to file a Form 3 with respect to Proceeding Six until June 6, 2016, and failed to file a Form 3 with respect to Proceedings Five and Seven until August 8, 2016. The Firm filed those Forms 3 months (and in one case over a year) after learning of the initiation of each of those proceedings.

Failures in the Firm's Internal System of Compliance

9. The Firm's internal compliance and reporting systems failed to identify the initiation of the seven proceedings described above as being reportable to the PCAOB.

IV.

10. The Firm has represented to the Board that, since the events described in this Order, it has established and implemented the following changes to its policies and procedures for the purpose of providing the Firm with reasonable assurance of compliance with PCAOB reporting requirements:

a. The Firm has revised and supplemented its policies and procedures for the purpose of providing the Firm with reasonable assurance of

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

compliance with PCAOB reporting requirements, including policies and procedures providing reasonable assurance that reportable events are identified by Firm personnel who participate in the Firm's PCAOB reporting process and that those events are reported on the applicable PCAOB form in a timely and complete manner;

b. The Firm has established policies to ensure training concerning PCAOB reporting requirements, at least annually, of any Firm personnel who participate in the Firm's PCAOB reporting process; and

c. The Firm has assigned the role of compliance with PCAOB reporting matters to an individual within the Firm who possesses adequate knowledge and experience with PCAOB reporting requirements and sufficient authority within the Firm to fulfill those requirements on behalf of the Firm.

V.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondent's Offer. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), the Firm is hereby censured; and

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of $10,000 is imposed upon the Firm. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of this civil money penalty will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. The Firm shall pay this civil money penalty within ten (10) days of the issuance of this Order by (1) wire transfer pursuant to instructions provided by Board staff; or (2) United States Postal Service money order, bank money order, certified check, or bank cashier's check (a) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, (b) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, and (c) submitted under a cover letter, which identifies the Firm as a respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB release number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to Office of the Secretary,

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

Attention: Phoebe W. Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

March 29, 2017

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street, N.W.
Washington, DC 20006
Telephone: (202) 207-9100
Facsimile: (202) 862-0757
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of Grant Thornton Fast & ABS Auditores y Consultores Ltda., Respondent.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-012 March 29, 2017

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("Board" or "PCAOB") is: (1) censuring Grant Thornton Fast & ABS Auditores y Consultores Ltda. ("Firm" or "Respondent"), a registered public accounting firm; (2) imposing a civil money penalty in the amount of $10,000 upon the Firm; and (3) in the event that the Board grants any future registration application by the Firm,[1] requiring the Firm to undertake certain remedial measures, including measures to establish policies and procedures directed toward ensuring compliance with PCAOB reporting requirements. The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that the Firm failed to timely disclose certain reportable events to the Board on PCAOB Form 3, Special Report, in violation of PCAOB rules.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondent.

[1] The Firm has filed a Form 1-WD seeking leave to withdraw from registration with the Board, which the Board has determined to grant as of the date of this Order.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

II.

In anticipation of institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondent has submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offer") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over Respondent and the subject matter of these proceedings, which is admitted, Respondent consents to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[2]

III.

On the basis of Respondent's Offer, the Board finds that:

A. Respondent

1. Grant Thornton Fast & ABS Auditores y Consultores Ltda. is, and at all relevant times was, a limited liability partnership organized under Colombian law, and headquartered in Bogota, Colombia. The Firm is a member of the Grant Thornton International Limited network. At all relevant times, the Firm has been registered with the Board pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules. As of its 2015 Annual Report on PCAOB Form 2, the Firm had 174 accountants, did not issue an audit report for an issuer during the reporting period, and played a substantial role in the preparation or furnishing of an audit report for one issuer that was issued during the reporting period.

B. Summary

2. This matter concerns the Firm's failures to timely disclose two reportable events to the Board on Form 3 as required by PCAOB rules. PCAOB rules required the Firm to complete and file a PCAOB special report on Form 3 to report any event specified in that form within 30 days of the event's occurrence. Among the events that the Firm needed to report on Form 3 was its becoming a respondent in certain disciplinary proceedings.

---

[2] The findings herein are made pursuant to the Respondent's Offer and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

3. In 2012 and 2013, the Firm became a respondent in two separate disciplinary proceedings, one proceeding initiated by the Disciplinary Panel of the Colombian Central Board of Accountants and the second proceeding initiated by the Superintendence of Companies. Each of the two proceedings was a reportable event under Form 3. With respect to the first proceeding, the Firm failed to file a Form 3 reporting the proceeding until approximately three years after learning of the initiation of the proceeding, and well after the 30-day reporting deadline. With respect to the second proceeding, the Firm failed to file a Form 3 reporting the proceeding until approximately two years after learning of the initiation of the proceeding.

C. Respondent Failed to Timely Disclose Certain Reportable Events to the Board, in Violation of PCAOB Rules

4. PCAOB Rule 2203 provides that a registered public accounting firm must file a special report on Form 3 to report any event specified in that form within thirty days of the event's occurrence.[3] One such specified event occurs when a firm "has become aware that, in a matter arising out of the Firm's conduct in the course of providing professional services for a client, the Firm has become a defendant or respondent in a civil or alternative dispute resolution proceeding initiated by a governmental entity or in an administrative or disciplinary proceeding other than a Board disciplinary proceeding."[4] With respect to two such events, the Firm failed to timely file a Form 3 with the Board.

5. On or about November 22, 2012, the Firm became aware that it had become a respondent in a proceeding initiated by the Disciplinary Panel of the

---

[3] See PCAOB Rule 2203, Special Reports. As the Board noted when adopting its rules on special reporting, "[R]eportable events will sometimes occur, and the public interest, as well as the ability to consider whether prompt action is warranted by the Board's inspection staff or enforcement staff, will be served by contemporaneous reporting of the event." PCAOB Rel. No. 2008-004, at 17 (June 10, 2008).

[4] PCAOB Form 3, at Item 2.7 (italics in the original removed). To be reportable under Item 2.7, the proceeding only has to relate to professional services for a client, and does not necessarily have to involve an audit of an issuer, broker, or dealer as those terms are defined under PCAOB rules.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

Colombian Central Board of Accountants. The proceeding arose out of the Firm's audit of a Colombian company that was not an issuer.[5]

6. On or about November 11, 2013, the Firm became aware that it had become a respondent in a proceeding initiated by the Superintendence of Companies. That proceeding also arose out of the Firm's audit of a Colombian company that was not an issuer.

7. In violation of Rule 2203, the Firm failed to file a Form 3 with respect to the two proceedings described above until November 23, 2015, approximately three years after learning of the initiation of the first proceeding and two years after learning of the initiation of the second proceeding.

8. The Firm's internal compliance and reporting systems failed to identify the initiation of the proceedings described above as being reportable to the PCAOB.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondent's Offer. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), the Firm is hereby censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of $10,000 is imposed upon the Firm. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of this civil money penalty will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. The Firm shall pay this civil money penalty within ten (10) days of the issuance of this Order by (1) wire transfer pursuant to instructions provided by Board staff; or (2) United States Postal Service money order, bank money order, certified check, or bank cashier's check (a) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, (b) delivered

[5] The term "issuer" means an issuer (as defined in Section 3 of the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934 (the "Exchange Act")), the securities of which are registered under Section 12 of the Exchange Act, or that is required to file reports under Section 15(d) of the Exchange Act, or that files or has filed a registration statement that has not yet become effective under the Securities Act of 1933, and that it has not withdrawn. See PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, and (c) submitted under a cover letter, which identifies the Firm as a respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB release number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe W. Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006; and

C. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(G) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(9), the Firm, should the Board grant any future application of the Firm for registration, is required:

1. within ninety (90) days from the date of the Board grants any future application of the Firm for registration ("Future Registration Date"), to establish policies and procedures, or revise and/or supplement existing policies and procedures, for the purpose of providing the Firm with reasonable assurance of compliance with PCAOB reporting requirements, including policies and procedures providing reasonable assurance that reportable events are identified by Firm personnel who participate in the Firm's PCAOB reporting process and that those events are reported on the applicable PCAOB form in a timely and complete manner;

2. within ninety (90) days from the Future Registration Date, to establish policies to ensure training concerning PCAOB reporting requirements, at least annually, of any Firm personnel who participate in the Firm's PCAOB reporting process;

3. within ninety (90) days from the Future Registration Date, to assign the role of compliance with PCAOB reporting matters to an individual within the Firm who possesses adequate knowledge and experience with PCAOB reporting requirements and sufficient authority within the Firm to fulfill those requirements on behalf of the Firm; and

4. within one hundred twenty (120) days from the Future Registration Date, to have the individual referenced in paragraph C.3 above certify in writing to the Director of the Division of Enforcement and Investigations, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, the Firm's compliance with paragraphs C.1 through C.3 above. The certification shall identify

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

the undertakings, provide written evidence of compliance in the form of a narrative, and be supported by exhibits sufficient to demonstrate compliance. The Firm shall also submit such additional evidence of and information concerning compliance as the staff of the Division of Enforcement and Investigations may reasonably request.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

March 29, 2017

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street, N.W.
Washington, DC 20006
Telephone: (202) 207-9100
Facsimile: (202) 862-0757
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of KPMG Auditores Independentes, Respondent.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-013 March 29, 2017

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("Board" or "PCAOB") is censuring KPMG Auditores Independentes ("Firm" or "Respondent"), a registered public accounting firm, and imposing a civil money penalty in the amount of $15,000 upon the Firm. The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that the Firm failed to timely disclose certain reportable events to the Board on PCAOB Form 3, Special Report, in violation of PCAOB rules.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondent.

II.

In anticipation of institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondent has submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offer") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over Respondent and the subject matter of these proceedings, which are admitted,

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

Respondent consents to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[1]

III.

On the basis of Respondent's Offer, the Board finds that:

A. Respondent

1. KPMG Auditores Independentes is, and at all relevant times was, a partnership organized under Brazilian law, and headquartered in São Paulo, Brazil. The Firm is a member of the KPMG International Cooperative network. At all relevant times, the Firm has been registered with the Board pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules. As of its 2016 Annual Report on PCAOB Form 2, the Firm had 1,564 accountants and issued audit reports for six issuers during the reporting period. The Firm is licensed in Brazil by the State of São Paulo (license no. 2SP014428/06) and by the Commissão de Valores Mobiliários ("CVM"), the foreign auditor oversight authority in Brazil.[2]

B. Summary

2. This matter concerns the Firm's failures to timely disclose five reportable events to the Board on Form 3 as required by PCAOB rules. PCAOB rules required the Firm to complete and file a PCAOB special report on Form 3 to report any event specified in that form within 30 days of the event's occurrence. Among the events that the Firm needed to report on Form 3 were: (a) the institution of certain criminal or disciplinary proceedings against the Firm or certain of its partners; and (b) the conclusion of those criminal or disciplinary proceedings.

3. During 2014 and 2015, the Firm became aware of the institution of three proceedings against the Firm or certain of its partners. The institution of each of those proceedings was a reportable event under Form 3. The Firm failed, however, to file a

---

[1] The findings herein are made pursuant to the Respondent's Offer and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

[2] A "foreign auditor oversight authority" means any governmental body or other entity empowered by a foreign government to conduct inspections of public accounting firms or otherwise to administer or enforce laws related to the regulation of public accounting firms. See Section 2(a)(17) of the Act, 15 U.S.C. § 7201(a)(17). See also PCAOB Rule 1001(f)(iii).

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

Form 3 reporting the initiation of the proceedings until 2016, between one and three years after the proceedings were initiated and well after the 30-day reporting deadline. The Firm also failed to file a Form 3 reporting the conclusion of one of those proceedings, as well as the conclusion of another proceeding whose initiation had previously been reported, until over a year after becoming aware of the conclusion of those proceedings. When the Firm made the required filings, those filings were untimely.

C. Respondent Failed to Timely Disclose Certain Reportable Events to the Board, in Violation of PCAOB Rules

Applicable PCAOB Rules

4. PCAOB Rule 2203 provides that a registered public accounting firm must file a special report on Form 3 to report any event specified in that form within thirty days of the event's occurrence.[3] The events required to be reported include:

- A firm's "becom[ing] aware that a partner, shareholder, principal, owner, member, or audit manager of the [f]irm who provided at least ten hours of audit services for any issuer, broker, or dealer during the [f]irm's current fiscal year or its most recently completed fiscal year has become a defendant in a criminal proceeding prosecuted by a governmental criminal law enforcement authority and is charged with fraud, embezzlement, forgery, extortion, bribery, obstruction of justice, perjury, or false statements; or charged with a crime arising out of alleged conduct related to accounting, auditing, securities, banking, commodities, taxation, consumer protection, or insurance" ("Item 2.6 Proceeding");[4]

- A firm's "becom[ing] aware that, in a matter arising out of the [f]irm's conduct in the course of providing professional services for a client, the [f]irm has become a defendant or respondent in a civil or alternative dispute resolution proceeding initiated by a governmental entity or in an

---

[3] See PCAOB Rule 2203, Special Reports. As the Board noted when adopting its rules on special reporting, "[R]eportable events will sometimes occur, and the public interest, as well as the ability to consider whether prompt action is warranted by the Board's inspection staff or enforcement staff, will be served by contemporaneous reporting of the event." PCAOB Rel. No. 2008-004, at 17 (June 10, 2008).

[4] PCAOB Form 3, Item 2.6 (italics in the original omitted).

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

administrative or disciplinary proceeding other than a Board disciplinary proceeding" ("Item 2.7 Proceeding");[5]

- A firm's "becom[ing] aware that, in a matter arising out of his or her conduct in the course of providing professional services for a client, a partner, shareholder, principal, owner, member, or audit manager of the [f]irm who provided at least ten hours of audit services for any issuer, broker, or dealer during the [f]irm's current fiscal year or its most recently completed fiscal year has become a defendant or respondent in a civil or alternative dispute resolution proceeding initiated by a governmental entity or in an administrative or disciplinary proceeding other than a Board disciplinary proceeding" ("Item 2.9 Proceeding");[6] and

- A firm's "becom[ing] aware that [an Item 2.6 Proceeding, Item 2.7 Proceeding, or Item 2.9 Proceeding, among others] has been concluded as to the Firm or a partner, shareholder, principal, owner, member, or audit manager of the Firm."[7]

Reportable Proceedings Disclosed on September 19, 2016

5. First, on or about June 30, 2014, the Firm became aware that the Public Prosecutor's Office of the State of São Paulo had initiated a proceeding against the Firm in the First Bankruptcy Court of São Paulo in connection with the Firm's audit of a Brazilian client that was not an issuer.[8] That proceeding qualified as an Item 2.7 Proceeding.

6. Second, on March 12, 2015, the Firm became aware that a criminal proceeding had been instituted in the Federal Criminal Court of São Paulo against two

---

[5] Id., Item 2.7 (italics in the original omitted).

[6] Id., Item 2.9 (italics in the original omitted).

[7] Id., Item 2.10 (italics in the original omitted).

[8] The term "issuer" means an issuer (as defined in Section 3 of the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934 (the "Exchange Act")), the securities of which are registered under Section 12 of the Exchange Act, or that is required to file reports under Section 15(d) of the Exchange Act, or that files or has filed a registration statement that has not yet become effective under the Securities Act of 1933, and that it has not withdrawn. See PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

Firm partners in connection with the Firm's audit of a Brazilian client that was not an issuer. That proceeding qualified as an Item 2.6 Proceeding.[9]

7. In violation of Rule 2203, the Firm did not report the initiation of these proceedings until September 19, 2016, over two years and one year, respectively, after it became aware of the initiation of the proceedings.

Reportable Proceedings Disclosed on November 14, 2016

8. First, on April 14, 2014, the Firm became aware that the CVM had instituted an administrative proceeding against a Firm partner in connection with his provision of professional services to a client that was not an issuer. That proceeding qualified as an Item 2.9 Proceeding. On or about May 7, 2015, the Firm became aware that the proceeding concluded.

9. Second, or about May 26, 2015, the Firm became aware that a CVM administrative proceeding against the Firm and two of its partners in connection with the Firm's audit of a non-issuer client (which qualified as both an Item 2.7 Proceeding and an Item 2.9 Proceeding and whose initiation had previously been reported) had concluded.

10. In violation of Rule 2203, the Firm failed to file a Form 3 with respect to the initiation and conclusion of the first proceeding and the conclusion of the second proceeding until November 14, 2016, between one and three years after learning of the reportable events.

Failures in the Firm's Internal System of Compliance

11. The Firm's internal compliance and reporting systems failed to identify the initiation and/or conclusion of the proceedings described above as being reportable to the PCAOB and to provide reasonable assurance of timely reporting pursuant to PCAOB rules.

[9] In its September 19, 2016 Form 3, the Firm identified the criminal proceeding against its partners as reportable pursuant to Form 3, Item 2.5. The Firm subsequently filed an amendment on Form 3/A identifying the proceeding as an Item 2.6 Proceeding.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

IV.

12. The Firm has represented to the Board that, since the events described in this Order, it has established and implemented the following changes to its policies and procedures for the purpose of providing the Firm with reasonable assurance of compliance with PCAOB reporting requirements:

a. The Firm has revised and supplemented its policies and procedures for the purpose of providing the Firm with reasonable assurance of compliance with PCAOB reporting requirements, including policies and procedures providing reasonable assurance that reportable events are identified by Firm personnel who participate in the Firm's PCAOB reporting process and that those events are reported on the applicable PCAOB form in a timely and complete manner;

b. The Firm has established policies to ensure training concerning PCAOB reporting requirements, at least annually, of any Firm personnel who participate in the Firm's PCAOB reporting process; and

c. The Firm has assigned the role of compliance with PCAOB reporting matters to an individual within the Firm who possesses adequate knowledge and experience with PCAOB reporting requirements and sufficient authority within the Firm to fulfill those requirements on behalf of the Firm.

V.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondent's Offer. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), the Firm is hereby censured; and

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of $15,000 is imposed upon the Firm. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of this civil money penalty will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. The Firm shall pay this civil money penalty within ten (10) days of the issuance of this Order by (1) wire transfer pursuant to instructions provided by Board staff; or (2) United States Postal Service money order,

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

bank money order, certified check, or bank cashier's check (a) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, (b) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, and (c) submitted under a cover letter, which identifies the Firm as a respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB release number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe W. Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

March 29, 2017

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street, N.W.
Washington, DC 20006
Telephone: (202) 207-9100
Facsimile: (202) 862-0757
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of Nexia Samduk, Respondent.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-014 March 29, 2017

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("Board" or "PCAOB") is censuring Nexia Samduk ("Firm" or "Respondent"), a registered public accounting firm, imposing a civil money penalty in the amount of $10,000 upon the Firm, and requiring the Firm to undertake certain remedial measures, including measures to establish policies and procedures directed toward ensuring compliance with PCAOB reporting requirements. The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that the Firm failed to timely disclose certain reportable events to the Board on PCAOB Form 3, Special Report, in violation of PCAOB rules.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondent.

II.

In anticipation of institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondent has submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offer") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over Respondent and the subject matter of these proceedings, which are admitted,

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

Respondent consents to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[1]

III.

On the basis of Respondent's Offer, the Board finds that:

A. Respondent

1. Nexia Samduk is, and at all relevant times was, a limited liability corporation organized under the laws of the Republic of Korea, and headquartered in Seoul, Republic of Korea. The Firm is a member of the Nexia International Limited network. At all relevant times, the Firm has been registered with the Board pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules. As of its 2016 Annual Report on PCAOB Form 2, the Firm had 22 accountants, did not issue an audit report for an issuer during the reporting period, and did not play a substantial role in the preparation or furnishing of an audit report for an issuer that was issued during the reporting period. The Firm is licensed in the Republic of Korea by the Ministry of Finance and Economy (license no. 25).

B. Summary

2. This matter concerns the Firm's failures to timely disclose six reportable events to the Board on Form 3 as required by PCAOB rules. PCAOB rules required the Firm to complete and file a PCAOB special report on Form 3 to report any event specified in that form within 30 days of the event's occurrence. Among the events that the Firm needed to report on Form 3 was its becoming a respondent in certain disciplinary proceedings.

3. In 2014 and 2015, the Firm became a respondent in six separate disciplinary proceedings; two initiated by the Securities and Futures Commission of the Republic of Korea and four initiated by the Korean Institute of Certified Public Accountants. Each of those six proceedings involved a reportable event under Form 3. The Firm failed to file a Form 3 reporting the proceedings until months after learning of the initiation of the proceedings, and well after the 30-day reporting deadline.

[1] The findings herein are made pursuant to the Respondent's Offer and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

C. Respondent Failed to Timely Disclose Certain Reportable Events to the Board, in Violation of PCAOB Rules

4. PCAOB Rule 2203 provides that a registered public accounting firm must file a special report on Form 3 to report any event specified in that form within thirty days of the event's occurrence.[2] One such specified event occurs when a firm "has become aware that, in a matter arising out of the Firm's conduct in the course of providing professional services for a client, the Firm has become a defendant or respondent in a civil or alternative dispute resolution proceeding initiated by a governmental entity or in an administrative or disciplinary proceeding other than a Board disciplinary proceeding" ("Item 2.7 Proceeding").[3] With respect to six such events involving Item 2.7 Proceedings, the Firm failed to timely file a Form 3 with the Board.

5. During 2014 and 2015, the Firm became aware that it had become a respondent in six separate disciplinary proceedings. Each of the proceedings arose out of the Firm's audit of one or more Korean companies that were not issuers.[4] The Firm learned of each of the proceedings on or about the following dates:

- Proceeding 1 February 14, 2014

---

[2] See PCAOB Rule 2203, Special Reports. As the Board noted when adopting its rules on special reporting, "[R]eportable events will sometimes occur, and the public interest, as well as the ability to consider whether prompt action is warranted by the Board's inspection staff or enforcement staff, will be served by contemporaneous reporting of the event." PCAOB Rel. No. 2008-004, at 17 (June 10, 2008).

[3] PCAOB Form 3, at Item 2.7 (italics in the original removed). To be reportable under Item 2.7, the proceeding only has to relate to professional services for a client, and does not necessarily have to involve an audit of an issuer, broker, or dealer as those terms are defined under PCAOB rules.

[4] The term "issuer" means an issuer (as defined in Section 3 of the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934 (the "Exchange Act")), the securities of which are registered under Section 12 of the Exchange Act, or that is required to file reports under Section 15(d) of the Exchange Act, or that files or has filed a registration statement that has not yet become effective under the Securities Act of 1933, and that it has not withdrawn. See PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

- Proceeding 2 December 2, 2014
- Proceeding 3 December 12, 2014
- Proceeding 4 January 15, 2015
- Proceeding 5 January 15, 2015
- Proceeding 6 April 28, 2015

6. In violation of Rule 2203, the Firm failed to file a Form 3 with respect to Proceeding 1 above until June 27, 2015, months after learning of the initiation of the proceeding. Additionally, in violation of Rule 2203, the Firm failed to file a Form 3 with respect to the other five proceedings described above until June 29, 2015, months after learning of the initiation of each of those proceedings.

Failures in the Firm's Internal System of Compliance

7. The Firm's internal compliance and reporting systems failed to identify the initiation of the six proceedings described above as being reportable to the PCAOB.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondent's Offer. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), the Firm is hereby censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of $10,000 is imposed upon the Firm. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of this civil money penalty will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. The Firm shall pay this civil money penalty within ten (10) days of the issuance of this Order by (1) wire transfer pursuant to instructions provided by Board staff; or (2) United States Postal Service money order, bank money order, certified check, or bank cashier's check (a) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, (b) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, and (c) submitted under a cover

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

letter, which identifies the Firm as a respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB release number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe W. Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006; and

C. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(G) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(9), the Firm is required:

1. within ninety (90) days from the date of this Order, to establish policies and procedures, or revise and/or supplement existing policies and procedures, for the purpose of providing the Firm with reasonable assurance of compliance with PCAOB reporting requirements, including policies and procedures providing reasonable assurance that reportable events are identified by Firm personnel who participate in the Firm's PCAOB reporting process and that those events are reported on the applicable PCAOB form in a timely and complete manner;

2. within ninety (90) days from the date of this Order, to establish policies to ensure training concerning PCAOB reporting requirements, at least annually, of any Firm personnel who participate in the Firm's PCAOB reporting process;

3. within ninety (90) days from the date of this Order, to assign the role of compliance with PCAOB reporting matters to an individual within the Firm who possesses adequate knowledge and experience with PCAOB reporting requirements and sufficient authority within the Firm to fulfill those requirements on behalf of the Firm; and

4. within one hundred twenty (120) days from the date of this Order, to have the individual referenced in paragraph C.3 above certify in writing to the Director of the Division of Enforcement and Investigations, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, the Firm's compliance with paragraphs C.1 through C.3 above. The certification shall identify the undertakings, provide written evidence of compliance in the form of a narrative, and be supported by exhibits sufficient to demonstrate compliance. The Firm shall also submit such additional evidence of and information concerning compliance as

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

the staff of the Division of Enforcement and Investigations may reasonably request.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

March 29, 2017

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street, N.W.
Washington, DC 20006
Telephone: (202) 207-9100
Facsimile: (202) 862-0757
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of Price Waterhouse & Co. S.R.L., Respondent.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-015 March 29, 2017

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("Board" or "PCAOB") is censuring Price Waterhouse & Co. S.R.L. ("Firm" or "Respondent"), a registered public accounting firm, imposing a civil money penalty in the amount of $25,000 upon the Firm, and requiring the Firm to undertake certain remedial measures, including measures to establish policies and procedures directed toward ensuring compliance with PCAOB reporting requirements. The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that the Firm failed to timely disclose certain reportable events to the Board on PCAOB Form 3, Special Report, in violation of PCAOB rules.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondent.

II.

In anticipation of institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondent has submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offer") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over Respondent and the subject matter of these proceedings, which are admitted, Respondent consents to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[1]

III.

On the basis of Respondent's Offer, the Board finds that:

A. Respondent

1. Price Waterhouse & Co. S.R.L. is, and at all relevant times was, a limited liability partnership organized under Argentinian law, and headquartered in Buenos Aires, Argentina. The Firm is a member of the PricewaterhouseCoopers International Limited network. At all relevant times, the Firm has been registered with the Board pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules. As of its 2016 Annual Report on PCAOB Form 2, the Firm had 843 accountants, issued audit reports for 13 issuers during the reporting period, and did not play a substantial role in the preparation or furnishing of an audit report for an issuer that was issued during the reporting period. The Firm is licensed by different entities in several jurisdictions within Argentina.

B. Summary

2. This matter concerns the Firm's failures to timely disclose eight reportable events to the Board on Form 3 as required by PCAOB rules. PCAOB rules required the Firm to complete and file a PCAOB special report on Form 3 to report any event specified in that form within 30 days of the event's occurrence. Among the events that the Firm needed to report on Form 3 were (a) a partner of the Firm becoming a respondent in certain disciplinary proceedings; and (b) the conclusion of certain disciplinary proceedings in which a partner of the Firm had been a respondent.

3. From 2010 to 2015, partners of the Firm became respondents in eight separate disciplinary proceedings in Argentina. Each of those eight proceedings involved one or more reportable events under Form 3. With respect to four of the proceedings, the Firm failed to file a Form 3 reporting the proceedings until months, and in one case almost two years, after learning of the initiation of the proceedings, and well after the 30-day reporting deadline. Additionally, with respect to the other four proceedings, the Firm failed to file a Form 3 reporting the conclusion of the proceedings until over two years after becoming aware of the conclusion of the proceedings.

---

[1] The findings herein are made pursuant to the Respondent's Offer and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

C. Respondent Failed to Timely Disclose Certain Reportable Events to the Board, in Violation of PCAOB Rules

4. PCAOB Rule 2203 provides that a registered public accounting firm must file a special report on Form 3 to report any event specified in that form within thirty days of the event's occurrence.[2] One such specified event occurs when a firm "has become aware that, in a matter arising out of his or her conduct in the course of providing professional services for a client, a partner, shareholder, principal, owner, member, or audit manager of the Firm who provided at least ten hours of audit services for any issuer, broker, or dealer during the Firm's current fiscal year or its most recently completed fiscal year has become a defendant or respondent in a civil or alternative dispute resolution proceeding initiated by a governmental entity or in an administrative or disciplinary proceeding other than a Board disciplinary proceeding" ("Item 2.9 Proceeding").[3] Another such specified event occurs when a firm "has become aware that" an Item 2.9 Proceeding "has been concluded."[4] With respect to eight such events involving eight Item 2.9 Proceedings, the Firm failed to timely file a Form 3 with the Board.

The Firm Failed to Timely Disclose the Initiation of Four Reportable Events

5. During 2014 and 2015, the Firm became aware that partners of the Firm had become respondents in four separate disciplinary proceedings: two proceedings before the Comisión Nacional de Valores ("CNV"), one proceeding before the Consejo Profesional de Ciencias Económicas de la Ciudad Autónoma de Buenos Aires, and one proceeding before the Superintendencia de Seguros de la Nación. Each of the proceedings arose out of the Firm's provision of non-audit professional services to an Argentinian company that was not an issuer.[5] The Firm learned of each of the proceedings on or about the following dates:

---

[2] See PCAOB Rule 2203, Special Reports. As the Board noted when adopting its rules on special reporting, "[R]eportable events will sometimes occur, and the public interest, as well as the ability to consider whether prompt action is warranted by the Board's inspection staff or enforcement staff, will be served by contemporaneous reporting of the event." PCAOB Rel. No. 2008-004, at 17 (June 10, 2008).

[3] PCAOB Form 3, at Item 2.9 (italics in the original removed).

[4] PCAOB Form 3, at Item 2.10.

[5] The term "issuer" means an issuer (as defined in Section 3 of the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934 (the "Exchange Act")), the securities of which are registered under Section 12 of the Exchange Act, or that is required to file reports under Section 15(d) of the Exchange Act, or that files or has filed a registration statement that

ORDER

- Proceeding 1 January 15, 2014
- Proceeding 2 May 14, 2015
- Proceeding 3 August 13, 2015
- Proceeding 4 October 5, 2015

6. In violation of Rule 2203, the Firm failed to file a Form 3 with respect to the four proceedings described above until November 26, 2015, months, and in the case of Proceeding 1 almost two years, after learning of the initiation of those four proceedings.

The Firm Failed to Timely Disclose the Conclusion of Four Reportable Events

7. During 2010, 2014, and 2015, the Firm became aware that four separate disciplinary proceedings in which partners of the Firm were respondents had concluded: three proceedings before the CNV and one proceeding before the Banco Central de la República Argentina. Each of the proceedings arose out of the Firm's provision of non-audit professional services to an Argentinian company that was not an issuer. The Firm learned of the conclusion of each of the proceedings on or about the following dates:

- Proceeding 5 January 28, 2010
- Proceeding 6 July 2, 2014
- Proceeding 7 December 10, 2014
- Proceeding 8 September 21, 2015

8. In violation of Rule 2203, the Firm failed to file a Form 3 with respect to the Proceedings 5 through 8 until November 26, 2015, months, and in the case of Proceeding 5 almost six years, after learning of the conclusion of those four proceedings.

Failures in the Firm's Internal System of Compliance

9. The Firm's internal compliance and reporting systems failed to identify the initiation of the proceedings described above as being reportable to the PCAOB. In has not yet become effective under the Securities Act of 1933, and that it has not withdrawn. See PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

---

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

addition, the Firm's systems failed to identify the conclusion of the proceedings described above as being reportable to the PCAOB. As a result, the Firm inappropriately delayed, sometimes for years, notifying the PCAOB of the initiation and/or conclusion of disciplinary proceedings.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondent's Offer. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), the Firm is hereby censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of $25,000 is imposed upon the Firm. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of this civil money penalty will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. The Firm shall pay this civil money penalty within ten (10) days of the issuance of this Order by (1) wire transfer pursuant to instructions provided by Board staff; or (2) United States Postal Service money order, bank money order, certified check, or bank cashier's check (a) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, (b) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, and (c) submitted under a cover letter, which identifies the Firm as a respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB release number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe W. Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006; and

C. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(G) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(9), the Firm is required:

1. within ninety (90) days from the date of this Order, to establish policies and procedures, or revise and/or supplement existing policies and procedures, for the purpose of providing the Firm with reasonable assurance of compliance with PCAOB reporting requirements, including policies and procedures providing reasonable assurance that reportable events are identified by Firm

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

personnel who participate in the Firm's PCAOB reporting process and that those events are reported on the applicable PCAOB form in a timely and complete manner;

2. within ninety (90) days from the date of this Order, to establish policies to ensure training concerning PCAOB reporting requirements, at least annually, of any Firm personnel who participate in the Firm's PCAOB reporting process;

3. within ninety (90) days from the date of this Order, to assign the role of compliance with PCAOB reporting matters to an individual within the Firm who possesses adequate knowledge and experience with PCAOB reporting requirements and sufficient authority within the Firm to fulfill those requirements on behalf of the Firm; and

4. within one hundred twenty (120) days from the date of this Order, to have the individual referenced in paragraph C.3 above certify in writing to the Director of the Division of Enforcement and Investigations, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, the Firm's compliance with paragraphs C.1 through C.3 above. The certification shall identify the undertakings, provide written evidence of compliance in the form of a narrative, and be supported by exhibits sufficient to demonstrate compliance. The Firm shall also submit such additional evidence of and information concerning compliance as the staff of the Division of Enforcement and Investigations may reasonably request.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

March 29, 2017

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street, N.W.
Washington, DC 20006
Telephone: (202) 207-9100
Facsimile: (202) 862-0757
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of PricewaterhouseCoopers Auditores, S.L., Respondent.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-016 March 29, 2017

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("Board" or "PCAOB") is (1) censuring PricewaterhouseCoopers Auditores, S.L. ("Firm" or "Respondent"), a registered public accounting firm, and (2) imposing a civil money penalty in the amount of $15,000 upon the Firm. The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that the Firm failed to timely disclose certain reportable events to the Board on PCAOB Form 3, Special Report, in violation of PCAOB rules.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondent.

II.

In anticipation of institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondent has submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offer") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over Respondent and the subject matter of these proceedings, which is admitted,

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

Respondent consents to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[1]

III.

On the basis of Respondent's Offer, the Board finds that:

A. Respondent

1. PricewaterhouseCoopers Auditores, S.L. is, and at all relevant times was, a limited liability corporation organized under Spanish law, and headquartered in Madrid, Spain. The Firm is a member of the PricewaterhouseCoopers International Limited network. At all relevant times, the Firm has been registered with the Board pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules. As of its 2016 Annual Report on PCAOB Form 2, the Firm had 879 accountants, did not issue an audit report for an issuer during the reporting period, and did not play a substantial role in the preparation or furnishing of an audit report for an issuer that was issued during the reporting period. The Firm is licensed in Spain by the Instituto de Contabilidad y Auditoria de Cuentas ("ICAC"), the foreign auditor oversight authority in Spain (license no. S0242).[2]

B. Summary

2. This matter concerns the Firm's failures to timely disclose seven reportable events to the Board on Form 3 as required by PCAOB rules. PCAOB rules required the Firm to complete and file a PCAOB special report on Form 3 to report any event specified in that form within 30 days of the event's occurrence. Among the events that the Firm needed to report on Form 3 were (a) its becoming a respondent in certain disciplinary proceedings; and (b) the conclusion of certain disciplinary proceedings in which it had been a respondent.

3. From 2012 to 2015, the Firm became a respondent in six separate disciplinary proceedings initiated by ICAC. Each of those six proceedings involved reportable events under Form 3. With respect to five of the proceedings, the Firm failed

---

[1] The findings herein are made pursuant to the Respondent's Offer and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

[2] A "foreign auditor oversight authority" means any governmental body or other entity empowered by a foreign government to conduct inspections of public accounting firms or otherwise to administer or enforce laws related to the regulation of public accounting firms. See Section 2(a)(17) of the Act, 15 U.S.C. § 7201(a)(17). See also PCAOB Rule 1001(f)(iii).

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

to file a Form 3 reporting the proceedings until approximately a year after learning of the initiation of the proceedings, and well after the 30-day reporting deadline. Additionally, with respect to the sixth ICAC proceeding, the Firm never filed a Form 3 reporting the initiation of the proceeding and failed to file a Form 3 reporting the conclusion of the proceeding until over two years after becoming aware of the conclusion of the proceeding.

C. Respondent Failed to Timely Disclose Certain Reportable Events to the Board, in Violation of PCAOB Rules

4. PCAOB Rule 2203 provides that a registered public accounting firm must file a special report on Form 3 to report any event specified in that form within thirty days of the event's occurrence.[3] One such specified event occurs when a firm "has become aware that, in a matter arising out of the Firm's conduct in the course of providing professional services for a client, the Firm has become a defendant or respondent in a civil or alternative dispute resolution proceeding initiated by a governmental entity or in an administrative or disciplinary proceeding other than a Board disciplinary proceeding" ("Item 2.7 Proceeding").[4] Another such specified event occurs when a firm "has become aware that" an Item 2.7 Proceeding "has been concluded." With respect to seven such events involving six Item 2.7 Proceedings, the Firm failed to timely file a Form 3 with the Board.

The Firm Failed to Timely Disclose the Initiation of Five Reportable Events

5. During 2014 and 2015, the Firm became aware that it had become a respondent in five separate disciplinary proceedings initiated by ICAC. Each of the

---

[3] See PCAOB Rule 2203, Special Reports. As the Board noted when adopting its rules on special reporting, "[R]eportable events will sometimes occur, and the public interest, as well as the ability to consider whether prompt action is warranted by the Board's inspection staff or enforcement staff, will be served by contemporaneous reporting of the event." PCAOB Rel. No. 2008-004, at 17 (June 10, 2008).

[4] PCAOB Form 3, at Item 2.7 (italics in the original removed). To be reportable under Item 2.7, the proceeding only has to relate to professional services for a client, and does not necessarily have to involve an audit of an issuer, broker, or dealer as those terms are defined under PCAOB rules.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

proceedings arose out of the Firm's audit of a Spanish company that was not an issuer.[5] The Firm learned of each of the proceedings on or about the following dates:

- Proceeding 1 March 11, 2014
- Proceeding 2 June 18, 2014
- Proceeding 3 July 3, 2014
- Proceeding 4 February 27, 2015
- Proceeding 5 February 27, 2015

6. In violation of Rule 2203, the Firm (a) failed to file a Form 3 with respect to the first three proceedings described above until June 30, 2015, approximately a year after learning of the initiation of each of those three proceedings; and (b) failed to file a Form 3 with respect to the fourth and fifth proceedings described above until March 26, 2016, approximately a year after learning of the initiation of each of those proceedings. The Firm filed the required Forms 3 as to Proceedings 1 through 5 only after receiving notice that ICAC had decided, pursuant to its administrative procedures, to propose a sanction on the Firm.

The Firm Failed to Timely Disclose the Initiation and Conclusion of a Proceeding

7. On or about May 9, 2012, the Firm became aware that it had become a respondent in another disciplinary proceeding initiated by ICAC. The proceeding arose out of the Firm's audit of a Spanish company that was not an issuer. In violation of Rule 2203, the Firm never reported the initiation of this proceeding in a Form 3.

8. In addition, on or about April 11, 2013, the Firm became aware that the proceeding had concluded. The Firm failed to file a Form 3 with respect to the conclusion of this proceeding, however, until June 30, 2015, over two years after learning of the conclusion of the proceeding.

---

[5] The term "issuer" means an issuer (as defined in Section 3 of the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934 (the "Exchange Act")), the securities of which are registered under Section 12 of the Exchange Act, or that is required to file reports under Section 15(d) of the Exchange Act, or that files or has filed a registration statement that has not yet become effective under the Securities Act of 1933, and that it has not withdrawn. See PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

Failure of the Firm's Reporting System

9. The Firm's reporting system failed to identify the initiation and/or conclusion of the proceedings described above as being reportable to the PCAOB.

IV.

10. The Firm has represented to the Board that, since the events described in this Order, it has established and implemented the following changes to its policies and procedures for the purpose of providing the Firm with reasonable assurance of compliance with PCAOB reporting requirements:

a. The Firm has revised and supplemented its policies and procedures for the purpose of providing the Firm with reasonable assurance of compliance with PCAOB reporting requirements, including policies and procedures providing reasonable assurance that reportable events are identified by Firm personnel who participate in the Firm's PCAOB reporting process and that those events are reported on the applicable PCAOB form in a timely and complete manner;

b. The Firm has established policies to ensure training concerning PCAOB reporting requirements, at least annually, of any Firm personnel who participate in the Firm's PCAOB reporting process; and

c. The Firm has assigned the role of compliance with PCAOB reporting matters to an individual within the Firm who possesses adequate knowledge and experience with PCAOB reporting requirements and sufficient authority within the Firm to fulfill those requirements on behalf of the Firm.

V.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondent's Offer. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), the Firm is hereby censured; and

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of $15,000 is imposed upon the Firm. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of this civil

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

money penalty will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. The Firm shall pay this civil money penalty within ten (10) days of the issuance of this Order by (1) wire transfer pursuant to instructions provided by Board staff; or (2) United States Postal Service money order, bank money order, certified check, or bank cashier's check (a) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, (b) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, and (c) submitted under a cover letter, which identifies the Firm as a respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB release number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe W. Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

March 29, 2017

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street, N.W.
Washington, DC 20006
Telephone: (202) 207-9100
Facsimile: (202) 862-0757
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS	PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-017
In the Matter of Goldstein, Zugman, Weinstein & Poole, LLC and Frederick Weinstein, CPA,	March 29, 2017
Respondents.

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("Board" or "PCAOB") is (1) censuring the registered public accounting firm Goldstein, Zugman, Weinstein & Poole, LLC ("Goldstein Zugman" or "Firm"); (2) imposing upon the Firm a civil money penalty in the amount of $10,000; (3) in the event the Board grants any future registration application by the Firm,[1] (a) requiring the Firm to undertake certain remedial measures directed toward satisfying independence criteria applicable to audits of brokers and dealers, and (b) prohibiting the Firm from accepting any new broker-dealer engagement clients for a period of one year from the date of this Order; (4) censuring Frederick Weinstein, CPA ("Weinstein"); and (5) imposing upon Weinstein a civil money penalty in the amount of $2,500. The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings (a) that the Firm violated PCAOB rules and auditing standards in connection with an audit of a registered broker-dealer client as a result of preparing for that client its financial statements and supporting schedules that were filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission ("Commission" or "SEC"), which impaired the Firm's independence, and (b) that Weinstein directly and substantially contributed to the Firm's violations of PCAOB rules and auditing standards.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended ("Act"), and

[1] The Firm filed on February 23, 2016 a Form 1-WD seeking leave to withdraw from registration with the Board, which the Board has determined to grant as of the date of this Order.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against the Firm and Weinstein ("Respondents").

II.

In anticipation of the institution of these proceedings and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondents each submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offers") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over Respondents and the subject matter of these proceedings, which is admitted, Respondents consent to the entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order").[2]

III.

On the basis of Respondents' Offers, the Board finds[3] that:

A. Respondents

1. Goldstein Zugman is, and at all relevant times was, a limited liability company organized under the laws of the state of Florida, with offices in Fort Lauderdale and Sunrise, Florida, and registered with the Board pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules. Goldstein Zugman is licensed by the Florida Board of Accountancy (license no. AD63677), the Georgia State Board of Accountancy (license no. ACF006518), the Illinois Board of Examiners (license no. 066.004798), the Maryland Board of Public Accountancy (license no. 0042156), the Michigan State Board of Accountancy (license no. 1102003887), the Montana Board of Public Accountants (license no. PAC-FIRM-LIC-23603), and the Texas State Board of Public Accountancy (license no. C08793). At all relevant times the Firm was the external auditor for the broker-dealer identified below.

2. Frederick Weinstein, 65, of Delray Beach, Florida, is a certified public accountant licensed by the Florida Board of Accountancy (license no. AC0013184). He

---

[2] The findings herein are made pursuant to Respondents' Offers and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

[3] The Board finds that Respondents' conduct described in this Order meets the conditions set out in Section 105(c)(5), which provides that certain sanctions may be imposed in the event of (i) intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, or (ii) repeated instances of negligent conduct, each resulting in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

is a partner at Goldstein Zugman. Weinstein served as the engagement partner for the Firm's audit of the 2014 financial statements of the broker-dealer identified below. Weinstein is, and at all relevant times was, an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

B. Summary

3. This matter concerns Respondents' violations of PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the Firm's audit of the 2014 financial statements of registered broker-dealer client Slavic Investment Corporation ("SIC"). The Firm prepared SIC's financial statements and supporting schedules for the year ended December 31, 2014 filed with the Commission. As a result, Goldstein Zugman was not independent of SIC under auditor independence criteria established by the Commission and made applicable by Exchange Act Rule 17a-5(f)(1) to audits of brokers and dealers.[4] The Firm nevertheless audited the financial statements and issued an audit report that SIC included with the financial statements it filed with the Commission. Weinstein authorized the issuance of that audit report, notwithstanding his knowledge that the Firm had prepared SIC's financial statements and supporting schedules and that such preparation impaired an auditor's independence. As a result, the Firm violated PCAOB Rule 3520, Auditor Independence, by failing to satisfy the independence criteria applicable to the engagement, including the criteria set out in Rule 2-01(c)(4)(i) of Commission Regulation S-X, and violated AU § 220, Independence.[5] Weinstein directly and substantially contributed to the Firm's violation of applicable independence requirements, in violation of PCAOB Rule 3502.

C. Respondents Violated Board Rules and Auditing Standards

4. At all relevant times, SIC was a broker-dealer incorporated in the state of Florida with its principal place of business in Boca Raton, Florida. SIC's public filings

---

[4] Exchange Act Rule 17a-5, referenced throughout this Order as "Rule 17a-5," is found at 17 C.F.R. § 240.17a-5.

[5] All references to PCAOB rules and standards are to the versions of those rules and standards in effect at the time of the relevant audit. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its rules and standards using a topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Release No. 2015-002 (Mar. 31, 2015); see also PCAOB Auditing Standards Reorganized and Pre-Reorganized Numbering (January 2016), https://pcaobus.org/Standards/Auditing/Documents/PrintableReferenceTable.pdf.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

disclosed that its business consisted of executing mutual fund transactions and life insurance annuities for its customers and that it was, for certain customers, a fully disclosed introducing broker-dealer. SIC did not claim an exemption from Exchange Act Rule 15c3-3 (the Customer Protection Rule).[6] At all relevant times, SIC was a "broker" or "dealer," as defined in Section 110(3) and (4) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(b)(iii) and 1001(d)(iii).

5. Rule 17a-5(d)(1) requires, among other things, that every broker or dealer registered under section 15 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 file annually a financial report audited by an independent public accountant. Rule 17a-5(d)(2) requires that the financial report filed by a registered broker or dealer contain, among other things, certain financial statements: a Statement of Financial Condition, a Statement of Income, a Statement of Cash Flows, a Statement of Changes in Stockholders' or Partners' or Sole Proprietor's Equity, and a Statement of Changes in Liabilities Subordinated to Claims of General Creditors. Rule 17a-5(d)(2) also requires that the financial report contain certain supporting schedules—a net capital computation, a reserve requirement computation, and information relating to possession or control requirements—as well as a reconciliation between either computation and any materially different corresponding computation in the most recent Part II or Part IIA of Form X-17A-5 filed by the broker-dealer.

6. Rule 17a-5(g) requires that an independent public accountant prepare a report based on an examination of the financial report required to be filed by the broker or dealer under Rule 17a-5(d) in accordance with PCAOB standards.

7. PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons comply with the Board's auditing and related professional practice standards.[7] PCAOB rules and standards also require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons be independent of the firm's audit client throughout the audit and professional engagement period.[8]

> [A] registered public accounting firm or associated person's independence obligation with respect to an audit client encompasses not only an

---

[6] 17 C.F.R. § 240.15c-3-3, Customer Protection – Reserves and Custody of Securities.

[7] PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards; PCAOB Rule 3200T, Interim Auditing Standards.

[8] See PCAOB Rule 3520; AU § 220.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

> obligation to satisfy the independence criteria applicable to the engagement set out in the rules and standards of the PCAOB, but also an obligation to satisfy all other independence criteria applicable to the engagement, including the independence criteria set out in the rules and regulations of the Commission under the federal securities laws.[9]

8. Pursuant to Rule 17a-5(f)(1), certain of the Commission's auditor independence criteria described in Rule 2-01 of Regulation S-X[10] apply to audits of brokers and dealers.[11] The applicable provisions include Rule 2-01(c)(4), which states in part:

> An accountant is not independent if, at any point during the audit and professional engagement period, the accountant provides the following non-audit services to an audit client:
>
> (i) Bookkeeping or other services related to the accounting records or financial statements of the audit client. Any service, unless it is reasonable to conclude that the results of these services will not be subject to audit procedures during an audit of the audit client's financial statements, including:
>
> . . .
>
> (B) Preparing the audit client's financial statements that are filed with the Commission or that form the basis of financial statements filed with the Commission . . . .

---

[9] See PCAOB Rule 3520, Note 1.

[10] 17 C.F.R. § 210.2-01(b)-(c).

[11] Not all independence criteria described in Rule 2-01(c) apply to audits of brokers and dealers. As the Commission has explained, those audits "are not subject to the partner rotation requirements or the compensation requirements of the Commission's independence rules [Rules 2-01(c)(6) and (c)(8)] because the statute mandating those requirements is limited to issuers," and they "are not subject to the audit committee pre-approval requirements or the cooling-off period requirements for employment [Rules 2-01(c)(7) and (c)(2)(iii)(B)] because those requirements only reference issuers." See Exchange Act Release No. 70073 at II.E.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

9. In February 2015, SIC filed with the Commission a Form X-17A-5 Part III containing its annual financial report for the year ended December 31, 2014. Included in that filing was a report signed by Goldstein Zugman and dated February 19, 2015 ("Audit Report") in connection with Goldstein Zugman's audit of SIC's December 31, 2014 financial statements ("Audit").

10. In November 2014, Firm staff completed an "Engagement Acceptance and Continuance Form" in connection with the Audit. That form included pre-printed text reading:

> The SEC expects accountants to comply with the independence requirements established by the PCAOB, Independence Standards Board, and the accounting profession (the AICPA), as well as the requirements promulgated by the Commission and its staff. The SEC's independence rules are set forth in Rule 2-01 of Regulation S-X. Rule 2-01's general standard of independence requires both the fact and the appearance of independence.

11. In December 2014, Weinstein read the PCAOB's Staff Guidance for Auditors of SEC-Registered Brokers and Dealers issued on June 26, 2014, including a section therein under the header "SEC Independence Rules." That section reads:

> . . . SEC Rule 17a-5 requires auditors of brokers and dealers to comply with SEC independence rules. These independence requirements predate the recent July 2013 amendments to Rule 17a-5. Among other things, SEC independence rules prohibit auditors from performing bookkeeping or other services related to the accounting records or financial statements of the audit client. These prohibited services include: (1) maintaining or preparing the audit client's accounting records; (2) preparing financial statements that are filed with the Commission or the information that forms the basis of financial statements filed with the Commission; or (3) preparing or originating source data underlying the audit client's financial statements.[12]

12. Firm staff obtained from SIC in January and February 2015 various documents including a "Balance Sheet" as of December 31, 2014, a "Profit & Loss" report for January through December 2014, a trial balance and "Trial Balance Worksheet" as of December 31, 2014, and a "Statement of Net Capital" as of December [12] Staff Guidance for Auditors of SEC-Registered Brokers and Dealers (Jun. 26, 2014) at 4 (footnotes omitted).

---

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

31, 2014. Firm staff also obtained a Form X-17A-5 Part II that Firm staff understood had been filed by the Broker-Dealer with the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority ("FINRA") and that bore the header "FOCUS Report (Financial and Operational Combined Uniform Single Report)." That Form X-17A-5 Part II contained, among other things, a Statement of Financial Condition as of December 31, 2014; a Statement of Income (Loss) for the period October 1, 2014 through December 31, 2014; a Statement of Changes in Ownership Equity for the period October 1, 2014 through December 31, 2014; a Computation of Net Capital as of December 31, 2014 ("FOCUS Net Capital Computation"); and a Formula for Determination of Customer Account Reserve Requirements of Brokers and Dealers Under Rule 15c3-3 as of December 31, 2014.

13. Firm staff used the trial balance obtained from SIC to prepare the Statement of Financial Condition and Computation of Net Capital as of December 31, 2014, as well as the Statements of Income and Changes in Stockholders' Equity for the year ended December 31, 2014, filed by SIC with the Commission in February 2015.

14. In preparing the Statements of Financial Condition, Income, and Changes in Stockholders' Equity and the Net Capital Computation, Firm staff added and aggregated line items, changed line item descriptions, changed line item amounts to reflect the incorporation of management-approved adjusting journal entries, and added a caption as compared to corresponding information in the documents obtained from SIC. Firm staff also prepared as part of the Net Capital Computation a reconciliation (captioned "Reconciliation with Company's Computation") between amounts therein and amounts in SIC's FOCUS Net Capital Computation.

15. Firm staff also prepared the Statement of Cash Flows for the year ended December 31, 2014; the notes to SIC's financial statements, by updating the notes to SIC's financial statements for the prior year as well as incorporating material provided by SIC; and three additional supporting schedules, including a Computation for Determination of Reserve Requirements. All of these were filed by SIC with the Commission.

16. Firm staff emailed SIC a set of draft financial statements and supporting schedules on February 19, 2015, and an additional draft set on February 24, 2015, for management approval.

17. As a result of Goldstein Zugman's conduct in preparing the financial statements and supporting schedules,[13] the Firm was not independent of SIC under the [13] The preparation of SIC's supporting schedules constituted "[b]ookkeeping or other services related to the accounting records or financial statements of the audit

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

independence criteria established by the Commission in Rule 2-01(c)(4) of Regulation S-X, which Rule 17a-5 made applicable to the Audit. As the Commission explained in adopting Rule 2-01(c)(4), providing such services for an audit client "impairs the auditor's independence because the auditor will be placed in the position of auditing the firm's work when auditing the client's financial statements. . . . In addition, keeping the books is a management function, the performance of which leads to an inappropriate mutuality of interests between the auditor and the audit client."[14] The Firm consequently violated PCAOB Rule 3520 and AU § 220 in connection with the Audit.

18. Firm staff prepared SIC's financial statements and supporting schedules under Weinstein's supervision, and Weinstein authorized the issuance of the Audit Report notwithstanding his knowledge that Firm staff had done so, and notwithstanding his understanding that such preparation impaired the Firm's independence. Through his actions, Weinstein directly and substantially contributed to the Firm's violation of applicable independence requirements, in violation of PCAOB Rule 3502.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondents' Offers.

Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), the Firm is censured.

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of $10,000 is imposed upon the Firm, and a separate and additional civil money penalty in the amount of $2,500 is imposed upon Frederick Weinstein, CPA. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of these civil money penalties will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. The Firm and Frederick Weinstein, CPA each shall pay the civil money penalty within client" within the meaning of Rule 2-01(c)(4)(i) and accordingly was a non-audit service inconsistent with auditor independence.

---

[14] Revision of the Commission's Auditor Independence Requirements, Exchange Act Release No. 43602 (November 21, 2000) at IV.D.4.b(i).

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

ten (10) days of the issuance of this Order by (1) wire transfer pursuant to instructions provided by Board staff; or (2) United States Postal Service money order, bank money order, certified check, or bank cashier's check (a) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, (b) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, and (c) submitted under a cover letter, which identifies the Firm or Frederick Weinstein, CPA as a respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB release number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe W. Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006.

C. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(G) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(9), the Firm, should the Board grant any future application of the Firm for registration, is required:

1. within ninety (90) days from the date the Board grants any future application of the Firm for registration ("Future Registration Date"), to establish policies and procedures, or revise and/or supplement existing policies and procedures, for the purpose of providing the Firm with reasonable assurance of compliance with applicable independence requirements, including those requirements of Rule 2-01 of Regulation S-X applicable to an SEC Registered Broker-Dealer Engagement (defined to mean an engagement to provide a report—whether an audit report, an examination report, or a review report—required under paragraph (d)(1)(i)(C) of Rule 17a-5, as amended);

2. within ninety (90) days from the Future Registration Date, to establish a policy of ensuring training, whether internal or external, on an annual or more frequent regular basis, concerning applicable independence requirements, including those requirements of Rule 2-01 of Regulation S-X applicable to an SEC Registered Broker-Dealer Engagement, of any Firm audit personnel who participate in any way in the planning or performing of any SEC Registered Broker-Dealer Engagement;

3. within ninety (90) days from the Future Registration Date and before the Firm's commencement of any SEC Registered Broker-Dealer Engagement, to ensure training pursuant to the policy described in paragraph C(2) above on at least one occasion;

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

4. to provide a copy of this Order—

a. within thirty (30) days from the Future Registration Date, to all audit personnel employed by, or associated with (as defined in PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i)), the Firm as of the Future Registration Date,

b. within thirty (30) days from the Future Registration Date, to any client of the Firm as of the Future Registration Date for which the Firm has performed or has been engaged to perform an SEC Registered Broker-Dealer Engagement,

c. before the commencement of any SEC Registered Broker-Dealer Engagement, to any future client for which the Firm is engaged within three (3) years of the date of this Order to perform such an engagement; and

5. to certify in writing to the Director of the Division of Enforcement and Investigations, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, the Firm's compliance with paragraphs C(1) through C(4)(b) above. The certification shall identify the undertakings, provide written evidence of compliance in the form of a narrative, and be supported by exhibits sufficient to demonstrate compliance. The Firm shall submit such certification within one hundred twenty (120) days from the Future Registration Date. The Firm shall also submit such additional evidence of and information concerning compliance as the staff of the Division of Enforcement and Investigations may reasonably request.

D. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(C) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(3), the Firm, should the Board grant any future application of the Firm for registration, is prohibited from accepting any new SEC Registered Broker-Dealer Engagement clients for a period of one year from the date of this Order.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

E. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), Frederick Weinstein, CPA, is censured.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

March 29, 2017

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street, N.W.
Washington, DC 20006
Telephone: (202) 207-9100
Facsimile: (202) 862-0757
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of Korwek & Company, PA and Charles E. Posey, CPA, Respondents.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-018 March 29, 2017

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("Board" or "PCAOB") is (1) censuring the registered public accounting firm Korwek & Company, PA ("Korwek & Company" or "Firm"); (2) imposing upon the Firm a civil money penalty in the amount of $10,000; (3) in the event the Board grants any future registration application by the Firm,[1] (a) requiring the Firm to undertake certain remedial measures directed toward satisfying independence criteria applicable to audits of brokers and dealers, and (b) prohibiting the Firm from accepting any new broker-dealer engagement clients for a period of one year from the date of this Order; (4) censuring Charles E. Posey, CPA ("Posey"); and (5) imposing upon Posey a civil money penalty in the amount of $2,500. The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that the Firm and Posey violated PCAOB rules and auditing standards in connection with an audit of a registered broker-dealer client as a result of preparing for that client its financial statements and supporting schedules that were filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission ("Commission" or "SEC"), which impaired their independence.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended ("Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against the Firm and Posey ("Respondents").

[1] The Firm has filed a Form 1-WD seeking leave to withdraw from registration with the Board, which the Board has determined to grant as of the date of this Order.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

II.

In anticipation of the institution of these proceedings and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondents each submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offers") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over Respondents and the subject matter of these proceedings, which is admitted, Respondents consent to the entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order").[2]

III.

On the basis of Respondents' Offers, the Board finds[3] that:

A. Respondents

1. Korwek & Company is, and at all relevant times was, a professional corporation organized under the laws of Maryland, with an office in Odenton, Maryland, and registered with the Board pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules. Korwek & Company is licensed by the Maryland Board of Public Accountancy (license no. 0034344). Korwek & Company filed articles of dissolution with the Maryland State Department of Assessments and Taxation on or around November 8, 2016. At all relevant times the Firm was the external auditor of the broker-dealer identified below.

2. Charles E. Posey, CPA, age 64, of Millersville, Maryland, is a certified public accountant licensed by the Maryland Board of Public Accountancy (license no. 0004672). At all relevant times he was a partner at Korwek & Company. Posey served as the engagement partner for the Firm's audit of the 2015 financial statements of the broker-dealer identified below. Posey is, and at all relevant times was, an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

---

[2] The findings herein are made pursuant to Respondents' Offers and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

[3] The Board finds that Respondents' conduct described in this Order meets the conditions set out in Section 105(c)(5), which provides that certain sanctions may be imposed in the event of (i) intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, or (ii) repeated instances of negligent conduct, each resulting in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

B. Summary

3. This matter concerns Respondents' violations of PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the Firm's audit of the 2015 financial statements of registered broker-dealer client McDuffie/Morris Financial Group, Inc. ("McDuffie/Morris"). The Firm and Posey prepared McDuffie/Morris's financial statements and supporting schedules for the year ended April 30, 2015 filed with the Commission. As a result, the Firm and Posey were not independent of McDuffie/Morris under auditor independence criteria established by the Commission and made applicable by Exchange Act Rule 17a-5(f)(1) to audits of brokers and dealers.[4] The Firm nevertheless audited the financial statements and issued an audit report that McDuffie/Morris included with the financial statements it filed with the Commission. As a result, the Firm and Posey violated PCAOB Rule 3520, Auditor Independence, by failing to satisfy the independence criteria applicable to the engagement, including the criteria set out in Rule 2-01(c)(4)(i) of Commission Regulation S-X, and violated AU § 220, Independence.[5]

C. Respondents Violated Board Rules and Auditing Standards

4. At all relevant times, McDuffie/Morris was a broker-dealer incorporated in the state of Florida with its principal place of business in Ormond Beach, Florida. McDuffie/Morris's public filings disclosed that it was a broker-dealer concentrating in mutual funds, tax deferred investments, and related insurance products. McDuffie/Morris claimed an exemption from Exchange Act Rule 15c3-3 (the Customer Protection Rule).[6] At all relevant times, McDuffie/Morris was a "broker" or "dealer," as

---

[4] Exchange Act Rule 17a-5, referenced throughout this Order as "Rule 17a-5," is found at 17 C.F.R. § 240.17a-5.

[5] All references to PCAOB rules and standards are to the versions of those rules and standards in effect at the time of the relevant audit. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its rules and standards using a topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Release No. 2015-002 (Mar. 31, 2015); see also PCAOB Auditing Standards Reorganized and Pre-Reorganized Numbering (January 2016), https://pcaobus.org/Standards/Auditing/Documents/PrintableReferenceTable.pdf.

[6] 17 C.F.R. § 240.15c-3-3, Customer Protection – Reserves and Custody of Securities.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

defined in Section 110(3) and (4) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(b)(iii) and 1001(d)(iii).

5. Rule 17a-5(d)(1) requires, among other things, that every broker or dealer registered under section 15 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 file annually a financial report audited by an independent public accountant. Rule 17a-5(d)(2) requires that the financial report filed by a registered broker or dealer contain, among other things, certain financial statements: a Statement of Financial Condition, a Statement of Income, a Statement of Cash Flows, a Statement of Changes in Stockholders' or Partners' or Sole Proprietor's Equity, and a Statement of Changes in Liabilities Subordinated to Claims of General Creditors. Rule 17a-5(d)(2) also requires that the financial report contain certain supporting schedules—a net capital computation, a reserve requirement computation, and information relating to possession or control requirements—as well as a reconciliation between either computation and any materially different corresponding computation in the most recent Part II or Part IIA of Form X-17A-5 filed by the broker-dealer.

6. Rule 17a-5(g) requires that an independent public accountant prepare a report based on an examination of the financial report required to be filed by the broker or dealer under Rule 17a-5(d) in accordance with PCAOB standards.

7. PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons comply with the Board's auditing and related professional practice standards.[7] PCAOB rules and standards also require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons be independent of the firm's audit client throughout the audit and professional engagement period.[8]

> [A] registered public accounting firm or associated person's independence obligation with respect to an audit client encompasses not only an obligation to satisfy the independence criteria applicable to the engagement set out in the rules and standards of the PCAOB, but also an obligation to satisfy all other independence criteria applicable to the engagement, including the independence criteria set out in the rules and regulations of the Commission under the federal securities laws.[9]

---

[7] PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards; PCAOB Rule 3200T, Interim Auditing Standards.

[8] See PCAOB Rule 3520; AU § 220.

[9] See PCAOB Rule 3520, Note 1.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

8. Pursuant to Rule 17a-5(f)(1), certain of the Commission's auditor independence criteria described in Rule 2-01 of Regulation S-X[10] apply to audits of brokers and dealers.[11] The applicable provisions include Rule 2-01(c)(4), which states in part:

> An accountant is not independent if, at any point during the audit and professional engagement period, the accountant provides the following non-audit services to an audit client:
>
> (i) Bookkeeping or other services related to the accounting records or financial statements of the audit client. Any service, unless it is reasonable to conclude that the results of these services will not be subject to audit procedures during an audit of the audit client's financial statements, including:
>
> . . .
>
> (B) Preparing the audit client's financial statements that are filed with the Commission or that form the basis of financial statements filed with the Commission . . . .

9. In July 2015, McDuffie/Morris filed with the Commission a Form X-17A-5 Part III containing its annual financial report for the year ended April 30, 2015. Included in that filing was a report signed by Korwek & Company and dated June 12, 2015 ("Audit Report") in connection with Korwek & Company's audit of McDuffie/Morris's April 30, 2015 financial statements ("Audit").

10. In May 2014, Posey and another partner at the Firm learned while viewing an online seminar about auditing that auditors of broker-dealers were prohibited from preparing the financial statements that those clients filed with the Commission. The

---

[10] 17 C.F.R. § 210.2-01(b)-(c).

[11] Not all independence criteria described in Rule 2-01(c) apply to audits of brokers and dealers. As the Commission has explained, those audits "are not subject to the partner rotation requirements or the compensation requirements of the Commission's independence rules [Rules 2-01(c)(6) and (c)(8)] because the statute mandating those requirements is limited to issuers," and they "are not subject to the audit committee pre-approval requirements or the cooling-off period requirements for employment [Rules 2-01(c)(7) and (c)(2)(iii)(B)] because those requirements only reference issuers." See Exchange Act Release No. 70073 at II.E.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

other partner subsequently contacted an accountant not employed at the Firm (the "Outside Accountant") and asked him whether he would prepare financial statements in the future for any broker-dealer audit client of the Firm that would not be preparing its own financial statements, if retained and paid by the broker-dealer to do so. The Outside Accountant said he would. The other partner informed Posey of the Outside Accountant's willingness to enter into such an arrangement with any Firm broker-dealer audit client.

11. Posey obtained from McDuffie/Morris in May and June 2015 various documents including a trial balance as of April 30, 2015.

12. Notwithstanding the Firm's communications with the Outside Accountant about preparing financial statements for broker-dealer audit clients of the Firm, Posey used the trial balance obtained from McDuffie/Morris to prepare the Statement of Financial Condition and Net Capital Computation as of April 30, 2015, as well as the Statement of Operations and Statement of Stockholder Equity for the year ended April 30, 2015, filed by McDuffie/Morris with the Commission in July 2015.

13. In preparing the Statements of Financial Condition, Operations, and Stockholder Equity and the Net Capital Computation filed by McDuffie/Morris with the Commission, Posey aggregated line items and changed line item descriptions as compared to corresponding information in the trial balance obtained from McDuffie/Morris.

14. Posey also prepared the Statement of Cash Flows for the year ended April 30, 2015; the notes to McDuffie/Morris's financial statements, by updating the notes to McDuffie/Morris's financial statements for the prior year as well as by incorporating material provided by McDuffie/Morris; and two additional supporting schedules. All of these were filed by McDuffie/Morris with the Commission.

15. Posey emailed McDuffie/Morris a set of draft financial statements and supporting schedules in June 2015 for management approval.

16. As a result of Korwek & Company's and Posey's conduct in preparing the financial statements and supporting schedules,[12] the Firm and Posey were not [12] The preparation of McDuffie/Morris's Net Capital Computation and related reconciliation constituted "[b]ookkeeping or other services related to the accounting records or financial statements of the audit client" within the meaning of Rule 2-01(c)(4)(i) and accordingly was a non-audit service inconsistent with auditor independence.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

independent of McDuffie/Morris under the independence criteria established by the Commission in Rule 2-01(c)(4) of Regulation S-X, which Rule 17a-5 made applicable to the Audit. As the Commission explained in adopting Rule 2-01(c)(4), providing such services for an audit client "impairs the auditor's independence because the auditor will be placed in the position of auditing the firm's work when auditing the client's financial statements. . . . In addition, keeping the books is a management function, the performance of which leads to an inappropriate mutuality of interests between the auditor and the audit client."[13] The Firm and Posey consequently violated PCAOB Rule 3520 and AU § 220 in connection with the Audit.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondents' Offers.

Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), the Firm is censured.

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of $10,000 is imposed upon the Firm, and a separate and additional civil money penalty in the amount of $2,500 is imposed upon Charles E. Posey, CPA. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of these civil money penalties will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. The Firm and Charles E. Posey, CPA each shall pay the civil money penalty within ten (10) days of the issuance of this Order by (1) wire transfer pursuant to instructions provided by Board staff; or (2) United States Postal Service money order, bank money order, certified check, or bank cashier's check (a) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, (b) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, and (c) submitted under a cover letter, which identifies the Firm or Charles E. Posey, CPA as a respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB release number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this [13] Revision of the Commission's Auditor Independence Requirements, Exchange Act Release No. 43602 (November 21, 2000) at IV.D.4.b(i).

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe W. Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006.

C. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(G) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(9), the Firm, should the Board grant any future application of the Firm for registration, is required:

1. within ninety (90) days from the date the Board grants any future application of the Firm for registration ("Future Registration Date"), to establish policies and procedures, or revise and/or supplement existing policies and procedures, for the purpose of providing the Firm with reasonable assurance of compliance with applicable independence requirements, including those requirements of Rule 2-01 of Regulation S-X applicable to an SEC Registered Broker-Dealer Engagement (defined to mean an engagement to provide a report—whether an audit report, an examination report, or a review report—required under paragraph (d)(1)(i)(C) of Rule 17a-5, as amended);

2. within ninety (90) days from the Future Registration Date, to establish a policy of ensuring training, whether internal or external, on an annual or more frequent regular basis, concerning applicable independence requirements, including those requirements of Rule 2-01 of Regulation S-X applicable to an SEC Registered Broker-Dealer Engagement, of any Firm audit personnel who participate in any way in the planning or performing of any SEC Registered Broker-Dealer Engagement;

3. within ninety (90) days from the Future Registration Date and before the Firm's commencement of any SEC Registered Broker-Dealer Engagement, to ensure training pursuant to the policy described in paragraph C(2) above on at least one occasion;

4. to provide a copy of this Order—

a. within thirty (30) days from the Future Registration Date, to all audit personnel employed by, or associated with (as defined in PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i)), the Firm as of the Future Registration Date,

b. within thirty (30) days from the Future Registration Date, to any client of the Firm as of the Future Registration Date for which

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

the Firm has performed or has been engaged to perform an SEC Registered Broker-Dealer Engagement,

c. before the commencement of any SEC Registered Broker-Dealer Engagement, to any future client for which the Firm is engaged within three (3) years of the date of this Order to perform such an engagement; and

5. to certify in writing to the Director of the Division of Enforcement and Investigations, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, the Firm's compliance with paragraphs C(1) through C(4)(b) above. The certification shall identify the undertakings, provide written evidence of compliance in the form of a narrative, and be supported by exhibits sufficient to demonstrate compliance. The Firm shall submit such certification within one hundred twenty (120) days from the Future Registration Date. The Firm shall also submit such additional evidence of and information concerning compliance as the staff of the Division of Enforcement and Investigations may reasonably request.

D. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(C) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(3), the Firm, should the Board grant any future application of the Firm for registration, is prohibited from accepting any new SEC Registered Broker-Dealer Engagement clients for a period of one year from the date of this Order.

E. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), Charles E. Posey, CPA, is censured.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

March 29, 2017

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street, N.W.
Washington, DC 20006
Telephone: (202) 207-9100
Facsimile: (202) 862-0757
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of Maurice F. Wallace, CPA, Respondent.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-019 March 29, 2017

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("Board" or "PCAOB") is (1) censuring the registered public accounting firm Maurice F. Wallace CPA ("Wallace" or "Firm"); (2) imposing upon the Firm a civil money penalty in the amount of $7,500; and (3) in the event the Board grants any future registration application by the Firm,[1] (a) requiring the Firm to undertake certain remedial measures directed toward satisfying independence criteria applicable to audits of brokers and dealers and (b) prohibiting the Firm from accepting any new broker-dealer engagement clients for a period of one year from the date of this Order. The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that the Firm violated PCAOB rules and auditing standards in connection with an audit of a registered broker-dealer client as a result of (1) impairing its independence by (a) preparing financial statements and supporting schedules filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission ("Commission" or "SEC"), (b) preparing Financial and Operational Combined Uniform Single ("FOCUS") reports and supplemental schedules filed with the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority ("FINRA"), and (c) providing ongoing monitoring of the client's compliance with certain regulatory requirements, and (2) failing to have an engagement quality review performed.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate and

[1] The Firm has filed a Form 1-WD seeking leave to withdraw from registration with the Board, which the Board has determined to grant as of the date of this Order.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended ("Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against the Firm ("Respondent").

II.

In anticipation of the institution of these proceedings and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondent submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offer") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over Respondent and the subject matter of these proceedings, which is admitted, Respondent consents to the entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order").[2]

III.

On the basis of Respondent's Offer, the Board finds[3] that:

A. Respondent

1. Wallace is, and at all relevant times was, a sole proprietorship organized under the laws of Maryland, with an office in Easton, Maryland, and registered with the Board pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules. Wallace's sole proprietor is licensed by the Maryland Board of Public Accountancy (license no. 0004504). At all relevant times the Firm was the external auditor for the broker-dealer identified below.

B. Summary

2. This matter concerns Respondent's violations of PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the Firm's audit of the 2015 financial statements of registered broker-dealer client Holloway & Associates, Inc. ("Holloway"). The Firm

---

[2] The findings herein are made pursuant to Respondent's Offer and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

[3] The Board finds that Respondent's conduct described in this Order meets the conditions set out in Section 105(c)(5), which provides that certain sanctions may be imposed in the event of (i) intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, or (ii) repeated instances of negligent conduct, each resulting in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

prepared Holloway's financial statements and supporting schedules for the year ended December 31, 2015 filed with the Commission. The Firm also prepared and filed with FINRA Holloway's quarterly FOCUS reports and supplemental schedules. In addition, the Firm prepared calculations on a monthly basis to monitor whether Holloway was in compliance with net capital regulatory requirements. As a result, Wallace was not independent of Holloway under auditor independence criteria established by the Commission and made applicable by Exchange Act Rule 17a-5(f)(1) to audits of brokers and dealers.[4] The Firm nevertheless audited the financial statements and issued an audit report that Holloway included with the financial statements it filed with the Commission. As a result, the Firm violated PCAOB Rule 3520, Auditor Independence, by failing to satisfy the independence criteria applicable to the engagement, including the criteria set out in Rule 2-01(c)(4)(i) and (vi) of Commission Regulation S-X, and violated AU § 220, Independence.[5]

3. The Firm also failed to have an engagement quality review performed for the audit of Holloway's December 31, 2015 financial statements. As a result, the Firm failed to comply with Auditing Standard No. 7, Engagement Quality Review ("AS 7"), which requires an engagement quality review and concurring approval of issuance for audit and attestation engagements conducted pursuant to PCAOB auditing standards.

C. Respondent Violated Board Rules and Auditing Standards

4. At all relevant times, Holloway was a broker-dealer incorporated in the state of Maryland with its principal place of business in Easton, Maryland. Holloway's public filings disclosed that it sold annuities, mutual funds, and other insurance products. Holloway claimed an exemption from Exchange Act Rule 15c3-3 (the Customer Protection Rule).[6] At all relevant times, Holloway was a "broker" or "dealer,"

---

[4] Exchange Act Rule 17a-5, referenced throughout this Order as "Rule 17a-5," is found at 17 C.F.R. § 240.17a-5.

[5] All references to PCAOB rules and standards are to the versions of those rules and standards in effect at the time of the relevant engagements. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its rules and standards using a topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Release No. 2015-002 (Mar. 31, 2015); see also PCAOB Auditing Standards Reorganized and Pre-Reorganized Numbering (January 2016), https://pcaobus.org/Standards/Auditing/Documents/PrintableReferenceTable.pdf.

[6] 17 C.F.R. § 240.15c3-3, Customer Protection – Reserves and Custody of Securities.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

as defined in Section 110(3) and (4) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(b)(iii) and 1001(d)(iii).

5. Rule 17a-5(d)(1) requires, among other things, that every broker or dealer registered under section 15 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 file annually a financial report audited by an independent public accountant. Rule 17a-5(d)(2) requires that the financial report filed by a registered broker or dealer contain, among other things, certain financial statements: a Statement of Financial Condition, a Statement of Income, a Statement of Cash Flows, a Statement of Changes in Stockholders' or Partners' or Sole Proprietor's Equity, and a Statement of Changes in Liabilities Subordinated to Claims of General Creditors. Rule 17a-5(d)(2) also requires that the financial report contain certain supporting schedules—a net capital computation, a reserve requirement computation, and information relating to possession or control requirements—as well as a reconciliation between either computation and any materially different corresponding computation in the most recent Part II or Part IIA of Form X-17A-5 filed by the broker-dealer.

6. Rule 17a-5(g) requires that an independent public accountant prepare a report based on an examination of the financial report required to be filed by the broker or dealer under Rule 17a-5(d) in accordance with PCAOB standards.

7. Rule 17a-5 also requires broker-dealers that claim an exemption from Rule 15c3-3, or the Customer Protection Rule, to prepare an exemption report.[7] Rule 17a-5 moreover requires the broker-dealer to engage an independent public accountant registered with the PCAOB to review and independently report on the statements in the broker-dealer's exemption report.[8]

8. In March 2016, Holloway filed with the Commission a Form X-17A-5 Part III containing its annual financial report for the year ended December 31, 2015. Included in that filing was a report ("Audit Report") in connection with Wallace's audit of Holloway's December 31, 2015 financial statements ("Audit"). Also included in that filing was a report ("Review Report") on Wallace's review of the statements in Holloway's exemption report. Both reports were signed by Wallace and dated February 2, 2016.

---

[7] See Rule 17a-5(d)(1)(i)(B)(2).

[8] See Rule 17a-5(d)(1)(i)(C) and (g)(2)(ii).

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

9. PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons comply with the Board's auditing and related professional practice standards.[9]

Independence Violations

10. PCAOB rules and standards require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons be independent of the firm's audit client throughout the audit and professional engagement period.[10]

> [A] registered public accounting firm or associated person's independence obligation with respect to an audit client encompasses not only an obligation to satisfy the independence criteria applicable to the engagement set out in the rules and standards of the PCAOB, but also an obligation to satisfy all other independence criteria applicable to the engagement, including the independence criteria set out in the rules and regulations of the Commission under the federal securities laws.[11]

11. Pursuant to Rule 17a-5(f)(1), certain of the Commission's auditor independence criteria described in Rule 2-01 of Regulation S-X[12] apply to audits of brokers and dealers.[13] The applicable provisions include Rule 2-01(c)(4), which states in part:

---

[9] PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards; PCAOB Rule 3200T, Interim Auditing Standards.

[10] See PCAOB Rule 3520; AU § 220.

[11] See PCAOB Rule 3520, Note 1.

[12] 17 C.F.R. § 210.2-01(b)-(c).

[13] Not all independence criteria described in Rule 2-01(c) apply to audits of brokers and dealers. As the Commission has explained, those audits "are not subject to the partner rotation requirements or the compensation requirements of the Commission's independence rules [Rules 2-01(c)(6) and (c)(8)] because the statute mandating those requirements is limited to issuers," and they "are not subject to the audit committee pre-approval requirements or the cooling-off period requirements for employment [Rules 2-01(c)(7) and (c)(2)(iii)(B)] because those requirements only reference issuers." See Exchange Act Release No. 70073 at II.E.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

> An accountant is not independent if, at any point during the audit and professional engagement period, the accountant provides the following non-audit services to an audit client:
>
> (i) Bookkeeping or other services related to the accounting records or financial statements of the audit client. Any service, unless it is reasonable to conclude that the results of these services will not be subject to audit procedures during an audit of the audit client's financial statements, including:
>
> . . .
>
> (B) Preparing the audit client's financial statements that are filed with the Commission or that form the basis of financial statements filed with the Commission . . . .
>
> . . .
>
> (vi) Management functions. Acting, temporarily or permanently, as a director, officer, or employee or an audit client, or performing any decision-making, supervisory, or ongoing monitoring function for the audit client.

12. On a monthly basis during 2015, Firm staff obtained from Holloway various documents including a prior-month-end "Balance Sheet" from Holloway's accounting system. Firm staff entered amounts on the balance sheet into a net capital worksheet that the Firm used to monitor Holloway's net capital levels and to determine whether Holloway was in compliance with applicable net capital requirements.

13. On a quarterly basis during 2015, Firm staff obtained from Holloway various documents including a quarter-end "Balance Sheet" and a "Profit & Loss" report generated from Holloway's accounting system. Firm staff used these items to prepare Holloway's quarterly FOCUS report for each of the four quarters of 2015, which included a Statement of Financial Condition for Noncarrying, Nonclearing and Certain Other Brokers or Dealers; a Computation of Net Capital; and a Statement of Income (Loss). The Firm also prepared two required supplemental schedules: a Supplemental Statement of Income and a Form Custody for Broker-Dealers. In preparing each quarterly FOCUS report and supplemental schedule, Firm staff calculated the amounts for various line items and aggregated multiple line items. Firm staff then filed each of those quarterly FOCUS reports and supplemental schedules with FINRA on Holloway's behalf.

ORDER

14. In January and February 2016, Firm staff obtained from Holloway, among other items, a "Balance Sheet" as of December 31, 2015; a "Balance Sheet" comparing account balances as of December 31, 2015 with corresponding balances as of December 31, 2014; and a "Profit & Loss" report for the year ended December 31, 2015.

15. Firm staff used the documents obtained from Holloway to prepare Statements of Financial Condition and Changes in Ownership Equity as of December 31, 2015, a Statement of Income (Loss) for the year ended December 31, 2015, and a Computation of Net Capital as of December 31, 2015, all of which were filed by Holloway with the Commission. In preparing these financial statements and supporting schedule, Wallace and the Firm's staff aggregated line items and changed line item descriptions and captions as compared to corresponding information in the documents obtained from Holloway.

16. Moreover, Firm staff prepared a Statement of Cash Flows for the year ended December 31, 2015, notes to the financial statements, and supporting schedules reconciling the amounts in the Statement of Changes in Ownership Equity and the Computation of Net Capital with corresponding amounts in a previously filed FOCUS report. All of these were filed by Holloway with the Commission.

17. Firm staff provided Holloway with draft financial statements, including notes, and draft supporting schedules in February 2016 for management approval.

18. As a result of the Firm's conduct in preparing Holloway's financial statements and supporting schedules filed with the Commission,[14] the Firm was not independent of Holloway under the independence criteria established by the Commission in Rule 2-01(c)(4) of Regulation S-X, which Rule 17a-5 made applicable to the Audit. As the Commission explained in adopting Rule 2-01(c)(4), providing such services for an audit client "impairs the auditor's independence because the auditor will be placed in the position of auditing the firm's work when auditing the client's financial statements. . . . In addition, keeping the books is a management function, the performance of which leads to an inappropriate mutuality of interests between the [14] Wallace's preparation of the supporting schedules accompanying Holloway's SEC-filed financial statements constituted "[b]ookkeeping or other services related to the accounting records or financial statements of the audit client" within the meaning of Rule 2-01(c)(4)(i) and accordingly was a non-audit service inconsistent with auditor independence.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

auditor and the audit client."[15] Moreover, the Firm's preparation and filing of Holloway's quarterly FOCUS reports and supplemental schedules and its monitoring of Holloway's compliance with net capital requirements also caused it not to be independent of Holloway under the independence criteria of Rule 2-01(c)(4).[16] The Firm accordingly violated PCAOB Rule 3520 and AU § 220 in connection with the Audit.

Engagement Quality Review Violation

19. AS 7 requires that an engagement quality review be performed on all audits conducted pursuant to PCAOB standards and on certain attestation engagements, including engagements performed pursuant to Attestation Standard No. 2, Review Engagements Regarding Exemption Reports of Brokers and Dealers ("AT 2").[17] AS 7 also provides that a firm may grant permission to a client to use the engagement report only after an engagement quality reviewer provides concurring approval of issuance of the report.[18]

20. The Firm failed to obtain an engagement quality review for the Audit and the attestation engagement performed pursuant to AT 2, and improperly permitted the issuance of the Audit Report and Review Report—which were included in Holloway's filing with the Commission—without obtaining an engagement quality review and concurring approval of issuance in violation of AS 7.

---

[15] Revision of the Commission's Auditor Independence Requirements, Exchange Act Release No. 43602 (November 21, 2000) at IV.D.4.b(i).

[16] Wallace's preparation and filing of quarterly FOCUS reports and its monitoring of Holloway's compliance with applicable net capital rules constituted "[a]cting, temporarily or permanently, as a director, officer, or employee of an audit client, or performing any decision making, supervisory or ongoing monitoring function for the audit client" within the meaning of Rule 2-01(c)(4)(vi) and accordingly were non-audit services inconsistent with auditor independence. See Rosenberg Rich Baker Berman & Company, Exchange Act Release No. 69765, 2013 WL 2898032, at *3-*4 (June 14, 2013) (firm and firm partner lacked independence from broker-dealer audit client where partner performed and directed a staff accountant to perform Financial and Operations Principal services for broker-dealer client including preparing and filing with FINRA the broker-dealer's FOCUS reports and calculating the broker-dealer's net capital).

[17] See AS 7 ¶ 1.

[18] Id. ¶¶ 13, 18, 18C.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondent's Offer.

Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), the Firm is censured.

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of $7,500 is imposed upon the Firm. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of this civil money penalty will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. The Firm shall pay the civil money penalty within ten (10) days of the issuance of this Order by (1) wire transfer pursuant to instructions provided by Board staff; or (2) United States Postal Service money order, bank money order, certified check, or bank cashier's check (a) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, (b) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, and (c) submitted under a cover letter, which identifies the Firm as a respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB release number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe W. Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006.

C. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(G) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(9), the Firm, should the Board grant any future application of the Firm for registration, is required:

1. within ninety (90) days from the date the Board grants any future application of the Firm for registration ("Future Registration Date"), to establish policies and procedures, or revise and/or supplement existing policies and procedures, for the purpose of providing the Firm with reasonable assurance of compliance with (a) applicable independence requirements, including those requirements of Rule 2-01 of Regulation S-X applicable to an SEC Registered Broker-Dealer Engagement (defined to mean an engagement to provide a report—whether an audit report, an

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

examination report, or a review report—required under paragraph (d)(1)(i)(C) of Rule 17a-5, as amended); and (b) AS 1220, Engagement Quality Review;

2. within ninety (90) days from the Future Registration Date, to establish a policy of ensuring training, whether internal or external, on an annual or more frequent regular basis, of any Firm audit personnel who participate in any way in the planning or performing of any SEC Registered Broker-Dealer Engagement, concerning (a) applicable independence requirements, including those requirements of Rule 2-01 of Regulation S-X applicable to an SEC Registered Broker-Dealer Engagement; and (b) AS 1220;

3. within ninety (90) days from the Future Registration Date, and before the Firm's commencement of any SEC Registered Broker-Dealer Engagement (or, where the Firm by the date of this Order has already commenced but not completed such an engagement, before the Firm's release of its report), to ensure training pursuant to the policy described in paragraph C(2) above on at least one occasion;

4. to provide a copy of this Order—

a. within thirty (30) days from Future Registration Date, to all audit personnel employed by, or associated with (as defined in PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i)), the Firm as of the Future Registration Date,

b. within thirty (30) days from the Future Registration Date, to any client of the Firm as of the date of the Future Registration Date for which the Firm has performed or has been engaged to perform an SEC Registered Broker-Dealer Engagement,

c. before the commencement of any SEC Registered Broker-Dealer Engagement, to any future client for which the Firm is engaged within three (3) years of the date of this Order to perform such an engagement; and

5. to certify in writing to the Director of the Division of Enforcement and Investigations, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, the Firm's compliance with paragraphs C(1) through C(4)(b) above. The certification shall identify the undertakings, provide written evidence of compliance in the form of a narrative, and be supported by exhibits sufficient to demonstrate compliance. The Firm shall submit such certification within one hundred twenty (120) days from the Future Registration Date. The Firm shall also submit such additional evidence of and information concerning compliance as the staff of the Division of Enforcement and Investigations may reasonably request.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

D. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(C) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(3), the Firm, should the Board grant any future application of the Firm for registration, is prohibited from accepting any new SEC Registered Broker-Dealer Engagement clients for a period of one year from the date of this Order.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

March 29, 2017

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street, N.W.
Washington, DC 20006
Telephone: (202) 207-9100
Facsimile: (202) 862-0757
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of SEJONG LLP, Respondent.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-020 March 29, 2017

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("Board" or "PCAOB") is (1) censuring the registered public accounting firm SEJONG LLP ("Sejong" or "Firm"); (2) imposing upon the Firm a civil money penalty in the amount of $5,000; (3) requiring the Firm to undertake certain remedial measures, including to establish policies and procedures directed toward satisfying independence criteria applicable to audits of brokers and dealers; and (4) prohibiting the Firm from accepting any new broker-dealer engagement clients for a period of one year from the date of this Order. The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that the Firm violated PCAOB rules and auditing standards in connection with an audit of a registered broker-dealer client as a result of preparing for that client its financial statements and a supporting schedule that were filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission ("Commission" or "SEC"), which impaired the Firm's independence.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended ("Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against the Firm ("Respondent").

II.

In anticipation of the institution of these proceedings and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondent submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offer") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over Respondent and the subject matter of these proceedings, which is admitted, Respondent consents to the entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order").[1]

III.

On the basis of Respondent's Offer, the Board finds[2] that:

A. Respondent

1. Sejong is, and at all relevant times was, a limited liability partnership organized under the laws of the state of New York, with offices in Fort Lee, New Jersey and New York, New York, and registered with the Board pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules. Sejong is licensed by the New Jersey State Board of Accountancy (license no. 20CB00639400) and the North Carolina State Board of Certified Public Accountant Examiners (certificate no. 33546) and registered with the New York State Education Department (Certified Public Accountancy Partnership No. 050709). At all relevant times the Firm was the external auditor for the broker-dealer identified below.

B. Summary

2. This matter concerns Respondent's violation of PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the Firm's audit of the 2014 financial statements of registered broker-dealer client Daewoo Securities (America) Inc. ("Daewoo"). The Firm prepared Daewoo's financial statements and a supporting schedule for the year ended December 31, 2014 filed with the Commission. As a result, Sejong was not independent of Daewoo under auditor independence criteria established by the Commission and made applicable by Exchange Act Rule 17a-5(f)(1) to audits of brokers and dealers.[3]

---

[1] The findings herein are made pursuant to Respondent's Offer and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

[2] The Board finds that Respondent's conduct described in this Order meets the conditions set out in Section 105(c)(5), which provides that certain sanctions may be imposed in the event of (i) intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, or (ii) repeated instances of negligent conduct, each resulting in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard.

[3] Exchange Act Rule 17a-5, referenced throughout this Order as "Rule 17a-5," is found at 17 C.F.R. § 240.17a-5.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

The Firm nevertheless audited the financial statements and issued an audit report that Daewoo included with the financial statements it filed with the Commission. As a result, the Firm violated PCAOB Rule 3520, Auditor Independence, by failing to satisfy the independence criteria applicable to the engagement, including the criteria set out in Rule 2-01(c)(4)(i) of Commission Regulation S-X, and violated AU § 220, Independence.[4]

C. Respondent Violated Board Rules and Auditing Standards

3. At all relevant times, Daewoo was a broker-dealer incorporated in the state of New York with its principal place of business in New York, New York. Daewoo's public filings disclosed that it was a wholly owned subsidiary of a Korean corporation, Daewoo Securities Co., Ltd.; engaged primarily in broker and dealer transactions of Korean securities on behalf of institutional investors in the United States; and also engaged in broker and dealer transactions of United States securities on behalf of institutional customers in Korea. Daewoo claimed an exemption from Exchange Act Rule 15c3-3 (the Customer Protection Rule).[5] At all relevant times, Daewoo was a "broker" or "dealer," as defined in Section 110(3) and (4) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(b)(iii) and 1001(d)(iii).

4. Rule 17a-5(d)(1) requires, among other things, that every broker or dealer registered under section 15 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 file annually a financial report audited by an independent public accountant. Rule 17a-5(d)(2) requires that the financial report filed by a registered broker or dealer contain, among other things, certain financial statements: a Statement of Financial Condition, a Statement of Income, a Statement of Cash Flows, a Statement of Changes in Stockholders' or Partners' or Sole Proprietor's Equity, and a Statement of Changes in Liabilities Subordinated to Claims of General Creditors. Rule 17a-5(d)(2) also requires that the financial report contain certain supporting schedules—a net capital computation, a

---

[4] All references to PCAOB rules and standards are to the versions of those rules and standards in effect at the time of the relevant audit. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its rules and standards using a topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Release No. 2015-002 (Mar. 31, 2015); see also PCAOB Auditing Standards Reorganized and Pre-Reorganized Numbering (January 2016), https://pcaobus.org/Standards/Auditing/Documents/PrintableReferenceTable.pdf.

[5] 17 C.F.R. § 240.15c-3-3, Customer Protection – Reserves and Custody of Securities.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

reserve requirement computation, and information relating to possession or control requirements—as well as a reconciliation between either computation and any materially different corresponding computation in the most recent Part II or Part IIA of Form X-17A-5 filed by the broker-dealer.

5. Rule 17a-5(g) requires that an independent public accountant prepare a report based on an examination of the financial report required to be filed by the broker or dealer under Rule 17a-5(d) in accordance with PCAOB standards.

6. PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons comply with the Board's auditing and related professional practice standards.[6] PCAOB rules and standards also require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons be independent of the firm's audit client throughout the audit and professional engagement period.[7]

> [A] registered public accounting firm or associated person's independence obligation with respect to an audit client encompasses not only an obligation to satisfy the independence criteria applicable to the engagement set out in the rules and standards of the PCAOB, but also an obligation to satisfy all other independence criteria applicable to the engagement, including the independence criteria set out in the rules and regulations of the Commission under the federal securities laws.[8]

7. Pursuant to Rule 17a-5(f)(1), certain of the Commission's auditor independence criteria described in Rule 2-01 of Regulation S-X[9] apply to audits of brokers and dealers.[10] The applicable provisions include Rule 2-01(c)(4), which states in part:

---

[6] PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards; PCAOB Rule 3200T, Interim Auditing Standards (reorganized as PCAOB Rule 3200, Auditing Standards).

[7] See PCAOB Rule 3520; AU § 220.

[8] See PCAOB Rule 3520, Note 1.

[9] 17 C.F.R. § 210.2-01(b)-(c).

[10] Not all independence criteria described in Rule 2-01(c) apply to audits of brokers and dealers. As the Commission has explained, those audits "are not subject to the partner rotation requirements or the compensation requirements of the

ORDER

> An accountant is not independent if, at any point during the audit and professional engagement period, the accountant provides the following non-audit services to an audit client:
>
> (i) Bookkeeping or other services related to the accounting records or financial statements of the audit client. Any service, unless it is reasonable to conclude that the results of these services will not be subject to audit procedures during an audit of the audit client's financial statements, including:
>
> . . .
>
> (B) Preparing the audit client's financial statements that are filed with the Commission or that form the basis of financial statements filed with the Commission . . . .

8. In March 2015, Daewoo filed with the Commission a Form X-17A-5 Part III containing its annual financial report for the year ended December 31, 2014. Included in that filing was a report signed by Sejong and dated February 26, 2015 ("Audit Report") in connection with Sejong's audit of Daewoo's December 31, 2014 financial statements ("Audit").

9. In November 2014, Firm staff completed an "Engagement Acceptance and Continuance Form" in connection with the Audit. That form included pre-printed text reading:

> The SEC expects accountants to comply with the independence requirements established by the PCAOB, Independence Standards Board, and the accounting profession (the AICPA), as well as the requirements promulgated by the Commission and its staff. The SEC's independence rules are set forth in Rule 2-01 of Regulation S-X. Rule 2-01's general standard of independence requires both the fact and the appearance of independence.

Commission's independence rules [Rules 2-01(c)(6) and (c)(8)] because the statute mandating those requirements is limited to issuers," and they "are not subject to the audit committee pre-approval requirements or the cooling-off period requirements for employment [Rules 2-01(c)(7) and (c)(2)(iii)(B)] because those requirements only reference issuers." See Exchange Act Release No. 70073 at II.E.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

10. In February 2015, Firm staff obtained from Daewoo various documents including a "Balance Sheet" as of December 31, 2014, a "Profit & Loss" report for January through December 2014, and a trial balance as of December 31, 2014.

11. Firm staff used the documents obtained from Daewoo to prepare the Statement of Financial Condition and Net Capital Computation as of December 31, 2014, as well as the Statements of Income, Changes in Stockholder's Equity, and Cash Flows for the year ended December 31, 2014, filed by Daewoo with the Commission in March 2015.

12. In preparing the Statements of Financial Condition and Income filed by Daewoo with the Commission, Firm staff added and aggregated line items, changed line item descriptions and a line item amount, and changed captions as compared to corresponding information in the documents obtained from Daewoo.

13. Moreover, Firm staff prepared the Statements of Cash Flow and Changes in Stockholder's Equity for the year ended December 31, 2014; the Net Capital Computation as of December 31, 2014; and the notes to the financial statements by updating the notes to Daewoo's financial statements for the prior year. All of these were filed by Daewoo with the Commission in March 2015.

14. Firm staff emailed Daewoo draft financial statements, including notes, and a draft Net Capital Computation in February 2015 for management approval.

15. As a result of Sejong's conduct in preparing the financial statements and supporting schedule,[11] the Firm was not independent of Daewoo under the independence criteria established by the Commission in Rule 2-01(c)(4) of Regulation S-X, which Rule 17a-5 made applicable to the Audit. As the Commission explained in adopting Rule 2-01(c)(4), providing such services for an audit client "impairs the auditor's independence because the auditor will be placed in the position of auditing the firm's work when auditing the client's financial statements. . . . In addition, keeping the books is a management function, the performance of which leads to an inappropriate

[11] The preparation of Daewoo's Net Capital Computation constituted "[b]ookkeeping or other services related to the accounting records or financial statements of the audit client" within the meaning of Rule 2-01(c)(4)(i) and accordingly was a non-audit service inconsistent with auditor independence.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

mutuality of interests between the auditor and the audit client."[12] The Firm consequently violated PCAOB Rule 3520 and AU § 220 in connection with the Audit.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondent's Offer.

Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), the Firm is censured.

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of $5,000 is imposed upon the Firm. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of this civil money penalty will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. The Firm shall pay this civil money penalty within ten (10) days of the issuance of this Order by (1) wire transfer pursuant to instructions provided by Board staff; or (2) United States Postal Service money order, bank money order, certified check, or bank cashier's check (a) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, (b) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, and (c) submitted under a cover letter, which identifies the Firm as a respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB release number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe W. Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006.

C. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(G) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(9), the Firm is required:

1. within ninety (90) days from the date of this Order, to establish policies and procedures, or revise and/or supplement existing

[12] Revision of the Commission's Auditor Independence Requirements, Exchange Act Release No. 43602 (November 21, 2000) at IV.D.4.b(i).

ORDER

policies and procedures, for the purpose of providing the Firm with reasonable assurance of compliance with applicable independence requirements, including those requirements of Rule 2-01 of Regulation S-X applicable to an SEC Registered Broker-Dealer Engagement (defined to mean an engagement to provide a report—whether an audit report, an examination report, or a review report—required under paragraph (d)(1)(i)(C) of Rule 17a-5, as amended);

2. within ninety (90) days from the date of this Order, to establish a policy of ensuring training, whether internal or external, on an annual or more frequent regular basis, concerning applicable independence requirements, including those requirements of Rule 2-01 of Regulation S-X applicable to an SEC Registered Broker-Dealer Engagement, of any Firm audit personnel who participate in any way in the planning or performing of any SEC Registered Broker-Dealer Engagement;

3. within ninety (90) days from the date of this Order and before the Firm's commencement of any SEC Registered Broker-Dealer Engagement (or, where the Firm by the date of this Order has already commenced but not completed such an engagement, before the Firm's release of its report), to ensure training pursuant to the policy described in paragraph C(2) above on at least one occasion;

4. to provide a copy of this Order—

a. within thirty (30) days from the date of this Order, to all audit personnel employed by, or associated with (as defined in PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i)), the Firm as of the date of this Order,

b. within thirty (30) days from the date of this Order, to any client of the Firm as of the date of this Order for which the Firm has performed or has been engaged to perform an SEC Registered Broker-Dealer Engagement,

c. before the commencement of any SEC Registered Broker-Dealer Engagement, to any future client for which the Firm is engaged within three (3) years of the date of this Order to perform such an engagement; and

5. to certify in writing to the Director of the Division of Enforcement and Investigations, Public Company Accounting Oversight

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, the Firm's compliance with paragraphs C(1) through C(4)(b) above. The certification shall identify the undertakings, provide written evidence of compliance in the form of a narrative, and be supported by exhibits sufficient to demonstrate compliance. The Firm shall submit such certification within one hundred twenty (120) days from the date of this Order. The Firm shall also submit such additional evidence of and information concerning compliance as the staff of the Division of Enforcement and Investigations may reasonably request.

D. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(C) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(3), the Firm is prohibited from accepting any new SEC Registered Broker-Dealer Engagement clients for a period of one year from the date of this Order.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

March 29, 2017

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street, N.W.
Washington, DC 20006
Telephone: (202) 207-9100
Facsimile: (202) 862-0757
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of Thomas J. Trumeter and Thomas J. Trumeter, CPA, Respondents.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-021 March 29, 2017

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("Board" or "PCAOB") is (1) censuring the registered public accounting firm Thomas J. Trumeter ("TJT" or "Firm"); (2) imposing upon the Firm a civil money penalty in the amount of $15,000; (3) requiring the Firm to undertake certain remedial measures directed toward satisfying independence criteria applicable to audits of brokers and dealers; (4) prohibiting the Firm from accepting any new broker-dealer engagement clients for a period of one year from the date of this Order; and (5) censuring Thomas J. Trumeter, CPA ("Trumeter"). The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that the Firm and Trumeter violated PCAOB rules and auditing standards in connection with two audits of a registered broker-dealer client as a result of preparing for that client in each of two successive years its financial statements and a supporting schedule that were filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission ("Commission" or "SEC"), which impaired their independence.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended ("Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against the Firm and Trumeter ("Respondents").

II.

In anticipation of the institution of these proceedings and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondents each submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offers") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over Respondents and the subject matter of these proceedings, which is admitted, Respondents consent to the entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order").[1]

III.

On the basis of Respondents' Offers, the Board finds[2] that:

A. Respondents

1. TJT, at all relevant times, had an office in Rochester, New York and was registered with the Board pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules. Based on public records, the Firm does not appear to be currently licensed or registered in the state of New York or any other state. At all relevant times the Firm was the external auditor for the broker-dealer identified below.

2. Thomas J. Trumeter, age 57, of Rochester, New York, is a certified public accountant licensed by the New York State Education Department (license no. 061605). He is the founder and sole owner of TJT. Trumeter served as the engagement partner for the Firm's audits of the 2014 and 2015 financial statements of the broker-dealer identified below. Trumeter is, and at all relevant times was, an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

B. Summary

3. This matter concerns Respondents' violations of PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the Firm's audits of the 2014 and 2015 financial statements of registered broker-dealer client John James Investments, LTD. ("John

---

[1] The findings herein are made pursuant to Respondents' Offers and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

[2] The Board finds that Respondents' conduct described in this Order meets the conditions set out in Section 105(c)(5), which provides that certain sanctions may be imposed in the event of (i) intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, or (ii) repeated instances of negligent conduct, each resulting in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

James").[3] The Firm and Trumeter prepared John James' financial statements and a supporting schedule for the year ended December 31, 2014 and again for the year ended December 31, 2015. As a result, the Firm and Trumeter were not independent of John James under auditor independence criteria established by the Commission and made applicable by Exchange Act Rule 17a-5(f)(1) to audits of brokers and dealers.[4] The Firm nevertheless audited the financial statements and issued audit reports that John James included with the financial statements it filed with the Commission. As a result, the Firm and Trumeter violated PCAOB Rule 3520, Auditor Independence, by failing to satisfy the independence criteria applicable to the engagement, including the criteria set out in Rule 2-01(c)(4)(i) of Commission Regulation S-X, and violated AU § 220, Independence.[5]

C. Respondents Violated Board Rules and Auditing Standards

4. At all relevant times, John James was a broker-dealer incorporated in the state of New York with its principal place of business in Williamsville, New York. John James' public filings disclosed that in 2014 it engaged primarily in the sale of mutual fund investments, insurance, and variable annuities and in 2015 effected transactions in variable contracts and investment company shares (mutual funds) on an application way basis. John James claimed an exemption from Exchange Act Rule 15c3-3 (the Customer Protection Rule).[6] At all relevant times, John James was a "broker" or

---

[3] John James, which makes filings with the Commission under the name "John James Investments, LTD.," is also known and identified itself in earlier filings with the Commission as, and is incorporated in New York under the name of, "John James Futures Group, LTD."

[4] Exchange Act Rule 17a-5, referenced throughout this Order as "Rule 17a-5," is found at 17 C.F.R. § 240.17a-5.

[5] All references to PCAOB rules and standards are to the versions of those rules and standards in effect at the time of the relevant audits. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its rules and standards using a topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Release No. 2015-002 (Mar. 31, 2015); see also PCAOB Auditing Standards Reorganized and Pre-Reorganized Numbering (January 2016), https://pcaobus.org/Standards/Auditing/Documents/PrintableReferenceTable.pdf.

[6] 17 C.F.R. § 240.15c-3-3, Customer Protection – Reserves and Custody of Securities.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

"dealer," as defined in Section 110(3) and (4) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(b)(iii) and 1001(d)(iii).

5. Rule 17a-5(d)(1) requires, among other things, that every broker or dealer registered under section 15 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 file annually a financial report audited by an independent public accountant. Rule 17a-5(d)(2) requires that the financial report filed by a registered broker or dealer contain, among other things, certain financial statements: a Statement of Financial Condition, a Statement of Income, a Statement of Cash Flows, a Statement of Changes in Stockholders' or Partners' or Sole Proprietor's Equity, and a Statement of Changes in Liabilities Subordinated to Claims of General Creditors. Rule 17a-5(d)(2) also requires that the financial report contain certain supporting schedules—a net capital computation, a reserve requirement computation, and information relating to possession or control requirements—as well as a reconciliation between either computation and any materially different corresponding computation in the most recent Part II or Part IIA of Form X-17A-5 filed by the broker-dealer.

6. Rule 17a-5(g) requires that an independent public accountant prepare a report based on an examination of the financial report required to be filed by the broker or dealer under Rule 17a-5(d) in accordance with PCAOB standards.

7. PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons comply with the Board's auditing and related professional practice standards.[7] PCAOB rules and standards also require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons be independent of the firm's audit client throughout the audit and professional engagement period.[8]

> [A] registered public accounting firm or associated person's independence obligation with respect to an audit client encompasses not only an obligation to satisfy the independence criteria applicable to the engagement set out in the rules and standards of the PCAOB, but also an obligation to satisfy all other independence criteria applicable to the engagement, including the independence criteria set out in the rules and regulations of the Commission under the federal securities laws.[9]

---

[7] PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards, and PCAOB Rule 3200T, Interim Auditing Standards.

[8] See PCAOB Rule 3520; AU § 220.

[9] See PCAOB Rule 3520, Note 1.

ORDER

8. Pursuant to Rule 17a-5(f)(1), certain of the Commission's auditor independence criteria described in Rule 2-01 of Regulation S-X[10] apply to audits of brokers and dealers.[11] The applicable provisions include Rule 2-01(c)(4), which states in part:

> An accountant is not independent if, at any point during the audit and professional engagement period, the accountant provides the following non-audit services to an audit client:
>
> (i) Bookkeeping or other services related to the accounting records or financial statements of the audit client. Any service, unless it is reasonable to conclude that the results of these services will not be subject to audit procedures during an audit of the audit client's financial statements, including:
>
> . . .
>
> (B) Preparing the audit client's financial statements that are filed with the Commission or that form the basis of financial statements filed with the Commission . . . .

2014 Audit

9. In March 2015, John James filed with the Commission a Form X-17A-5 Part III containing its annual financial report for the year ended December 31, 2014. Included in that filing was a report signed by TJT and dated March 12, 2015 ("2014 Audit Report") in connection with TJT's audit of John James' December 31, 2014 financial statements ("2014 Audit").

---

[10] 17 C.F.R. § 210.2-01(b)-(c).

[11] Not all independence criteria described in Rule 2-01(c) apply to audits of brokers and dealers. As the Commission has explained, those audits "are not subject to the partner rotation requirements or the compensation requirements of the Commission's independence rules [Rules 2-01(c)(6) and (c)(8)] because the statute mandating those requirements is limited to issuers," and they "are not subject to the audit committee pre-approval requirements or the cooling-off period requirements for employment [Rules 2-01(c)(7) and (c)(2)(iii)(B)] because those requirements only reference issuers." See Exchange Act Release No. 70073 at II.E.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

10. On December 10, 2014, Trumeter sent John James a letter noting "significant changes" in the upcoming audit of John James' December 31, 2014 financial statements due to the change in standards under which the audit was required to be conducted from Generally Accepted Auditing Standards ("GAAS") to PCAOB standards. Trumeter stated in that letter, among other things:

> In accordance with the PCAOB standards on independence, your auditor cannot type or prepare the draft financial statement[s as] has been done in the past. Management should provide, along with a completed QuickBooks file, a typed draft of the financial statement[s], complete with footnotes. We will speak with you separately about how you can go about doing this.[12]

11. Trumeter obtained from John James in February and March 2015 various documents including a "Balance Sheet" as of December 31, 2014, a "Profit & Loss" report for January through December 2014, and a "Statement of Cash Flows" for January through December 2014.

12. Notwithstanding the letter he sent in December 2014, Trumeter, at the client's subsequent request, prepared John James' December 31, 2014 financial statements, including notes, and a supporting schedule, all of which John James filed with the Commission in March 2015.

13. Trumeter used the documents obtained from John James to prepare the Statement of Financial Condition as of December 31, 2014, as well as the Statement of Operations for the year ended December 31, 2014. In preparing the Statements of Financial Condition and Operations, Trumeter added and aggregated line items, changed line item descriptions, and—in two instances—reclassified amounts from one line item to another, as compared to corresponding information in the documents obtained from John James.

14. Moreover, Trumeter prepared the Statements of Cash Flows and Changes in Shareholder's Equity for the year ended December 31, 2014 and the Net Capital Computation as of December 31, 2014. Trumeter also prepared the notes to John [12] As noted above, certain independence criteria in Rule 2-01 of Regulation S-X were made applicable to broker-dealer audits by Commission Rule 17a-5. They accordingly applied to broker-dealer audits even before, and not as a result of, the onset of PCAOB standards for broker-dealer audits of fiscal years ending on or after June 1, 2014.

---

ORDER

James' financial statements by updating the notes to John James' financial statements for the prior year as well as incorporating material provided by John James.

15. Trumeter emailed John James draft financial statements, including notes, and a draft supporting schedule in March 2015 for management approval.

16. In November 2015, Board inspection staff conducted a review of certain aspects of the 2014 Audit. Board inspection staff communicated to the Firm the staff's finding that, as a result of the Firm's preparation of John James' financial statements and supporting schedule, the Firm had not been independent from John James with respect to the 2014 Audit.

2015 Audit

17. In April 2016, John James filed with the Commission a Form X-17A-5 Part III containing its annual financial report for the year ended December 31, 2015. Included in that filing was a report signed by TJT and dated April 6, 2016 ("2015 Audit Report") in connection with TJT's audit of John James' December 31, 2015 financial statements ("2015 Audit").

18. Trumeter completed an "Engagement Acceptance and Continuance Form" in connection with the 2015 Audit. That form included pre-printed text stating:

> The SEC expects accountants to comply with the independence requirements established by the PCAOB, Independence Standards Board, and the accounting profession (the AICPA), as well as the requirements promulgated by the Commission and its staff. The SEC's Independence rules are set forth in Rule 2-01 of Regulation S-X. Rule 2-01's general standard of independence requires both the fact and the appearance of independence.

19. On March 31, 2016, John James emailed Trumeter a set of draft financial statements, including Statements of Financial Condition, Operations, Shareholder's Equity, and Cash Flows; notes to the financial statements (with a note reading "needs fixing"); and a Net Capital Computation.

20. Trumeter identified certain aspects of those financial statements, notes, and supporting schedule that he believed should be revised. Trumeter discussed and obtained approval for those proposed revisions during calls in April 2016 with the president of John James; made those revisions in the electronic copy of the draft financial statements that he had received; provided John James with a copy of that revised set for management approval; and generated from that set that he had revised

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

the final versions of the financial statements including notes and of the Net Capital Computation, which were later filed by John James with the Commission.

21. The revisions made by Trumeter to the financial statements drafted by and obtained from John James included changes to 12 of 20 line item amounts and to three of 20 line item descriptions, as well as the addition of a line item, in the Statement of Financial Condition; changes to five of nine line item amounts and to one of nine line item descriptions, as well as the aggregation of two line items, in the Statement of Operations; changes to four of 10 amounts in the Statement of Shareholder's Equity; and changes to six of eight line item amounts, as well as the addition of five line items, in the Statement of Cash Flows.

22. Trumeter also revised four of eight notes to the financial statements, including, for example, to substantially rewrite Note 4, "Related Party Transactions," and to add one of three paragraphs in Note 6, "Income Taxes."

23. With respect to the Net Capital Computation, Trumeter changed 12 of 14 line item amounts; revised a statement therein indicating there were no differences with the net capital computation contained in the Form X-17A-5 Part IIA filed by John James with the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority for the year ended December 31, 2015 ("FOCUS Net Capital Computation") to indicate, instead, that there were four such differences; and added a listing of those differences with item descriptions and amounts.

24. Trumeter emailed John James revised draft financial statements, including notes, and a revised draft supporting schedule in April 2016 for management approval.

25. TJT and Trumeter prepared John James' December 31, 2015 financial statements, including notes, and supporting schedule, notwithstanding the fact that Trumeter took different steps to do so than he had in the previous year and believed that those steps would not impair the Firm's independence.

26. As a result of TJT's and Trumeter's conduct—both in preparing the December 31, 2014 financial statements and supporting schedule[13] before being notified by Board inspection staff that such preparation impaired the Firm's independence, and in preparing the December 31, 2015 financial statements after that [13] The preparation of John James' supporting schedule constituted "[b]ookkeeping or other services related to the accounting records or financial statements of the audit client" within the meaning of Rule 2-01(c)(4)(i) and accordingly was a non-audit service inconsistent with auditor independence.

ORDER

notification—the Firm and Trumeter were not independent of John James under the independence criteria established by the Commission in Rule 2-01(c)(4) of Regulation S-X, which Rule 17a-5 made applicable to the 2014 Audit and 2015 Audit. As the Commission explained in adopting Rule 2-01(c)(4), providing such services for an audit client "impairs the auditor's independence because the auditor will be placed in the position of auditing the firm's work when auditing the client's financial statements. . . . In addition, keeping the books is a management function, the performance of which leads to an inappropriate mutuality of interests between the auditor and the audit client."[14] The Firm and Trumeter consequently violated PCAOB Rule 3520 and AU § 220 in connection with the 2014 Audit and 2015 Audit.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondents' Offers.

Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), the Firm is censured.

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of $15,000 is imposed upon the Firm. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of this civil money penalty will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. The Firm shall pay the civil money penalty within ten (10) days of the issuance of this Order by (1) wire transfer pursuant to instructions provided by Board staff; or (2) United States Postal Service money order, bank money order, certified check, or bank cashier's check (a) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, (b) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, and (c) submitted under a cover letter, which identifies the Firm as a respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB release number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to Office of the Secretary, [14] Revision of the Commission's Auditor Independence Requirements, Exchange Act Release No. 43602 (November 21, 2000) at IV.D.4.b(i).

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

Attention: Phoebe W. Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006.

C. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(G) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(9), the Firm is required:

1. within ninety (90) days from the date of this Order, to establish policies and procedures, or revise and/or supplement existing policies and procedures, for the purpose of providing the Firm with reasonable assurance of compliance with applicable independence requirements, including those requirements of Rule 2-01 of Regulation S-X applicable to an SEC Registered Broker-Dealer Engagement (defined to mean an engagement to provide a report—whether an audit report, an examination report, or a review report—required under paragraph (d)(1)(i)(C) of Rule 17a-5, as amended);

2. within ninety (90) days from the date of this Order, to establish a policy of ensuring training, whether internal or external, on an annual or more frequent regular basis, concerning applicable independence requirements, including those requirements of Rule 2-01 of Regulation S-X applicable to an SEC Registered Broker-Dealer Engagement, of any Firm audit personnel who participate in any way in the planning or performing of any SEC Registered Broker-Dealer Engagement;

3. within ninety (90) days from the date of this Order and before the Firm's commencement of any SEC Registered Broker-Dealer Engagement (or, where the Firm by the date of this Order has already commenced but not completed such an engagement, before the Firm's release of its report), to ensure training pursuant to the policy described in paragraph C(2) above on at least one occasion;

4. to provide a copy of this Order—

a. within thirty (30) days from the date of this Order, to all audit personnel employed by, or associated with (as defined in PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i)), the Firm as of the date of this Order,

b. within thirty (30) days from the date of this Order, to any client of the Firm as of the date of this Order for which the Firm has performed or has been engaged to perform an SEC Registered Broker-Dealer Engagement,

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

c. before the commencement of any SEC Registered Broker-Dealer Engagement, to any future client for which the Firm is engaged within three (3) years of the date of this Order to perform such an engagement; and

5. to certify in writing to the Director of the Division of Enforcement and Investigations, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, the Firm's compliance with paragraphs C(1) through C(4)(b) above. The certification shall identify the undertakings, provide written evidence of compliance in the form of a narrative, and be supported by exhibits sufficient to demonstrate compliance. The Firm shall submit such certification within one hundred twenty (120) days from the date of this Order. The Firm shall also submit such additional evidence of and information concerning compliance as the staff of the Division of Enforcement and Investigations may reasonably request.

D. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(C) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(3), the Firm is prohibited from accepting any new SEC Registered Broker-Dealer Engagement clients for a period of one year from the date of this Order.

E. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), Thomas J. Trumeter, CPA, is censured.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

March 29, 2017

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street, N.W.
Washington, DC 20006
Telephone: (202) 207-9100
Facsimile: (202) 862-0757
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS	PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-022
In the Matter of Paul L. Ford, Jr., CPA,	March 29, 2017
Respondent.

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("Board" or "PCAOB") is censuring Paul L. Ford, Jr., CPA ("Ford" or "Respondent"), barring him from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm,[1] and imposing on him a civil money penalty in the amount of $30,000. The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that Ford made and directed additions and alterations to work papers in 15 broker-dealer audits after the documentation completion dates for those audits and after learning of an upcoming PCAOB broker-dealer inspection, as well as in his firm's only issuer audit after the documentation completion date and after learning of a separate PCAOB issuer inspection. Ford made improperly modified work papers in one of the broker-dealer audits and in the issuer audit available to PCAOB inspectors without disclosing the modifications. Ford thereby violated Auditing Standard No. 3, Audit Documentation ("AS 3"), and PCAOB Rule 4006, Duty to Cooperate with Inspectors ("Rule 4006").

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended ("Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Ford.

[1] Ford may file a petition for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm after five (5) years from the date of this Order.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

II.

In anticipation of the institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondent has submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offer") that the Board has determined to accept. Respondent admits the facts, findings, and violations set forth below, admits the Board's jurisdiction over him and the subject matter of this proceeding, and consents to the entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order").[2]

III.

On the basis of Respondent's Offer, the Board finds[3] that:

A. Respondent

1. Paul L. Ford, Jr., CPA, age 54, of Medway, Massachusetts, is a certified public accountant licensed by the Massachusetts Board of Public Accountancy (license no. 14677). At all relevant times, Ford was a partner at registered public accounting firm Samet & Company PC ("Samet" or "Firm"), an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i), and Samet's Accounting and Audit Partner as well as its Quality Control Partner. Ford was the engagement partner responsible for Samet's audit of the December 31, 2014 financial statements of its sole issuer client ("Issuer Audit"). Ford was also the engagement partner responsible for each of Samet's 2014 year-end audits of its broker-dealer audit clients.

---

[2] The findings herein are made pursuant to the Respondent's Offer and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

[3] The sanctions that the Board is imposing on Respondent in this Order may be imposed only if a respondent's conduct meets one of the conditions set out in Section 105(c)(5) of the Act, 15 U.S.C. § 7215(c)(5). The Board finds that Respondent's conduct described in this Order meets the conditions set out in Section 105(c)(5), which provides that such sanctions may be imposed in the event of (A) intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, that results in violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard; or (B) repeated instances of negligent conduct, each resulting in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

B. Summary

2. This matter concerns improper modifications to audit documentation made and directed by Ford after applicable documentation completion dates and while aware that staff of the PCAOB's Division of Registration and Inspections ("Inspections") intended to inspect audits for which he had been responsible. In April 2015, after learning that the PCAOB intended to inspect one or more of Samet's 2014 year-end audits of its broker-dealer clients, Ford—who was the engagement partner responsible for each of those audits—made and directed additions and alterations to work papers in the audit files for 15 of those audits ("Broker-Dealer Audits") following the applicable documentation completion dates. Ford and other personnel under his direction concealed the modifications by setting back the clocks on their computers to dates before the documentation completion dates while making the modifications. That computer backdating caused document metadata and the audit file index to indicate falsely that the added and altered work papers were last modified on those earlier dates. After PCAOB Inspections staff in April 2015 selected one of those audits for inspection ("Inspected Broker-Dealer Audit"), Ford continued to make and direct modifications to work papers for the Inspected Broker-Dealer Audit and made available those work papers to Inspections staff in advance of their fieldwork in July 2015. At no time did Ford make PCAOB inspectors aware that the audit documentation for the Inspected Broker-Dealer Audit contained modifications made after the documentation completion date.

3. In addition, after the Firm was notified in September 2015 that Inspections staff intended to inspect the Issuer Audit, Ford—who was the engagement partner responsible for that audit—made or directed additions and alterations to audit documentation for the Issuer Audit. Those modifications were made after the documentation completion date for the Issuer Audit and on backdated computers. Ford made available the improperly modified audit documentation to Inspections staff in advance of their fieldwork in November-December 2015. At no time did Ford make PCAOB inspectors aware that the audit documentation for the Issuer Audit contained modifications made after the documentation completion date.

4. By making and directing improper modifications of audit documentation in broker-dealer and issuer audits, Ford violated AS 3.[4] By making improperly modified

[4] All references to PCAOB rules and standards are to the versions of those rules and standards in effect at the time of the relevant conduct. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its rules and standards using a topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Release

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

audit documentation in two of those audits available to PCAOB inspectors without disclosing the modifications, Ford violated Rule 4006.

C. Ford Violated PCAOB Rules and Auditing Standards

5. PCAOB rules require that registered public accounting firms and their associated persons comply with applicable auditing and related professional practice standards.[5]

6. AS 3 requires that a complete and final set of documentation for an audit be assembled for retention by the documentation completion date, a date no later than 45 days after the date on which the auditor grants permission to use its audit report.[6] After the documentation completion date, audit documentation must not be deleted or discarded from the audit file, but it may be added as long as the auditor documents the date it was added, the name of the person who prepared it, and the reason for adding it.[7] AS 3 also requires that audit documentation contain sufficient information to enable an experienced auditor, having no previous connection with an engagement, to determine who performed the work that has been documented, the date the work was completed, who reviewed that work, and the date of the review.[8]

7. Rule 4006 requires registered firms and their associated persons to "cooperate with the Board in the performance of any Board inspection." This cooperation requirement includes an "obligation not to provide misleading documents or information in connection with the Board's inspection processes."[9]

No. 2015-002 (Mar. 31, 2015); see also PCAOB Auditing Standards Reorganized and Pre-Reorganized Numbering (January 2016), https://pcaobus.org/Standards/Auditing/Documents/PrintableReferenceTable.pdf.

[5] See PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards.

[6] See AS 3 ¶ 15.

[7] See id. ¶ 16.

[8] See id. ¶ 6.b.

[9] Nathan M. Suddeth, CPA, PCAOB Rel. No. 105-2013-007 (Sept. 10, 2013).

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

Background Regarding the Audits

8. Each of the 15 Broker-Dealers was, at all relevant times, a broker and dealer as defined in Section 110(3) and (4) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(b)(iii) and 1001(d)(iii). Samet's audit report in connection with each of the Broker-Dealer Audits stated that the audit was conducted in accordance with PCAOB standards.

9. The report release dates for the Broker-Dealer Audits were between February 13, 2015 and February 28, 2015.[10] The documentation completion dates for the Broker-Dealer Audits, therefore, were between March 30, 2015 through April 14, 2015.[11]

10. The Firm's sole issuer client was, at all relevant times, an issuer as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

11. The report release date for the Issuer Audit was June 23, 2015. The documentation completion date for the Issuer Audit, therefore, was no later than August 7, 2015.

Ford Violated AS 3 and Rule 4006 in Connection with Broker-Dealer Audits

12. On March 24, 2015, Inspections staff notified the Firm that it was due for an inspection pursuant to the Board's interim broker-dealer inspection program, and that one or more of Samet's audits of broker-dealer clients would be reviewed in connection with that inspection. That notification came during the 45-day documentation period for each of the Broker-Dealer Audits, for which Samet had signed and released audit reports between February 13, 2015 and February 28, 2015.

13. Ford led Samet's efforts in preparing for, providing information to, and otherwise communicating with PCAOB inspectors in connection with their broker-dealer inspection of the Firm.

14. Ford and other personnel, who had made permissible changes to the work papers for the 15 Broker-Dealer Audits before and after the March 24, 2015 notification,

---

[10] See AS 3 ¶ 14 (defining report release date as the "date the auditor grants permission to use the auditor's report in connection with the issuance of the company's financial statements").

[11] See id. ¶ 15 (defining documentation completion date as "a date not more than 45 days after the report release date").

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

continued to make changes even after the documentation completion dates for those audits, which were between March 30, 2015 and April 14, 2015.

15. Specifically, in April through early June 2015, Ford made changes after applicable documentation completion dates to the audit files for nine of the 15 Broker-Dealer Audits, including the Inspected Broker-Dealer Audit. During the same time period, Ford directed junior personnel to make changes after applicable documentation completion dates to audit files for 10 of the 15 Broker-Dealer Audits, including some of the same audit files to which Ford made changes directly. The changes consisted of additions of work papers to, and alterations of text in existing work papers contained in, the 15 audit files.

16. Ford and other personnel under his direction concealed the modifications by backdating their computers while making them. The backdated computers caused the "Last Modified" date field in the metadata for each added or altered work paper, as well as the "Modified" date entry for that work paper in the audit file index, to reflect a date preceding the documentation completion date rather than the date on which the work paper was actually added or altered.

17. On June 11, 2015, Inspections staff notified the Firm that it had selected the Inspected Broker-Dealer Audit for inspection. Later that month, Ford made and directed additional changes to the audit documentation for the Inspected Broker-Dealer Audit. Those changes included the revision of planning documentation to include an explanation concerning internal controls, the revision of a work paper reflecting confirmation testing to add tick marks and cross-references to other work papers, and the addition of work papers documenting procedures concerning related parties and investment-related testing. Those changes were all made after the April 11, 2015 documentation completion date for that audit.

18. Ford and personnel directed by Ford made the above additions without documenting the date the documentation was added, the name of the person who prepared it, or the reason for adding it. Moreover, Ford and personnel directed by Ford again concealed the additions and alterations by backdating their computers while making the changes to the audit work papers.

19. Ford made available the improperly modified work papers for the Inspected Broker-Dealer Audit to Inspections staff in advance of the staff's July 2015 inspection fieldwork. Those work papers included an audit file index with false, computer-backdated "Modified" date entries. At no time did Ford make PCAOB inspectors aware that the audit documentation for the Inspected Broker-Dealer Audit had been altered after the documentation completion date. As a result of the above conduct, Ford violated AS 3 and Rule 4006.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

Ford Violated AS 3 and Rule 4006 in Connection with the Issuer Audit

20. In May 2015, as it had done in previous years, Samet arranged for the performance of an annual quality review of several of its completed audits by an accountant from outside of the Firm. In September 2015, Samet transmitted to the outside accountant performing the 2015 review ("Outside Accountant") the audit files for certain of its most recently completed audits, including the Issuer Audit.

21. On September 11, 2015, Inspections staff notified the Firm that it was due for an inspection pursuant to the Board's issuer inspection program, and that they would review the Issuer Audit in connection with that inspection. Ford led Samet's efforts in preparing for, providing information to, and otherwise communicating with PCAOB inspectors in connection with their issuer inspection of the Firm.

22. On September 30, 2015, the Outside Accountant emailed Samet comments based on his review of the work papers for the Issuer Audit. Those comments identified several items for the Firm's consideration, including instances of apparently absent or incomplete documentation.

23. On October 23, 2015, Ford and others at Samet had a call with the Outside Accountant during which they discussed his review of the Issuer Audit work papers and certain of the comments he had emailed on September 30, including those concerning documentation.

24. In October and November 2015, after the documentation completion date, Ford made and directed changes to the audit file for the Issuer Audit. Those changes included the additions of work papers to, and alterations of text in existing work papers contained in, the audit file for the Issuer Audit.

25. For example, on November 13, 2015, Ford emailed a manager and asked him to send the "open list of items" for the Issuer Audit. The manager emailed Ford an eight-item list referencing various aspects of the audit file for the Issuer Audit, including items corresponding to the Outside Accountant's documentation-related comments. With respect to one of these, the manager noted: "I sent you the work paper yesterday that I came up with." Ford supplemented the eight-item list with his own instructions and comments; inserted below it a separate 21-item list based on his own review of the audit file that identified missing or incomplete audit documentation or ways in which existing documentation could be improved; and included with many of these 21 items specific instructions on how to address the deficiencies. Ford emailed these lists to the manager with a message referencing preparations for the upcoming Board inspection: "We should plan on cleaning up on Monday—with the goal of copying the completed binder onto a laptop on Tuesday."

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

26. The work paper additions included not only additional documentation for procedures performed during the audit but also documentation of audit procedures that were performed in October 2015 by Samet personnel as directed by Ford.

27. Ford made and directed the above changes in the audit file before its review by Inspections staff. The changes were made after the August 7, 2015 documentation completion date for the Issuer Audit. Ford and those working under his direction failed to document the date documentation was added, the name of the person who prepared it, or the reason for adding it. Moreover, Ford was aware that personnel under his direction concealed the additions and alterations by backdating the clocks on their computers while making the changes to the audit work papers.

28. Ford made available the improperly modified work papers for the Issuer Audit to Inspections staff in advance of the staff's inspection fieldwork in November and December 2015. Those work papers included an audit file index with false, computer-backdated "Modified" date entries. At no time did Ford make PCAOB inspectors aware that the audit documentation for the Issuer Audit had been altered after the documentation completion date. As a result of the above conduct, Ford violated AS 3 and PCAOB Rule 4006.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in the Respondent's Offer. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), Paul L. Ford, Jr., CPA is hereby censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(B) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(2), Paul L. Ford, Jr., CPA is barred from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm, as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i);[12]

[12] As a consequence of the bar, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act will apply with respect to Ford. Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act provides that "[i]t shall be unlawful for any person that is suspended or barred from being associated with a registered public accounting firm under this subsection willfully to become or remain associated with any issuer, broker, or dealer in an accountancy or a financial management capacity, and for any issuer, broker, or dealer that knew, or in the exercise

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

C. After five (5) years from the date of this Order, Paul L. Ford, Jr., CPA may file a petition, pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5302(b), for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm.

D. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of $30,000 is imposed upon Paul L. Ford, Jr., CPA. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of this civil money penalty will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. Paul L. Ford, Jr., CPA shall pay the civil money penalty within ten (10) days of the issuance of this Order by (1) wire transfer pursuant to instructions provided by Board staff; or (2) United States Postal Service money order, bank money order, certified check, or bank cashier's check (a) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, (b) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, and (c) submitted under a cover letter, which identifies Paul L. Ford, Jr., CPA as a respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB release number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe W. Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

March 29, 2017

---

of reasonable care should have known, of such suspension or bar, to permit such an association, without the consent of the Board or the Commission."

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street, N.W.
Washington, DC 20006
Telephone: (202) 207-9100
Facsimile: (202) 862-0757
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS	PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-023
In the Matter of Schild & Co., Inc. and David Schild, CPA	April 12, 2017
Respondents.

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("Board" or "PCAOB") is censuring Schild & Co., Inc. ("Firm"), a registered public accounting firm, and suspending the Firm's registration for one (1) year from the date of the issuance of this Order; and censuring David Schild, CPA ("Schild"), and, for a period of one (1) year, limiting his activities in connection with any "audit," as that term is defined in Section 110(1) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act") by prohibiting him from serving in the role of engagement partner or engagement quality reviewer. The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that: (a) Schild and the Firm (collectively "Respondents") violated PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the Firm's audit of an issuer client's financial statements; and (b) Respondents violated Section 10A(g) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 ("Exchange Act"), Exchange Act Rule 10A-2, and PCAOB rules and standards concerning auditor independence in connection with the audit.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondents.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

II.

In anticipation of institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondents have each submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offers") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the facts contained in paragraphs 17 through 21 and the Board's jurisdiction over them and the subject matter of these proceedings, which are admitted, Respondents consent to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order").[1]

III.

On the basis of Respondents' Offers, the Board finds that:[2]

A. Respondents

1. Schild & Co., Inc. is a professional corporation organized under the laws of the state of California, and headquartered in Fountain Valley, California. The Firm has been registered with the Board pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules. The Firm is licensed to practice public accountancy in California (Lic. No. COR 7241) and in the state of Washington (Lic. No. 6175). At all relevant times, the Firm was the external auditor for the issuer identified below.

2. David Schild, CPA, 53, of Rancho Santa Margarita, California, is the sole partner of the Firm, and a certified public accountant ("CPA") licensed by the state of California (Lic. No. CPA 78824). Schild served as the engagement partner on the audit identified below. At all relevant times, Schild was an associated person of a registered

[1] The findings herein are made pursuant to the Respondents' Offers and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

[2] The Board finds that each Respondent's conduct described in this Order meets the conditions set out in Section 105(c)(5) of the Act, 15 U.S.C. § 7215(c)(5), which provides that certain sanctions may be imposed in the event of (A) intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, that results in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard; or (B) repeated instances of negligent conduct, each resulting in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

B. Summary

3. This matter concerns Respondents' violations of PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the Firm's audit of the December 31, 2014 financial statements of Perko Worldwide Corp. ("Perko").[3] As detailed below, Schild and the Firm failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence and exercise due care and professional skepticism in connection with the Perko audit.[4]

4. This matter also concerns Respondents' violations of PCAOB rules and standards and federal securities laws concerning auditor independence in connection with the Perko audit. Respondents prepared Perko's 2014 financial statements, which they then audited.[5]

5. The Firm also failed to comply with Auditing Standard No. 7, Engagement Quality Review ("AS 7"), in connection with the Perko audit by failing to obtain an engagement quality review before issuing its audit opinion even though an engagement quality review was required to be performed. Additionally, Schild violated PCAOB Rule 3502, Responsibility Not to Knowingly or Recklessly Contribute to Violations, by contributing to the Firm's violation of AS 7.

---

[3] All references to PCAOB rules and standards in this Order are to the versions of those rules and standards in effect for the audit described herein. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its rules and auditing standards using a topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Release No. 2015-002 (Mar. 31, 2015); see also PCAOB Auditing Standards Reorganized and PreReorganized Numbering (January 2016) https://pcaobus.org/Standards/Auditing/Documents/PrintableReferenceTable.pdf.

[4] See AU § 150.02, Generally Accepted Auditing Standards; AU § 230, Due Professional Care in the Performance of Work; Auditing Standard No. 15, Audit Evidence ("AS 15").

[5] See PCAOB Rule 3520, Auditor Independence; Section 10A(g)(1) of the Exchange Act; AU § 220, Independence.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

C. Respondents Violated PCAOB Rules and Standards in Connection with the FYE December 31, 2014 Perko Audit

6. In connection with the preparation or issuance of an audit report, PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons comply with all applicable auditing and related professional practice standards.[6] Among other things, PCAOB standards require that an auditor exercise due professional care, including professional skepticism, and obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to afford a reasonable basis for an opinion regarding the financial statements.[7] An auditor may express an unqualified opinion on an issuer's financial statements only when the auditor has formed such an opinion on the basis of an audit performed in accordance with PCAOB standards.[8]

7. The auditor's responses to the assessed risks of material misstatement, particularly fraud risks, should involve the application of professional skepticism in gathering and evaluating audit evidence.[9] PCAOB standards further require the auditor to evaluate whether the financial statements are presented fairly, in all material respects, in conformity with the applicable financial reporting framework.[10] If audit evidence obtained from one source is inconsistent with that obtained from another, or if the auditor has doubts about the reliability of information to be used as audit evidence, PCAOB standards require the auditor to perform the audit procedures necessary to resolve the matter and determine the effect, if any, on other aspects of the audit.[11]

8. As detailed below, Respondents failed to comply with PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the Perko audit.

---

[6] See PCAOB Rules 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Standards; 3200T, Interim Auditing Standards.

[7] See AU § 150.02; AU § 230; AS 15.

[8] See AU § 508.07, Reports on Audited Financial Statements.

[9] See Auditing Standard No. 13, The Auditor's Responses to the Risks of Material Misstatement ("AS 13"), ¶ 7.

[10] See Auditing Standard No. 14, Evaluating Audit Results ("AS 14"), ¶ 30.

[11] See AS 15, ¶ 29.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

2014 Audit of Perko

9. Perko is a Delaware corporation headquartered in Fort Lauderdale, Florida. Perko's public filings disclose that it is a development stage company, formed to develop and build a patented revolutionary type of high-speed roll on/roll off container cargo transportation vessel having secondary and tertiary sources of income within each ship of parcels and passengers. Perko filed an amended registration statement on a Form S-1/A with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission ("Commission") on June 16, 2015. The amended registration statement included an audit report containing an unqualified audit opinion issued by the Firm, dated June 8, 2015, on the financial statements of Perko as of and for the year ended December 31, 2014. At all relevant times, Perko was an issuer as that term is defined by Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

10. Schild was the engagement partner for the Firm's audit of the December 31, 2014 financial statements of Perko with primary responsibility for the audit. On June 8, 2015, Schild authorized the issuance of an audit report expressing an unqualified opinion on Perko's financial statements. The audit report was included in the Form S-1/A that Perko filed with the Commission on June 16, 2015.

11. Perko's December 31, 2014 financial statements disclosed a patent, recorded as an intangible asset, that accounted for nearly all of the company's assets. Perko reported no revenues for fiscal year 2014, and sustained an operating loss of about $100,000. As part of its audit, the Firm obtained documentation that the patent was issued to David Perko, Perko's CEO, on March 21, 2006. Schild also spoke with David Perko regarding the patent. The Firm's work papers indicate that David Perko said he contributed the patent to Perko. Respondents failed to corroborate this information during the audit. Perko recorded the value of the patent on its books in the amount of $402,000, less depreciation of $175,875, as of December 31, 2014.

12. Other than obtaining management representations, Respondents failed to test Perko's rights to the patent, or whether Perko properly valued the asset. Respondents failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence regarding the nature of the arrangement between Perko and David Perko with respect to ownership of the patent. As a result, Respondents failed to exercise due professional care, including professional skepticism, during the audit, and failed to obtain sufficient appropriate evidence to provide a reasonable basis for the opinion issued in connection with Perko's 2014 financial statements.[12]

---

[12] See AU § 230; AS 13, ¶ 7; AS 15, ¶¶ 4-6.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

D. Respondents Failed to Comply with Auditor Independence Requirements

13. PCAOB rules and standards require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons be independent of the firm's audit client throughout the audit and professional engagement period.[13] A registered public accounting firm or associated person's independence obligation with respect to an audit client that is an issuer encompasses not only an obligation to satisfy the independence criteria set out in the rules and standards of the PCAOB, but also an obligation to satisfy all other independence criteria applicable to the engagement, including the independence criteria set out in the rules and regulations of the Commission under the federal securities laws.[14]

14. Section 10A(g) of the Exchange Act provides that it shall be unlawful for a registered public accounting firm (and any associated person of that firm, to the extent determined appropriate by the Commission) that performs an audit for an issuer "to provide to that issuer, contemporaneously with the audit, any non-audit service, including . . . [b]ookkeeping or other services related to the accounting records or financial statements of the audit client."

15. Exchange Act Rule 10A-2 states that it shall be unlawful for an auditor not to be independent with respect to, among other requirements, the prohibited non-audit services provisions of Commission Regulation S-X. Rule 2-01 of Regulation S-X provides that an accountant is not independent if, at any point during the audit and professional engagement period, the accountant provides certain non-audit services for audit clients, including bookkeeping and financial statement preparation services.[15]

16. With respect to the 2014 Perko audit, Respondents prepared the financial statements that formed the bases of Perko's financial statements that were included in Perko's Form S-1/A filed with the Commission. As a result, Respondents failed to comply with PCAOB rules and standards, the Exchange Act, and Exchange Act rules in connection with the audit.[16]

---

[13] See PCAOB Rule 3520; AU § 220.

[14] See PCAOB Rule 3520, Note 1.

[15] See 17 C.F.R. §§ 210.2-01(b), (c)(4)(i).

[16] See Section 10A(g) of the Exchange Act; Exchange Act Rule 10A-2; PCAOB Rule 3520; AU § 220.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

E. The Firm Violated Auditing Standard No. 7, Engagement Quality Review

17. For audits of issuer financial statements for years beginning on or after December 15, 2009, AS 7 requires that an engagement quality review be performed on audits and interim reviews conducted pursuant to PCAOB standards.[17] AS 7 also provides that, in an audit, a firm may grant permission to a client to use the engagement report only after an engagement quality reviewer provides concurring approval of issuance of the report.[18]

18. The Firm improperly permitted Perko to use its audit report for Perko's year-end 2014 financial statements, dated June 8, 2015, without first obtaining an engagement quality review and concurring approval of issuance. As a result, the Firm violated AS 7.[19]

F. Schild Contributed to the Firm's Violation

19. PCAOB Rule 3502 prohibits an associated person of a registered public accounting firm from taking or omitting to take an action knowing, or recklessly not knowing, that the act or omission would directly and substantially contribute to a violation by that firm of the Act, the rules of the Board, the provisions of the securities laws relating to the preparation and issuance of audit reports and the obligations and liabilities of accountants with respect thereto, including the rules of the Commission issued under the Act, or professional standards.

20. Schild, the sole partner of the Firm, was principally responsible for the Perko audit conducted by the Firm. Accordingly, Schild had primary responsibility for the audit, including ensuring that the Firm complied with PCAOB rules and standards.

21. Schild knew, or was reckless in not knowing, that he was directly and substantially contributing to the Firm's violation of AS 7 on the Perko audit set forth above. As a result, he violated PCAOB Rule 3502.

****

---

[17] See AS 7, ¶ 1.

[18] Id., ¶ 13.

[19] Id., ¶ 1.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

22. During the Board's investigation, Respondents provided substantial assistance to the Division of Enforcement and Investigations ("Division") by voluntarily providing information regarding the independence and AS 7 violations in a timely manner.[20] Respondents disclosed to the Division that, during the Perko audit, Respondents prepared Perko's December 31, 2014 financial statements. Respondents also disclosed to the Division that the Firm did not obtain concurring approval of issuance of the June 8, 2015 Perko audit report before it granted Perko permission to use the audit report. The Board took this extraordinary cooperation into account in ordering the sanctions under Section IV of this Order.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondents' Offers. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), Schild & Co., Inc. and David Schild, CPA are hereby censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(C) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(3), for a period of one (1) year from the date of the issuance of this Order, David Schild, CPA's role in any "audit," as that terms is defined in Section 110(1) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(a)(v), shall be restricted as follows: David Schild, CPA shall not (1) serve as an "engagement partner," as that term is used in the Board's Auditing Standard No. 10, Supervision of the Audit Engagement (reorganized as AS 1201); (2) serve as an "engagement quality reviewer," as that term is used in Auditing Standard No. 7, Engagement Quality Review, (reorganized as AS 1220); (3) serve in any role that is equivalent to engagement partner or engagement quality reviewer, but differently denominated (such as "lead partner," "practitioner-in-charge," or "concurring partner"); or (4) exercise authority either to sign a registered public accounting firm's name to an audit report, or to consent to the use of a previously issued audit report, for any issuer, broker, or dealer; and [20] See Policy Statement Regarding Credit for Extraordinary Cooperation in Connection with Board Investigations, PCAOB Release No. 2013-003 (Apr. 24, 2013).

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

C. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(A) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(1), the registration of Schild & Co., Inc. is suspended for a period of one (1) year.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

April 12, 2017

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street, N.W.
Washington, DC 20006
Telephone: (202) 207-9100
Facsimile: (202) 862-0757
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of BDO Magyarország Könyvvizsgáló Kft., Respondent.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-024

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (the "Board" or "PCAOB") is censuring BDO Magyarország Könyvvizsgáló Kft., a/k/a BDO Hungary Audit, Ltd. ("Respondent" or the "Firm"), imposing a $20,000 civil money penalty on the Firm, and requiring the Firm to undertake certain remedial measures, including measures to establish policies and procedures directed toward ensuring compliance with auditor independence requirements. The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that, in connection with the audits of two issuers, the Firm violated (1) PCAOB Rule 3520*, Auditor Independence*, by failing to satisfy applicable independence criteria, including as set out in Securities and Exchange Commission ("Commission") rules; and (2) PCAOB Rule 3526, Communication with Audit Committees Concerning Independence.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted against Respondent pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1).

II.

In anticipation of institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Settlement of Disciplinary Proceedings Without a Determination After Hearing, Respondent has submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offer") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over Respondent and the subject matter of these proceedings, which is admitted,

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

Respondent consents to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[1]

III.

On the basis of Respondent's Offer, the Board finds that:

A. Respondent

1. BDO Magyarország Könyvvizsgáló Kft., a/k/a BDO Hungary Audit, Ltd., is, and at all relevant times was, a limited liability company organized under Hungarian law, and headquartered in Budapest, Hungary. The Firm is licensed by the Hungarian Chamber of Auditors (license no. MKVK 0049). The Firm is a member of BDO International Limited. At all relevant times, the Firm has been registered with the Board pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules.

B. Summary

2. This matter concerns Respondent's violations of PCAOB 3520,[2] which requires a registered public accounting firm to be independent of the firm's issuer audit clients throughout the audit and professional engagement period. Under Rule 3520, a firm's independence requirements include an obligation to satisfy the independence criteria set out in Commission rules and regulations.

3. At the time Respondent commenced field work for the audits of the financial statements of iGlue, Inc. ("iGlue") for the years ending December 31, 2013 and 2014, and Power of the Dream Ventures, Inc. ("PDV") for the year ended December 31, 2014, there were unpaid prior year audit fees that were material in relation to the fee the Firm expected to charge for those audits. Additionally, at the time those audit

---

[1] The findings herein are made pursuant to Respondent's Offer and are not binding on any other persons or entities in this or any other proceeding.

[2] All references to PCAOB rules and standards are to the versions of those rules and standards in effect at the time of the relevant audits. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its rules and auditing standards using a topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Release No. 2015-002 (Mar. 31, 2015); see also PCAOB Auditing Standards Reorganized and Pre-Reorganized Numbering (January 2016), https://pcaobus.org/Standards/Auditing/Documents/PrintableReferenceTable.pdf.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

engagements were commenced, neither iGlue nor PDV had made any definite commitments or arrangements to pay the overdue audit fees. Respondent's commencement of field work under these circumstances was inconsistent with the independence criteria set out in Commission regulations. Accordingly, in connection with the audits of iGlue's December 31, 2013 and 2014 financial statements, and PDV's December 31, 2014 financial statements, Respondent violated PCAOB Rule 3520.

4. This matter also concerns the failure of Respondent to comply with PCAOB Rule 3526. PCAOB Rule 3526 requires, among other things, that a registered firm describe to the audit committee of the audit client, at least annually and in writing, certain relationships that, as of the date of the communication, may reasonably be thought to bear on independence . The Firm failed to make that required communication with respect to unpaid fees for either the 2013 and 2014 iGlue audits or the 2014 PDV audit.

5. Finally, Respondent failed to comply with PCAOB quality control standards at the time of the audits discussed herein, because it had not established policies and procedures to provide the Firm with reasonable assurance that (a) it would maintain independence in all required circumstances;[3] and (b) the policies and procedures the Firm had established relating to independence were suitably designed and were being effectively applied.[4] Respondent was aware that, at the time it commenced field work for the 2013 and 2014 iGlue audits and for the 2014 PDV audit, there were unpaid prior year audit fees and that neither iGlue nor PDV had made any definite commitments or arrangements to pay the overdue fees. Additionally, Respondent was aware that commencing field work under those circumstances was contrary to the Firm's own system of quality control regarding adherence to PCAOB auditor independence requirements. Throughout those audits, however, Respondent repeatedly failed to evaluate appropriately whether it was independent of iGlue and PDV as required by PCAOB rules and standards, including whether it satisfied the independence criteria set out in the Commission's rules.

---

[3] QC §§ 20.09–.10, System of Quality Control for a CPA Firm's Accounting and Auditing Practice; see also QC §§ 30.02–.03, Monitoring a CPA Firm's Accounting and Auditing Practice.

[4] QC § 20.20; see also QC §§ 30.02–.03.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

C. Respondent Failed to Maintain the Required Independence from iGlue and PDV

6. PCAOB rules require that, in connection with the preparation or issuance of any audit report, a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons comply with all applicable auditing and related professional practice standards, including independence and ethics standards.[5] In particular, PCAOB rules and standards require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons be independent of the firm's audit client throughout the audit and professional engagement period.[6] A registered public accounting firm's independence obligation with respect to an audit client that is an issuer encompasses not only an obligation to satisfy the independence criteria set out in the rules and standards of the PCAOB, but also an obligation to satisfy all other independence criteria applicable to the engagement, including the independence criteria set out in the rules and regulations of the Commission under the federal securities laws.[7]

7. The Commission has noted that if unpaid fees owed to an accountant for an extended period become material in relation to the fee expected to be charged for the current audit, "there may be a question concerning the accountant's independence . . . because the accountant may appear to have a direct interest in the results of operations of the client."[8] Such an interest would be inconsistent with the Commission's general standard of independence set out in Rule 2-01(b) of Regulation S-X.[9] For that reason, the Commission has noted that, "[g]enerally, prior year audit fees and other unpaid fees should be paid before a current audit engagement is commenced

---

[5] See PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards; PCAOB Rule 3200T, Interim Auditing Standards; PCAOB Rule 3500T, Interim Ethics Standards; and PCAOB Rule 3600T, Interim Independence Standards.

[6] PCAOB Rule 3520; AU § 220, Independence.

[7] See PCAOB Rule 3520, Note 1.

[8] Financial Reporting Codification ("Codification") 602.02.b.iv.

[9] Cf. Preliminary Note 2 to Rule 2-01 of Regulation S-X, 17 C.F.R. § 210.01 ("Rule 2-01") (in considering general standard, Commission looks to whether, among other things, the relationship creates a mutual interest between the accountant and the audit client).

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

in order for the accountant to be deemed independent."[10] The Commission has also noted, however, that "[n]ormally, a question would not be raised in such situation if, at the time the current audit engagement is commenced, a definite commitment is made by the client to pay the prior year fees before the current audit report is issued" (hereinafter, "Payment Agreement").[11]

8. As described below, there were unpaid audit fees due from iGlue and PDV at the time Respondent commenced field work for the 2013 and 2014 iGlue audits and the 2014 PDV audit. In addition, there was no Payment Agreement with respect to those unpaid fees between Respondent and either iGlue or PDV. As a result, Respondent violated PCAOB rules by failing to meet the Board's and the Commission's independence criteria with respect to those two issuer clients.[12]

Respondent Was Not Independent During its Audits of iGlue, Inc.

9. iGlue, formerly Hardwired Interactive, Inc., is a Nevada corporation with principal executive offices in Budapest, Hungary. iGlue operates through its wholly owned subsidiary In 4, Kft., a Hungarian limited liability company. iGlue's public filings disclose that the company focuses on the development and commercialization of an integrated online content manager and search engine built with social media extensions. iGlue's common stock was registered under Section 12(g) of the Exchange Act and quoted on the Pink Sheets of the National Quotation Bureau ("OTCQB") under the symbol "IGLU." At all relevant times, iGlue was an issuer as that term is defined by Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

---

[10] Codification 602.02.b.iv.

[11] Id.

[12] In addition, in the circumstances presented here, the absence of a definite commitment, as of the commencement of field work, to pay the outstanding fees before Respondent issued the current year's audit report, impaired Respondent's independence. We also note, however, that the presence of such a definite commitment would not, alone, have been sufficient to avoid an impairment, since the Board's independence criteria also provides that independence is impaired if fees for any professional services provided more than one year before the date of the audit report remain unpaid when the audit report on the client's current year is issued. ET §§ 191.103-104. With respect to the 2013 and 2014 iGlue audits and the 2014 PDV audit, such fees remained outstanding when the report was issued.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

10. Respondent was, at all relevant times, iGlue's external auditor and performed the audit of iGlue's financial statements for years ending December 31, 2012, December 31, 2013, and December 31, 2014. Each of the audit reports Respondent issued in connection with those audits included an explanatory paragraph indicating that there was substantial doubt about iGlue's ability to continue as a going concern.

11. For the year ending December 31, 2012, the contracted audit fee for Respondent's performance of the audit of iGlue's financial statements and quarterly review procedures ("2012 iGlue Audit") was approximately $23,100.[13]

12. On April 15, 2013, Respondent issued an audit report on iGlue's financial statements for the 2012 iGlue Audit. That same day, Respondent's audit report and iGlue's financial statements were included in the Form 10-K iGlue filed with the Commission for year ending December 31, 2012. The total unpaid billed and unbilled audit fees for the 2012 iGlue Audit due to Respondent from iGlue, as of the date Respondent issued its report for that audit, were approximately $10,600.

13. Respondent continued to provide audit and review services for iGlue for fiscal year 2013. The contracted audit fee iGlue agreed to pay Respondent to perform the audit and reviews of iGlue's 2013 financial statements was $4,200.

14. At the time Respondent commenced field work for the audit of iGlue's December 31, 2013 financial statements ("2013 iGlue Audit"), approximately $6,100 in billed audit fees for the 2012 iGlue Audit remained outstanding. Those unpaid fees were material in relation to the fee expected to be charged by Respondent for the 2013 iGlue Audit. In addition, there was no Payment Agreement between Respondent and iGlue.

15. On April 14, 2014, Respondent issued an audit report on iGlue's 2013 financial statements, and on the same day, iGlue included that audit report in its 2013 Form 10-K filed with the Commission.

16. Respondent continued to provide audit and review services for iGlue for fiscal year 2014. The contracted audit fee iGlue agreed to pay Respondent to perform the audit and reviews of iGlue's 2014 financial statements was $4,200.

---

[13] The dollar amounts and percentages herein are approximate, calculated in United States Dollars and rounded to the nearest whole number, except as otherwise stated. In addition, all stated billed and unbilled audit fees include a 27% value added tax.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

17. At the time Respondent commenced field work for the audit of iGlue's December 31, 2014 financial statements ("2014 iGlue Audit"), approximately $10,300 in billed and unbilled audit fees for the 2012 and 2013 iGlue Audits remained outstanding. Those unpaid fees were material in relation to the fee expected to be charged by Respondent for the 2014 iGlue Audit. In addition, there was no Payment Agreement between Respondent and iGlue.

18. On March 31, 2015, Respondent issued an audit report on iGlue's 2014 financial statements, and on the same day, iGlue included that audit report in its 2014 Form 10-K filed with the Commission

19. As a result of the conduct described above, Respondent violated PCAOB rules by failing to satisfy applicable independence criteria set out in Commission regulations with respect to the 2013 and 2014 iGlue Audits.[14]

Respondent Was Not Independent During its 2014 PDV Audit

20. PDV is a Delaware corporation with principal executive offices in Budapest, Hungary. PDV's public filings disclose that it is a Hungarian-based holding company focused on technology acquisition and development enabling the delivery of revolutionary concepts and ready to market products to the international marketplace. PDV's common stock was registered under Section 12(g) of the Exchange Act and quoted on the OTC Bulletin Board ("OTCBB") under the symbol "PWRV". At all relevant times, PDV was an issuer as that term is defined by Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

21. Respondent was, at all relevant times, PDV's external auditor and performed the audits of PDV's financial statements for 2013 and 2014 ("PDV Audits"). Both of the audit reports Respondent issued in connection with the PDV Audits included an explanatory paragraph indicating that there was substantial doubt about the ability of PDV to continue as a going concern.

22. For the year ending December 31, 2013 ("2013 PDV Audit"), the contracted audit fee agreed to by PDV and Respondent was approximately $37,000.

23. On April 14, 2014, Respondent issued an audit report on PDV's 2013 financial statements that PDV included in its 2013 Form 10-K filed with the Commission. The total unpaid billed ($18,500) and unbilled ($18,500) audit fees due to Respondent

---

[14] See PCAOB Rule 3520; Rule 2-01(b); Codification 602.02.b.iv.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

from PDV for the 2013 PDV Audit, as of the date Respondent issued its audit report for that audit, were approximately $37,000.

24. Respondent continued to provide audit and review services for PDV for fiscal year 2014. The contracted audit fee PDV agreed to pay Respondent to perform the audit and reviews of PDV's 2014 financial statements was $27,000.

25. At the time Respondent commenced field work for the audit of PDV's December 31, 2014 financial statements ("2014 PDV Audit"), PDV had failed to pay to Respondent any of the contracted audit fee (i.e., $37,000) agreed to by PDV and Respondent for the 2013 PDV Audit. Moreover, the unpaid fees were material in relation to the fee Respondent expected to charge for the 2014 PDV Audit. There was also no Payment Agreement between Respondent and PDV.

26. On April 15, 2015, Respondent issued its audit report on PDV's 2014 financial statements, and PDV included that audit report in its 2014 Form 10-K filed with the Commission.

27. As a result of the conduct described above, Respondent violated PCAOB rules by failing to satisfy applicable independence criteria set out in Commission regulations with respect to the 2014 PDV Audit.[15]

D. Respondent Violated PCAOB Rules Related to Certain Required Communications With the Audit Committees of iGlue and PDV Concerning Independence

28. PCAOB rules require auditors to provide to an issuer's audit committee or equivalent certain independence communications.[16] In particular, PCAOB Rule 3526 requires an auditor to make certain communications, in writing, at least annually with respect to each of its issuer audit clients, including a written communication describing to the audit committee of the audit client, as of the date of the communication, relationships that may reasonably be thought to bear on independence.[17] The Firm failed to make that required communication with respect to the unpaid audit fees associated with the 2013 and 2014 iGlue Audits and the 2014 PDV Audit, in violation of PCAOB Rule 3526.

---

15 See PCAOB Rule 3520; Rule 2-01(b); Codification 602.02.b.iv.

16 PCAOB Rule 3526.

17 PCAOB Rule 3526(b)(1).

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

E. Respondent Violated PCAOB Rules and Standards Related to Quality Control

29. PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm comply with the Board's quality control standards,[18] which provide that a registered public accounting firm "shall have a system of quality control for its accounting and auditing practice."[19] PCAOB quality control standards further state that policies and procedures should be established to provide the firm with reasonable assurance that "personnel maintain independence . . . in all required circumstances" and "that the work performed by engagement personnel meets applicable professional standards, regulatory requirements, and the firm's standards of quality."[20] Additionally, PCAOB quality control standards provide that policies and procedures for monitoring "should be established to provide the firm with reasonable assurance that the policies and procedures established by the firm for each of the other elements of quality control . . . are suitably designed and are being effectively applied," and that "its system of quality control is effective."[21]

30. Respondent was aware that, at the time it commenced field work for the 2013 and 2014 iGlue audits and for the 2014 PDV audit, there were unpaid prior year audit fees and that there was no Payment Agreement with respect to those unpaid fees between Respondent and either iGlue or PDV. Additionally, Respondent was aware that commencing field work under those circumstances was contrary to the Firm's own system of quality control regarding adherence to PCAOB auditor independence requirements. However, Respondent failed to suitably design, effectively apply, or appropriately monitor quality control policies and procedures to provide reasonable assurance concerning the Firm's independence. Those failures resulted in, or contributed to, Respondent repeatedly violating PCAOB rules and standards related to independence, including by failing to satisfy applicable Commission independence criteria as described above.

31. As a result, Respondent violated PCAOB quality control standards from 2013 to 2015.

---

[18] PCAOB Rule 3100; PCAOB Rule 3400T, Interim Quality Control Standards.

[19] QC § 20.01.

[20] QC §§ 20.09-.10, and 20.17.

[21] QC § 20.20; see also QC § 30.03.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondent's Offer. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), the Firm is hereby censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of $20,000 is imposed upon the Firm. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of this civil money penalty will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. The Firm shall pay this civil money penalty within ten (10) days of the issuance of this Order by (1) wire transfer pursuant to instructions provided by Board staff; or (2) United States Postal Service money order, bank money order, certified check, or bank cashier's check (a) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, (b) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, and (c) submitted under a cover letter, which identifies the Firm as a respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB release number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe W. Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006.

C. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(G) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(9), the Firm is required:

1. within ninety (90) days from the date of this Order, to establish policies and procedures, or revise and/or supplement existing policies and procedures, for the purpose of providing the Firm with reasonable assurance of compliance with auditor independence requirements applicable to audits and reviews conducted pursuant to PCAOB standards;

2. within ninety (90) days from the date of this Order, to establish policies to ensure training of Firm personnel concerning auditor independence requirements applicable to audits and reviews conducted pursuant to PCAOB standards; and

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

3. within one hundred twenty (120) days from the date of this Order, to certify in writing to the Director of the Division of Enforcement and Investigations, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, the Firm's compliance with paragraphs C(1) through C(2) above. The certification shall identify the undertakings, provide written evidence of compliance in the form of a narrative, and be supported by exhibits sufficient to demonstrate compliance. The Firm shall also submit such additional evidence of and information concerning compliance as the staff of the Division of Enforcement and Investigations may reasonably request.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

April 12, 2017

1666 K Street, N.W.
Washington, DC 20006
Telephone: (202) 207-9100
Facsimile: (202) 862-0757
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS	PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-025
In the Matter of Thomas W. Klash, CPA,	April 26, 2017
Respondent.

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("Board" or "PCAOB") is censuring Thomas W. Klash, CPA ("Firm" or "Respondent"), revoking the Firm's registration, and imposing a civil money penalty in the amount of $5,000 on the Firm.[1] The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that, in two audits, Respondent violated PCAOB Rule 3520, Auditor Independence, by failing to satisfy applicable independence criteria, including as set out in Securities and Exchange Commission ("Commission") rules and PCAOB standards, through its use of an engagement quality reviewer who was not independent of the issuer audit client.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondent.

II.

In anticipation of institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondent has submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offer") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over Respondent and the subject matter of these proceedings, which are admitted,

[1] The Firm may reapply for registration after one (1) year from the date of this Order.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

Respondent consents to the entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[2]

III.

On the basis of Respondent's Offer, the Board finds that:[3]

A. Respondent

1. Thomas W. Klash, CPA is a sole proprietorship organized under the laws of Florida, and headquartered in Hollywood, Florida. The Firm is registered with the Board pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules, and licensed by the Florida Department of Business & Professional Regulation, Division of Certified Public Accounting (Lic. No. AD69047).

B. Relevant Individuals

2. Thomas W. Klash, CPA ("Klash"), 69, of Hollywood, Florida, is a certified public accountant licensed by the Florida Department of Business & Professional Regulation, Division of Certified Public Accounting (Lic. No. AC0003803). At all relevant times, Klash was the sole proprietor of the Firm. Klash was the engagement partner on the Firm's issuer audits discussed below. Klash is, and at all relevant times was, an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

3. Norman H. Becker, CPA, is a certified public accountant licensed by the Florida Department of Business & Professional Regulation, Division of Certified Public Accounting (Lic. No. R000630). Norman Becker was the engagement quality reviewer on the issuer audits discussed below.

---

[2] The findings herein are made pursuant to Respondent's Offer and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

[3] The Board finds that Respondent's conduct described in this Order meets the conditions set out in Section 105(c)(5) of the Act, 15 U.S.C. § 7215(c)(5), which provides that such sanctions may be imposed in the event of: (1) intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, that results in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard; or (2) repeated instances of negligent conduct, each resulting in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

4. David A. Becker, CPA, is a certified public accountant licensed by the Florida Department of Business & Professional Regulation, Division of Certified Public Accounting (Lic. No. AC0030201). David Becker was in an accounting role at the issuer identified below from 2009 until March 31, 2014. In that role, he prepared the issuer's June 30, 2012 and June 30, 2013 year-end financial statements. David Becker is Norman Becker's son.

C. Summary

5. This matter concerns the Firm's violation of independence requirements. By using an engagement quality reviewer whose son was in an accounting role at the issuer audit client during the periods covered by financial statements that the Firm audited, the Firm failed to satisfy the independence criteria set out in Commission rules, 17 C.F.R. 210.2-01, and in PCAOB auditing standards, AU § 220, Independence ("AU § 220"), all in violation of PCAOB Rule 3520.[4]

D. Respondent Failed to Maintain the Required Independence from Its Issuer Audit Client

6. In connection with the preparation or issuance of an audit report, PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons comply with all applicable auditing and related professional practice standards.[5] In particular, PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons be independent of the firm's audit client throughout the audit and professional engagement period.[6] A registered public accounting firm or an associated person's

---

[4] All references to PCAOB standards are to the versions of the standards in effect at the time of the relevant audits. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its standards using a topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Release No. 2015-002 (Mar. 31, 2015); see also PCAOB Auditing Standards Reorganized and Pre-Reorganized Numbering (January 2016), https://pcaobus.org/Standards/Auditing/Documents/PrintableReferenceTable.pdf.

[5] PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards ("PCAOB Rule 3100"); PCAOB Rule 3200T, Interim Auditing Standards ("PCAOB Rule 3200T").

[6] See PCAOB Rule 3520; see also AU §§ 220.01-.02.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

independence obligation with respect to an audit client that is an issuer encompasses not only an obligation to satisfy the independence criteria set out in the rules and standards of the PCAOB, but also an obligation to satisfy all other independence criteria applicable to the engagement, including the independence criteria set out in the rules and regulations of the Commission under the federal securities laws.[7]

7. Rule 2-01 of Commission Regulation S-X[8] ("Rule 2-01") provides that an accountant is not independent in the event of, among other things, certain employment relationships between an audit client and certain relatives of the accountant.[9] As pertinent here, Rule 2-01 provides that independence is impaired if a close family member of an accountant was in an "accounting role" at the audit client "during any period covered by" the audit.[10] Rule 2-01(f)(9) defines "close family members" to include, among others, a nondependent child. Rule 2-01(f)(3)(i) defines "accounting role" as a role in which a person is in a position to or does exercise more than minimal influence over the contents of the accounting records or anyone who prepares them.

8. Norman Becker ("Becker") served as the Firm's engagement quality reviewer on two audits that the Firm conducted for Osler, Inc. ("Osler"), relating to audit reports that the Firm issued on August 27, 2012 and September 10, 2013, and that were included in Osler's annual reports on Form 10-K filed with the Commission on, respectively, September 11, 2012 and September 23, 2013.

9. In the August 27, 2012 audit report, the Firm opined on Osler's balance sheets as of June 30, 2012 and 2011, and the related statements of operations, shareholders' equity (deficit), and cash flows for the years then ended and for the period from July 30, 2004 through June 30, 2012. In the September 10, 2013 audit report, the Firm opined on Osler's balance sheets as of June 30, 2013 and 2012, and the related statements of operations, shareholders' equity (deficit), and cash flows for the years then ended and for the period from July 30, 2004 through June 30, 2013.

10. From 2009 through March 31, 2014, Becker's son was employed by Osler in an accounting role, as defined in Rule 2-01(f)(3)(i).

---

[7] See PCAOB Rule 3520, Note 1.

[8] 17 C.F.R. § 210.2-01.

[9] Rule 2-01(c)(2)(ii).

[10] Id.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

11. Because a close family member of Becker was in an accounting role at Osler during the periods covered by the audits on which Becker performed the services of engagement quality reviewer for the Firm, the Firm failed, with respect to those audits, to satisfy applicable independence criteria, including the criteria described above in the Commission's rules and the criteria in AU § 220. By failing to satisfy all applicable independence criteria with respect to the audits of Osler described above, the Firm violated PCAOB Rule 3520.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondent's Offer. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), Respondent is hereby censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(A) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(1) the registration of Respondent is revoked;

C. After one (1) year from the date of this Order, Respondent may reapply for registration by filing an application pursuant to PCAOB Rule 2101;

D. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of $5,000 payable by Respondent is imposed. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of these civil money penalties will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. Respondent shall pay this civil money penalty within 30 days of the issuance of this Order by (1) wire transfer in accordance with instructions furnished by Board staff; or (2) United States Postal Service money order, bank money order, certified check, or bank cashier's check (a) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, (b) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, and (c) submitted under a cover letter which identifies Respondent as a respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB Release number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe W. Brown, Secretary,

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

April 26, 2017

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street, N.W.
Washington, DC 20006
Telephone: (202) 207-9100
Facsimile: (202) 862-0757
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of Juan Edgar Mata Castro Respondent.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-026 May 24, 2017

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("Board" or "PCAOB") is (1) censuring Juan Edgar Mata Castro ("Mata" or "Respondent"); and (2) barring him from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm.[1] The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that Mata: (1) violated PCAOB rules and standards in connection with an audit of the financial statements of an issuer audit client; and (2) failed to cooperate with a Board inspection.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondent.

II.

In anticipation of institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondent submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offer") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over Respondent and the subject matter of these proceedings, which are admitted, [1] Respondent may file a petition for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm after two (2) years from the date of this Order.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

Respondent consents to the entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[2]

III.

On the basis of Respondent's Offer, the Board finds that:[3]

A. Respondent

1. Juan Edgar Mata Castro, age 41, of Mexico City, Mexico, was a senior manager in the Mexico City, Mexico office of Galaz, Yamazaki, Ruiz Urquiza, S.C. ("Deloitte Mexico" or "Firm") and an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i). The Firm is a member of the Deloitte Touche Tohmatsu Limited global network. Mata served as the senior manager for the audits of Southern Copper Corporation ("SCC" or "Company") for years ending December 31, 2009 through December 31, 2011. In August 2012, Mata took employment elsewhere and left Deloitte Mexico.

B. Issuer

2. SCC is a Delaware corporation headquartered in Phoenix, Arizona. SCC's public filings disclose that SCC is a large integrated copper producer with mining, smelting and refining facilities located in Peru and Mexico. Its common stock is listed on both the New York and Lima Stock Exchanges under the symbol "SCCO." At all relevant times, SCC was an issuer as that term is defined by Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

C. Summary

3. This matter concerns Respondent's violations of PCAOB rules and standards following the Firm's audits of the Company's December 31, 2010 financial

---

[2] The findings herein are made pursuant to the Respondent's Offer and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

[3] The Board finds that Respondent's conduct described in this Order meets the conditions set out in Section 105(c)(5) of the Act, 15 U.S.C. § 7215(c)(5), which provides that certain sanctions may be imposed in the event of: (A) intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, that results in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard; or (B) repeated instances of negligent conduct, each resulting in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

statements and the Company's internal control over financial reporting ("ICFR") as of December 31, 2010 (the "Audit"), as well as his misconduct in connection with a subsequent PCAOB inspection.[4] Respondent had served as the senior manager for the Company's audits since 2009. In that role, Respondent was supervised by the engagement partner on the Audit. Respondent also served as the senior manager on the part of the Audit related to SCC's Mexican subsidiary, Industrial Minera Mexico, S.A. de CV ("IMMSA"). As a senior manager on the IMMSA portion of the Audit, Respondent also was supervised by the IMMSA audit partner.

4. After the documentation completion date for the Audit, Respondent and certain other members of the engagement team improperly altered the documentation for the Audit.[5] Specifically, in advance of a post-audit internal practice review performed by the Firm ("Practice Review"),[6] Respondent and certain other members of the engagement team violated PCAOB Auditing Standard No. 3, Audit Documentation ("AS3"), by deleting work papers from and making other alterations to documentation that had previously been assembled for retention for the Audit. In addition, Respondent and certain other members of the engagement team made additions to the previously assembled documentation, without identifying when the additions were made, who made them, and why they were made, as required by AS3.

5. Beginning in March 2012, the staff of the Board's Division of Registration and Inspections ("Inspections") inspected the Audit. In connection with the inspection, the Firm made available to Inspections the Audit work papers Respondent and other members of the engagement team had previously improperly altered, as well as other

---

[4] All references to PCAOB rules and standards are to the versions of those rules and standards in effect at the time of the relevant conduct. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its auditing standards using a topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Release No. 2015-002 (Mar. 31, 2015); see also PCAOB Auditing Standards Reorganized and Pre-Reorganized Numbering (January 2016), https://pcaobus.org/Standards/Auditing/Documents/PrintableReferenceTable.pdf.

[5] See Arturo Vargas Arellano, CPC, PCAOB Rel. No. 105-2016-045 (Dec. 5, 2016); Miguel Angel Asencio Asencio, PCAOB Rel. No. 105-2016-046 (Dec. 5, 2016); Aldo Hidalgo de la Rosa, PCAOB Rel. No. 105-2016-047 (Dec. 5, 2016).

[6] During the relevant period, the Firm performed annual audit practice reviews. According to the Firm's policies, audit practice reviews serve to provide reasonable assurance that the firm's system of quality control is appropriately designed, relevant, adequate, operating effectively and complied with in practice.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

misleading information. At no time did Respondent inform Inspections of the improper alterations and other misleading information. As a result, Respondent violated PCAOB Rule 4006, Duty to Cooperate with Inspectors.

D. Respondent Violated PCAOB Rules and Standards After the Issuance of the Audit Reports

6. The Firm has been the external auditor for SCC since 2009. On February 25, 2011, the Firm issued unqualified opinions in the Audit reports that were included in the Company's Form 10-K filed with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission ("Commission") on February 28, 2011. The Audit reports stated that, in the Firm's opinion, the Company's financial statements presented fairly, in all material respects, the Company's financial position, and the results of its operations and cash flows in conformity with U.S. Generally Accepted Accounting Principles, and that the Company maintained, in all material respects, effective ICFR as of December 31, 2010. The Audit reports also stated that the Audit was conducted in accordance with PCAOB standards.

7. PCAOB rules require that registered public accounting firms and their associated persons comply with applicable auditing and related professional practice standards.[7]

8. PCAOB audit documentation standards require that the complete and final set of documentation for an audit be assembled for retention by the "documentation completion date," a date no later than 45 days from the date on which the auditor grants permission to use its report.[8] After the documentation completion date, audit documentation must not be deleted or discarded from the audit file, but it may be added as long as the auditor documents the date of the addition, the person who prepared the additional documentation, and the reason for adding the documentation.[9]

---

[7] See PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards.

[8] See AS3 ¶ 15.

[9] See id. ¶ 16.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

Respondent Violated the PCAOB Audit Documentation Standard in Anticipation of an Internal Practice Review of the Audit

Improper Alterations to the Audit Work Papers

9. On April 11, 2011, the engagement team assembled for retention the complete and final set of documentation for the Audit (the "April Archive"). On or before July 20, 2011, Respondent was notified that the Audit had been selected for an internal Practice Review. The Practice Review, which was part of the Firm's system of quality control, was scheduled to take place in early August 2011. In connection with the Practice Review, Respondent and other members of the engagement team violated PCAOB standards by improperly altering audit work papers.

10. When Respondent and the engagement team created the April Archive, the work papers did not include certain audit documentation required to support the Audit reports pursuant to PCAOB standards. For example, the April Archive did not contain an engagement completion document,[10] certain tax work papers, and other work papers that were necessary to support the Audit reports but were not timely assembled for retention.

11. Upon learning of the impending Practice Review, in late July 2011, Respondent and certain other members of the engagement team, at the direction of the engagement partner, reviewed the April Archive. Through that process, Respondent and certain other members of the engagement team became aware that the April Archive did not contain numerous work papers that were necessary to support the Audit reports and, in fact, contained work papers that did not even relate to the Audit.

12. In response, Respondent and certain other members of the engagement team reopened the April Archive in late July 2011 ("July Reopening"). The request for the July Reopening was submitted by Respondent and approved by the engagement partner and one other Firm audit partner, in accordance with the Firm's internal policies.

13. During the July Reopening, Respondent and certain other members of the engagement team violated AS3 by improperly deleting 21 work papers from the April Archive, improperly altering 36 existing work papers, and improperly adding 41 work papers.

---

[10] PCAOB audit documentation standards require that "[t]he auditor must identify all significant findings or issues in an engagement completion document." AS3 ¶ 13. Significant findings or issues are substantive matters that are important to the procedures performed, evidence obtained, or conclusions reached. AS3 ¶ 12.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

14. Among the work papers added was a memorandum that the engagement partner directed the Respondent and other engagement team members to create in order to describe procedures purportedly performed during the Audit to address the journal entry testing requirements of PCAOB standards ("July JET Memorandum").[11] During the July Reopening, engagement team members, including Respondent, created the July JET Memorandum, as the engagement partner directed, improperly backdated it to make it appear that it had been created during the Audit, backdated all electronic sign-offs, including Respondent's, and placed the memorandum in the Firm's documentation archiving system. During the July Reopening, Respondent and certain other members of the engagement team also added other significant work papers to the audit documentation, including an engagement completion document. Respondent submitted a request to close the file which did not indicate the dates the documents were added to the work papers, the names of the persons preparing the additional documentation, and the reason for adding the documentation months after the documentation completion date.

15. During the July Reopening, Respondent and certain other members of the engagement team also improperly backdated multiple review sign-offs on other work papers to make it appear that all of the reviews of work papers had taken place prior to the release date of the Audit reports.

Improper Alterations to the IMMSA-Related Work Papers

16. In late July 2011, Respondent was also directed by the IMMSA audit partner to review the IMMSA-related work papers that had been assembled for retention in June for completeness and to identify work papers that had been omitted.[12] Through that process, Respondent and certain other members of the engagement team became aware of deficiencies in the IMMSA-related work papers for the Audit.

17. In response, Respondent and certain other members of the engagement team accessed the IMMSA-related work papers that had been assembled for retention ("IMMSA Reopening"). The form completed by Respondent and other engagement team members stated that the IMMSA Reopening was necessary to make limited administrative corrections to add a single work paper, and no other changes would be

---

[11] See AU §§ 316.58 - .62, Consideration of Fraud in a Financial Statement Audit.

[12] The IMMSA-related work papers were assembled for retention in June 2011, the month before Respondent was informed of the Practice Review. However, they had not been assembled for retention by the documentation completion date for the Audit, as required by AS3.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

made to the separate IMMSA file. Respondent thereafter signed and entered into the Firm's archiving system a declaration stating that, during the IMMSA Reopening, only one IMMSA-related work paper would be added to the previously-assembled work papers and no IMMSA-related work papers would be deleted or altered. The IMMSA audit partner signed and entered into the Firm's archiving system a similar declaration and approved the IMMSA Reopening. The Engagement Quality Reviewer for the part of the Audit related to IMMSA approved the IMMSA Reopening based on the information in these declarations.

18. Contrary to Respondent's declaration, during the IMMSA Reopening, Respondent and certain other members of the engagement team violated AS3 by improperly deleting from the separate IMMSA file 26 IMMSA-related work papers that had previously been assembled for retention, improperly altering 90 existing IMMSA-related work papers, and improperly adding 17 IMMSA-related work papers to the separate IMMSA file.

The Firm's Practice Review of the Audit

19. In August 2011, the Firm's Practice Review team commenced its review of the Audit based on the July Archive, and not based on the audit work the team documented in the original April Archive. After reviewing the documentation contained in the July Archive, the Practice Review team made multiple negative observations concerning the work documented. In response, the engagement partner arranged for the July Archive to be reopened in December 2011 for the stated reason of adding work papers that existed prior to the documentation completion date but were not previously included in the Audit archive ("December Reopening").

20. On or about November 22, 2011, Respondent and others on the engagement team prepared a memorandum ("November Memorandum"), for inclusion in the Audit archive, which stated that seven work papers were modified and 39 work papers were added to the July Archive during the December Reopening. The November Memorandum, however, contained multiple errors and did not satisfy the requirements of AS3. Contrary to the text of the November Memorandum, during the December Reopening, four work papers were modified and 43 work papers were added to the July Archive. Once Respondent and certain other members of the engagement team completed the alterations to the July Archive, they closed the Audit archive, thus creating a new Audit archive ("December Archive").

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

21. As a result of his improper alteration of audit documentation, including the improper alteration of the work paper that was identified as the justification for the July Reopening, Respondent violated AS3.[13]

Respondent Failed to Cooperate with the Board's Inspection

22. On February 6, 2012, the Board notified the Firm that Inspections would inspect the Audit ("Board's Inspection"). The Act "requires the Board to conduct a 'continuing program of inspections to assess the degree of compliance of each registered public accounting firm and associated persons . . . with [the Act], the rules of the Board, the rules of the Commission, or professional standards.'"[14]

23. PCAOB rules require an associated person of a registered public accounting firm to "cooperate with the Board in the performance of any Board inspection."[15] This cooperation obligation "includes an obligation not to provide misleading documents or information in connection with the Board's inspection processes."[16]

Respondent and the Engagement Partner Completed a Misleading Engagement Profile

24. Field work for the Board's Inspection took place during the weeks of March 26 and April 2, 2012. On or before February 23, 2012, Respondent was notified that the Audit would be inspected. Before field work began, Inspections asked the Firm to complete a document entitled Public Company Accounting Oversight Board 2011 Inspection Period International Engagement Profile ("Engagement Profile"). Respondent and certain other members of the engagement team drafted responses to relevant portions of the Engagement Profile. One of the sections in the Engagement Profile was entitled "Documentation completion date." In responding to this section,

---

[13] See AS3 ¶ 16.

[14] Gately & Associates, LLC, SEC Release No. 34-62656 at 2 (Aug. 5, 2010) (quoting Section 104(a) of the Act).

[15] PCAOB Rule 4006.

[16] Deloitte Touche Tohmatsu Auditores Independentes, PCAOB Rel. No. 105-2016-031, ¶ 62 (December 5, 2016); José Domingos do Prado, PCAOB Rel. No. 105-2016-032, ¶ 55 (December 5, 2016); Arturo Vargas Arellano, CPC, PCAOB Rel. No. 105-2016-045 ¶ 38.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

Respondent and the engagement partner made reference to the April Archive and the December Archive, but failed to reveal the existence of the July Archive.

25. The next section in the Engagement Profile asked: "Have there been any changes made to the audit documentation subsequent to the documentation completion date [?] If yes, please explain the nature of the changes below, and provide a summary log of when the changes were made." In reply to this question, Respondent and the engagement partner checked the box signifying that changes had been made and attached the November Memorandum which described, in part, the alterations made during the December Reopening. Respondent and the engagement partner did not, however, reveal any of the numerous alterations made to the April Archive during the July Reopening.

26. At no point in time did Respondent disclose to Inspections that Respondent and certain other members of the engagement team had, in fact, improperly created, added, backdated, modified and deleted numerous work papers during the July Reopening, months after the documentation completion date, and shortly before the Practice Review. By providing misleading information to Inspections in the Engagement Profile, Respondent violated PCAOB Rule 4006.

Misleading Work Papers Made Available to Inspections

27. During field work for the Board's Inspection, the Firm made the work papers from the December Archive available to Inspections in electronic form. The December Archive included the documents improperly created, added, backdated, and modified from the April Archive, and excluded the documents improperly deleted from the April Archive. During the inspection process, Respondent had numerous conversations with PCAOB inspectors concerning the work he and others had performed during the Audit. At no time, however, did Respondent advise the PCAOB inspectors that any of these documents were improperly altered during the July Reopening even though he understood that Inspections was relying upon the December Archive to perform the inspection. For example, at no time did Respondent disclose to Inspections that the July JET Memorandum was improperly created, backdated and added to the April Archive during the July Reopening.

28. As a result of the conduct described above, Respondent failed to cooperate with the Board's Inspection, in violation of Rule 4006.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondent's Offer. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), Juan Edgar Mata Castro is hereby censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(B) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(2), Juan Edgar Mata Castro is barred from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm, as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i);[17] and

C. After two (2) years from the date of this Order, Juan Edgar Mata Castro may file a petition, pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5302(b), for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

May 24, 2017

[17] As a consequence of the bar imposed in this Order, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act will apply with respect to Respondent. Section 105(c)(7)(B) provides: "It shall be unlawful for any person that is suspended or barred from being associated with a registered public accounting firm under this subsection willfully to become or remain associated with any issuer, broker, or dealer in an accountancy or a financial management capacity, and for any issuer, broker, or dealer that knew, or in the exercise of reasonable care should have known, of such suspension or bar, to permit such an association, without the consent of the Board or the Commission."

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street, N.W.
Washington, DC 20006
Telephone: (202) 207-9100
Facsimile: (202) 862-0757
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of Kyle L. Tingle, CPA, LLC and Kyle L. Tingle, CPA Respondents.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-027 May 24, 2017

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (the "Board" or "PCAOB") is censuring Kyle L. Tingle, CPA, LLC (the "Firm") and revoking the Firm's registration;[1] and censuring Kyle L. Tingle, CPA, ("Tingle") and barring him from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm.[2] The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that the Firm and Tingle (collectively, "Respondents") violated PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the Firm's audits of two issuer clients.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondents.

II.

In anticipation of the institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondents have each submitted an Offer of Settlement (the "Offers") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over them and the subject matter of these proceedings, which is admitted,

[1] The Firm may reapply for registration after two (2) years from the date of this Order.

[2] Tingle may file a petition for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm after two (2) years from the date of this Order.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

Respondents consent to the entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions (the "Order") as set forth below.[3]

III.

On the basis of Respondents' Offers, the Board finds[4] that:

A. Respondents

1. Kyle L. Tingle, CPA, LLC is a limited liability corporation organized under the laws of Nevada, and headquartered in Las Vegas, Nevada. The Firm is registered with the Board pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB Rules. The Firm is licensed to practice public accountancy in Nevada (License No. LLC-0118). At all relevant times, the Firm has had one partner, Kyle L. Tingle, CPA, and no professional staff.

2. Kyle L. Tingle, CPA, 54, is a certified public accountant licensed by the State of Nevada (License No. CPA-1629R). Tingle is a resident of Henderson, Nevada. At all relevant times, Tingle was the President and sole employee of the Firm, and served as the engagement partner on the audits discussed below. Tingle is an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

B. Summary

3. This matter concerns Respondents' violations of PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the Firm's issuance of audit reports on the consolidated financial statements of IFAN Financial, Inc. ("IFAN") for the year ended August 31, 2014, and Galenfeha, Inc. ("Galenfeha") for the year ended December 31, 2014 (collectively, the "Audits"). As detailed below, Respondents failed to exercise due

---

[3] The findings herein are made pursuant to the Respondents' Offers and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

[4] The Board finds that Respondents' conduct described in this Order meets the conditions set out in Section 105(c)(5) of the Act, 15 U.S.C. § 7215(c)(5), which provides that certain sanctions may be imposed in the event of (1) intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, that results in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard; or (2) repeated instances of negligent conduct, each resulting in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

professional care, including professional skepticism, and failed to perform audit procedures to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence in connection with the Audits to provide a reasonable basis for the opinions expressed in the Firm's audit reports.

C. Respondents Violated PCAOB Rules and Standards

4. In connection with the preparation or issuance of an audit report, PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons comply with all applicable Board auditing and related professional practice standards.[5] An auditor may express an unqualified opinion on an issuer's financial statements only when the auditor has formed such an opinion on the basis of an audit performed in accordance with PCAOB standards.[6] Those standards require, among other things, that an auditor plan and perform the audit to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to provide a reasonable basis for the auditor's opinion, in order to meet the objective of obtaining appropriate audit evidence that is sufficient to support the opinion expressed in the auditor's report.[7] PCAOB standards further require that an auditor exercise due professional care and professional skepticism in performing the audit.[8]

5. In addition, PCAOB standards require the auditor to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to provide reasonable assurance that fair value measurements and disclosures are in conformity with Generally Accepted Accounting Principles ("GAAP").[9] The auditor is also required to evaluate whether the fair value

---

[5] See PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards; PCAOB Rule 3200T, Interim Auditing Standards. All references to PCAOB standards are to the versions of those standards in effect at the time of the relevant audits. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its auditing standards using a topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Release No. 2015-002 (Mar. 31, 2015); see also PCAOB Auditing Standards Reorganized and Pre-Reorganized Numbering (January 2016), https://pcaobus.org/Standards/Auditing/Documents/PrintableReferenceTable.pdf.

[6] See AU § 508.07, Reports on Audited Financial Statements.

[7] See Auditing Standard No. 15 ("AS 15"), Audit Evidence, at ¶¶ 3-4.

[8] See AU § 150.02, Generally Accepted Auditing Standards; AU § 230, Due Professional Care in the Performance of Work; Auditing Standard No. 13 ("AS 13"), The Auditor's Responses to the Risks of Material Misstatement, ¶ 7.

[9] See AU § 328, Auditing Fair Value Measurements and Disclosures, at ¶ 3.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

measurements and disclosures in the financial statements are in conformity with GAAP.[10]

6. Observation of inventories is a generally accepted auditing procedure.[11] PCAOB standards require that when inventory quantities are determined solely by means of a physical count, and all counts are made as of the balance-sheet date or as of a single date within a reasonable time before or after the balance-sheet date, it is ordinarily necessary for the independent auditor to be present at the time of count and, by suitable observation, tests, and inquiries, satisfy himself respecting the effectiveness of the methods of inventory-taking and the measure of reliance which may be placed upon the client's representations about the quantities and physical condition of the inventories.[12]

7. When the independent auditor has not satisfied himself as to inventories in the possession of the client through such procedures, or other permissible procedures under PCAOB standards, tests of the accounting records alone will not be sufficient for him to become satisfied as to quantities; it will always be necessary for the auditor to make, or observe, some physical counts of the inventory and apply appropriate tests of intervening transactions, coupled with inspection of the records of any client's counts and procedures relating to the physical inventory on which the balance-sheet inventory is based.[13]

8. PCAOB standards further require that the auditor design and perform audit procedures in a manner that addresses the assessed risks of material misstatement for each relevant assertion of each significant account and disclosure.[14] For significant risks, the auditor should perform substantive procedures, including tests of details, that are specifically responsive to the assessed risks.[15] In the audit of financial statements, the auditor should perform substantive procedures, including tests

---

[10] See id. at ¶ 15.

[11] See AU § 331, Inventories, at ¶ 1.

[12] See AU § 331.09.

[13] See id. at ¶ 12.

[14] See AS 13, at ¶ 8.

[15] See id. at ¶ 11.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

of details, that are specifically responsive to the assessed fraud risks.[16] PCAOB standards also require that the auditor evaluate whether the company's selection and application of accounting principles are appropriate for its business, and consistent with the applicable financial reporting framework and accounting principles used in its industry.[17]

9. PCAOB standards require the auditor to evaluate whether the financial statements are presented fairly, in all material respects, in conformity with GAAP when evaluating audit results.[18] As part of the evaluation of the presentation of the financial statements, the auditor should evaluate whether the financial statements contain the information essential for a fair presentation of the financial statements in conformity with the applicable financial reporting framework.[19]

10. When using information produced by the company as audit evidence, PCAOB standards require the auditor to evaluate whether the information is sufficient and appropriate for purposes of the audit by performing procedures to: test the accuracy and completeness of the information, or test the controls over the accuracy and completeness of that information; and evaluate whether the information is sufficiently precise and detailed for purposes of the audit.[20]

11. As described below, Respondents failed to comply with PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the Audits.

Audit of IFAN's FY2014 Financial Statements

12. IFAN is a Nevada corporation headquartered in San Diego, California. IFAN's public filings disclose that it designs, develops, and distributes software to enable mobile payments, and offers prepaid card programs for businesses and consumers and traditional financial services for merchants. Its common stock is registered under Section 12(g) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 ("Exchange

---

[16] See id. at ¶ 13.

[17] See Auditing Standard No 12 ("AS 12"), Identifying and Assessing Risks of Material Misstatement, at ¶ 12.

[18] See Auditing Standard No. 14 ("AS 14"), Evaluating Audit Results, ¶ 30.

[19] See id. at ¶ 31.

[20] See AS 15, at ¶ 10.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

Act"), and is quoted on the OTC Pink Market under the symbol "IFAN." At all relevant times, IFAN was an issuer as that term is defined by Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

13. Tingle, as the engagement partner, authorized the Firm's issuance of an audit report, dated December 2, 2014, expressing an unqualified opinion on IFAN's financial statements for the year ended August 31, 2014 ("FY2014"). The audit report was included in IFAN's Form 10-K filed with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission on December 16, 2014.

14. During FY2014, IFAN issued 900,000 shares of convertible stock to two of its officers. The Firm's audit documentation indicated that each preferred share was convertible at any time, at the option of the holder, into 700 shares of the issuer's common stock. The Firm's work papers indicated that there was a discount associated with the preferred shares.

15. IFAN reported in its FY2014 statement of operations the discount, totaling $1.75 million, as a deemed dividend for the beneficial conversion of the preferred shares. The $1.75 million represented 98% of the net loss attributable to common shareholders for the year under audit.

16. Respondents failed to obtain an understanding of the rationale or support for IFAN's accounting treatment sufficient to evaluate whether the company's selection and application of accounting principles were appropriate for its business and consistent with the applicable financial reporting framework and accounting principles used in the industry.[21] In addition, Respondents failed to evaluate whether the accounting for the convertible preferred stock was appropriate under U.S. GAAP.[22]

17. IFAN also disclosed in its FY2014 financial statements that it had entered into a license agreement with an unaffiliated entity for the use and distribution of electronic payment processing technology, and had made cash payments to the unaffiliated entity based on the entity's achievement of certain benchmarks.

---

[21] See AS 12, at ¶ 12.

[22] See AS 14, at ¶ 30; see also Financial Accounting Standards Board ("FASB") Accounting Standards Codification ("ASC") Topic 470, Debt.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

18. Under the agreement, IFAN agreed to issue a specified number of shares of its common stock to the entity in exchange for a specified number of shares of the entity's restricted common stock ("restricted shares"). IFAN disclosed that it had received the restricted shares as of year-end, but had not issued shares of IFAN's common stock to the entity. IFAN's financial statements reported an investment for the restricted shares received from the entity, and an intangible asset for the payments made to the entity under the agreement. IFAN reported that the investment and intangible asset represented approximately 59% and 11%, respectively, of its total assets at year-end.

19. Respondents failed to perform procedures to evaluate whether the accounting for the agreement was appropriate under U.S. GAAP.[23] For example, Respondents failed to evaluate: which, if any, of the benchmarks specified in the agreement had actually been achieved by the entity; whether completion of the first contractual benchmark, or the execution of the license agreement itself, met the criteria for capitalization as an intangible asset;[24] or whether the payments should have been expensed. Further, Respondents failed to evaluate whether the provision in the agreement requiring the issuance of shares of IFAN's common stock created an obligation as of year-end that should have been reported by the issuer as a liability. Finally, Respondents also failed to evaluate whether the par value of the entity's shares, which IFAN used to value the restricted shares and record the investment, was an appropriate and reasonable measure of fair value, particularly when Respondents obtained audit evidence of actual stock sales at varying prices.

Audit of Galenfeha's 2014 Financial Statements

20. Galenfeha is a Nevada corporation headquartered in Fort Worth, Texas. Galenfeha's public filings disclose that it provides engineering services and alternative power products to natural gas producers and various industries in Texas and Louisiana; offers contractual engineering services; produces injections pumps; and develops and manufactures products to reduce customer costs associated with energy production, including carbon footprint, hazardous waste, and other non-sustainable aspects of producing energy. Its common stock is registered under Section 12(g) of the Exchange Act, and is quoted on the OTC Pink Market under the symbol "GLFH." At all relevant times, Galenfeha was an issuer as that term is defined by Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

---

[23] See AS 14, at ¶¶ 30-31; AU § 328, at ¶ 3.

[24] See FASB ASC Topic 350, Intangibles - Goodwill and Other.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

21. Tingle, as the engagement partner, authorized the Firm's issuance of an audit report, dated April 15, 2015, expressing an unqualified opinion on Galenfeha's financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2014. The audit report was included in Galenfeha's Form 10-K filed with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission on April 16, 2015.

22. Galenfeha's year ended December 31, 2014 ("FY2014") financial statements reported inventory of approximately $138,000 at year-end, which represented approximately 23% of its total assets. The financial statements did not, however, include required inventory-related disclosures.[25] Respondents failed to evaluate whether Galenfeha's lack of inventory-related disclosures was appropriate under U.S. GAAP.[26]

23. Additionally, during the FY2014 audit, the Firm identified a fraud risk related to inventory, and assessed inherent risk, control risk, and the risk of material misstatement as moderate. To test inventory, Respondents relied on information prepared by the client, including information concerning parts purchased, parts sold, and parts used in build assemblies.

24. Respondents failed to perform sufficient procedures to test the existence, completeness, and valuation of inventory. In particular, Respondents relied on certain summary inventory schedules produced by the issuer without testing the accuracy and completeness of the information, or testing the controls over the accuracy and completeness of that information.[27]

25. During the year under audit, Galenfeha disclosed in its financial statements that revenue was recognized when products and services were delivered to customers. Respondents identified a fraud risk related to improper revenue recognition and assessed inherent risk, control risk, and the risk of material misstatement as moderate.

26. Respondents failed, however, to perform sufficient procedures to test revenue, and failed to perform adequate substantive procedures that were responsive to the assessed fraud risk.[28] Specifically, Respondents failed to perform sufficient

---

[25] See FASB ASC Topic 330, Inventory.

[26] See AS 14, at ¶¶ 30-31.

[27] See AS 15, at ¶ 10.

[28] See AS 13, at ¶¶ 13-15.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

procedures to evaluate whether relevant revenue recognition criteria had been met, including whether delivery of services or products had occurred, whether the price was fixed or determinable, and whether revenue had been recognized in the appropriate period based on the terms of the sale.[29]

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in the Respondents' Offers. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), Kyle L. Tingle, CPA, LLC and Kyle L. Tingle, CPA are hereby censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(A) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(1), the registration of Kyle L. Tingle, CPA, LLC is revoked;

C. Pursuant to Rule 5302(a), after two (2) years from the date of the Order, Kyle L. Tingle, CPA, LLC may reapply for registration by filing an application pursuant to PCAOB Rule 2101;

D. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(B) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(2), Kyle L. Tingle, CPA is barred from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm, as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i);[30] and

---

[29] See FASB ASC Topic 605, Revenue Recognition.

[30] As a consequence of the bar, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act will apply with respect to Kyle L. Tingle, CPA. Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act provides that "[i]t shall be unlawful for any person that is suspended or barred from being associated with a registered public accounting firm under this subsection willfully to become or remain associated with any issuer, broker, or dealer in an accountancy or a financial management capacity, and for any issuer, broker, or dealer that knew, or in the exercise of reasonable care should have known, of such suspension or bar, to permit such an association, without the consent of the Board or the Commission."

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

E. After two (2) years from the date of this Order, Kyle L. Tingle, CPA may file a petition, pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5302(b), for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

May 24, 2017

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street, N.W.
Washington, DC 20006
Telephone: (202) 207-9100
Facsimile: (202) 862-0757
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of W.T. Uniack CPA, P.C. and William T. Uniack, CPA, Respondents.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-028 May 24, 2017

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (the "Board" or "PCAOB") is censuring W.T. Uniack CPA, P.C. (the "Firm"), revoking the Firm's registration;[1] and censuring William T. Uniack ("Uniack") and barring him from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm.[2] The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that the Firm and Uniack (collectively, "Respondents") violated PCAOB rules and standards in connection with four audits of two issuer clients.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondents.

II.

In anticipation of institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondents have each submitted an Offer of Settlement (the "Offers") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party,

[1] The Firm may reapply for registration after two (2) years from the date of this Order.

[2] Uniack may file a petition for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm after two (2) years from the date of this Order.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over them and the subject matter of these proceedings, which are admitted, Respondents consent to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[3]

III.

On the basis of this Order and Respondents' Offers, the Board finds that:[4]

A. Respondents

1. W.T. Uniack CPA, P.C. is, and at all relevant times was, a corporation organized under the laws of the state of Georgia, and headquartered in Woodstock, Georgia.[5] The Firm is registered with the Board pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules. The Firm is licensed to practice public accountancy by the state of Georgia (License No. ACF 005300). At all relevant times, the Firm was the external auditor for the issuers identified below.

2. William T. Uniack, CPA, 64, of Alpharetta, Georgia, is a certified public accountant licensed by the states of Georgia (License No. CPA025408) and Ohio (License No. CPA.13634-OS). At all relevant times, Uniack was the sole partner of the Firm, and served as the engagement partner on the audits discussed below. Uniack is an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

---

[3] The findings herein are made pursuant to Respondents' Offers and are not binding on any other persons or entities in this or any other proceeding.

[4] The Board finds that Respondents' conduct described in this Order meets the conditions set out in Section 105(c)(5) of the Act, 15 U.S.C. § 7215(c)(5), which provides that certain sanctions may be imposed in the event of (1) intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, that results in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard; or (2) repeated instances of negligent conduct, each resulting in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard.

[5] The Firm filed a PCAOB Form 3 describing a change in its legal name from W.T. Uniack & Co. CPAs P.C. to W.T. Uniack CPA, P.C., effective April 15, 2016.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

B. Summary

3. This matter concerns Respondents' violations of PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the Firm's audits of the financial statements of Bravo Multinational Incorporated (f/k/a GoldLand Holdings Co.) ("GoldLand")[6] and Silver Falcon Mining, Inc. ("Silver Falcon") for fiscal year ended December 31, 2013. As detailed below, Respondents failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence and exercise due professional care and professional skepticism in connection with each audit.

4. This matter also concerns the Firm's failure to comply with Auditing Standard No. 7, Engagement Quality Review ("AS 7").[7] In the Firm's audits of GoldLand's and Silver Falcon's financial statements for fiscal years ended December 31, 2012 and December 31, 2013, the Firm failed to obtain an engagement quality review of the audits, even though an engagement quality review was required by AS 7.

5. Additionally, Uniack took or omitted to take actions knowing, or recklessly not knowing, that his acts and omissions would directly and substantially contribute to the Firm's violations of AS 7, in violation of PCAOB Rule 3502, Responsibility Not to Knowingly or Recklessly Contribute to Violations.

C. Respondents Violated PCAOB Rules and Auditing Standards

6. In connection with the preparation or issuance of an audit report, PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons comply with the Board's auditing and related professional practice standards.[8] An auditor may

---

[6] On April 7, 2016, the company filed a Form 8-K reporting that GoldLand Holdings Co. changed its corporate name to Bravo Multinational Incorporated on April 6, 2016.

[7] All references to PCAOB standards are to the versions of those standards in effect at the time of the relevant audits. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its auditing standards using a topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Release No. 2015-002 (Mar. 31, 2015); see also PCAOB Auditing Standards Reorganized and Pre Reorganized Numbering (January 2016), https://pcaobus.org/Standards/Auditing/Documents/PrintableReferenceTable.pdf.

[8] PCAOB Rules 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Standards, and 3200T, Interim Auditing Standards.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

express an unqualified opinion on an issuer's financial statements only when the auditor has formed such an opinion on the basis of an audit performed in accordance with PCAOB standards.[9] Among other things, those standards require that an auditor exercise due professional care and professional skepticism in the performance of the audit and preparation of the report.[10] Those standards require, among other things, that an auditor plan and perform audit procedures to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to provide a reasonable basis for the opinion expressed in the auditor's report.[11]

7. PCAOB auditing standards also require that an audit be properly planned, that auditors identify and assess the risks of material misstatement at the financial statement level and the assertion level, and that auditors design and perform audit procedures in a manner that addresses the assessed risks of material misstatement for each relevant assertion of each significant account and disclosure.[12] The auditor should develop and document an audit plan that includes a description of, among other things, the planned risk assessment procedures and other planned audit procedures required to be performed so that the engagement complies with PCAOB standards.[13] Additionally, the auditor must evaluate whether the financial statements are presented fairly, in all material respects, in conformity with the applicable financial reporting framework.[14]

8. PCAOB auditing standards state that observation of inventories is a generally accepted auditing procedure.[15] An auditor who issues an audit opinion without

---

[9] See AU § 508.07, Reports on Audited Financial Statements.

[10] See AU § 150.02, Generally Accepted Auditing Standards; AU § 230, Due Professional Care in the Performance of Work.

[11] See Auditing Standard No. 15, Audit Evidence ("AS 15") ¶ 4.

[12] See Auditing Standard No. 9, Audit Planning ("AS 9"), ¶ 4; Auditing Standard No. 12, Identifying and Assessing Risks of Material Misstatement ("AS 12"), ¶ 59; and Auditing Standard No. 13, The Auditor's Response to the Risks of Material Misstatement ("AS 13"), ¶ 8.

[13] See AS 9 ¶ 10.

[14] See Auditing Standard No. 14, Evaluating Audit Results ("AS 14"), ¶ 30.

[15] See AU § 331.01, Inventories.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

employing procedures to observe inventories has the burden of justifying the opinion expressed.[16] Moreover, in such circumstances, "tests of the accounting records alone will not be sufficient for [the auditor] to become satisfied as to quantities; it will always be necessary for the auditor to make, or observe, some physical counts of the inventory and apply appropriate tests of intervening transactions."[17]

9. As described below, Respondents failed to comply with PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the Firm's audits of GoldLand's and Silver Falcon's 2013 financial statements.

Audit of GoldLand's 2013 Financial Statements

10. Bravo Multinational Incorporated (f/k/a GoldLand Holdings Co.) is a Delaware corporation headquartered in Ontario, Canada. GoldLand's public filings disclose that it is engaged in the business of leasing mining claims. Its common stock is registered under Section 12(g) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (the "Exchange Act"). At all relevant times, GoldLand was an issuer as that term is defined by Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

11. Uniack, as the engagement partner, authorized the Firm's issuance of an audit report, dated April 11, 2014, expressing an unqualified audit opinion, which included a going concern explanatory paragraph, on GoldLand's financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2013. The audit report was included in GoldLand's Form 10-K filed with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission ("Commission") on April 15, 2014.

12. In connection with the audit, Respondents failed to exercise due professional care, including professional skepticism, and failed to plan and perform the audit in accordance with PCAOB standards. During audit planning, Respondents failed to develop and document an audit plan that included a description of the planned nature, timing, and extent of risk assessment procedures.[18] Consistent with this planning deficiency, Respondents failed to identify and assess the risks of material misstatement at the financial statement and assertion levels.[19] Respondents also failed to plan and

---

16 Id.

17 Id. at .12.

18 See AS 9 ¶ 10.

19 See AS 12 ¶ 59.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

perform any analytical procedures as risk assessment procedures.[20] Respondents also failed to identify any risks with respect to revenue recognition and management override of controls, even though PCAOB standards provide that the auditor should presume that there is a fraud risk involving improper revenue recognition and should include the risk of management override of controls in his identification of fraud risks.[21] Respondents also failed to perform audit procedures in a manner that addressed the assessed risks of material misstatement for each relevant assertion of each significant account and disclosure.[22]

13. GoldLand's 2013 financial statements reported revenue related to its leasing of mineral rights to Silver Falcon (the Lease Agreement). Under the Lease Agreement, Silver Falcon agreed to pay GoldLand an annual leasing fee of $1 million. This fee represented 100% of GoldLand's revenues for 2013. Respondents failed to evaluate whether GoldLand's revenue recognition was in conformity with U.S. Generally Accepted Accounting Principles ("GAAP").[23]

14. GoldLand's 2013 financial statements also reported a mining properties asset in its December 31, 2013 balance sheet that represented approximately $360,000, or 90% of the company's total assets. Other than obtaining management representations, Respondents failed to perform any other audit procedures to determine whether this material asset was properly valued. [24]

15. Respondents also failed to sufficiently evaluate GoldLand's recording of stock compensation expense and accrued compensation. GoldLand's 2013 financial statements disclosed that it had entered into an equipment purchase agreement with a third-party seller, and that GoldLand agreed to issue common shares of its stock to certain officers, directors, and consultants of the seller as bonuses under related consulting or employment agreements. The financial statements also disclosed that this issuance of stock occurred upon closing of the transaction in March 2014. GoldLand's financial statements reported that it had accrued the value of those shares to be issued

---

[20] See AS 12 ¶¶ 46-48.

[21] See AS 12 ¶¶ 68-69.

[22] See AS 13 ¶ 8.

[23] See AS 14 ¶ 30.

[24] See AS 15 ¶¶ 4-6.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

as bonuses as a current liability in the year ending December 31, 2013, rather than in March 2014, when the deal closed. As part of its accounting for this transaction, GoldLand recorded stock compensation expense of approximately $6 million that represented approximately 82% of the company's total net loss for 2013, and recorded accrued compensation of approximately $6 million that represented approximately 86% of its total liabilities. During the audit, Respondents failed to evaluate whether it was appropriate under U.S. GAAP for GoldLand to record the stock compensation expense and accrued compensation in 2013, the year prior to the period in which the equipment purchase transaction closed.[25]

Audit of Silver Falcon's 2013 Financial Statements

16. Silver Falcon Mining, Inc. is a Delaware corporation headquartered in Bradenton, Florida. Silver Falcon's public filings disclose that it specializes in gold and silver properties and has acquired the rights to develop and operate certain mines in Idaho. Its common stock is registered under Section 12(g) of the Exchange Act. At all relevant times, Silver Falcon was an issuer as that term is defined by Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

17. Uniack, as engagement partner, authorized the Firm's issuance of an audit report, dated April 11, 2014, expressing an unqualified audit opinion which included a going concern explanatory paragraph, on Silver Falcon's financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2013. The audit report was included in Silver Falcon's Form 10-K filed with the Commission on April 15, 2014.

18. During audit planning, Respondents also failed to develop and document an audit plan that included a description of the planned nature, timing, and extent of risk assessment procedures.[26] Consistent with this planning deficiency, Respondents failed to identify and assess the risks of material misstatement at the financial statement and assertion levels.[27] Respondents also failed to properly plan and perform any analytical procedures as risk assessment procedures.[28] In addition, Respondents failed to perform

---

[25] See AS 14 ¶ 30.

[26] See AS 9 ¶ 10.

[27] See AS 12 ¶ 59.

[28] See AS 12 ¶¶ 46-48.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

audit procedures in a manner that addressed the assessed risks of material misstatement for each relevant assertion of each significant account and disclosure.[29]

19. Silver Falcon disclosed in its 2013 financial statements that mining inventory represented over 40% of the company's total assets for 2013. Other than obtaining management representations and management's schedule of inventory, Respondents failed to perform any other audit procedures to test whether Silver Falcon's reported inventory existed and was recorded accurately in the 2013 financial statements.[30] Respondents did not conduct any observation procedures with respect to Silver Falcon's mining inventories.[31]

D. The Firm Violated PCAOB Rules and Standards Relating to Engagement Quality Reviews

20. For audits of financial statements for years beginning on or after December 15, 2009, AS 7 requires that an engagement quality review be performed on audits and interim reviews conducted pursuant to PCAOB standards.[32] AS 7 also provides that a firm may grant permission to a client to use the engagement report only after an engagement quality reviewer provides concurring approval of issuance.[33]

21. In connection with the audits of GoldLand's and Silver Falcon's financial statements for 2012 and 2013, the Firm failed to comply with these requirements. For each of these audit engagements, the Firm improperly permitted the issuance of its audit reports which were included in GoldLand's and Silver Falcon's 2012 and 2013 Form 10-K filings with the Commission, without obtaining an engagement quality review and concurring approval of issuance as required by AS 7. As a result, the Firm violated AS 7.

---

29 See AS 13 ¶ 8.

30 See AS 15 ¶¶ 4-6.

31 See AU § 331.12.

32 See AS 7 ¶ 1.

33 See id. at ¶ 13.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

E. Uniack Contributed to the Firm's Violations of PCAOB Rules and Standards Relating to Engagement Quality Reviews

22. PCAOB Rule 3502 prohibits an associated person of a registered public accounting firm from "tak[ing] or omit[ting] to take an action knowing, or recklessly not knowing, that the act or omission would directly and substantially contribute to a violation by that registered public accounting firm of the Act, the Rules of the Board, the provisions of the securities laws relating to the preparation and issuance of audit reports and the obligations and liabilities of accountants with respect thereto, including the rules of the Commission issued under the Act, or professional standards."

23. Uniack, the sole owner of the Firm, was the engagement partner for the audits conducted by the Firm and was responsible for them. Accordingly, he had overall responsibility for ensuring that the Firm complied with PCAOB rules and standards. Uniack knew, or was reckless in not knowing, that he was directly and substantially contributing to the Firm's violations of AS 7, described above. As a result, Uniack violated PCAOB Rule 3502.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondents' Offers. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), W.T. Uniack CPA, P.C., and William T. Uniack, CPA are hereby censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(B) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(2), William T. Uniack is barred from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm, as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i);[34]

[34] As a consequence of the bar, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act will apply with respect to Uniack. Section 105(c)(7)(B) provides: "It shall be unlawful for any person that is suspended or barred from being associated with a registered public accounting firm under this subsection willfully to become or remain associated with any issuer, broker, or dealer in an accountancy or a financial management capacity, and for any issuer, broker, or dealer that knew, or in the exercise of

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

C. After two (2) years from the date of this Order, William T. Uniack may file a petition, pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5302(b), for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm;

D. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(A) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(1), the registration of W.T. Uniack CPA, P.C. is revoked; and

E. After two (2) years from the date of the Order, W.T. Uniack CPA, P.C. may reapply for registration by filing an application pursuant to PCAOB Rule 2101.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

May 24, 2017

reasonable care should have known, of such suspension or bar, to permit such an association, without the consent of the Board or the Commission."

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street, N.W.
Washington, DC 20006
Telephone: (202) 207-9100
Facsimile: (202) 862-0757
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of Fulvio & Associates, L.L.P., Kenneth Werner, CPA, Gennaro Fulvio, CPA, and Kevin Clark, CPA, Respondents.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-029 June 27, 2017

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (the "Board" or "PCAOB") is (1) censuring Fulvio & Associates, L.L.P. ("Firm"), a registered public accounting firm, revoking the Firm's registration,[1] and imposing a civil money penalty in the amount of $20,000 upon the Firm; (2) censuring Kenneth Werner, CPA ("Werner"), barring him from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm,[2] and imposing a civil money penalty in the amount of $10,000 upon him; (3) censuring Gennaro Fulvio, CPA ("Fulvio"), and limiting Fulvio's activities in connection with any "audit," as that term is defined in Section 110(1) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), for a one year period from the date of this Order, by prohibiting Fulvio from serving in certain capacities in any audit as described in Section IV.F. herein; (4) censuring Kevin Clark, CPA ("Clark") and barring him from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm.[3] The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that (a) the Firm, Werner, Fulvio, and Clark (collectively, "Respondents") repeatedly violated PCAOB rules and standards in connection with their audit and examination engagement for Vision Financial Markets LLC ("VFM"), a broker-dealer, for fiscal year ending ("FYE") June 30, 2014; and (b) Werner and Clark violated PCAOB rules and standards by improperly altering audit documentation and failing to cooperate with a Board inspection.

[1] The Firm may reapply for registration after one (1) year from the date of this Order.

[2] Werner may file a petition for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm after two (2) years from the date of this Order.

[3] Clark may file a petition for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm after one (1) year from the date of this Order.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondents.

II.

In anticipation of institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondents have each submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offers") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over Respondents and the subject matter of these proceedings, which is admitted, Respondents consent to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[4]

III.

On the basis of Respondents' Offers, the Board finds that:[5]

A. Respondents

1. Fulvio & Associates, L.L.P. is a limited liability partnership organized under the laws of New York, and headquartered in New York, New York. Fulvio registered with the Board on March 4, 2009, pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules. The Firm is licensed as a certified public accountancy partnership in New York (Lic. No. 77 046476). At all relevant times, the Firm was the external auditor for VFM, with Werner serving as the engagement partner, Fulvio serving as the engagement quality reviewer, and Clark serving as the senior manager on the audit engagement. At the time of the FY 2014 audit of VFM, Werner and Fulvio led the Firm's audit practice. The Firm had only two other partners; they were tax professionals who did not perform audit work. Thus,

[4] The findings herein are made pursuant to Respondents' Offers and are not binding on any other persons or entities in this or any other proceeding.

[5] The Board finds that Respondents' conduct described in this Order meets the conditions set out in Section 105(c)(5) of the Act, 15 U.S.C. § 7215(c)(5).

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

for almost every audit performed by the Firm at this time, Werner served as the engagement partner and Fulvio served as the engagement quality reviewer. For the remaining audits, Werner and Fulvio switched roles. This Order uses the term "Team Respondents" to refer collectively to the respondents responsible for the work of the engagement team on the FY 2014 VFM engagement – i.e., the Firm, Werner, and Clark.

2. Kenneth Werner, CPA, age 60, of New York, New York, is, and at all relevant times was, a partner of the Firm and a certified public accountant licensed by the State of New York (Lic. No. 07 058800). Werner was the engagement partner for the Firm's audit and examination of VFM's FY 2014 financial statements and other required filings. As such, he was responsible for supervising the work of the engagement team. Werner is, and at all relevant times was, an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

3. Gennaro Fulvio, CPA, age 60, of New York, New York, is, and at all relevant times was, a partner of the Firm and a certified public accountant licensed by the State of New York (Lic. No. 07 041733). In addition to serving as the engagement quality reviewer for the Firm's audit and examination of VFM's FY 2014 financial statements and other required filings, Fulvio was the founder and Managing Partner of the Firm. He is, and at all relevant times was, an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

4. Kevin Clark, CPA, age 60, of Staten Island, New York, is, and at all relevant times was, an employee of the Firm and a certified public accountant licensed by the State of New York (Lic. No. 07 052952). Clark was the senior manager for the Firm's audit and examination of VFM's FY 2014 financial statements and other required filings. As such, his role on the FY 2014 VFM engagement included supervising the work of the other members on the engagement team, other than Werner. Clark is, and at all relevant times was, an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

B. Summary

5. This matter concerns the Team Respondents' violations of PCAOB rules and standards in connection with their audit of the financial statements and accompanying supporting schedules of VFM for FYE June 30, 2014 (the "Audit"). Among other things, the Team Respondents failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to support the Firm's audit opinion on VFM's financial statements and supporting schedules.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

6. This matter also concerns the Team Respondents' violations of Attestation Standard No. 1 ("AT 1"), Examination Engagements Regarding Compliance Reports of Brokers and Dealers, when performing their examination of the statements made by VFM in its FYE June 30, 2014 compliance report (the "Examination") prepared pursuant to Securities Exchange Act of 1934 ("Exchange Act") Rule 17a-5, 17 C.F.R. § 240.17a-5 ("Rule 17a-5"). In particular, Team Respondents failed to identify and test VFM's key internal controls over compliance with U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission ("Commission") rules for safeguarding certain customer assets held by VFM.

7. Additionally, in connection with the above Audit and Examination, Fulvio violated Auditing Standard No. 7, Engagement Quality Review ("AS 7") by providing his concurring approval of issuance without performing the required engagement quality reviews with due professional care.

8. Lastly, Werner and Clark violated PCAOB Rule 4006, Duty to Cooperate with Inspectors, and Auditing Standard No. 3, Audit Documentation ("AS 3"). In advance of the Board's 2014 inspection of the Firm, Werner and Clark improperly added audit documentation to the VFM work papers and made that misleading documentation available to PCAOB inspectors in violation of Rule 4006 and AS 3.

C. Team Respondents Violated PCAOB Rules and Standards in Their Audit of VFM's 2014 Financial Statements and Supporting Schedules

9. In connection with the preparation or issuance of an audit report, PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons comply with the Board's auditing and related professional practice standards.[6] For audits of fiscal years ending on or after June 1, 2014, Rule 17a-5(g) requires that audits of broker-dealers be performed in accordance with PCAOB standards. An auditor may express an

[6] See PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards, and PCAOB Rule 3200T, Interim Auditing Standards. All references to PCAOB standards are to the versions of those standards in effect at the time of the VFM Audit. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its rules and auditing standards using a topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Release No. 2015-002 (Mar. 31, 2015); see also PCAOB Auditing Standards Reorganized and Pre-Reorganized Numbering (January 2016), https://pcaobus.org/Standards/Auditing/ Documents/PrintableReference Table.pdf.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

unqualified opinion on financial statements only when the auditor has formed such an opinion on the basis of an audit performed in accordance with PCAOB standards.[7] Among other things, PCAOB standards require an auditor to exercise due professional care and professional skepticism in performing the audit, and plan and perform audit procedures to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to afford a reasonable basis for an opinion regarding the financial statements.[8]

10. PCAOB standards also require that the auditor properly plan the audit, including performing risk assessment procedures sufficient to provide a reasonable basis for identifying and assessing the risk of material misstatement, whether due to error or fraud.[9] The auditor should identify and assess the risks of material misstatement at the financial statement level and the assertion level, and design and perform audit procedures in a manner that addresses the risks of material misstatement for each relevant assertion of each significant account and disclosure.[10]

11. PCAOB standards provide that, when an auditor uses information produced by the company as audit evidence, the auditor should perform procedures to test the accuracy and completeness of that information, or test the controls over the accuracy and completeness of that information.[11]

12. PCAOB standards also require that, when the auditor is engaged to audit supplemental information accompanying the financial statements of the audit client, the auditor should perform audit procedures to obtain appropriate audit evidence sufficient to support the auditor's opinion regarding whether the supplemental information is fairly

---

[7] See AU § 508.07, Reports on Audited Financial Statements.

[8] See AU § 150, Generally Accepted Auditing Standards; AU § 230, Due Professional Care in the Performance of Work; and Auditing Standard No. 15, Audit Evidence ("AS 15").

[9] See Auditing Standard No. 9, Audit Planning ("AS 9"), ¶¶ 4-5; Auditing Standard No. 12, Identifying and Assessing Risks of Material Misstatement ("AS 12"), ¶¶ 4-58.

[10] See AS 12 ¶ 59; Auditing Standard No. 13, The Auditor's Responses to the Risks of Material Misstatement ("AS 13"), ¶ 8.

[11] See AS 15 ¶ 10.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

stated, in all material respects, in relation to the financial statements as a whole.[12] In doing so, the auditor should perform procedures to test the accuracy and completeness of the information presented in the supplemental information.[13]

13. According to PCAOB standards, if an auditor is unable to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to have a reasonable basis to conclude about whether the financial statements as a whole are free of material misstatement, the auditor should express a qualified opinion or a disclaimer of opinion.[14]

14. As described below, Team Respondents failed to comply with PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the Audit.

Audit of VFM's 2014 Financial Statements

15. At all relevant times, VFM was a Delaware limited liability corporation headquartered in Stamford, Connecticut. VFM's public filings disclose that it is registered with the Commission as a broker-dealer operating on a self-clearing basis, and is registered with the Commodity Futures Trading Commission as a futures commission merchant. At all relevant times, VFM was a "broker" and "dealer," as defined in Section 110(3) and (4) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(b)(iii) and (d)(iii). VFM is a "carrying broker-dealer;" that is, it is a broker-dealer that maintains custody of customer funds and securities.

16. On August 29, 2014, VFM filed with the Commission a Form X-17A-5 Part III for FYE June 30, 2014. Included in that filing was the Firm's FY 2014 audit report dated August 26, 2014 ("Audit Report"). Werner authorized the Firm's issuance of the Audit Report, which expressed an unqualified opinion on VFM's financial statements and supporting schedules, and stated, among other things, that the Firm's audit was conducted in accordance with PCAOB standards. Fulvio, as the engagement quality reviewer, provided concurring approval of issuance of the Audit Report.

17. As of FYE June 30, 2014, VFM reported assets of approximately $1.06 billion, revenue of approximately $93.3 million, and net income of approximately $1.6

---

[12] See Auditing Standard No. 17, Auditing Supplemental Information Accompanying Audited Financial Statements ("AS 17"), ¶¶ 2-3.

[13] Id. ¶ 4(e).

[14] See Auditing Standard No. 14, Evaluating Audit Results ("AS 14"), ¶ 35.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

million. VFM also reported the fair value of its securities owned at approximately $124.5 million, and of its securities sold (not yet purchased) at approximately $257.4 million; those assets and liabilities were material to VFM's financial statements. For the VFM Audit, Team Respondents set planning materiality at $705,981.

18. During audit planning, Team Respondents identified overstatement of investments as a significant risk in the audit area of "Securities/Other Investments," and assessed this risk as high with respect to the valuation of those securities. VFM's Securities/Other Investments included both securities VFM owned and those that it had sold with an obligation to repurchase ("securities sold (not yet purchased)"). With respect to VFM's securities owned, Team Respondents assessed the overall risk of material misstatement as high for the valuation and completeness assertions. For VFM's securities sold (not yet purchased), Team Respondents failed to perform any risk assessment procedures at all, in violation of PCAOB standards.[15]

19. To test the value of VFM's securities owned and its securities sold (not yet purchased), Team Respondents needed to evaluate, among other things, the quantity of the securities VFM held. However, in performing that evaluation during the Audit, Team Respondents relied solely on information produced by VFM without performing any procedures to test either the accuracy and completeness of that information, or VFM's controls over the accuracy and completeness of the information, as required by PCAOB standards.[16] As a result, Team Respondents failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence concerning the value of both VFM's securities owned and its securities sold (not yet purchased).[17]

Supplemental Information in VFM's Supporting Schedules

20. Additionally, Team Respondents failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence regarding the supplemental information in the supporting schedules that accompanied VFM's FY 2014 financial statements. Rule 17a-5 required VFM to file

---

[15] See AS 9 ¶¶ 4-5; AS 12 ¶ 4.

[16] PCAOB standards provide that, when using information produced by the company as audit evidence, the auditor should "test the accuracy and completeness of the information, or test the controls over the accuracy and completeness of that information." AS 15 ¶ 10.

[17] See AS 15 ¶¶ 4-6.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

certain supporting schedules that are audited by a PCAOB-registered firm.[18] PCAOB standards provide that the objective of such audit procedures is to obtain appropriate audit evidence that is sufficient to support the auditor's opinion regarding whether the supplemental information is fairly stated, in all material respects, in relation to the financial statements as a whole.[19]

21. One of VFM's supporting schedules reported on its compliance with a Commission rule requiring VFM to, among other things, maintain a reserve of funds or qualified securities in an account at one or more banks for the exclusive benefit of customers (the "Reserve Requirements Rule").[20] Another VFM supporting schedule reported on its compliance with a Commission rule requiring it to, among other things, maintain a sufficient amount of net capital liquidity to satisfy claims promptly ("Net Capital Rule").[21]

22. In these supporting schedules, VFM reported net capital of approximately $36 million, which it reported was about $18 million in excess of its minimum net capital requirement. VFM also reported cash segregated for the exclusive benefit of its customers of approximately $63 million, which it reported was about $3 million in excess of its reserve requirement. As in the securities testing described above, Team Respondents' procedures concerning these supporting schedules relied solely on information produced by VFM without testing that information for accuracy and completeness, or testing the VFM controls over the accuracy and completeness of that information. Consequently, Team Respondents violated PCAOB standards by failing to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence that the supplemental information in the supporting schedules was fairly stated, in all material respects, in relation to the financial statements as a whole.[22]

---

[18] See Rule 17a-5(d)(1)(i)(A), (C) and (g).

[19] See AS 17 ¶ 3.

[20] See 17 C.F.R. § 240.15c3-3, Customer Protection – Reserves and Custody of Securities ("Rule 15c3-3"). Rule 15c3-3, known as the Customer Protection Rule, contains the Reserve Requirements Rule at 15c3-3(e).

[21] See 17 C.F.R. § 240.15c3-1, Net Capital Requirements for Brokers or Dealers ("Rule 15c3-1").

[22] See AS 17 ¶¶ 2-4.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

D. Team Respondents Violated PCAOB Attestation Standard No. 1 in Their Examination of VFM's 2014 Compliance Report

Certain Commission Reporting Requirements for VFM

23. Under the Commission's "financial responsibility rules,"[23] VFM had to satisfy certain requirements relating to net capital and the protection of customer assets.[24] Additionally, Rule 17a-5 required VFM to file with the Commission an annual report containing a) a financial report that included financial statements and supporting schedules,[25] b) a compliance report concerning, among other things, the effectiveness of VFM's internal controls over compliance with the financial responsibility rules;[26] and c) a report by a PCAOB-registered firm based on an examination of VFM's financial and compliance reports.[27] Rule 17a-5 also required that the audit of the financial report and the examination of the compliance report be performed in accordance with PCAOB standards.[28]

24. In the compliance report, VFM had to make certain statements ("assertions") about its compliance with the financial responsibility rules, including that: a) its Internal Control Over Compliance[29] ("ICOC") was effective during the most recent

---

[23] The term "financial responsibility rules" includes Rule 15c3-1; Rule 15c3-3; 17 C.F.R. § 240.17a-13, Quarterly Security Counts to be Made by Certain Exchange Members, Brokers, and Dealers; and any rule of a broker's or dealer's designated examining authority that requires account statements to be sent to the customers of the broker or dealer. The financial responsibility rules are the same as the rules cited in Rule 17a-5(d)(3)(ii).

[24] Although some broker-dealers qualify for exemption from one of the financial responsibility rules, Rule 15c3-3, VFM as a carrying broker-dealer did not qualify for exemption.

[25] See Rule 17a-5(d)(1)(i)(A), (d)(2).

[26] See Rule 17a-5(d)(1)(i)(B)(1), (d)(3).

[27] See Rule 17a-5(d)(1)(i) and (g).

[28] See Rule 17a-5(g).

[29] Rule 17a-5(d)(3)(ii) provides: "The term Internal Control Over Compliance means internal controls that have the objective of providing the broker or dealer with

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

fiscal year; b) its ICOC was effective as of the end of the most recent fiscal year; and c) it was in compliance with Rule 15c3-1 and Rule 15c3-3(e) as of the end of the most recent fiscal year.[30]

PCAOB Attestation Standard No. 1

25. AT 1 provides that, in performing an examination of the broker-dealer's compliance report, the auditor's objective is to express an opinion regarding whether the assertions in the compliance report are fairly stated, in all material respects.[31] AT 1 also provides that, to express such opinion, the auditor must plan and perform the examination to obtain appropriate evidence that is sufficient to obtain reasonable assurance about whether 1) one or more material weaknesses[32] existed during, or as of the end of, the most recent fiscal year being reported; and 2) one or more instances of non-compliance with the Net Capital Rule or the Reserve Requirements Rule existed as of the end of the most recent fiscal year being reported.[33] As noted in AT 1, the auditor's examination should include an evaluation of the effectiveness of ICOC with each financial responsibility rule during, and as of the end of, the most recent fiscal year.[34]

26. AT 1 also provides that the auditor must exercise due professional care and professional skepticism when planning and performing the examination reasonable assurance that non-compliance with §240.15c3-1, §240.15c3-3, §240.17a-13, or any rule of the designated examining authority of the broker or dealer that requires account statements to be sent to the customers of the broker or dealer (an 'Account Statement Rule') will be prevented or detected on a timely basis."

---

[30] See Rule 17a-5(d)(3)(i)(A).

[31] See AT 1 ¶ 3.

[32] A "material weakness" is one or more deficiencies in ICOC such that there is a reasonable possibility that non-compliance with the Net Capital Rule or Reserve Requirements Rule will not be prevented or detected on a timely basis, or that non-compliance to a material extent with Rule 15c3-3 (except for the Reserve Requirements Rule element), among other things, will not be prevented or detected on a timely basis. See AT 1, Appendix A ¶ A4.

[33] See AT 1 ¶ 4.

[34] Id. ¶ 4, Note.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

engagement, and that the engagement partner is responsible for proper planning and supervision of work for the engagement.[35] Additionally, when planning the examination of the compliance report, the auditor should obtain an understanding of the broker-dealer's processes regarding compliance with the financial responsibility rules, which includes evaluating the design of controls relevant to the examination and determining whether they have been implemented.[36] When performing the examination, the auditor must test the controls that are important to his or her conclusion about whether the broker-dealer has maintained effective ICOC for each financial responsibility rule during the fiscal year and at fiscal year-end, and must obtain evidence that the tested controls are designed effectively and operated effectively during the fiscal year and at fiscal year-end.[37] AT 1 further requires the auditor to conduct tests to determine whether the broker-dealer was in compliance with the Net Capital Rule and Reserve Requirements Rule at fiscal year-end; the auditor does this by, among other things, testing the accuracy and completeness of the information that the broker-dealer used to compute its compliance with those rules at fiscal year-end.[38]

27. As described below, Team Respondents failed to comply with applicable PCAOB rules and standards in connection with their examination of the assertions made by VFM in its FYE June 30, 2014 compliance report (the "Examination").

Team Respondents' Examination of VFM's 2014 Compliance Report

28. On August 29, 2014, VFM filed Form X-17A-5 Part III for FY 2014 with the Commission. Included in that filing was VFM's FY 2014 compliance report dated August 26, 2014 ("Compliance Report"). On August 26, 2014, Werner had authorized the Firm's issuance of its examination report concerning VFM's Compliance Report ("Examination Report"), and Fulvio, as the engagement quality reviewer, provided concurring approval of issuance of the Examination Report. The Examination Report expressed Respondents' opinion that VFM's assertions in the Compliance Report were fairly stated, in all material respects, and the Examination Report stated, among other things, that the Examination was conducted in accordance with PCAOB standards.

---

35 Id. ¶¶ 6(d), 7.

36 Id. ¶ 9(b) and Note.

37 Id. ¶ 11.

38 Id. ¶ 21.

ORDER

29. Team Respondents failed to plan and perform the Examination to obtain appropriate evidence sufficient to provide reasonable assurance about whether there were material weaknesses in VFM's ICOC, as required by AT 1.[39] In particular, Team Respondents did not comply with the AT 1 requirement to obtain an understanding of VFM's ICOC.[40] In addition, Team Respondents failed to test key ICOC controls and obtain evidence that they were designed effectively and operating effectively, as required by AT 1.[41]

30. Team Respondents also violated AT 1 by failing to perform sufficient tests to determine that VFM was in compliance with the Net Capital Rule at FYE June 30, 2014.[42] Specifically, Team Respondents failed to test the accuracy and completeness of the information that VFM used to compute its compliance with the Net Capital Rule at fiscal year-end.[43]

31. As a result of the above deficiencies, Team Respondents lacked a sufficient basis for their opinion that VFM's assertions in its 2014 Compliance Report were fairly stated, in all material respects. Consequently, Team Respondents violated AT 1.[44]

E. Fulvio Violated PCAOB Rules and Standards in Connection with the Engagement Quality Reviews for the Audit and Examination

32. Auditing Standard No. 7, Engagement Quality Review, requires that an engagement quality review be performed on all audits and certain attestation engagements conducted pursuant to PCAOB standards.[45] AS 7 also provides that a firm may grant permission to an audit client to use the firm's audit report or examination

---

39 Id. ¶ 4; Appendix A ¶ A4.

40 Id. ¶ 9(b) and Note.

41 See AT 1 ¶¶ 9(b), 11.

42 Id. ¶ 21.

43 Id.

44 Id. ¶¶ 3-4.

45 See AS 7 ¶ 1.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

report only after an engagement quality reviewer provides concurring approval of issuance of the report.[46]

33. Moreover, under AS 7, the engagement quality reviewer may provide concurring approval of issuance for an audit or examination report only if, after performing with due professional care the review required by AS 7, he or she is not aware of a significant engagement deficiency.[47] AS 7 states that a significant engagement deficiency in an audit exists under any of the following four circumstances: "(1) the engagement team failed to obtain sufficient appropriate evidence in accordance with the standards of the PCAOB, (2) the engagement team reached an inappropriate overall conclusion on the subject matter of the engagement, (3) the engagement report is not appropriate in the circumstances, or (4) the firm is not independent of its client."[48] A significant engagement deficiency in an attestation engagement exists under any of the final three circumstances described above, or when "the engagement team failed to perform attestation procedures necessary in the circumstances of the engagement."[49]

34. An engagement quality reviewer should evaluate the significant judgments made by the engagement team and the related conclusions reached in forming the overall conclusion on the engagement and in preparing the engagement report.[50] In performing an engagement quality review for an audit, the engagement quality reviewer should, among other things, evaluate the engagement team's assessment of, and audit responses to, significant risks, including fraud risks, identified by the engagement team or other significant risks identified by the engagement quality reviewer.[51] The engagement quality reviewer should also evaluate whether the engagement documentation that he or she reviewed indicates that the engagement team responded appropriately to significant risks and whether the engagement documentation that he or she reviewed supports the conclusions reached by the engagement team with respect to

---

46 Id. ¶¶ 13, 18C.

47 Id. ¶¶ 12, 18B.

48 Id. ¶ 12, Note.

49 Id. ¶ 18B, Note.

50 Id. ¶¶ 9, 18A.

51 Id. ¶ 10(b).

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

matters reviewed.[52] Finally, the engagement quality reviewer should review the engagement completion document and other relevant information.[53]

35. In connection with the Audit, Fulvio failed to appropriately evaluate the significant judgments made, and the related conclusions reached, by the engagement team with respect to significant areas of the Audit, including valuation of securities owned and securities sold (not yet purchased). Fulvio similarly failed to appropriately evaluate the significant judgments made, and the related conclusions reached, by the engagement team with respect to significant areas of the Examination, including the testing of VFM's ICOC and the testing of VFM's compliance with the Net Capital Rule at fiscal year-end.

36. Indeed, Fulvio failed to obtain and evaluate any audit documentation with respect to the significant judgments made, and the related conclusions reached, by the engagement team in either the Audit or the Examination. Tellingly, the sole evidence in the Firm's audit file of any work performed by Fulvio is a Supervision, Review, and Approval Form. This work paper is simply a checklist in which Fulvio checked "Yes" to 17 sets of statements that track requirements in AS 7 and AS 3, with no references to other work papers. Notably, in response to the checklist statement, "I have reviewed the engagement completion document," Fulvio checked "Yes," even though Team Respondents never created an engagement completion document for the Audit or Examination, as required by PCAOB standards.[54]

37. Fulvio provided his concurring approvals of issuance without performing the engagement quality reviews with due professional care, and accordingly violated AS 7.

F. Werner and Clark Improperly Altered Audit Documentation and Failed to Cooperate with a Board Inspection

38. The PCAOB audit documentation standard, AS 3, requires, among other things, that prior to the report release date, the auditor must have completed all

---

[52] Id. ¶ 11.

[53] Id. ¶¶ 10(e), 18A.

[54] See AS 3 ¶ 13. Furthermore, as the engagement quality reviewer, Fulvio violated PCAOB standards by failing to review an engagement completion document for the Audit and Examination. See AS 7 ¶¶ 10(e), 18A.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

necessary auditing procedures and obtained sufficient evidence to support the representations in the auditor's report.[55] Respondents' report release date for the Audit was August 29, 2014.

39. Additionally, AS 3 requires that a complete and final set of audit documentation be assembled for retention by the "documentation completion date," a date no later than 45 days from the date on which the auditor grants permission to use its report.[56] After the documentation completion date, audit documentation must not be deleted or discarded from the audit file, but it may be added as long as the auditor documents the date of the addition, the person who prepared the additional documentation, and the reason for adding the documentation.[57] The documentation completion date for the Audit was October 13, 2014.

40. PCAOB rules require that registered public accounting firms and their associated persons "shall cooperate with the Board in the performance of any Board inspection."[58] This cooperation obligation "includes an obligation not to provide misleading documents or information in connection with the Board's inspection processes."[59]

41. As described below, Werner and Clark violated PCAOB Rule 4006 and AS 3.

42. After the report release date, Werner and Clark knew that the engagement team was still attempting to obtain evidence in connection with various aspects of the audit, including evidence for a "Customer Fully Paid Possession Testing" work paper ("Fully Paid Possession" work paper). Werner and Clark also knew that this work paper was created to give the misleading impression that certain audit procedures were performed before the report release date.

---

[55] AS 3 ¶ 15; see also id. ¶ 14 (defining report release date).

[56] See id. ¶ 15.

[57] See id. ¶ 16.

[58] See PCAOB Rule 4006.

[59] See Deloitte Touche Tohmatsu Auditores Independentes, PCAOB Rel. No. 105-2016-031, ¶ 62 (December 5, 2016); José Domingos do Prado, PCAOB Rel. No. 105-2016-032, ¶ 55 (December 5, 2016); Nathan M. Suddeth, CPA, PCAOB Rel. No. 105-2013-007, ¶ 4 (September 10, 2013).

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

43. On or before November 10, 2014, the Board notified Respondents that the Firm's VFM audit would be reviewed during an inspection, with inspection fieldwork to start the week beginning December 8, 2014. In fact, since being notified in May 2014 that the Board would inspect the Firm at year-end, Respondents had suspected that the VFM audit would be reviewed because VFM was the Firm's only broker-dealer client not exempt from Rule 15c3-3.

44. In anticipation of the inspection, Werner and Clark also created and altered documents and improperly added them to the audit work papers after the documentation completion date without making any disclosures required by AS 3. These documents did not exist at the time of the audit. The misleading documents were then made available to the Board's inspectors in connection with the Firm's inspection, without any disclosure that they had recently been added to the VFM work papers.

45. The misleading documents consisted of several audit work papers. Specifically, a Control Environment work paper was created a few days after Respondents received notification of the Board inspection of the VFM audit, and an Internal Controls Questionnaire work paper also was created after the documentation completion date. Additionally, in an email that Clark sent to a Firm subordinate who was belatedly seeking evidence from VFM for the Fully Paid Possession work paper, Clark advised, "Tell [VFM] that the PCAOB is coming at the end of November to review the files and that we're trying to dot the 'I's' and cross the 't's' in our workpapers." This work paper, too, was improperly added to the audit documentation as described above.

46. By creating and improperly adding documentation to the VFM Audit work papers in anticipation of the PCAOB inspection and making those misleading documents available to the PCAOB inspectors, Werner and Clark violated PCAOB Rule 4006 and AS 3.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondents' Offers. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), Fulvio & Associates, L.L.P., Kenneth Werner, CPA, Gennaro Fulvio, CPA, and Kevin Clark, CPA are hereby censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(A) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(1), the registration of Fulvio & Associates, L.L.P. is revoked;

ORDER

C. After one (1) year from the date of this Order, Fulvio & Associates, L.L.P. may reapply for registration by filing an application pursuant to PCAOB Rule 2101;

D. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(B) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(2), Kenneth Werner, CPA is barred from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm, as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i);[60]

E. After two (2) years from the date of this Order, Kenneth Werner, CPA may file a petition, pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5302(b), for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm;

F. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(C) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(3), for a period of one year from the date of this Order, Gennaro Fulvio's role in any "audit," as that term is defined in Section 110(1) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(a)(v), shall be restricted as follows: Gennaro Fulvio shall not (1) serve, or supervise the work of another person serving, as an "engagement partner," as that term is used in the Board's Auditing Standard No. 10 or AS 1201, Supervision of the Audit Engagement; (2) serve, or supervise the work of another person serving, as an "engagement quality reviewer," as that term is used in the Board's Auditing Standard No. 7 or AS 1220, Engagement Quality Review; (3) serve, or supervise the work of another person serving, in any role that is equivalent to engagement partner or engagement quality reviewer, but differently denominated (such as "lead partner," "practitioner-in-charge," or "concurring partner"); (4) exercise authority, or supervise the work of another person exercising authority, either to sign a registered public accounting firm's name to an audit report, or to consent to the use of a previously issued audit report, for any issuer, broker, or dealer; or (5) serve, or supervise the work of another person serving, as the "other

---

[60] As a consequence of the bar, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act will apply with respect to Werner. Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act provides that "[i]t shall be unlawful for any person that is suspended or barred from being associated with a registered public accounting firm under this subsection willfully to become or remain associated with any issuer, broker, or dealer in an accountancy or a financial management capacity, and for any issuer, broker, or dealer that knew, or in the exercise of reasonable care should have known, of such suspension or bar, to permit such an association, without the consent of the Board or the Commission."

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

auditor," or "another auditor," as those terms are used in the Board's Interim Auditing Standard AU Section 543 or AS 1205, Part of the Audit Performed by Other Independent Auditors;

G. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(B) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(2), Kevin Clark, CPA is barred from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm, as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i);[61]

H. After one (1) year from the date of this Order, Kevin Clark, CPA may file a petition, pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5302(b), for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm;

I. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of $20,000 is imposed upon Fulvio & Associates, L.L.P, and a civil money penalty in the amount of $10,000 is imposed upon Kenneth Werner, CPA. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of this civil money penalty will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. Fulvio & Associates, L.L.P. and Kenneth Werner, CPA shall pay their respective civil money penalties within 10 days of the issuance of this Order by (1) wire transfer in accordance with instructions furnished by Board staff; or (2) United States Postal Service money order, bank money order, certified check, or bank cashier's check (a) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, (b) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, and (c) submitted under a cover letter, which identifies the payor as a respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB release number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe W.

---

[61] As a consequence of the bar, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act will apply with respect to Clark. Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act provides that "[i]t shall be unlawful for any person that is suspended or barred from being associated with a registered public accounting firm under this subsection willfully to become or remain associated with any issuer, broker, or dealer in an accountancy or a financial management capacity, and for any issuer, broker, or dealer that knew, or in the exercise of reasonable care should have known, of such suspension or bar, to permit such an association, without the consent of the Board or the Commission."

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

_____

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

June 27, 2017

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street, N.W.
Washington, DC 20006
Telephone: (202) 207-9100
Facsimile: (202) 862-0757
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS	PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-030
In the Matter of Kent M. Bowman, CPA,	July 25, 2017
Respondent.

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("Board" or "PCAOB") is: (1) censuring Kent M. Bowman, CPA ("Bowman," or "Respondent"); (2) barring Bowman from being associated with a registered public accounting firm;[1] (3) if Bowman is permitted to associate once again with a registered public accounting firm, limiting his activities in connection with any "audit," as that term is defined in Section 110(1) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), until two (2) years from the date of this Order, by prohibiting Bowman from serving in certain capacities in any audit as described in Section IV.D. herein; and (4) imposing upon him a civil money penalty in the amount of $25,000. The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that Bowman violated PCAOB rules and standards in connection with two audits for one issuer client.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against the Respondent.

II.

In anticipation of the institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondent submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offer") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction

[1] Bowman may petition for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm after one (1) year from the date of this Order.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

over Respondent and the subject matter of these proceedings, which is admitted, Respondent consents to the entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[2]

III.

On the basis of Respondent's Offer, the Board finds[3] that:

A. Respondent

1. Kent M. Bowman, 61, of Salt Lake City, Utah, is a certified public accountant licensed by the State of Utah Department of Professional Licensing (License No. 141654-2601). Bowman is a partner in the registered public accounting firm Tanner LLC ("Tanner" or the "Firm"), located in Salt Lake City, Utah, and he served as engagement partner on the audits discussed below. At all relevant times, Bowman was an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

B. Summary

2. This matter concerns Bowman's violations of PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the audits of the financial statements of ActiveCare, Inc. ("AC") for the years ended September 30, 2012 and September 30, 2013. As detailed below, Bowman failed to exercise due professional care and professional skepticism, and failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence in connection with each of these audits (the "AC Audits").

3. Specifically, during the AC Audits, Bowman was aware of red flags and audit evidence that contradicted AC's practice of recognizing revenue immediately upon making bulk shipments of certain health care products to health care plans or intermediaries. The revenue AC recognized on those products constituted

---

[2] The findings herein are made pursuant to Respondent's Offer, and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

[3] The Board finds that Respondent's conduct described in this Order meets the conditions set out in Section 105(c)(5) of the Act, 15 U.S.C. § 7215(c)(5), which provides that certain sanctions may be imposed in the event of: (1) intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, that results in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard; or (2) repeated instances of negligent conduct, each resulting in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

approximately 46% and 85% of AC's reported revenue in fiscal years ("FY") 2012 and 2013, respectively. Bowman was aware that (1) AC's revenue recognition practices were contrary to the terms of AC's written contracts; (2) in both AC Audits, an AC "customer" indicated that it did not owe, or did not yet owe, amounts that AC had recognized as revenue; and (3) AC had undertaken a significant unusual transaction after its fiscal year-end 2013, pursuant to which it purported to transfer products from one customer to another retroactive to before its fiscal year-end 2013.

4. Despite his awareness of these red flags and contradictory audit evidence, Bowman abandoned his obligation to exercise due professional care and professional skepticism, failed to perform sufficient procedures to resolve inconsistences and contradictions in the audit evidence, and, as a result, failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to support Tanner's audit opinions.

5. In October 2014, AC disclosed that its prior revenue recognition policy—to recognize revenue immediately upon making bulk shipments of products to health care plans or intermediaries—was incorrect. AC restated its FY 2013 financial statements in November 2014, reducing originally reported revenue by $5.5 million, or more than 56%.

C. Respondent Violated PCAOB Rules and Standards

Applicable PCAOB Rules and Standards

6. In connection with the preparation or issuance of an audit report, PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons comply with all applicable Board auditing and related professional practice standards.[4] An auditor may express an unqualified opinion on an issuer's financial statements only

[4] See PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards; PCAOB Rule 3200T, Interim Auditing Standards. All references to PCAOB standards are to the versions of those standards in effect at the time of the AC Audits. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its auditing standards using a topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Rel. No. 2015-002 (Mar. 31, 2015); see also PCAOB Auditing Standards Reorganized and Pre-Reorganized Numbering (Jan. 2016), https://pcaobus.org/Standards/Auditing/ Documents/PrintableReferenceTable.pdf.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

when the auditor has formed that opinion on the basis of an audit performed in accordance with PCAOB standards.[5]

7. Those standards require, among other things, that an auditor must plan and perform audit procedures to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to provide a reasonable basis for the auditor's opinion.[6] PCAOB standards also require, if audit evidence obtained from one source is inconsistent with that obtained from another, or if the auditor has doubts about the reliability of information to be used as audit evidence, that the auditor should perform the audit procedures necessary to resolve the matter and should determine the effect, if any, on other aspects of the audit.[7]

8. Although management representations "are part of the evidential matter the independent auditor obtains, . . . they are not a substitute for the application of those auditing procedures necessary to afford a reasonable basis for an opinion regarding the financial statements under audit."[8] Moreover, if a management representation "is contradicted by other audit evidence, the auditor should investigate the circumstances and consider the reliability of the representation made."[9]

9. PCAOB standards further require that an auditor exercise due professional care and professional skepticism in performing the audit.[10] Professional

---

[5] See AU § 508.07, Reports on Audited Financial Statements; Auditing Standard No. 1, References in Auditors' Reports to the Standards of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, ¶ 3.

[6] See Auditing Standard No. 15, Audit Evidence, ("AS 15") ¶ 4.

[7] See id. at ¶ 29. PCAOB standards also require the auditor, in forming an opinion on whether the financial statements are presented fairly, in all material respects, in conformity with the applicable financial reporting framework, to take into account all relevant audit evidence, regardless of whether it appears to corroborate or to contradict the assertions in the financial statements. See Auditing Standard No. 14, Evaluating Audit Results, ("AS 14") ¶ 3.

[8] AU § 333.02, Management Representations.

[9] Id. at ¶ .04.

[10] See AU § 150.02, Generally Accepted Auditing Standards; AU § 230, Due Professional Care in the Performance of Work.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

skepticism, PCAOB standards explain, "is an attitude that includes a questioning mind and a critical assessment of audit evidence."[11]

10. In the case of significant transactions that are outside the normal course of business for the entity, or that otherwise appear to be unusual given the auditor's understanding of the entity and its environment, PCAOB standards require the auditor to "design and perform procedures to obtain an understanding of the business purpose (or the lack thereof) of each significant unusual transaction that the auditor has identified" and to "evaluate whether the business purpose (or the lack thereof) indicates that the significant unusual transaction may have been entered into to engage in fraudulent financial reporting or conceal misappropriation of assets."[12]

11. As described below, Bowman failed to comply with PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the AC Audits.

2012 AC Audit

12. Bowman was the engagement partner on the Firm's audit of AC's year ended September 30, 2012 financial statements ("2012 Audit"). AC's filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission ("Commission") disclosed that it provided products and services related to chronic illness monitoring and personal emergency response monitoring services. At all relevant times, AC's common stock was registered under Section 12(g) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and was quoted on the OTCQB under the symbol "ACARD." At all relevant times, AC was an "issuer" as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

13. Bowman, as engagement partner, authorized the Firm's issuance of an audit report, dated January 15, 2013, expressing an unqualified audit opinion on AC's financial statements for the year ended September 30, 2012 ("FY 2012"). The report, which included an explanatory paragraph indicating that there was substantial doubt about AC's ability to continue as a going concern, was included in AC's FY 2012 Form 10-K filed with the Commission on January 15, 2013.[13]

---

[11] AU § 230.07.

[12] See AU §§ 316.66A, .67, Consideration of Fraud in a Financial Statement Audit.

[13] In connection with a Form 10-K/A filed by AC to correct a transpositional error in the originally filed financial statements, which had resulted in an $8

ORDER

Revenue Recognition: CIM Products

14. During the 2012 Audit, Bowman identified improper revenue recognition as a fraud risk. Bowman understood, and AC's public filings disclosed, that AC had acquired during FY 2012 a company specializing in the sale of chronic illness monitoring ("CIM") products, including diabetes testing kits with blood glucose monitors and test strips. Sales of CIM products were one of three primary revenue sources AC reported for FY 2012.[14]

15. AC's Form 10-K disclosed that the Company entered into agreements with self-insured companies with respect to CIM products. The Company further disclosed that it recognized CIM-related revenues "when persuasive evidence of an arrangement with the customer exists, title passes to the customer, prices are fixed or determinable, and collection is reasonably assured."[15]

16. Bowman documented his understanding during the 2012 Audit that, upon signing a contract with a company to provide CIM products, AC would (a) obtain lists of diabetic patients from the company; (b) send letters directly to the company's diabetic patient end-users informing them of the opportunity to receive the product at no cost; then (c) after a brief opt-out period, ship CIM products directly to the identified diabetic end-users. Bowman further documented his understanding that AC recognized revenue upon shipment of the products to the identified end-users.

Health Plan X Transaction

17. During the 2012 Audit, Bowman became aware that, shortly before fiscal year-end ("FYE") 2012, AC recognized a substantial amount of revenue in a manner contrary to his understanding of how the Company had been recognizing CIM revenue. Specifically, just two days before FYE 2012, AC recognized $331,000 in revenue—nearly half of its reported CIM revenue and more than 20 percent of its total reported revenue for FY 2012—immediately upon shipping CIM products in bulk to a health plan entity ("Health Plan X"), rather than directly to Health Plan X's diabetic end-users. Bowman failed to properly evaluate AC's recognition of the Health Plan X revenue and failed to adequately consider contrary audit evidence indicating that the Company's misstatement, Bowman also authorized the Firm's issuance of a second unqualified audit report dated January 25, 2013. See AC 2012 Form 10-K/A (Jan. 25, 2013).

---

[14] See id. at F-7.

[15] Id. at F-15.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

recognition of that revenue may not have been in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles.

18. As Bowman was aware during the 2012 Audit, AC's recognition of the Health Plan X revenue was not only inconsistent with his understanding of how AC had historically been recognizing CIM revenue, it also appeared to be inconsistent with the terms of the agreement between AC and Health Plan X. Bowman reviewed AC's written service contract with Health Plan X during the 2012 Audit. The contract, executed on September 28, 2012, just prior to FYE 2012, stipulated that Health Plan X would undertake certain implementation steps to identify for AC eligible diabetic patients, all of whom would be provided an opportunity to opt out of receiving CIM products from AC. According to the contract, AC would then distribute CIM products directly to eligible patients who had not opted out ("Covered Patients"), and Health Plan X would "reimburse" AC "for all claims submitted on" Covered Patients.

19. Despite reviewing those terms and despite knowing that AC had neither shipped any CIM Products to Covered Patients nor submitted any claims to Health Plan X on Covered Patients, Bowman failed to adequately question the appropriateness of AC immediately recognizing $331,000 in revenue in connection with the bulk shipment of CIM products to Health Plan X.

20. Bowman also encountered contradictory audit evidence when Health Plan X responded to a confirmation request the engagement team had sent. Health Plan X's confirmation response stated that, although the $331,000 balance was correct based on the amount of CIM products shipped to Health Plan X, "payment [would] be made on a claim incurred basis."

21. Under Bowman's direction, the engagement team called Health Plan X management to address the confirmation response. Based on that call, Bowman understood that Health Plan X expected to deploy CIM products to Covered Patients at a future point. Bowman agreed with AC management's decision to recognize this revenue, but neither Bowman, nor anyone else on the engagement team, documented why the discussion with Health Plan X management supported AC's determination to recognize $331,000 in revenue on the same day it executed the Health Plan X contract.

22. Bowman's failure to appropriately evaluate AC's recognition of the Health Plan X revenue, particularly in light of his awareness of significant contradictory audit evidence, represented a failure to exercise due professional care and professional skepticism, a failure to perform audit procedures necessary to resolve inconsistencies

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

and contradictions, and a failure to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to provide a reasonable basis for Tanner's opinion on AC's FY 2012 financial statements.[16]

2013 AC Audit

23. Bowman was the engagement partner on the Firm's audit of AC's year ended September 30, 2013 financial statements ("2013 Audit"), and authorized the Firm's issuance of an audit report, dated January 13, 2014, expressing an unqualified audit opinion on AC's financial statements. The report, which included an explanatory paragraph indicating that there was substantial doubt about AC's ability to continue as a going concern, was included in AC's 2013 Form 10-K filed with the Commission on January 14, 2014.

Revenue Recognition: CIM Products

24. As in the prior year audit, Bowman identified improper revenue recognition as a fraud risk. During the 2013 Audit, Bowman understood that, for the majority of its CIM product sales, AC immediately recognized revenue, as it had in connection with the Health Plan X transaction, upon shipment to its contracting counterparty, rather than upon distribution to Covered Patients. Bowman also knew that AC's reported CIM sales for FY 2013 had increased more than 13-fold, to approximately $9.7 million, which represented more than 85 percent of AC's total reported revenue for FY 2013. Bowman was also aware that AC's receivables outstanding over 30 days had increased substantially in FY 2013, to 90%, from 24% in FY 2012.

25. Despite identifying the risk that AC would recognize revenue improperly, and despite the increasing amount of AC's reported CIM product sales for FY 2013, Bowman again during the 2013 Audit failed to properly evaluate AC's recognition of CIM revenue. More specifically, Bowman again concluded that AC's practice of recognizing CIM revenue immediately upon making bulk shipments to its contracting counterparties was appropriate, notwithstanding (1) his awareness of contract terms that appeared to be squarely inconsistent with AC's revenue recognition practices; and (2) AC's entry into a significant unusual transaction due to an exception in a counterparty's confirmation response.

---

[16] See AU § 230.07; AS 14 ¶ 3; AS 15 at ¶¶ 29, 4.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

The Contracts Bowman Reviewed Were Inconsistent with AC's Revenue Recognition Practice

26. As part of the 2013 Audit, Bowman reviewed four service contracts AC executed during FY 2013. Shortly after entering each of those contracts, AC made a bulk shipment of CIM products to its counterparty (or to a third-party warehouse) and immediately recognized revenue for the products shipped. AC recorded revenue of $8.9 million pursuant to those four contracts, representing 91% of total CIM revenue, and 78% of its total reported revenue, for FY 2013.

27. As Bowman was aware, each contract stated that: AC's counterparty would identify Covered Patients; AC would distribute CIM products directly to those Covered Patients; and AC would then make "claims" for "reimbursement" for the products it had distributed. Further, in three of the four contracts, AC agreed to submit those claims for reimbursement, not to its contracting counterparty, but rather to a health care benefits provider that was not a party to the contract. Thus, under the written terms of those three contracts, AC's counterparty appeared to have no payment obligations.

28. Despite reviewing those contracts during the 2013 Audit, Bowman failed to obtain any acceptable explanation from management that reconciled the contracts' written terms with AC's revenue recognition approach. Further, Bowman failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence concerning the amount of CIM products, if any, that had been deployed to Covered Patients under the contracts, or the status of any claims for reimbursement that AC had made.

Bowman Failed to Appropriately Evaluate a Significant Unusual Transaction AC Undertook in Response to an Exception to a Confirmation Response

29. One of the four service contracts Bowman reviewed during the 2013 Audit was executed by AC and a "disease management provider" ("DMP") in March 2013. The DMP contract was one of those in which AC agreed not only to distribute CIM products directly to Covered Patients, but also to submit claims for reimbursement to a health care benefits provider that was not a party to the contract.

30. Bowman understood that AC originally recognized revenue for a "sale" of CIM products to DMP on March 29, 2013, for approximately $3.7 million, or approximately 32% of AC's overall reported revenue for the year. Bowman understood that the sale to DMP was a significant transaction, and understood that AC had shipped CIM products to a third party warehouse rather than to Covered Patients.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

31. During the 2013 Audit, the engagement team sent a confirmation request to DMP that listed an accounts receivable balance for CIM products of approximately $2.1 million.[17] DMP responded to the confirmation request by stating: "The above balance is not correct. [DMP] does not have any balance due to ActiveCare." The response was received on November 19, 2013, after FYE 2013.

32. After the Tanner engagement team contacted DMP and asked it to elaborate on its initial response, DMP's CFO provided the following supplemental response, dated December 10, 2013: "I was asked to expand upon my first comment. [DMP] has a relationship with ActiveCare, where [DMP] never takes title to any equipment, but upon the successful implementation [DMP] is then due a commission. The only balance sheet entry [DMP] has recorded is a Commission Receivable."

33. Upon receiving DMP's supplemental response, Bowman discussed the response with AC management, which maintained that the transaction with DMP was legally enforceable and that the associated revenue had been appropriately recognized.

34. Notwithstanding AC's contention that the DMP shipment was an enforceable sale, the engagement team's work papers document that, on or about December 30, 2013 (three months after FYE 2013), AC entered into an agreement that purported: (1) to transfer the CIM products originally "sold" to DMP to another entity; and (2) to make the "transfer" retroactive to September 27, 2013, three days prior to FYE 2013. After reviewing that "transfer agreement" and discussing the issue with AC's management, Bowman documented his conclusion "concur[ring] with the client's assertion that revenue [originally associated with DMP] should be recorded for the year-ended 9-30-13, and the receivable exists and remains appropriate."

35. Bowman failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to support that conclusion. In particular, he failed to exercise due professional care and skepticism in evaluating: (a) the significance of DMP's exception in the confirmation response; and (b) the retroactive "transfer" of CIM products. Moreover, he failed to perform adequate audit procedures to resolve inconsistences and contradictions in the audit evidence.[18]

---

[17] During the 2013 Audit, Bowman learned that DMP had returned a portion of the original $3.7 million of CIM product to AC at some point in FY 2013, so that the outstanding receivable balance recorded for DMP was approximately $2.1 million as of FYE 2013.

[18] See AS 14 at ¶ 3; AS 15 at ¶¶ 4, 29; AU § 230.07.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

36. PCAOB standards provide that, in evaluating the results of confirmation procedures, an auditor should, among other things, consider "the nature of any exceptions, including the implications, both quantitative and qualitative, of those exceptions."[19] Bowman failed to sufficiently undertake those steps after receiving the exception in the confirmation response from DMP. Although Bowman and his team followed up on that exception, DMP management explained that, consistent with the contract Bowman had reviewed, DMP did not owe AC any amounts and, in fact, DMP was itself due a commission upon "successful implementation" of the contract. That response should have caused Bowman to question not only AC's recognition of CIM revenue under the DMP contract, but also its recognition of CIM revenue under the other contracts he had reviewed, all of which had similar terms.

37. With respect to the December 2013 "transfer" of CIM products from DMP to another entity, that purported transfer was a significant unusual transaction that Bowman should have evaluated in considering whether AC's FY 2013 financial statements were materially misstated due to fraud. Among other things, he needed to consider "[w]hether management [wa]s placing more emphasis on the need for a particular accounting treatment than on the underlying economics of the transaction."[20]

38. Bowman agreed with AC management's contention that the "transferred" DMP shipment was appropriately recognized as revenue during FY 2013, but failed to make the required evaluation of the transaction. Among other things, he failed, to appropriately consider that: (1) the agreement that purported to transfer the CIM products from DMP to the other entity as of FYE 2013 was not executed until several months after FYE 2013; and (2) DMP, the purported owner of the CIM products, was not even a party to the transfer agreement. Bowman also failed to consider that the transfer agreement contained no payment schedule, or date certain by which the transferee was required to pay AC, or date by which the transferee was required to deploy the products to Covered Patients.

39. As a result of the failures described above, Bowman did not obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to provide a reasonable basis for Tanner's opinion on AC's FY 2013 financial statements.[21]

---

[19] AU § 330.33, The Confirmation Process.

[20] AU § 316.67.

[21] See id.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

Restatement

40. On October 3, 2014, AC filed a Form 8-K with the Commission, disclosing that its financial statements for FY 2013 included accounting errors, and could no longer be relied upon. Specifically, AC disclosed that its prior revenue recognition policy—to immediately recognize revenue on certain diabetes products upon shipment to "distributors"—was incorrect, and that it was "better practice to defer revenue recognition until the products are shipped to the end users as opposed to the distributors."

41. On November 10, 2014, AC filed with the Commission an amended Form 10-K containing restated FY 2013 financial statements. Bowman authorized the issuance of an audit report expressing an unqualified opinion on those restated financial statements, and AC included that audit report its amended Form 10-K. AC's restated financial statements reduced originally stated FY 2013 revenue by $5.5 million, or more than 56%.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondent's Offer. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), Kent M. Bowman is hereby censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(B) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(2), Kent M. Bowman is barred from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm, as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i);[22]

[22] As a consequence of the bar, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act will apply with respect to Bowman. Section 105(c)(7)(B) provides: "It shall be unlawful for any person that is suspended or barred from being associated with a registered public accounting firm under this subsection willfully to become or remain associated with any issuer, broker, or dealer in an accountancy or a financial management capacity, and for any issuer, broker, or dealer that knew, or in the exercise of reasonable care should have known, of such suspension or bar, to permit such an association, without the consent of the Board or the Commission."

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

C. After one (1) year from the date of this Order, Kent M. Bowman may file a petition, pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5302(b), for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm.

D. If Kent M. Bowman is permitted to associate once again with a registered public accounting firm, pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(B) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(3), for a period of two (2) years from the date of this Order, his role in any "audit," as that term is defined in Section 110(1) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(a)(v), shall be restricted as follows: Bowman shall not (1) serve, or supervise the work of another person serving, as an "engagement partner," as that term is used in the Board's Auditing Standard No. 10 or AS 1201, Supervision of the Audit Engagement; (2) serve, or supervise the work of another person serving, as an "engagement quality reviewer," as that term is used in the Board's Auditing Standard No. 7 or AS 1220, Engagement Quality Review; (3) serve, or supervise the work of another person serving, in any role that is equivalent to, but differently denominated from, engagement partner (such as "lead partner" or "practitioner-in-charge") or engagement quality reviewer (such as "concurring partner"); (4) exercise authority, or supervise the work of another person exercising authority, either to sign a registered public accounting firm's name to an audit report, or to consent to the use of a previously issued audit report, for any issuer, broker, or dealer; (5) serve, or supervise the work of another person serving, as the "other auditor," or "another auditor," as those terms are used in the Board's Interim Auditing Standard AU Section 543 or AS 1205, Part of the Audit Performed by Other Independent Auditors; or (6) serve, or supervise the work of another individual serving as a professional practice director; and

E. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of $25,000 payable by Kent M. Bowman is imposed. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of this civil money penalty will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. Kent M. Bowman shall pay this civil money penalty within 10 days of the issuance of this Order by (1) wire transfer in accordance with instructions furnished by Board staff; or (2) United States Postal Service money order, bank money order, certified check, or bank cashier's check (a) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, (b) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, and (c) submitted under a cover letter which identifies Kent M.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

Bowman as the Respondent in these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to the Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

July 25, 2017

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street, N.W.
Washington, DC 20006
Telephone: (202) 207-9100
Facsimile: (202) 862-0757
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS	PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-031
In the Matter of Crowe Horwath (HK) CPA Limited,	July 25, 2017
Respondent.

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("Board" or "PCAOB") is censuring the registered public accounting firm Crowe Horwath (HK) CPA Limited, a partnership located in the Hong Kong Special Administrative Region of the People's Republic of China (hereinafter, "Respondent" or "the Firm") and revoking the Firm's registration.[1] The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings concerning Respondent's noncooperation with a Board investigation, by failing to comply with an Accounting Board Demand requiring the production of documents, including audit work papers.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended ("Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(3) against the Respondent.

II.

In anticipation of the institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondent has submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offer") that the Board has determined to accept. Respondent admits the facts, findings, and violations set forth below, and consents to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order").[2]

[1] The Firm may reapply for registration after three (3) years from the date of this Order.

[2] The findings herein are made pursuant to the Respondent's Offer, and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

III.

On the basis of Respondent's Offer in this matter, the Board finds[3] that:

A. Respondent

1. Respondent is, and at all relevant times was, a partnership headquartered in the Hong Kong Special Administrative Region of the People's Republic of China, and is a member of the Crowe Horwath International network. The Firm is a member of the Hong Kong Institute of Certified Public Accountants ("HKICPA") (License No. M338). The Firm has been registered with the Board pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules since April 2010.

2. From its registration with the Board through 2016, Respondent issued 50 audit reports for 22 different issuers (publicly traded companies that are required to file audited financial statements with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (the "Commission")). All but two of those issuers reported having operations in Mainland China. Because of the position taken by authorities in Mainland China with respect to audit documentation concerning such operations, the Board has not had access to the information that is necessary to be able to inspect Respondent's issuer audit work as required by the Act and PCAOB Rules.[4]

3. On October 3, 2016, Respondent filed a Form 1-WD requesting leave to withdraw from registration with the Board. Subsequently, the Board determined that permitting Respondent's withdrawal during the pendency of an investigation would be inconsistent with the Board's responsibilities under the Act, and accordingly, pursuant to PCAOB Rule 2107(d), delayed a decision on Respondent's withdrawal request pending the investigation by the Board's Division of Enforcement and Investigations (the "Division").

---

[3] The sanctions that the Board is imposing on Respondent in this Order are imposed pursuant to Section 105(b)(3) of the Act, 15 U.S.C. § 7215(b)(3), and PCAOB Rule 5300(b).

[4] In the absence of that obstacle to access, the Board, in the normal course, would have inspected Respondent (including a selection of its audits and a review of its system of quality control) at least twice in the period from 2011 to 2016. Since October 2010, the Board has considered this obstacle to access when evaluating new registration applications from firms in Hong Kong (among other jurisdictions) and has not approved any new applications from Hong Kong firms in that time.

ORDER

B. Respondent Failed to Cooperate with a PCAOB Investigation

4. Pursuant to Section 105(b) of the Act and PCAOB Rules, the Board conducts investigations into acts or practices of registered public accounting firms and their associated persons that may violate any provision of the Act, the Rules of the Board, the provisions of securities laws relating to the preparation and issuance of audit reports and the obligations and liabilities of accountants with respect thereto, including the rules of the Commission issued under the Act, or professional standards. Section 105(b)(3)(A) of the Act authorizes the Board to sanction a registered public accounting firm for refusing to produce documents in connection with a Board investigation. Board rules include procedures for implementing that authority.[5] Noncooperation with a Board investigation includes failing to comply with an Accounting Board Demand ("ABD").[6]

5. As described below, Respondent failed to cooperate with the Board's investigation in this matter by failing to comply with an ABD, issued to Respondent pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5103, requiring the Firm to produce audit work papers and other documents.

Background

6. Respondent audited the financial statements of a People's Republic of China ("PRC")-based issuer ("Issuer A"). At all relevant times, Issuer A was an issuer.

7. On March 1, 2016, the Board issued an Order of Formal Investigation regarding Respondent's audits and reviews of the financial statements of Issuer A. The investigation arose from the Division's review of Issuer A's filings with the Commission.

Respondent's Failure to Produce Documents

8. Pursuant to the Board's Order of Formal Investigation, on March 10, 2016, the Division issued an ABD requiring Respondent to produce to the Division audit work papers and other documents related to the Firm's audits of Issuer A.

9. Respondent, through counsel, informed the Division in late April 2016 that the Firm would not comply with the ABD requesting audit work papers and other documents relating specifically to the Firm's audits of Issuer A.

---

[5] See PCAOB Rules 5110 and 5200(a)(3).

[6] See PCAOB Rule 5110(a)(1).

ORDER

10. Respondent maintains that it sought guidance from the PRC Ministry of Finance ("MOF") about how it may respond to the Division's ABD. According to Respondent, consistent with advice provided by Respondent's PRC-based counsel, the MOF, in effect, directed it not to produce audit work papers maintained within the PRC in the absence of a request by the Division for assistance under a memorandum of understanding between the Board, the China Securities Regulatory Commission ("CSRC") and the MOF (collectively the "parties"), which Respondent believed to be the May 2013 Memorandum of Understanding on Enforcement Cooperation between the parties ("2013 MOU"). The Division informed Respondent, through counsel, that, notwithstanding the MOF's communications, any alleged obstacles created by foreign law were not a valid basis for Respondent's refusal to produce the information called for by the ABD. The Division explained that non-U.S. legal obstacles do not create an exception to a registered firm's obligations to provide documents and other information to the Board, and are not a defense to Board disciplinary action for noncooperation.

11. Respondent's reliance on the 2013 MOU is not a valid justification for refusing to provide documents in a Board investigation. The 2013 MOU "sets forth the [parties'] intent with regard to mutual assistance and the exchange of information for the purpose of enforcing and securing compliance with the respective Laws and Regulations of [the parties'] jurisdictions...."[7] At the same time, the 2013 MOU states that it is "not intended to create legally binding obligations or ... supersede domestic laws" of the parties.[8] By its unequivocal terms, the 2013 MOU affords Respondent no legal rights. Rather, the 2013 MOU is strictly a non-binding agreement between the signing parties.

12. The Division's personnel informed Respondent that its asserted grounds for refusing to provide documents were not valid, including through a letter from the Division pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5109(d), notifying Respondent of the Division's intention to recommend a disciplinary proceeding in the event of a continued refusal to provide documents. Respondent continued to assert that it was unable to provide audit work papers and other documents for the reasons stated above. Respondent's failure to provide the required documents impeded the Board's ability to determine if Respondent's audits were performed in accordance with PCAOB rules and standards, and whether violations occurred that justified sanctions.

---

[7] See MOU at 1.

[8] Id.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondent's Offer. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(b)(3)(A)(iii) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(b)(1), Crowe Horwath (HK) CPA Limited is hereby censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(b)(3)(A)(ii) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(b)(1), the registration of Crowe Horwath (HK) CPA Limited is revoked; and

C. After three (3) years from the date of this Order, Crowe Horwath (HK) CPA Limited may reapply for registration by filing an application pursuant to PCAOB Rule 2101.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

July 25, 2017

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street, N.W.
Washington, DC 20006
Telephone: (202) 207-9100
Facsimile: (202) 862-0757
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP, Respondent.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-032 August 2, 2017

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (the "Board" or "PCAOB") is censuring PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP ("PwC" or "Respondent"), a registered public accounting firm, and imposing on PwC a civil money penalty in the amount of $1,000,000. The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that PwC violated PCAOB rules and standards in connection with its 2014 audit and examination engagements for Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith Incorporated ("Merrill"), a broker-dealer registered with the United States Securities and Exchange Commission ("Commission").

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondent.

II.

In anticipation of institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondent has submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offer") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over Respondent and the subject matter of these proceedings, which are admitted,

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

Respondent consents to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[1]

III.

On the basis of Respondent's Offer, the Board finds that:

A. Respondent

1. PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP is a limited liability partnership organized under the laws of Delaware, and headquartered in New York, New York. PwC registered with the Board on October 20, 2003, pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules. Since fiscal year ("FY") 2009, PwC has been the external auditor for Merrill.

B. Broker-Dealer[2]

2. At all relevant times, Merrill was a Delaware corporation headquartered in New York, New York. Merrill's public filings disclose that it is registered with the Commission as a broker-dealer and investment adviser, and is registered with the U.S. Commodity Futures Trading Commission as a futures commission merchant. Merrill is a wholly-owned indirect subsidiary of Bank of America Corporation. At all relevant times, Merrill was a "broker" and "dealer," as defined in Section 110(3) and (4) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(b)(iii) and (d)(iii). Merrill is a "carrying broker-dealer" (i.e., a broker-dealer that maintains custody of customer funds and securities).

[1] The findings herein are made pursuant to Respondent's Offer and are not binding on any other persons or entities in this or any other proceeding.

[2] On July 21, 2010, the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act (Pub. L. No. 111-203, 124 Stat. 1376 (July 21, 2010)) amended various provisions of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act ("the Dodd-Frank amendments"). Among other things, the amendments provide the Board with authority to carry out the same oversight responsibilities it has carried out with respect to issuer audits – standards-setting, inspections, and investigations and disciplinary proceedings – in connection with registered public accounting firms' audits of brokers and dealers that are registered with the Commission.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

C. Summary

3. In 2014, Merrill held tens of billions of dollars of its customers' securities in certain accounts with third-party institutions that were subject to liens by the third parties,[3] in violation of Commission Rule 15c3-3, 17 C.F.R. § 240.15c3-3, also known as the "Customer Protection Rule."[4] Among other things, the Customer Protection Rule required broker-dealers like Merrill[5] to hold certain customer securities in a segregated account free of liens (the "no-lien" requirement). The purpose of this requirement was to protect customer securities from claims by a failed broker-dealer's creditors. As Merrill's auditor, PwC was required to obtain sufficient appropriate evidence to support its opinion about (a) whether Merrill's internal controls over compliance with the Customer Protection Rule were effective during the period of June 1, 2014 to December 31, 2014 and at the end of FY 2014,[6] and (b) whether supplemental information in certain filings by Merrill concerning its compliance with the Customer Protection Rule were fairly stated in all material respects, in relation to Merrill's financial statements as a whole. However, PwC failed to obtain sufficient evidence in each of these categories.

---

[3] See Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith Inc. and Merrill Lynch Professional Clearing Corp., SEC Rel. No. 34-78141, at 3 (June 23, 2016).

[4] Adopted in 1972, the "Customer Protection Rule" is Rule 15c3-3 issued by the Commission under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 ("Exchange Act").

[5] Although some broker-dealers qualify for exemption from the Customer Protection Rule, Merrill was a carrying broker-dealer and did not qualify for exemption under Rule 15c3-3(k).

[6] During the transition period for the below-mentioned amendments to Exchange Act Rule 17a-5, 17 C.F.R. § 240.17a-5 ("Rule 17a-5"), the Commission's Division of Trading and Markets provided guidance that the staff will not object if a broker-dealer whose 2014 or 2015 fiscal year begins prior to June 1, 2014 submits statements in its compliance report that do not cover the period of the fiscal year that is prior to June 1, 2014. See Division of Trading and Markets of the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission, Frequently Asked Questions Concerning the July 30, 2013 Amendments to the Broker-Dealer Financial Reporting Rule (April 4, 2014), Question/Answer No. 1, https://www.sec.gov/divisions/marketreg/amendments-to-broker-dealer-reporting-rule-faq.htm. Accordingly, Merrill's assertions in its compliance report for FY 2014 covered only the period from June 1, 2014 to December 31, 2014.

ORDER

4. As a result, PwC violated PCAOB rules and standards, including Attestation Standard No. 1, Examination Engagements Regarding Compliance Reports of Brokers and Dealers ("AT 1"), when performing its examination of the statements made by Merrill in its FY ended December 31, 2014 compliance report (the "Examination") prepared pursuant to Rule 17a-5. In particular, PwC failed to adequately test Merrill's key internal controls over compliance with the "no-lien" requirement of the Customer Protection Rule.

5. Additionally, PwC violated PCAOB rules and standards, including Auditing Standard No. 17, Auditing Supplemental Information Accompanying Audited Financial Statements ("AS 17"), in connection with its performance of audit procedures and opining on supplemental information accompanying the financial statements of Merrill for FY ended December 31, 2014 (the "Audit"). In particular, PwC failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to support its conclusion on one of Merrill's supporting schedules relating to its compliance with the Customer Protection Rule.

6. On February 26, 2016, Merrill restated its FY 2014 compliance report to disclose a material weakness in its internal control over compliance related to maintenance of custodial accounts in designated good control locations. That same day, PwC revised its FY 2014 examination report to reflect that Merrill did not maintain effective internal control over compliance because this material weakness existed during the period June 1 to December 31, 2014, and as of December 31, 2014.

D. Respondent Violated PCAOB Attestation Standard No. 1 in its Examination of Merrill's 2014 Compliance Report

Certain Commission Reporting Requirements for Merrill

7. The Customer Protection Rule required Merrill to promptly obtain and thereafter maintain physical possession or control over its customers' fully-paid securities and excess margin securities.[7] Under the control requirement described in Rule 15c3-3(c), control generally means that the broker-dealer must hold these securities in one of several locations specified in the Rule and that they be held free of liens or any other interest that could be exercised by a third-party to secure an obligation of the broker-dealer.

---

[7] See 17 C.F.R. § 240.15c3-3(b). For a definition of "fully paid securities" and "excess margin securities," see Rule 15c3-3(a)(3), (5), 17 CFR 240.15c3-3(a) (3), (5).

ORDER

8. As applicable to Merrill, Rule 15c3-3(c) provided that, if Merrill held customers' fully-paid and excess margin securities at a U.S. Bank, those securities would be deemed to be in Merrill's control if, among other things, "the bank . . . acknowledged in writing that the securities in its custody or control are not subject to any right, charge, security interest, lien or claim of any kind in favor of the bank or any person claiming through the bank."[8] The Commission imposed a similar "no-lien" requirement for customer fully-paid or excess margin securities that Merrill held at a foreign depository or foreign custodian bank.[9] The "no-lien" requirement of Rule 15c3-3(c) was in effect when PwC began its work on the Merrill engagement in 2009, and it remains in effect today.

9. Effective June 1, 2014, amendments to Rule 17a-5 required Merrill to file with the Commission an annual report containing (a) a financial report that included financial statements and supporting schedules,[10] (b) a compliance report concerning the effectiveness of Merrill's internal controls over compliance with, among other things, the "no-lien" requirement;[11] and (c) a report by a PCAOB-registered firm based on an examination of Merrill's financial and compliance reports.[12] The amendments to Rule 17a-5 also required that the auditor's examinations of the financial report and compliance report be performed in accordance with PCAOB standards.[13]

10. In the compliance report, Merrill had to make certain statements ("assertions") about its compliance with, among other things, the Customer Protection Rule, including that (a) Merrill's internal control over compliance[14] was effective during

---

[8] See 17 C.F.R. § 240.15c3-3(c)(5) (emphasis added). This Order uses the term "U.S. Bank" to mean a bank as defined in section (3)(a)(6) of the Exchange Act.

[9] See Rule 15c3-3(c)(4); Exchange Act Release 34-10429, Guidelines for Control Locations for Foreign Securities Pursuant to Subparagraphs (c)(4) and (c)(7) of Rule 15c3-3 Under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (Oct. 12, 1973).

[10] See Rule 17a-5(d)(1)(i)(A), (d)(2).

[11] See Rule 17a-5(d)(1)(i)(B)(1), (d)(3).

[12] See Rule 17a-5(d)(1)(i)(C), (g).

[13] See Rule 17a-5(g).

[14] Rule 17a-5(d)(3)(ii) provides: "The term Internal Control Over Compliance means internal controls that have the objective of providing the broker or dealer with reasonable assurance that non-compliance with [Exchange Act Rules 15c3-1, 15c3-3,

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

the most recent fiscal year; and (b) its internal control over compliance was effective as of the end of the most recent fiscal year.[15]

PCAOB Attestation Standard No. 1

11. In connection with the preparation or issuance of an examination report for a broker-dealer, PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons comply with the Board's auditing and related professional practice standards, including attestation standards.[16]

12. AT 1 became effective for audits of fiscal years ending on or after June 1, 2014, and established requirements aligned with the auditor's responsibilities under the amended Rule 17a-5. AT 1 provides that, in performing an examination of the assertions made by a broker or dealer in a compliance report (an "examination engagement"), the auditor's objective is to express an opinion regarding whether the assertions made by the broker or dealer in the compliance report are fairly stated, in all material respects.[17] AT 1 also provides that, to express such opinion, the auditor must plan and perform the examination engagement to obtain appropriate evidence that is sufficient to obtain reasonable assurance about whether, among other things, one or more material

---

17a-13], or any rule of the designated examining authority of the broker or dealer that requires account statements to be sent to the customers of the broker or dealer (an 'Account Statement Rule') will be prevented or detected on a timely basis."

[15] See Rule 17a-5(d)(3)(i)(A).

[16] See PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards, and PCAOB Rule 3200T, Interim Auditing Standards. All references to PCAOB standards are to the versions of those standards in effect at the time of the Merrill Audit. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its auditing standards using a topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Release No. 2015-002 (Mar. 31, 2015); see also PCAOB Auditing Standards Reorganized and Pre-Reorganized Numbering (January 2016), https://pcaobus.org/Standards/Auditing/Documents/ PrintableReference Table.pdf.

[17] See AT 1 ¶ 3.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

weaknesses[18] existed during the most recent fiscal year being reported.[19] As noted in AT 1, the auditor's examination should include an evaluation of the effectiveness of internal control over compliance with the Customer Protection Rule during, and as of the end of, the most recent fiscal year.[20]

13. AT 1 also provides that the auditor must exercise due professional care, which includes application of professional skepticism, in planning and performing the examination engagement.[21] Additionally, when planning the examination engagement, the auditor should obtain an understanding of the broker-dealer's processes regarding compliance with, among other things, the Customer Protection Rule, which includes evaluating the design of controls that are relevant to the examination and determining whether they have been implemented.[22] When performing the examination engagement, the auditor must test the controls that are important to the auditor's conclusion about whether the broker-dealer has maintained effective internal control over compliance for, among other things, the Customer Protection Rule during the fiscal year and at fiscal year end, and must obtain evidence that the tested controls are designed effectively and operated effectively during the fiscal year and at fiscal year end.[23]

14. If controls selected for testing in the current year were tested in past examination engagements, and if the auditor plans to use evidence about the effectiveness of those controls that was obtained in prior years, the auditor should take

---

[18] A "material weakness" is a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies, in internal control over compliance such that there is a reasonable possibility that non-compliance to a material extent with Rule 15c3-3(c), among other things, will not be prevented or detected on a timely basis. See AT 1, Appendix A ¶ A4.

[19] See AT 1 ¶ 4.

[20] See id. ¶ 4, Note.

[21] See id. ¶ 6(d).

[22] See id. ¶ 9(b) and Note.

[23] See id. ¶ 11. The auditor should test the design effectiveness of the selected controls by determining, among other things, whether the control can effectively prevent or detect instances of non-compliance with the Customer Protection Rule on a timely basis. See id. ¶ 14. Additionally, the auditor should test the operating effectiveness of the selected controls by determining whether each is operating as designed, among other things. See id. ¶ 16.

ORDER

into account numerous factors to determine the evidence needed during the current fiscal year examination, including (a) the nature, timing, and extent of procedures performed in previous examination engagements; (b) the results of the previous years' testing of the controls; and (c) any changes in the controls or the process in which the control operates since the previous examination engagement.[24] Additionally, when an auditor uses information produced by the company as audit evidence, the auditor should evaluate whether the information is sufficient and appropriate for purposes of the audit by performing procedures to test the accuracy and completeness of the information, or test the controls over the accuracy and completeness of that information.[25]

15. As provided in AT 1, the auditor should evaluate whether he or she has obtained sufficient appropriate evidence to support the conclusions to be presented in the examination report, taking into account the risks associated with controls and non-compliance, the results of the examination procedures performed, and the appropriateness (i.e., the relevance and reliability) of the evidence obtained.[26] If the auditor is unable to obtain sufficient appropriate evidence about an assertion, the auditor should express a disclaimer of opinion.[27]

16. As described below, Respondent failed to comply with applicable PCAOB rules and standards in connection with its Examination of the assertions made by Merrill in its FY ended December 31, 2014 compliance report.

Respondent's Examination of Merrill's 2014 Compliance Report

17. On March 2, 2015, Merrill filed its Form X-17A-5 Part III for FY 2014 with the Commission. In connection with that filing, Merrill filed its FY 2014 compliance report dated February 27, 2015 ("Compliance Report"). The Compliance Report's assertions included that Merrill's internal control over compliance with the Customer Protection Rule was effective during the period from June 1, 2014 to December 31, 2014, and also as of

---

[24] See id. ¶ 19.

[25] See Auditing Standard No. 15, Audit Evidence ("AS 15"), ¶ 10.

[26] See AT 1 ¶ 27.

[27] See id. ¶ 29.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

December 31, 2014.[28] PwC issued its examination report, dated February 27, 2015, concerning Merrill's Compliance Report ("Examination Report"). PwC's Examination Report expressed its unqualified opinion that Merrill's assertions in the Compliance Report were fairly stated, in all material respects, and the Examination Report stated, among other things, that the Examination was conducted in accordance with PCAOB standards.

18. During the Examination, PwC was aware that Merrill maintained some of its customers' fully-paid securities and excess margin securities in Merrill's own physical possession, and held the rest – amounting to billions of dollars in customer securities – in accounts at various third-party institutions. PwC understood that Merrill designated all of these accounts as "good control locations" (i.e., compliant with the Customer Protection Rule's requirements to keep customers' fully-paid securities and excess margin securities either in Merrill's possession, or in Merrill's control if the securities were held at a third-party institution). The third-party accounts were at different types of custodians, such as U.S. Banks and foreign depositories. All of the accounts at third-party institutions were governed by custodial agreements between Merrill and the institutions.

19. PwC was aware of the magnitude of customer fully-paid and excess margin securities that Merrill held in accounts at third-party institutions in 2014, and was aware of the risks to Merrill's customers if those accounts were subject to liens. Nevertheless, PwC failed to plan and perform its Examination to obtain sufficient evidence concerning Merrill's compliance with the "no-lien" requirement of the Customer Protection Rule. In particular, PwC failed to obtain an adequate understanding of Merrill's internal control over compliance with the "no-lien" requirement of the Customer Protection Rule.[29] Specifically, PwC failed to adequately test both the design effectiveness and operating effectiveness of the controls that were important to its conclusion about whether Merrill maintained effective internal control over compliance with the "no-lien" requirement of the Customer Protection Rule.[30] PwC therefore failed to obtain appropriate evidence sufficient to provide reasonable assurance about whether

---

[28] As noted above, Merrill's Compliance Report assertion about effectiveness of internal control over compliance during the most recent fiscal year only covered the period June 1, 2014 to December 31, 2014.

[29] See AT 1 ¶ 9(b) and Note.

[30] See id. ¶¶ 11, 14, 16.

ORDER

there were material weaknesses in Merrill's internal control over compliance, as required by AT 1.[31]

PwC's Inadequate Control Testing

20. During the Examination, PwC identified Merrill's key control relevant to its compliance with Rule 15c3-3(c) when designating accounts as good control locations (the "Key Control"). As explained below, in its Examination, PwC failed to obtain reasonable assurance about whether one or more material weaknesses existed in Merrill's internal control over compliance with Rule 15c3-3(c) during June – December 2014 and at year end 2014.

Inadequate Testing of Design Effectiveness

21. PwC performed a walkthrough of the Key Control to test its design effectiveness. The work paper documenting the walkthrough noted that Merrill produced a daily Production Report. The Production Report identified when Merrill had designated a new account as a good control location, or had changed the designation of an existing account to a good control location (collectively, "newly-designated" accounts). Although the walkthrough work paper stated that Merrill "reviews & validates" the custodial agreements for the newly-designated accounts appearing on the Production Report to determine whether Merrill properly designated them as good control locations, PwC did not obtain an understanding of what specific criteria the Key Control required Merrill to use in making such determinations. In fact, neither PwC's walkthrough procedures, nor any other testing of the Key Control, indicated whether Merrill considered the "no-lien" requirement of the Customer Protection Rule when designating good control locations. Consequently, PwC did not obtain sufficient appropriate evidence from the walkthrough that the Key Control was designed such that it could effectively prevent or detect instances of non-compliance with the Customer Protection Rule on a timely basis, as required by PCAOB standards.[32]

Inadequate Testing of Operating Effectiveness

22. To test the operating effectiveness of the Key Control, PwC selected a sample of days during June – December 2014 and obtained and reviewed the Production Report for each day selected. These reports identified five newly-designated

---

[31] See id. ¶ 4; Appendix A ¶ A4.

[32] See AT 1 ¶¶ 11, 14.

ORDER

good control locations, two of which were accounts held at third-party institutions to which the "no-lien" requirement applied. PwC obtained from Merrill the custody agreements for these two accounts, and concluded that the Key Control operated effectively during June – December 2014 and at year end 2014.

23. However, this testing did not provide PwC with evidence that the Key Control operated effectively in 2014. First, the two custody agreements that PwC obtained for the third-party institutions did not contain evidence that the accounts were free of liens and other encumbrances, as required by Rule 15c3-3(c). Second, PwC did not obtain evidence that Merrill personnel actually "review[ed] & validate[d]" the account documents of good control locations, in accordance with the design of the Key Control. In fact, PwC's evidence of two custodial agreements without "no-lien" provisions should have raised questions as to whether Merrill custodial agreements complied with the "no-lien" requirements, and whether Merrill's personnel were adequately reviewing the custody agreements for "no-lien" provisions. As a result, PwC violated PCAOB standards by failing to obtain sufficient evidence that the Key Control operated effectively during June – December 2014 and at year end 2014.[33]

Failure to Obtain Reasonable Assurance About Material Weaknesses in Internal Control Over Compliance

24. Even if PwC had obtained evidence that the Key Control was designed effectively and operated effectively during June – December 2014 and at year end 2014, that evidence would not have been sufficient to provide reasonable assurance about whether one or more material weaknesses existed in Merrill's internal control over compliance with Rule 15c3-3(c) in 2014.[34] By design, the Key Control was to operate in 2014 to address compliance only with respect to the good control locations that were newly-designated in 2014. Thus, for the rest of Merrill's good control locations that had been designated in previous years but still existed in 2014, as PwC knew, Merrill was relying on the premise that its internal controls had operated effectively in previous years to prevent or detect non-compliance with the "no-lien" requirement in those years.[35]

---

[33] See id. ¶¶ 11, 16.

[34] See id. ¶¶ 3-4.

[35] For 2009 to 2013, PwC's testing for compliance with Rule 15c3-3(c) was performed under the standards in place before AT 1 became effective, and was different from its testing in 2014. In those previous years, PwC did not use a Merrill Production Report in its testing. Instead, PwC obtained from Merrill a list of all Merrill-designated

ORDER

25. Accordingly, approximately 32 newly-designated good control locations were subject to the Key Control in 2014, out of a total of approximately 775 existing "good control locations" at Merrill as of year end 2014. For the approximately 743 previously-designated good control locations still existing as of year end 2014, PwC used the results of its testing in previous years to conclude that Merrill's internal controls over compliance had operated effectively in the previous years when those accounts had been designated.[36] Those results, however, did not provide sufficient appropriate evidence of the effectiveness of Merrill's internal control over compliance with the "no-lien" requirement for those previous years.

Merrill-designated Good Control Locations
All existing accounts designated as good control locations by Merrill as of YE 2014	775
All accounts newly-designated as good control locations by Merrill in 2014	32
Newly-designated good control locations selected for FY 2014 testing by PwC	5

26. For example, in its testing for each of the previous years, PwC never obtained any evidence, such as custodial agreements with "no-lien" provisions, that accounts at U.S. Banks that Merrill had designated as good control locations satisfied good control locations as of the end of the year under audit and compared that list to a list of all Merrill-designated good control locations as of the end of the prior year. PwC then identified which accounts were newly-designated in the year under audit, and selected test sample items from that group of accounts. PwC used the information in those Merrill-produced lists as audit evidence, but never performed sufficient procedures to test the accuracy and completeness of that information, or test the controls over the accuracy and completeness of that information. Consequently, under PCAOB standards, PwC could not use that information as audit evidence for the 2014 Examination and Audit. See AS 15 ¶ 10.

---

[36] For FY 2014, PwC could not rely on evidence obtained in its previous years' control testing without taking into account the results of that testing. See AT 1 ¶ 19.

ORDER

the "no-lien" requirement of Rule 15c3-3(c). Even though PwC selected such accounts as sample items in its testing for each of the previous years, it failed to obtain evidence that Merrill personnel had validated that the accounts were protected by "no-lien" provisions.

27. Additionally, with respect to foreign depositories that Merrill had designated as good control locations, PwC selected certain accounts from those depositories for testing in prior years, but failed to consistently obtain sufficient evidence that the accounts selected satisfied the "no-lien" requirement of Rule 15c3-3(c), and failed to obtain evidence that Merrill personnel had validated that the selected accounts were protected by "no-lien" provisions.

28. Consequently, for purposes of compliance with the "no-lien" requirement, PwC failed to obtain sufficient appropriate evidence that Merrill's internal controls had operated effectively with respect to the previously-designated good control locations still existing in 2014.

29. As noted above, from 2009 to 2014, Merrill exposed tens of billions of dollars of its customers' fully-paid securities and excess margin securities to potential liens by some of the third-party institutions at which Merrill had held those assets. Merrill held a majority of those exposed securities in one of the U.S. Bank accounts that it erroneously designated as a good control location – the account had market values ranging from about $60 billion at year end 2009 to about $30 billion at year end 2014.[37] With respect to certain third-party foreign depositories that Merrill had designated as good control locations, at year end 2014, billions of dollars in customers' securities were held in six accounts subject to a lien, and in 48 more accounts for which Merrill could not locate contemporaneous documentation establishing that the accounts satisfied the "no-lien" requirement of Rule 15c3-3(c). The deficiencies in Merrill's internal control over compliance that failed to prevent or detect the existence of such liens created a reasonable possibility of Merrill's non-compliance to a material extent with the Customer Protection Rule – i.e., a material weakness.[38]

---

[37] This account did not comply with Rule 15c3-3(c) because the account was subject to a general lien by the U.S. Bank.

[38] See AT 1, Appendix A, ¶ A4.

ORDER

30. As a result of the above deficiencies, Respondent lacked a reasonable basis for its opinion that Merrill's assertions in its 2014 Compliance Report were fairly stated, in all material respects. Therefore, Respondent violated AT 1.[39]

E. Respondent Violated PCAOB Rules and Standards in Its Audit of One of Merrill's 2014 Supporting Schedules

31. Rule 17a-5 required that Merrill file certain supplemental information in supporting schedules accompanying its 2014 financial statements, and that the schedules be audited by a PCAOB-registered firm.[40]

32. In connection with the preparation or issuance of an audit report on such supplemental information, PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons comply with the Board's auditing and related professional practice standards.[41] Among other things, PCAOB standards require an auditor to exercise due professional care and professional skepticism in performing the audit.[42]

33. PCAOB standards also require that, when the auditor is engaged to audit supplemental information accompanying the financial statements, the auditor should perform audit procedures to obtain appropriate audit evidence sufficient to support the auditor's opinion regarding whether the supplemental information is fairly stated, in all material respects, in relation to the financial statements as a whole.[43] In doing so, the auditor should, among other things, obtain an understanding of the criteria that management used to prepare the supplemental information, including relevant regulatory requirements.[44] The auditor also should perform procedures to test the completeness and accuracy of the information presented in the supplemental information, and should

---

[39] See id. ¶¶ 3-4.

[40] See Rule 17a-5(d)(1)(i)(A), (d)(1)(i)(C), (d)(2), and (g).

[41] See PCAOB Rule 3100 and PCAOB Rule 3200T.

[42] See AU § 150, Generally Accepted Auditing Standards; AU § 230, Due Professional Care in the Performance of Work.

[43] See AS 17 ¶¶ 2-3.

[44] See id. ¶ 4(a).

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

evaluate whether the supplemental information complies with relevant regulatory requirements.[45]

34. According to PCAOB standards, if an auditor is unable to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to support an opinion on the supplemental information, the auditor should disclaim an opinion on the supplemental information.[46]

35. As described below, Respondent failed to comply with PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the audit procedures it performed on the supplemental information in a supporting schedule accompanying Merrill's 2014 financial statements.

Inadequate Audit Procedures on Supplemental Information in Merrill's Supporting Schedule

36. On March 2, 2015, Merrill filed Form X-17A-5 Part III for FY 2014 with the Commission. Included in that filing was PwC's FY 2014 audit report dated February 27, 2015. The audit report expressed an unqualified opinion on Merrill's financial statements and accompanying supporting schedules, and stated that PwC's audit was conducted in accordance with PCAOB standards. The audit report also stated that the supplemental information in an accompanying supporting schedule – Schedule IV, Unconsolidated Information Relating to the Possession or Control Requirements for Brokers and Dealers Pursuant to Rule 15c3-3 under the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934 – was subjected to audit procedures in connection with PwC's audit of Merrill's financial statements. In particular, PwC represented that it had performed procedures to test the completeness and accuracy of the information presented in the supplemental information.[47]

37. Rule 17a-5 required Merrill to file the Schedule IV to report on issues relating to Merrill's compliance with the possession or control requirements of the [45] See id. ¶ 4(e) – (f).

---

[46] See id. ¶ 15.

[47] According to PCAOB standards, "[t]he auditor should take into account relevant evidence from . . . the attestation engagement[] . . . in planning and performing audit procedures related to the supplemental information and in evaluating the results of the audit procedures to form an opinion on the supplemental information." AS 17 ¶ 3(c), Note.

ORDER

Customer Protection Rule.[48] Merrill's Schedule IV as of December 31, 2014 reported, among other things, that there were no "[c]ustomers' fully paid securities and excess margin securities for which instructions to reduce to possession or control had not been issued as of the report date, excluding items arising from temporary lags . . . , as permitted under Rule 15c3-3." In part, Merrill's supplemental information represented that, with respect to customers' fully paid and excess margin securities that it held in accounts at U.S. Banks and foreign depositories, Merrill had issued instructions (whether through custodial agreements or otherwise) to maintain the securities in compliance with the "no-lien" requirement. PwC opined in its audit report that the Schedule IV was fairly stated, in all material respects, in relation to Merrill's financial statements as a whole.

38. But PwC had not obtained sufficient appropriate audit evidence to support its opinion. The only procedures that PwC performed relating to Merrill's compliance with the "no-lien" requirement were the above-mentioned testing of the Key Control and of the previous years' compliance with Rule 15c3-3(c). As described above, this testing was deficient, and PwC failed to obtain sufficient appropriate evidence of compliance with the "no-lien" requirement with respect to the Merrill-designated good control locations existing at year end 2014. PwC consequently failed to perform appropriate procedures to test the completeness and accuracy of the supplemental information presented in Merrill's Schedule IV for 2014, and failed to adequately evaluate whether that supplemental information complied with relevant regulatory requirements in Rule 15c3-3(c).[49]

39. Respondent therefore violated PCAOB standards by failing to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence that the supplemental information in Merrill's supporting Schedule IV was fairly stated, in all material respects, in relation to the financial statements as a whole.[50]

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondent's Offer. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

---

[48] See Rule 17a-5(d)(1)(i)(A), (d)(2)(ii).

[49] See AS 17 ¶ 4(e) – (f).

[50] See id. ¶¶ 2-4.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP is hereby censured; and

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of $1,000,000 is imposed upon PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of this civil money penalty will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP shall pay the civil money penalty within 10 days of the issuance of this Order by (1) wire transfer in accordance with instructions furnished by Board staff; or (2) United States Postal Service money order, bank money order, certified check, or bank cashier's check (a) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, (b) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, and (c) submitted under a cover letter, which identifies the payor as a respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB release number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe W. Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

August 2, 2017

1666 K Street, N.W.
Washington, DC 20006
Telephone: (202) 207-9100
Facsimile: (202) 862-0757
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of Enterprise CPAs, Ltd. and David (Xiaobo) Liu, Respondents.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-033 August 2, 2017

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("Board" or "PCAOB") is (1) censuring the registered public accounting firm Enterprise CPAs, Ltd. ("Enterprise" or the "Firm"); (2) imposing upon the Firm a civil money penalty in the amount of $10,000; (3) prohibiting the Firm from accepting any new issuer audit clients for a period of one (1) year from the date of this Order; (4) requiring the firm to undertake certain remedial measures, including establishing policies and procedures, directed toward ensuring compliance with the engagement quality review requirements applicable to audits and reviews of issuers; and (5) censuring David (Xiaobo) Liu, CPA ("Liu"). The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that the Firm and Liu (collectively, "Respondents") violated PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the Firm's audits of two issuer audit clients.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondents.

II.

In anticipation of institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondents have each submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offers") that the Board has determined to accept. Respondents admit the facts, findings, and violations

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

set forth below, and consent to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[1]

III.

On the basis of Respondents' Offers, the Board finds that:[2]

A. Respondents

1. Enterprise CPAs, Ltd. is, and at all relevant times was, a limited liability partnership organized under the laws of the state of Illinois and headquartered in Chicago, Illinois. Enterprise is registered with the Board pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules. Enterprise is licensed to practice public accountancy by the Illinois State Board of Accountancy (license no. 066003832). At all relevant times, the Firm was the external auditor for the issuer identified below.

2. David (Xiaobo) Liu, CPA, 54, of Chicago, Illinois is a certified public accountant licensed by the Illinois Board of Accountancy (license no. 065025331). At all relevant times, Liu was the sole owner of the Firm and was the Firm's sole partner. At all relevant times, he was, an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

B. Summary

3. This matter concerns the Firm's failure to comply with Auditing Standard No. 7, Engagement Quality Review ("AS 7"), with respect to two issuer clients.[3] In the

---

[1] The findings herein are made pursuant to the Respondents' Offers and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

[2] The Board finds that Respondents' conduct described in this Order meets the conditions set out in Section 105(c)(5), 15 U.S.C. § 7215(c)(5) which provides that certain sanctions may be imposed in the event of (i) intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, that results in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard; or (ii) repeated instances of negligent conduct, each resulting in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard.

[3] All references to PCAOB rules and standards are to the versions of those rules and standards in effect at the time of the relevant audits. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its auditing standards using a topical structure and a audits of each client, the Firm failed to obtain an engagement quality review of each audit before issuing an audit opinion even though an engagement quality review was required under AS 7.

ORDER

4. This matter also concerns Liu's failure to comply with PCAOB Rule 3502, Responsibility Not to Knowingly or Recklessly Contribute to Violations, with respect to the Firm's audits of two clients. Liu took or omitted to take actions knowing, or recklessly not knowing, that his acts and omissions would directly and substantially contribute to the Firm's violations of PCAOB standards.

C. Respondents Violated PCAOB Rules and Standards

5. In connection with the preparation or issuance of an audit report, PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons comply with the Board's auditing and related professional practice standards.[4]

6. AS 7 requires that an engagement quality review be performed on audits, interim reviews, and certain attestation engagements conducted pursuant to PCAOB standards.[5] AS 7 also provides that, in an audit, a firm may grant permission to a client to use the engagement report only after an engagement quality reviewer provides concurring approval of issuance of the report.[6]

7. In addition, PCAOB Rule 3502 prohibits an associated person of a registered public accounting firm from taking or omitting to take an action knowing, or recklessly not knowing, that the act or omission would directly and substantially contribute to a violation by that firm of the Act, the rules of the Board, the provisions of the securities laws relating to the preparation and issuance of audit reports and the single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Release No. 2015-002 (Mar. 31, 2015); see also PCAOB Auditing Standards Reorganized and Pre Reorganized Numbering (Jan. 2016) https://pcaobus.org/Standards/Auditing/Documents/PrintableReferenceTable.pdf

---

[4] PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards; PCAOB Rule 3200T, Interim Auditing Standards.

[5] See AS 7 ¶ 1.

[6] Id. at ¶ 13.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

obligations and liabilities of accountants with respect thereto, including the rules of the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission ("Commission") issued under the Act, or professional standards.

8. As described below, the Firm failed to obtain an engagement quality review for each of the audits described below even though an engagement quality review was required to be performed and Liu directly and substantially contributed to those violations.

The Firm Failed to Obtain Engagement Quality Reviews Even After the PCAOB's Inspection Staff Informed The Firm of Possible AS 7 Violations

9. In connection with an April 2013 inspection of the Firm, the PCAOB Inspections staff found apparent failures by the Firm to comply with AS 7 for all audits and interim reviews performed by the Firm. The Firm responded, in part, by representing that it had implemented a revised process for compliance with AS 7 requirements. Liu was responsible for the Firm's adherence to the revised AS 7 compliance process.

10. Despite the Firm's representations that it had put into place a revised AS 7 compliance process, the Firm failed to comply with AS 7 requirements in connection with subsequent audits of two issuer clients.

Audit of Liberated Energy's Financial Statements

11. Liberated Energy Inc. ("Liberated") is a Nevada corporation headquartered in Chester, New York. Public filings disclose that it was in the business of developing new alternative energy products and bringing them to the market place. At all relevant times, Liberated was an issuer as that term is defined by Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

12. The Firm was engaged as Liberated's external auditor for fiscal year ended September 30, 2015. On February 12, 2016, Liberated filed a Form 10-K/A for fiscal year ended September 30, 2015 with the Commission. The Firm improperly permitted issuance of its engagement report dated February 12, 2016, which was included in Liberated's Form 10-K filing, without first obtaining an engagement quality review and concurring approval of issuance. Although the Firm retained an Engagement Quality Reviewer ("EQR") prior to the Firm's issuance of its engagement report, the EQR did not provide a concurring approval of issuance of the report until after the Firm issued its engagement report. As a result, the Firm violated AS 7.

ORDER

13. Liu knew, or was reckless in not knowing, that he was directly and substantially contributing to the Firm's violations of AS 7 when he caused the Firm to grant permission to the client to use the engagement report without first obtaining an engagement quality review and concurring approval of issuance. As a result, Liu violated PCAOB Rule 3502.

Audit of Flurida's Financial Statements

14. Flurida Group Inc. ("Flurida") is a Nevada corporation headquartered in El Paso, Texas. Public filings disclosed that it was engaged in sourcing, distribution and marketing of appliance components and assemblies in Asia, Europe, Australia, North and South America. At all relevant times, Flurida was an issuer as that term is defined by Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

15. The Firm was engaged as Flurida's external auditor for fiscal year ended December 31, 2016. On March 30, 2016, Flurida filed a Form 10-K for fiscal year ended December 31, 2015 with the Commission. The Firm improperly permitted issuance of its engagement report dated March 28, 2016, which was included in Flurida's Form 10-K filing, without first obtaining an engagement quality review and concurring approval of issuance. Although the Firm retained an EQR prior to the Firm's issuance of its engagement report, the EQR did not provide a concurring approval of issuance of the report until after the Firm issued its engagement report. As a result, the Firm violated AS 7.

16. Liu knew, or was reckless in not knowing, that he was directly and substantially contributing to the Firm's violations of AS 7 when he caused the Firm to grant permission to the client to use the engagement report without first obtaining an engagement quality review and concurring approval of issuance. As a result, Liu violated PCAOB Rule 3502.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondents' Offers.

Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), Enterprise CPAs, Ltd. and David (Xiaobo) Liu, CPA are hereby censured;

ORDER

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of $10,000 is imposed upon Enterprise CPAs, Ltd. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of this civil money penalty will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. Enterprise CPAs, Ltd. shall pay this civil money penalty within 10 days of the issuance of this Order by (a) wire transfer in accordance with instructions furnished by Board staff; or (b) United States postal money order, certified check, bank cashier's check or bank money order; (c) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board; (d) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006; and (e) submitted under a cover letter which identifies Enterprise CPAs, Ltd. as a Respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB Release Number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to the Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006;

C. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(C) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(3), the Firm is prohibited from accepting any new issuer audit clients for one (1) year from the date of this Order and;

D. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(G) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(9), the Firm is required: within ninety (90) days from the date of this Order, to establish policies and procedures, or review and/or supplement existing policies and procedures, for the purpose of providing the Firm with reasonable assurance of compliance with Auditing Standard No. 7, Engagement Quality Review;

1. within ninety (90) days from the date of this Order, to establish a policy of ensuring training, whether internal or external, on an annual or more frequent basis, concerning Auditing Standard No. 7, of any Firm audit personnel who participate in any way in the planning or performing of any audit services (as defined in PCAOB Rule 1001(a)(vii));

2. within ninety (90) days from the date of this Order, and before the Firm's commencement of any audit services, to ensure training pursuant to the policy described in paragraph D(2) above on at least one occasion;

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

3. to provide a copy of this Order—

   a. within (30) days from the date of this Order, to all audit personnel employed by, or associated with (as defined in PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i)), the Firm as of the date of this Order;

   b. within (30) days from the date of this Order, to any client of the Firm as of the date of this Order for which the Firm has performed or has been engaged to perform audit services;

   c. before the commencement of any audit services, to any future client for which the Firm is engaged within three (3) years of the date of this Order to perform such audit services; and

to certify in writing to the Director of the Division of Enforcement and Investigations, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, the Firm's compliance with paragraphs D(1) through D(4)(b) above. The certification shall identify the undertakings, provide written evidence of compliance in the form of a narrative, and be supported by exhibits sufficient to demonstrate compliance. The Firm shall submit such certification within one hundred twenty (120) days from the date of this Order. The Firm shall also submit such additional evidence of and information concerning compliance as the staff of the Division of Enforcement and Investigations may reasonably request. The Firm shall also certify that for all audits and interim reviews performed by the Firm within one (1) year of this Order, the Firm has met all AS 7 requirements. Such certification shall occur within (30) thirty days of the completion of any audit or interim review performed in that time frame.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

August 2, 2017

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street, N.W.
Washington, DC 20006
Telephone: (202) 207-9100
Facsimile: (202) 862-0757
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the matter of L&L CPAs, PA, and Weixuan Luo, CPA (a/k/a Tracy Luo), Respondents.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-034 August 2, 2017

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (the "Board" or "PCAOB") is censuring L&L CPAs, PA ("Firm"), a registered public accounting firm, imposing a civil money penalty in the amount of $5,000 upon the Firm, and requiring the Firm to undertake certain remedial measures, including to establish policies and procedures directed toward ensuring compliance with the Board's engagement quality review requirements; and censuring Weixuan Luo, CPA ("Luo"). The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that the Firm and Luo (collectively "Respondents") violated PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the Firm's audits of two issuer audit clients.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondents.

II.

In anticipation of institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondents have each submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offers") that the Board has determined to accept. Respondents admit the facts, findings and violations set forth below, and consent to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order").[1]

ORDER

III.

On the basis of Respondents' Offers, the Board finds that:

A. Respondents

1. L&L CPAs, PA (f/k/a L&L Associates, CPA, PA, f/k/a Bongiovanni & Associates, PA) is, and at all relevant times was, an accounting firm organized under Florida law, and headquartered in Cornelius, North Carolina. The Firm is registered with the Board pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules, and is licensed under the laws of the states of Florida (license no. AD68932), Georgia (license no. ACF006317), Montana (license no. PAC-FIRM-LIC-19628), and North Carolina (license no. 33440). At all relevant times, the Firm was the external auditor for the issuers identified below.

2. Weixuan Luo, CPA (a/k/a Tracy Luo), age 44, is a certified public accountant licensed by the states of Florida (license no. AC44726) and North Carolina (license no. 39714). At all relevant times, Luo was the Firm's President and majority owner. Luo is, and at all relevant times was, an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

B. Summary

3. This matter concerns Respondents' failure to comply with Auditing Standard No. 7, Engagement Quality Review ("AS 7"),[2] with respect to two issuer audit clients. Luo served as the engagement quality reviewer on the Firm's audits of the

---

[1] The findings herein are made pursuant to the Respondents' Offers and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

[2] All references to PCAOB standards are to the versions of those standards in effect at the time of the relevant audits. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its auditing standards using a topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Release No. 2015-002 (Mar. 31, 2015); see also PCAOB Auditing Standards Reorganized and Pre Reorganized Numbering (Jan. 2016), https://pcaobus.org/Standards/Auditing/Documents/PrintableReferenceTable.pdf.

ORDER

issuers' 2014 year-end financial statements, immediately after serving as the engagement partner on the audits of the issuers' 2013 year-end financial statements, without satisfying the mandatory two-year "cooling off" period for former engagement partners.[3]

C. Respondents Violated PCAOB Auditing Standards

4. In connection with the preparation or issuance of an audit report, PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons comply with the Board's auditing and related professional practice standards.[4]

5. AS 7 requires that an engagement quality review be performed for each audit engagement and for each engagement to review interim financial information conducted pursuant to PCAOB standards.[5] AS 7 also provides that: "[t]he person who served as the engagement partner during either of the two audits preceding the audit subject to the engagement quality review may not be the engagement quality reviewer."[6]

6. In addition, PCAOB rules prohibit an associated person of a registered public accounting firm from "tak[ing] or omit[ting] to take an action knowing, or recklessly not knowing, that the act or omission would directly and substantially contribute to a violation by that registered public accounting firm of the Act, rules of the Board, the provisions of the securities laws relating to the preparation and issuance of audit reports and the obligations and liabilities of accountants with respect thereto, including the rules of the [Securities and Exchange] Commission issued under the Act, or professional standards."[7]

---

[3] See AS7 ¶ 8; see also PCAOB Release 2009-004, Auditing Standard No. 7 – Engagement Quality Review and Conforming Amendment to the Board's Interim Quality Control Standards. At all relevant times, the Firm had five or more issuer clients and did not qualify for AS 7 ¶ 8's small firm exemption.

[4] PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards.

[5] See AS 7 ¶ 1.

[6] Id. at ¶ 8.

[7] See PCAOB Rule 3502, Responsibility Not to Knowingly or Recklessly Contribute to Violations.

ORDER

7. As described below, Respondents failed to comply with PCAOB rules and standards.

Audit of Worlds Inc.'s Financial Statements

8. At all relevant times, Worlds Inc. was a Delaware corporation headquartered in Brookline, Massachusetts. The company's public filings disclose that its business was to hold and acquire patents that it intended to "more aggressively enforce against alleged infringers." At all relevant times, Worlds Inc. was an "issuer" as defined in Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

9. The Firm audited Worlds Inc.'s December 31, 2013 year-end financial statements, which were filed with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission ("Commission"), and issued an audit report expressing an unqualified opinion on the financial statements. Luo served as the engagement partner for the audit of Worlds Inc.'s year-end 2013 financial statements.

10. The Firm also audited Worlds Inc.'s December 31, 2014 year-end financial statements, which were filed with the Commission, and issued an audit report expressing an unqualified opinion on the financial statements. After serving as the engagement partner on the 2013 audit, Luo immediately served as the engagement quality reviewer on the 2014 audit, violating AS 7's two-year "cooling-off" period for former engagement partners.

Audit of Omega Commercial Finance Corp.'s Financial Statements

11. At all relevant times, Omega Commercial Finance Corp. ("Omega") was a Wyoming corporation headquartered in Miami Beach, Florida. The company's public filings disclose that its business primarily consisted of "offering financing to the real estate markets in the United States." At all relevant times, Omega was an "issuer" as defined in Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

12. The Firm audited Omega's December 31, 2013 year-end financial statements, which were filed with the Commission, and issued an audit report expressing an unqualified opinion on the financial statements. Luo served as the engagement partner for the audit of Omega's year-end 2013 financial statements.

13. The Firm also audited Omega's December 31, 2014 year-end financial statements, which were filed with the Commission, and issued an audit report expressing an unqualified opinion on the financial statements. After serving as the engagement partner on the 2013 audit, Luo immediately served as the engagement quality reviewer on the 2014 audit, violating AS 7's two-year "cooling-off" period for former engagement partners.

ORDER

Luo Contributed to the Firm's Violations of PCAOB Rules and Standards

14. Luo served as the President of the Firm. She determined who served as the engagement quality reviewer on the 2014 audits of Worlds Inc. and Omega.

15. Luo knew, or was reckless in not knowing, that she was directly and substantially contributing to the Firm's violations when she improperly served as the engagement quality reviewer on the 2014 audits, violating AS 7's two-year "cooling-off" period for former engagement partners. As a result, Luo violated PCAOB Rule 3502.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondents' Offers.

Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), L&L CPAs, PA, and Weixuan Luo, CPA, are hereby censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of $5,000 is imposed upon L&L CPAs, PA. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of this civil money penalty will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. L&L CPAs, PA, shall pay this civil money penalty within 10 days of the issuance of this Order by (a) wire transfer in accordance with instructions furnished by Board staff; or (b) United States postal money order, certified check, bank cashier's check or bank money order; (c) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board; (d) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006; and (e) submitted under a cover letter which identifies L&L CPAs, PA, as a Respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB Release Number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to the Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe Brown, Secretary, Public

ORDER

Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006; and

C. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(G) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(9), L&L CPAs, PA, is required:

1. within ninety (90) days from the date of this Order, to establish policies and procedures, or review and/or supplement existing policies and procedures, for the purpose of providing the Firm with reasonable assurance of compliance with Auditing Standard No. 7, Engagement Quality Review;

2. within ninety (90) days from the date of this Order, to establish a policy of ensuring training, whether internal or external, on an annual or more frequent basis, concerning Auditing Standard No. 7, of any Firm audit personnel who participate in any way in the planning or performing of any audit services (as defined in PCAOB Rule 1001(a)(vii));

3. within ninety (90) days from the date of this Order, and before the Firm's commencement of any audit services, to ensure training pursuant to the policy described in paragraph C(2) above on at least one occasion;

4. to provide a copy of this Order—

a. within (30) days from the date of this Order, to all audit personnel employed by, or associated with (as defined in PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i)), the Firm as of the date of this Order;

b. within (30) days from the date of this Order, to any client of the Firm as of the date of this Order for which the Firm has performed or has been engaged to perform audit services;

c. before the commencement of any audit services, to any future client for which the Firm is engaged within three (3) years of the date of this Order to perform such audit services; and

5. to certify in writing to the Director of the Division of Enforcement and Investigations, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, the Firm's compliance with paragraphs C(1) through C(4)(b) above. The certification shall identify the undertakings, provide written evidence of compliance in the form of a narrative, and be supported by exhibits sufficient to demonstrate compliance. The Firm shall submit such certification within one hundred twenty (120) days from the date of this Order. The Firm shall also submit such additional evidence of and information concerning compliance as the staff of the Division of Enforcement and Investigations may reasonably request.

ORDER

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

August 2, 2017

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street, N.W.
Washington, DC 20006
Telephone: (202) 207-9100
Facsimile: (202) 862-0757
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of William T. McCallum CPA, P.C. and William T. McCallum, CPA, Respondents.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-035 August 2, 2017

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (the "Board" or "PCAOB") is censuring William T. McCallum CPA, P.C. ("Firm"), a registered public accounting firm, and imposing a civil money penalty in the amount of $5,000 upon the Firm; and censuring William T. McCallum, CPA ("McCallum"). The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that the Firm and McCallum (collectively, "Respondents") violated PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the Firm's audits of two broker-dealer audit clients.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondents.

II.

In anticipation of institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondents have each submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offers") that the Board has determined to accept. Respondents admit the facts, findings and violations set forth below, and consent to the entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order").[1]

[1] The findings herein are made pursuant to the Respondents' Offers and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

ORDER

III.

On the basis of Respondents' Offers, the Board finds[2] that:

A. Respondents

1. William T. McCallum CPA, P.C. is, and at all relevant times was, an accounting firm organized under New York law, and headquartered in New York, New York. The Firm is registered with the Board pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules, and is licensed by the New York State Board of Accountancy (license no. 16018). At all relevant times, the Firm was the external auditor for the broker-dealers identified below.

2. William T. McCallum, CPA, age 69, is, and at all relevant times was, a certified public accountant licensed by the New York State Board of Accountancy (license no. 037228-1). At all relevant times, McCallum was the sole owner of the Firm and an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

B. Summary

3. This matter concerns the Firm's failure to comply with Auditing Standard No. 7, Engagement Quality Review ("AS 7"),[3] with respect to two broker-dealer audit clients. In the case of each client, the Firm failed to obtain an engagement quality review of each audit even though it was required to be performed.

---

[2] The Board finds that each Respondent's conduct described in this Order meets the conditions set out in Section 105(c)(5) of the Act, 15 U.S.C. §7215(c)(5), which provides that certain sanctions may be imposed in the event of: (A) intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, that results in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard; or (B) repeated instances of negligent conduct, each resulting in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard.

[3] All references to PCAOB rules and standards in this Order are to the versions of those rules and standards in effect for the audit described herein. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its auditing standards using a topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Release No. 2015-002 (Mar. 31, 2015); see also PCAOB Auditing Standards Reorganized and PreReorganized Numbering (January 2016); https://pcaobus.org/Standards/Auditing/Documents/PrintableReferenceTable.pdf.

ORDER

4. This matter also concerns McCallum's direct and substantial contribution to the Firm's violations of PCAOB rules and standards with respect to the two audit engagements. McCallum took or omitted to take actions knowing, or recklessly not knowing, that his acts and omissions would directly and substantially contribute to the Firm's violations of PCAOB rules and standards.

C. Respondents Violated PCAOB Rules and Standards

5. In connection with the preparation or issuance of an audit report, PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons comply with the Board's auditing and related professional practice standards.[4]

6. For audits, interim reviews, and attestations of broker-dealers for fiscal years ending on or after June 1, 2014, AS 7 requires that an engagement quality review be performed on audits, interim reviews, and attestation engagements conducted pursuant to PCAOB standards.[5] AS 7 also provides that a firm may grant permission to a client to use the engagement report only after an engagement quality reviewer provides concurring approval of issuance.[6]

7. In addition, PCAOB rules prohibit an associated person of a registered public accounting firm from "tak[ing] or omit[ting] to take an action knowing, or recklessly not knowing, that the act or omission would directly and substantially contribute to a violation by that registered public accounting firm of the Act, the Rules of the Board, the provisions of the securities laws relating to the preparation and issuance of audit reports and the obligations and liabilities of accountants with respect thereto, including the rules of the [Securities and Exchange] Commission [("Commission")] issued under the Act, or professional standards."[7]

8. As described below, Respondents failed to comply with PCAOB rules and standards.

---

[4] PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards.

[5] See AS 7 ¶ 1.

[6] Id. at ¶¶ 13, 18, and 18C.

[7] See PCAOB Rule 3502, Responsibility Not to Knowingly or Recklessly Contribute to Violations.

ORDER

Audit of Cross Border Private Capital, L.L.C.'s Financial Statements

9. At all relevant times, Cross Border Private Capital, L.L.C. ("Cross Border") was a broker-dealer located in New York and was a "broker" and "dealer," as defined in Section 110(3) and 110(4) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(b)(iii) and 1001(d)(iii).

10. The Firm served as the auditor of Cross Border's financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2014. The Firm issued an audit report and review report, both dated February 25, 2015, which were included in Cross Border's Form X-17A-5 Part III ("Form X-17A-5") filed with the Commission on March 2, 2015. The Firm improperly permitted the issuance of those reports, which were included in Cross Border's Form X-17A-5 filing, without obtaining an engagement quality review and concurring approval of issuance. As a result, the Firm violated AS 7.[8]

Audit of CDK Financial Services, LLC's Financial Statements

11. At all relevant times, CDK Financial Services, LLC ("CDK") was a broker-dealer located in New York and was a "broker" and "dealer," as defined in Section 110(3) and 110(4) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(b)(iii) and 1001(d)(iii).

12. The Firm served as the auditor of CDK's financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2014. The Firm issued an audit report and review report, both dated February 27, 2015, which were included in CDK's Form X-17A-5 filed with the Commission on March 2, 2015. The Firm improperly permitted the issuance of those reports, which were included in CDK's Form X-17A-5 filing, without obtaining an engagement quality review and concurring approval of issuance. As a result, the Firm violated AS 7.[9]

McCallum Contributed to the Firm's Violations of PCAOB Rules and Standards

13. McCallum, the sole owner of the Firm, was the engagement partner for the 2014 audits of Cross Border and CDK conducted by the Firm. Accordingly, McCallum had overall responsibility for ensuring that the Firm complied with PCAOB rules and standards. McCallum knew, or was reckless in not knowing, that he was directly and substantially contributing to the Firm's violations of AS 7, as described above. As a result, he violated PCAOB Rule 3502.

---

[8] See AS 7 ¶¶ 13 and 18C.

[9] Id.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondents' Offers.

Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), William T. McCallum CPA, P.C. and William T. McCallum, CPA are hereby censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of $5,000 is imposed upon William T. McCallum CPA, P.C. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of this civil money penalty will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. William T. McCallum CPA, P.C. shall pay this civil money penalty within 10 days of the issuance of this Order by (a) wire transfer in accordance with instructions furnished by Board staff; or (b) United States postal money order, certified check, bank cashier's check or bank money order; (c) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board; (d) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006; and (e) submitted under a cover letter which identifies William T. McCallum CPA, P.C. as a Respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB Release Number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to the Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

_____

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

August 2, 2017

1666 K Street, N.W.
Washington, DC 20006
Telephone: (202) 207-9100
Facsimile: (202) 862-0757
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of Jerome Rosenberg CPA, P.C. and Jerome Rosenberg, CPA, Respondents.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-036 August 2, 2017

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (the "Board" or "PCAOB") is censuring Jerome Rosenberg CPA, P.C. (the "Firm"), revoking the Firm's registration,[1] and imposing a civil money penalty in the amount of $10,000 upon the Firm; and censuring Jerome Rosenberg, CPA ("Rosenberg") and barring him from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm.[2] The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that the Firm and Rosenberg (collectively "Respondents") violated PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the Firm's audits of an issuer audit client.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondents.

II.

In anticipation of institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondents have each submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offers") that the

[1] The Firm may reapply for registration after one (1) year from the date of this Order.

[2] Rosenberg may file a petition for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm after one (1) year from the date of this Order.

ORDER

Board has determined to accept. Respondents admit the facts, findings, and violations set forth below, and consent to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order").[3]

III.

On the basis of Respondents' Offers, the Board finds[4] that:

A. Respondents

1. Jerome Rosenberg CPA, P.C. is, and at all relevant times was, an accounting firm organized under New York law, and headquartered in Melville, New York. The Firm is registered with the Board pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules, and is licensed by the New York State Board of Accountancy (license no. 026799). At all relevant times, the Firm was the external auditor for the issuer identified below.

2. Jerome Rosenberg, CPA, age 74, is, and at all relevant times was, a certified public accountant licensed by the New York State Board of Accountancy (license no. 027100). At all relevant times, Rosenberg was the managing partner and sole owner of the Firm. Rosenberg is, and at all relevant times was, an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

B. Summary

3. This matter concerns the Respondents' failure to comply with Auditing Standard No. 7, Engagement Quality Review ("AS 7"), with respect to one issuer client. In the case of the Firm's audits of the issuer's 2013 through 2016 year-end financial statements, the Firm failed to have an engagement quality review performed with objectivity. As described below, in each of these years, the engagement quality reviewer

---

[3] The findings herein are made pursuant to the Respondents' Offers and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

[4] The Board finds that Respondents' conduct described in this Order meets the conditions set out in Section 105(c)(5) of the Act, 15 U.S.C. § 7215(c)(5), which provides that certain sanctions may be imposed in the event of (1) intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, that results in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard; or (2) repeated instances of negligent conduct, each resulting in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard.

ORDER

performed some of the audit procedures and thereby assumed part of the responsibilities of the engagement team.

4. This matter also concerns the Firm's violations of PCAOB rules and quality control standards by failing to establish quality control policies and procedures sufficient to provide the Firm with reasonable assurance that its personnel would comply with applicable professional standards and the Firm's standards of quality.

C. Respondents violated PCAOB Rules and Standards

5. In connection with the preparation or issuance of an audit report, PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons comply with the Board's auditing and related professional practice standards.[5]

6. AS 7 requires an engagement quality review and concurring approval of issuance for each audit engagement.[6] In addition, AS 7 requires that the engagement quality reviewer perform the review with integrity, and maintain objectivity in performing the review.[7] To maintain objectivity, the engagement quality reviewer should not make decisions on behalf of the engagement team or assume any of the responsibilities of the engagement team.[8] The engagement partner remains responsible for the engagement and its performance, notwithstanding the involvement of the engagement quality reviewer.[9]

---

[5] PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards; PCAOB Rule 3200T, Interim Auditing Standards. All references to PCAOB standards are to the versions of those standards in effect at the time of the relevant audits. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its auditing standards using a topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Release No. 2015-002 (Mar. 31, 2015); see also PCAOB Auditing Standards Reorganized and Pre-Reorganized Numbering (January 2016), https://pcaobus.org/Standards/Auditing/Documents/PrintableReferenceTable.pdf.

[6] See AS 7 ¶ 1.

[7] Id. at ¶ 6.

[8] Id. at ¶ 7.

[9] Id.

ORDER

7. As described below, Respondents failed to comply with PCAOB rules and standards.

Audits of IEH's Financial Statements

8. At all relevant times, IEH Corp. ("IEH") was a New York State corporation headquartered in Brooklyn, New York. The company's public filings disclose that it designs, develops and manufactures printed circuit connectors for high performance applications. At all relevant times, IEH was an "issuer" as defined in Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

9. The Firm was engaged to audit the financial statements of IEH for the years ended March 29, 2013, March 28, 2014, March 27, 2015 and March 26, 2016 (collectively the "IEH Audits"). The Firm issued audit reports for each of the IEH Audits, which were included in IEH's Forms 10-K filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission ("Commission" or "SEC").

10. Throughout the IEH Audits, the engagement quality reviewer assumed responsibilities of the engagement team by performing audit procedures on revenue recognition, assets and inventory in IEH's financial statements. As a result, the Firm failed to obtain concurring approvals of issuance from an engagement quality reviewer who maintained objectivity while performing the review of IEH Audits.[10]

11. Rosenberg served as the head of the assurance practice at the Firm at all relevant times, and he also served as the engagement quality reviewer on the 2013, 2014 and 2016 IEH Audits. While serving as the engagement quality reviewer for those years, Rosenberg assumed responsibilities of the engagement team by performing audit procedures on revenue recognition, assets and inventory in IEH's financial statements. As a result, Rosenberg failed to maintain objectivity in his role as engagement quality reviewer, and thus violated AS 7.[11]

12. In addition, Rosenberg served as the engagement partner on the Firm's 2015 audit of IEH's financial statements. Rosenberg was aware that another member of the Firm, who was serving as the engagement quality reviewer for the 2015 audit, performed audit procedures on revenue recognition, assets and inventory in IEH's 2015 financial statements. As a result, Rosenberg, as the engagement partner on the 2015 audit, improperly permitted the engagement quality reviewer to assume responsibilities

---

[10] See AS 7 ¶ 6.

[11] Id. at ¶ ¶ 6 and 7.

of the engagement team, and thus Rosenberg violated Auditing Standard No. 10, Supervision of the Audit Engagement.[12]

D. Respondents violated PCAOB Rules and Standards Related to Quality Control

13. PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and their associated persons comply with the Board's quality control standards.[13] PCAOB quality control standards require that a registered public accounting firm establish policies and procedures to provide the firm with reasonable assurance that the work performed by engagement personnel meets applicable professional standards, regulatory requirements, and the firm's standards of quality.[14]

14. Throughout the relevant time period, the Firm failed to implement and maintain a system of quality control that would provide it with reasonable assurance that the work performed by the engagement personnel would comply with applicable professional standards. As described above, the Firm failed to establish and implement quality control policies and procedures to provide reasonable assurance that engagement quality reviews were obtained by reviewers who maintained objectivity in performing the review.

15. Rosenberg, as head of the Firm's assurance practice, had responsibility for the development, maintenance, communication, and monitoring of the Firm's quality control policies and procedures. In connection with that role, Rosenberg took, or omitted to take, actions that he knew, or was reckless in not knowing, would directly and substantially contribute to the Firm's violation of PCAOB quality control standards, in contravention of PCAOB Rule 3502, Responsibility Not to Knowingly or Recklessly Contribute to Violations.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit

---

[12] See AS 10 ¶ 3.

[13] PCAOB Rule 3100; PCAOB Rule 3400T, Interim Quality Control Standards.

[14] QC § 20.17.

ORDER

reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondents' Offers.

Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), Jerome Rosenberg CPA, P.C., and Jerome Rosenberg, CPA are hereby censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(B) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(2), Jerome Rosenberg, CPA is barred from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm, as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i);[15]

C. After one (1) year from the date of this Order, Jerome Rosenberg, CPA may file a petition, pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5302(b), for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm;

D. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(A) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(1), the registration of Jerome Rosenberg CPA, P.C. is revoked;

E. After one (1) year from the date of the Order, Jerome Rosenberg CPA, P.C. may reapply for registration by filing an application pursuant to PCAOB Rule 2101; and

F. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of $10,000 is imposed upon Jerome Rosenberg CPA, P.C. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of this civil money penalty will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. Jerome Rosenberg CPA, P.C. shall pay this civil money penalty within ten (10) days of the issuance of this Order by (1) wire transfer pursuant to instructions provided by Board staff; or (2) United States Postal Service money order, bank money order, certified

---

[15] As a consequence of the bar, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act will apply with respect to Rosenberg. Section 105(c)(7)(B) provides: "It shall be unlawful for any person that is suspended or barred from being associated with a registered public accounting firm under this subsection willfully to become or remain associated with any issuer, broker, or dealer in an accountancy or a financial management capacity, and for any issuer, broker, or dealer that knew, or in the exercise of reasonable care should have known, of such suspension or bar, to permit such an association, without the consent of the Board or the Commission."

ORDER

check, or bank cashier's check (a) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, (b) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006, and (c) submitted under a cover letter which identifies Jerome Rosenberg CPA, P.C. as a Respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB release number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to the Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe W. Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

August 2, 2017

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street, N.W.
Washington, DC 20006
Telephone: (202) 207-9100
Facsimile: (202) 862-0757
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of Pitcher Partners (Sydney, Australia), Respondent.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-037 September 14, 2017

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (the "Board" or "PCAOB") is censuring Pitcher Partners[1] (the "Firm," "Respondent," or "Pitcher Sydney") and revoking its registration. The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that the Firm violated PCAOB rules and standards by failing to timely file an annual report for the 2011 through 2016 reporting periods, and failing to timely pay an annual fee for the 2012 through 2016 reporting periods.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondent.

II.

In anticipation of institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondent has submitted an Offer of Settlement (the "Offer") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and

[1] This order refers to Pitcher Partners, located in Sydney, Australia and not PCAOB registrant Pitcher Partners of Melbourne, Australia. Both firms are part of an Australian association of independent firms, "Pitcher Partners," but each firm operates as a separate independent business.

ORDER

without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over Respondent and the subject matter of these proceedings, which is admitted, Respondent consents to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[2]

III.

On the basis of this Order and Respondent's Offer, the Board finds that:[3]

A. Respondent

1. Pitcher Sydney is a partnership located in Sydney, Australia. The Firm registered with the Board on August 27, 2004, pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and Board rules. Pitcher Sydney is licensed by the Institute of Chartered Accountants in Australia. A search of public records indicates that the Firm has not issued any audit reports or broker-dealer certifications, or played a substantial role in the preparation or furnishing of any audit or broker-dealer audit report since registering with the Board.

B. Violations

2. Pursuant to Section 102(d) of the Act, PCAOB Rule 2200, Annual Report, provides that "[e]ach registered public accounting firm must file with the Board an annual report on Form 2 . . . ." PCAOB Rule 2201, Time for Filing of Annual Report, sets forth that the deadline for filing the annual report is June 30 of each year. In violation of Section 102(d) of the Act and Rule 2200, Pitcher Sydney failed to timely file an annual report for 2011, 2012, 2013, 2014, 2015, and 2016. On January 26th and 27th, 2017, the Firm belatedly filed its annual reports for the 2011 through 2015 reporting periods. The Firm has not filed its 2016 annual report.

---

[2] The findings herein are made pursuant to Respondent's Offer and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

[3] The Board finds that Respondent's conduct described in this Order meets the conditions set out in Section 105(c)(5)(A) of the Act, 15 U.S.C. § 7215(c)(5), which provides that certain sanctions may be imposed in the event of (1) intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, that results in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard; or (2) repeated instances of negligent conduct, each resulting in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard.

ORDER

3. In addition, pursuant to Section 102(f) of the Act, PCAOB Rule 2202, Annual Fee, provides that "[e]ach registered public accounting firm must pay an annual fee to the Board on or before July 31 . . . ." In violation of Rule 2202, Pitcher Sydney failed to timely pay its annual fee for 2012, 2013, 2014, 2015, and 2016. On February 1, 2017, the Firm belatedly paid its annual fees for the 2012 through 2016 reporting periods.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondent's Offer. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), Pitcher Partners is hereby censured; and

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(A) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(1), the registration of Pitcher Partners is revoked.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

September 14, 2017

1666 K Street, N.W.
Washington, DC 20006
Telephone: (202) 207-9100
Facsimile: (202) 862-0757
www.pcaobus.org

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER MAKING FINDINGS AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of Seale and Beers CPAs, LLC, and Charlie B. Roy, CPA, Respondents.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-038 September 14, 2017

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (the "Board" or "PCAOB") is (1) censuring Seale and Beers CPAs, LLC (the "Firm"); (2) revoking the Firm's registration;[1] (3) imposing upon the Firm a civil money penalty in the amount of $20,000; (4) censuring Charlie B. Roy, CPA ("Roy"); (5) suspending Roy from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm for a period of one year from the date of this Order; (6) limiting Roy's activities in connection with any "audit," as that term is defined in Section 110(1) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), for an additional period of one year following the expiration of his suspension; and (7) imposing upon Roy a civil money penalty in the amount of $10,000. The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that: (a) Roy and the Firm (collectively "Respondents") violated PCAOB rules and auditing standards in connection with the Firm's audit of Capstone Financial Group, Inc.'s ("Capstone") financial statements for the fiscal year ("FY") ended December 31, 2013 ("FY 2013 Audit"); (b) the Firm violated Section 10A of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 ("Exchange Act"), and Roy directly and substantially contributed to the Firm's violation of the Exchange Act, in connection with the FY 2013 Audit; (c) Respondents violated PCAOB rules and auditing standards in connection with the Firm's review of Capstone's financial statements for the quarter ended March 31, 2014 ("Q1 2014 Review"); and (d) the Firm violated PCAOB quality control standards and Roy directly and substantially contributed to the Firm's violation of PCAOB quality control standards.

I.

On December 13, 2016, the Board instituted disciplinary proceedings pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against the Respondents. These proceedings were not public pursuant to Section 105(c)(2) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5203. The Board determined, under Section 105(c)(2) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5203, that good cause was shown to make the hearing in this proceeding public, and the Division of Enforcement and Investigations consented to making the hearing public. As permitted by Section 105(c)(2) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5203, Respondents did not consent to make the hearing in this proceeding public.

[1] The Firm may reapply for registration after one (1) year from the date of this Order.

ORDER

II.

In response to these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondents have submitted Offers of Settlement ("Offers") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of this proceeding and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except to the Board's jurisdiction over Respondents and the subject matter of these proceedings, which is admitted, Respondents consent to entry of this Order Making Findings and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[2]

III.

On the basis of Respondents' Offers, the Board finds that:[3]

A. Respondents

1. Seale and Beers, CPAs, LLC, is a limited liability company organized under the laws of the State of Nevada and headquartered in Las Vegas, Nevada. It is licensed by the Nevada State Board of Accountancy (License # LLC-0207) and registered with the Board pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules. The Firm was retained by Capstone in November 2013, and acted as Capstone's external auditor for the review of Capstone's financial statements for the quarter ended

[2] The findings herein are made pursuant to Respondents' Offers and are not binding on any other persons or entities in this or any other proceeding.

[3] The Board finds that the conduct of Respondents described in this Order meets the conditions set out in Section 105(c)(5) of the Act, 15 U.S.C. § 7215(c)(5), which provides that certain sanctions may be imposed in the event of (1) intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, that results in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard; or (2) repeated instances of negligent conduct, each resulting in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard.

ORDER

September 30, 2013, the FY 2013 Audit, and the Q1 2014 Review. The Firm resigned as Capstone's auditor on July 31, 2014, prior to performing a review of Capstone's financial statements for the quarter ended June 30, 2014.

2. Charlie B. Roy, CPA, 36, of Las Vegas, Nevada, is a certified public accountant licensed by the Nevada State Board of Accountancy (License # CPA-5287). At all relevant times, he was the managing partner of the Firm and served as the engagement partner on the Firm's audit and reviews of Capstone's financial statements. Public records disclose that, since the institution of these proceedings, Roy has continued to serve as an engagement partner for audits of the Firm's issuer clients, as well as for issuer clients of a second registered public accounting firm where he is the managing partner. Roy is, and at all relevant times was, an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined by Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

B. Other Relevant Individual

3. Bojan Stokic, CPA ("Stokic"), 39, of Las Vegas, Nevada, is a certified public accountant licensed by the Nevada State Board of Accountancy (License # CPA-5331). At all relevant times, Stokic was an audit partner with the Firm, and an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i). Stokic served as the engagement quality reviewer on the Firm's audit and reviews of Capstone's financial statements.[4]

C. Summary

4. This matter concerns Respondents' repeated and numerous failures to comply with PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the FY 2013 Audit and Q1 2014 Review.[5] The Firm was retained as Capstone's external auditor, and Roy served as the engagement partner, for these engagements.

---

[4] See Bojan Stokic, PCAOB Rel. No. 105-2016-048 (December 13, 2016) (censuring Stokic and suspending him from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm for a period of one year in connection with his work on the Capstone engagements).

[5] All references to PCAOB rules and standards are to the versions of those rules and standards in effect at the time of the relevant audit or review. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its auditing standards using a topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing

ORDER

5. During the FY 2013 Audit, Respondents failed to properly plan the audit, including failing to assess the risks of material misstatement and to identify any significant risk at the financial statement and assertion level. Respondents also failed to obtain, or ensure that the engagement team obtained, sufficient appropriate audit evidence for significant items reported in the financial statements, including related party transactions and expenses. Further, Roy failed to exercise due professional care and professional skepticism in conducting and supervising the FY 2013 Audit, and caused the Firm to violate applicable quality control standards with respect to the FY 2013 Audit, as well as other issuer audits.

6. During the Q1 2014 Review, Roy was aware of significant matters impacting a line of credit receivable constituting over 92 percent of Capstone's total reported assets, but Respondents failed to perform sufficient procedures in response to that information.

D. Applicable PCAOB Rules, Auditing Standards, Quality Control Standards, And Statutory Provisions

7. In connection with the preparation or issuance of an audit report, PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons comply with the Board's auditing and related professional practice standards.[6] An auditor may express an unqualified opinion on an issuer's financial statements only when the auditor has formed such an opinion on the basis of an audit performed in accordance with PCAOB standards.[7] Among other things, those standards require that an auditor exercise due professional care, exercise professional skepticism, and plan and perform audit procedures to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to provide a reasonable basis for the auditor's opinion.[8]

Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Release No. 2015-002 (Mar. 31, 2015); see also PCAOB Auditing Standards Reorganized and Pre-Reorganized Numbering (January 2017), https://pcaobus.org/Standards/Auditing/Documents/PrintableReferenceTable.pdf.

[6] See PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards; PCAOB Rule 3200T, Interim Auditing Standards.

[7] See AU § 508.07, Reports on Audited Financial Statements.

[8] See AU § 150.02, Generally Accepted Auditing Standards; AU §§ 230.01, .07, Due Professional Care in the Performance of Work; Auditing Standard No. 15, Audit Evidence ("AS 15").

ORDER

8. PCAOB standards state that, in planning an audit, an auditor should, among other things, establish an overall audit strategy for the engagement and develop an audit plan.[9] The auditor should also identify and assess the risks of material misstatement at the financial statement level and the assertion level, and design and perform audit procedures in a manner that addresses the assessed risks of material misstatement for each relevant assertion of each significant account and disclosure.[10] Relevant factors in determining whether a risk is a significant risk include whether the risk involves significant transactions with related parties.[11] The assessment of risk should continue throughout the audit and, when the auditor obtains audit evidence that contradicts audit evidence on which the original risk assessment was made, "the auditor should revise the risk assessment and modify planned audit procedures or perform additional procedures in response to the revised risk assessments."[12]

9. In accordance with PCAOB standards, after identifying related party transactions, an auditor should undertake procedures to "obtain satisfaction concerning the purpose, nature, and extent of these transactions and their effect on the financial statements."[13] These procedures should extend beyond inquiry of management, and, among other things, involve obtaining an understanding of the business purpose of the related party transaction.[14] An auditor cannot complete the audit until he or she "understands the business sense of material transactions."[15]

10. PCAOB standards state that the auditor has a responsibility to plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement, whether caused by error or fraud.[16] PCAOB standards further require that an auditor gain an understanding of the business

---

[9] See Auditing Standard No. 9, Audit Planning ("AS 9"), ¶¶ 4-5.

[10] See Auditing Standard No. 12, Identifying and Assessing Risks of Material Misstatement ("AS 12"), ¶ 59; Auditing Standard No. 13, The Auditor's Responses to the Risks of Material Misstatement ("AS 13"), ¶¶ 3, 8; AS 15 ¶¶ 4-6.

[11] See AS 12 ¶ 71.

[12] Id. at ¶ 74.

[13] AU § 334.09, Related Parties.

[14] See id.

[15] Id. at § 334.09, fn 6.

[16] See AU § 110.02, Responsibilities and Functions of the Independent Auditor.

ORDER

rationale for any significant unusual transactions[17] and, when an auditor becomes aware of information concerning a possible illegal act, to perform additional procedures to obtain an understanding of the nature of the act, the circumstances in which it occurred, and sufficient other information to evaluate the effect on the financial statements.[18]

11. PCAOB standards also require that an auditor, when performing audit sampling, ensure that "all items in the population…have an opportunity to be selected."[19]

12. PCAOB standards further require that an auditor evaluate the results of the audit to determine whether the audit evidence obtained is sufficient and appropriate to support the opinion to be expressed in the auditor's report.[20] The "auditor should take into account all relevant audit evidence, regardless of whether it appears to corroborate or to contradict the assertions in the financial statements."[21] PCAOB standards require that if audit evidence obtained from one source is inconsistent with that obtained from another, the auditor should perform the audit procedures necessary to resolve the matter and should determine the effect, if any, on other aspects of the audit.[22] PCAOB standards also require that, if an auditor has not obtained sufficient appropriate audit evidence about a relevant assertion, the auditor should perform procedures to obtain further audit evidence to address the matter.[23]

---

17 See AU § 316.66, Consideration of Fraud in a Financial Statement Audit.

18 See AU §§ 317.07, .10, Illegal Acts by Clients.

19 AU § 350.24, Audit Sampling.

20 See Auditing Standard No. 14, Evaluating Audit Results ("AS 14"), ¶ 2.

21 Id. at ¶ 3.

22 See AS No. 15 ¶ 29; see also AU § 333.04, Management Representations ("If a representation made by management is contradicted by other audit evidence, the auditor should investigate the circumstances and consider the reliability of the representation made. Based on the circumstances, the auditor should consider whether his or her reliance on management's representations relating to other aspects of the financial statements is appropriate and justified.").

23 See AS No. 14 ¶ 35.

ORDER

13. PCAOB standards require that an audit engagement be supervised.[24] The engagement partner is responsible for proper supervision of the work of engagement team members and for compliance with PCAOB standards.[25] Supervising an audit engagement includes reviewing the work of engagement team members to evaluate whether the work was performed and documented, the objectives of the procedures were achieved, and the results of the work support the conclusions reached.[26]

14. In performing a review of interim financial information, if an accountant becomes aware of information that leads him or her to believe that the interim financial information may not be in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles in all material respects, the accountant should make additional inquiries or perform other procedures to provide a basis for communicating whether he or she is aware of any material modifications that should be made to the interim financial information.[27]

15. PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm comply with the Board's quality control standards.[28] PCAOB quality control standards require, among other things, that a firm have procedures to provide it with reasonable assurance that: (1) the work performed by engagement personnel meets applicable professional standards, regulatory requirements, and the firm's standards of quality;[29] and, (2) the policies and procedures established by the firm for the elements of quality control were suitably designed and were being effectively applied.[30]

16. PCAOB rules also prohibit an associated person of a registered public accounting firm from taking or omitting to take an action knowing, or recklessly not knowing, that the act or omission would directly and substantially contribute to a

---

[24] See Auditing Standard No. 10, Supervision of the Audit Engagement ("AS 10").

[25] See id. at ¶ 3.

[26] See id. at ¶ 5.

[27] See AU § 722.22, Interim Financial Information.

[28] See PCAOB Rule 3100; PCAOB Rule 3400T, Interim Quality Control Standards.

[29] See Quality Control Section 20, System of Quality Control for a CPA Firm's Accounting and Auditing Practice ("QC 20"), §§ 20.17-.19.

[30] See id. at § 20.20.

ORDER

violation of Board standards or the provisions of the securities laws relating to the preparation and issuance of audit reports by that firm.[31]

17. Section 10A(a) of the Exchange Act requires that each audit of the financial statements of an issuer by a registered public accounting firm include "procedures designed to provide reasonable assurance of detecting illegal acts that would have a direct and material effect on the determination of financial statement amounts."[32]

E. Background

18. Capstone was incorporated in Nevada on July 10, 2012, under the name Creative App Solutions, Inc., as a development stage company engaged in the design and sale of mobile applications. On August 26, 2013, the name of the company was changed from Creative App Solutions, Inc. to Capstone Financial Group, Inc. and a new chief executive officer ("CEO") was appointed. Capstone underwent a change of control on September 6, 2013, when nearly 80 percent of the then issued and outstanding common stock was acquired by the newly-appointed CEO.

19. Capstone entered into a revolving line of credit payable with Capstone Affluent Strategies, Inc. ("Affluent"), an entity owned and controlled by the individual who became Capstone's new CEO. According to documents contained in the Firm's FY 2013 Audit work papers, this contract was executed on August 8, 2013. The work papers for the FY 2013 Audit also contain documents indicating that Capstone entered into a revolving line of credit receivable with Affluent on September 13, 2013. Both lines of credit initially had similar terms, including $500,000 in available credit, an interest rate of two percent per annum, and the principal and interest due two years from the date of execution. On October 7, 2013, Capstone and Affluent amended the line of credit receivable to increase, from $500,000 to $2,000,000, the amount of credit available to Affluent and to extend the maturity to two years from the date of the amendment.

20. On December 13, 2013, Capstone filed a Form 8-K announcing that it had entered into an Acquisition Agreement and Plan of Merger ("Merger Agreement") by and among itself, a wholly owned subsidiary of Capstone, and Affluent. As a condition of the merger, Affluent was required to provide Capstone with audited financial

---

[31] See PCAOB Rule 3502, Responsibility Not to Knowingly or Recklessly Contribute to Violations.

[32] 15 U.S.C. § 78j-1(a)(1).

ORDER

statements for the fiscal years ended December 31, 2012 and 2013 within 74 days of the merger closing. The merger was set to close on January 15, 2014.

21. On April 15, 2014, Capstone filed its FY 2013 Form 10-K with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission ("Commission"). On November 13, 2014, however, Capstone filed a Form 8-K announcing non-reliance on its financial statements for FY 2013 and the first two quarters of 2014.

22. Ultimately, Capstone filed a Form 10-K/A on February 18, 2015, which restated its FY 2013 financial statements to reflect an additional $581,826 in operating expenses, a 188% increase from what was originally reported.[33] Almost all of the increase in operating expenses was reflected in the restated financial statements as owed to Affluent under the revolving line of credit payable.

23. Capstone's FY 2013 Form 10-K/A also disclosed that Affluent had been dissolved in April 2014, and that, in a series of transactions that transpired in October 2014, the cross lines of credit between Capstone and Affluent were cancelled. Capstone's FY 2014 Form 10-K, filed on April 30, 2015, disclosed that, in connection with the these transactions, Capstone recorded a loss of $1,089,617 from the forgiveness of debt related to the lines of credit.

F. Respondents Violated Federal Securities Laws and PCAOB Rules and Standards During the FY 2013 Audit

24. The Firm issued an audit report, dated April 15, 2014, that was included in Capstone's FY 2013 Form 10-K filed with the Commission on the same day. The report stated that the audit of Capstone's FY 2013 financial statements had been conducted in accordance with PCAOB standards, and expressed an unqualified opinion concerning those financial statements. Roy served as the engagement partner and authorized the issuance of the audit report. The engagement team consisted of Roy and an audit senior, with Stokic serving as the engagement quality reviewer.

Risk Assessment

25. As part of a 2013 inspection of the Firm by the PCAOB Division of Registration and Inspections, PCAOB inspectors found that Respondents utilized an internally-developed risk assessment form within its planning memorandum that did not provide for the identification and assessment of the risks of material misstatement at the [33] The Firm resigned on July 31, 2014, and was not involved in auditing Capstone's restatement.

ORDER

financial statement level and the assertion level. This deficiency was identified in a PCAOB inspection comment form issued to the Firm on July 25, 2013, which noted that the Firm had failed to perform an appropriate risk assessment in all five issuer audits inspected. Roy signed and acknowledged the PCAOB inspection comment form on behalf of the Firm on August 12, 2013.

26. Despite being aware that utilizing the Firm's internally-developed risk assessment form resulted in an assessment that did not comply with PCAOB standards, Roy and the Firm continued to use this risk assessment form and failed to otherwise assess and document risks of material misstatement at the financial statement level and the assertion level for the FY 2013 Audit.

27. Instead, the engagement team's assessment of risk was limited to assessing inherent risk, control risk, detection risk, and audit risk, and the risks of material misstatement were not properly assessed. In addition, the risk assessment for the FY 2013 Audit aggregated financial statement items, such as all assets or all liabilities. As a consequence, Respondents failed to identify significant accounts and disclosures and their relevant assertions, and failed to properly evaluate, and design and perform audit procedures that addressed, the risks of material misstatement for such items.[34] Roy, as the engagement partner, reviewed and signed off on the planning memorandum containing his engagement team's risk assessment.

28. Because Respondents failed to properly assess the risks of material misstatement and failed to identify significant risks at the financial statement level and the assertion level, Respondents also failed to properly establish an overall strategy for the engagement and develop an audit plan that included planned risk assessment procedures and planned responses to the risks of material misstatement. In addition, Respondents failed to perform sufficient audit procedures that addressed the risks of material misstatement.[35]

Related Party Transactions

29. During the third quarter of 2013, Capstone entered into both a revolving line of credit payable and a revolving line of credit receivable with Affluent. In its FY 2013 financial statements, Capstone reported that the revolving line of credit receivable from Affluent was $1,472,136, which accounted for 92.6 percent of Capstone's total reported assets as of December 31, 2013. Capstone reported that the revolving line of

---

[34] See AS 12 ¶ 59; AS 13 ¶ 8.

[35] See AS 9 ¶¶ 4-5; AS 12 ¶ 59; AS 13 ¶¶ 3, 8; AS 15 ¶¶ 4-6.

ORDER

credit payable to Affluent was $320,240 as of December 31, 2013, which accounted for 96.9 percent of Capstone's total reported liabilities.

30. As the engagement partner, Roy was aware of the related party transactions between Capstone and Affluent, their terms, and their significance to Capstone's financial statements. In accordance with PCAOB standards, after identifying related party transactions, an auditor should undertake procedures to "obtain satisfaction concerning the purpose, nature, and extent of these transactions and their effect on the financial statements."[36] Despite the significance of these lines of credit to Capstone's financial statements, Respondents failed to obtain or document an understanding of the business purpose for having both a line of credit receivable and a line of credit payable with similar terms between the same counterparties.[37]

31. This failure to understand the business purpose of the arrangements also extended to individual transactions. Capstone's bank activity statements included in the FY 2013 Audit work papers reflect that, during the third and fourth quarters of 2013, Capstone repeatedly made cash withdrawals from its bank accounts shortly after receiving funds from either stock sales or revenue transactions. Each of these cash withdrawals were recorded by Capstone as advances to Affluent under the line of credit receivable. During the same time period, Capstone recorded numerous increases to the line of credit payable with Affluent, purportedly to reflect payment of expenses by Affluent that were made on Capstone's behalf. Respondents failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence in order to ascertain where the funds withdrawn by Capstone actually went and failed to inquire of management or obtain other sufficient appropriate audit evidence as to the business rationale of these transactions, including obtaining an understanding as to why Capstone was purportedly giving all its cash to Affluent.

32. Respondents also failed to follow up on red flags surrounding the related party transactions. With respect to the line of credit payable, Roy was aware of facts that called into question whether documentation underlying the transaction had been backdated and, as a result, whether the line of credit was properly authorized. This included copies of a board consent authorizing the line of credit payable and the contract establishing the line of credit payable in the Firm's work papers that purported to be from August 8, 2013, but which used the company's new name weeks before that name was approved by a different board consent. These purported August 8, 2013 documents were also signed by individuals who were not appointed to the titles used in them until August 26, 2013.

---

[36] AU § 334.09.

[37] See AU §§ 316.66-.67.

ORDER

33. Roy failed to evaluate, with due professional care and professional skepticism, the audit evidence obtained regarding the authorization and dating of the line of credit payable, and Respondents failed to perform procedures to obtain further evidence to address these inconsistencies.[38]

34. In addition, bank account statements attributed to Affluent in the work papers, and used by the Firm for testing during the audit, were in the name of Capstone's CEO in his individual capacity and bore his home address. Roy initialed the bank account statements and related work papers tracing deposits into that bank account, as part of his review of his engagement team's work. Roy was aware at the time of the audit that personal loans to officers were prohibited.[39] Despite the red flags suggesting that funds from certain of the related party transactions were going into the personal bank account of Capstone's CEO, the Firm failed to design procedures to provide reasonable assurance of detecting illegal acts and Roy directly and substantially contributed to that violation.[40] Moreover, Roy failed to consider whether any of the money that was purportedly borrowed by Affluent was really an illegal personal loan to Capstone's CEO.[41]

Valuation of Related Party Lines of Credit

35. Respondents also failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence relating to the valuation of the line of credit receivable from Affluent and the line of credit payable to Affluent.[42] The engagement team obtained, and Roy reviewed and initialed, confirmations for each line of credit from Capstone's CEO, who signed the confirmations on behalf of both Affluent and Capstone.

36. Respondents placed substantial reliance on the line of credit payable confirmation even though the day before the FY 2013 Form 10-K was filed, Capstone [38] See AS 14 ¶¶ 3, 32-35; AS 15 ¶¶ 4-6, 9, 29; AU § 110.02; AU § 316.13; AU § 334.09.

---

[39] See Section 402 of the Act ("It shall be unlawful for any issuer … directly or indirectly, including through any subsidiary, to extend or maintain credit, to arrange for the extension of credit, or to renew an extension of credit, in the form of a personal loan to or for any director or executive officer (or equivalent thereof) of that issuer.")

[40] See Section 10A(a) of the Exchange Act; PCAOB Rule 3502. See also AS 15 ¶¶ 4-6; AS 14 ¶¶ 3, 34; AU § 316.13; AU §§ 317.07, .09-.11.

[41] See AS 15 ¶¶ 4-6, 29; AU §§ 317.07, .09-.11.

[42] See AS 14 ¶¶ 3, 32-35; AS 15 ¶¶ 4-6, 8, 17; AU §§ 334.09-.10.

ORDER

found additional expenses that had purportedly been paid by Affluent on its behalf. Respondents were aware that these expenses had been found, but failed to perform any testing on the additional expenses and the related impact to the line of credit payable balance, other than to obtain an updated confirmation from Capstone's CEO, which was signed and returned by email six minutes after it was requested. As a result, the only evidence obtained with respect to the majority of the line of credit payable balance was from management representations.

37. Roy and the Firm also failed to adequately assess the collectibility of the line of credit receivable with Affluent.[43] The Firm's work papers conclude Capstone's CEO "is also the CEO of Capstone Affluent Strategies, Inc. As such, we believe that the Notes Receivable will be collectible" even though the line of credit receivable confirmation in the Firm's work papers makes clear that Capstone's CEO had not personally guaranteed the line of credit with Affluent. Respondents failed to perform any procedures to test the collectibility of the line of credit receivable. In addition, Respondents obtained Affluent's general ledger during the audit, which showed that Affluent had no assets, including no cash, and liabilities of over $3 million as of December 31, 2013. Other than obtaining a management representation, Respondents failed to consider whether Affluent had substance apart from Capstone or the financial capability to be able to repay the line of credit receivable.[44] As noted above, Capstone eventually recorded a $1,089,617 loss for the forgiveness of debt related to the cross lines of credit.

Expenses

38. Capstone reported $309,691 in total operating expenses and a net loss of $143,575 in its FY 2013 financial statements. In planning the FY 2013 Audit, the engagement team identified as a "primary concern[]…that liabilities (and hence, expenses) are understated due to fraud and/or error." To address this risk, Respondents intended to "analyze expenses that should recur to ensure that they actually do." Further, the planning memorandum also indicates that the engagement team intended to select a portion of Capstone's expenses and test them for timing, classification, and amount.

39. As an initial matter, Respondents failed to subject the entire population of Capstone's operating expenses to sampling.[45] Respondents tested operating expenses

---

43 Id.

44 See AU § 316.67; AU § 333.04.

45 See AU § 350.24; AS 15 ¶ 28.

ORDER

by performing "MUS sampling" (monetary unit sampling) and selecting ten expense items totaling $90,649, or 29 percent of total operating expenses, for testing. While subsequently preparing its FY 2013 financial statements, however, Capstone identified approximately $69,000 of additional operating expenses, which increased Capstone's operating expenses by over 28 percent. Despite the significance of these expenses to the FY 2013 financial statements, Respondents did not include these additional expenses as part of the population subjected to sampling and did not otherwise test the additional expenses.

40. Respondents also failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence relating to the nature and occurrence of expenses recorded by Capstone.[46] According to the Firm's work papers, for each item selected, Respondents obtained a copy of the relevant invoice and traced the amount to payment in Capstone's bank statements. Several of the items selected for expense testing purportedly related to expenses that Capstone incurred for consulting services. Although the engagement team obtained copies of invoices for these consulting services, the invoices did not contain dates indicating when the services were provided or otherwise contain any details about the consulting services. Roy, as engagement partner, reviewed and initialed each of the invoices used for expense testing. Roy knew or should have known that the information on the face of the invoices was insufficient to provide sufficient appropriate audit evidence concerning the nature of the expense and whether the expenses tested were recorded in the proper period.

41. Furthermore, evidence in the Firm's work papers reflect that Capstone paid expenses on behalf of Affluent which were then recorded by Capstone as increases to the line of credit receivable from Affluent. Respondents failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to determine whether all expenses paid by Capstone on Affluent's behalf were properly recorded and disclosed in Capstone's FY 2013 financial statements.

42. Finally, Respondents failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence relating to the completeness of expenses recorded by Capstone.[47] Respondents were aware that Affluent was paying expenses on Capstone's behalf, which were then recorded by Capstone as increases to the line of credit payable to Affluent. However, other than obtaining a confirmation from Capstone's CEO of the balance outstanding on the line of credit payable to Affluent, the engagement team did not perform any testing to ensure that all expenses paid by Affluent on Capstone's behalf were properly

---

[46] See AS 15 ¶¶ 4-6.

[47] See id.

ORDER

recorded by Capstone.

Supervision of the Engagement Team

43. As the engagement partner, Roy was responsible for the Capstone engagement and its performance.[48] Accordingly, Roy was responsible for proper supervision of the work of engagement team members and for compliance with PCAOB standards.[49] Roy was required to review the work of engagement team members to evaluate whether the work was performed and documented, the objectives of the procedures were achieved, and the results of the work supported the conclusions reached.[50] As discussed above, Roy and the engagement team failed to adequately plan the audit, including failing to properly assess the risks of material misstatement, and failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence in several audit areas. For each of these areas, Roy signed off as having reviewed the relevant work papers, but failed to recognize that not all planned work had been performed, and that the procedures performed, including those concerning related party transactions and expense testing, did not achieve the objectives of those procedures or support the conclusions reached.

G. Respondents Violated PCAOB Rules and Standards During the Q1 2014 Review

44. During the Q1 2014 Review, Respondents failed to perform sufficient procedures relating to the line of credit receivable from Affluent.[51] The engagement team consisted of Roy and an audit senior, with Stokic again serving as the engagement quality reviewer.

45. Capstone previously announced that it had entered into the Merger Agreement with Affluent, whereby Affluent would become a wholly-owned subsidiary of Capstone, and that the merger had closed in January 2014. Capstone's Q1 2014 Form 10-Q, however, indicated that its merger with Affluent had been rescinded because Affluent was unable to provide audited financial statements as required by the Merger Agreement. The Form 10-Q also provided that the line of credit receivable with Affluent had increased by over $430,000 to $1,902,670 during the quarter, which represented

---

48 See AS 10 ¶ 3.

49 See id.

50 See id. at ¶ 5.

51 See AU §§ 722.03, .18, .22.

ORDER

92.9 percent of Capstone's total reported assets. During the FY 2013 Audit, Respondents obtained a copy of Affluent's general ledger that was dated less than two weeks before the end of Q1 2014 and indicated that Affluent had no cash or other assets, and liabilities of $3.1 million.

46. Despite the red flags raised by the rescinded merger, the lack of assets reflected in Affluent's general ledger, and Affluent's inability to provide audited financial statements, Respondents failed to make additional inquiries or perform other procedures in order to determine how these events might impact the collectibility of the line of credit receivable from Affluent.

H. Respondents Violated PCAOB Rules and Standards Related to Quality Control

47. The Firm did not have policies and procedures that provided it with reasonable assurance that the work performed by engagement personnel met applicable professional standards, regulatory requirements, or the Firm's standards of quality.[52] The Firm also did not have policies and procedures that provided it with reasonable assurance that its quality control system was suitably designed and being effectively applied.[53]

48. Roy knowingly caused the Firm to violate PCAOB standards by continuing to utilize an internally-developed risk assessment form after acknowledging to PCAOB inspectors that the form did not provide for an assessment that complied with PCAOB standards.[54] Roy used this risk assessment form for the FY 2013 Audit, as well as for several other issuer audits where he was the audit partner during this same time period, without otherwise assessing risks of material misstatement at the financial statement level and the assertion level.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondents' Offers. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

---

[52] See QC §§ 20.17-.19.

[53] See id. at §§ 20.20.

[54] See PCAOB Rule 3502.

ORDER

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), Seale and Beers CPAs, LLC is hereby censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(A) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(1), the registration of Seale and Beers CPAs, LLC is revoked;

C. After one (1) year from the date of the Order, Seale and Beers CPAs, LLC may reapply for registration by filing an application pursuant to PCAOB Rule 2101;

D. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of $20,000 payable by Seale and Beers CPAs, LLC is imposed. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of this civil money penalty will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. Seale and Beers CPAs, LLC shall pay the $20,000 civil money penalty within 10 days of the issuance of this Order by (1) wire transfer pursuant to instructions provided by Board staff; or (2) United States Postal Service money order, bank money order, certified check, or bank cashier's check (a) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, (b) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006, and (c) submitted under a cover letter which identifies the payor as a Respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB release number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to the Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe W. Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006;

E. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), Charlie B. Roy is hereby censured;

F. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(B) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(2), Charlie B. Roy is suspended for one (1) year from the date of this Order from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm, as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i);[55]

[55] As a consequence of the suspension, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act will apply with respect to Roy. Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act

ORDER

G. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(C) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(3), for one (1) year following the termination of the suspension ordered in paragraph F, Charlie B. Roy's role in any "audit," as that term is defined in Section 110(1) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(a)(v), shall be restricted as follows: Roy shall not (1) serve, or supervise the work of another person serving, as an "engagement partner," as that term is used in the Board's Auditing Standard No. 1201, Supervision of the Audit Engagement; (2) serve, or supervise the work of another person serving, as an "engagement quality reviewer," as that term is used in the Board's Auditing Standard No. 1220, Engagement Quality Review; (3) serve, or supervise the work of another person serving, in any role that is equivalent to engagement partner or engagement quality reviewer, but differently denominated (such as "lead partner," "practitioner-in-charge," or "concurring partner"); or (4) exercise authority, or supervise the work of another person exercising authority, either to sign a registered public accounting firm's name to an audit report, or to consent to the use of a previously issued audit report, for any issuer, broker, or dealer; and

H. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of $10,000 payable by Charlie B. Roy is imposed. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of this civil money penalty will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. Charlie B. Roy shall pay the $10,000 civil money penalty within 10 days of the issuance of this Order by (1) wire transfer pursuant to instructions provided by Board staff; or (2) United States Postal Service money order, bank money order, certified check, or bank cashier's check (a) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, (b) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006, and (c) submitted under a cover letter which identifies the payor as a Respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB release number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or provides that "[i]t shall be unlawful for any person that is suspended or barred from being associated with a registered public accounting firm under this subsection willfully to become or remain associated with any issuer, broker, or dealer in an accountancy or a financial management capacity, and for any issuer, broker, or dealer that knew, or in the exercise of reasonable care should have known, of such suspension or bar, to permit such an association, without the consent of the Board or the Commission."

---

ORDER

check shall be sent to the Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe W. Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

September 14, 2017

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street NW
Washington, DC 20006
Office: (202) 207-9100
Fax: (202) 862-8430
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS

In the Matter of BDO Auditores, S.L.P., Santiago Sañé Figueras, and José Ignacio Algás Fernández

Respondents.

PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-039

September 26, 2017

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("Board" or "PCAOB") is (1) censuring BDO Auditores, S.L.P. ("BDO Spain" or "Firm"), Santiago Sañé Figueras ("Sañé"), and José Ignacio Algás Fernández ("Algás") (collectively, "Respondents"); (2) imposing a civil money penalty in the amount of $40,000 on BDO Spain and $7,500 on Sañé; (3) requiring the Firm to undertake certain remedial measures, including to establish policies and procedures, directed toward the quality control deficiencies identified in this Order; (4) requiring the Firm to provide additional professional education and training to its associated persons; (5) barring Sañé from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm;[1] and (6) barring Algás from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm.[2]

The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that: (a) the Respondents violated PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the audits of the December 31, 2011 and December 31, 2012 financial statements of Private Media Group, Inc. ("PMG" or the "Company"); and (b) BDO Spain violated PCAOB rules and standards by failing to effectively implement and monitor policies and procedures to provide it with reasonable assurance that it only accepted engagements governed by PCAOB rules and standards that it could reasonably expect to be completed with professional competence, and that its engagement personnel were appropriately assigned, qualified and adequately trained to perform audits in accordance with PCAOB rules and standards.

[1] Sañé may file a petition for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm after three (3) years from the date of this Order.

[2] Algás may file a petition for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm after one (1) year from the date of this Order.

ORDER

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondents.

II.

In anticipation of institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondents have submitted Offers of Settlement ("Offers") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over Respondents and the subject matter of these proceedings, which are admitted, Respondents each consent to the entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[3]

III.

On the basis of Respondents' Offers, the Board finds that:[4]

A. Respondents

1. BDO Auditores, S.L.P. is a limited liability partnership organized under the laws of Spain, and is headquartered in Madrid, Spain. The Firm is licensed in Spain by the Official Register of Auditors (R.O.A.C.) (license no. S1273). The Firm is a foreign

---

[3] The findings herein are made pursuant to the Respondents' Offers and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

[4] The Board finds that Respondents' conduct described in this Order meets the conditions set out in Section 105(c)(5) of the Act, 15 U.S.C. § 7215(c)(5), which provides that certain sanctions may be imposed in the event of: (A) intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, that results in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard; or (B) repeated instances of negligent conduct, each resulting in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard.

ORDER

registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in PCAOB Rule 1001(f)(ii). The Firm registered with the PCAOB on May 17, 2004, pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules. The Firm is a member of BDO International Limited and forms part of the international BDO network of independent member firms. The Firm currently does not serve as the principal auditor[5] for any issuer audit clients[6] and does not currently play a substantial role in any issuer audits.[7] The Firm has approximately 23 partners and 346 employees.

2. Santiago Sañé Figueras, age 48, of Barcelona, Spain, is a registered public accountant who is licensed under the laws of Spain (license no. 18614). At all relevant times, Sañé was a partner in the Barcelona, Spain office of BDO Spain and an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i). Sañé served as the engagement partner for the audits of PMG for the years ending December 31, 2010 through December 31, 2012.

3. José Ignacio Algás Fernández, age 43, of Barcelona, Spain, is a registered public accountant who is licensed under the laws of Spain (license no. 21841). At all relevant times, Algás was a partner in the Barcelona, Spain office of BDO Spain and an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i). Algás served as the engagement quality reviewer for the audits of PMG for the years ending December 31, 2011 and December 31, 2012.

B. Issuer

4. Private Media Group, Inc. is a Nevada corporation headquartered in Barcelona, Spain. At all relevant times, PMG was a holding company with subsidiaries engaged in the acquisition, refinement and distribution of branded adult media in digital and physical formats. The Company's stock was previously quoted on OTC Link, under

---

[5] See AU § 543, Part of Audit Performed by Other Independent Auditors (describing role of the principal auditor).

[6] See Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii) (defining "issuer").

[7] See PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(ii) (containing definition of "play a substantial role in the preparation or furnishing of an audit report").

the symbol "PRVT." At all relevant times, PMG was an issuer as that term is defined by Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).[8]

C. Summary

5. This matter concerns Respondents' repeated violations of PCAOB rules and standards during the course of the Firm's audits of the Company's December 31, 2011 and December 31, 2012 financial statements (the "Audits"), as well as the Firm's violations of PCAOB quality control standards. During the Audits, the Firm and Sañé failed to exercise due professional care and professional skepticism and failed to: (1) perform procedures to test journal entries for the existence of fraud; (2) address appropriately a departure from U.S. generally accepted accounting principles ("GAAP") related to the extinguishment of certain liabilities during 2012; (3) perform sufficient procedures to evaluate the reporting of certain stock transactions during 2012; (4) perform procedures to test the valuation of the Company's library of photographs and videos at year end 2012; (5) perform sufficient procedures to evaluate the appropriateness of reporting certain costs as assets at year end 2012; (6) perform sufficient procedures to test the occurrence and valuation of revenue; and (7) timely assemble for retention all audit documentation for the Audits and document all changes to the audit documentation after the documentation completion date. Further, Sañé failed to adequately supervise and document his supervision of the engagement teams for the Audits.

6. In connection with the Audits, Algás also violated PCAOB rules and standards by failing to perform an appropriate engagement quality review. The Firm also violated PCAOB rules and quality control standards by failing to effectively implement policies and procedures from 2011 through 2013 to provide it with reasonable assurance that (1) it only accepted engagements governed by PCAOB rules and standards that it could reasonably expect to be completed with professional competence, (2) its auditors were sufficiently familiar with and trained in PCAOB rules and standards, U.S. GAAP, and applicable SEC reporting requirements at the time they were assigned to PCAOB audits, and (3) its engagement teams would perform their

---

[8] The Company was delinquent in its periodic filings with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission ("Commission" or "SEC"), having not filed any periodic reports since it filed a Form 10-Q for the period ended June 30, 2013. The June 30, 2013 Form 10-Q reported a net loss of over $1.38 million for the prior six months. On July 25, 2016, three years after the last audit by BDO Spain, pursuant to Section 12(j) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, the Commission revoked the registration of each class of registered securities of PMG.

ORDER

PCAOB audits in accordance with PCAOB rules and standards. Finally, the Firm failed to appropriately monitor its quality control system from 2011 through 2013.

D. The Firm and Sañé Violated PCAOB Rules and Standards in Connection with the Audits

7. The Firm was the external auditor for PMG since 2002. On May 21, 2013, the Firm issued an unqualified opinion on PMG's December 31, 2011 financial statements in an audit report that was included in the Company's Form 10-K filed with the Commission on May 23, 2013. On June 25, 2013, the Firm issued an unqualified opinion on PMG's December 31, 2012 financial statements in an audit report that was included in the Company's Form 10-K filed with the Commission on June 28, 2013. The Audit reports stated that, in the Firm's opinion, the Company's financial statements presented fairly, in all material respects, the Company's financial position, and the results of its operations and cash flows in conformity with GAAP. Both Audit reports included an explanatory paragraph expressing substantial doubt as to the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. The Audit reports also stated that the Audits were conducted in accordance with PCAOB standards. Sañé, the engagement partner for the Audits, had served as the engagement partner for the Company's audits since 2010. Sañé had overall responsibility for the Audits, including overall responsibility for supervising the engagement team members for the Audits.

8. In connection with the preparation or issuance of an audit report, PCAOB rules require that registered public accounting firms and their associated persons comply with applicable PCAOB auditing and related professional practice standards.[9] Among other things, those standards require that an auditor express an unqualified opinion on an issuer's financial statements only when the auditor has performed the audit in compliance with PCAOB standards.[10]

---

[9] See PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards; PCAOB Rule 3200T*, Interim Auditing Standards.* All references to PCAOB rules and standards are to the versions of those rules and standards in effect at the time of the Audits. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its auditing standards using a topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Rel. No. 2015-002 (Mar. 31, 2015); see also PCAOB Auditing Standards Reorganized and Pre-Reorganized Numbering (Jan. 2016), https://pcaobus.org/Standards/Auditing/Documents/PrintableReferenceTable.pdf.

[10] See AU § 508.07, Reports on Audited Financial Statements.

ORDER

9. PCAOB standards require that auditors exercise due professional care and professional skepticism, and plan and perform audit procedures to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to provide a reasonable basis for the audit opinion.[11]

10. PCAOB standards provide that the engagement partner is responsible for planning the audit[12] and properly supervising the work to be performed in the audit.[13] They also provide that the engagement partner and, as applicable, other engagement team members performing supervisory activities, should, among other things, review the work of engagement team members to evaluate whether: (1) the work was performed and documented; (2) the objectives of the procedures were achieved; and (3) the results of the work support the conclusions reached.[14]

11. PCAOB standards provide that, "[w]hen using information produced by the company as audit evidence, the auditor should evaluate whether the information is sufficient and appropriate for purposes of the audit by performing procedures to:

- Test the accuracy and completeness of the information, or test the controls over the accuracy and completeness of that information; and
- Evaluate whether the information is sufficiently precise and detailed for purposes of the audit."[15]

12. PCAOB standards provide that the auditor must evaluate whether the financial statements are presented fairly in all material respects, and contain the

---

[11] See AU § 150.02, Generally Accepted Auditing Standards; AU § 230, Due Professional Care in the Performance of Work; see also Auditing Standard No. 15 ¶ 4, Audit Evidence ("AS15").

[12] See Auditing Standard No. 9 ¶ 3, Audit Planning ("AS9").

[13] See Auditing Standard No. 10 ¶ 3, Supervision of the Audit Engagement ("AS10").

[14] Id. at ¶ 5.

[15] AS15 ¶ 10.

ORDER

information essential for a fair presentation of the financial statements in conformity with the applicable financial reporting framework.[16]

13. PCAOB standards provide that "[t]o obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement, the auditor should plan and perform audit procedures to detect misstatements that, individually or in combination with other misstatements, would result in material misstatement of the financial statements."[17] Performing substantive procedures at an interim date without performing procedures at a later date increases the risk that a material misstatement could exist in the year-end financial statements that would not be detected by the auditor."[18]

14. PCAOB standards provide that "the auditor is responsible for evaluating the reasonableness of accounting estimates made by management in the context of the financial statements taken as a whole. . . . Accordingly, when planning and performing the procedures to evaluate accounting estimates, the auditor should consider, with an attitude of professional skepticism, both the subjective and objective factors."[19]

15. PCAOB standards also provide that "[s]ample items should be selected in such a way that the sample can be expected to be representative of the population. Therefore, all items in the population should have an opportunity to be selected."[20] "Auditing procedures that are appropriate to the particular audit objective should be applied to each sample item."[21]

16. PCAOB standards also provide that the auditor must prepare audit documentation in connection with each engagement conducted pursuant to the

---

[16] See Auditing Standard No. 14 ¶¶ 30, 31, Evaluating Audit Results ("AS14").

[17] Auditing Standard No. 11 ¶ 3, Consideration of Materiality in Planning and Performing an Audit ("AS11").

[18] Auditing Standard No. 13 ¶ 43, The Auditor's Responses to the Risk of Material Misstatement ("AS13").

[19] AU § 342.04, Auditing Accounting Estimates.

[20] AU § 350.24, Audit Sampling.

[21] AU § 350.25.

standards of the PCAOB.[22] The auditor must document the procedures performed, evidence obtained, and conclusions reached with respect to relevant financial statement assertions.[23] This documentation requirement applies to the work of all those who participate in the engagement.[24]

17. As described below, Respondents failed to comply with PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the 2011 and 2012 audits of PMG.

The Firm and Sañé Failed to Test Journal Entries During the Audits

18. PCAOB standards provide that "[t]he auditor has a responsibility to plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement, whether caused by error or fraud."[25] The auditor should identify and address the risks of material misstatement due to fraud, including the risk of management override of controls.[26] Specifically, the auditor should examine journal entries and other adjustments for evidence of possible material misstatement due to fraud.[27]

19. During planning for the Audits, the Firm and Sañé identified the recording of journal entries as a fraud risk factor related to potential management override of controls. However, the Firm and Sañé failed to plan and perform sufficient procedures to respond to the fraud risk they had identified and, in fact, did not perform any journal entry testing.[28] Specifically, the Firm failed to (a) obtain an understanding of the entity's controls over journal entries and other adjustments; (b) identify and select journal entries and other adjustments for testing; and (c) determine the timing of the testing. As a result, during both Audits, the Firm and Sañé violated PCAOB standards by failing to

---

[22] See Auditing Standard No. 3, Audit Documentation, ¶ 4 ("AS3").

[23] Id. at ¶ 6.

[24] Id.

[25] AU § 110.02, Responsibilities and Functions of the Independent Auditor; AU § 316.01, Consideration of Fraud in a Financial Statement Audit.

[26] See AU § 316.57.

[27] See AU §§ 316.58 - .62.

[28] Id.

ORDER

exercise due professional care and professional skepticism, failing to obtain reasonable assurance that PMG's 2011 and 2012 financial statements were free of material misstatement, whether caused by error or fraud, failing to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to provide a reasonable basis for the opinion, and failing to plan to test, or test, journal entries for possible misstatements due to fraud.[29]

The Firm and Sañé Failed to Appropriately Address a Departure from GAAP During 2012

20. According to the Firm's work papers for the 2012 audit, in February 2013, external lawyers for the Company forgave certain legal fees owed by the Company. Although the legal fees were not forgiven until 2013, the Company recorded the extinguishment of this liability in its December 31, 2012 financial statements. The Firm's work papers for the 2012 audit reflect that PMG accounted for the forgiven legal fees as a reduction in accounts payable and a corresponding reduction in general and administrative expenses, which had the effect of reducing the Company's reported net loss by approximately eight percent.

21. Financial Accounting Standards Board ("FASB") Accounting Standards Codification ("ASC") Subtopic 405-20-40, Extinguishments of Liabilities, requires that a liability be derecognized only if it has been extinguished by meeting either of the following conditions: (1) the debtor pays the creditor and is relieved from its obligation for the liability, or (2) the debtor is legally released from being the primary obligor under the liability, either judicially or by the creditor. Because neither of these conditions was met until after December 31, 2012, it was inappropriate for the Company to derecognize the liability in 2012.

22. The Firm and Sañé initially concluded that the accounting treatment for these legal fees was not in conformity with GAAP. A partner responsible for performing the cross-border regulatory review of the 2012 audit, which was required by PCAOB quality control standards, reached the same conclusion.[30] Nonetheless, the Firm and

---

[29] See AU § 230.02, .05 - .09; AU § 316.57, .58, .61, AS9 ¶ 5; AS15 ¶ 4.

[30] The Firm obtained the review pursuant to policies and procedures intended to be consistent with Appendix K of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants' former SEC Practice Section Reference Manual. See SECPS 1000.45, Appendix K—SECPS Member Firms With Foreign Associated Firms That Audit SEC Registrants. Appendix K is incorporated in PCAOB quality control standards through PCAOB Rule 3400T(b), Interim Quality Control Standards. Appendix K is meant to enhance the quality of SEC filings for companies whose financial statements are audited by international affiliates of U.S. firms. Appendix K provides that financial

ORDER

Sañé ultimately did not object to PMG's derecognizing the forgiven legal fees in its December 31, 2012 financial statements and, as explained above, issued an unqualified opinion on those financial statements.

23. The Firm and Sañé violated PCAOB standards by failing, with respect to PMG's derecognition of the forgiven legal fees, to exercise due professional care and professional skepticism.[31] In addition, they violated PCAOB standards by failing to appropriately address PMG's apparent departure from GAAP,[32] including (a) by failing to document any evaluation of the effects of that departure on PMG's financial statements as a whole,[33] and (b) by failing to evaluate whether they should have expressed a qualified or adverse audit opinion and, if practicable, provided information in the report indicating that the Company had not met the conditions for derecognizing the legal fees in its 2012 financial statements.[34]

The Firm and Sañé Failed to Evaluate PMG's Reporting of Certain Stock Transactions and a Potential Change in Control During 2012

24. In its 2012 financial statements, PMG disclosed that it issued 800,000 shares of convertible preferred stock to a related entity to settle an outstanding debt to that entity. The shares came with the right to vote on all matters, including the election of directors on an "as converted" basis, which gave the related entity the ability to elect statement filings of audits performed by a foreign associated firm should be reviewed by a person knowledgeable in accounting, auditing, and independence standards generally accepted in the U.S.

---

[31] See AU § 150.02, AU § 230.

[32] An auditor's opinion that an issuer's financial statements are presented in conformity with GAAP must be based on an audit performed in accordance with PCAOB standards. PCAOB standards require an auditor to perform audit procedures sufficient to evaluate the issuer's adherence to GAAP. This Order's description of audit failures relating to GAAP departures in an issuer's financial statements necessarily reflects the Board's judgment concerning the proper application of GAAP. Any such description of GAAP departures, however, should not be understood as an indication that the Commission has considered or made any determination concerning the issuer's compliance with GAAP.

[33] See AS3 ¶ 4.

[34] See AS14 ¶ 31.

ORDER

a majority of the members of the Company's board of directors. PMG's work papers included an unexecuted copy of the preferred share agreement with the related party for the issuance of the preferred stock that included various additional elements that, if they were included in the executed agreement, would appear to have resulted in the related entity holding greater than 50 percent of the aggregate voting power of the issuer's capital stock and having the ability to elect a majority of the members of the issuer's board of directors. This would have resulted in a change in control of the issuer, with related consequences for the financial statements. The Firm and Sañé failed to appropriately evaluate whether the unexecuted copy of the agreement reflected the final terms of the transaction.

25. Accordingly, the Firm and Sañé failed to gather sufficient appropriate evidence to evaluate the presentation and disclosure in PMG's 2012 financial statements of the issuance of the preferred shares and whether the issuance of the preferred stock, and the preferred share agreement as executed, resulted in a change in control of the Company.[35] The Firm's and Sañé's conduct violated PCAOB standards requiring them to exercise due professional care and professional skepticism and to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to provide a reasonable basis for their audit opinion.[36]

The Firm and Sañé Failed to Test the Valuation of Certain Assets at December 31, 2012

26. The Company reported that its library of photographs and videos represented approximately 40 percent of its total assets at year end 2012, and was reported at the lower of amortized cost or net realizable value. In the 2012 audit, the Firm identified a fraud risk with respect to the valuation of the library of photographs and videos, which was a significant accounting estimate. Nonetheless, during the 2012 audit, the Firm and Sañé failed to evaluate the reasonableness of the Company's valuation of the library of photographs and videos.[37] As a result of this conduct, during the 2012 audit, the Firm and Sañé violated PCAOB standards requiring them to exercise due professional care and professional skepticism, appropriately respond to [35] See AS14 ¶¶ 30 - 31. See also ASC 505-10-50, Equity Disclosure (describing the disclosure requirements associated with the separate accounts comprising shareholders' equity and the specific outstanding securities issued by an entity).

---

[36] See AU § 150.02; AU § 230; AS14 ¶¶ 32 - 33; AS 15 ¶ 4.

[37] See AU § 342.04.

ORDER

identified fraud risks, and obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to provide a reasonable basis for their audit opinion.[38]

The Firm and Sañé Failed to Evaluate PMG's Reporting of Certain Costs as of Year End 2012

27. In its 2012 financial statements, PMG reported certain estimated costs within a non-current asset identified as "Library of photographs and videos." Those estimated costs substantially exceeded planning materiality and equaled approximately 20 percent of PMG's reported net loss for 2012. The Firm and Sañé failed to appropriately evaluate whether the costs related to the library of photographs and videos and, if so, whether the estimate was reasonable.[39] These failures constituted violations of PCAOB standards requiring the Firm and Sañé to exercise due professional care and professional skepticism and to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to provide a reasonable basis for their audit opinion.[40]

The Firm and Sañé Failed to Perform Sufficient Procedures to Test PMG's Revenue During the Audits

28. PMG was a provider of branded adult media across a wide range of digital platforms and physical formats. During 2011 and 2012, the Company had three primary sources of revenue: (a) physical products at Peach Entertainment Distribution AB ("Peach"); (b) broadcasting at Fraserside Holdings Ltd. ("Fraserside") and Peach; and (c) internet services at Coldfair Holdings Limited ("Coldfair"), Fraserside, and Peach.

29. During the Audits, the engagement teams identified improper revenue recognition as a fraud risk and documented specific risks related to: (a) revenues from hard copy content sold to national distributors with rights of return; (b) monthly estimates concerning Internet Protocol Television ("IPTV") broadcasting revenues and revenues from mobile content; and (c) revenues from subscriptions to the Company's internet website.

---

[38] See AU § 150.02; AU § 230; AU §§ 316.01, .13; AS14 ¶¶ 32 - 33; AS 15 ¶ 4.

[39] See AU § 342.10; AS14 ¶¶ 30 - 31.

[40] See AU § 150.02; AU § 230; AS 15 ¶ 4.

ORDER

30. The Firm and Sañé did not test the accuracy and completeness of the Company's revenue information, as well as the appropriateness of the Company's revenue recognition practices. As described below, during both Audits, the Firm and Sañé failed to: (a) perform any testing on certain significant revenue sources; and (b) perform sufficient or appropriate procedures on other significant revenue sources.

The Firm and Sañé failed to properly test PMG's broadcasting revenue during the Audits

31. Peach, a consolidated subsidiary of PMG, generated total revenues of approximately €5.4 million and €4.6 million for the years ended December 31, 2011 and 2012, respectively. These amounts represented 68 percent of PMG's total revenue for each year. Peach's broadcasting revenue was approximately €2.8 million and €2.2 million for the years ended December 31, 2011 and 2012, respectively. These amounts represented 36 percent and 33 percent of PMG's total revenue for the years ended December 31, 2011 and 2012, respectively. Fraserside, another consolidated subsidiary of PMG, generated total broadcasting revenues of approximately €442,000 and €310,000 for the years ended December 31, 2011 and 2012, respectively. These amounts represented 6 and 5 percent of PMG's total revenue for those years.

32. During the Audits, the Firm and Sañé tested PMG's broadcasting revenue by selecting and testing transactions from sales reports provided by PMG. They used those sales reports to make their selections despite not having tested the accuracy and completeness of the reports or any controls over the accuracy and completeness of the reports, as required by PCAOB standards.[41]

33. The Firm's and Sañé's testing of broadcasting revenue during the Audits failed to comply with PCAOB standards in other ways as well. For example, during the 2011 audit, the Firm and Sañé tested PMG's broadcasting revenue by selecting and performing certain procedures with respect to a total of 25 items recorded by Peach and Fraserside during the first nine months of the year. The 25 items selected for testing represented approximately €890,000 and resulted in only subjecting 35 percent of the population to testing. Because the Firm and Sañé limited their selections to the first nine months of the year, they failed to select their sample in a way that could be expected to be representative of the entire population of PMG's broadcasting revenue transactions for 2011.[42] As a result of the flawed sample selection process, the Firm's

---

41 AS15 ¶ 10.

42 AU § 350.24.

ORDER

and Sañé's testing did not provide any audit evidence for approximately 65 percent of PMG's broadcasting revenue for 2011.

34. The Firm and Sañé failed to appropriately test the broadcasting revenue during the 2012 audit as well. For 2012, they selected a sample of 31 broadcasting revenue items for testing, 24 Peach items and 7 Fraserside items. Those 31 items represented approximately €737,000, or 39 percent of PMG's 2012 broadcasting revenue. The 31 items consisted of transactions involving fixed fees and management estimates of material sales generated by affiliates. With respect to the items involving estimated sales, the Firm and Sañé limited their testing to agreeing the estimates to an email provided by PMG management. In doing so, they failed to exercise due professional care and professional skepticism and failed to comply with PCAOB standards for evaluating the reasonableness of the Company's accounting estimates.[43]

The Firm and Sañé failed to properly test PMG's revenue from internet sales during the Audits

35. PMG disclosed in its 2011 and 2012 financial statements that its internet revenue was generated primarily through subscriptions purchased by customers. Coldfair, a consolidated subsidiary of PMG, generated internet subscription revenues of approximately €1.4 million during both 2011 and 2012. Peach reported approximately €2 million and €250,000 of internet subscription revenues during 2011 and 2012, respectively. These combined internet subscription amounts represented approximately 44 percent and 23 percent of PMG's total revenue for 2011 and 2012, respectively.

36. The Firm's and Sañé testing of PMG's internet subscription revenue suffered from many of the same flaws as its broadcasting revenue testing, as well as from additional problems. First, as they had done in testing broadcasting revenue, the Firm and Sañé selected items for testing based on sales reports, which had been provided by PMG but which had not been tested for accuracy and completeness, as required by PCAOB standards.[44]

37. Second, during both Audits, the Firm and Sañé again selected items for testing in an unrepresentative manner, so that the results of their testing could not be extrapolated to the entire population of internet subscription revenue.[45] For example, in

---

[43] AU § 342.10.

[44] AS15 ¶ 10.

[45] AU § 350.24 - .25.

ORDER

the 2011 audit, the Firm and Sañé only considered items from nine months of the year, and in the 2012 audit, they selected items from only one subsidiary that generated internet subscription revenue, Coldfair, but not the two other subsidiaries that did, Fraserside and Peach. As a result, the Firm and Sañé failed to subject 37 percent and 48 percent of PMG's internet subscription revenue to any testing in 2011 and 2012 respectively.

38. Finally, during the 2012 audit, for the items selected for testing, the Firm and Sañé failed to obtain sufficient appropriate evidence to support management's conclusions that revenue was appropriately recognized. In fact, they failed to examine documentation reflecting any actual payment information. Instead, they only obtained an untested PMG report concerning revenue account movement and agreed it to another untested PMG report that listed purported sales.[46]

39. As a result of this conduct, the Firm and Sañé failed to exercise due professional care and professional skepticism and failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence as to the occurrence and valuation of the Company's reported revenue for 2011 and 2012, in violation of PCAOB standards.[47]

The Firm and Sañé Failed to Timely Assemble Audit Documentation and Sañé Improperly Added Work Papers After the Documentation Completion Date

40. PCAOB standards provide that "[a] complete and final set of audit documentation should be assembled for retention as of a date not more than 45 days after the report release date (documentation completion date)."[48]

41. PCAOB standards also provide that "[c]ircumstances may require additions to audit documentation after the report release date. Audit documentation must not be deleted or discarded after the documentation completion date, however, information may be added. Any documentation added must indicate the date the information was added, the name of the person who prepared the additional documentation, and the reason for adding it."[49]

---

[46] AS15 ¶ 10.

[47] See AS15 ¶ 10; AU § 230.

[48] AS3 ¶ 15.

[49] AS3 ¶ 16.

ORDER

42. For the 2012 PMG audit, the Firm and Sañé never assembled for retention the following required documents: (a) an evaluation of uncorrected misstatements;[50] (b) a written communication addressed to the audit committee concerning independence, as required by PCAOB Rule 3526, Communication with Audit Committees Concerning Independence; and (c) communications with the audit committee concerning the conduct of the audit, as required by AU § 380, Communication With Audit Committees. As a result of this conduct, the Firm and Sañé violated AS3[51] and AU § 380, and the Firm violated PCAOB Rule 3526.

43. In addition, after the documentation completion date for the 2012 PMG audit, Sañé and the engagement team added several work papers to the audit file without identifying when the additions were made, who made them, and why they were made, as required by AS3. As a result of this conduct, Sañé violated AS3.[52]

Sañé Failed to Adequately Supervise and Document His Supervision of the Audits

44. Sañé, as engagement partner, was responsible for proper supervision of the work of the engagement team members and for compliance with PCAOB standards. Sañé was required to review the work of engagement team members to evaluate whether the work was performed and documented, the objectives of the procedures were achieved, and the results of the work supported the conclusions reached.[53]

45. PCAOB standards provide that the audit documentation must contain sufficient information to enable an experienced auditor, having no previous connection with the engagement to determine who performed the work and the date such work was completed as well as the person who reviewed the work and the date of any review he performed.[54]

46. As evidenced by the numerous omitted or insufficient procedures identified above, Sañé failed to adequately review the work performed by other engagement team members on the Audits. In addition, the work paper files for the

---

50 See AS3 ¶ 12.

51 Id.

52 AS3 ¶ 16.

53 See AS10 ¶¶ 2, 3 and 5.

54 See AS3 ¶ 6.

ORDER

Audits did not contain evidence of which work papers Sañé reviewed and the date of such review. As a result of this conduct, Sañé violated PCAOB standards requiring appropriate supervision of audit engagements,[55] as well as PCAOB audit documentation standards.[56]

E. Algás Failed to Perform Appropriate Engagement Quality Reviews on the Audits in Violation of Auditing Standard No. 7

47. PCAOB standards provide that an engagement quality review and concurring approval of issuance are required for each audit engagement and for each engagement to review interim financial information, among other types of engagements, conducted pursuant to the standards of the PCAOB.[57]

48. As the engagement quality reviewer, Algás was assigned by the Firm to "perform an evaluation of the significant judgments made by the engagement team and the related conclusions reached in forming the overall conclusion on the engagement, and in preparing the engagement report . . . in order to determine whether to provide concurring approval of issuance."[58] Algás failed to identify multiple violations of PCAOB rules and standards in the engagement teams' work on the Audits, as described above. An engagement quality review performed with due care in compliance with AS7 should have detected, and resulted in the Firm addressing, each of the significant engagement deficiencies described above.[59] In addition, Algás did not evaluate the significant judgments made by the engagement team and the related conclusions reached in forming the overall conclusion on the engagement, or bring to the attention of the engagement team the absence of documentation necessary for Algás to perform that evaluation.[60] Thus, Algás failed to conduct appropriate engagement quality reviews in violation of AS7 in connection with both Audits.

---

55 See AS10 ¶¶ 2, 3 and 5.

56 See AS3 ¶ 6.

57 Auditing Standard No. 7 ¶ 1, Engagement Quality Review ("AS7").

58 AS 7 ¶ 2.

59 See AS 7 ¶ 10.a - d, h and i.

60 AS 7 ¶¶ 2 and 9 - 12.

ORDER

F. From 2011 Through 2013 the Firm Violated PCAOB Quality Control Standards

49. PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm comply with the Board's quality control standards.[61] PCAOB quality control standards, in turn, require that a registered firm "shall have a system of quality control for its accounting and auditing practice."[62] "The quality control policies and procedures applicable to a firm's accounting and auditing practice should encompass the following elements: (a) Independence, Integrity, and Objectivity; (b) Personnel Management; (c) Acceptance and Continuance of Clients and Engagements; (d) Engagement Performance; and (e) Monitoring."[63]

Acceptance and Continuance of Clients and Engagements

50. At the time that the Firm and its partners determined to accept the PMG audit engagements, the Firm's policies and procedures did not provide reasonable assurance that it undertook only engagements that it could reasonably expect to be completed with professional competence.[64] When it accepted the PMG engagement, the Firm was aware that it lacked sufficient professional staff with training or experience in conducting public company audits pursuant to PCAOB rules and standards, and applicable SEC reporting requirements. In addition, the Firm failed to provide sufficient relevant training to the staff it planned to assign to those audits. As a result, the Firm violated PCAOB quality control standards.[65]

Personnel Management

51. A firm's system of quality control should include policies and procedures to provide the firm with reasonable assurance that, among other things: (a) work is assigned to personnel having the degree of technical training and proficiency required in the circumstances; and (b) personnel participate in general and industry-specific

---

[61] PCAOB Rule 3400T.

[62] QC § 20.01, System of Quality Control for a CPA Firm's Accounting and Auditing Practice.

[63] QC § 20.07.

[64] QC § 20.15(a).

[65] Id.

ORDER

continuing professional education and other professional development activities that enable them to fulfill responsibilities assigned, and satisfy applicable continuing professional education requirements of the AICPA and regulatory agencies.[66]

52. From 2011 through 2013, the Firm did not effectively implement policies and procedures to provide it with reasonable assurance that its PCAOB audits were assigned to supervisory personnel having the requisite knowledge to perform PCAOB audits. Although the quality control policies and procedures that the Firm submitted to the Board in connection with its registration application stated that the Firm was "committed to developing and maintaining the highest possible standards of technical competence" and described continuing professional education as "the keystone of that effort," the Firm failed to fulfill that commitment. Specifically, the Firm did not have a system in place to ensure that individuals assigned to issuer audit work periodically received technical training related to GAAP, PCAOB rules and standards, and SEC reporting requirements, rules, and regulations.

53. When the Firm assigned Sañé to the 2011 PMG audit, it failed to sufficiently evaluate whether, prior to assuming the role of the engagement partner on the audit, Sañé had ever worked on an audit governed by PCAOB rules and standards, and applicable SEC reporting requirements, or whether he otherwise had sufficient professional education or experience to perform his role as engagement partner on the audit in accordance with PCAOB rules and standards.

54. When the Firm assigned Algás to the 2011 PMG audit, it failed to sufficiently evaluate whether, prior to assuming the role of engagement quality reviewer on the audit, Algás had also ever worked on an audit governed by PCAOB rules and standards, and applicable SEC reporting requirements, or whether he otherwise had sufficient professional education or experience to perform his role as engagement quality reviewer on the audit in accordance with PCAOB rules and standards.

55. From 2011 through 2013, the Firm did not have in place quality control policies and procedures to reasonably assure that auditors such as Sañé and Algás, were sufficiently familiar with and trained in PCAOB rules and standards, U.S. GAAP, and applicable SEC reporting requirements, at the time they were assigned as the engagement partner and the engagement quality reviewer respectively on PCAOB audits. As a result, the Firm violated QC § 20.13.

---

[66] QC § 20.13; QC §§ 40.03 and .06, The Personnel Management Element of a Firm's System of Quality Control – Competencies Required by a Practitioner-in-Charge of an Attest Engagement. See also AU § 230.06.

ORDER

Engagement Performance

56. A firm's system of quality control should include policies and procedures to provide it with reasonable assurance that the work performed by engagement personnel meets applicable professional standards, including with respect to planning, performing, supervising, reviewing, documenting, and communicating the results of each engagement.[67] These policies and procedures should address engagement quality reviews pursuant to AS7.[68]

57. From 2011 through 2013, the Firm did not effectively implement policies and procedures to provide it with reasonable assurance that the work performed on its PCAOB audits met applicable professional standards, including with respect to planning, performing, supervising, reviewing, documenting, and communicating the results of each engagement. Further, from 2011 through 2013, the Firm did not have quality control policies and procedures in place to reasonably assure that an audit report was released only after the engagement team had completed all necessary auditing procedures and obtained sufficient evidence to support the representations in the auditor's report. This failure allowed the reports for the Audits to be issued notwithstanding the numerous and serious violations of PCAOB standards described above. As a result of this conduct, the Firm violated QC § 20.

Monitoring

58. A firm's system of quality control should include a monitoring element to provide it with a means of identifying and communicating circumstances that may necessitate changes to or the need to improve compliance with its policies and procedures.[69] Monitoring involves an ongoing consideration and evaluation of the: (a) relevance and adequacy of the firm's policies and procedures; (b) appropriateness of the firm's guidance materials and any practice aids; (c) effectiveness of professional development activities; and (d) compliance with the firm's policies and procedures.[70]

---

[67] See QC §§ 20.17 - .18.

[68] See QC § 20.18.

[69] See QC § 30.02, Monitoring a CPA Firm's Accounting and Auditing Practice.

[70] See QC § 30.02.

ORDER

Monitoring procedures taken as a whole should enable the firm to obtain reasonable assurance that its system of quality control is effective.[71]

59. The repeated violations of PCAOB rules and standards set forth above went undetected by the Firm, demonstrating that the Firm did not adequately consider and evaluate compliance with the Firm's policies and procedures, including policies and procedures regarding acceptance and continuance of clients and engagements, personnel management, and engagement performance.[72] As a result of its failure to monitor its quality control system, the Firm violated QC § 30.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondents' Offers. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), BDO Auditores, S.L.P., Santiago Sañé Figueras, and José Ignacio Algás Fernández are hereby censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(B) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(2), Santiago Sañé Figueras is barred from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm, as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i);[73]

---

[71] See QC § 30.03.

[72] See QC § 30.02.

[73] As a consequence of the bar imposed in this Order, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act will apply with respect to Sañé. Section 105(c)(7)(B) provides: "It shall be unlawful for any person that is suspended or barred from being associated with a registered public accounting firm under this subsection willfully to become or remain associated with any issuer, broker, or dealer in an accountancy or a financial management capacity, and for any issuer, broker, or dealer that knew, or in the exercise of reasonable care should have known, of such suspension or bar, to permit such an association, without the consent of the Board or the Commission."

ORDER

C. After three (3) years from the date of this Order, Santiago Sañé Figueras may file a petition, pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5302(b), for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm;

D. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(B) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(2), José Ignacio Algás Fernández is barred from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm, as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i);[74]

E. After one (1) year from the date of this Order, José Ignacio Algás Fernández may file a petition, pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5302(b), for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm;

F. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), civil money penalties in the amount of $40,000 payable by BDO Auditores, S.L.P. and $7,500 payable by Santiago Sañé Figueras are imposed. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of these civil money penalties will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. BDO Auditores, S.L.P. and Santiago Sañé Figueras shall pay these civil money penalties within 30 days of the issuance of this Order by (1) wire transfer in accordance with instructions furnished by Board staff; or (2) United States Postal Service money order, bank money order, certified check, or bank cashier's check (a) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, (b) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, and (c) submitted under a cover letter which identifies BDO Auditores, S.L.P. or Santiago Sañé Figueras as a respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB Release number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe W. Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006.

G. Pursuant to Sections 105(c)(4)(F) and (G) of the Act and PCAOB Rules 5300(a)(6) and (9), the Board orders that:

---

[74] As a consequence of the bar imposed in this Order, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act, discussed supra, at n. 73, will apply with respect to Algás.

ORDER

1. Undertakings: The Firm shall carry out the following Undertakings:

(a) Initial Certification.

Within ninety (90) days of the entry of this Order, the Firm shall provide a certification to the Director of the Division of Enforcement and Investigations, signed by its Managing Partner, stating that the Firm has adopted systems designed to provide reasonable assurance that (a) the Firm undertakes only those engagements that the Firm can reasonably expect to be completed with professional competence; (b) for any audit, review or specified procedures conducted pursuant to PCAOB rules and standards, work is assigned to personnel having the degree of technical training and proficiency required in the circumstances; (c) personnel involved in the performance of audits and reviews pursuant to PCAOB rules and standards participate in general and industry-specific continuing professional education and other professional development activities that enable them to fulfill responsibilities assigned, and satisfy applicable continuing professional education requirements of the AICPA and regulatory agencies; (d) the work performed by engagement personnel meets applicable professional standards, including with respect to planning, performing, supervising, reviewing, documenting, and communicating the results of each engagement, including policies and procedures addressing engagement quality reviews pursuant to PCAOB Auditing Standard No. 7, Engagement Quality Review; and (e) the Firm has in place monitoring procedures that taken as a whole enable the firm to obtain reasonable assurance that its system of quality control is effective.

(b) Subsequent Certification.

Within one hundred twenty (120) days of the entry of this Order, the Firm shall provide a certification, signed by its Managing Partner, stating that all professionals considered audit seniors or team leaders, managers, directors and partners involved in the performance of PCAOB audits have received forty (40) hours of training from January 1, 2017 through the initial certification described in Section G.1.(a) above concerning U.S. GAAP, PCAOB rules and standards, and SEC reporting requirements, rules, and regulations.

ORDER

(c) Provision of Order.

No later than thirty (30) days after the date of this Order, the Firm shall provide an electronic or paper copy of this Order to all of its associated persons who are audit professionals in the Firm.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

_____

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

September 26, 2017

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street NW
Washington, DC 20006
Office: (202) 207-9100
Fax: (202) 862-8430
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of Pinaki & Associates LLC and Pinaki Mohapatra, CPA, Respondents.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-040 October 26, 2017

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (the "Board" or "PCAOB") is censuring Pinaki & Associates LLC (the "Firm"), revoking the Firm's registration,[1] and censuring Pinaki Mohapatra, CPA ("Mohapatra") and barring him from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm.[2] The Board is imposing these sanctions on the Firm and Mohapatra (collectively, "Respondents") on the basis of its findings that Respondents violated PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the fiscal year end 2014 audits of four issuer clients.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondents.

II.

In anticipation of institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondents have each submitted an Offer of Settlement (the "Offers") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party,

[1] The Firm may reapply for registration after five (5) years from the date of this Order.

[2] Mohapatra may file a petition for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm after five (5) years from the date of this Order.

ORDER

and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the facts contained in paragraph 27, and the Board's jurisdiction over them and the subject matter of these proceedings, which are admitted, Respondents consent to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[3]

III.

On the basis of Respondents' Offers, the Board finds that:[4]

A. Respondents

1. Pinaki & Associates LLC is, and at all relevant times was, a limited liability company organized under the laws of Delaware (License No. CA-0002911), with an office in Wilmington, Delaware. The Firm is registered with the Board pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules. At all relevant times, the Firm was the external auditor for the issuers identified below.

2. Pinaki Mohapatra, CPA, age 58, is a certified public accountant licensed by the state of Delaware (License No. CC-0002708). At all relevant times, Mohapatra was the managing partner and sole owner of the Firm, and served as the engagement partner on the audits discussed below. Mohapatra is an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

B. Summary

3. This matter concerns Respondents' numerous and repeated violations of PCAOB rules and standards in connection with Respondents' audits of the December 31, 2014 financial statements of Genoil, Inc. ("Genoil"); the June 30, 2014 financial

---

[3] The findings herein are made pursuant to Respondents' Offers and are not binding on any other persons or entities in this or any other proceeding.

[4] The Board finds that Respondents' conduct described in this Order meets the conditions set out in Section 105(c)(5) of the Act, 15 U.S.C. § 7215(c)(5), which provides that certain sanctions may be imposed in the event of (1) intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, that results in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard; or (2) repeated instances of negligent conduct, each resulting in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard.

ORDER

statements of International Automated Systems, Inc. ("IAUS"); the December 31, 2014 financial statements of Infrastructure Developments Corp. ("Infrastructure Developments"); and the December 31, 2014 financial statements of Genie Gateway, formerly known as WWA Group, Inc., (collectively, the "Issuer Audits"). As detailed below, Respondents failed to perform audit procedures required to evaluate the financial statements of their issuer audit clients. Respondents failed repeatedly, among other things, to plan and perform adequate, if any, audit procedures in accordance with PCAOB standards. Respondents also failed to exercise due professional care and obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to provide a reasonable basis for an opinion regarding the financial statements of the Issuer Audits. In addition, Respondents failed to retain audit documentation for the Issuer Audits for the required period of time.

C. Respondents Violated PCAOB Rules and Standards

4. In connection with the preparation or issuance of an audit report, PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons comply with all applicable Board auditing and related professional practice standards.[5] An auditor may express an unqualified opinion on an issuer's financial statements only when the auditor has formed such an opinion on the basis of an audit performed in accordance with PCAOB standards.[6] Those standards require, among other things, that an auditor plan and perform audit procedures to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to provide a reasonable basis for his or her opinion.[7] PCAOB standards require that an auditor exercise due professional care and professional skepticism in the

---

[5] See PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards; PCAOB Rule 3200T, Interim Auditing Standards. All references to PCAOB rules and standards are to the versions of those rules and standards in effect at the time of the relevant audits. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its auditing standards using a topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Release No. 2015-002 (Mar. 31, 2015); see also PCAOB Auditing Standards Reorganized and Pre-Reorganized Numbering (January 2017), https://pcaobus.org/Standards/Auditing/Documents/PrintableReferenceTable.pdf.

[6] See AU § 508.07, Reports on Audited Financial Statements.

[7] See Auditing Standard No. 15 ("AS 15"), Audit Evidence, at ¶ 4.

ORDER

performance of the audit and preparation of the report.[8]

5. Under PCAOB standards, the auditor should properly plan the audit.[9] Planning the audit includes establishing the overall audit strategy for the engagement and developing an audit plan, which includes, planned risk assessment procedures and planned responses to the risks of material misstatements.[10] PCAOB standards also state auditors should perform risk assessment procedures that are sufficient to provide a reasonable basis for identifying and assessing the risks of material misstatement, whether due to error or fraud.[11]

6. To plan the nature, timing, and extent of audit procedures, the auditor should establish a materiality level for the financial statements as a whole that is appropriate in light of the particular circumstances.[12] This includes consideration of the company's earnings and other relevant factors.[13] To determine the nature, timing, and extent of audit procedures, the materiality level for the financial statements as a whole needs to be expressed as a specified amount.[14] Auditors also should determine the amount or amounts of tolerable misstatement for purposes of assessing risks of material misstatement and planning and performing audit procedures at the account or disclosure level.[15]

7. PCAOB standards require an auditor to evaluate the results of the audit to determine whether the audit evidence obtained is sufficient and appropriate to support

---

[8] See AU § 150, Generally Accepted Auditing Standards; AU § 230, Due Professional Care in the Performance of Work; see also Auditing Standard No. 13 ("AS 13"), The Auditor's Responses to the Risks of Material Misstatement, at ¶ 7.

[9] See Auditing Standard No. 9 ("AS 9"), Audit Planning, at ¶ 4.

[10] Id. at ¶ 5.

[11] See Auditing Standard No. 12 ("AS 12"), Identifying and Assessing Risks of Material Misstatement, at ¶ 4.

[12] See Auditing Standard No. 11 ("AS 11"), Consideration of Materiality in Planning and Performing an Audit, at ¶ 6.

[13] Id.

[14] Id.

[15] Id. at ¶ 8.

ORDER

the opinion to be expressed in the auditor's report.[16] One of the factors relevant to concluding whether sufficient appropriate audit evidence has been obtained is the appropriateness (i.e., the relevance and reliability) of the audit evidence obtained.[17]

If the auditor has not obtained sufficient appropriate audit evidence about a relevant assertion or has substantial doubt about a relevant assertion, the auditor should perform procedures to obtain further audit evidence to address the matter.[18] If the auditor is unable to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to have a reasonable basis to conclude about whether the financial statements as a whole are free of material misstatement, the auditor should express a qualified opinion or a disclaimer of opinion.[19]

8. As described below, Respondents failed to comply with PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the Issuer Audits.

Audit of Genoil Inc.'s 2014 Financial Statements

9. Genoil Inc., ("Genoil") is a Canadian corporation located in Calgary, Alberta, Canada. Genoil's public filings disclose that, at all relevant times, it was a technology company focused on providing innovative solutions to the oil and gas industry using proprietary technologies. Its primary business activity involved the development and commercialization of its upgrader technology designed to convert heavy crude oil into light synthetic crude. At all relevant times, Genoil was an issuer as that term is defined by Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

10. Mohapatra, as the engagement partner, authorized the Firm's issuance of an audit report, dated March 24, 2015, expressing an unqualified audit opinion on Genoil's financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2014. The audit report was included with Genoil's Form 6-K filed with the Commission on December 14, 2015.

11. In connection with the audit, Respondents failed to exercise due professional care and professional skepticism and failed to plan and perform the audit of Genoil's financial statements in accordance with PCAOB standards. Specifically, Respondents failed to: establish an overall audit strategy for the engagement and

---

16 See Auditing Standard No. 14 ("AS 14"), Evaluating Audit Results, at ¶ 2.

17 Id. at ¶ 34e.

18 Id. at ¶ 35.

19 Id.

ORDER

develop an audit plan;[20] perform any risk assessment procedures that are sufficient to provide a reasonable basis for identifying and assessing the risks of material misstatement, whether due to error or fraud;[21] design and implement overall responses to address the assessed risks of material misstatement;[22] and establish a materiality level for the financial statements as a whole and an amount of tolerable misstatement for purposes of assessing risks of material misstatement and planning and performing audit procedures at the account or disclosure level.[23]

12. For the year-ended December 31, 2014, Genoil reported assets of $391,802, liabilities of $5,136,515, and a net loss of $558,516. Other than obtaining a high-level comparison of the operating expense accounts for the current and prior year, Respondents failed to perform any procedures to determine whether the operating expenses or other expenses – which included a $197,372 finance expense and a $88,413 loss on derivative liability, were properly valued and recorded in the proper period. As a result of this conduct, Respondents violated PCAOB standards by failing to obtain sufficient appropriate evidence to support their conclusions regarding operating or other expenses.[24]

13. As of December 31, 2014, Genoil reported a derivative liability of $629,610. Other than obtaining a client prepared schedule, Respondent failed to perform any procedures to determine whether the derivative liability existed and was properly valued. As a result of this conduct, Respondents violated PCAOB standards by failing to obtain sufficient appropriate evidence to support their conclusions regarding the derivative liability.[25]

Audit of International Automated Systems, Inc.'s 2014 Financial Statements

14. International Automated Systems, Inc. ("IAUS'") is a Utah corporation located in American Fork, Utah. IAUS' public filings disclose that, at all relevant times, it

---

[20] See AS 9 at ¶¶ 8-10.

[21] See AS 12 at ¶ 4.

[22] See AS 13 at ¶ 5.

[23] See AS 11 at ¶ 6 and ¶ 8.

[24] See AS 15 at ¶¶ 4-6, ¶ 11. See also AS 13 at ¶ 36.

[25] Id.

ORDER

sought to design, produce and market leading-edge technology. At all relevant times, IAUS was an issuer as that term is defined by Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

15. Mohapatra, as the engagement partner, authorized the Firm's issuance of an audit report, dated May 26, 2015, expressing an unqualified audit opinion on IAUS' financial statements for the year ended June 30, 2014. The audit report was included with IAUS' Form 10-K filed with the Commission on July 16, 2015.

16. In connection with the audit, Respondents failed to exercise due professional care and professional skepticism and failed to plan and perform the audit of IAUS' financial statements in accordance with PCAOB standards. Specifically, Respondents failed to: establish an overall audit strategy for the engagement and develop an audit plan;[26] perform any risk assessment procedures to identify and assess the risks of material misstatement;[27] design and implement overall responses to address the assessed risks of material misstatement;[28] and establish a materiality level for the financial statements as a whole and an amount of tolerable misstatement for purposes of assessing risks of material misstatement and planning and performing audit procedures at the account or disclosure level.[29]

17. For the year-ended June 30, 2014, IAUS reported assets of $306,940, and a net loss of $1.1 million. Other than obtaining detailed general ledgers for the operating expense accounts for the current and prior year, Respondents failed to perform any procedures to determine whether the operating expenses of $1,119,942 were properly valued and recorded in the proper period. As a result of this conduct, Respondents violated PCAOB standards by failing to obtain sufficient appropriate evidence to support their conclusions regarding IAUS' operating expenses.[30]

18. IAUS reported preferred stock of $470,264 as of June 30, 2014. Respondents failed to perform any procedures to determine whether IAUS' preferred

---

[26] See AS 9 at ¶¶ 8-10.

[27] See AS 12 at ¶ 4.

[28] See AS 13 at ¶ 5.

[29] See AS 11 at ¶ 6 and ¶ 8.

[30] See AS 15 at ¶¶ 4-6 and ¶ 11. See also AS 13 at ¶ 36.

ORDER

stock balance existed and was properly valued. As a result of this conduct, Respondents violated PCAOB standards by failing to obtain sufficient appropriate evidence regarding IAUS' preferred stock balance.[31]

Audit of Infrastructure Developments Corp.'s 2014 Financial Statements

19. Infrastructure Developments Corp. ("Infrastructure Developments") is a Nevada corporation located in Salt Lake City, Utah. Infrastructure Developments' public filings disclose that, at all relevant times, its operations consisted of marketing prefabricated housing and other project management services. At all relevant times, Infrastructure Developments was an issuer as that term is defined by Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

20. Mohapatra, as the engagement partner, authorized the Firm's issuance of an audit report, dated April 27, 2015, expressing an unqualified audit opinion on Infrastructure Developments' financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2014. The audit report was included with Infrastructure Developments' Form 10-K filed with the Commission on April 28, 2015.

21. In connection with the audit, Respondents failed to exercise due professional care and professional skepticism and failed to plan and perform the audit of Infrastructure Developments' financial statements in accordance with PCAOB standards. Specifically, Respondents failed to: establish an overall audit strategy for the engagement and develop an audit plan;[32] perform any risk assessment procedures to identify and assess the risks of material misstatement;[33] design and implement overall responses to address the assessed risks of material misstatement;[34] and establish a materiality level for the financial statements as a whole and an amount of tolerable misstatement for purposes of assessing risks of material misstatement and planning and performing audit procedures at the account or disclosure level.[35]

---

31 Id.

32 See AS 9 at ¶¶ 8-10.

33 See AS 12 at ¶ 4.

34 See AS 13 at ¶ 5.

35 See AS 11 at ¶ 6 and ¶ 8.

ORDER

22. For the year-ended December 31, 2014, Infrastructure Developments reported $205,100 of revenue, assets of $44,170, and a net loss of $231,821. Other than obtaining a detailed general ledger for revenue for the current year, Respondents failed to perform any procedures regarding revenue. Respondents also failed to perform any procedures to determine whether any of Infrastructure Developments' expenses were properly valued and recorded in the proper period. As a result of this conduct, Respondents violated PCAOB standards by failing to obtain sufficient appropriate evidence to support their conclusions regarding Infrastructure Developments' revenue and operating expenses.[36]

Audit of Genie Gateway's 2014 Financial Statements

23. Genie Gateway (formerly known as WWA Group, Inc.) is a Nevada corporation located in Portland, Michigan. Genie Gateway's public filings disclose that, at all relevant times, it was a multi-system operator that provides cable television, high speed internet and related services to rural communities in the United States. At all relevant times, Genie Gateway was an issuer as that term is defined by Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

24. Mohapatra, as the engagement partner, authorized the Firm's issuance of an audit report, dated March 24, 2015, expressing an unqualified audit opinion on Genie Gateway's financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2014. The audit report was included with Genie Gateway's Form 10-K filed with the Commission on March 27, 2015.

25. In connection with the audit, Respondents failed to exercise due professional care and professional skepticism and failed to plan and perform the audit of Genie Gateway's financial statements in accordance with PCAOB standards. Specifically, Respondents failed to: establish an overall audit strategy for the engagement and develop an audit plan;[37] perform any risk assessment procedures to identify and assess the risks of material misstatement;[38] design and implement overall responses to address the assessed risks of material misstatement;[39] and establish a materiality level for the financial statements as a whole and an amount of tolerable

---

[36] See AS 15 at ¶¶ 4-6 and 11. See also AS 13 at ¶ 36.

[37] See AS 9 at ¶¶ 8-10.

[38] See AS 12 at ¶ 4.

[39] See AS 13 at ¶ 5.

ORDER

misstatement for purposes of assessing risks of material misstatement and planning and performing audit procedures at the account or disclosure level.[40]

26. For the year-ended December 31, 2014, Genie Gateway reported $524,163 of revenue, assets of $197,168, and a net loss of $317,213. Respondents failed to perform any procedures to determine whether any of Genie Gateway's expenses - which included a $90,118 gain on derivative liability – were properly valued and recorded in the proper period. As a result of this conduct, Respondents violated PCAOB standards by failing to obtain sufficient appropriate evidence to support their conclusions regarding Genie Gateway's operating expenses.[41]

Retention of Certain Work Papers

27. PCAOB standards require an auditor to "retain audit documentation for seven years from the date the auditor grants permission to use the auditor's report in connection with the issuance of the company's financial statements (report release date), unless a longer period of time is required by law."[42] Respondents failed to retain significant portions of the audit documentation for the Issuer Audits for the required period, and were unable to provide certain documentation in response to demands made in a PCAOB investigation. As a result, Respondents violated PCAOB audit documentation requirements.[43]

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondents' Offers. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), Pinaki & Associates LLC and Pinaki Mohapatra are hereby censured;

---

40 See AS 11 at ¶ 6 and ¶ 8.

41 See AS 15 at ¶¶ 4-6 and ¶ 11. See also AS 13 at ¶ 36.

42 See Auditing Standard No. 3, Audit Documentation, at ¶ 14.

43 Id.

ORDER

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(B) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(2), Pinaki Mohapatra is barred from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm, as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i);[44]

C. After five (5) years from the date of this Order, Pinaki Mohapatra may file a petition, pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5302(b), for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm;

D. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(A) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(1), the registration of Pinaki & Associates LLC is revoked; and

E. After five (5) years from the date of the Order, Pinaki & Associates LLC may reapply for registration by filing an application pursuant to PCAOB Rule 2101.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

October 26, 2017

[44] As a consequence of the bar, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act will apply with respect to Mohapatra. Section 105(c)(7)(B) provides: "It shall be unlawful for any person that is suspended or barred from being associated with a registered public accounting firm under this subsection willfully to become or remain associated with any issuer, broker, or dealer in an accountancy or a financial management capacity, and for any issuer, broker, or dealer that knew, or in the exercise of reasonable care should have known, of such suspension or bar, to permit such an association, without the consent of the Board or the Commission."

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street NW
Washington, DC 20006
Office: (202) 207-9100
Fax: (202) 862-8430
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of Weaver and Tidwell, L.L.P. Respondent.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-041 October 26, 2017

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("Board" or "PCAOB") is censuring the registered public accounting firm Weaver and Tidwell, L.L.P. ("Weaver," the "Firm," or "Respondent"); imposing a civil money penalty of $30,000; and requiring the Firm to undertake certain remedial measures. The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings concerning the Firm's violations of PCAOB rules and standards in connection with four of the Firm's audits of broker-dealer audit clients.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondent.

II.

In anticipation of institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondent has submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offer") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over the Respondent and the subject matter of these proceedings, which are admitted, Respondent consents to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[1]

[1] The findings herein are made pursuant to the Respondent's Offer and are not binding on any other persons or entities in this or any other proceeding.

ORDER

III.

On the basis of Respondent's Offer, the Board finds that:

A. Respondent

1. Weaver and Tidwell, L.L.P. is, and at all relevant times was, a limited liability partnership organized under the laws of the state of Texas, and headquartered in Fort Worth, Texas. Weaver is registered with the Board pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules. Weaver is licensed by the Texas State Board of Public Accountancy (license no. P04338). At all relevant times, the Firm was the external auditor for the broker-dealers identified below. The Firm was previously the subject of a PCAOB Order concerning a violation of Auditing Standard No. 7, Engagement Quality Review ("AS 7")[2] in connection with an issuer audit.[3]

B. Summary

2. This matter concerns Respondent's failure to comply with AS 7 in connection with two Weaver audit partners serving as engagement quality reviewers on four fiscal year ended December 31, 2014 audits of broker-dealer financial statements, immediately after serving as the engagement partners on the respective prior year's audits, without satisfying the mandatory two year "cooling-off" period for former engagement partners.[4]

---

[2] See PCAOB Rules 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Standards, and PCAOB Rule 3200T, Interim Auditing Standards. All references to PCAOB standards are to the versions of those standards in effect at the time of the audits. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its auditing standards using a topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Release No. 2015-002 (Mar. 31, 2015); see also PCAOB Auditing Standards Reorganized and Pre-Reorganized Numbering (January 2017), https://pcaobus.org/Standards/Auditing/Documents/ReorganizedandPreReorganizedNumbering.pdf

[3] See Weaver and Tidwell, L.L.P., PCAOB Rel. No. 105-2015-022 (July 23, 2015) (censuring the Firm).

[4] See AS 7 ¶ 8.

ORDER

3. This matter also concerns the Firm's violations of PCAOB rules and quality control standards by failing to establish and implement quality control policies and procedures sufficient to provide the Firm with reasonable assurance that its personnel would comply with applicable professional standards and the Firm's standards of quality.

C. Respondent Violated Auditing Standard No. 7

4. In connection with the preparation or issuance of an audit report, PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons comply with the Board's auditing and related professional practice standards. For audits of financial statements for fiscal years ending on or after June 1, 2014, Rule 17a-5(g) requires that audits of broker-dealers be performed in accordance with PCAOB standards. AS 7 requires that an engagement quality review be performed on audit engagements, reviews of interim financial information, and certain attestation engagements conducted pursuant to PCAOB standards.[5] Further, paragraph 8 of AS 7 provides: "[t]he person who served as the engagement partner during either of the two audits preceding the audit subject to the engagement quality review may not be the engagement quality reviewer."[6]

5. As described below, Respondent failed to comply with AS 7.

Audit of Coastal Securities, Inc.

6. Coastal Securities, Inc. ("Coastal") was at all relevant times, a Delaware corporation headquartered in Houston, Texas. Coastal's public filings disclose that its business consists of the buying, selling, and trading of government and government agency guaranteed securities and corporate and municipal bonds. Coastal is registered with FINRA and the United States Securities and Exchange Commission ("Commission"). At all relevant times, Coastal was a "broker" and "dealer," as defined in Sections 110(3) and (4) of the Act and PCAOB Rules 1001(b)(iii) and 1001(d)(iii).

---

[5] See AS 7 ¶ 1.

[6] At all relevant times, Weaver had five or more issuer audit clients and did not qualify for AS 7 ¶ 8's small firm exemption.

ORDER

7. Weaver audited Coastal's December 31, 2013 and December 31, 2014 financial statements and issued audit reports, which were filed with the Commission, expressing unqualified opinions on the financial statements.

8. After serving as the engagement partner on the Firm's audit of Coastal's fiscal year ended December 31, 2013 financial statements, the partner immediately served as the engagement quality reviewer on the audit of Coastal's fiscal year ended December 31, 2014 financial statements, violating AS 7's two-year "cooling-off" period for former engagement partners.

Audit of Hamilton Clark Sustainable Capital, Inc.

9. Hamilton Clark Sustainable Capital, Inc. ("Hamilton Clark") was, at all relevant times, a Delaware corporation headquartered in Washington, D.C. Hamilton Clark's public filings disclose that it is in the business of the distribution of private placements of debt and equity securities to institutional and other accredited investors, and mergers and acquisitions. Hamilton Clark is registered with FINRA and the Commission. At all relevant times, Hamilton Clark was a "broker" and "dealer," as defined in Sections 110(3) and (4) of the Act and PCAOB Rules 1001(b)(iii) and (d)(iii).

10. Weaver audited Hamilton Clark's December 31, 2013 and December 31, 2014 financial statements and issued audit reports, which were filed with the Commission, expressing unqualified opinions on the financial statements.

11. After serving as the engagement partner on the Firm's audit of Hamilton Clark's fiscal year ended December 31, 2013 financial statements, the partner immediately served as the engagement quality reviewer on the audit of Hamilton Clark's fiscal year ended December 31, 2014 financial statements, violating AS 7's two-year "cooling-off" period for former engagement partners.

Audit of Leecam Advisors

12. Leecam Advisors ("Leecam") (now known as "Chiron Capital LLC," since October 2016) was, at all relevant times, a Delaware limited liability company headquartered in Houston, Texas. Leecam's public filings disclose that it is in the business of brokering energy industry investments to a select group of institutional investors. Leecam is registered with FINRA and the Commission. At all relevant times, Leecam was a "broker" and "dealer," as defined in Sections 110(3) and (4) of the Act and PCAOB Rules 1001(b)(iii) and (d)(iii).

ORDER

13. Weaver audited Leecam's December 31, 2013 and December 31, 2014 financial statements and issued audit reports, which were filed with the Commission, expressing unqualified opinions on the financial statements.

14. After serving as the engagement partner on the Firm's audit of Leecam's fiscal year ended December 31, 2013 financial statements, the partner immediately served as the engagement quality reviewer on the audit of Leecam's fiscal year ended December 31, 2014 financial statements, violating AS 7's two-year "cooling-off" period for former engagement partners.

Audit of Kercheville and Company, Inc.

15. Kercheville and Company, Inc. ("Kercheville") was, at all relevant times, a Texas corporation headquartered in San Antonio, Texas. Kercheville's public filings disclose that it acts as a clearing broker for Pershing LLC, and carries the accounts of the customers on a fully-disclosed basis as customers of Pershing, and does not hold cash or securities in connection with these transactions. Kercheville is registered with FINRA and the Commission. At all relevant times, Kercheville was a "broker" and "dealer," as defined in Sections 110(3) and (4) of the Act and PCAOB Rules 1001(b)(iii) and (d)(iii).

16. Weaver audited Kercheville's December 31, 2013 and December 31, 2014 financial statements and issued audit reports, which were filed with the Commission, expressing unqualified opinions on the financial statements.

17. After serving as the engagement partner on the Firm's audit of Kercheville's fiscal year ended December 31, 2013 financial statements, the partner immediately served as the engagement quality reviewer on the audit of Kercheville's fiscal year ended December 31, 2014 financial statements, violating AS 7's two-year "cooling-off" period for former engagement partners.

D. Respondent Violated PCAOB Rules and Standards Related to Quality Control

18. PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and their associated persons comply with the Board's quality control standards.[7] PCAOB quality control standards require that a registered public accounting firm establish policies and procedures to provide the firm with reasonable assurance that the work performed by engagement personnel meets applicable professional standards, regulatory requirements, and the firm's standards of quality.[8] Policies and procedures for engagement performance encompass all phases of the design and execution of the engagement.[9] To the extent appropriate and as required by applicable professional standards, these policies and procedures should cover planning, performing, supervising, reviewing, documenting, and communicating the results of each engagement.[10] These policies and procedures also should address engagement quality reviews pursuant to AS 7.[11]

[7] PCAOB Rule 3100; PCAOB Rule 3400T, Interim Quality Control Standards.

ORDER

19. Throughout the relevant time period, the Firm failed to implement and maintain a system of quality control that would provide it with reasonable assurance that the work performed by the engagement personnel would comply with applicable professional standards. As described above, the Firm failed to establish and implement quality control policies and procedures to provide reasonable assurance that engagement quality reviewers on Firm audits of broker-dealer clients had not served as the engagement partner during either of the two preceding audits in accordance with AS 7.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondent's Offer. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), Weaver and Tidwell, L.L.P. is hereby censured.

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of $30,000 is imposed upon Weaver

---

[8] QC § 20.17, System of Quality Control for a CPA Firm's Accounting and Auditing Practice.

[9] QC § 20.18.

[10] Id.

[11] Id. at ¶¶ 17 & 18.

ORDER

and Tidwell, L.L.P. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of this civil money penalty will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. Weaver and Tidwell, L.L.P. shall pay this civil money penalty within 10 days of the issuance of this Order by (a) wire transfer in accordance with instructions furnished by Board staff; or (b) United States Postal Service postal money order, certified check, bank cashier's check or bank money order; (c) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board; (d) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006; and (e) submitted under a cover letter which identifies Weaver and Tidwell, L.L.P. as a Respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB Release Number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to the Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006; and

C. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(G) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(9), the Firm is required:

1. within ninety (90) days from the date of this Order, to establish policies and procedures, or review and/or supplement existing policies and procedures, for the purpose of providing the Firm with reasonable assurance of compliance with AS 1220, Engagement Quality Review;

2. within ninety (90) days from the date of this Order, to establish a policy of ensuring training, whether internal or external, on an annual or more frequent basis, concerning AS 1220, of any Firm audit personnel who participate in any way in the planning or performing of any audit services (as defined in PCAOB Rule 1001(a)(vii));

3. to certify in writing to the Director of the Division of Enforcement and Investigations, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, the Firm's compliance with paragraphs C(1) and C(2) above. The certification shall identify the undertakings, provide written evidence of compliance in the form of a narrative, and be supported by exhibits sufficient to demonstrate compliance. The Firm shall submit such certification within one hundred twenty (120) days from the date of this Order. The Firm shall also submit such additional evidence of and information concerning compliance as the staff of the Division of Enforcement and Investigations may reasonably request.

ORDER

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

October 26, 2017

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street, NW
Washington, DC 20006
Telephone: (202) 207-9100
Facsimile: (202) 862-8430
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER MAKING FINDINGS AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS	PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-042
In the Matter of Brace & Associates, PLLC and Kari Brace, CPA,	November 16, 2017
Respondents.

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (the "Board" or "PCAOB") is censuring Brace & Associates, PLLC ("Firm"), a registered public accounting firm, revoking the Firm's registration,[1] and imposing a civil money penalty in the amount of $10,000 upon the Firm; and censuring Kari Brace, CPA ("Brace") and barring her from being an associated person for a registered public accounting firm.[2] The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that the Firm and Brace (collectively "Respondents") violated PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the Firm's audits of 19 broker-dealer clients.

I.

On April 12, 2017, the Board instituted disciplinary proceedings pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002 (the "Act"), as amended, and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against the Respondents. These proceedings were not public pursuant to Section 105(c)(2) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5203. The Board determined, under Section 105(c)(2) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5203, that good cause was shown to make the hearing in this proceeding public, and the Division of Enforcement and Investigations consented to making the hearing public. As permitted by Section 105(c)(2) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5203, Respondents did not consent to make the hearing in this proceeding public.

[1] The Firm may reapply for registration after three (3) years from the date of this Order.

[2] Brace may file a petition for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm after three (3) years from the date of this Order.

ORDER

II.

In response to these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondents have each submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offers") that the Board has determined to accept. Respondents admit the facts, findings, and violations set forth below, and consent to entry of this Order Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order").[3]

III.

On the basis of Respondents' Offers, the Board finds that:[4]

A. Respondents

1. Brace & Associates, PLLC is, and at all relevant times was, a limited liability corporation organized under New Hampshire law, and headquartered in Hudson, New Hampshire. The Firm is registered with the Board pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules, and is licensed by the New Hampshire Board of Accountancy (license no. 00743). At all relevant times, the Firm was the external auditor for each of the broker-dealers identified below.

2. Kari K. Brace, CPA, age 41, is, and at all relevant times was, a certified public accountant licensed by the New Hampshire Board of Accountancy (license no. 03326). At all relevant times, Brace was the sole owner of the Firm. Brace is, and at all relevant times was, an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

---

[3] The findings herein are made pursuant to the Respondents' Offers and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

[4] The Board finds that each Respondent's conduct described in this Order meets the conditions set out in Section 105(c)(5) of the Act, 15 U.S.C. § 7215(c)(5), which provides that certain sanctions may be imposed in the event of: (A) intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, that results in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard; or (B) repeated instances of negligent conduct, each resulting in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard.

ORDER

B. Summary

3. This matter concerns the Firm's repeated failure to comply with Auditing Standard No. 7, Engagement Quality Review ("AS 7"), with respect to 19 broker-dealer audit clients.[5] In the case of each client, the Firm failed to obtain an engagement quality review of each audit and attestation engagement even though it was required to be performed.

4. This matter also concerns Brace's direct and substantial contribution to the Firm's violations of PCAOB rules and standards concerning the requirement for engagement quality reviews. With respect to each of the 19 audit engagements in which the Firm failed to have an engagement quality review, Brace took or omitted to take actions knowing, or recklessly not knowing, that her acts and omissions would directly and substantially contribute to the Firm's violations of PCAOB rules and standards.

C. The Firm Violated PCAOB Rules and Standards Relating to Engagement Quality Reviews

5. In connection with the preparation or issuance of an audit report, PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons comply with the Board's auditing and related professional practice standards.[6]

6. For audits, interim reviews, and attestations of broker-dealers for fiscal years ending on or after June 1, 2014, AS 7 requires that an engagement quality review be performed pursuant to PCAOB standards.[7] AS 7 also provides that a firm may grant

---

[5] All references to PCAOB rules and standards are to the versions of those rules and standards in effect at the time of the relevant audits. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its auditing standards using a topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Release No. 2015-002 (Mar. 31, 2015); see also PCAOB Auditing Standards Reorganized and Pre-Reorganized Numbering (Jan. 2017).

[6] PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards.

[7] See AS 7 ¶ 1.

permission to a client to use the engagement report only after an engagement quality reviewer provides concurring approval of issuance.[8]

7. The Firm failed to obtain an engagement quality review for each of the audit and attestation engagements set forth in the attached Appendix, even though PCAOB standards required an engagement quality review to be performed. In each instance, the audit was of a "broker" and "dealer," as defined in Sections 110(3) and 110(4) of the Act and PCAOB Rules 1001(b)(iii) and 1001(d)(iii). And in each instance, the Firm improperly permitted the issuance of its unqualified audit report and review report without obtaining an engagement quality review and concurring approval of issuance. As a result, the Firm repeatedly violated AS 7.

D. Brace Contributed to the Firm's Violations of PCAOB Rules and Standards

8. PCAOB Rule 3502 prohibits an associated person of a registered public accounting firm from taking or omitting to take an action knowing, or recklessly not knowing, that the act or omission would directly and substantially contribute to a violation by that firm of the Act, the rules of the Board, the provisions of the securities laws relating to the preparation and issuance of audit reports and the obligations and liabilities of accountants with respect thereto, including the rules of the Commission issued under the Act, or professional standards.

9. Brace, the sole owner and only member of the Firm, was principally responsible for the audits conducted by the Firm. Accordingly, Brace had overall responsibility for ensuring that the Firm complied with PCAOB rules and standards. Brace knew, or was reckless in not knowing, that she was directly and substantially contributing to the Firm's violations of AS 7, described above. As a result, she violated PCAOB Rule 3502.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondents' Offers.

---

[8] See id. at ¶¶ 13, 18, and 18C.

ORDER

Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), Brace & Associates, PLLC and Kari Brace, CPA are hereby censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(B) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(2), Kari Brace, CPA is barred from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm, as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i);[9]

C. After three (3) years from the date of this Order, Kari Brace, CPA may file a petition, pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5302(b), for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm;

D. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(A) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(1), the registration of Brace & Associates, PLLC is revoked;

E. After three (3) years from the date of this Order, Brace & Associates, PLLC may reapply for registration by filing an application pursuant to PCAOB Rule 2101; and

F. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of $10,000 is imposed upon Brace & Associates, PLLC. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of this civil money penalty will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. Brace & Associates, PLLC shall pay this civil money penalty within 10 days of the issuance of this Order by (a) wire transfer in accordance with instructions furnished by Board staff; or (b) United States postal money order, certified check, bank cashier's check or bank money order; (c) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board; (d) delivered to the Controller, Public Company

---

[9] As a consequence of the bar, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act will apply with respect to Brace. Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act provides that "[i]t shall be unlawful for any person that is suspended or barred from being associated with a registered public accounting firm under this subsection willfully to become or remain associated with any issuer, broker, or dealer in an accountancy or a financial management capacity, and for any issuer, broker, or dealer that knew, or in the exercise of reasonable care should have known, of such suspension or bar, to permit such an association, without the consent of the Board or the Commission."

ORDER

Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006; and (e) submitted under a cover letter which identifies Brace & Associates, PLLC as a Respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB Release Number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to the Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

_____

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

November 16, 2017

Appendix
Brace & Associates, PLLC
Audits & Attestations Not Performed in Accordance with AS 7

Broker-Dealer	Fiscal Year Ended	Reports Issued Without EQR	Engagement Partner
Rossoff & Co.	June 30, 2014	Audit & Review	Kari Brace, CPA
ProNet Financial Partners, LLC	June 30, 2014	Audit & Review	Kari Brace, CPA
GSV Advisors, LLC	June 30, 2014	Audit & Review	Kari Brace, CPA
Adirondack Trading Group, LLC	June 30, 2014	Audit & Review	Kari Brace, CPA
GIT Investment Services, Inc.	June 30, 2014	Audit	Kari Brace, CPA
BTS Securities Corporation	July 31, 2014	Audit & Review	Kari Brace, CPA
Stuyvesant Square Advisors, Inc.	September 30, 2014	Audit & Review	Kari Brace, CPA
Consensus Securities LLC	September 30, 2014	Audit & Review	Kari Brace, CPA
Bluefin Research Partners, Inc.	December 31, 2014	Audit	Kari Brace, CPA
Perkins Fund Marketing, LLC	December 31, 2014	Audit & Review	Kari Brace, CPA
Morgan Partners, LLC	December 31, 2014	Audit	Kari Brace, CPA
JSB Partners, LP	December 31, 2014	Audit & Review	Kari Brace, CPA
North Bridge Capital, LLC	December 31, 2014	Audit	Kari Brace, CPA
First Commonwealth Securities Corp.	December 31, 2014	Audit & Review	Kari Brace, CPA
Kuhns Brothers Securities Corp.	December 31, 2014	Audit & Review	Kari Brace, CPA
Exit 3 Capital Markets	December 31, 2014	Audit & Review	Kari Brace, CPA
Somerset Securities	December 31, 2014	Audit & Review	Kari Brace, CPA
Oceanus Securities, LLC	March 31, 2015	Audit & Review	Kari Brace, CPA
Selalu Partners, Inc.	March 31, 2015	Audit & Review	Kari Brace, CPA

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street NW
Washington, DC 20006
Office: (202) 207-9100
Fax: (202) 862-8430
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of Anthony Kam & Associates Limited, and Anthony KAM Hau Choi, CPA, Respondents.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-043 (Corrected Copy) November 28, 2017

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (the "Board" or "PCAOB") is censuring Anthony Kam & Associates Limited ("AKAL" or the "Firm"), a registered public accounting firm, revoking the Firm's registration,[1] and imposing a civil money penalty in the amount of $10,000 upon the Firm; and censuring Anthony KAM Hau Choi, CPA ("Kam") and barring him from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm.[2] The Board is imposing these sanctions on the Firm and Kam (collectively, "Respondents") on the basis of its findings that: (a) Respondents violated PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the Firm's audits of an issuer client; (b) the Firm violated Section 10(b) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 ("Exchange Act") and Rule 10b-5 thereunder in connection with one of those audits; and (c) Kam directly and substantially contributed to the Firm's violation of the Exchange Act and Rule 10b-5 thereunder.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondents.

[1] The Firm may reapply for registration after five (5) years from the date of this Order.

[2] Kam may file a petition for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm after five (5) years from the date of this Order.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

II.

In anticipation of institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondents have each submitted an Offer of Settlement (the "Offers") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over them and the subject matter of these proceedings, which are admitted, Respondents consent to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[3]

III.

On the basis of Respondents' Offers, the Board finds[4] that:

A. Respondents

1. Anthony Kam & Associates Limited is, and at all relevant times was, a limited liability corporation headquartered in the Hong Kong Special Administrative Region of the People's Republic of China ("Hong Kong"). The Firm has been registered with the Board pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB Rules since December 17, 2009. The Firm is registered with the Hong Kong Institute of Certified Public Accountants ("HKICPA") (Certificate No. M0332). At all relevant times, the Firm was the external auditor for the issuer identified below.

2. From its registration with the Board through 2017, AKAL issued 20 audit reports for 13 different issuers (publicly traded companies that are required to file audited financial statements with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission

[3] The findings herein are made pursuant to Respondents' Offers and are not binding on any other persons or entities in this or any other proceeding.

[4] The Board finds that Respondents' conduct described in this Order meets the conditions set out in Section 105(c)(5) of the Act, 15 U.S.C. § 7215(c)(5), which provides that certain sanctions may be imposed in the event of (1) intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, that results in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard; or (2) repeated instances of negligent conduct, each resulting in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard.

ORDER

("Commission")).[5] All but five of those issuers reported having operations in Mainland China. Because of the position taken by authorities in Mainland China with respect to audit documentation concerning such operations, the Board has not had access to the information that is necessary to be able to inspect the Firm's issuer audit work as required by the Act and PCAOB Rules.[6]

3. Anthony KAM Hau Choi, CPA, age 52, is a resident of Hong Kong and a Practising Member of the HKICPA (Practising Certificate No. P02558). At all relevant times, Kam was the Managing Director of AKAL, and served as the engagement partner on the audits discussed below. Kam is, and at all relevant times was, an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

B. Summary

4. This matter concerns Respondents' violations of the Exchange Act and PCAOB rules and standards in connection with Respondents' issuance of unqualified audit reports on the December 31, 2012, 2013 and 2014 financial statements of Sino Agro Food, Inc. ("SIAF" or the "Company").

5. The Firm violated Section 10(b) of the Exchange Act, and Rule 10b-5 thereunder, by issuing an audit report containing an unqualified audit opinion concerning SIAF's December 31, 2012 financial statements stating that its audit had been conducted in accordance with PCAOB rules and standards. The Firm did so when it knew, or was reckless in not knowing, the statements therein were false. Kam took or omitted to take actions that he knew, or was reckless in not knowing, would directly and substantially contribute to the Firm's violations of Section 10(b) and Rule 10b-5, and thereby violated PCAOB Rule 3502, Responsibility Not to Knowingly or Recklessly Contribute to Violations.

---

[5] See Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii) (defining "issuer").

[6] In the absence of that obstacle to access, the Board, in the normal course, would have inspected AKAL (including a selection of its audits and a review of its system of quality control) at least twice in the period from 2009 to 2017. Since October 2010, the Board has considered this obstacle to access when evaluating new registration applications from firms in Hong Kong (among other jurisdictions) and has not approved any new applications from Hong Kong firms.

ORDER

6. With respect to the 2013 and 2014 fiscal year audits of SIAF, Respondents failed to exercise due professional care and professional skepticism, and failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to provide a reasonable basis for an opinion regarding the financial statements of the Company.

C. Respondents Violated the Securities Laws, PCAOB Rules and Auditing Standards

7. In connection with the preparation or issuance of an audit report, PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons comply with the Board's auditing standards and related professional practice standards.[7] An auditor may express an unqualified opinion on an issuer's financial statements only when the auditor has formed such an opinion on the basis of an audit performed in accordance with PCAOB standards.[8] Among other things, those standards require that an auditor exercise due professional care, including professional skepticism, and obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to provide a reasonable basis for an opinion regarding the financial statements under audit.[9] In addition, the auditor must document the procedures performed, evidence obtained, and conclusions reached with respect to relevant financial statement assertions, and clearly demonstrate that the work was in fact performed.[10]

---

[7] See PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards; PCAOB Rule 3200T, Interim Auditing Standards. All references to PCAOB rules and standards are to the versions of those rules and standards in effect at the time of the relevant audits. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its auditing standards using a topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Release No. 2015-002 (Mar.31, 2015); see also PCAOB Auditing Standards Reorganized and Pre-Reorganized Numbering (January 2017).

[8] See AU § 508.07, Reports on Audited Financial Statements.

[9] See AU § 150.02, Generally Accepted Auditing Standards; AU § 230.07-.09, Due Professional Care in the Performance of Work; and Auditing Standard No. 15 ("AS 15"), Audit Evidence, at ¶ 4.

[10] See Auditing Standard No. 3, Audit Documentation, at ¶ 6.

ORDER

8. Section 10(b) of the Exchange Act and Rule 10b-5 thereunder prohibit a person, in connection with the purchase or sale of a security, from making an untrue statement of a material fact or from omitting to state a material fact necessary to make statements made, in light of the circumstances under which they were made, not misleading. To violate Section 10(b) or Rule 10b-5, a respondent must act with scienter,[11] which the United States Supreme Court has defined as "a mental state embracing intent to deceive, manipulate, or defraud."[12] Scienter encompasses knowing or intentional conduct, or recklessness.[13] An auditor violates Section 10(b) of the Exchange Act and Rule 10b-5 thereunder by issuing an audit report stating that the audit has been performed in accordance with PCAOB standards when it knows, or is reckless in not knowing, that the statement is false.[14] Such a misstatement is clearly material, as "[f]ew matters could be more important to investors than that of whether an issuer's financial statements, contained in its filings with the Commission, had, in fact, been subjected to an annual audit conducted in accordance with [PCAOB standards] in all material respects."[15]

9. As detailed below, Respondents failed to comply with the aforementioned rules, standards, and Exchange Act.

---

[11] See Aaron v. SEC, 446 U.S. 680, 695, 701-02 (1980).

[12] See Ernst & Ernst v. Hochfelder, 425 U.S. 185, 193 n.12 (1976).

[13] See, e.g., IIT v. Cornfeld, 619 F.2d 909, 923 (2d Cir. 1980).

[14] See In the Matter of Eugene M. Egeberg III, CPA, Exchange Act Release No. 71348, at *7-9 (Jan.17, 2014); In the Matter of Hood & Associates CPAs, P.C., and Rick C. Freeman, CPA, PCAOB Release No. 105-2013-012, at 16-17 (Nov. 21, 2013); In the Matter of Harris F Rattray CPA, PL, and Harris F. Rattray, CPA,* PCAOB Release No. 105-2013-009, at *4-5 (November 21, 2013); P. Parikh & Associates, Ashok B. Rajagiri, CA, Sandeep P. Parikh, CA, and Sundeep P S G Nair, CA, PCAOB Release No. 105-2013-002, at *7 (Apr. 24, 2013); In re Richard P. Scalzo, CPA, Exchange Act Release No. 48328, 2003 SEC LEXIS 3490, at *51-53 (Aug. 13, 2003).

[15] Scalzo, 2003 SEC LEXIS 3490, at *52-53.

ORDER

D. SIAF Audits

10. At all relevant times, SIAF was a Nevada corporation with principal operations in the People's Republic of China. SIAF's public filings disclosed that it was an agriculture technology and natural food holding company and a vertically integrated food producer, primarily involved in beef, fish and shrimp production. SIAF's common stock was registered under Section 12(b) of the Exchange Act and was quoted on the OTC Markets. At all relevant times, SIAF was an issuer as that term is defined by Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

11. In June 2013, AKAL was engaged to provide audit services to SIAF after SIAF dismissed the predecessor auditor.[16] During 2014, AKAL issued three audit reports containing unqualified audit opinions regarding SIAF's financial statements for the years ended December 31, 2012 and 2013. Kam authorized the issuance of an undated, unqualified audit opinion included in a Form 10-K filed by SIAF with the Commission on April 11, 2014. Kam also authorized the issuance of two subsequent audit reports regarding SIAF's financial statements for the years ended December 31, 2012 and 2013: (a) an unqualified audit opinion, dated June 27, 2014, included in a Form 10-K/A filed by SIAF with the Commission on July 1, 2014; and (b) an unqualified audit opinion, dated December 1, 2014, included in a Form 10-K/A filed by SIAF with the Commission on December 2, 2014.

a. Audit of SIAF's 2012 Financial Statements

12. For the audit of SIAF's 2012 financial statements, Kam served as the engagement partner and authorized the issuance of AKAL's undated audit report expressing an unqualified audit opinion on SIAF's financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2012. Other than obtaining 2012 audit work papers from the predecessor auditor and obtaining a management representation letter from SIAF,

---

[16] On January 15, 2015, the Board revoked the registration of Madsen & Associates CPAs, Inc., SIAF's predecessor auditor, with a right to reapply for registration after two years for failure to comply with PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the audit of SIAF's financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2011 and the audit of the financial statements of another issuer. See In the Matter of Madsen & Associates CPAs, Inc., and Ted A. Madsen, CPA, PCAOB Release No. 105-2015-002 (Jan. 15, 2015).

ORDER

Respondents failed to perform any audit procedures to support AKAL's unqualified opinion on the 2012 financial statements of SIAF.[17]

13. The Firm violated Section 10(b) of the Exchange Act and Rule 10b-5 thereunder by issuing an audit report that falsely stated that the 2012 audit had been conducted in accordance with PCAOB standards when the Firm knew, or was reckless in not knowing, that Firm personnel had not performed any audit procedures, other than obtaining 2012 audit work papers from the predecessor auditor and obtaining a management representation letter, prior to the issuance of the Firm's audit report on those financial statements.

14. Kam knew, or was reckless in not knowing, that that he was directly and substantially contributing to the Firm's violations of Section 10(b) of the Exchange Act and Rule 10b-5 thereunder when he improperly authorized the issuance of the Firm's audit report regarding SIAF's 2012 financial statements. Kam accordingly violated PCAOB Rule 3502.

b. Audits of SIAF's 2013 and 2014 Financial Statements

15. The Firm served as SIAF's auditors for the years ended 2013 and 2014. Kam, as engagement partner, authorized the Firm's issuance of the audit reports expressing unqualified audit opinions on SIAF's financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2013, and the Firm's issuance of an audit report, dated March 31, 2015, expressing an unqualified audit opinion on SIAF's financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2014. The Firm's audit reports for 2013 and 2014 were included in SIAF's Form 10-K filed with the Commission on March 31, 2015.

16. In 2013 and 2014, SIAF's public filings reported consulting and service income from development contracts related to certain long-term arrangements for the development of fishery, prawn and beef farms, and catering facilities and restaurants. The Company accounted for these long-term arrangements using the percentage-of-completion method, recognizing revenue based on the percentage of actual costs incurred to management's estimate of the total costs upon completion ("estimates to complete") for each contract.[18] Components of the consulting and service income from [17] With the subsequently issued reports for fiscal year 2012, AKAL did not document any additional audit procedures.

---

[18] See FASB Accounting Standards Codification Subtopic 605-35, Revenue Recognition – Construction-Type and Production-Type Contracts.

ORDER

development contracts reported in 2013 and 2014 were related to incomplete projects for which estimates to complete were used; these amounted to $12 million and $77 million, respectively.

17. The auditor's objective when evaluating accounting estimates includes obtaining sufficient appropriate evidential matter to provide reasonable assurance that accounting estimates are reasonable in the circumstances.[19] However, during the 2013 and 2014 audits, Respondents failed to perform any audit procedures regarding SIAF's estimates to complete related to incomplete development contracts and, accordingly, failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to determine whether they were properly valued.[20]

18. In 2013 and 2014, SIAF reported revenue of approximately $3 million and $57 million, respectively, from its largest facility development contract. For the 2013 audit, the only audit evidence obtained by Respondents related to this particular development contract was an unexecuted, temporary contract proposal. For the 2014 audit, Respondents obtained copies of contracts that were not fully executed by all contracting parties and that did not include sufficient information such as the contract price and the tangible or intangible goods or services that were intended to be delivered. As a result, Respondents failed to perform any procedures to evaluate whether it was appropriate under U.S. Generally Accepted Accounting Principles for SIAF to recognize revenue for this contract.[21]

19. For both the 2013 and 2014 audits, Respondents failed to perform audit procedures to specifically address the risk of management override of controls.[22] Respondents failed: (a) to examine journal entries and other adjustments for evidence of possible material misstatement due to fraud;[23] and (b) to perform retrospective reviews of significant accounting estimates, including with respect to the significant

---

[19] See AU § 342.07, Auditing Accounting Estimates; AS 15 at ¶¶ 4-6.

[20] See AS 15 at ¶¶ 4-6.

[21] See Auditing Standard No. 14 ("AS 14"), Evaluating Audit Results, at ¶ 30.

[22] See AU § 316.57-67, Consideration of Fraud in a Financial Statement Audit.

[23] See AU § 316.58-62.

ORDER

estimates related to estimates to complete, and to determine whether judgments and assumptions relating to those estimates indicated possible bias on the part of management.[24] Further, for both the 2013 and 2014 audits, Respondents failed to identify revenue recognition as a fraud risk, and failed to document or provide a sufficient basis to overcome the presumption that revenue recognition should have been identified as a fraud risk.[25]

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondents' Offers. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), Anthony Kam & Associates Limited and Anthony KAM Hau Choi are hereby censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(B) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(2), Anthony KAM Hau Choi is barred from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm, as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i);[26]

---

[24] See AU § 316.64.

[25] See Auditing Standard No. 12 ("AS 12"), Identifying and Assessing Risks of Material Misstatement, at ¶ 68; AU §316.83.

[26] As a consequence of the bar, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act will apply with respect to Kam. Section 105(c)(7)(B) provides: "It shall be unlawful for any person that is suspended or barred from being associated with a registered public accounting firm under this subsection willfully to become or remain associated with any issuer, broker, or dealer in an accountancy or a financial management capacity, and for any issuer, broker, or dealer that knew, or in the exercise of reasonable care should have known, of such suspension or bar, to permit such an association, without the consent of the Board or the Commission."

ORDER

C. After five (5) years from the date of this Order, Anthony KAM Hau Choi may file a petition, pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5302(b), for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm;

D. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(A) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(1), the registration of Anthony Kam & Associates Limited is revoked;

E. After five (5) years from the date of the Order, Anthony Kam & Associates Limited may reapply for registration by filing an application pursuant to PCAOB Rule 2101; and

F. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of $10,000 is imposed upon Anthony Kam & Associates Limited. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of this civil money penalty will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. Anthony Kam & Associates Limited shall pay this civil money penalty within ten (10) days of the issuance of this Order by (1) wire transfer pursuant to instructions provided by Board staff; or (2) United States Postal Service money order, bank money order, certified check, or bank cashier's check (a) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, (b) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006, and (c) submitted under a cover letter which identifies Anthony Kam & Associates Limited as a Respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB release number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to the Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe W. Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

November 28, 2017

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street NW
Washington, DC 20006
Office: (202) 207-9100
Fax: (202) 862-8430
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of VanDuyne, Bruno & Co., P.A., Anthony Bruno, CPA, and Jack Gutierrez, CPA, Respondents.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-044 November 28, 2017

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (the "Board" or "PCAOB") is (1) censuring VanDuyne, Bruno & Co., P.A. ("Firm"), a registered public accounting firm, revoking the Firm's registration,[1] and imposing a civil money penalty in the amount of $10,000 upon the Firm; (2) censuring Anthony Bruno, CPA ("Bruno") and barring him from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm;[2] and (3) censuring Jack Gutierrez, CPA ("Gutierrez") and barring him from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm.[3] The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that the Firm, Bruno and Gutierrez repeatedly violated PCAOB rules and standards in connection with their audit of the financial statements and supplemental information of Blue Vase Securities, LLC, a broker-dealer, for the year ended December 31, 2015.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondents.

---

[1] The Firm may reapply for registration after two (2) years from the date of this Order.

[2] Bruno may file a petition for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm after two (2) years from the date of this Order.

[3] Gutierrez may file a petition for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm after one (1) year from the date of this Order.

ORDER

II.

In anticipation of institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondents have each submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offers") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over Respondents and the subject matter of these proceedings, which is admitted, Respondents consent to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[4]

III.

On the basis of Respondents' Offers, the Board finds that:[5]

A. Respondents

1. VanDuyne, Bruno & Co., P.A. is a professional association organized under the laws of New Jersey, and headquartered in Pine Brook, New Jersey. The Firm registered with the Board on September 29, 2009, pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules. The Firm holds an accountancy license issued by the State of New Jersey (Lic. No. 20CB00141000). At all relevant times, the Firm was the external auditor of the 2015 financial statements of Blue Vase Securities, LLC ("BVS"), with Bruno serving as the engagement partner and Gutierrez serving as the engagement quality reviewer. At the time of the BVS audit, the Firm had four broker-dealer audit clients for which Bruno served as the engagement partner and Gutierrez as the EQR. The Firm had three other principals who provided tax and consulting services, but did not perform audit work.

---

[4] The findings herein are made pursuant to Respondents' Offers and are not binding on any other persons or entities in this or any other proceeding.

[5] The Board finds that Respondents' conduct described in this Order meets the conditions set out in Section 105(c)(5) of the Act, 15 U.S.C. § 7215(c)(5), which provides that certain sanctions may be imposed in the event of (1) intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, that results in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard; or (2) repeated instances of negligent conduct, each resulting in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard.

ORDER

2. Anthony Bruno, CPA, age 56, of Pine Brook, New Jersey, is, and at all relevant times was, a principal of the Firm and a certified public accountant licensed by the State of New Jersey (Lic. No. 20CC02167900) and the State of New York (Lic. No. 055755). Bruno was the engagement partner for the Firm's audit of BVS's 2015 financial statements. Bruno is, and at all relevant times was, an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

3. Jack Gutierrez, CPA, age 62, of Ramsey, New Jersey, is, and at all relevant times was, employed by the Firm until he became a principal in December 2016. Gutierrez is a certified public accountant licensed by the State of Florida (Lic. No. AC36025) and the State of New York (Lic. No. 041860). Gutierrez served as the engagement quality reviewer for the Firm's audit of BVS's 2015 financial statements. He is, and at all relevant times was, an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

B. Summary

4. This matter concerns the Firm's failure to comply with auditor independence requirements in connection with the Firm's audit of the 2015 financial statements of BVS, a broker-dealer. As detailed below, the Firm was not independent of BVS under auditor independence criteria established by the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission ("Commission") and made applicable by Exchange Act Rule 17a-5(f)(1) to audits of brokers and dealers.[6] Bruno authorized the issuance of the 2015 audit report, notwithstanding his knowledge that the Firm had prepared BVS's financial statements. As a result, the Firm violated PCAOB Rule 3520, Auditor Independence, by failing to satisfy the independence criteria applicable to the engagement, including the criteria set out in Rule 2-01(c)(4)(i) of the Commission's Regulation S-X, and AU § 220, Independence.[7] Bruno directly and substantially contributed to the Firm's violation of

[6] Exchange Act Rule 17a-5, referenced throughout this Order as "Rule 17a-5" is found at 17 C.F.R. § 240.17a-5.

[7] All references to PCAOB rules and standards are to the versions of those rules and standards in effect at the time of the relevant audit. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its auditing standards using a topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Release No. 2015-002 (Mar. 31, 2015); see also PCAOB Auditing Standards Reorganized and Pre-Reorganized Numbering (January 2017), https://pcaobus.org/Standards/Auditing/Documents/ReorganizedandPreReorganizedNumbering.pdf.

ORDER

applicable independence requirements, in violation of PCAOB Rule 3502, Responsibility Not to Knowingly or Recklessly Contribute to Violations.

5. This matter also concerns the Firm's and Bruno's violations of PCAOB rules and standards in connection with their audit of BVS's 2015 financial statements and accompanying supporting schedule (the "Audit"). As detailed below, among other things, they failed to exercise due professional care and professional skepticism, to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to support the Firm's audit opinion on BVS's financial statements and supporting schedule, and to comply with the audit documentation requirements of Auditing Standard No. 3, Audit Documentation ("AS 3").

6. The matter also concerns the Firm's and Bruno's violation of Auditing Standard No. 17, Auditing Supplemental Information Accompanying Audited Financial Statements ("AS 17"), because of their failure to perform adequate procedures on the supplemental information, namely BVS's net capital computation.[8]

7. Additionally, in connection with the above Audit, Gutierrez violated Auditing Standard No. 7, Engagement Quality Review ("AS 7"), by providing his concurring approval of issuance without performing the required engagement quality review with due professional care.

C. The Firm and Bruno Violated PCAOB Rules and Auditing Standards

Independence Violations

8. At all relevant times, BVS was a Delaware limited liability company with its principal place of business in Rhinebeck, New York. BVS's public filings disclosed that it was registered as a broker-dealer with the Commission and was a member of the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority. BVS was primarily engaged in transactions on the secondary markets for equities and equity options and claimed an exemption under Exchange Act Rule 15c3-3 (the Customer Protection Rule). At all relevant times, BVS was a "broker" and "dealer," as defined in Section 110(3) and (4) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(b)(iii) and (d)(iii).

9. Rule 17a-5(d)(1) requires, among other things, that every broker or dealer registered under Section 15 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 file annually a financial report audited by an independent public accountant. Rule 17a-5(d)(2) requires that the financial report filed by a registered broker or dealer contain, among other things, certain financial statements: a Statement of Financial Condition, a Statement of Income, a Statement of Cash Flows, a Statement of Changes in Stockholders' or Partners' or Sole Proprietor's Equity, and a Statement of Changes in Liabilities Subordinated to Claims of General Creditors. Rule 17a-5(d)(2)(ii) requires that the financial report contain certain supporting schedules, including a net capital computation.

[8] See 17 C.F.R. § 240.15c3-1, Net Capital Requirements for Brokers or Dealers ("Rule 15c3-1").

ORDER

10. Rule 17a-5(g) requires that an independent public accountant prepare a report based on an examination of the financial report required to be filed by the broker or dealer under Rule 17a-5(d) in accordance with PCAOB standards.

11. PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons comply with the Board's auditing and related professional practice standards.[9] PCAOB rules and standards also require a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons be independent of the firm's audit client throughout the audit and professional engagement period,[10] and includes the obligation to satisfy the independence criteria set out in the rules and regulations of the Commission under the federal securities laws.[11]

12. Pursuant to Rule 17a-5(f)(1), certain of the Commission's auditor independence criteria described in Rule 2-01 of Regulation S-X[12] apply to audits of brokers and dealers.[13] The applicable provisions include Rule 2-01(c)(4), which states in part:

---

[9] PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards; PCAOB Rule 3200T, Interim Auditing Standards.

[10] See PCAOB Rule 3520; AU § 220.

[11] See PCAOB Rule 3520, Note 1.

[12] 17 C.F.R. § 210.2-01.

[13] Not all independence criteria described in Rule 2-01(c) apply to audits of brokers and dealers. As the Commission has explained, those audits "are not subject to the partner rotation requirements or the compensation requirements of the Commission's independence rules [Rules 2-01(c)(6) and (c)(8)] because the statute mandating those requirements is limited to issuers," and they "are not subject to the audit committee pre-approval requirements or the cooling-off period requirements for

ORDER

> An accountant is not independent if, at any point during the audit and professional engagement period, the accountant provides the following non-audit services to an audit client:
>
> (i) Bookkeeping or other services related to the accounting records or financial statements of the audit client. Any service, unless it is reasonable to conclude that the results of these services will not be subject to audit procedures during an audit of the audit client's financial statements, including:
>
> * * *
>
> (B) Preparing the audit client's financial statements that are filed with the Commission or that form the basis of financial statements filed with the Commission . . . .

13. During the 2015 audit and professional engagement period, Firm staff obtained data BVS maintained in its accounting system and entered the information into a template to create BVS's financial statements. Firm staff also used the accounting records obtained from BVS to draft the notes to the financial statements. The 2015 financial statements, including the accompanying notes, all prepared by Firm staff, were filed by BVS with the Commission.

14. As a result of the Firm's preparation of BVS's financial statements and accompanying notes, the Firm was not independent of BVS under the independence criteria established by the Commission in Rule 2-01(c)(4) of Regulation S-X, which Rule 17a-5 made applicable to the Audit. As the Commission explained in adopting Rule 2-01(c)(4), providing such services for an audit client "impairs the auditor's independence because the auditor will be placed in the position of auditing the firm's work when auditing the client's financial statements. . . . In addition, keeping the books is a management function, the performance of which leads to an inappropriate mutuality of interests between the auditor and the audit client."[14] The Firm consequently violated PCAOB Rule 3520 and AU § 220 in connection with the Audit.

---

employment [Rules 2-01(c)(7) and (c)(2)(iii)(B)] because those requirements only reference issuers." See Exchange Act Release No. 70073 at II.E.

[14] Revision of the Commission's Auditor Independence Requirements, Exchange Act Release No. 43602 (November 21, 2000) at IV.D.4.b(i).

ORDER

15. Firm staff prepared BVS's financial statements under Bruno's supervision, and Bruno authorized the issuance of the Audit Report, when he knew or should have known that such activities would impair the Firm's independence. Through his actions, Bruno directly and substantially contributed to the Firm's violation of the applicable independence requirements, in violation of PCAOB Rule 3502.

Audit Violations

16. For audits of fiscal years on or after June 1, 2014, Rule 17a-5(g) requires that audits of broker-dealers be performed in accordance with PCAOB standards. An auditor may express an unqualified opinion on financial statements only when the auditor has formed such an opinion on the basis of an audit performed in accordance with PCAOB standards.[15] Among other things, PCAOB standards require an auditor to exercise due professional care and professional skepticism in performing the audit, and plan and perform audit procedures to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to afford a reasonable basis for an opinion regarding the financial statements.[16]

17. PCAOB standards also require the auditor to perform risk assessment procedures sufficient to provide a reasonable basis for identifying and assessing the risks of material misstatement, whether due to error or fraud, and designing further audit procedures.[17] The auditor should presume there is a fraud risk involving improper revenue recognition and evaluate which types of revenue, revenue transactions, or assertions may give rise to such risks.[18] In addition, the auditor's assessment of the risks of material misstatement, including fraud risks, should continue throughout the audit.[19]

---

[15] See AU § 508.07, Reports on Audited Financial Statements.

[16] See AU § 150, Generally Accepted Auditing Standards; AU § 230, Due Professional Care in the Performance of Work; and Auditing Standard No. 15, Audit Evidence ("AS 15").

[17] See Auditing Standard No. 12, Identifying and Assessing Risks of Material Misstatement ("AS 12"), ¶ 4.

[18] See AS 12 ¶ 68.

[19] See AS 12 ¶ 74.

ORDER

The auditor should also perform substantive procedures, including tests of details that are specifically responsive to the assessed fraud risks.[20]

18. PCAOB standards provide that, when an auditor uses information produced by the audit client as audit evidence, the auditor should evaluate whether the information is sufficient and appropriate for purposes of the audit by performing procedures to test the accuracy and completeness of the information, or test the controls over the accuracy and completeness of that information.[21] PCAOB standards also require that sample items should be selected in such a way that the sample can be expected to be representative of the population and all items in the population should have an opportunity to be selected.[22] If audit evidence obtained from one source is inconsistent with that obtained from another, or if the auditor has doubts about the reliability of the information to be used as audit evidence, the auditor should perform the audit procedures necessary to resolve the matter and should determine the effect, if any, on other aspects of the audit.[23]

19. PCAOB standards also require that, when the auditor is engaged to audit supplemental information accompanying the financial statements, the auditor should perform audit procedures to obtain appropriate audit evidence that is sufficient to support the auditor's opinion regarding whether the supplemental information is fairly stated, in all material respects, in relation to the financial statements as a whole.[24] In performing the audit procedures on supplemental information, the auditor should perform procedures to test the accuracy and completeness of the information presented in the supplemental information to the extent that it was not tested as part of the audit of financial statements.[25]

---

[20] See Auditing Standard No. 13, The Auditor's Responses to the Risks of Material Misstatement ("AS 13"), ¶ 13.

[21] See AS 15 ¶ 10.

[22] See AU § 350.24, Audit Sampling.

[23] See AS 15 ¶ 29.

[24] See AS 17 ¶¶ 2-3.

[25] Id. ¶ 4(e).

ORDER

20. As described below, the Firm and Bruno failed to comply with PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the Audit.

21. On February 24, 2016, BVS filed with the Commission a Form X-17A-5 Part III for the year ended December 31, 2015. Included in that filing was the Firm's audit report dated February 1, 2016 ("Audit Report"). Bruno authorized the Firm's issuance of the Audit Report, which expressed an unqualified opinion on BVS's financial statements and supporting schedule, and stated, among other things, that the Firm's audit was conducted in accordance with PCAOB standards. Gutierrez, as the engagement quality reviewer, provided concurring approval of issuance of the Audit Report.

22. As of YE 2015, BVS reported assets of approximately $716,000, and revenues and accounts receivable ("AR") of approximately $2.4 million and $503,000, respectively. BVS's revenue and AR included approximately $1.5 million of commission income and $417,000 of AR, respectively, from its largest customer.

23. During audit planning, the Firm and Bruno identified the risk of improper entry of invoices from customers as a significant risk in auditing revenue and AR but they failed to presume there is a fraud risk involving improper revenue recognition. Consequently, they failed to evaluate which types of revenue, revenue transactions or assertions may give rise to such risks, which is inconsistent with PCAOB requirements.[26]

24. BVS earned almost all of its revenue in 2015 from commission income. First, the Firm and Bruno selected transactions with only the largest customer to test commission income. Then, from management's schedule listing the monthly commission income from the largest customer for the entire year, they selected for testing only the November and December commission income which was not representative of the entire population. With this sampling approach, the Firm and Bruno excluded approximately $2 million or 83% of the aggregate commission income transactions from possible selection for testing. As a result, the Firm and Bruno violated AU § 350.

25. The Firm and Bruno also failed to evaluate whether information produced by management was sufficient and appropriate as audit evidence. For example, they agreed management's revenue summary schedule to other management produced information without performing procedures to test the accuracy and completeness of the information produced by BVS.

---

[26] See AS 12 ¶ 68.

ORDER

26. The Firm and Bruno also ignored red flags regarding the accuracy of BVS's revenue at year end. On January 29, 2016, the engagement team became aware the largest customer had retroactively reduced the commission rate paid to BVS, which would affect the December 2015 invoice and could significantly reduce BVS's commission income. They failed to perform any audit procedures to resolve the inconsistency between the amount of the December commission income as tested and the information related to the retroactive reduction to the commission income. As a result, the Firm and Bruno violated AS 15 ¶ 29.

27. On April 5, 2016, BVS's management restated the financial statements to reflect the reduction in the December commission income due to the retroactive change in the commission rate of approximately $177,000. That same day, the Firm and Bruno failed to perform any procedures other than obtaining a management representation and reissued the Audit Report, reflecting the $177,000 reduction in revenue.

AS 17 Violations

28. Rule 17a-5 required BVS to file a supporting schedule, audited by a PCAOB-registered firm, setting forth its net capital computation.[27] Auditing Standard No. 17 provides that the objective of the auditor of the financial statements, when engaged to perform audit procedures and report on supplemental information that accompanies audited financial statements, is to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to express an opinion on whether the supplemental information is fairly stated, in all material respects, in relation to the financial statements as a whole.[28] The nature, timing, and extent of audit procedures necessary to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence and to report on the supplemental information depends on, among other things, the risk of material misstatement of the supplemental information.[29]

29. AS 17 also require the auditor's report on supplemental information accompanying audited financial statements should include a statement that the audit procedures performed included determining whether the supplemental information reconciles to the financial statements or underlying accounting and other records, as applicable, and performing procedures to test the completeness and accuracy of the [27] See Rule 17a-5(d)(1)(i), (2), (3) and (4).

---

[28] See AS 17 ¶ 2.

[29] See AS 17 ¶ 3(a).

ORDER

information presented in the supplemental information.[30] The auditor's report should also include a statement that, in forming the auditor's opinion, the auditor evaluated whether the supplemental information, including its form and content, complies, in all material respects, with the specified regulatory requirements or other applicable criteria.[31]

30. The Firm and Bruno failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence regarding the supplemental information in the supporting schedule – Statement of Net Capital pursuant to SEC Rule 15c3-1 – that accompanied BVS's 2015 financial statements. In performing procedures to report on BVS's net capital computation, the Firm and Bruno failed to identify and assess the risk of material misstatements in order to determine the nature, timing, and extent of the audit procedures necessary to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to support its report on BVS's supporting schedule, including the report on BVS's compliance with Commission rules requiring BVS to maintain a sufficient amount of net capital liquidity ("Net Capital Rule").[32] The engagement team relied on management's representations and failed to perform any procedures to determine whether BVS's assessment of allowable and non-allowable assets included in BVS's net capital computation and BVS's reported minimum net capital requirement complied with the Net Capital Rule.

31. The Firm's audit report on BVS's financial statements and supporting schedule failed to include statements that (a) the audit procedures performed included testing the completeness and accuracy of the information presented in the supplemental information and (b) the auditor, in forming the auditor's opinion, evaluated whether the supplemental information, including its form and content, complied in all material respects with Rule 17a-5.

32. As a result, the Firm and Bruno violated AS 17.

---

[30] See AS 17 ¶ 10(d).

[31] See AS 17 ¶ 10(e).

[32] See 17 C.F.R. § 240.15c3-1, Net Capital Requirements for Brokers or Dealers ("Rule 15c3-1" or the "Net Capital Rule").

ORDER

Audit Documentation Violations

33. The PCAOB's audit documentation standard, AS 3, requires, among other things, that a complete and final set of audit documentation be assembled for retention by the "documentation completion date", a date no later than 45 days from the date on which the auditor grants permission to use its report. The standard also requires the auditor to identify all significant findings or issues in an engagement completion document.[33]

34. The Firm and Bruno violated AS 3 by failing to (a) prepare an engagement completion document and (b) assemble a complete and final set of audit documentation by the documentation completion date.

D. Gutierrez Violated PCAOB Rules and Auditing Standards in Connection with the Engagement Quality Review for the Audit

35. Auditing Standard No. 7, Engagement Quality Review, requires that an engagement quality review be performed on all audits, interim reviews, and attestation engagements conducted pursuant to PCAOB standards.[34]

36. Moreover, under AS 7, the engagement quality reviewer may provide concurring approval of issuance for an audit report only if, after performing with due professional care the review required by AS 7, he or she is not aware of a significant engagement deficiency.[35] AS 7 states that a significant engagement deficiency in an audit exists under any of the following four circumstances: "(1) the engagement team failed to obtain sufficient appropriate evidence in accordance with the standards of the PCAOB, (2) the engagement team reached an inappropriate overall conclusion on the subject matter of the engagement, (3) the engagement report is not appropriate in the circumstances, or (4) the firm is not independent of its client."[36]

37. An engagement quality reviewer should review the engagement team's evaluation of the firm's independence in relation to the engagement.[37] The engagement

---

[33] See AS 3 ¶ 13.

[34] See AS 7 ¶ 1.

[35] Id. ¶¶ 12, 18B.

[36] Id. ¶ 12, Note.

[37] Id. ¶ 10(d).

quality reviewer should also evaluate the significant judgments made by the engagement team and the related conclusions reached in forming the overall conclusion on the engagement and in preparing the engagement report.[38] In performing an engagement quality review for an audit, the engagement quality reviewer should, among other things, evaluate the engagement team's assessment of, and audit responses to, significant risks, including fraud risks, identified by the engagement team or other significant risks identified by the engagement quality reviewer.[39] The engagement quality reviewer should also evaluate whether the engagement documentation that he or she reviewed indicates that the engagement team responded appropriately to significant risks and whether the engagement documentation reviewed supports the conclusions reached by the engagement team with respect to matters reviewed.[40] Finally, the engagement quality reviewer should review the engagement completion document.[41]

38. In performing the engagement quality review, Gutierrez failed to properly evaluate the significant judgments made, and the related conclusions reached, by the engagement team with respect to significant areas of the Audit, including risk assessment, revenue, accounts receivable, and auditor independence.

39. First, Gutierrez failed to review the engagement team's evaluation of the firm's independence with respect to this engagement.[42] The evaluation included information indicating that the Firm prepared BVS's financial statements during the 2015 audit and professional engagement period which impaired the Firm's independence.

40. Second, Gutierrez failed to properly evaluate the significant judgments made, and the related conclusions reached, by the engagement team with respect to risk assessment.[43] For example, Gutierrez failed to identify the engagement team's failure to presume improper revenue recognition as a fraud risk, or that risk assessment procedures should be performed on BVS's supplemental information. He also failed to

---

[38] Id. ¶¶ 9, 18A.

[39] Id. ¶ 10(b).

[40] Id. ¶ 11.

[41] Id. ¶¶ 10(e), 18A.

[42] Id. ¶ 10(d).

[43] Id. ¶ 10(b).

ORDER

evaluate whether the engagement documentation he reviewed indicated that (a) the engagement team responded appropriately to the significant risks; and (b) supported the conclusions reached by the engagement team.[44]

41. Third, Gutierrez failed to properly evaluate the significant judgments made and related conclusions reached, by the engagement team with respect to revenue and AR.[45] Gutierrez failed to review the audit procedures performed with respect to revenue and AR. Indeed, the sole evidence in the Firm's audit file of any work performed by Gutierrez is a Supervision, Review, and Approval Form. This work paper is simply a checklist in which Gutierrez checked "Yes" to 7 statements that referenced AICPA Quality Control Standards with no references to other work papers or to PCAOB engagement quality review standards.

42. Gutierrez provided his concurring approval of issuance without performing the engagement quality review with due professional care and, accordingly, violated AS 7.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondents' Offers. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), VanDuyne Bruno & Co., P.A., Anthony Bruno, CPA, and Jack Gutierrez CPA, are hereby censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(A) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(1), the registration of VanDuyne Bruno & Co., P.A. is revoked;

C. After two (2) years from the date of this Order, VanDuyne Bruno & Co., P.A. may reapply for registration by filing an application pursuant to PCAOB Rule 2101;

---

[44] Id. ¶ 11.

[45] Id. ¶ 10(a).

ORDER

D. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(B) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(2), Anthony Bruno, CPA is barred from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm, as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i);[46]

E. After two (2) years from the date of this Order, Anthony Bruno, CPA may file a petition, pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5302(b), for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm;

F. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(B) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(2), Jack Gutierrez, CPA is barred from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm, as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i);[47]

G. After one (1) year from the date of this Order, Jack Gutierrez, CPA may file a petition, pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5302(b), for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm;

H. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of $10,000 is imposed upon VanDuyne Bruno & Co., P.A. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of this civil money penalty will be used in accordance

---

[46] As a consequence of the bar, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act will apply with respect to Bruno. Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act provides that "[i]t shall be unlawful for any person that is suspended or barred from being associated with a registered public accounting firm under this subsection willfully to become or remain associated with any issuer, broker, or dealer in an accountancy or a financial management capacity, and for any issuer, broker, or dealer that knew, or in the exercise of reasonable care should have known, of such suspension or bar, to permit such an association, without the consent of the Board or the Commission."

[47] As a consequence of the bar, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act will apply with respect to Gutierrez. Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act provides that "[i]t shall be unlawful for any person that is suspended or barred from being associated with a registered public accounting firm under this subsection willfully to become or remain associated with any issuer, broker, or dealer in an accountancy or a financial management capacity, and for any issuer, broker, or dealer that knew, or in the exercise of reasonable care should have known, of such suspension or bar, to permit such an association, without the consent of the Board or the Commission."

ORDER

with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. VanDuyne Bruno & Co., P.A. shall pay the civil money penalty within 10 days of the issuance of this Order by (1) wire transfer in accordance with instructions furnished by Board staff; or (2) United States Postal Service money order, bank money order, certified check, or bank cashier's check (a) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, (b) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, and (c) submitted under a cover letter, which identifies the payor as a respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB release number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe W. Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

_____

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

November 28, 2017

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street NW
Washington, DC 20006
Office: (202) 207-9100
Fax: (202) 862-8430
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS	PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-045
In the Matter of Peter D. Willner, CPA and Peter Willner, CPA,	December 13, 2017
Respondents.

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("Board" or "PCAOB") is censuring the registered public accounting firm Peter D. Willner, CPA ("Firm"), revoking the Firm's registration,[1] and imposing a $10,000 civil money penalty on the Firm; and censuring Peter Willner, CPA ("Willner") and barring him from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm.[2] The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that the Firm and Willner (collectively, "Respondents") violated PCAOB rules and standards in connection with six of the Firm's audits and reviews for two broker-dealer audit clients.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted against Respondents pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended ("Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1).

II.

In anticipation of institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondents have each submitted an Offer of Settlement (collectively, "Offers") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the facts contained in paragraphs 13-14 and 18-19, and the Board's jurisdiction over them and the subject matter of these proceedings, which are admitted,

[1] The Firm may reapply for registration after one (1) year from the date of this Order.

[2] Willner may file a petition for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm after one (1) year from the date of this Order.

ORDER

Respondents consent to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[3]

III.

On the basis of Respondents' Offers, the Board finds that:[4]

A. Respondents

1. Peter D. Willner, CPA is a sole proprietorship organized under the laws of the state of New York with headquarters in Saddle River, New Jersey. The Firm is not licensed. The Firm is, and at all relevant times was, registered with the Board pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules. At all relevant times, it was the external auditor for the two broker-dealers identified below.

2. Peter Willner, CPA, age 73, of Saddle River, New Jersey is a certified public accountant licensed under the laws of the State of New York (License No. 31225). He is the sole owner of the Firm and was the engagement partner on the audits and reviews at issue herein. He is, and at all relevant times was, an "associated person of a registered public accounting firm" as that phrase is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

B. Summary

3. This matter concerns the Firm's violations of Auditing Standard No. 7, Engagement Quality Review ("AS 7"), in connection with six audits and reviews for two broker-dealer audit clients.[5] The violations arise from the Firm's failure to obtain

---

[3] The findings herein are made pursuant to Respondents' Offers and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

[4] The Board finds that Respondents' conduct described in this Order meets the conditions set out in Section 105(c)(5) of the Act, 15 U.S.C. § 7215(c)(5), which provides that certain sanctions may be imposed in the event of (1) intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, that results in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard; or (2) repeated instances of negligent conduct, each resulting in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard.

[5] All references to PCAOB standards and rules are to the versions of those standards and rules in effect at the time of the relevant audits and reviews. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its auditing standards using a topical engagement quality reviews and concurring approvals of issuance in connection with the Firm's audits of the 2014, 2015, and 2016 financial statements and accompanying supplemental information ("Audits") of Trade Manage Capital, Inc. ("Trade Manage Capital") and Bettinger & Leech Financial Corp. ("Bettinger & Leech"). The violations also arise from the Firm's failure to obtain engagement quality reviews and concurring approvals of issuance in connection with the Firm's reviews of the statements made in exemption reports ("Exemption Report Reviews") prepared by Trade Manage Capital for 2014, 2015, and 2016, and Bettinger & Leech for 2015.

ORDER

4. In addition, Willner violated PCAOB Rule 3502, Responsibility Not to Knowingly or Recklessly Contribute to Violations, because he took actions that he knew, or was reckless in not knowing, would directly and substantially contribute to the Firm's violations of AS 7.

5. This matter also concerns Respondents' violations of Auditing Standard No. 3, Audit Documentation ("AS 3"), in connection with the Audits and Exemption Report Reviews. These violations arise from Respondents' failures to prepare and retain audit documentation containing sufficient information to enable an experienced auditor, having no previous connection with the engagement, to understand the nature, timing, extent, and results of the procedures performed and conclusions reached. In addition, they arise from Respondents' failures to document any audit planning or risk assessment procedures and responses to risks of misstatement, and prepare an engagement completion document.

C. Respondents Violated PCAOB Rules and Standards

6. In connection with the preparation or issuance of an audit or review report for a broker-dealer, PCAOB rules require a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons to comply with the Board's auditing and related professional practice standards.[6] structure and a single, integrated numbering system. Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Rel. No. 2015-002 (Mar. 31, 2015); see also PCAOB Auditing Standards Reorganized and Pre-Reorganized Numbering (Jan. 2017), https://pcaobus.org/Standards/Auditing/Documents/ReorganizedandPreReorganizedNumbering.pdf.

---

[6] PCAOB Rules 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards; 3200T, Interim Auditing Standards.

ORDER

7. AS 7 requires an engagement quality review and concurring approval of issuance in connection with an audit engagement conducted pursuant to PCAOB standards.[7] It also requires an engagement quality review and concurring approval of issuance in connection with an attestation engagement performed pursuant to Attestation Standard No. 2, Review Engagements Regarding Exemption Reports of Brokers and Dealers ("AT 2"),[8] to review the statements made by a broker-dealer in an exemption report ("Exemption Report") prepared pursuant to Securities and Exchange Act of 1934 Rule ("Exchange Act Rule") 17a-5, 17 C.F.R. § 240.17a-5. AS 7 provides further that a firm may grant permission to a client to use the engagement reports from such audits and reviews only after an engagement quality reviewer provides concurring approval of issuance.[9]

8. AS 3 requires an auditor to prepare and retain audit documentation in connection with each engagement conducted pursuant to PCAOB standards.[10] Audit documentation includes records of the planning and performance of the engagement,[11] and should be prepared in sufficient detail to provide a clear understanding of its purpose, its source, and the conclusions reached.[12] The auditor must document the procedures performed, evidence obtained, and conclusions reached with respect to relevant financial statement assertions.[13] The audit documentation must clearly demonstrate that the work was in fact performed, and contain sufficient information to enable an experienced auditor, having no previous connection with the engagement, to understand the nature, timing, extent, and results of the procedures performed,

---

7 AS 7 ¶ 1.

8 Id.

9 Id. ¶¶ 13, 18C.

10 AS 3 ¶¶ 4, 14.

11 Id. ¶ 2.

12 Id. ¶ 4.

13 Id. ¶ 6. See also id. n.2 ("In an engagement conducted pursuant to [AT 2] the relevant assertions are the assertions expressed by management or the responsible party regarding the subject matter of the attestation engagement. The documentation requirements in this standard regarding assertions apply to the aspects of the subject matter to which the assertions relate.").

ORDER

evidence obtained and conclusions reached.[14] In addition, the auditor must identify all significant findings or issues in an engagement completion document.[15]

9. PCAOB Rule 3502 prohibits an associated person of a registered public accounting firm from taking or omitting to take an action knowing, or recklessly not knowing, that the act or omission would directly and substantially contribute to a violation by that registered public accounting firm of the Act, rules of the Board, the provisions of the securities laws relating to the preparation and issuance of audit reports and the obligations and liabilities of accountants with respect thereto, including the rules of the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission ("Commission") issued under the Act, or professional standards.

10. As described below, Respondents failed to comply with these PCAOB rules and standards.

The Trade Manage Capital 2014-2016 Audits and Exemption Report Reviews

11. At all relevant times, Trade Manage Capital was a broker-dealer incorporated in the state of New York with a principal place of business in Saddle Brook, New Jersey. Its public filings disclose that it is organized to be active in various aspects of the securities industry. It claims it is an introducing broker-dealer exempt from the customer protection requirements of Exchange Act Rule 15c3-3, 17 C.F.R. § 240.15c3-3.[16] At all relevant times, Trade Manage Capital was a "broker" and a "dealer" as those terms are defined in Sections 110(3) and 110(4) of the Act, and PCAOB Rules 1001(b)(iii) and 1001(d)(iii).

12. The Firm audited Trade Manage Capital's financial statements and accompanying supplemental information as of December 31, 2014, December 31, 2015, and December 31, 2016. The Firm reviewed the statements made by Trade Manage Capital in its Exemption Reports for fiscal years 2014, 2015, and 2016. Willner was the engagement partner for these audits and reviews. He authorized the Firm's issuance of audit and review reports to Trade Manage Capital on February 15, 2015, February 15, 2016, and February 17, 2017, respectively. Trade Manage Capital included the Firm's audit and review reports in Forms X-17A-5 Part III filed with the Commission on April 20, 2015, March 1, 2016, and March 15, 2017, respectively.

---

[14] Id. ¶ 6.

[15] Id. ¶ 13.

[16] See Exchange Act Rule 15c3-3(k)(2)(ii). It also claims it is exempt under Exchange Act Rule 15c3-3(k)(2)(i).

ORDER

13. Without having obtained engagement quality reviews and concurring approvals of issuance as required by AS 7, the Firm granted permission to Trade Manage Capital to use its audit and review reports. As a result, the Firm violated AS 7.[17]

14. Willner was the sole owner of the Firm and the engagement partner for the Firm's audits and reviews for Trade Manage Capital. He had overall responsibility for ensuring that the Firm complied with PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the audits and reviews. He authorized the Firm's issuance of audit and review reports for use by Trade Manage Capital without obtaining engagement quality reviews and concurring approvals of issuance. Accordingly, Willner knew, or was reckless in not knowing, that he was directly and substantially contributing to the Firm's violations of AS 7. As a result, he violated PCAOB Rule 3502.

15. Willner prepared the audit documentation for the Firm's audits and reviews for Trade Manage Capital. The audit documentation he prepared and retained consists primarily of documents obtained from Trade Manage Capital on which he recorded tick marks and other notations that do not provide sufficient information to enable an experienced auditor, having no previous connection with the engagement, to understand the nature, timing, extent, and results of the procedures performed and conclusions reached.[18] The audit documentation fails to document any audit planning, or risk assessment procedures and responses to risks of misstatement.[19] In addition, it does not clearly demonstrate that the audit work was in fact performed or include an engagement completion document.[20] As a result, Respondents violated AS 3.

The Bettinger & Leech 2014-2016 Audits and 2015 Exemption Report Review

16. At all relevant times, Bettinger & Leech was a broker-dealer incorporated in the state of Delaware with a principal place of business in Englewood Cliffs, New Jersey. Its public filings disclose that it was formed to engage primarily in securities brokerage activities. It claims it is an introducing broker-dealer exempt from the customer protection requirements of Exchange Act Rule 15c3-3.[21] At all relevant times,

---

17 See AS 7 ¶¶ 1, 13, 18C.

18 See AS 3 ¶ 6.

19 See id. ¶¶ 2, 9A.

20 See id. ¶¶ 6, 13.

21 See Exchange Act Rule 15c3-3(k)(2)(ii).

ORDER

Bettinger & Leech was a "broker" and a "dealer" as those terms are defined in Sections 110(3) and 110(4) of the Act and PCAOB Rules 1001(b)(iii) and 1001(d)(iii).

17. The Firm audited Bettinger & Leech's financial statements and accompanying supplemental information as of December 31, 2014, December 31, 2015, and December 31, 2016. The Firm reviewed the statements made by Bettinger & Leech in its Exemption Report for fiscal year 2015. Willner was the engagement partner for these audits and this review. He authorized the Firm's issuance of audit reports to Bettinger & Leech on February 14, 2015, February 14, 2016, and February 20, 2017, respectively, and a review report on February 14, 2016. Bettinger & Leech included the Firm's audit reports in Forms X-17A-5 Part III filed with the Commission on March 4, 2015, February 25, 2016, and March 1, 2017, respectively, and the Firm's review report in the abovementioned form filed on February 25, 2016.

18. Without having obtained engagement quality reviews and concurring approvals of issuance as required by AS 7, the Firm granted permission to Bettinger & Leech to use its audit and review reports. As a result, the Firm violated AS 7.[22]

19. Willner was the sole owner of the Firm and the engagement partner for the audits and review for Bettinger & Leech. He had overall responsibility for ensuring that the Firm complied with PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the audits and review. He authorized the Firm's issuance of audit and review reports for use by Bettinger & Leech without obtaining engagement quality reviews and concurring approvals of issuance. Accordingly, Willner knew, or was reckless in not knowing, that he was directly and substantially contributing to the Firm's violations of AS 7. As a result, he violated PCAOB Rule 3502.

20. Willner prepared the audit documentation for the Firm's audits and review for Bettinger & Leech. The audit documentation he prepared and retained consists primarily of documents obtained from Bettinger & Leech on which he recorded tick marks and other notations that do not provide sufficient information to enable an experienced auditor, having no previous connection with the engagement, to understand the nature, timing, extent, and results of the procedures performed and conclusions reached.[23] The audit documentation fails to document any audit planning, or risk assessment procedures and responses to risks of misstatement.[24] In addition, it

---

[22] See AS 7 ¶¶ 1, 13, 18C.

[23] See AS 3 ¶ 6.

[24] See id. ¶¶ 2, 9A.

ORDER

does not clearly demonstrate that the audit work was in fact performed or include an engagement completion document.[25] As a result, Respondents violated AS 3.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit and review reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondents' Offers. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), Peter D. Willner, CPA, a registered public accounting firm, and Peter Willner, CPA, the Firm's sole owner, are censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(A) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(1), the registration of Peter D. Willner, CPA is revoked;

C. Pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5302(a), after one (1) year from the date of the Order, Peter D. Willner, CPA may reapply for registration by filing an application pursuant to PCAOB Rule 2101;

D. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(B) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(2), Peter Willner, CPA is barred from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm, as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i);[26]

---

[25] See id. ¶¶ 6, 13.

[26] As a consequence of the bar, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act will apply with respect to Peter Willner, CPA. Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act provides: "It shall be unlawful for any person that is suspended or barred from being associated with a registered public accounting firm under this subsection willfully to become or remain associated with any issuer, broker, or dealer in an accountancy or a financial management capacity, and for any issuer, broker, or dealer that knew, or in the exercise of reasonable care should have known, of such suspension or bar, to permit such an association, without the consent of the Board or the Commission."

ORDER

E. Pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5302(b), after one (1) year from the date of this Order, Peter Willner, CPA may file a petition for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm; and

F. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of $10,000 is imposed upon Peter D. Willner, CPA, a registered public accounting firm. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of this civil money penalty will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. Peter D. Willner, CPA shall pay the civil money penalty within ten (10) days of the issuance of this Order by (1) wire transfer pursuant to instructions provided by Board staff; or (2) United States Postal Service money order, bank money order, certified check, or bank cashier's check (a) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, (b) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006, and (c) submitted under a cover letter that identifies Peter D. Willner, CPA as a Respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB release number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to the Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe W. Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

_____

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

December 13, 2017

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street NW
Washington, DC 20006
Office: (202) 207-9100
Fax: (202) 862-8430
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of Weld Asia Associates and Tan Chin Huat, Chartered Accountant, Respondents.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-046 December 13, 2017

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (the "Board" or "PCAOB") is (1) censuring Weld Asia Associates ("Weld Asia" or the "Firm"), revoking the Firm's registration, and imposing a civil money penalty in the amount of $20,000 upon the Firm;[1] and (2) censuring Tan Chin Huat, Chartered Accountant ("Tan Chin Huat"), and barring him from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm.[2] The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that: (a) the Firm and Tan Chin Huat (collectively, "Respondents") violated PCAOB rules and standards in connection with audits of seven issuer clients, including rules and standards concerning independence, engagement quality reviews and audit documentation; (b) the Firm violated Section 10(b) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 ("Exchange Act"), and Rule 10b-5 thereunder, in one issuer audit; (c) the Firm violated PCAOB quality control standards; (d) the Firm failed to timely disclose certain reportable events to the Board on PCAOB Form 3, Special Reports, in violation of PCAOB rules, and (e) Tan Chin Huat directly and substantially contributed to the Firm's violations of the Exchange Act, Rule 10b-5, quality control standards, and certain auditing standards.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted

[1] The Firm may reapply for registration after five (5) years from the date of this Order.

[2] Tan Chin Huat may file a petition for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm after five (5) years from the date of this Order.

ORDER

pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondents.

II.

In anticipation of institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondents have each submitted an Offer of Settlement (the "Offers") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the facts contained in paragraphs 8-32 and 39-48, the Board's jurisdiction over them and the subject matter of these proceedings, which are admitted, Respondents consent to the entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[3]

III.

On the basis of Respondents' Offers, the Board finds that:[4]

A. Respondents

1. Weld Asia Associates is a partnership organized under the laws of Malaysia, and headquartered in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia. The Firm is licensed by the Malaysia Institute of Accountants (license no. AF002026). The Firm is registered with the PCAOB, pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB Rules. At all relevant times the Firm was the external auditor for the issuers identified below.

2. Tan Chin Huat, age 50, of Rawang, Selangor, Malaysia, at all relevant times was a partner of the firm. Tan Chin Huat was also the managing partner of the

[3] The findings herein are made pursuant to Respondents' Offers and are not binding on any other persons or entities in this or any other proceeding.

[4] The Board finds that Respondents' conduct described in this Order meets the conditions set out in Section 105(c)(5) of the Act, 15 U.S.C. § 7215(c)(5), which provides that certain sanctions may be imposed in the event of (1) intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, that results in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard; or (2) repeated instances of negligent conduct, each resulting in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard.

ORDER

Firm from at least January 1, 2013 to September 30, 2016, and held ultimate responsibility for the Firm's adopting and maintaining an adequate system of quality control during that period. Tan Chin Huat is a Chartered Accountant with the Malaysian Institute of Accountants (member no. 10081) and is licensed to perform auditing services by the Malaysian Ministry of Finance (license No. 2037/06/18(J)). Tan Chin Huat is an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

B. Summary

3. This matter concerns the Firm's violations of PCAOB rules and standards that require a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons to be independent of the firm's issuer audit clients throughout the audit and professional engagement period. During the audits for five issuers, the Firm was not independent because directors and substantial owners of an associated entity of the Firm also served as directors and officers of the issuer audit clients or affiliated entities of the issuer audit clients in a decision-making capacity. Respondents nevertheless authorized and issued audit reports on those issuers' financial statements, in which the Firm purported to be independent.

4. This matter also concerns the Firm's violation of Section 10(b) of the Exchange Act[5] and Rule 10b-5 by issuing an audit report on the financial statements of Odenza Corp. for the year ended January 31, 2012, stating that the audit has been performed in accordance with PCAOB standards when it knew, or was reckless in not knowing, that the statement was false. Tan Chin Huat took or omitted to take actions that he knew, or was reckless in not knowing, would directly and substantially contribute to the Firm's violations of Section 10(b) and Rule 10b-5, and thereby violated PCAOB Rule 3502, Responsibility Not to Knowingly or Recklessly Contribute to Violations.

5. In addition, this matter concerns Respondents' failures to obtain required engagement quality reviews, their failure to comply with the "cooling-off" requirements

---

[5] 78 U.S.C. § 78j(b). All references to laws, regulations, and PCAOB rules and standards are to the versions of those laws, regulations, and PCAOB rules and standards in effect at the time of the relevant conduct. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its auditing standards using a topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Release No. 2015-002 (Mar. 31, 2015); see also PCAOB Auditing Standards Reorganized and Pre Reorganized Numbering (January 2017).

ORDER

for the engagement quality reviewer, and their failure to prepare and retain appropriate audit documentation.

6. This matter also concerns the Firm's failure to comply with PCAOB quality control standards, and Tan Chin Huat's failure to take appropriate steps to establish and monitor an appropriate system of quality control for the Firm.

7. Finally, this matter concerns the Firm's failure to comply with PCAOB Rule 2203, Special Reports, by failing to timely report disciplinary action against one of its audit partners.

C. Respondents Violated PCAOB Rules and Standards Relating to Auditor Independence

8. In connection with the preparation or issuance of an audit report, PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons comply with all applicable auditing and related professional practice standards.[6] PCAOB standards also provide that due professional care is to be exercised in the planning and performance of the audit and the preparation of the audit report.[7]

9. PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons be independent of the firm's audit client throughout the audit and professional engagement period.[8] A registered public accounting firm or an associated person's independence obligation with respect to an audit client that is an issuer encompasses not only an obligation to satisfy the independence criteria set out in the rules and standards of the PCAOB, but also an obligation to satisfy all other independence criteria applicable to the engagement, including the independence criteria

---

[6] PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards ("PCAOB Rule 3100"); PCAOB Rule 3200T, Interim Auditing Standards ("PCAOB Rule 3200T").

[7] See AU § 150.02, Generally Accepted Auditing Standards; AU § 230, Due Professional Care in the Performance of Work; see also Auditing Standard No. 13, The Auditor's Responses to the Risks of Material Misstatement ("AS 13"), at ¶ 7.

[8] See PCAOB Rule 3520, Auditor Independence; see also AU § 220, Independence.

ORDER

set out in the rules and regulations of the Securities and Exchange Commission ("Commission") under the federal securities laws.[9]

10. Rule 2-01 of Commission Regulation S-X[10] ("Rule 2-01") provides, among other things, that "[a]n accountant is not independent if, at any point during the audit and professional engagement period, the accounting firm or any covered person in the firm has any direct or material indirect business relationship with an audit client, or with persons associated with the audit client in a decision-making capacity, such as an audit client's officers, directors, or substantial stockholders."[11] Rule 2-01 also provides that "[a]n accountant is not independent if, at any point during the audit and professional engagement period, the accountant has an employment relationship with the audit client, such as . . . [a] current partner, principal, shareholder or professional employee of the accounting firm is employed by the audit client or serves as a member of the board of directors or similar management or governing body of the audit client."[12]

11. For purposes of Rule 2-01, the "[a]udit and professional engagement period includes both: (i) The period covered by any financial statements being audited or reviewed (the 'audit period'); and (ii) The period of the engagement to audit or review the audit client's financial statements or to prepare a report filed with the Commission (the 'professional engagement period') . . . ."[13] References to the "accounting firm" in Rule 2-01 include, among others, the firm's parents, subsidiaries and associated entities.[14] References to the "audit client" in Rule 2-01 include "affiliates of the audit client."[15]

---

9 See PCAOB Rule 3520, Note 1.

10 17 C.F.R. § 210.2-01.

11 Rule 2-01(c)(3).

12 Rule 2-01(c)(2)(i).

13 Rule 2-01(f)(5).

14 See Rule 2-01(f)(2).

15 See Rule 2-01(f)(6); Rule 2-01(f)(4).

ORDER

12. The engagement partner on an audit is responsible for the engagement and its performance,[16] including the planning of the audit[17] and compliance with PCAOB standards.[18] As part of the planning activities at the beginning of the audit, the auditor should determine compliance with independence and ethics requirements.[19]

13. As discussed, below, Weld Asia failed to satisfy the auditor independence criteria set forth in Rule 2-01 when auditing the financial statements of: (a) Odenza Corp. ("Odenza") for the years ended January 31, 2013, 2014, 2015 and 2016; (b) Greenpro Capital Corp. ("Greenpro") for the years ended October 31, 2013 and 2014; (c) DSwiss Inc. ("DSwiss") for the years ended December 31, 2013, 2014, and 2015; (d) CGN Nanotech, Inc. ("CGN") for the year ended December 31, 2014; and (e) Rito Group Corp. ("Rito") for the year ended June 30, 2015. Specifically, Weld Asia was not independent during those audits because directors of Weld Asia CPA (HK) Limited (hereinafter "Weld HK"), an associated entity of the Firm, were serving as directors and officers of the Firm's issuer audit clients, or of affiliated entities of issuer audit clients in a decision-making capacity, during the audit and professional engagement period.

Weld Asia and Weld Asia CPA (HK) Limited

14. At all relevant times, Weld Asia has operated as an associated entity of an accounting firm in Hong Kong, PRC, named Weld Asia CPA (HK) Limited (hereinafter "Weld HK"). Both firms use the same Weld Asia trademark. In its audit work papers for the first audit it performed for Odenza, Weld Asia documented that Weld HK was its "affiliated firm." At various times, from at least 2013 and continuing into 2016, both Weld Asia and Weld HK issued invoices identifying that the firms were associated entities with one another, including invoices for some of the audits discussed below. Weld Asia also directed some of its issuer clients to remit payment for Weld Asia services to Weld HK, including fees for some of the audits discussed below.

15. From at least July 20, 2011, through July 3, 2015, Weld HK was substantially or wholly owned by individuals—"Person A" and "Person B"—who were

---

[16] See Auditing Standard No. 9, Audit Planning ("AS 9"), at ¶ 3; Auditing Standard No. 10, Supervision of the Audit Engagement ("AS 10"), at ¶ 3.

[17] See AS 9 ¶ 3.

[18] See AS 10 ¶ 3.

[19] See AS 9 ¶ 6(b).

ORDER

also associated with the issuer audit clients identified in paragraph 13.[20] Person A and Person B were also directors of Weld HK. Person A was a director of Weld HK from July 20, 2011 to June 18, 2014. Person B was a director of Weld HK from January 1, 2012 to July 3, 2015.

Odenza Audits

16. Odenza was, at all relevant times, a Nevada corporation with its principal executive office in Selangor, Malaysia. Odenza's public filings disclosed that it was "an exploration stage company engaged in the business of acquiring mineral exploration rights throughout Asia, exploring for commercially producible quantities of minerals, and exploiting any mineral deposits we discover that demonstrate economic feasibility." At all relevant times, Odenza was an issuer as that term is defined by Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

17. Weld Asia served as the auditor for Odenza's January 31, 2013, 2014, 2015 and 2016 financial statements. Weld Asia issued an audit report expressing an unqualified opinion on the 2013 financial statements, dated April 26, 2013, which was included in a Form 10-K that Odenza filed with the Commission. Weld Asia issued an audit report expressing an unqualified opinion on the 2014 financial statements, dated April 16, 2014, which was included in a Form 10-K that Odenza filed with the Commission. Weld Asia issued an audit report expressing an unqualified opinion on the 2015 financial statements, dated April 20, 2015, which was included in a Form 10-K that Odenza filed with the Commission. Weld Asia issued an audit report expressing an unqualified opinion on the 2016 financial statements, dated April 15, 2016, which was included in a Form 10-K that Odenza filed with the Commission.

18. During the audit and professional engagement period for those audits, Person A served as the CFO, treasurer and a director of Odenza, and Person B served as a director of Odenza, while Person A and/or Person B were also serving as directors and owners of Weld HK. As a result, the Firm did not satisfy the applicable independence criteria and thereby violated PCAOB rules and standards.[21]

---

[20] Person A owned 50% of Weld HK from July 20, 2011 to July 28, 2014. Person B owned 50% of Weld HK from March 15, 2012 to September 25, 2014, and 99.9% of Weld HK from September 25, 2014 to July 3, 2015.

[21] See Rule 3520; AU § 220.

ORDER

Greenpro Audits

19. Greenpro was, at all relevant times, a Nevada corporation with its principal executive office in Hong Kong, PRC. Greenpro's public filings disclosed that it was a development stage company with "plan[s] to provide cloud system resolution, financial consulting services and corporate accounting services to small and mid-size businesses located in Asia, with an initial focus on Hong Kong and Malaysia." At all relevant times, Greenpro was an issuer as that term is defined by Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

20. Weld Asia served as the auditor for Greenpro's October 31, 2013 and 2014 financial statements. Weld Asia issued an audit report expressing an unqualified opinion on the 2013 financial statements, dated November 28, 2013, which was included in a Form S-1 and three Forms S-1/A that Greenpro filed with the Commission. Weld Asia issued an audit report expressing an unqualified opinion on the 2014 financial statements, dated January 23, 2015, which was included in a Form 10-K that Greenpro filed with the Commission.

21. During the audit and professional engagement period for those audits, Person A and Person B were the majority shareholders of Greenpro, Person A served as the CEO, president and a director of Greenpro, and Person B served as the CFO, treasurer, secretary and a director of Greenpro, while also serving as directors and owners of Weld HK. As a result, the Firm did not satisfy the applicable independence criteria and thereby violated PCAOB rules and standards.[22]

DSwiss Audits

22. DSwiss was, at all relevant times, a Nevada corporation with its principal executive office in Selangor, Malaysia. DSwiss's public filings disclosed that it was "a beauty supply company that sells cosmetics and other related beauty products to consumers in Malaysia with plans to expand throughout the world." At all relevant times, DSwiss was an issuer as that term is defined by Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

23. Weld Asia served as the auditor for DSwiss's December 31, 2013, 2014 and 2015 financial statements. Weld Asia issued an audit report expressing an unqualified opinion on the 2013 and 2014 financial statements, dated November 12, 2015, which was included in a Form S-1 and two Forms S-1/A that DSwiss filed with the [22] See Rule 3520; AU § 220.

ORDER

Commission. Weld Asia issued an audit report expressing an unqualified opinion on the 2015 financial statements, dated March 25, 2016, which was included in five Forms S-1/A that DSwiss filed with the Commission.

24. Greenpro was a substantial shareholder in DSwiss through its subsidiary Greenpro Venture Capital Ltd (Anguilla) ("Greenpro Venture Capital"). During the audit and professional engagement period for those audits, Person A and Person B were the majority shareholders of Greenpro, Person A served as the CEO, president and a director of Greenpro, and Person B served as the CFO, treasurer, secretary and a director of Greenpro, while Person A and/or Person B were also serving as directors and owners of Weld HK. As a result, the Firm did not satisfy the applicable independence criteria and thereby violated PCAOB rules and standards.[23]

CGN Audit

25. CGN was, at all relevant times, a Nevada corporation with its principal executive office in Hong Kong, PRC. CGN's public filings disclosed that it was the exclusive global sales and distributor for lighting products produced by PRC-based Dongguan Light Power New Energy S&T Co. Ltd. At all relevant times, CGN was an issuer as that term is defined by Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

26. Weld Asia served as the auditor for CGN's December 31, 2014 financial statements. Weld Asia issued an audit report expressing an unqualified opinion on those financial statements, dated March 2, 2015, which was included in a Form S-1 and two Forms S-1/A that CGN filed with the Commission.

27. During the audit and professional engagement period for that audit, Person B served as the CFO, treasurer, secretary and a director of CGN, while also serving as a director and 99.9% owner of Weld HK. As a result, the Firm did not satisfy the applicable independence criteria and thereby violated PCAOB rules and standards.[24]

Rito Audit

28. Rito was, at all relevant times, a Nevada corporation with its principal executive office in Hong Kong, PRC. Rito's public filings disclosed that it was engaged

---

[23] See Rule 3520; AU § 220.

[24] See Rule 3520; AU § 220.

ORDER

in "the sale of miscellaneous retail goods." At all relevant times, Rito was an issuer as that term is defined by Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

29. Weld Asia served as the auditor for Rito's June 30, 2015 financial statements. Weld Asia issued an audit report expressing an unqualified opinion on those financial statements, dated August 7, 2015, which was included in a Form S-1 and six Forms S-1/A that Rito filed with the Commission.

30. Greenpro was a substantial shareholder in Rito through its subsidiary Greenpro Venture Capital. During the audit and professional engagement period for those audits, Person B was the CFO, treasurer, secretary, and a substantial shareholder and director of Greenpro, while Person B was also serving as a director and 99.9% owner of Weld HK. As a result, the Firm did not satisfy the applicable independence criteria and thereby violated PCAOB rules and standards.[25]

31. Tan Chin Huat served as the engagement partner for the audits of Odenza's FY 2013-2015 financial statements, Greenpro's FY 2013-2014 financial statements, DSwiss's FY 2013-2014 financial statements, CGN's FY 2014 financial statements, and Rito's FY 2015 financial statements, and he authorized the Firm's audit reports on those financial statements.[26] At the time of those audits, he was aware of Person A's and Person B's relationships to the issuer audit clients and to Weld HK.

32. During the audits in which he served as the engagement partner, Tan Chin Huat violated PCAOB rules and standards because he failed to exercise due professional care in determining whether the firm was in compliance with independence requirements during the audit and professional engagement periods for those audits.[27] Despite Person A's and/or Person B's relationships with the issuer audit clients and Weld HK, Tan Chin Huat and the engagement teams on those audits failed to take any steps to determine whether the Firm was in compliance with the independence criteria set forth in Rule 2-01. Tan Chin Huat also violated PCAOB Rule 3502 because he knew, or was reckless in not knowing, that he was directly and substantially contributing

---

[25] See Rule 3520; AU § 220.

[26] Another partner of Weld Asia served as the engagement partner for the audits of Odenza's FY 2016 financial statements and DSwiss's FY 2015 financial statements. See Tan Poh Ling, Chartered Accountant, PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-047 (Dec. 13, 2017).

[27] See AU § 230; AS 9 ¶ 6(b).

ORDER

to the Firm's violations of PCAOB rules and standards when he improperly authorized the issuance of the Firm's audit report regarding those financial statements.

D. The Firm Violated Section 10(b) of the Exchange Act and Rule 10b-5 Thereunder, and Tan Chin Huat Violated PCAOB Rule 3502, in Connection with the 2012 Odenza Audit

33. Section 10(b) of the Exchange Act and Commission Rule 10b-5 thereunder prohibit a person, in connection with the purchase or sale of a security, from making an untrue statement of a material fact or from omitting to state a material fact necessary to make statements made, in light of the circumstances under which they were made, not misleading.[28] To violate Section 10(b) or Rule 10b-5, a defendant must act with scienter,[29] which the Supreme Court has defined as "a mental state embracing intent to deceive, manipulate, or defraud."[30] Scienter encompasses knowing or intentional conduct, or recklessness.[31]

34. An auditor violates Section 10(b) of the Exchange Act and Commission Rule 10b-5 thereunder by issuing an audit report stating that the audit has been performed in accordance with PCAOB standards when he or she knows, or is reckless in not knowing, that the statement is false.[32] These statements are clearly material, as "[f]ew matters could be more important to investors than that of whether an issuer's financial statements, contained in its filings with the Commission, had, in fact, been

---

[28] See Section 10(b) of the Exchange Act; Exchange Act Rule 10b-5, Employment of Manipulative and Deceptive Practices, 17 C.F.R. § 240.10b-5(b).

[29] See Aaron v. SEC, 446 U.S. 680, 695, 701-02 (1980).

[30] Ernst & Ernst v. Hochfelder, 425 U.S. 185, 193 n.12 (1976).

[31] See, e.g., IIT v. Cornfeld, 619 F.2d 909, 923 (2d Cir. 1980).

[32] See Deloitte Touche Tohmatsu Auditores Independentes, PCAOB Rel. No. 105-2016-031, at *8-17 (Dec. 5, 2016); Eugene M. Egeberg III, CPA, Exchange Act Rel. No. 71348, at *7-9 (Jan. 17, 2014); Hood & Associates CPAs, P.C., PCAOB Rel. No. 105-2013-012, at *16-17 (Nov. 21, 2013); Harris F Rattray CPA, PL, PCAOB Rel. No. 105-2013-009, at *4-5 (Nov. 21, 2013); Richard P. Scalzo, CPA, Exchange Act Rel. No. 48328, 2003 WL 21938985, at *14 (Aug. 13, 2003).

ORDER

subjected to an annual audit conducted in accordance with [PCAOB standards] in all material respects."[33]

35. Odenza's financial statements for the year ended January 31, 2012, were originally audited by another PCAOB-registered accounting firm. On or about April 12, 2013, Odenza dismissed that firm, and engaged Weld Asia as its independent auditor. Weld Asia issued an audit report, dated April 26, 2013, which contained an unqualified audit opinion with respect to both Odenza's 2012 and 2013 financial statements. That report was included in a Form 10-K that Odenza filed with the Commission on April 26, 2013. Tan Chin Huat, the engagement partner, authorized the issuance of the report. The report stated, among other things, that the Firm had "audited the accompanying balance sheets of Odenza Corp. (An Exploration Stage 'Company') as of January 31, 2013 and 2012 and the related statement of operations, changes in shareholders' equity and cash flows for the years then ended January 31, 2013 and 2012." It further stated that the Firm had conducted the audit "in accordance with the standards of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States)."

36. While Weld Asia conducted audit procedures with respect to Odenza's January 31, 2013, financial statements, it failed to perform any audit procedures related Odenza's 2012 financial statements.

37. Weld Asia violated Section 10(b) of the Exchange Act and Rule 10b-5 thereunder, by issuing an audit report that falsely stated that the audit of Odenza's 2012 financial statements had been conducted in accordance with PCAOB standards when the Firm knew, or was reckless in not knowing, that it had failed to perform any audit procedures prior to the issuance of the Firm's audit report.

38. Tan Chin Huat knew, or was reckless in not knowing, that he was directly and substantially contributing to the Firm's violations of Section 10(b) of the Exchange Act and Rule 10b-5 thereunder when he improperly authorized the issuance of the Firm's audit report regarding Odenza's 2012 financial statements because he knew, or was reckless in not knowing that the Firm had failed to perform any audit procedures prior to his authorizing the issuance of the audit report. Tan Chin Huat, accordingly, violated PCAOB Rule 3502.

---

[33] Scalzo, 2003 WL 21938985, at *14.

ORDER

E. Respondents Violated Additional PCAOB Rules and Standards in Connection With Issuer Audits

The Firm and Tan Chin Huat Failed to Obtain Engagement Quality Reviews in Eight Issuer Audits

39. PCAOB standards require that an engagement quality review be performed on audits, interim reviews, and certain attestation engagements conducted pursuant to PCAOB standards.[34] AS 7 also provides that, in an audit, a firm may grant permission to a client to use the engagement report only after an engagement quality reviewer provides concurring approval of issuance of the report.[35] As described below, the Firm failed to obtain a required engagement quality review in eight issuer audits, and Tan Chin Huat directly and substantially contributed to those violations.

40. In addition to issuer audits described above, Weld Asia also audited the financial statements of XYI Group, Inc. ("XYI") for the year ended January 31, 2015. XYI was, at all relevant times, a Nevada corporation with its principal executive office in Hong Kong, PRC. XYI's public filings disclosed that it was a development stage company seeking to engage in the sale and marketing of custom and personalized souvenir products. At all relevant times, XYI was an issuer as that term is defined by Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

41. Weld Asia issued an audit report expressing an unqualified opinion on XYI's FY 2015 financial statements, dated February 16, 2015, which was included in a Form S-1 and a Form S-1/A that XYI filed with the Commission. Tan Chin Huat served as the engagement partner for the FY 2015 XYI audit, and authorized the Firm's audit report on those financial statements.

42. The Firm failed to obtain an engagement quality review for each of the issuer audit engagements set forth in the table below, even though PCAOB standards required an engagement quality review to be performed:

---

[34] See Auditing Standard No. 7, Engagement Quality Review ("AS 7"), at ¶ 1.

[35] See AS 7 ¶ 13.

ORDER

Issuer	Fiscal Year(s) Ended	Date of Audit Report
CGN	December 31, 2014	March 2, 2015
DSwiss	December 31, 2013 and 2014	November 12, 2015
Greenpro	October 31, 2013	November 28, 2013
Greenpro	October 31, 2014	January 23, 2015
Odenza	January 31, 2012 and 2013	April 26, 2013
Odenza	January 31, 2013 and 2014	April 16, 2014
Rito	June 30, 2015	August 7, 2015
XYI	January 31, 2015	February 16, 2015

Tan Chin Huat was the engagement partner for each of the audits identified in the chart, above, and authorized the issuance of those audit reports.

43. In each of the eight audits, above, the Firm issued unqualified audit reports, and permitted those reports to be included in the issuers' filings with the Commission, despite failing to obtain an engagement quality review and concurring approval of issuance. As a result, the Firm violated AS 7.

44. Tan Chin Huat knew that the Firm had not obtained an engagement quality review and concurring approval of issuance for the above-referenced audit reports. Tan Chin Huat therefore knew, or was reckless in not knowing, that he was directly and substantially contributing to the Firm's violations of AS 7 when he caused the Firm to grant permission to the client to use the audit reports. As a result, Tan Chin Huat violated PCAOB Rule 3502.

Respondents Failed to Comply with the Engagement Quality Reviewer "Cooling-Off" Requirement

45. AS 7 also provides that: "[t]he person who served as the engagement partner during either of the two audits preceding the audit subject to the engagement quality review may not be the engagement quality reviewer."[36] As described below, Respondents violated AS 7 because Tan Chin Huat served as the engagement quality reviewer on one issuer audit, immediately after serving as the engagement partner on the prior year's audit.

ORDER

46. Gushen, Inc. ("Gushen") was, at all relevant times, a Nevada corporation with its principal executive office in Hong Kong, PRC. Gushen's public filings disclosed that it was "a developmental stage company that intends to provide managerial and IT support to start-ups as well as SME (small and medium enterprises) to assist them in their early stages of operations as they expand and grow their own company." At all relevant times, Gushen was an issuer as that term is defined by Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

47. Weld Asia audited Gushen's April 30, 2015 year-end financial statements. The Firm issued an audit report expressing an unqualified opinion on Gushen's FY 2015 financial statements, dated May 18, 2015, which was included in a Form S-1 and two Forms S-1/A that Gushen filed with the Commission. Tan Chin Huat served as the engagement partner on the Firm's audit of Gushen's FY 2015 financial statements.

48. Weld Asia also audited Gushen's April 30, 2016 year-end financial statements. The Firm issued an audit report expressing an unqualified opinion on Gushen's FY 2016 financial statements, dated July 21, 2016, which was included in a Form 10-K that Gushen filed with the Commission. After serving as the engagement partner on the FY 2015 audit, Tan Chin Huat immediately served as the engagement quality reviewer on the FY 2016 audit, violating AS 7's two-year "cooling-off" period.

The Respondents Failed to Prepare and Retain Appropriate Audit Documentation

49. PCAOB standards require that the auditor document the procedures performed, evidence obtained, and conclusions reached with respect to relevant financial statement assertions.[37] The audit documentation "must contain sufficient information to enable an experienced auditor, having no previous connection with the engagement: [a.] [t]o understand the nature, timing, extent, and results of the procedures performed, evidence obtained, and conclusions reached, and [b.] [t]o

---

[36] AS 7 ¶ 8.

[37] See Auditing Standard No. 3 ("AS 3"), Audit Documentation, at ¶ 6.

ORDER

determine who performed the work and the date such work was completed as well as the person who reviewed the work and the date of such review."[38]

50. The Respondents violated AS 3 during the FY 2013 Odenza audit, the FY 2014 Odenza audit, and the FY 2015 Rito audit, because the audit work papers for those engagements did not contain sufficient information to allow an experienced auditor, having no previous connection with those engagements, to understand the nature, timing and extent of the audit work that Tan Chin Huat performed or the conclusions that he reached. In each of those audits, the engagement team had prepared checklists and forms for the engagement partner to complete to demonstrate his review of the audit work and the specific conclusions that he reached through that review. However, Tan Chin Huat failed to complete those work papers or otherwise document his review during the completion phase of the audit.

51. PCAOB standards also provide that, in an audit, the auditor "must retain audit documentation for seven years from the date the auditor grants permission to use the auditor's report in connection with the issuance of the company's financial statements (report release date), unless a longer period of time is required by law."[39] Likewise, Rule 2-06 of the Commission's Regulation S-X requires that for a period of seven years after an accountant concludes an audit or review of an issuer's financial statements to which section 10A(a) of the Exchange Act applies, the accountant must retain records relevant to the audit or review.[40] The Firm violated AS 3 and Rule 2-06 in connection with the FY 2014 CGN audit, the FY 2013 Greenpro audit, and the FY 2015 XYI audit, because the firm failed to retain a complete and final set of audit documentation for those audits for seven years from the report release dates for the audit reports.

F. The Firm Failed to Maintain an Adequate System of Quality Control and Tan Chin Huat Contributed to that Failure

52. PCAOB rules and standards require that a registered public accounting firm comply with the Board's quality control standards.[41] PCAOB quality control

---

38 Id. at ¶ 6.

39 Id. at ¶ 14.

40 See 17 C.F.R. § 210.2-06 ("Rule 2-06").

41 See PCAOB Rule 3400T, Interim Quality Control Standards.

ORDER

standards require that a registered public accounting firm "shall have a system of quality control for its accounting and auditing practice."[42] Pursuant to those standards, a registered firm should establish quality control policies and procedures to provide the firm with reasonable assurance that, among other things:

a. personnel maintain independence (in fact and in appearance) in all required circumstances;[43]

b. personnel participate in general and industry-specific continuing professional education and other professional development activities that enable them to fulfill responsibilities assigned;[44] and

c. the work performed by engagement personnel meets applicable professional standards, regulatory requirements, and the firm's standards of quality, including standards and requirements for documenting the audits.[45]

53. The Firm violated PCAOB quality control standards because it failed to maintain an adequate system of quality control from at least 2012 through 2016. During that period, the Firm failed to adopt adequate policies and procedures to provide reasonable assurance that the firm and its personnel maintained independence from its audit clients, obtained adequate training in PCAOB auditing standards, and complied with PCAOB auditing standards. Among other things, the Firm's deficient system of quality control permitted the firm to repeatedly (1) perform audits for clients while lacking independence, (2) fail to obtain required engagement quality reviews, (3) fail to comply with the cooling-off requirement for engagement quality reviewers, (4) fail to document audit procedures, and the review of those procedures, in accordance with PCAOB auditing standards, and (5) fail to maintain audit documentation for the requisite seven-year time period.

54. At all relevant times, Tan Chin Huat served as the Firm's managing partner and held ultimate responsibility for the Firm's adopting and maintaining an adequate

---

[42] Quality Control ("QC") § 20.01, System of Quality Control for a CPA Firm's Accounting and Auditing Practice.

[43] See QC § 20.09.

[44] See QC § 20.13(c).

[45] See QC §§ 20.17-.18.

ORDER

system of quality control. During that time, Tan Chin Huat knowingly or recklessly failed to reasonably ensure that the Firm took appropriate steps to establish and monitor an appropriate system of quality control in the above-described areas, and thereby directly and substantially contributed to the Firm's violations of the PCAOB's quality control standards. As a result, Tan Chin Huat violated PCAOB Rule 3502.

G. The Firm Failed to Timely Disclose a Reportable Event to the PCAOB

55. PCAOB Rule 2203 provides that a registered public accounting firm must file a special report on Form 3 to report any event specified in that form within thirty days of the event's occurrence.[46] One such specified event occurs when a firm "has become aware that, in a matter arising out of his or her conduct in the course of providing professional services for a client, a partner, shareholder, principal, owner, member, or audit manager of the Firm who provided at least ten hours of audit services for any issuer, broker, or dealer during the Firm's current fiscal year or its most recently completed fiscal year has become a defendant or respondent in a civil or alternative dispute resolution proceeding initiated by a governmental entity or in an administrative or disciplinary proceeding other than a Board disciplinary proceeding" ("Item 2.9 Proceeding").[47] Another such specified event occurs when a firm "has become aware that" an Item 2.9 Proceeding "has been concluded."[48]

56. On August 19, 2013, the Malaysian Audit Oversight Board[49] reprimanded Tan Chin Huat for "[f]ailure to comply with certain requirements of International Standards on Auditing in discharging his professional duties in the performance of an audit of [a public interest entity]" for the year ended December 31, 2010.[50]

---

[46] See PCAOB Rule 2203, Special Reports. As the Board noted when adopting its rules on special reporting, "[R]eportable events will sometimes occur, and the public interest, as well as the ability to consider whether prompt action is warranted by the Board's inspection staff or enforcement staff, will be served by contemporaneous reporting of the event." PCAOB Rel. No. 2008-004, at 17 (June 10, 2008).

[47] PCAOB Form 3, at Item 2.9 (italics in the original removed).

[48] PCAOB Form 3, at Item 2.10.

[49] The Audit Oversight Board was established pursuant to Part IIIA of the Securities Commission Malaysia Act 1993.

[50] See List of Sanctions by the Malaysian Audit Oversight Board for 2013, available at https://www.sc.com.my/post_archive/2013-sanctions/.

ORDER

57. In violation of Rule 2203, the Firm failed to file a Form 3 with the Board, reporting this disciplinary action against Tan Chin Huat.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondents' Offers. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), Weld Asia Associates and Tan Chin Huat are hereby censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(B) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(2), Tan Chin Huat is barred from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm, as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i);[51]

C. After five (5) years from the date of this Order, Tan Chin Huat may file a petition, pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5302(b), for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm;

D. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(A) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(1), the registration of Weld Asia Associates is revoked;

E. After five (5) years from the date of the Order, Weld Asia Associates may reapply for registration by filing an application pursuant to PCAOB Rule 2101; and

F. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of $20,000 is imposed upon Weld Asia

---

[51] As a consequence of the bar, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act will apply with respect to Tan Chin Huat. Section 105(c)(7)(B) provides: "It shall be unlawful for any person that is suspended or barred from being associated with a registered public accounting firm under this subsection willfully to become or remain associated with any issuer, broker, or dealer in an accountancy or a financial management capacity, and for any issuer, broker, or dealer that knew, or in the exercise of reasonable care should have known, of such suspension or bar, to permit such an association, without the consent of the Board or the Commission."

ORDER

Associates. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of these civil money penalties will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. The Firm shall pay the civil money penalty imposed within ten (10) days of the issuance of this Order by (1) wire transfer pursuant to instructions provided by Board staff; or (2) United States Postal Service money order, bank money order, certified check, or bank cashier's check (a) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, (b) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, and (c) submitted under a cover letter that identifies the Firm as a Respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB release number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of said cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe W. Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

_____

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

December 13, 2017

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street NW
Washington, DC 20006
Office: (202) 207-9100
Fax: (202) 862-8430
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of Tan Poh Ling, Chartered Accountant, Respondent.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-047 December 13, 2017

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (the "Board" or "PCAOB") is censuring Tan Poh Ling, Chartered Accountant ("Tan Poh Ling" or "Respondent") and barring her from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm.[1] The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that Respondent, in her capacity as a partner of a registered firm, Weld Asia Associates ("Weld Asia" or the "Firm"),[2] violated PCAOB rules and standards in connection with four audits of issuer financial statements, including rules and standards concerning independence and engagement quality reviews.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondent.

II.

In anticipation of institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondent has submitted an Offer of Settlement (the "Offer") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and

[1] Tan Poh Ling may file a petition for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm after two (2) years from the date of this Order.

[2] See Weld Asia Associates and Tan Chin Huat, Chartered Accountant, PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-046 (Dec. 13, 2017).

ORDER

without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the facts contained in paragraphs 3-24, the Board's jurisdiction over her and the subject matter of these proceedings, which are admitted, Respondent consents to the entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[3]

III.

On the basis of Respondent's Offer, the Board finds that:[4]

A. Respondent

1. Tan Poh Ling, age 47, of Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia, has been a partner of Weld Asia since 2015. Respondent is a Chartered Accountant with the Malaysian Institute of Accountants (member no. 10559) and is licensed to perform auditing services by the Malaysian Ministry of Finance (license No. 02564/03/2019 J). Respondent is an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

B. Summary

2. This matter concerns Respondent's violations of PCAOB rules and standards in connection with four issuer audits.[5] Respondent violated PCAOB rules

---

[3] The findings herein are made pursuant to Respondent's Offer and are not binding on any other persons or entities in this or any other proceeding.

[4] The Board finds that Respondent's conduct described in this Order meets the conditions set out in Section 105(c)(5) of the Act, 15 U.S.C. § 7215(c)(5), which provides that certain sanctions may be imposed in the event of (1) intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, that results in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard; or (2) repeated instances of negligent conduct, each resulting in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard.

[5] The audits described in the Order are the Firm's audits of the financial statements of DSwiss Inc. ("DSwiss") for the year ended December 31, 2015, and of Odenza Corp. ("Odenza") for the years ended January 31, 2015, 2016 and 2017. All references to laws, regulations, and PCAOB rules and standards are to the versions of those laws, regulations, and PCAOB rules and standards in effect at the time of the relevant conduct. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its auditing and standards because she failed to act with due professional care in three issuer audits in which the Firm failed to satisfy applicable independence criteria. As a result, she improperly authorized the issuance of the audit reports in two of those audits, where she served as the engagement partner, and improperly provided concurring approval of issuance in another of those audits, where she served as the engagement quality reviewer. Through those actions, Respondent also knowingly or recklessly contributed to the Firm's violation of PCAOB rules and standards. Respondent also failed to comply with the "cooling-off" requirements for the engagement quality reviewer in one issuer audit. Finally, Respondent failed to comply with PCAOB rules and standards when performing audit procedures concerning: (a) related party transactions in two issuer audits; and (b) convertible debt in one issuer audit.

ORDER

C. Respondent Violated PCAOB Rules and Standards Relating to Auditor Independence

3. In connection with the preparation or issuance of an audit report, PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons comply with all applicable auditing and related professional practice standards.[6] PCAOB standards also provide that due professional care is to be exercised in the planning and performance of the audit and the preparation of the audit report.[7]

4. PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons be independent of the firm's audit client throughout the audit and professional engagement period.[8] A registered public accounting firm or an associated standards using a topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Release No. 2015-002 (Mar. 31, 2015); see also PCAOB Auditing Standards Reorganized and Pre Reorganized Numbering (January 2017).

---

[6] See PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards ("PCAOB Rule 3100"); PCAOB Rule 3200T, Interim Auditing Standards ("PCAOB Rule 3200T").

[7] See AU § 150.02, Generally Accepted Auditing Standards; AU § 230, Due Professional Care in the Performance of Work; see also Auditing Standard No. 13, The Auditor's Responses to the Risks of Material Misstatement ("AS 13"), at ¶ 7.

[8] See PCAOB Rule 3520, Auditor Independence; see also AU § 220, Independence.

ORDER

person's independence obligation with respect to an audit client that is an issuer encompasses not only an obligation to satisfy the independence criteria set out in the rules and standards of the PCAOB, but also an obligation to satisfy all other independence criteria applicable to the engagement, including the independence criteria set out in the rules and regulations of the Securities and Exchange Commission ("Commission") under the federal securities laws.[9]

5. Rule 2-01 of Commission Regulation S-X[10] ("Rule 2-01") provides, among other things, that "[a]n accountant is not independent if, at any point during the audit and professional engagement period, the accounting firm or any covered person in the firm has any direct or material indirect business relationship with an audit client, or with persons associated with the audit client in a decision-making capacity, such as an audit client's officers, directors, or substantial stockholders."[11] Rule 2-01 also provides that "[a]n accountant is not independent if, at any point during the audit and professional engagement period, the accountant has an employment relationship with the audit client, such as . . . [a] current partner, principal, shareholder or professional employee of the accounting firm is employed by the audit client or serves as a member of the board of directors or similar management or governing body of the audit client."[12]

6. For purposes of Rule 2-01, the "[a]udit and professional engagement period includes both: (i) The period covered by any financial statements being audited or reviewed (the 'audit period'); and (ii) The period of the engagement to audit or review the audit client's financial statements or to prepare a report filed with the Commission (the 'professional engagement period') . . . ."[13] References to the "accounting firm" in Rule 2-01 include, among others, the firm's parents, subsidiaries and associated

---

9 See PCAOB Rule 3520, Note 1.

10 17 C.F.R. § 210.2-01.

11 Rule 2-01(c)(3).

12 Rule 2-01(c)(2)(i).

13 Rule 2-01(f)(5).

ORDER

entities.[14] References to the "audit client" in Rule 2-01 include affiliates of the audit client.[15]

7. The engagement partner on an audit is responsible for the engagement and its performance,[16] including the planning of the audit[17] and compliance with PCAOB standards.[18] As part of the planning activities at the beginning of the audit, the auditor should determine compliance with independence requirements.[19]

8. PCAOB standards provide that an engagement quality review and concurring approval of issuance are required for audits, interim reviews and certain attestation engagements conducted pursuant to PCAOB standards.[20] "The objective of the engagement quality reviewer is to perform an evaluation of the significant judgments made by the engagement team and the related conclusions reached in forming the overall conclusion on the engagement and in preparing the engagement report, if a report is to be issued, in order to determine whether to provide concurring approval of issuance."[21] An engagement quality reviewer may provide concurring approval of issuance in an audit engagement only if, after performing with due professional care her review, she is not aware of a significant engagement deficiency.[22] PCAOB standards provide that a lack of independence on the part of the firm is a significant engagement deficiency.[23] PCAOB standards also provide that an engagement quality reviewer

---

[14] See Rule 2-01(f)(2).

[15] See Rule 2-01(f)(6); Rule 2-01(f)(4).

[16] See Auditing Standard No. 9, Audit Planning ("AS 9"), at ¶ 3; Auditing Standard No. 10, Supervision of the Audit Engagement ("AS 10"), at ¶ 3.

[17] See AS 9 ¶ 3.

[18] See AS 10 ¶ 3.

[19] See AS 9 ¶ 6(b).

[20] See Auditing Standard No. 7, Engagement Quality Review ("AS 7"), at ¶ 1.

[21] AS 7 ¶ 2.

[22] See AS 7 ¶ 12.

[23] See id.

should review the engagement team's evaluation of the firm's independence in relation to the engagement.[24]

9. As discussed, below, Respondent failed to comply with the foregoing PCAOB rules and standards.

Weld Asia and Weld Asia CPA (HK) Limited

10. At all relevant times, Weld Asia has operated as an associated entity of an accounting firm in Hong Kong, PRC, named Weld Asia CPA (HK) Limited (hereinafter "Weld HK"). Both firms use the same Weld Asia trademark. In audit work papers from as early as 2014, Weld Asia documented that Weld HK was its "affiliated firm." At various times, from at least 2013 and continuing into 2016, both Weld Asia and Weld HK issued invoices identifying that the firms were associated entities with one another, including invoices for some of the audits discussed below. Weld Asia also directed some of its issuer clients to remit payment for Weld Asia services to Weld HK, including fees for some of the audits discussed below.

11. From at least July 20, 2011, through July 3, 2015, Weld HK was substantially or wholly owned by individuals—"Person A" and "Person B"—who were also associated with the issuer audit clients identified below.[25] Person A and Person B were also directors of Weld HK. Person A was a director of Weld HK from July 20, 2011 to June 18, 2014. Person B was a director of Weld HK from January 1, 2012 to July 3, 2015.

Odenza Audits

12. Odenza was, at all relevant times, a Nevada corporation with its principal executive office in Selangor, Malaysia. Odenza's public filings disclosed that it was "an exploration stage company engaged in the business of acquiring mineral exploration rights throughout Asia, exploring for commercially producible quantities of minerals, and exploiting any mineral deposits we discover that demonstrate economic feasibility." At all relevant times, Odenza was an issuer as that term is defined by Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

---

[24] See AS 7 ¶ 10(d).

[25] Person A owned 50% of Weld HK from July 20, 2011 to July 28, 2014. Person B owned 50% of Weld HK from March 15, 2012 to September 25, 2014, and 99.9% of Weld HK from September 25, 2014 to July 3, 2015.

ORDER

13. Weld Asia served as the auditor for Odenza's January 31, 2015 and 2016 financial statements. Weld Asia issued an audit report expressing an unqualified opinion on the 2015 financial statements, dated April 20, 2015, which was included in a Form 10-K that Odenza filed with the Commission. Weld Asia also issued an audit report expressing an unqualified opinion on the 2016 financial statements, dated April 15, 2016, which was included in a Form 10-K that Odenza filed with the Commission.

14. During the audit and professional engagement period for the FY 2015 and FY 2016 Odenza audits, Person A served as the CFO, treasurer and a director of Odenza, and Person B served as a director of Odenza, while Person A and/or Person B were also serving as directors and owners of Weld HK. As a result, the Firm did not satisfy the applicable independence criteria and thereby violated PCAOB rules and standards.[26]

15. Respondent served as the engagement quality reviewer for the audit of Odenza's FY 2015 financial statements, and provided concurring approval of issuance for the Firm's report on the FY 2015 financial statements. Respondent subsequently served as the engagement partner for the audit of Odenza's FY 2016 financial statements, and authorized the Firm's audit report on the FY 2016 financial statements. At the time of the FY 2015 and FY 2016 audits, Respondent was aware of Person A's and Person B's relationships to Odenza and to Weld HK.

16. During the FY 2015 Odenza audit, Respondent violated AS 7 by providing her concurring approval of issuance without performing an engagement quality review with due professional care.[27] There was no evidence that the Firm had undertaken any steps to determine whether the Firm satisfied the independence criteria set forth in Rule 2-01, in light of the fact that directors and officers of Odenza were also Directors of the Firm's associated entity, Weld HK. Despite the existence of a significant engagement deficiency because the Firm was not independent of Odenza, Respondent provided her concurring approval of issuance for the Firm's audit report.

17. During the FY 2016 audit, Respondent, while serving as the engagement partner, violated PCAOB rules and standards because she failed to exercise due professional care in determining whether the firm was in compliance with independence requirements during the audit and professional engagement period.[28] Despite Person

---

[26] See Rule 3520; AU § 220.

[27] See AS 7 ¶ 12.

[28] See AU § 230; AS 9 ¶ 6(b).

ORDER

B's relationships with Odenza and Weld HK, Respondent and the engagement team failed to take any steps to determine whether the Firm was in compliance with the independence criteria set forth in Rule 2-01. Respondent also violated PCAOB Rule 3502 because she knew, or was reckless in not knowing, that she was directly and substantially contributing to the Firm's violations of PCAOB rules and standards when she improperly authorized the issuance of the Firm's audit report regarding the FY 2016 financial statements.

DSwiss Audit

18. DSwiss was, at all relevant times, a Nevada corporation with its principal executive office in Selangor, Malaysia. DSwiss's public filings disclosed that it was "a beauty supply company that sells cosmetics and other related beauty products to consumers in Malaysia with plans to expand throughout the world." At all relevant times, DSwiss was an issuer as that term is defined by Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

19. Weld Asia served as the auditor for DSwiss's December 31, 2015 financial statements. Weld Asia issued an audit report expressing an unqualified opinion on the 2015 financial statements, dated March 25, 2016, which was included in five Forms S-1/A that DSwiss filed with the Commission.

20. Greenpro Capital Corp. ("Greenpro Capital") was a substantial shareholder in DSwiss through its subsidiary Greenpro Venture Capital Ltd (Anguilla) ("Greenpro Venture Capital"). During the audit and professional engagement period for that audit, Person B was the CFO, secretary, and treasurer of Greenpro Capital, and a substantial shareholder and director of Greenpro Capital, while Person B was also serving as a director and 99.9% owner of Weld HK. As a result, the Firm did not satisfy the applicable independence criteria and thereby violated PCAOB rules and standards.[29]

21. Tan Poh Ling served as the engagement partner for the audit of DSwiss's FY 2015 financial statements and authorized the Firm's audit report on those financial statements. At the time of those audits, she was aware of 'Person B's relationships to DSwiss and to Weld HK.

22. During the FY 2015 DSwiss audit, Respondent, while serving as the engagement partner, violated PCAOB rules and standards because she failed to exercise due professional care in determining whether the firm was in compliance with [29] See Rule 3520; AU § 220.

ORDER

independence requirements during the audit and professional engagement period.[30] Despite Person B's relationships with DSwiss and Weld HK, Respondent and the engagement team failed to take any steps to determine whether the Firm was in compliance with the independence criteria set forth in Rule 2-01. Respondent also violated PCAOB Rule 3502 because she knew, or was reckless in not knowing, that she was directly and substantially contributing to the Firm's violations of PCAOB rules and standards when she improperly authorized the issuance of the Firm's audit report regarding those financial statements.

D. Respondent Failed to Comply with the Engagement Quality Reviewer "Cooling-Off" Requirement

23. AS 7 provides that: "[t]he person who served as the engagement partner during either of the two audits preceding the audit subject to the engagement quality review may not be the engagement quality reviewer."[31] As described below, Respondent violated AS 7 because Tan Poh Ling served as the engagement quality reviewer on one issuer audit, immediately after serving as the engagement partner on the prior year's audit.

24. As described above, the Firm audited Odenza's January 31, 2016 year-end financial statements, and Tan Poh Ling served as the engagement partner on that audit. The Firm also audited Odenza's January 31, 2017 year-end financial statements, which were filed with the Commission, and issued an audit report expressing an unqualified opinion on the financial statements. After serving as the engagement partner on the FY 2016 audit, Tan Poh Ling immediately served as the engagement quality reviewer on the FY 2017 audit, violating AS 7's two-year "cooling-off" period.

E. Respondent's Other Violations of PCAOB Standards

25. An auditor may express an unqualified opinion on an issuer's financial statements only when the auditor has formed such an opinion on the basis of an audit performed in accordance with PCAOB standards.[32] Those standards require the auditor to plan and perform the audit to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to provide a

---

30 See AU § 230; AS 9 ¶ 6(b).

31 AS 7 ¶ 8.

32 See AU § 508.07, Reports on Audited Financial Statements.

ORDER

reasonable basis for the auditor's opinion.[33] They also require the auditor to evaluate whether the financial statements are presented fairly, in all material respects, in conformity with the applicable financial reporting framework.[34]

26. PCAOB standards also require an auditor to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to determine whether related parties and relationships and transactions with related parties have been properly identified, accounted for, and disclosed in the financial statements.[35] The auditor should evaluate whether the company has properly identified its related parties and relationships and transactions with related parties by, among other things, performing procedures to test the accuracy and completeness of the related parties and relationships and transactions with related parties identified by the company, taking into account the information gathered during the audit.[36] In addition, the auditor "must evaluate whether related party transactions have been properly accounted for and disclosed in the financial statements."[37]

27. As described, below, Respondent failed to comply with the foregoing standards in two audits where she served as the engagement partner.

FY 2015 DSwiss Audit

28. As of year-end December 31, 2015, DSwiss reported total assets of approximately $496,000, total liabilities of approximately $271,000, and a net loss for the year of approximately $129,000.

29. During the FY 2015 DSwiss audit, Respondent and the engagement team gathered evidence that showed that DSwiss had recorded $48,000 in expenses in FY 2015 for professional services provided by Greenpro Financial Consulting Ltd. ("Greenpro Consulting"). Respondent also knew that Greenpro Venture Capital was

---

33 See Auditing Standard No. 15, Audit Evidence ("AS 15"), at ¶ 4.

34 See Auditing Standard No. 14, Evaluating Audit Results ("AS 14"), at ¶ 30.

35 See Auditing Standard No. 18, Related Parties ("AS 18"), at ¶ 2.

36 See AS 18 ¶ 14.

37 AS 18 ¶ 17.

ORDER

one of two substantial shareholders of DSwiss.[38] Greenpro Consulting, like Greenpro Venture Capital, was a subsidiary of Greenpro Capital. However, the transaction with Greenpro Consulting was not disclosed as a related party transaction. Despite knowing about the relationship with Greenpro Venture Capital and the transaction with Greenpro Consulting, Respondent and the engagement team failed to evaluate whether that related party transaction was properly accounted for and disclosed in the financial statements.[39]

30. Respondent also failed to exercise due professional care in connection with DSwiss's convertible notes payable balance. As of year-end December 31, 2015, approximately 79% of DSwiss's liability balance was comprised of convertible notes, totaling $213,500. When testing the convertible notes payable balance, however, Respondent failed to evaluate whether the financial statements were presented fairly, in all material respects, in conformity with U.S. GAAP.[40] Respondent failed to consider whether any of the convertible notes contained any beneficial conversion features that were required to be recognized separately at issuance by allocating a portion of the proceeds equal to the intrinsic value of that feature to additional paid-in capital.[41]

FY 2016 Odenza Audit

31. As of year-end January 31, 2016, Odenza reported no assets, approximately $129,000 in total liabilities, and a net loss for the year of approximately $16,000.

32. Throughout FY 2016, Person A was Odenza's Chief Financial Officer, Treasurer and one of its Directors and, for the first four months of FY 2016, Person B was one of its Directors. During the FY 2016 Odenza audit, Respondent and the [38] As disclosed in DSwiss's Form S-1/A, Greenpro Venture Capital owned approximately 29.5% of DSwiss, and DSwiss's Chief Executive Officer owned approximately 68.9% of DSwiss's common stock.

---

[39] See AS 18 ¶¶ 14-18; see also Financial Accounting Standards Board Accounting Standards Codification ("FASB ASC") Topic 850-10-50, Related Party Disclosures – Overall - Disclosure.

[40] See AS 14 ¶ 30.

[41] See FASB ASC Topic 470-20 Debt - Debt with Conversion and Other Options.

ORDER

engagement team gathered evidence that Person A had founded a company called Asia UBS Global Limited. Respondent and the engagement team also gathered evidence that showed that Odenza had recorded expenses during FY 2016 for professional services provided by Asia UBS Global Limited, equal to approximately 23% of Odenza's reported net loss. As of fiscal year-end 2016, Asia UBS Global Limited was a subsidiary of Greenpro Capital, for which Person A and Person B were officers,[42] directors and majority owners. However, the transaction with Asia UBS Global Limited was not disclosed as a related party transaction.

33. Despite knowing about Odenza's relationship with Person A, Person A's founding of Asia UBS Global Limited, and Odenza's transaction with Asia UBS Global Limited, Respondent and the engagement team failed to evaluate whether that related party transaction was properly accounted for and disclosed in the financial statements.[43]

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondent's Offer. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), Tan Poh Ling is hereby censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(B) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(2), Tan Poh Ling is barred from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm, as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i);[44] and

---

[42] At all relevant times, Person A was Greenpro Capital's Chief Executive Officer and President, and Person B was Greenpro Capital's Chief Financial Officer and Treasurer.

[43] See AS 18 ¶¶ 14-18; see also "FASB ASC" Topic 850-10-50, Related Party Disclosures – Overall - Disclosure.

[44] As a consequence of the bar, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act will apply with respect to Tan Poh Ling. Section 105(c)(7)(B) provides: "It shall be unlawful for any person that is suspended or barred from being associated with a registered public accounting firm under this subsection willfully to become or remain

ORDER

C. After two (2) years from the date of this Order, Tan Poh Ling may file a petition, pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5302(b), for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

December 13, 2017

---

associated with any issuer, broker, or dealer in an accountancy or a financial management capacity, and for any issuer, broker, or dealer that knew, or in the exercise of reasonable care should have known, of such suspension or bar, to permit such an association, without the consent of the Board or the Commission."

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street NW
Washington, DC 20006
Office: (202) 207-9100
Fax: (202) 862-8430
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER GRANTING PETITION TO TERMINATE BAR AND CONSENTING TO ASSOCIATION WITH A REGISTERED PUBLIC ACCOUNTING FIRM In the Matter of Ted A. Madsen, CPA	PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-048 December 19, 2017

On January 15, 2015, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("Board" or "PCAOB") issued an order instituting disciplinary proceedings, making findings and imposing sanctions that barred Ted A. Madsen, CPA ("Madsen") from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm.[1] Madsen was permitted, pursuant to the order, to petition for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm after two years from the date of the order. Madsen has filed a petition to terminate the bar and for Board consent to associate with Madsen & Associates CPA's, Inc. ("M&A"), a public accounting firm registered with the Board pursuant to Section 102 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended, and PCAOB Rules. By this Order, the Board is granting Madsen's petition.

In the order imposing sanctions against Madsen, the Board found that M&A, a registered public accounting firm, violated PCAOB rules and standards, as well as Section 10A(g) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 ("Exchange Act"), and Exchange Act Rule 10A-2, concerning a failure to comply with PCAOB rules and auditing standards in connection with the audit of the financial statements of two issuers. Specifically, Madsen and M&A hired Hong Kong-based engagement team members who performed most of the audit work, but Madsen failed to properly supervise the work of those engagement team members and to review their work to determine its proper performance. Madsen consented to the entry of the Order without admitting or denying the findings in it, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over him and the subject matter of the proceedings, which he admitted.

PCAOB Rule 5302(b) governs petitions to terminate a bar from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm. Such petitions must be supported by an affidavit addressing certain factors and include certain exhibits as specified in PCAOB Rule 5302(b)(2). PCAOB Rule 5302(b)(3) requires the petitioner to make a showing satisfactory for the Board to be able to determine that the proposed association would be consistent with the public interest. Such a determination depends on the petitioner's specific facts and circumstances.

[1] In the Matter of Madsen & Associates CPAs, Inc., and Ted A. Madsen, CPA, PCAOB Rel. No. 105-2015-002 (Jan. 15, 2015).

ORDER

On the basis of the information supplied and representations made relating to factors identified in PCAOB Rule 5302(b)(4), it appears that Madsen has met the requirements of PCAOB Rule 5302(b) and that he has complied with the January 15, 2015 order barring him from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm. Moreover, nothing has come to the Board's attention that would be a basis for an adverse decision on Madsen's petition.

In view of the foregoing, the Board determines that the proposed association would be consistent with the public interest. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. The Board consents to Ted A. Madsen, CPA's association with M&A, a registered public accounting firm;

B. The bar against Ted A. Madsen, CPA from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm is hereby terminated; and

C. Madsen agrees that, for the period of one year from the date the Board grants the Petition, Madsen undertakes:

   i. that he will be supervised for all work performed that is subject to the jurisdiction of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, as set forth in Title I of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended;

   ii. that his supervisors will include management of any registered firm for whom he will work, except that to the extent Madsen is doing work for issuers on behalf of M&A, he will supervised by David Madsen;

   iii. that he will provide all supervisors with a copy of the Board order granting the petition to terminate the bar; and

   iv. to certify in writing to the Director of the Division of Enforcement and Investigations, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, Madsen's compliance with the above undertakings. The certification shall identify the undertakings, provide written evidence of compliance in the form of a narrative, and be supported by exhibits sufficient to demonstrate compliance. Madsen shall submit such certification within thirty (30) days of the close of the one-year period from the date the Board grants Madsen's petition to terminate the bar. During and after the one-year period from the date the Board grants Madsen's petition to terminate the bar, Madsen shall also submit such additional evidence of and information concerning compliance as the staff of the Division of Enforcement and Investigations may reasonably request.

ORDER

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

December 19, 2017

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street NW
Washington, DC 20006
Office: (202) 207-9100
Fax: (202) 862-8430
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of Stevenson & Company CPAs LLC a/k/a Stevenson & Company CPAs; Raydell Stevenson, CPA; and Wesley H. Hufford, CPA; Respondents.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-049 December 19, 2017

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (the "Board" or "PCAOB") is censuring Stevenson & Company CPAs LLC a/k/a Stevenson & Company CPAs (the "Firm"), revoking the Firm's registration,[1] and imposing a civil money penalty in the amount of $10,000 upon the Firm; censuring Raydell Stevenson ("Stevenson") and barring Stevenson from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm;[2] and censuring Wesley H. Hufford ("Hufford") and barring Hufford from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm.[3] The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that the Firm, Stevenson, and Hufford (collectively, "Respondents") violated PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the audits of the financial statements of two issuer clients.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted

[1] The Firm may reapply for registration after two (2) years from the date of this Order.

[2] Stevenson may file a petition for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm after two (2) years from the date of this Order.

[3] Hufford may file a petition for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm after two (2) years from the date of this Order.

ORDER

pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act") and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondents.

II.

In anticipation of the institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondents have each submitted an Offer of Settlement (collectively, the "Offers") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over Respondents and the subject matter of these proceedings, which is admitted, Respondents consent to the entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order"), as set forth below.[4]

III.

On the basis of Respondents' Offers, the Board finds that:[5]

A. Respondents

1. Stevenson & Company CPAs LLC, a/k/a Stevenson & Company CPAs, is a professional corporation organized under the laws of the state of Florida, and headquartered in Tampa, Florida. The Firm registered with the Board on June 16, 2015, pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules. The Firm is licensed to practice public accountancy by the state of Nevada (License No. LLC-0429) and the state of Florida (License No. AD68865). At all relevant times, the Firm was the external auditor for the issuers identified below.

[4] The findings herein are made pursuant to Respondents' Offers and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

[5] The Board finds that Respondents' conduct described in this Order meets the conditions set out in Section 105(c)(5) of the Act, 15 U.S.C. § 7215(c)(5), which provides that certain sanctions may be imposed in the event of: (A) intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, that results in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard; or (B) repeated instances of negligent conduct, each resulting in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard.

ORDER

2. Raydell Stevenson, age 42, is a certified public accountant licensed by the state of Florida (License No. AC40388). Mr. Stevenson was the engagement partner for the Firm's audit of the 2015 financial statements of MagneGas Corporation ("MagneGas"), and the engagement quality reviewer for the Firm's audit of the 2015 financial statements of AF Ocean Investment Management Co. ("AF Ocean"). He owns fifty percent of the Firm. Mr. Stevenson is, and at all relevant times was, an associated person of a registered public accounting firm, as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

3. Wesley H. Hufford, age 63, is a certified public accountant licensed by the state of Florida (License No. AC0020984). Mr. Hufford was the engagement partner for the Firm's audit of the 2015 financial statements of AF Ocean, and the engagement quality reviewer for the Firm's audit of the 2015 financial statements of MagneGas. He owns fifty percent of the Firm. Mr. Hufford is, and at all relevant times was, an associated person of a registered public accounting firm, as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

B. Summary

4. This matter concerns Respondents' violations of PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the audits of the December 31, 2015 ("FY 2015") financial statements of AF Ocean and MagneGas (collectively, the "Audits"). As detailed below, Respondents failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence and to exercise due care and professional skepticism in connection with the Audits.

5. This matter also concerns Hufford and Stevenson's failures to comply with PCAOB Auditing Standard No. 7 ("AS 7"), Engagement Quality Review.[6] Despite being aware of a significant engagement deficiency in each of their respective audits, both Hufford and Stevenson provided concurring approvals of issuance, and failed to perform with due professional care[7] the engagement quality reviews ("EQRs"), in

---

[6] All references herein to PCAOB rules and standards are to the versions of those rules and standards in effect at the time of the Audits. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its auditing standards using a topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Release No. 2015-002 (Mar. 31, 2015); see also PCAOB Auditing Standards Reorganized and Pre-Reorganized Numbering (January 2017).

[7] See AS 7 ¶ 12; AU § 230, Due Professional Care in the Performance of Work.

ORDER

violation of AS 7.

C. Respondents Violated PCAOB Rules and Standards in Connection with the Audits

6. In connection with the preparation or issuance of any audit report, PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons comply with the Board's auditing and related professional practice standards.[8] An auditor may express an unqualified opinion on an issuer's financial statements only when the auditor has formed such an opinion on the basis of an audit performed in accordance with PCAOB standards.[9] PCAOB standards also require that an auditor plan and perform audit procedures to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to provide a reasonable basis for his or her opinion.[10] PCAOB standards further require that an auditor exercise due professional care and professional skepticism in performing the audit.[11]

7. AS 7 requires that an EQR be performed on audits, interim reviews, and certain attestation engagements conducted pursuant to PCAOB standards.[12] In an audit engagement, an engagement quality reviewer should evaluate the significant judgments made by the engagement team and the related conclusions reached in forming the overall conclusion on the engagement and in preparing the engagement report.[13] The engagement quality reviewer should evaluate the engagement team's assessment of, and audit responses to, significant risks identified by the engagement team, including fraud risks, and other significant risks identified by the engagement quality reviewer through performance of the procedures required by AS 7.[14]

---

[8] See PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards; PCAOB Rule 3200T, Interim Auditing Standards.

[9] See AU § 508.07, Reports on Audited Financial Statements.

[10] See Auditing Standard No. 15, Audit Evidence, ¶¶ 4-6.

[11] See AU § 150.02, Generally Accepted Auditing Standards; AU §§ 230.01-.09.

[12] See AS 7 ¶ 1.

[13] Id. at ¶ 9.

[14] Id. at ¶ 10(b).

ORDER

8. Moreover, under AS 7, in an audit, the engagement quality reviewer may provide concurring approval of issuance for an audit report only if, after performing with due professional care the review required by AS 7, he or she is not aware of a significant engagement deficiency.[15] AS 7 states that a "significant engagement deficiency in an audit exists when (1) the engagement team failed to obtain sufficient appropriate evidence in accordance with the standards of the PCAOB, (2) the engagement team reached an inappropriate overall conclusion on the subject matter of the engagement, (3) the engagement report is not appropriate in the circumstances, or (4) the firm is not independent of its client."[16] As described below, Respondents failed to comply with the above PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the Audits.

AF Ocean

9. At all relevant times, AF Ocean Investment Management Co. was a Florida corporation headquartered in Ellenton, Florida. AF Ocean's public filings disclose that it promotes business relations and exchanges between Chinese and U.S. companies, facilitating international mergers and acquisitions, and increasing co-operation between Chinese companies and Wall Street financial institutions. Its common stock is registered under Section 12(b) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (the "Exchange Act") and quoted on the OTCQB under the symbol "AFAN." At all relevant times, AF Ocean was an issuer as that term is defined by Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

10. Hufford was the engagement partner for the Firm's audit of the December 31, 2015 financial statements of AF Ocean. On April 9, 2016, Hufford authorized the Firm's issuance of an audit report expressing an unqualified opinion on AF Ocean's financial statements. The audit report was included in the Form 10-K that AF Ocean filed with the Commission on April 14, 2016.

11. In its Form 10-K, AF Ocean disclosed intangible assets with an indefinite life of $294,193, which represented approximately 34 percent of total assets and a net loss of $316,877 for 2015. In addition, AF Ocean's Form 10-K disclosed that the intangible assets consisted of a business license that allowed the issuer to do business in China.

12. In connection with the 2015 audit of AF Ocean, Hufford and the Firm identified a significant risk related to the improper valuation of intangible assets. Other

---

[15] Id. at ¶ 12.

[16] Id. at ¶ 12, Note.

ORDER

than obtaining management representations, Hufford and the Firm failed to perform any substantive procedures regarding whether the intangible assets were impaired, including tests of details, that were specifically responsive to the assessed risks.[17] Therefore, Hufford and the Firm failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to determine whether the intangible assets were properly valued.[18]

13. In reviewing the intangible assets work papers in his capacity as engagement quality reviewer, Stevenson was aware that no audit procedures regarding the intangible asset's impairment had been performed by the engagement team. As such, Stevenson was aware of a significant engagement deficiency, because the engagement team failed to obtain sufficient appropriate evidence regarding the intangible asset's valuation in accordance with PCAOB standards. Despite being aware of this significant engagement deficiency, Stevenson provided his concurring approval of issuance for the audit without performing the EQR with due professional care, in violation of AS 7.[19]

MagneGas

14. At all relevant times, MagneGas was a Delaware corporation headquartered in Clearwater, Florida. MagneGas' public filings disclose that it is a technology company that utilizes a plasma-based system for the gasification and sterilization of liquid waste. Its common stock is registered under Section 12(g) of the Exchange Act and quoted on the NASDAQ Capital Market under the symbol "MNGA." At all relevant times, MagneGas was an issuer as that term is defined by Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

15. Stevenson was the engagement partner for the Firm's audit of the December 31, 2015 financial statements of MagneGas. On March 21, 2016, Stevenson authorized the Firm's issuance of an audit report expressing an unqualified opinion on MagneGas' financial statements. The audit report was included in the Form 10-K that MagneGas filed with the Commission on March 23, 2016.

16. In its Form 10-K, MagneGas disclosed goodwill, definite lived intangible assets, and property and equipment that together represented approximately 48 percent of total assets of $17.8 million and a net loss of $9.1 million for 2015.

---

[17] See Auditing Standard No. 13, The Auditor's Responses to the Risks of Material Misstatement.

[18] See AS 15 ¶¶ 4-6.

[19] AS 7 ¶ 12.

ORDER

17. In connection with the 2015 audit of MagneGas, Stevenson and the Firm identified a fraud risk related to the improper valuation of goodwill, finite-lived intangible assets, and property and equipment. Other than obtaining management representations, Stevenson and the Firm failed to perform any substantive procedures regarding whether the goodwill, finite-lived intangible assets, and property and equipment were impaired, including tests of details, that were specifically responsive to the assessed risks.[20] Therefore, Stevenson and the Firm failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to determine whether the goodwill, finite-lived intangible assets, and property and equipment were properly valued.[21]

18. In reviewing the intangible asset work papers in his capacity as engagement quality reviewer, Hufford was aware that no audit procedures regarding the intangible asset's impairment had been performed by the engagement team. As such, Hufford was aware of a significant engagement deficiency, because the engagement team failed to obtain sufficient appropriate evidence regarding the intangible asset's valuation in accordance with PCAOB standards. Despite being aware of this significant engagement deficiency, Hufford provided his concurring approval of issuance for the audit without performing the EQR with due professional care, in violation of AS 7.[22]

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondents' Offers. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), Stevenson & Company CPAs LLC a/k/a Stevenson & Company CPAs, Raydell Stevenson, and Wesley H. Hufford are hereby censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(B) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(2), Raydell Stevenson is barred from being an associated person of a

---

20 See AS 13 ¶ 11.

21 See AS 15 ¶¶ 4-6.

22 AS 7 ¶ 12.

ORDER

registered public accounting firm, as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i);[23]

C. After two (2) years from the date of this Order, Raydell Stevenson may file a petition, pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5302(b), for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm;

D. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(B) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(2), Wesley H. Hufford is barred from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm, as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i);[24]

E. After two (2) years from the date of this Order, Wesley H. Hufford may file a petition, pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5302(b), for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm;

F. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(A) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(1), the registration of Stevenson & Company CPAs LLC a/k/a Stevenson & Company CPAs is revoked;

---

[23] As a consequence of the bar, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act will apply with respect to Stevenson. Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act provides: "It shall be unlawful for any person that is suspended or barred from being associated with a registered public accounting firm under this subsection willfully to become or remain associated with any issuer, broker, or dealer in an accountancy or a financial management capacity, and for any issuer, broker, or dealer that knew, or in the exercise of reasonable care should have known, of such suspension or bar, to permit such an association, without the consent of the Board or the Commission."

[24] As a consequence of the bar, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act will apply with respect to Hufford. Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act provides: "It shall be unlawful for any person that is suspended or barred from being associated with a registered public accounting firm under this subsection willfully to become or remain associated with any issuer, broker, or dealer in an accountancy or a financial management capacity, and for any issuer, broker, or dealer that knew, or in the exercise of reasonable care should have known, of such suspension or bar, to permit such an association, without the consent of the Board or the Commission."

ORDER

G. After two (2) years from the date of the Order, Stevenson & Company CPAs LLC a/k/a Stevenson & Company CPAs may reapply for registration by filing an application pursuant to PCAOB Rule 2101; and

H. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of $10,000 is imposed upon Stevenson & Company CPAs LLC a/k/a Stevenson & Company CPAs. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of this civil money penalty will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. Stevenson & Company CPAs LLC a/k/a Stevenson & Company CPAs shall pay this civil money penalty within ten (10) days of the issuance of this Order by (1) wire transfer pursuant to instructions provided by Board staff; or (2) United States Postal Service money order, bank money order, certified check, or bank cashier's check (a) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, (b) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006, and (c) submitted under a cover letter which identifies Stevenson & Company CPAs LLC a/k/a Stevenson & Company CPAs as a Respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB release number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to the Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe W. Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

_____

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

December 19, 2017

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street NW
Washington, DC 20006
Office: (202) 207-9100
Fax: (202) 862-8430
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of DRT Bagimsiz Denetim ve Serbest Muhasebeci Mali Musavirlik A.Ş., Respondent.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-050 December 19, 2017

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("Board" or "PCAOB") is: (1) censuring DRT Bagimsiz Denetim ve Serbest Muhasebeci Mali Musavirlik A.Ş. ("Deloitte Turkey," the "Firm" or "Respondent"); (2) imposing a civil money penalty in the amount of $750,000 on the Firm; (3) requiring the Firm to certify that it has remediated the quality control deficiencies identified in this Order; (4) requiring the Firm to adopt, implement, and certify to certain additional policies and procedures related to its system of quality control; (5) requiring the Firm to report certain information to Board staff during the two-year period following the entry of this Order; and (6) requiring the Firm to provide additional training to its associated persons. In ordering these sanctions, including the amount of the civil money penalty imposed upon the Firm, the Board took into account that the Firm provided extraordinary cooperation during the Board's investigation of this matter, as described in more detail below.

The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that Deloitte Turkey violated PCAOB rules and standards by devising and implementing a plan to improperly alter work papers in advance of a Board inspection in 2014, which included the improper alteration of work papers in connection with one issuer audit.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondent.

II.

In anticipation of the institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondent has submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offer") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over Respondent and the subject matter of these proceedings, which are admitted, Respondent consents to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[1]

ORDER

III.

On the basis of Respondent's Offer, the Board finds[2] that:

A. Summary

1. This matter concerns Deloitte Turkey's improper and unethical conduct in connection with the Board's 2014 inspection of the Firm. Specifically, the Firm violated PCAOB rules and standards when former members of the Firm's management devised an improper audit document alteration plan and then implemented it in advance of the inspection, culminating in the Firm making that documentation available to PCAOB inspectors without revealing the alterations. The individuals responsible for devising and implementing the plan were, at the time, some of the Firm's most senior partners,[3] who were entrusted with leadership and governance roles in the Firm. As a result of this misconduct, the Firm undermined the Board's inspection process, a critical tool for the Board's investor protection mission.

2. As part of the plan, former members of the Firm's management provided the opportunity to improperly alter work papers to all three of the engagement teams whose engagements had been selected for review in connection with the 2014

---

[1] The findings herein are made pursuant to Respondent's Offer and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

[2] The Board finds that Respondent's conduct described in this Order meets the condition set out in Section 105(c)(5)(A) of the Act, which provides that certain sanctions may be imposed in the event of intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, that results in violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard.

[3] The term "partner," as used in this Order refers to a Deloitte Turkey partner or shareholder.

ORDER

inspection. The engagement partner for one of those teams took the opportunity and improperly altered several work papers, which were then made available to PCAOB inspectors.

3. Through its actions, Deloitte Turkey violated PCAOB quality control standards requiring it to establish and maintain policies and procedures to provide it with reasonable assurance that its personnel would act with integrity and in compliance with professional standards. In addition, Deloitte Turkey violated PCAOB ethics standards, audit documentation standards, and the Firm's duty to cooperate with PCAOB inspections.

B. Respondent

4. DRT Bagimsiz Denetim ve Serbest Muhasebeci Mali Musavirlik A.Ş. is a public accounting firm organized as a joint stock corporation under the laws of Turkey, and is headquartered in Istanbul, Turkey. The Firm registered with the Board on September 15, 2004, pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules. The Firm is currently the principal auditor for one "issuer," as that term is defined by Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii). During the period relevant to this matter, the Firm performed audits for one issuer client. In addition, as to four issuers, the Firm currently participates in audits led by other accounting firms, including by other member firms of the Deloitte Touche Tohmatsu Limited network ("Deloitte Global"). Those other accounting firms request the Firm to perform audit work that those other firms use or rely on in issuing their audit reports. The Firm has approximately 30 partners and 645 employees, and is managed by a Board of Directors, which together with the Executive Committee (the "Executive Committee") for Deloitte's operations in Turkey, is responsible for overseeing the Firm's operations, including its system of quality control and ethics.[4]

C. Other Relevant Persons and Entities

5. Senior Partner 1 is a former partner of Deloitte Turkey. At all relevant times, Senior Partner 1 held senior leadership positions at the Firm, including serving on the Firm's Executive Committee, and acted as the Firm's primary contact with the [4] In the Fall of 2016, Deloitte Turkey began the process of installing new leadership, which has begun the process of implementing enhancements to the Firm's system of quality control and to reinforce the Firm's commitment to compliance with laws and professional standards.

ORDER

PCAOB on its 2014 inspection. As a result of the conduct described in this Order, the Firm placed Senior Partner 1 on administrative leave on or about August 19, 2016, and effective January 1, 2017, he separated from the Firm.

6. Senior Partner 2[5] is a former partner of Deloitte Turkey. At all relevant times, senior Partner 2 held a leadership position in the Firm's Audit function and had significant interactions with PCAOB staff during the 2014 inspection. As a result of the conduct described in this Order, the Firm placed Senior Partner 2 on administrative leave on or about August 19, 2016, and effective January 1, 2017, Senior Partner 2 separated from the Firm.

7. Senior Partner 3 is a former partner of Deloitte Turkey. At all relevant times, Senior Partner 3 held senior leadership positions at the Firm including serving on the Firm's Executive Committee, and he also had significant interactions with PCAOB staff during the 2014 inspection. As a result of the conduct described in this Order, the Firm placed Senior Partner 3 on administrative leave on or about August 19, 2016, and effective January 1, 2017, he separated from the Firm.

8. Senior Partner 4 is a former partner of Deloitte Turkey. At all relevant times, Senior Partner 4 held senior leadership positions at the Firm including serving on the Firm's Executive Committee. By virtue of his specific leadership positions, Senior Partner 4 was one of the Firm partners most responsible for ensuring compliance by Firm personnel with ethical and regulatory requirements. As a result of the conduct described in this Order, the Firm placed Senior Partner 4 on administrative leave on or about September 8, 2016, and, and on or about September 30, 2016, Senior Partner 4 retired from the Firm.

9. Partner for Engagement A[6] is a former partner of Deloitte Turkey. The Partner for Engagement A led Deloitte Turkey's audit work on the Turkish subsidiary of an issuer for December 31, 2013. On or about September 8, 2016, the Partner for Engagement A was placed on administrative leave due to her participation in the improper alteration of work papers for Engagement A, as described herein, and on February 14, 2017, the Partner for Engagement A separated from the Firm.

---

[5] See Berkman Özata, PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-051 (Dec. 19, 2017).

[6] See Şule Firuzment, PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-052 (Dec. 19, 2017).

ORDER

10. IT Leader is a former technology officer at Deloitte Turkey. As a result of the conduct described in this Order, the Firm placed the IT Leader on administrative leave on or about August 19, 2016, and on November 30, 2016, he separated from the Firm.

D. Deloitte Turkey Violated PCAOB Rules and Standards in Connection with the Board's 2014 Inspection of the Firm

The Improper Document Alteration Plan

11. The Board conducted its first inspection of Deloitte Turkey in 2014. On or about August 28, 2014, the Board's Division of Registration and Inspections ("Inspections") informed the Firm that its work in connection with three issuer audits would be inspected. At the time Inspections notified the Firm of the engagements it had selected for inspection, the documentation completion date[7] for each of the audits had long since passed.[8]

12. Following the PCAOB's notification of the engagements it had selected for inspection, Senior Partner 1, Senior Partner 2, Senior Partner 3, and Senior Partner 4 held one or more discussions to address various issues, including the upcoming inspection. During one of those discussions, Senior Partner 4, who among the group held the most elevated position at Deloitte Turkey, approved a plan concerning the audit

---

[7] PCAOB Standards state that: "A complete and final set of audit documentation should be assembled for retention as of a date not more than 45 days after the report release date (documentation completion date)." See Auditing Standard No. ("AS") 3, Audit Documentation, at ¶ 15. All references to PCAOB rules and standards are to the versions of those rules and standards in effect at the time of the relevant conduct. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its auditing standards using a topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Rel. No. 2015-002 (Mar. 31, 2015).

[8] One issuer filed its Form 20-F with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") on March 21, 2014, and thus the documentation completion date for that audit was no later than May 5, 2014. The other two issuers filed Forms 10-K with the SEC on February 28, 2014 and June 5, 2014, respectively, and thus the documentation completion dates for those audits were no later than April 14, 2014 and July 20, 2014, respectively.

ORDER

documentation for the engagements selected for inspection (the "previously archived work papers"). Under that plan, the engagement teams would be given the opportunity, in advance of the PCAOB's inspection, to improperly alter the previously archived work papers without indicating to the PCAOB that any such alterations had occurred (the "Improper Alteration Plan" or "Plan").

13. After Senior Partner 4 approved the Plan, Senior Partner 1 began the process of implementing it by seeking the assistance of the Firm's information technology ("IT") department, supervised by the IT Leader. However, before agreeing to provide the assistance requested, the IT Leader contacted Senior Partner 4 to confirm that Senior Partner 4 had approved and understood the implications of the Improper Alteration Plan. In response, Senior Partner 4 reiterated his approval. The IT Leader thereafter caused the Firm's IT department to download the previously archived work papers for each of the three engagements Inspections had selected onto separate laptop computers. Each of the laptops was disconnected from the Deloitte Turkey network so that the laptops' system date could be backdated in order to permit the previously archived work papers to be improperly altered without detection.

14. Senior Partner 2 then provided the laptops to the engagement teams for each of the three engagements selected for inspection. After doing so, Senior Partner 2 participated in a test designed to ensure that, after the work papers had been improperly altered and then restored to Deloitte Turkey's network and returned to the Firm's work paper archiving system, any alterations made on the laptops could not be detected.

Improper Alterations

15. In connection with the Improper Alteration Plan, Senior Partner 1 approached the Partner for Engagement A and informed her that deficiencies in the previously archived work papers for Engagement A would lead the PCAOB to issue negative comments that could affect her career and lead to monetary sanctions and reputational damage to the Firm. In response to Senior Partner 1's comments, the Partner for Engagement A made several improper alterations to the previously archived work papers on the laptop Senior Partner 2 had provided to her.

16. Senior Partner 2 then facilitated the transfer of the file containing the improperly altered work papers for Engagement A to the Firm's IT department, so that the file could replace the original file on the Deloitte Turkey network. The improperly altered file for Engagement A was then made available to the PCAOB inspectors.

ORDER

Misleading Engagement Profile

17. Before the Board's inspection field work began, Deloitte Turkey produced to the Board completed work sheets concerning Engagement A in a document entitled Public Company Accounting Oversight Board 2014 Inspection Period Substantial Role and Referred Work Engagement Profile ("Engagement Profile"). Firm representatives, including the Partner for Engagement A, signed the completed work sheets in the Engagement Profile.

18. One of the questions in the Engagement Profile work sheets asked: "Have there been any changes made to the audit documentation subsequent to the document completion date? If yes, please explain . . . the nature of the changes and provide a summary log of when the changes were made, or attach a summary memo of any such alterations." In response to this question, the completed Engagement Profile work sheet stated "No." The Partner for Engagement A knew that response was false when she signed the completed work sheets in the Engagement Profile, in light of the improper alterations she had made to the Engagement A work papers.

PCAOB Inspection Field Work

19. During the PCAOB inspection, Senior Partners 1, 2, 3, and 4, as well as the Partner for Engagement A, had discussions with the PCAOB inspectors, but they never informed the inspectors of the Improper Alteration Plan. Further, Senior Partners 1 and 2 and the Partner for Engagement A, all of whom knew that improper alterations had been made pursuant to the Plan, did not inform the inspectors of the improper alterations.

Applicable PCAOB Rules and Standards

20. PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm comply with the Board's quality control standards as well the Board's ethics standards.[9] PCAOB quality control standards require that a registered public accounting firm "have a system of quality control for its accounting and auditing practice."[10] As part of its system of

---

[9] See PCAOB Rules 3400T, Interim Quality Control Standards, and 3500T, Interim Ethics and Independence Standards.

[10] QC § 20.02, System of Quality Control for a CPA Firm's Accounting and Auditing Practice.

ORDER

quality control, a firm should establish policies and procedures to provide the firm with reasonable assurance that (1) "personnel … perform all professional responsibilities with integrity;" [11] and (2) "the work performed by engagement personnel meets applicable professional standards, regulatory requirements, and the firm's standards of quality." [12] PCAOB ethics standards require that, "[i]n the performance of any professional service, a [registered firm] shall maintain . . . integrity . . . ."[13]

21. PCAOB rules also require that registered public accounting firms and their associated persons comply with applicable auditing and related professional practice standards.[14] As noted above, PCAOB audit documentation standards require that the complete and final set of documentation for an audit be assembled for retention by the "documentation completion date," a date no later than 45 days from the date on which the auditor grants permission to use its report.[15] After the documentation completion date, audit documentation must not be deleted or discarded from the audit file, but it may be added as long as the auditor documents the date the information was added, the name of the person who prepared the additional documentation, and the reason for adding the documentation.[16]

22. In addition, PCAOB Rule 4006, Duty to Cooperate with Inspectors, requires registered firms and their associated persons to cooperate with inspections conducted by the Board. The cooperation requirement of Rule 4006 includes an obligation "not to provide misleading documents or information in connection with the Board's inspection processes."[17]

---

[11] QC § 20.09.

[12] QC § 20.17.

[13] ET § 102.01, Integrity and Objectivity.

[14] See PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards.

[15] AS 3 at ¶ 15.

[16] See id. at ¶ 16.

[17] Deloitte Touche Tohmatsu Auditores Independentes, PCAOB Rel. No. 105-2016-031, ¶ 62 (December 5, 2016); José Domingos do Prado, PCAOB Rel. No.

ORDER

Deloitte Turkey's Violations

23. As a result of the conduct described above, including former Firm management's devising of the Improper Alteration Plan, as well as the implementation of the Plan, through which documents were improperly altered and then made available to PCAOB inspectors, Deloitte Turkey violated PCAOB quality control standards. Specifically, the Firm failed to establish and maintain policies and procedures to provide it with reasonable assurance that its personnel would "perform all professional responsibilities with integrity" and that "the work performed by engagement personnel [would] meet[] applicable professional standards, regulatory requirements, and the firm's standards of quality."[18] Through its conduct, Deloitte Turkey also violated PCAOB ethics standards requiring it to maintain integrity in the performance of professional services.[19]

24. In addition, through the action of former partners, including those holding senior management positions at the Firm, Deloitte Turkey violated PCAOB audit documentation standards by improperly altering previously archived work papers. Further, Deloitte Turkey violated its duty to cooperate with Inspections by making those improperly altered work papers available to PCAOB inspectors without informing the inspectors of the improper alterations.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondent's Offer. In ordering sanctions, including the amount of the civil money penalty imposed upon the Firm, the Board took into account that the Firm provided extraordinary cooperation during the Board's investigation of this matter. Specifically, the Firm: (a) voluntarily and timely self-reported the entirety of the misconduct described in this Order;[20] (b) began the process of implementing enhancements to its quality

---

105-2016-032, ¶ 55 (December 5, 2016); Arturo Vargas Arellano, CPC, PCAOB Rel. No. 105-2016-045, ¶ 38.

[18] QC § 20.09, 17.

[19] See ET § 102.01; QC § 20.10.

[20] Specifically, in 2016, a former partner of the Firm received information from a senior partner of the Firm regarding misconduct that had occurred in connection control policies and procedures in relevant areas and separating from the Firm those personnel responsible for the misconduct identified by the Firm; and (c) provided substantial assistance to the PCAOB's investigation, including by conducting its own internal investigation and sharing the factual results of that internal investigation with Board staff. Absent that extraordinary cooperation, the monetary penalty imposed would have been significantly larger and the Board may have imposed other, additional sanctions. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

ORDER

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), Deloitte Turkey is censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rules 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of $750,000 is imposed upon Deloitte Turkey. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of this civil money penalty will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. Deloitte Turkey shall pay this civil money penalty within 20 days of the issuance of this Order by (1) wire transfer in accordance with instructions furnished by Board staff; or (2) United States Postal Service money order, bank money order, certified check, or bank cashier's check (a) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, (b) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, and (c) submitted under a cover letter, which identifies the Firm as a respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB release number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe W. Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006.

---

with the PCAOB's 2014 inspection. The former partner then contacted Deloitte Global, which passed the information onto the Firm. The Firm in turn reported the alleged misconduct to the Board. At the time of the Firm's self-reporting, the PCAOB had no indication that the Firm and its personnel had improperly altered documents.

ORDER

C. Pursuant to Sections 105(c)(4)(F) and (G) of the Act and PCAOB Rules 5300(a)(6) and (9), the Board orders that:

1. Undertakings: Deloitte Turkey shall carry out the following Undertakings:

(a) Initial Certification.

Within thirty (30) days of the entry of this Order, the Firm shall provide a certification, signed by the Chief Executive Officer of Deloitte's operations in Turkey (the "CEO"), and an additional appropriate signatory of the Firm, to the Director of the PCAOB's Division of Enforcement and Investigations ("Director"), stating that the Firm has adopted policies and procedures designed to provide the Firm with reasonable assurance that it will detect any improper alterations of previously archived work papers, including ensuring that any additions to audit documentation after the documentation completion date are made only in accordance with PCAOB rules and standards.

(b) Subsequent Certification.

Within ninety (90) days of the entry of this Order, the Firm shall provide to the Director a certification, signed by the CEO, and an additional signatory of the Firm, stating that all professionals involved in the performance of any audit, as that term is defined in Section 110(1) of the Act ("Audit"), have received eight (8) hours of additional training concerning compliance with AS3, PCAOB Rule 4006, and the obligation to perform all professional responsibilities with ethics and integrity.

(c) Other Undertakings

(1) For two (2) years from the date of this Order, the Firm will promptly report to the Board any allegations of improper document alterations in connection with any Audit subject to the PCAOB's jurisdiction ("PCAOB Audit") in which Respondent plays a role, or any ethics violations in connection with any PCAOB Audit in which Respondent plays a role.

(2) Beginning one year from the date of this Order and for a total period of two years, the CEO and an additional appropriate signatory of the Firm shall annually certify to the Director that the Firm has met its reporting obligations pursuant to (c)(1) above.

ORDER

(3) Within ninety (90) days of the entry of this Order, the Firm will, to the extent not already in place, adopt enhanced reporting procedures for the reporting and investigation of suspected wrongdoing by Firm personnel. Within that same time period, the Firm shall provide to the Director a certification, signed by the Firm's CEO, that the Firm has adopted such enhanced reporting procedures. The enhanced reporting procedures shall include processes for Firm personnel to report misconduct anonymously, and to report misconduct via telephone, email, website, or mail. The enhanced reporting procedures shall include a prohibition on retaliation against Firm personnel making good faith reports of suspected wrongdoing, to the same extent as the protections established by Section 806(a), (d), and (e) of the Act.

(4) No later than 30 days after the date of this Order, the Firm shall provide an electronic or paper copy of this Order to all of its associated persons.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

December 19, 2017

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street, N.W.
Washington, DC 20006
Telephone: (202) 207-9100
Facsimile: (202) 862-8430
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of Berkman Özata, Respondent.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-051 December 19, 2017

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("Board" or "PCAOB") is: (1) censuring Berkman Özata ("Özata" or "Respondent"); and (2) barring Özata from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm.[1] The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that Özata failed to cooperate with a Board inspection and violated PCAOB audit documentation standards in connection with the Turkish subsidiary of one engagement involving one issuer.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondent.

II.

In anticipation of the institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondent has submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offer") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over him and the subject matter of these proceedings, which are admitted, Respondent

[1] Özata may file a petition for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm after two (2) years from the date of this Order.

ORDER

consents to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[2]

III.

On the basis of Respondent's Offer, the Board finds[3] that:

A. Respondent

1. Berkman Özata, 45, is a former partner of the registered public accounting firm DRT Bagimsiz Denetim ve Serbest Muhasebeci Mali Musavirlik A.Ş. ("Deloitte Turkey" or "Firm"). Özata served as the Risk and Reputation Leader for Deloitte Turkey between June 2016 and August 2016, and also served as the Firm's National Professional Practice Director between March 2010 and June 2016. On or about August 19, 2016, Özata was placed on administrative leave due to the misconduct described in this Order, and on January 1, 2017, after declining the possibility of accepting a non-audit position at the Firm, Özata separated from the Firm. At all relevant times, Özata was an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

B. Respondent Violated Applicable PCAOB Rules and Standards in Connection with a Board Inspection

Applicable PCAOB Rules and Standards

2. In connection with the preparation or issuance of an audit report, PCAOB rules require that associated persons of registered public accounting firms comply with applicable auditing and related professional practice standards.[4] Auditing Standard No.

---

[2] The findings herein are made pursuant to Respondent's Offer and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

[3] The Board finds that Respondent's conduct described in this Order meets the condition set out in Section 105(c)(5)(A) of the Act, which provides that certain sanctions may be imposed in the event of intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, that results in violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard.

[4] See PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards. All references to PCAOB rules and standards are to the versions of those rules and standards in effect at the time of the relevant conduct. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its auditing standards using a topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of

ORDER

3, Audit Documentation ("AS3"), requires that the complete and final set of documentation for an audit be assembled for retention by the "documentation completion date," a date no later than 45 days from the date on which the auditor grants permission to use its report.[5] After the documentation completion date, audit documentation must not be deleted or discarded from the audit file, but it may be added as long as the auditor documents the date the information was added, the name of the person who prepared the additional documentation, and the reason for adding the documentation.[6]

3. PCAOB Rule 4006, Duty to Cooperate with Inspectors, requires registered firms and their associated persons to cooperate with inspections conducted by the Board. The cooperation requirement of Rule 4006 includes an obligation "not to provide misleading documents or information in connection with the Board's inspection processes."[7]

Respondent's Violations of PCAOB Rules and Standards in Connection with the 2014 Board Inspection

4. The Board conducted an inspection of Deloitte Turkey in 2014. This was the first PCAOB inspection of Deloitte Turkey. On or about August 28, 2014, the Board's Division of Registration and Inspections ("Inspections") informed the Firm that its work in connection with three particular issuer audits would be inspected. At the time Inspections notified the Firm of the engagements it had selected for inspection, the documentation completion date for each of the audits had long passed.[8]

PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Rel. No. 2015-002 (Mar. 31, 2015); see also PCAOB Auditing Standards Reorganized and Pre-Reorganized (Jan. 2017), https://pcaobus.org/Standards/Auditing/Documents/ReorganizedandPreReorganizedNumbering.pdf.

[5] AS3 ¶ 15.

[6] See id. ¶ 16.

[7] Deloitte Touche Tohmatsu Auditores Independentes, PCAOB Rel. No. 105-2016-031, ¶ 62 (Dec. 5, 2016); José Domingos do Prado, PCAOB Rel. No. 105-2016-032, ¶ 55 (Dec. 5, 2016); Arturo Vargas Arellano, CPC, PCAOB Rel. No. 105-2016-045, ¶ 38 (Dec. 5, 2016).

[8] One issuer filed its Form 20-F with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") on March 21, 2014, and thus the document completion date for that audit was May 5, 2014. The other two issuers filed Form 10-Ks with the SEC on

ORDER

5. Following the PCAOB's notification of the engagements it had selected for inspection, Özata participated in a series of discussions with other senior members of the Firm regarding the upcoming inspection. During those discussions, a partner, who was senior to Özata, approved a plan concerning the audit documentation for the engagements selected for inspection (the "previously archived work papers"). Under that plan, the engagement teams would be given the opportunity, in advance of the PCAOB's inspection, to improperly alter the previously archived work papers without indicating to the PCAOB that any such alterations had occurred.

6. After the decision to provide the engagement teams with the opportunity to make improper alterations, the Firm's information technology ("IT") department downloaded the previously archived work papers for each of the three engagements onto a separate laptop computer. Each of the laptops was disconnected from the Deloitte Turkey network so that previously archived work papers could be improperly altered and the laptops' time and date settings could be backdated without detection. Özata provided one of the laptops to the engagement partner for one of the engagements that had been selected for inspection ("Engagement A").[9] He also participated in a test to ensure that any improper alterations could not be detected after the work papers were restored to Deloitte Turkey's network and returned to the Firm's work paper archiving system. After Özata confirmed that alterations could not be detected, the engagement partner for Engagement A improperly altered several previously archived work papers.[10]

7. Özata then facilitated the transfer of the file containing the improperly altered work papers for Engagement A to the Firm's IT department so that the file could be replaced on the Deloitte Turkey network and made available to the PCAOB's inspectors. During the PCAOB inspection, Özata had discussions with the PCAOB inspectors but did not inform them of the plan to provide engagement teams with the opportunity to improperly alter their previously archived work papers in advance of the inspection or inform them of the improper alterations to the previously archived work papers for Engagement A.

February 28, 2014 and June 5, 2014, respectively and thus the document completion dates for those audits were April 14, 2014 and July 20, 2014, respectively.

[9] In Engagement A, Deloitte Turkey had performed audit work for the Turkish subsidiary of an issuer for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2013.

[10] See Şule Firuzment, PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-052 (Dec. 19, 2017).

ORDER

8. Özata's actions violated PCAOB audit documentation standards and his duty to cooperate with Inspections.[11]

* * * * *

9. During the PCAOB's investigation of this matter, Ozata provided substantial assistance by, among other things, providing detailed information concerning the events relating to the alteration of the Engagement A work papers, including significant information concerning the actions of the Firm and its personnel in this matter.[12] The Board took that substantial assistance into account in ordering the sanctions under Section IV of this Order.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondent's Offer. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), Berkman Özata is censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(C) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(2), Berkman Özata is barred from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i);[13] and

---

[11] See AS3 ¶ 16; PCAOB Rule 4006.

[12] See "Policy Statement Regarding Credit for Extraordinary Cooperation in Connection with Board Investigations," Apr. 24, 2013.

[13] As a consequence of the bar imposed in this Order, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act will apply with respect to Özata. Section 105(c)(7)(B) provides: "It shall be unlawful for any person that is suspended or barred from being associated with a registered public accounting firm under this subsection willfully to become or remain associated with any issuer, broker, or dealer in an accountancy or a financial management capacity, and for any issuer, broker, or dealer that knew, or in the exercise of reasonable care should have known, of such suspension or bar, to permit such an association, without the consent of the Board or the Commission."

ORDER

C. After two (2) years from the date of this Order, Berkman Özata may file a petition, pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5302(b), for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

December 19, 2017

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street, N.W.
Washington, DC 20006
Telephone: (202) 207-9100
Facsimile: (202) 862-8430
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of Şule Firuzment, Respondent.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-052 December 19, 2017

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("Board" or "PCAOB") is: (1) censuring Şule Firuzment ("Firuzment" or "Respondent"); (2) suspending Firuzment from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm for a period of one (1) year from the date of this Order; and (3) limiting her activities in connection with any "audit" as that term is defined in Section 110(1) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), for an additional period of one (1) year following the expiration of her suspension. The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that Firuzment failed to cooperate with a Board inspection and violated PCAOB audit documentation standards in connection with one engagement involving the Turkish subsidiary of one issuer.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondent.

II.

In anticipation of the institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondent has submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offer") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over her and the subject matter of these proceedings, which are admitted, Respondent

ORDER

consents to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[1]

III.

On the basis of Respondent's Offer, the Board finds[2] that:

A. Respondent

1. Şule Firuzment, 39, is a former partner of the registered public accounting firm DRT Bagimsiz Denetim ve Serbest Muhasebeci Mali Musavirlik A.Ş. ("Deloitte Turkey" or "Firm"). Firuzment served as the engagement partner on Deloitte Turkey's audit work on the Turkish subsidiary of an issuer for the year ended December 31, 2013 ("Engagement A"). On or about September 8, 2016, Firuzment was placed on administrative leave due to her participation in the improper alteration of work papers for Engagement A, as described herein, and on February 14, 2017, Firuzment separated from the Firm. At all relevant times, Firuzment was an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

B. Respondent Violated Applicable PCAOB Rules and Standards in Connection with a Board Inspection

Applicable PCAOB Rules and Standards

2. In connection with the preparation or issuance of an audit report, PCAOB rules require that associated persons of registered public accounting firms comply with applicable auditing and related professional practice standards.[3] Auditing Standard No.

---

[1] The findings herein are made pursuant to Respondent's Offer and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

[2] The Board finds that Respondent's conduct described in this Order meets the condition set out in Section 105(c)(5)(A) of the Act, which provides that certain sanctions may be imposed in the event of intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, that results in violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard.

[3] See PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards. All references to PCAOB rules and standards are to the versions of those rules and standards in effect at the time of the relevant conduct. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its auditing standards using a

ORDER

3, Audit Documentation ("AS3"), requires that the complete and final set of documentation for an audit be assembled for retention by the "documentation completion date," a date no later than 45 days from the date on which the auditor grants permission to use its report.[4] After the documentation completion date, audit documentation must not be deleted or discarded from the audit file, but it may be added as long as the auditor documents the date the information was added, the name of the person who prepared the additional documentation, and the reason for adding the documentation.[5]

3. PCAOB Rule 4006, Duty to Cooperate with Inspectors, requires registered firms and their associated persons to cooperate with inspections conducted by the Board. The cooperation requirement of Rule 4006 includes an obligation "not to provide misleading documents or information in connection with the Board's inspection processes."[6]

Respondent's Violations of PCAOB Rules and Standards in Connection with the 2014 Board Inspection

4. The Board conducted an inspection of Deloitte Turkey in 2014. This was the first PCAOB inspection of Deloitte Turkey. On or about August 28, 2014, the Board's Division of Registration and Inspections ("Inspections") informed the Firm that its work in connection with Engagement A would be one of the three engagements inspected. At topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Rel. No. 2015-002 (Mar. 31, 2015); see also PCAOB Auditing Standards Reorganized and Pre-Reorganized (Jan. 2017), https://pcaobus.org/Standards/Auditing/Documents/ReorganizedandPreReorganizedNumbering.pdf.

---

[4] AS3 ¶ 15.

[5] See id. ¶ 16.

[6] Deloitte Touche Tohmatsu Auditores Independentes, PCAOB Rel. No. 105-2016-031, ¶ 62 (Dec. 5, 2016); José Domingos do Prado, PCAOB Rel. No. 105-2016-032, ¶ 55 (Dec. 5, 2016); Arturo Vargas Arellano, CPC, PCAOB Rel. No. 105-2016-045, ¶ 38 (Dec. 5, 2016).

ORDER

the time of that notification, the documentation completion date associated with Engagement A had long since passed.[7]

5. After being informed that the Engagement A audit work would be inspected, a senior partner at Deloitte Turkey ("Partner 1") informed Firuzment that deficiencies in the Engagement A work papers that had been assembled for retention (the "previously archived work papers") would lead the PCAOB to issue negative comments that could affect Firuzment's career and lead to monetary sanctions and reputational damage to the Firm.

6. In response to Partner 1's comments, Firuzment made several improper alterations to the previously archived work papers for Engagement A. Specifically, another senior partner at the Firm ("Partner 2")[8] provided Firuzment with a laptop containing the previously archived work papers for Engagement A. The laptop was disconnected from the Deloitte Turkey network so that the previously archived work papers could be improperly altered and the laptop's time and date settings could be backdated without detection.

7. After receiving the laptop, Firuzment altered the time and date settings to a period during which she had conducted work on Engagement A, and improperly altered several work papers. Specifically, Firuzment revised numerous memoranda concerning various topics including the accounting for a particular acquisition, goodwill impairment, the involvement of information technology specialists in the audit work for Engagement A, and a discussion of certain litigation.

8. After improperly altering the Engagement A work papers, Firuzment transferred the file containing the improperly altered work papers onto a USB drive and provided it to Partner 2 so that the file could be loaded onto the Deloitte Turkey network and made available to the PCAOB inspections team.

9. Before the Board's inspection field work began, Deloitte Turkey produced to the Board completed work sheets concerning Engagement A in a document entitled Public Company Accounting Oversight Board 2014 Inspection Period Substantial Role

---

[7] With respect to the three engagements inspected, one issuer filed its Form 20-F with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") on March 21, 2014, and thus the document completion date for that audit was no later than May 5, 2014. The other two issuers filed Forms 10-K with the SEC on February 28, 2014 and June 5, 2014, respectively, and thus the document completion dates for those audits were no later than April 14, 2014 and July 20, 2014, respectively.

[8] See Berkman Özata, PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-051 (Dec. 19, 2017).

ORDER

and Referred Work Engagement Profile ("Engagement Profile"). Firuzment signed the completed work sheets in the Engagement Profile.

10. One of the questions in the Engagement Profile work sheets asked: "Have there been any changes made to the audit documentation subsequent to the document completion date? If yes, please explain . . . the nature of the changes and provide a summary log of when the changes were made, or attach a summary memo of any such alterations." In response to this question, the completed Engagement Profile work sheet stated "No." Firuzment knew that response was false when she signed the completed work sheets in the Engagement Profile, in light of the improper alterations she had made to the Engagement A work papers.

11. During the PCAOB inspection, Firuzment had discussions with the PCAOB inspectors but did not inform them of the improper alterations that she had made to the Engagement A work papers.

12. Firuzment's actions violated PCAOB audit documentation standards and her duty to cooperate with Inspections.[9]

* * * * *

13. During the PCAOB's investigation of this matter, Firuzment provided substantial assistance by, among other things, providing detailed information concerning the events relating to the alteration of the Engagement A work papers, including significant information concerning the actions of the Firm and its personnel in this matter.[10] The Board took that substantial assistance into account in ordering the sanctions under Section IV of this Order.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondent's Offer. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

---

[9] See AS3 ¶ 16; PCAOB Rule 4006.

[10] See "Policy Statement Regarding Credit for Extraordinary Cooperation in Connection with Board Investigations," Apr. 24, 2013.

ORDER

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), Şule Firuzment is censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(B) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(2), for a period of one (1) year from the date of this Order, Şule Firuzment shall be suspended from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i);[11] and

C. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(C) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(3), for one (1) year following the expiration of the suspension ordered in paragraph B, Firuzment's role in any "audit," as that term is defined in Section 110(1) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(a)(v), shall be restricted as follows: Firuzment shall not (1) serve, or supervise the work of another person serving, as an "engagement partner," as that term is used in the Board's Auditing Standard No. 10 or AS 1201, Supervision of the Audit Engagement; (2) serve, or supervise the work of another person serving, as an "engagement quality reviewer," as that term is used in the Board's Auditing Standard No. 7 or AS 1220, Engagement Quality Review; (3) serve, or supervise the work of another person serving, in any role that is equivalent to, but differently denominated from, engagement partner (such as "lead partner" or "practitioner-in-charge") or engagement quality reviewer (such as "concurring partner"); (4) exercise authority, or supervise the work of another person exercising authority, either to sign a registered public accounting firm's name to an audit report or to consent to the use of a previously issued audit report for any issuer, broker, or dealer; or (5) serve, or supervise the work of another person serving, as the "other auditor," or "another auditor," as those terms are used in the Board's

---

[11] As a consequence of the suspension imposed in this Order, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act will apply with respect to Firuzment. Section 105(c)(7)(B) provides: "It shall be unlawful for any person that is suspended or barred from being associated with a registered public accounting firm under this subsection willfully to become or remain associated with any issuer, broker, or dealer in an accountancy or a financial management capacity, and for any issuer, broker, or dealer that knew, or in the exercise of reasonable care should have known, of such suspension or bar, to permit such an association, without the consent of the Board or the Commission."

ORDER

Interim Auditing Standard AU Section 543 or AS 1205, Part of the Audit Performed by Other Independent Auditors.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

December 19, 2017

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street, N.W.
Washington, DC 20006
Telephone: (202) 207-9100
Facsimile: (202) 862-8430
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS	PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-053
In the Matter of Edward Richardson Jr., CPA, and Edward Richardson Jr., CPA,	December 19, 2017
Respondents.

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (the "Board" or "PCAOB") is censuring registered public accounting firm Edward Richardson Jr., CPA (the "Firm") and permanently revoking the Firm's registration; and censuring Edward Richardson Jr., CPA ("Richardson") and permanently barring him from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm. The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that the Firm and Richardson (collectively, "Respondents") violated PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the Firm's audits of seven broker-dealer clients during a period in which the United States Securities and Exchange Commission (the "Commission") had initiated proceedings against Respondents for similar violations.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondents.

II.

In anticipation of the institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondents have each submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offers") that the Board has determined to accept. Respondents admit the facts, findings, and violations set forth below, and consent to entry of this Order Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order").[1]

ORDER

III.

On the basis of Respondents' Offers, the Board finds that:[2]

A. Respondents

1. Edward Richardson Jr., CPA is a sole proprietorship organized under the laws of the state of Michigan, and headquartered in Southfield, Michigan. The Firm registered with the Board on June 2, 2009, pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules. The Firm is licensed to practice public accountancy with the state of North Carolina (License No. 32591). At all relevant times, the Firm was the external auditor for the broker-dealers identified herein.

2. Edward Richardson Jr., CPA, age 69, is a certified public accountant licensed by the states of Michigan (License No. 1101013032), Illinois (License No. 065041283), Florida (License No. AC45098), New Jersey (License No. 20CC03751000), New York (License No. 111609), Ohio (License No. CPA.49693), and Washington (License No. 33689). Mr. Richardson is the owner of Edward Richardson Jr., CPA and, at all relevant times, was an associated person of a registered public accounting firm, as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

B. Summary

3. This matter concerns the Firm's repeated failure to comply with Auditing Standard No. 1220, Engagement Quality Review ("AS 1220"), with respect to seven broker-dealer audit clients.[3] In the case of each client's audit, the Firm failed to obtain

---

[1] The findings herein are made pursuant to the Respondents' Offers and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

[2] The Board finds that each Respondent's conduct described in this Order meets the conditions set out in Section 105(c)(5) of the Act, 15 U.S.C. § 7215(c)(5), which provides that certain sanctions may be imposed in the event of intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, that results in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard.

[3] All references to PCAOB rules and standards are to the versions of those rules and standards in effect at the time of the relevant audits. As of December 31, an engagement quality review ("EQR") of each audit and attestation engagement even though it was required to be performed and despite a pending Commission litigation against Respondents for failures to obtain EQRs for other broker-dealer audit clients.

ORDER

4. This matter also concerns Richardson's direct and substantial contribution to the Firm's violations of PCAOB rules and standards concerning the requirement for EQRs. With respect to each of the seven audit engagements in which the Firm failed to have an EQR during the Commission litigation, Richardson took or omitted to take actions knowing, or recklessly not knowing, that his acts and omissions would directly and substantially contribute to the Firm's violations of PCAOB rules and standards.[4]

5. Finally, the Firm failed to disclose certain reportable events to the Board on Form 3, as required by PCAOB rules.[5]

C. The Firm Violated PCAOB Rules and Standards Relating to Engagement Quality Reviews

6. In connection with the preparation or issuance of an audit report, PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons comply with the Board's auditing and related professional practice standards.[6]

7. For audit engagements, reviews of interim financial information, and attestation engagements of broker-dealers for fiscal years ending on or after June 1, 2014, AS 1220 requires that an EQR be performed pursuant to PCAOB standards.[7] AS 1220 also provides that a firm may grant permission to a client to use the engagement

---

2016, the PCAOB reorganized its auditing standards using a topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Release No. 2015-002 (Mar. 31, 2015); see also PCAOB Auditing Standards Reorganized and Pre-Reorganized Numbering (Jan. 2017).

[4] See PCAOB Rule 3502, Responsibility Not to Knowingly or Recklessly Contribute to Violations.

[5] See PCAOB Rule 2203, Special Reports.

[6] PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards.

[7] See AS 1220.01.

ORDER

report only after an engagement quality reviewer provides concurring approval of issuance.[8]

8. As described below, Respondents failed to comply with PCAOB rules and standards.

Commission Instituted Proceedings Against Respondents
For Failures to Obtain Engagement Quality Reviews

9. On February 24, 2017, the Commission instituted proceedings against Respondents, alleging, among other things, that the firm failed to obtain EQRs and concurring approvals of issuance, as required by PCAOB auditing standards, for the audits of one issuer client for fiscal years ended 2012 and 2013, and for dozens of broker-dealer clients for fiscal years ending after June 1, 2014 through December 31, 2015, in violation of federal securities laws.[9]

10. On June 14, 2017, based on the allegations set forth in February 2017, the Commission issued an Order against Respondents Making Findings and Imposing Remedial Sanctions and a Cease-and-Desist Order Pursuant to Sections 4C and 21C of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and Rule 102(e) of the Commission's Rules of Practice.[10] The Commission found that Respondents failed to obtain engagement quality reviews and concurring approvals of issuance for an issuer client and dozens of broker-dealer clients. The Commission denied Respondents the privilege of appearing or practicing before the Commission as an accountant with the right to request reinstatement after seven years. The Commission also imposed a civil money penalty of $35,000 jointly and severally against Respondents. Respondents agreed to settle the charges without admitting or denying the findings.

11. While in litigation with the Commission for alleged engagement quality review violations, the Firm once again failed to obtain EQRs for seven audit and attestation engagements from April through May 2017 as set forth in the attached Appendix, even though PCAOB standards required an EQR to be performed. In each instance, the audit was of a "broker" and "dealer," as defined in Sections 110(3) and 110(4) of the Act and PCAOB Rules 1001(b)(iii) and 1001(d)(iii). And in each instance,

---

[8] See id. at ¶¶ .13, .18, and .18C.

[9] In the Matter of Edward Richardson Jr., CPA and Edward Richardson Jr., Exchange Act Rel. No. 80103 (Feb. 24, 2017).

[10] In the Matter of Edward Richardson Jr., CPA and Edward Richardson Jr., Exchange Act Rel. No. 80918 (June 14, 2017).

ORDER

the Firm improperly permitted the issuance of its unqualified audit report and review report without obtaining an EQR and concurring approval of issuance. As a result, the Firm repeatedly violated AS 1220.

D. Richardson Contributed to the Firm's Violations of PCAOB Rules and Standards

12. PCAOB Rule 3502 prohibits an associated person of a registered public accounting firm from taking or omitting to take an action knowing, or recklessly not knowing, that the act or omission would directly and substantially contribute to a violation by that firm of the Act, the rules of the Board, the provisions of the securities laws relating to the preparation and issuance of audit reports and the obligations and liabilities of accountants with respect thereto, including the rules of the Commission issued under the Act, or professional standards.

13. Richardson, the sole owner and only member of the Firm, was principally responsible for the audits conducted by the Firm. Accordingly, Richardson had overall responsibility for ensuring that the Firm complied with PCAOB rules and standards. Richardson knew, or was reckless in not knowing, that he was directly and substantially contributing to the Firm's violations of AS 1220, described above. As a result, he violated PCAOB Rule 3502.

E. The Firm Failed to Disclose Certain Reportable Events to the Board in Violation of Board Rules

14. PCAOB Rule 2203 provides that a registered public accounting firm must file a special report on Form 3 to report any event specified in that form within thirty days of the event's occurrence.[11] One such specified event occurs when a firm, "has become aware that, in a matter arising out of his or her conduct in the course of providing professional services for a client, a partner, shareholder, principal, owner, member, or audit manager of the Firm who provided at least ten hours of audit services for any issuer, broker, or dealer during the Firm's current fiscal year or its most recently completed fiscal year has become a defendant or respondent in a civil or alternative

---

[11] See PCAOB Rule 2203. As the Board noted when adopting its rules on special reporting, "[R]eportable events will sometimes occur, and the public interest, as well as the ability to consider whether prompt action is warranted by the Board's inspection staff or enforcement staff, will be served by contemporaneous reporting of the event." PCAOB Rel. No. 2008-004, at 17 (June 10, 2008).

ORDER

dispute resolution proceeding initiated by a governmental entity or in an administrative or disciplinary proceeding other than a Board disciplinary proceeding."[12]

15. In violation of Rule 2203, the Firm failed to file a Form 3 with respect to the Commission proceeding described above.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondents' Offers.

Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), Edward Richardson Jr., CPA and Edward Richardson Jr., CPA are hereby censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(B) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(2), Edward Richardson Jr., CPA is permanently barred from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm, as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i);[13] and

---

[12] PCAOB Form 3, at item 2.9 (italics in the original removed).

[13] As a consequence of the bar, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act will apply with respect to Richardson. Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act provides that "[i]t shall be unlawful for any person that is suspended or barred from being associated with a registered public accounting firm under this subsection willfully to become or remain associated with any issuer, broker, or dealer in an accountancy or a financial management capacity, and for any issuer, broker, or dealer that knew, or in the exercise of reasonable care should have known, of such suspension or bar, to permit such an association, without the consent of the Board or the Commission."

ORDER

C. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(A) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(1), the registration of Edward Richardson Jr., CPA is permanently revoked.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

December 19, 2017

Appendix
Edward Richardson Jr., CPA
Audits & Attestations Not Performed in Accordance with AS 1220

Broker-Dealer	Fiscal Year Ended	Audit and Review Report Date	Date of SEC Filing
Liberty Associates, Inc.	1/31/17	4/13/17	7/20/17
Roberts & Ryan Investments Inc.	1/31/17	4/13/17	4/20/17
Integrated Trading and Investments, Inc.	3/31/17	5/30/17	6/1/17
KW Securities Corporation	3/31/17	5/24/17	6/5/17
Liberty Global Capital Services LLC	3/31/17	5/22/17	6/2/17
Petrogrowth Energy Advisors, LLC	3/31/17	5/22/17	5/23/17
Silicon Valley Securities, Inc.	3/31/17	5/24/17	5/24/17

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street NW
Washington, DC 20006
Office: (202) 207-9100
Fax: (202) 862-8430
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of Grant Thornton LLP, Respondent.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-054 December 19, 2017

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (the "Board" or "PCAOB") is: (1) censuring Grant Thornton LLP ("Grant Thornton," the "Firm," or "Respondent"), a registered public accounting firm; (2) imposing on Grant Thornton a civil money penalty in the amount of $1,500,000; and (3) requiring Grant Thornton to undertake certain remedial actions.

The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that (a) from 2013 to 2014, Grant Thornton violated PCAOB rules, quality control standards, and auditing standards related to assignment, monitoring, and supervision of personnel in connection with two audit engagements it conducted for issuer audit clients in the financial services sector out of its Philadelphia office; and (b) Grant Thornton violated PCAOB rules and auditing standards in connection with its integrated audit of The Bancorp Inc.'s December 31, 2013 financial statements and internal control over financial reporting ("ICFR").

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondent.

II.

In anticipation of institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondent has submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offer") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over Respondent and the subject matter of these proceedings, which are admitted,

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

Respondent consents to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[1]

III.

On the basis of Respondent's Offer, the Board finds that:[2]

A. Respondent

1. Grant Thornton LLP is a limited liability partnership organized under the laws of the state of Illinois, and headquartered in Chicago, Illinois. It has offices in multiple locations, including in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, and is licensed under the laws of the state of Pennsylvania, among others, to engage in the practice of public accounting (License No. AF000387L). Grant Thornton registered with the Board on September 24, 2003, pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules.

B. Relevant Individual

2. The "Bancorp Engagement Partner" was an audit partner in Grant Thornton's Philadelphia office beginning in 1998, and served as the engagement partner on Grant Thornton's audit of the December 31, 2013 financial statements and ICFR of The Bancorp Inc. ("Bancorp" or the "Company") and Grant Thornton's reviews of Bancorp's March 31, 2014 and June 30, 2014 financial statements.[3] At all relevant times, the Bancorp Engagement Partner was an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined by Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i). The Bancorp Engagement Partner retired from Grant Thornton effective July 31, 2016.

---

[1] The findings herein are made pursuant to Respondent's Offer and are not binding on any other persons or entities in this or any other proceeding.

[2] The Board finds that Grant Thornton's conduct described in this Order constitutes (A) intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, that resulted in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard; or (B) repeated instances of negligent conduct, each resulting in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard. See Section 105(c)(5) of the Act, 15 U.S.C. § 7215(c)(5).

[3] See David M. Burns, PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-055 (Dec. 19, 2017).

ORDER

C. Issuer

3. The Bancorp, Inc., the holding company for The Bancorp Bank (the "Bank"), is a corporation based in Delaware and a registered financial holding company. The Company's business is primarily conducted through its principal subsidiary, the Bank, a Delaware chartered commercial bank based in Wilmington, Delaware.

4. Bancorp is subject to supervision and regulation by the Federal Reserve, the Delaware Office of the State Bank Commissioner, and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. At all relevant times, Bancorp's common stock was registered under Section 12(b) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and was traded on the NASDAQ under the symbol TBBK. At all relevant times, Bancorp was an "issuer" as the term is defined in Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii). Grant Thornton has served as Bancorp's independent auditor since 2000.

D. Summary

5. This matter concerns Grant Thornton's violation of PCAOB quality control standards relating to personnel management during 2013 and 2014. Specifically, Grant Thornton violated PCAOB quality control standards by assigning two partners from its Philadelphia office, with known audit quality concerns, to serve as engagement partners on two separate fiscal year end 2013 issuer audits, without providing them sufficient support or monitoring. The Firm also failed to comply with PCAOB rules and standards in connection with its audits of Bancorp's December 31, 2013 financial statements and ICFR.

6. Prior to the Philadelphia office's year-end 2013 audits, Grant Thornton had significant concerns with the proficiency and technical competence of two engagement partners in its Philadelphia office's financial services group, including the Bancorp Engagement Partner and another financial services partner ("Partner B"). Those concerns led Grant Thornton to place Partner B on a performance improvement plan and to develop other remedial plans to address audit quality issues within the office. Despite those concerns, Grant Thornton failed to take sufficient steps to properly support or monitor the Bancorp Engagement Partner and Partner B when it assigned each to serve as an engagement partner on two separate 2013 issuer audits for financial services clients.

7. The Firm's failure to maintain effective quality controls contributed to Grant Thornton's violation of PCAOB rules and standards in connection with its 2013 integrated audit of Bancorp. Specifically, Grant Thornton, among other things, failed to exercise due professional care, including appropriate professional skepticism, and failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence concerning the reported value of Bancorp's net loans, the effectiveness of Bancorp's controls relating to its allowance for loan and lease losses ("ALLL"), and the reasonableness of Bancorp's ALLL – a known significant risk and significant accounting estimate. As a result of its failures to perform the audit in conformity with PCAOB standards, Grant Thornton failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to support its audit opinions on Bancorp's financial statements and ICFR.

ORDER

8. On April 1, 2015, Bancorp announced that its previously issued financial statements for the years ended December 31, 2012 and 2013 and the quarterly financial statements within those years and for the first three quarters of 2014 should no longer be relied on because certain provisions for loan losses related to commercial loans were taken in incorrect periods. Ultimately, the restatement resulted in a $141 million reduction in Bancorp's net loans as of December 31, 2013, as well as increases in Bancorp's provision for loan and leases losses of $28.9 million (or 98 percent) during 2013 and $90.5 million (or 403 percent) during 2012, respectively.[4]

E. Grant Thornton Violated PCAOB Rules and Standards in its Assignment, Support, and Monitoring of Personnel Assigned to Two Year-End 2013 Issuer Audits for Financial Services Clients.[5]

a. Applicable Standards

9. PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons comply with the Board's auditing and quality control standards.[6]

---

[4] Although Bancorp initially announced that the restatement would impact only its December 31, 2012 and 2013 financial statements, the Company ultimately restated its December 31, 2010 and 2011 financial statements as well.

[5] All references to PCAOB rules and standards are to the versions of those rules and standards in effect at the time of the relevant audit or review. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its auditing standards using a topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Release No. 2015-002 (Mar. 31, 2015); see also PCAOB Auditing Standards Reorganized and Pre-Reorganized Numbering (January 2017), https://pcaobus.org/Standards/Auditing/Documents/ReorganizedandPreReorganizedNumbering.pdf.

[6] See PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards; PCAOB Rule 3200T, Interim Auditing Standards; PCAOB Rule 3400T, Interim Quality Control Standards.

ORDER

Among other things, PCAOB auditing standards require that auditors make "appropriate assignments of significant engagement responsibilities" and provide that the "knowledge, skill, and ability of engagement team members with significant engagement responsibilities should be commensurate with the assessed risk of material misstatement."[7] PCAOB auditing standards further require that auditors provide the "extent of supervision that is appropriate for the circumstances, including, in particular, the assessed risk of material misstatement."[8]

10. A firm's system of quality control provides a critical foundation and infrastructure for a firm's audit quality as it should "'ensure that services are competently delivered and adequately supervised.'"[9] PCAOB quality control standards require a registered firm to "have a system of quality control for its accounting and auditing practice,[10] including policies and procedures concerning personnel management.[11] With respect to personnel management, firms should consider the nature and extent of supervision to be provided when making assignments.[12] The more able and experienced the personnel assigned to a particular engagement, the less direct supervision required.[13] PCAOB quality control standards further require that firms "establish policies and procedures to provide the firm with reasonable assurance that …

---

[7] See Auditing Standard No. 13, The Auditor's Responses to the Risks of Material Misstatement ("AS No. 13"), ¶ 5; see also AU § 230.06, Due Professional Care in the Performance of Work ("Auditors should be assigned to tasks and supervised commensurate with their level of knowledge, skill, and ability so that they can evaluate the audit evidence they are examining.").

[8] See AS No. 13 ¶ 5.

[9] See QC § 20.02, System of Quality Control for a CPA Firm's Accounting and Auditing Practice (quoting AICPA Code of Professional Conduct, "Article VI—Scope and Nature of Services").

[10] See QC § 20.01.

[11] See QC §§ 20.11-.13.

[12] See QC § 20.11.

[13] See id.

ORDER

[w]ork is assigned to personnel having the degree of technical training and proficiency required under the circumstances."[14]

11. PCAOB quality control standards emphasize the "significant responsibilities" of individuals who supervise audit engagements and sign or authorize the issuance of audit reports.[15] In recognition of those significant responsibilities, firms are required to establish policies and procedures that "provide reasonable assurance that a practitioner-in-charge of an engagement possesses the competencies necessary to fulfill his or her engagement responsibilities."[16] Among the competencies expected is professional judgment, which typically "include[s] the ability to exercise professional skepticism and identify areas requiring special consideration including, for example, the evaluation of the reasonableness of estimates and representations made by management and the determination of the kind of report necessary in the circumstances."[17]

12. As described below, Grant Thornton failed to comply with PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the assignment of personnel to two issuer audits for financial services clients, including the 2013 Bancorp audit.

b. Grant Thornton was Aware of Audit Quality Problems with Partners in its Philadelphia Office in 2013-2014

13. Grant Thornton violated PCAOB quality control standards relating to personnel management by assigning two partners, with known audit quality concerns, to two separate year-end 2013 issuer audits without providing sufficient support or monitoring. Indeed, Grant Thornton knew that there were proficiency and audit quality problems with respect to the Bancorp Engagement Partner and Partner B. Among other

---

[14] See QC § 20.13.

[15] See QC § 40.03, The Personnel Management Element of a Firm's System of Quality Control—Competencies Required by a Practitioner-in-Charge of an Attest Engagement (in light of such "significant responsibilities," a firm's policies and procedures "should be designed to provide a firm with reasonable assurance that such individuals possess the kind of competencies that are appropriate given the circumstances of individual client engagements").

[16] See QC § 40.06.

[17] See QC § 40.08.

ORDER

things, Grant Thornton knew that the Bancorp Engagement Partner and Partner B had failed to appropriately perform certain issuer audits in prior years. Nonetheless, the Firm, in violation of PCAOB quality control standards, assigned the Bancorp Engagement Partner and Partner B each to lead a 2013 audit engagement team without the degree of technical training and proficiency required under the circumstances and failed to provide sufficient support or monitoring to those teams.

i. The Bancorp Engagement Partner

14. As early as 2011, Grant Thornton, including individuals at top levels of Firm management, knew of significant audit quality issues with some of the Bancorp Engagement Partner's past audit work. Between 2010 and 2014, the Bancorp Engagement Partner served as the engagement partner or engagement quality reviewer on several audits that subsequently received "noncompliant" or "compliant with comments" ratings during Grant Thornton's audit practice reviews ("APR"s)[18] and/or were subject to a PCAOB inspection in which the inspection team identified deficiencies of such significance that it appeared that the Firm had not obtained sufficient appropriate audit evidence to support its opinion.

15. For one Grant Thornton issuer audit of a financial services client pre-dating the 2013 Bancorp audit, a PCAOB inspections team found that the Bancorp Engagement Partner and his engagement team had failed to obtain sufficient appropriate evidence to support the financial statement and ICFR opinions because the team failed to properly test the entity's ALLL-related controls and failed to perform sufficient substantive procedures over the entity's ALLL and loans receivable. For another pre-2013 audit on which the Bancorp Engagement Partner served as the engagement partner, Grant Thornton's APR team was "unable to conclude that the work was performed in accordance with PCAOB standards," finding that "there were significant departures from ... PCAOB standards, GAAP and/or firm policy." Additionally, both the PCAOB staff, through an inspection, and Grant Thornton, through an APR, ultimately concluded that there were quality issues with the Bancorp Engagement Partner's 2012 integrated audit of Bancorp. Moreover, the Bancorp Engagement

[18] As part of the APR process, an APR team reviews audit work papers for select audits that were completed during the prior year. The APR team assigns a rating to each audit it reviews based on the significance of its findings. Under the Firm's ratings, a "noncompliant" audit is one that failed to comply with PCAOB standards and/or firm policy. The Firm assigns a "compliant with comments" rating to audits that, in the Firm's view, complied with PCAOB standards but exhibited deficiencies in execution and/or documentation.

ORDER

Partner's 2012 performance appraisal included a negative comment from the National Professional Practice Department because of his overreliance on senior managers and failure to delve deeply enough into audit work papers.

16. In August 2013, Firm leadership attributed the Bancorp Engagement Partner's performance issues primarily to his overly burdensome workload. As a result, the Firm developed a plan to reduce his "gross charge hours supervised," i.e., the total number of hours charged by individuals he was responsible for supervising. Despite that plan, the Bancorp Engagement Partner's total workload was not significantly reduced. Indeed, between Grant Thornton's fiscal years 2012 and 2014,[19] the hours that he personally charged remained relatively consistent and his non-billable hours actually increased, particularly as related to marketing activities.

17. Despite the known risks concerning the Bancorp Engagement Partner, Grant Thornton assigned him to serve as the engagement partner on the 2013 Bancorp audit without appropriate support or monitoring. Specifically, Grant Thornton failed to assemble an engagement team for that 2013 Bancorp audit that possessed the degree of technical training and proficiency required to properly audit Bancorp's financial statements and ICFR. Indeed, notwithstanding the Bancorp Engagement Partner's above-described recent history, the Firm elected to pair him with a senior manager who, as the Firm knew, also had issues with the quality of his audit work. Further, for the 2013 audit, the Firm reduced both the number of engagement team members and the team's experience level, as compared to the 2012 engagement team. Indeed, the senior manager was aware that the junior staff lacked the experience to draw certain audit conclusions, as he acknowledged in an email to the Bancorp Engagement Partner during the audit: "[T]he staff in the field are too inexperienced to understand what they've already done in order to draw connections between the different procedures and risks."[20]

---

[19] Grant Thornton's fiscal year runs from August 1 to July 31.

[20] The Firm's supervisory failures also included failing, through the Bancorp Engagement Partner, to properly assess the extent of supervision necessary for engagement team members to perform their work and form appropriate conclusions. See Auditing Standard No. 10, Supervision of the Audit Engagement, ¶¶ 5-6. Instead, Grant Thornton, through the Bancorp Engagement Partner, (a) failed to sufficiently review the work of the engagement team; (b) placed too much reliance on the senior manager; and (c) failed to develop an understanding of the instructions the senior manager provided to the staff.

ORDER

18. In addition, Grant Thornton failed to appropriately monitor the Bancorp Engagement Partner's work on the 2013 engagement in light of the Firm's knowledge of his history of poor audit quality. The Firm did not develop a plan sufficiently tailored to address its concerns with the quality of the Bancorp Engagement Partner's work or the risks inherent in the Bancorp engagement. It instead relied on the Firm's National Professional Practice Director Group ("NPPD") review process. Yet, although the Firm assigned an individual from its NPPD to review the engagement team's work on the 2013 Bancorp audit, that individual failed to complete his review of work papers he had requested concerning Bancorp's ALLL before authorizing the release of the Firm's audit report. Additionally, neither that individual nor anyone else at the Firm ever completed a separate, more detailed review of the audit required by the Firm's policies.

ii. Partner B

19. As it had done with the Bancorp Engagement Partner, Grant Thornton assigned Partner B, who had known audit quality issues, to a 2013 issuer audit for a financial services client, without providing Partner B appropriate support or monitoring.

20. By 2013, Partner B had served as the engagement partner on four issuer audits that were subject to PCAOB inspections, through which significant deficiencies were identified. As a result of the PCAOB inspection findings and other indicators of poor audit quality, the Firm placed Partner B on a performance improvement plan ("Performance Plan"). According to the Performance Plan, Grant Thornton expected "no substandard audit results during the APR scheduled for July 2013 or the upcoming PCAOB review cycle." The Performance Plan stated that, if Partner B failed to make sufficient progress against the plan, Partner B could be subject to removal from the Firm's partnership.

21. In mid-2013, the Firm selected one of Partner B's 2012 issuer audits for a financial services client for an APR. The APR team identified 17 deficiencies and ultimately concluded that the audit was noncompliant with Firm policies and professional standards.

22. Despite knowing of Partner B's audit quality issues, including the non-compliant APR results, Grant Thornton again assigned Partner B to lead the audit engagement of the same financial services client. Grant Thornton also teamed Partner B with an engagement quality reviewer for the audit, who had limited experience on audits of financial services issuers. For that audit, as with the Bancorp audit, Grant Thornton also reduced both the number of engagement team members and the team's experience level from the prior year.

ORDER

23. As it had with the Bancorp Engagement Partner in the 2013 Bancorp audit, Grant Thornton again failed to develop a specific plan to address its concerns with the quality of Partner B's work. Instead, Grant Thornton assigned an NPPD reviewer to perform a detailed review of the 2013 audit of Partner B's audit of the financial services client, yet that review was never conducted.

24. In mid-2014, that audit was, however, selected for a special review by a member of NPPD, who identified a significant number of concerns related to Partner B's audit work. Although Partner B's Performance Plan stated that failure to make sufficient progress in improving audit quality could result in removal of Partner B from the partnership, Grant Thornton did not remove Partner B. Instead, the Firm merely lowered Partner B's quality rating and permitted Partner B to continue serving as an engagement partner on audits, including issuer audits, until late 2015.

c. Grant Thornton's Violations

25. As described above, Grant Thornton was well aware that two partners in the financial services group in its Philadelphia office had significant and recent histories of failing to perform issuer audits in accordance with PCAOB standards. Yet the Firm continued to assign each of those two individuals as engagement partners on issuer audits without providing them sufficient support or monitoring. As a result, during 2013, the Firm violated PCAOB quality standards by failing to establish and implement policies and procedures to provide the Firm with reasonable assurance that (a) engagement partners possessed the competencies necessary to fulfill their responsibilities; (b) engagement teams possessed sufficient technical training and proficiency; and (c) its services were competently delivered and supervised.[21] In addition, the Firm violated PCAOB auditing standards by (a) assigning significant engagement responsibilities to engagement team members without the requisite knowledge and skill given the associated audit risks and (b) failing to provide appropriate supervision in the circumstances.[22]

---

[21] See QC § 20.01, .11-.13; QC § 40.03, .06, .08.

[22] See AS No. 13 ¶ 5; AU § 230.06.

ORDER

F. Grant Thornton Violated PCAOB Rules and Auditing Standards in Performing the 2013 Audit of Bancorp's Financial Statements and ICFR.

a. Background

26. Prior to September 30, 2014, Bancorp, through the Bank, originated loans to commercial customers with whom it had established banking relationships. Those loans took the form of commercial term loans and lines of credit, commercial mortgages, and construction, acquisition, and development loans (collectively "Commercial Loans"). At December 31, 2013, Bancorp originally reported total assets of $4.7 billion, including $2.0 billion in loans. Commercial Loans constituted $1.3 billion or 68 percent of Bancorp's loan portfolio.

27. To reflect the inherent credit risk associated with its loan portfolio, Bancorp recorded an ALLL to cover probable losses that existed in the loan portfolio as of each period end. Bancorp's ALLL comprised two components, specific reserves based on potential losses on individually classified loans, and a general loss reserve for non-classified loans. Bancorp calculated the specific reserve portion of the ALLL by first identifying problem loans or leases through delinquency monitoring and loan file reviews. For loans risk rated special mention or below, Bancorp analyzed the "most probable sources of repayment and liquidation of collateral" to assess whether a reserve was required. To the extent the expected cash flows or fair value of collateral was less than the loan balance, Bancorp established an impairment reserve.[23]

28. Bancorp calculated its general reserve portion of the ALLL based on the application of historical loss experience and other factors to pools of loans with similar characteristics. Bancorp then adjusted the general reserve to reflect current economic conditions, current loan portfolio performance, loan concentrations, and other factors identified by management.[24] Grant Thornton understood that the loss experience or loss factors Bancorp used to calculate the general reserve were determined by calculating historical charge-off rates for each type of loan by risk rating. The Firm also understood that Bancorp's loan risk ratings were determined based on delinquency status and/or Bancorp's loan review process. In determining its ALLL, as well as for disclosure purposes, Bancorp needed to determine whether a loan should be classified as a troubled debt restructuring ("TDR"). Such a classification was appropriate if Bancorp, in

---

[23] See Bancorp Form 10-K, at 51-52 (Mar. 17, 2014).

[24] See id.

ORDER

the course of restructuring a loan, "for economic or legal reasons related to the [borrower's] financial difficulties grant[ed] a concession to the [borrower] that it would not otherwise consider."[25] Accordingly, as Grant Thornton was aware, Bancorp relied on its loan review process, risk ratings, and appraisals to calculate and assess the sufficiency of its ALLL, including to determine whether a loan should be classified as a TDR.

29. At December 31, 2013, Bancorp originally reported an ALLL of $38.2 million, $35.6 million of which was allocated to Commercial Loans. For 2013, Bancorp originally reported a provision for loan losses, net interest income, and net income of $29.5 million, $95.8 million, and $25.1 million, respectively.

30. On April 1, 2015, Bancorp announced that its previously-issued financial statements for the years ended December 31, 2012 and 2013 and the quarterly financial statements within those years and for the first three quarters of 2014 should no longer be relied upon. On September 28, 2015, Bancorp filed restated financial statements, reducing its net loans by $141 million as of December 31, 2013. In addition, the Company's provision for loan and leases losses increased by $28.9 million during 2013 and $90.5 million during 2012. As a result of the increased provisions, Bancorp reported net losses for both 2013 and 2012.

31. In connection with its restatement, Bancorp also disclosed the following two material weaknesses in its ICFR: (i) "Credit file maintenance and evaluation – We did not properly maintain credit files, including the evaluation of loan collateral and industry-specific information, relevant in determining the appropriate risk-ratings of our loans, in identifying the ultimate occurrence of loss events, and in calculating impairment under ASC 310 'Receivables'"; and (ii) "Discontinued Operations – Our controls were not effective in identifying the appropriate classification of items to be included as discontinued operations."

b. Applicable Auditing Standards

32. An auditor may express an unqualified opinion on an issuer's financial statements only when the auditor has formed such an opinion on the basis of an audit performed in accordance with PCAOB standards.[26] Among other things, PCAOB

---

[25] See ASC 310-10-40. For a description of the criteria for assessing whether a loan restructuring should be classified a TDR, see ASC 310-10-40. Once a loan is deemed to be a TDR, that loan is accounted for as an impaired loan and must be measured for impairment at each reporting period. See ASC 310-10-35.

[26] See AU § 508.07, Reports on Auditing Financial Statements.

ORDER

standards require an auditor to exercise due professional care, exercise professional skepticism, and plan and perform audit procedures to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to provide a reasonable basis for the auditor's opinion.[27]

33. Management representations "are part of the evidential matter the independent auditor obtains, but they are not a substitute for the application of those auditing procedures necessary to afford a reasonable basis for an opinion regarding the financial statements under audit."[28] Under PCAOB standards "[t]he auditor neither assumes that management is dishonest nor assumes unquestioned honesty. In exercising professional skepticism, the auditor should not be satisfied with less than persuasive evidence because of a belief that management is honest."[29]

34. In designing the audit procedures to be performed, PCAOB auditing standards require that the auditor "[o]btain more persuasive audit evidence the higher the auditor's assessment of risk."[30] PCAOB standards further require that an auditor evaluate the results of the audit to determine whether the audit evidence obtained is sufficient and appropriate to support the opinion to be expressed in the auditor's report.[31] The "auditor should take into account all relevant audit evidence, regardless of whether it appears to corroborate or to contradict the assertions in the financial statements."[32] Further, if audit evidence obtained from one source is inconsistent with that obtained from another, the auditor should perform the audit procedures necessary to resolve the matter and should determine the effect, if any, on other aspects of the

---

[27] See AU § 150.02, Generally Accepted Auditing Standards; AU § 230.01; Auditing Standard No. 15 ¶ 4, Audit Evidence ("AS No. 15").

[28] See AU § 333.02, Management Representations.

[29] See AU § 230.09.

[30] See AS No. 13, ¶ 9; see also Auditing Standard No. 5, An Audit of Internal Control Over Financial Reporting That Is Integrated With An Audit of Financial Statements ("AS No. 5"), ¶ 46 ("As the risk associated with a control being tested increases, the evidence that the auditor should obtain also increases.").

[31] See Auditing Standard No. 14, Evaluating Audit Results ("AS No. 14"), ¶ 2.

[32] See AS No. 14 ¶ 3.

ORDER

audit.[33] PCAOB standards further require the auditor to modify the overall audit strategy and the audit plan "if circumstances change significantly during the course of the audit, including changes due to a revised assessment of the risks of material misstatement."[34]

35. Under PCAOB auditing standards, the auditor is required to assess the sufficiency of substantive tests of details. When planning a sample for a substantive test of details, the auditor should individually examine "those items for which, in his judgment, acceptance of some sampling risk is not justified."[35]

36. PCAOB standards require that the auditor form an opinion on the effectiveness of ICFR based on the auditor's evaluation of evidence obtained from all sources, including the auditor's testing of controls, misstatements detected during the financial statement audit, and any identified control deficiencies.[36] In conducting an integrated audit, the auditor should design his or her testing of controls to obtain sufficient evidence to support 1) the auditor's opinion on ICFR and 2) the auditor's control risk assessment for purposes of the financial statement audit.[37]

37. If an auditor plans to assess control risk at less than the maximum, and modifies the nature, timing, and extent of planned substantive procedures based on that lower assessment, "the auditor must obtain evidence that the controls selected for testing are designed effectively and operated effectively during the entire period of reliance."[38] An auditor's assessment of control risk should include an evaluation of

---

[33] See AS No. 15 ¶ 29; see also AU § 333.04 ("If a representation made by management is contradicted by other audit evidence, the auditor should investigate the circumstances and consider the reliability of the representation made. Based on the circumstances, the auditor should consider whether his or her reliance on management's representations relating to other aspects of the financial statements is appropriate and justified.").

[34] See Auditing Standard No. 9, Audit Planning ("AS No. 9"), ¶ 15.

[35] See AU § 350.21, Audit Sampling.

[36] See AS No. 5 ¶ 71.

[37] See AS No. 5 ¶ 7.

[38] See AS No. 13 ¶ 16. "A deficiency in design exists when (a) a control necessary to meet the control objective is missing or (b) an existing control is not properly designed so that, even if the control operates as designed, the control objective

ORDER

"evidence obtained from all sources, including the auditor's testing of controls for the audit of internal control and the audit of financial statements, misstatements detected during the financial statement audit, and any identified control deficiencies."[39] Auditors should also incorporate knowledge obtained in past audits of the issuer's ICFR into the decision-making process for determining the testing required during the current year audit.[40]

38. Auditors are required to assess control risk at the maximum for relevant assertions when controls necessary to address the risk of material misstatement are missing or ineffective, or when the auditor has failed to obtain sufficient appropriate evidence to support a control risk assessment below the maximum.[41] When an auditor identifies control deficiencies, PCAOB standards require that the auditor evaluate the severity of those deficiencies, and revise the control risk assessment and modify planned substantive procedures as necessary.[42]

39. When planning and performing audit procedures to evaluate accounting estimates, PCAOB standards require the auditor to "consider, with an attitude of professional skepticism, both the subjective and objective factors" on which management's estimate is based.[43] When management's estimate involves fair value measurements, the auditor must comply with PCAOB auditing standards concerning the would not be met." AS No. 5 Appx. A ¶ A3. "A deficiency in operation exists when a properly designed control does not operate as designed, or when the person performing the control does not possess the necessary authority or competence to perform the control effectively." Id.

---

[39] See AS No. 13 ¶ 32.

[40] See AS No. 5 ¶ 57.

[41] See AS No. 13 ¶ 33.

[42] See AS No. 13 ¶ 34; see also AS No. 5 ¶ 48 ("When the auditor identifies deviations from the company's controls, he or she should determine the effect of any deviations on his or her assessment of the risk associated with the control . . . and the evidence to be obtained, as well as the operating effectiveness of the control."). The auditor is further required to determine whether the identified control deficiencies, individually or in combination, are material weaknesses. See AS No. 5 ¶ 62.

[43] See AU § 342.04, Auditing Accounting Estimates.

auditing of fair value measurements and disclosures.[44] Under those standards, when a fair value measurement, such as an appraisal, is dated prior to the relevant financial reporting date, the auditor is required to obtain "evidence that management has taken into account the effects of events, transactions, and changes in circumstances occurring between the date of the fair value measurement and reporting date."[45] The auditor also evaluates whether "[m]anagement's assumptions are reasonable and reflect, or are not inconsistent with, market information" and whether "[m]anagement used relevant information that was reasonably available at the time."[46]

40. As described below, Grant Thornton failed to comply with these and other PCAOB auditing standards in connection with the audit procedures it performed and the opinions it issued on the 2013 Bancorp audit.

c. Grant Thornton Violated PCAOB Rules and Auditing Standards

41. In planning the 2013 audit, Grant Thornton identified inadequate ALLL as a significant risk. Grant Thornton also identified as fraud risks additional allowance-related risks, including "charge-offs used to conceal theft" and "non-performing loans concealed by manipulation of records." Grant Thornton's engagement team assessed the inherent risk for the ALLL as high based on the subjectivity associated with the estimates and the potential for management bias. Grant Thornton's guidance also identified the heightened risk associated with the ALLL, as well as the "critical" role loan reviews and appraisal evaluations play in assessing the ALLL.

42. In planning its 2013 audit of Bancorp, Grant Thornton adopted a controls reliance approach to evaluating the reasonableness of the valuation of Bancorp's ALLL. As the audit progressed, the Firm failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to support its assertion that Bancorp's controls over the valuation of the ALLL were designed and operating effectively. Specifically, Grant Thornton failed to properly test the design and operating effectiveness of Bancorp's loan review and collateral monitoring controls, as well as the operating effectiveness of Bancorp's controls over the maintenance of loan files and identification and measurement of impairment.

---

[44] See AU § 328, Auditing Fair Value Measurements and Disclosures; see also In re John J. Aesoph, CPA and Darren M. Bennett, CPA, Rel. No. 34-78490, 2016 WL 4176930 (SEC Aug. 5, 2016).

[45] See AU § 328.25.

[46] See AU § 328.26.

ORDER

43. Furthermore, because Grant Thornton failed through its insufficient testing to identify deficiencies in Bancorp's ALLL-related controls, the Firm failed to reassess the appropriateness of its controls reliance approach, failed to assess the impact on the Firm's risk assessment, and failed to appropriately expand the scope of its substantive procedures to mitigate the risk of material misstatement arising from those control deficiencies.

44. In addition, in performing substantive procedures to test net loans and the reasonableness of the ALLL, Grant Thornton failed to perform sufficient procedures to support its conclusions related to its substantive loan reviews. Specifically, Grant Thornton failed to perform substantive loan review procedures on non-impaired individually significant loans and loans with "qualitative risk factors," because the engagement team failed to identify any loans meetings these definitions. Moreover, with respect to the loans Grant Thornton did review, the Firm failed to identify and address red flags and other contrary evidence that called into question the collectability of the loans and management's TDR determinations.

45. As a result, Grant Thornton failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to support its opinions on Bancorp's 2013 financial statements and on the effectiveness of Bancorp's ICFR.

i. Grant Thornton failed to assess adequately the design and operating effectiveness of ALLL-related controls

46. In performing procedures to support its financial statement and ICFR opinions, PCAOB standards required Grant Thornton to test both the design effectiveness and operating effectiveness of controls that were "important to the auditor's conclusion about whether the company's controls sufficiently address[ed] the assessed risk of misstatement to each relevant assertion."[47]

47. During the 2013 Bancorp audit, Grant Thornton failed to obtain sufficient appropriate evidence that specific controls over estimates for which there was a risk of material misstatement were designed and operating effectively. Specifically, Grant Thornton failed to obtain sufficient appropriate evidence to support its conclusions that (a) Bancorp's controls over loan file reviews and monitoring collateral were designed and operating effectively and (b) Bancorp's controls over maintaining loan files and identifying and measuring impairment were operating effectively. Moreover, Grant

---

[47] See AS No. 5 ¶ 39. To satisfy this requirement, Grant Thornton identified key controls for testing.

ORDER

Thornton failed to obtain sufficient appropriate evidence to support the team's assessment that control risk was low.

48. With respect to Bancorp's controls over its loan review function, which were critical to the calculation of the ALLL, Grant Thornton failed to perform appropriate procedures to develop a sufficient understanding of the duties of individuals and departments associated with the loan review process. In particular, despite Firm guidance that emphasized the importance of an independent loan review function, Grant Thornton failed to sufficiently assess the potential impact that certain individuals within the Bank's lending function had on the process for assigning risk ratings.

49. Further, despite evidence from the engagement team's testwork suggesting potentially ineffective controls, Grant Thornton failed to perform sufficient procedures to assess:

- the adequacy of the timing and scope of Bancorp's loan review control;
- the completeness of Bancorp's loan files; and
- whether Bancorp complied with its own credit policy with respect to obtaining updated appraisals, obtaining timely information from borrowers and guarantors, and perfecting collateral rights.

50. Grant Thornton likewise failed to properly assess whether Bancorp's controls related to monitoring collateral were designed and operating effectively. Specifically, Grant Thornton:

- failed to obtain a sufficient understanding of whether the appraisal or valuation requirements set forth in Bancorp's credit policy were designed appropriately; and
- failed to properly evaluate contrary evidence, such as reliance on stale appraisals, indicating that Bancorp's control for monitoring and updating collateral values was not operating effectively.

51. Grant Thornton also failed to perform sufficient procedures to support its conclusions that the controls relating to Bancorp's measurement of impairment were operating effectively. Despite having raised concerns about management's use of unsupported discounts on aged appraisals during the 2012 audit, Grant Thornton failed to obtain sufficient evidence that management's practice did not continue to exist in 2013. In fact, in reviewing the impairment calculation for one loan, Grant Thornton noted that Bancorp rejected a recent appraisal of the loan's collateral and, instead, relied on a 2007 appraisal discounted by five percent. Grant Thornton, however, failed to sufficiently assess whether Bancorp's actions demonstrated management bias or a control deficiency.

ORDER

52. In light of the deficiencies in Grant Thornton's testing of the design and operating effectiveness of Bancorp's ALLL-related controls, the Firm failed to obtain sufficient appropriate evidence to support its controls reliance approach and related risk assessment. As a result, Grant Thornton failed to obtain sufficient appropriate evidence to support its financial statement and ICFR opinions.

ii. Grant Thornton violated PCAOB standards in evaluating net loans and the ALLL.

53. Grant Thornton's procedures to evaluate the reasonableness of the valuation of net loans and the ALLL likewise fell short of complying with PCAOB standards. Specifically, the small number of loans Grant Thornton reviewed was insufficient to address the risks presented by Bancorp's loan portfolio. Further, Grant Thornton failed to sufficiently consider red flags or contrary evidence indicating that loans were impaired and/or TDRs and relied on management representations without obtaining relevant and reliable evidence to corroborate those representations. As a result, Grant Thornton failed to comply with PCAOB standards, including those requiring it to exercise due professional care and professional skepticism, obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence, evaluate whether it obtained sufficient audit evidence, and perform procedures to resolve questions concerning inconsistent audit evidence.[48]

The Firm's Loan Review Scope Failed to Respond to Known Risks

54. Grant Thornton's substantive loan review procedures, which consisted of reviewing a random sample of 25 loans and four individually significant impaired loans, fell short of providing the Firm with sufficient appropriate evidence to conclude on the reasonableness of Bancorp's reported net loans and ALLL.[49]

---

[48] See AU §§ 230.01, 09; AU §§ 333.03-.04; AU § 350.21; AS No. 5 ¶ 71; AS No. 14 ¶¶ 2-3, 32-36; AS No. 15 ¶¶ 4, 7, 10, 29.

[49] Moreover, Grant Thornton failed to ensure that the sample it selected was representative of the population of loans. Of the 25 loans that the engagement team reviewed as part of its random sample, 20 were direct finance leases or daily rental

ORDER

55. Among other things, during the 2013 audit, the Firm:

- Substantively reviewed fewer loans than the previous year even though the engagement team acknowledged that there had been no change in the risk associated with Bancorp's loans from 2012;

- Failed to review any non-impaired individually significant loans or loans based on qualitative risk factors (a) despite having reviewed 64 individually significant loans during the 2012 audit; (b) despite having identified certain risky loans that the engagement team characterized variously as "sticky," and "problematic;" (c) despite knowing that certain loans—in fact, 30 percent of Bancorp's portfolio of Commercial Loans—had been originated prior to the 2008 financial crisis and presented a different risk profile as compared to loans that were originated afterwards; and (d) despite the Firm's own guidance requiring review of "[l]oans that me[t] certain qualitative risk characteristics;" and

- Failed to properly evaluate multi-loan lending relationships, even when cross collateralization or cross default provisions were present, thus failing to consider factors necessary to conclude on the risks presented by Bancorp's multi-loan relationships and on any necessary allowance.[50]

The Firm Failed to Respond to Red Flags and Contrary Evidence During its Loan Review Procedures

56. In performing its loan review procedures, Grant Thornton failed to identify or give appropriate weight to contradictory evidence indicating that loans were lines of credit even though together they only represented $195 million or 9.75 percent of the $2.0 billion loan portfolio as of December 31, 2013.

---

[50] Cross collateralization is a provision in a loan agreement that gives the lender the right to use the collateral from one loan to secure another loan. Cross default is a provision in a loan agreement that states a borrower is in default on the loan if the borrower defaults on another loan.

ORDER

improperly risk rated, impaired, and/or TDRs. In fact, during its 2013 loan reviews, Grant Thornton was aware of the following information:[51]

- For one loan that was part of a $17.8 million lending relationship, Grant Thornton had information that the borrower had insufficient income to service the interest payments on the loans yet concluded that the loans were not impaired because they were current. Grant Thornton did so despite clear indicators that the borrower was drawing on his line of credit with Bancorp to service the interest only payments on that same line of credit.

- For a second loan relationship, Grant Thornton concluded that the loans were not impaired despite the fact that two-thirds of the collateral securing certain of the loans had been sold and the borrower had not repaid any of the principal on those loans.

- On that same loan relationship, Grant Thornton concluded that the loans were not TDRs because the loans had not been modified and the borrower was not in financial distress. The Firm reached this conclusion even though its own work papers noted that, over the lives of these loans including during 2013, the loans had been modified or extended at least seven times, the borrower was diverting proceeds from the sale of collateral to service other loans, and there had been 18 late payments on one or more of the loans in the relationship.

- On a third lending relationship, Grant Thornton failed to expand its procedures to include all loans in the relationship despite clear indicators that other loans might be impaired. Significantly, Grant Thornton knew that the guarantor of one of the loans, who was also the borrower and/or guarantor across all loans in the relationship, had made only minimal payments, had been convicted in July 2012 for his role in a kickback scheme, and was serving a five-year prison sentence. Grant Thornton was also aware, through its review of another loan, that the guarantor's wife intended to repay the loan as part of a restructuring of the borrower's debt. Despite this knowledge, Grant Thornton failed to sufficiently consider whether this information might impact other loans in the relationship.

[51] During the restatement audit, Grant Thornton relied on this same information, among other information, to concur in management's conclusion that Bancorp's ALLL needed to be restated.

ORDER

- For one loan within another relationship, Bancorp relied on a stale pre-financial crisis appraisal to value a borrower's reported equity interest in a Las Vegas casino.[52] Grant Thornton was aware the borrower had significantly reduced the value of his reported equity interests in the casino from $66 million to $20 million, yet the Firm again failed to assess whether Bancorp's use of the stale valuation indicated a potential impairment or control deficiency. [53]

The Firm Inappropriately Relied on Management Representations in Concluding on its Loan Review Procedures

57. Although Grant Thornton identified concealment of nonperforming loans as a fraud risk, the Firm, during its loan reviews, relied on management representations without obtaining sufficient evidence to corroborate such representations, even when the risk of possible management bias was present:

- For example, in one lending relationship, Grant Thornton relied on management's representation that a third party intended to purchase buildings serving as collateral for three of the borrower's loans and that the proceeds would be sufficient to repay all remaining loans. The Firm, however, failed to obtain a copy of the purported offer or any other reliable evidence to support management's representations that there was a willing buyer or that the proceeds would indeed be sufficient to repay the loans.

---

[52] Grant Thornton also failed to perform any procedures to test whether Bancorp had perfected its interest in the borrower's collateral. Had Grant Thornton done so it would have learned Bancorp's collateral rights were worthless as the company that owned the Las Vegas casino had folded in 2012 and filed for bankruptcy in 2013.

[53] Although PCAOB standards required Grant Thornton to evaluate control deficiencies identified during its substantive procedures, the Firm failed to identify and evaluate control deficiencies that were evident during its substantive procedures. See AS No. 5 ¶ 71 (auditors are required to evaluate evidence obtained from all sources, including any control deficiencies identified during the audit, when forming an opinion on the effectiveness of ICFR).

ORDER

- In another lending relationship, Bancorp, in measuring the necessary specific reserves, discounted a recovery strategy firm's valuation of commissions receivable (the collateral for the loans) by 30 percent. Grant Thornton concluded the specific reserves were reasonable yet failed to perform any procedures to assess the recovery strategy firm's valuation of the commissions receivable and further failed to obtain any evidence to corroborate management's 30 percent discount.[54]

The Firm Failed to Identify and Evaluate Potential TDRs

58. Grant Thornton likewise failed to design and perform audit procedures to sufficiently address the risk of misstatement posed by a previously recognized TDR-related control deficiency. Because of the associated heightened risk, Grant Thornton was required to obtain more persuasive evidence to support the completeness assertion associated with Bancorp's TDR disclosures.[55]

59. Grant Thornton, however, failed to identify and include any loans modified during the first nine months of 2013 in its population of loans subject to substantive TDR completeness procedures. Indeed, Grant Thornton limited the population of loans subject to test work because of the change in controls Bancorp implemented during

---

[54] Even though Bancorp engaged the recovery strategy firm to provide a valuation, and then used that valuation for purposes of calculating a specific reserve that Grant Thornton also used as evidence to support the reserve, the Firm failed to identify the firm as a specialist. Accordingly, the Firm violated AU § 336, Using the Work of a Specialist, because it failed to (a) evaluate the professional qualifications of the recovery strategy firm engaged by Bancorp; (b) develop an understanding of the methods and assumptions used by the recovery strategy firm; and (c) test the data Bancorp provided to the recovery strategy firm. See AU §§ 336.08-.09, .12 (when an auditor uses the work of a specialist as audit evidence, the auditor is required, among other things, to "consider the ... professional qualifications of the specialist in determining that the specialist possesses the necessary skill or knowledge in the particular field," obtain an understanding of the methods and assumptions used by the specialist, and conduct "appropriate tests of data provided to the specialist").

[55] For a description of the requirements related to the design of auditing procedures to respond to the auditor's assessment of risk, see AS No. 13 ¶ 9; see also AS No. 5 ¶¶ 57-58.

ORDER

October 2013. Thus, Grant Thornton failed to performed sufficient substantive testing to ensure that Bancorp's identification of TDRs for 2013 was complete.

60. Grant Thornton also failed to appropriately evaluate whether there was evidence that certain loans should have been classified as TDRs. As discussed above, in performing its loan review procedures, Grant Thornton failed to appropriately evaluate whether there was evidence that certain loans should have been classified as TDRs.

iii. Grant Thornton violated audit documentation requirements

61. Grant Thornton also violated PCAOB auditing standards that required it to assemble for retention (referred to herein as "archive") a complete and final set of work papers (a) within 45 days of the release of its audit report; and (b) within 45 days of substantially completing field work for each of its quarterly reviews.[56] Specifically, Grant Thornton failed to (i) archive the first quarter 2012 and 2013 Bancorp quarterly review work papers and (ii) timely archive the 2013 Bancorp audit work papers. Then, Grant Thornton violated the Board's documentation standard by (a) making modifications to the 2013 audit work papers after the documentation completion date; and (b) making additions to the 2013 audit work papers after the documentation completion date, without properly identifying those additions in accordance with PCAOB standards.[57]

62. PCAOB standards also require that audit documentation contain sufficient information to enable an experienced auditor, having no previous connection with the engagement, to determine who performed the work and the date such work was

---

[56] See Auditing Standard No. 3, Audit Documentation, ¶ 15; see also Audit Documentation and Amendment to Interim Auditing Standards, PCAOB Release 2004-006, at 9 (June 9, 2004).

[57] PCAOB audit documentation standards provide that, after the documentation completion date, audit documentation must not be deleted or discarded from the audit file, but it may be added as long as the auditor documents the date the information was added, the name of the person who prepared the additional documentation, and the reason for adding the documentation. See AS No. 3 ¶ 16. Although Grant Thornton's audit documentation software includes a report that is designed to identify all additions made to the work papers after the documentation completion date, the 2013 engagement team failed to timely input the report release date for the audit and, therefore, additions to the work papers were not properly documented in the Firm's report.

ORDER

completed.[58] To assist engagement team members in complying with this requirement, Grant Thornton's audit software permits more than one person to sign off as preparer for a work paper and permits individuals to sign off on behalf of someone else. Despite the requirements of PCAOB standards and the functionality of the Firm's software, the audit in-charge signed off as the sole preparer on a significant number of work papers for which she did not perform any procedures other than opening the work paper, skimming it to confirm it was complete, and attaching it to the audit file. Of particular significance, one engagement team member signed off as the sole preparer for all but four of the loan reviews performed as part of the Firm's control testing; however, she did not actually perform any procedures on those loan reviews beyond opening them and checking to see if they appeared complete and that the conclusions did not contradict the information she skimmed. Accordingly, Grant Thornton violated PCAOB audit documentation standards because certain 2013 audit work papers failed to accurately indicate who performed certain work.

iv. Grant Thornton failed to appropriately evaluate facts discovered subsequent to its 2013 integrated audit report.

63. PCAOB standards require an auditor to take certain steps when, after the auditor's report, the auditor becomes aware of information that relates to the financial statements and/or ICFR that it was not aware of at the time it issued an audit report and which is of such a nature and from a source that the auditor would have investigated it had it come to the auditor's attention during the course of the audit.[59] Grant Thornton violated these standards, during the first and third quarters of 2014.

64. Prior to the restatement, during the first quarter of 2014, Bancorp recorded provisions for loan and lease losses totaling $17.3 million primarily due to three large commercial loans. At that time, Grant Thornton learned, in connection with the first quarter provision taken for one relationship, that the borrower had entered into a settlement agreement with Bancorp. Grant Thornton, however, failed to sufficiently consider whether the facts related to the settlement agreement, which led to the provision, occurred prior to the audit report date. Indeed, during the first quarter review, Grant Thornton failed to sufficiently consider whether those newly learned facts should have caused an earlier impairment, particularly given that it had previously known that the borrower's wife had requested, prior to December 31, 2013, that the loan

---

[58] See AS No. 3 ¶ 6.

[59] See AU §§ 561.04-.05, Subsequent Discovery of Facts Existing at the Date of the Auditor's Report; AS No. 5 ¶ 98.

ORDER

relationship be restructured. Likewise, when Grant Thornton learned that Bancorp had received a new appraisal for collateral securing several of the loans, it failed to inquire as to when the appraisal was received and failed to sufficiently consider whether it was appropriate to record the additional provisions and related charge-offs prior to December 31, 2013.

65. Grant Thornton further violated PCAOB standards when it failed to sufficiently consider whether information presented in a third-party consultant report[60] indicated the existence of ALLL-related control deficiencies and possible unrecorded loan impairments as of December 31, 2013.[61] The report, which Grant Thornton obtained as part of its third quarter 2014 review procedures, noted that Bancorp's risk ratings tended to congregate too much in a specific Pass category, that the information in Bancorp's loan files was often incomplete, and that the amount of follow-up credit monitoring was limited in practice. The report recommended that a significant number of risk ratings be downgraded. The third-party that prepared the report ultimately calculated an expected material loss based primarily on the credit risk associated with the loans. Grant Thornton, however, failed to sufficiently assess whether the report's findings were based on facts that existed at or before December 31, 2013. Grant Thornton further failed to properly consider whether the report's conclusions were an indication that Bancorp's risk ratings as of December 31, 2013 were incorrect or that the ALLL might have been materially understated as of year-end.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondent's Offer. In determining to accept Respondent's Offer, the Board considered efforts that the Firm has taken since the assignments of the Bancorp Engagement Partner and Partner A to the two issuer audits discussed above to enhance its system of quality control, including but not limited to: implementing changes to its process for assigning professionals to engagements, including placing a greater emphasis on assessing individual workloads of engagement partners; establishing requirements and

---

[60] Bancorp retained a third-party consultant to conduct a review and valuation of its commercial lending portfolio in connection with its decision in the third quarter of 2014 to discontinue its commercial lending operations.

[61] Under AS No. 5 ¶ 98, auditors are required, consistent with AU § 561, to evaluate subsequently discovered facts that may have impacted their ICFR report.

ORDER

guidance designed to improve partner involvement in critical aspects of audits; and installing professionals who formerly held quality-related roles in leadership positions in the Philadelphia office region. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), Grant Thornton LLP is hereby censured; and

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of $1,500,000 is imposed upon Grant Thornton LLP. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of this civil money penalty will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. Grant Thornton LLP shall pay the civil money penalty within 10 days of the issuance of this Order by (1) wire transfer in accordance with instructions furnished by Board staff; or (2) United States Postal Service money order, bank money order, certified check, or bank cashier's check (a) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, (b) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, and (c) submitted under a cover letter, which identifies the payor as a respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB release number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe W. Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006; and

C. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(G) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(9), for a period of one year from the date of this order, Grant Thornton LLP shall arrange for a member of the Firm's National Professional Practice Department to conduct a pre-issuance quality control monitoring review of the audit work for each issuer audit for a financial services client in which the Firm's Philadelphia office prepares or issues an audit report or plays a substantial role in the preparation or issuance of an audit report.[62] The purpose of such pre-issuance review shall be to support the Firm in identifying deficiencies, if any, in the application of PCAOB rules or [62] For purposes of Grant Thornton's remedial actions, financial services client includes any bank, broker, dealer, asset management company, insurance company, real estate investment trust, or issuer with a material loan portfolio.

---

ORDER

standards, and adequately addressing those deficiencies prior to the issuance of the audit report; and

D. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(G) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(9), for a period of one year from the date of this order, Grant Thornton LLP shall assign a financial services designated engagement quality reviewer from an office other than Philadelphia to each issuer audit that the Firm's Philadelphia office performs for a financial services client; and

E. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(G) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(6), Grant Thornton LLP shall provide, within one year from the date of this order, additional financial services related professional education and training, covering among other topics the allowance for loan and lease losses, to associated persons in its Philadelphia office that are assigned to one or more financial services issuer audits; and

F. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(G) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(9), Grant Thornton LLP is required within 400 days from the date of this Order, to have Grant Thornton LLP's Chief Executive Officer certify in writing to the Director of the Division of Enforcement and Investigations, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, the Firm's compliance with paragraphs C through E above. The certification shall identify the undertakings, provide written evidence of compliance in the form of a narrative, and be supported by exhibits sufficient to demonstrate compliance. The Firm shall also submit such additional evidence of and information concerning compliance as the staff of the Division of Enforcement and Investigations may reasonably request.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

December 19, 2017

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street NW
Washington, DC 20006
Office: (202) 207-9100
Fax: (202) 862-8430
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of David M. Burns, CPA, Respondent.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-055 December 19, 2017

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (the "Board" or "PCAOB") is: (1) censuring David M. Burns, CPA ("Burns" or "Respondent"); (2) barring Burns from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm;[1] (3) if Burns is permitted to associate once again with any registered public accounting firm, limiting his activities in connection with any "audit," as that term is defined in Section 110(1) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), until two (2) years from the date of this Order, by prohibiting Burns from serving in certain capacities in any audit as described in Section IV herein; and (4) imposing on Burns a civil money penalty in the amount of $15,000.

The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that Burns violated PCAOB rules and auditing standards in connection with the integrated audit of The Bancorp, Inc.'s December 31, 2013 financial statements and internal control over financial reporting ("ICFR").

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondent.

II.

In anticipation of institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondent has submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offer") that the Board has

[1] Burns may petition for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm after one (1) year from the date of this Order.

ORDER

determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over Respondent and the subject matter of these proceedings, which are admitted, Respondent consents to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[2]

III.

On the basis of Respondent's Offer, the Board finds that:[3]

A. Respondent

1. David M. Burns, age 58, of Glen Mills, Pennsylvania, is a certified public accountant licensed by the Pennsylvania State Board of Accountancy (License No. CA022856L). Burns joined Grant Thornton LLP ("Grant Thornton") in 1986 and became an audit partner in the Firm's Philadelphia office in 1998. Burns was the engagement partner on Grant Thornton's audit of the December 31, 2013 financial statements and ICFR of The Bancorp, Inc. ("Bancorp" or "Company") and its reviews of Bancorp's March 31, 2014 and June 30, 2014 financial statements. Burns, as engagement partner, authorized the issuance of Grant Thornton's audit report containing an unqualified opinion on Bancorp's December 31, 2013 financial statements and ICFR. At all relevant times, Burns was an audit partner in the Philadelphia office of Grant Thornton and an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined by Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i). Burns retired from Grant Thornton effective July 31, 2016.

---

[2] The findings herein are made pursuant to Respondent's Offer and are not binding on any other persons or entities in this or any other proceeding.

[3] The Board finds that Respondent's conduct described in this Order meets the conditions set out in Section 105(c)(5) of the Act, 15 U.S.C. § 7215(c)(5), which provides that certain sanctions may be imposed in the event of: (1) intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, that results in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard; or (2) repeated instances of negligent conduct, each resulting in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard.

ORDER

B. Relevant Entities

2. Grant Thornton LLP is a limited liability partnership organized under the laws of the state of Illinois, and headquartered in Chicago, Illinois. Grant Thornton registered with the Board on September 24, 2003, pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules.[4] Grant Thornton has served as Bancorp's independent auditor since 2000.

3. The Bancorp, Inc., the holding company for The Bancorp Bank (the "Bank"), is a corporation based in Delaware and a registered financial holding company. The Company's business is primarily conducted through its principal subsidiary, the Bank, a Delaware chartered commercial bank based in Wilmington, Delaware.

4. Bancorp is subject to supervision and regulation by the Federal Reserve, the Delaware Office of the State Bank Commissioner, and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. At all relevant times, Bancorp's common stock was registered under Section 12(b) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and was traded on the NASDAQ under the symbol TBBK. At all relevant times, Bancorp was an "issuer" as the term is defined in Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

C. Summary

5. This matter concerns Burns's violations of PCAOB rules and auditing standards in connection with the audits of Bancorp's December 31, 2013 financial statements and ICFR ("2013 audit"). Specifically, Burns, among other things, failed to properly supervise the engagement team, failed to exercise due professional care, including appropriate professional skepticism, and failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence concerning the reported value of Bancorp's net loans, the effectiveness of Bancorp's controls relating to its allowance for loan and lease losses ("ALLL"), and the reasonableness of Bancorp's ALLL – a known significant risk and significant accounting estimate. As a result of his failure to perform the audit in conformity with PCAOB standards, Burns lacked an appropriate basis to authorize the issuance of Grant Thornton's unqualified opinion on Bancorp's 2013 financial statements and ICFR.

---

[4] See Grant Thornton LLP, PCAOB Release No. 105-2017-054 (Dec. 19, 2017) (finding that Grant Thornton violated PCAOB rules, quality control standards, and auditing standards). Grant Thornton's violations of PCAOB rules and standards do not excuse Burns's failures in connection with the supervision and execution of the 2013 audit of Bancorp.

ORDER

6. On April 1, 2015, Bancorp announced that its previously issued financial statements for the years ended December 31, 2012 and 2013 and the quarterly financial statements within those years and for the first three quarters of 2014 should no longer be relied on because certain provisions for loan losses related to commercial loans were taken in incorrect periods. Ultimately, the restatement resulted in a $141 million reduction in Bancorp's net loans as of December 31, 2013, as well as increases in Bancorp's provision for loan and leases losses of $28.9 million (or 98 percent) during 2013 and $90.5 million (or 403 percent) during 2012, respectively.[5]

D. Burns Violated PCAOB Rules and Auditing Standards in Performing the 2013 Audit of Bancorp's Financial Statements and ICFR.[6]

a. Background

7. Prior to September 30, 2014, Bancorp, through the Bank, originated loans to commercial customers with whom it had established banking relationships. Those loans took the form of commercial term loans and lines of credit, commercial mortgages, and construction, acquisition, and development loans (collectively "Commercial Loans"). At December 31, 2013, Bancorp originally reported total assets of $4.7 billion, including $2.0 billion in loans. Commercial Loans constituted $1.3 billion or 68 percent of Bancorp's loan portfolio.

8. To reflect the inherent credit risk associated with its loan portfolio, Bancorp recorded an ALLL to cover probable losses that existed in the loan portfolio as of each period end. Bancorp's ALLL comprised two components, specific reserves based on potential losses on individually classified loans, and a general loss reserve for non-classified loans. Bancorp calculated the specific reserve portion of the ALLL by first

---

[5] Although Bancorp initially announced that the restatement would impact only its December 31, 2012 and 2013 financial statements, the Company ultimately restated its December 31, 2010 and 2011 financial statements as well.

[6] All references to PCAOB rules and standards are to the versions of those rules and standards in effect at the time of the relevant audit or review. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its auditing standards using a topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Release No. 2015-002 (Mar. 31, 2015); see also PCAOB Auditing Standards Reorganized and Pre-Reorganized Numbering (January 2017), https://pcaobus.org/Standards/Auditing/Documents/ReorganizedandPreReorganizedNumbering.pdf.

ORDER

identifying problem loans or leases through delinquency monitoring and loan file reviews. For loans risk rated special mention or below, Bancorp analyzed the "most probable sources of repayment and liquidation of collateral" to assess whether a reserve was required. To the extent the expected cash flows or fair value of collateral was less than the loan balance, Bancorp established an impairment reserve.[7]

9. Bancorp calculated its general reserve portion of the ALLL based on the application of historical loss experience and other factors to pools of loans with similar characteristics. Bancorp then adjusted the general reserve to reflect current economic conditions, current loan portfolio performance, loan concentrations, and other factors identified by management.[8] Burns understood that the loss experience or loss factors Bancorp used to calculate the general reserve were determined by calculating historical charge-off rates for each type of loan by risk rating. Burns also understood that Bancorp's loan risk ratings were determined based on delinquency status and/or Bancorp's loan review process. In determining its ALLL, as well as for disclosure purposes, Bancorp needed to determine whether a loan should be classified as a troubled debt restructuring ("TDR"). Such a classification was appropriate if Bancorp, in the course of restructuring a loan, "for economic or legal reasons related to the [borrower's] financial difficulties grant[ed] a concession to the [borrower] that it would not otherwise consider."[9] Accordingly, as Burns was aware, Bancorp relied on its loan review process, risk ratings, and appraisals to calculate and assess the sufficiency of its ALLL, including to determine whether a loan should be classified as a TDR.

10. At December 31, 2013, Bancorp originally reported an ALLL of $38.2 million, $35.6 million of which was allocated to Commercial Loans. For 2013, Bancorp originally reported a provision for loan losses, net interest income, and net income of $29.5 million, $95.8 million, and $25.1 million, respectively.

11. On April 1, 2015, Bancorp announced that its previously issued financial statements for the years ended December 31, 2012 and 2013 and the quarterly financial statements within those years and for the first three quarters of 2014 should no

---

[7] See Bancorp Form 10-K, at 51-52 (Mar. 17, 2014).

[8] See id.

[9] See ASC 310-10-40. For a description of the criteria for assessing whether a loan restructuring should be classified a TDR, see ASC 310-10-40. Once a loan is deemed to be a TDR, that loan is accounted for as an impaired loan and must be measured for impairment at each reporting period. See ASC 310-10-35.

ORDER

longer be relied upon. On September 28, 2015, Bancorp filed restated financial statements, reducing its net loans by $141 million as of December 31, 2013. In addition, the Company's provision for loan and leases losses increased by $28.9 million during 2013 and $90.5 million during 2012. As a result of the increased provisions, Bancorp reported net losses for both 2013 and 2012.

12. In connection with its restatement, Bancorp also disclosed the following two material weaknesses in its ICFR: (i) "Credit file maintenance and evaluation – We did not properly maintain credit files, including the evaluation of loan collateral and industry-specific information, relevant in determining the appropriate risk-ratings of our loans, in identifying the ultimate occurrence of loss events, and in calculating impairment under ASC 310 'Receivables'"; and (ii) "Discontinued Operations – Our controls were not effective in identifying the appropriate classification of items to be included as discontinued operations."

b. Applicable PCAOB Rules and Auditing Standards

13. PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons comply with the Board's auditing and related professional practice standards.[10] An auditor may express an unqualified opinion on an issuer's financial statements only when the auditor has formed such an opinion on the basis of an audit performed in accordance with PCAOB standards.[11] Among other things, PCAOB standards require an auditor to exercise due professional care, exercise professional skepticism, and plan and perform audit procedures to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to provide a reasonable basis for the auditor's opinion.[12]

14. The engagement partner is responsible for the engagement and therefore is "responsible for proper supervision of the work of engagement team members and for compliance with PCAOB standards."[13] As part of those responsibilities, the engagement

---

[10] See PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards; PCAOB Rule 3200T, Interim Auditing Standards.

[11] See AU § 508.07, Reports on Auditing Financial Statements.

[12] See AU § 150.02, Generally Accepted Auditing Standards; AU § 230.01, Due Professional Care in the Performance of Work; Auditing Standard No. 15 ¶ 4, Audit Evidence ("AS No. 15").

[13] See Auditing Standard No. 10, Supervision of the Audit Engagement ("AS No. 10"), ¶ 3.

ORDER

partner is required to (i) inform engagement team members of their responsibilities, (ii) direct engagement team members to bring significant accounting and auditing issues to his attention, and (iii) review the work of engagement team members to evaluate whether: (1) the work was performed and documented; (2) the objectives of the procedures were achieved; and (3) the results of the work supported the conclusions reached.[14] In determining the extent of supervision necessary, Burns was also required to take into account (i) the nature of the company, (ii) the nature of the assigned work, (iii) the risks of material misstatement, and (iv) the knowledge, skill, and ability of each engagement team member.[15]

15. Management representations "are part of the evidential matter the independent auditor obtains, but they are not a substitute for the application of those auditing procedures necessary to afford a reasonable basis for an opinion regarding the financial statements under audit."[16] Under PCAOB standards "[t]he auditor neither assumes that management is dishonest nor assumes unquestioned honesty. In exercising professional skepticism, the auditor should not be satisfied with less than persuasive evidence because of a belief that management is honest."[17]

16. In designing the audit procedures to be performed, PCAOB auditing standards require that the auditor "[o]btain more persuasive audit evidence the higher the auditor's assessment of risk."[18] PCAOB standards further require that an auditor evaluate the results of the audit to determine whether the audit evidence obtained is sufficient and appropriate to support the opinion to be expressed in the auditor's report.[19] The "auditor should take into account all relevant audit evidence, regardless of

---

[14] See AS No. 10 ¶ 5.

[15] See AS No. 10 ¶ 6.

[16] See AU § 333.02, Management Representations.

[17] See AU § 230.09.

[18] See Auditing Standard No. 13, The Auditor's Responses to the Risks of Material Misstatement, ¶ 9; see also Auditing Standard No. 5, An Audit of Internal Control Over Financial Reporting That Is Integrated With An Audit of Financial Statements ("AS No. 5"), ¶ 46 ("As the risk associated with a control being tested increases, the evidence that the auditor should obtain also increases.").

[19] See Auditing Standard No. 14, Evaluating Audit Results ("AS No. 14"), ¶ 2.

ORDER

whether it appears to corroborate or to contradict the assertions in the financial statements."[20] Further, if audit evidence obtained from one source is inconsistent with that obtained from another, the auditor should perform the audit procedures necessary to resolve the matter and should determine the effect, if any, on other aspects of the audit.[21] PCAOB standards further require the auditor to modify the overall audit strategy and the audit plan "if circumstances change significantly during the course of the audit, including changes due to a revised assessment of the risks of material misstatement."[22]

17. Under PCAOB auditing standards, the auditor is required to assess the sufficiency of substantive tests of details. When planning a sample for a substantive test of details, the auditor should individually examine "those items for which, in his judgment, acceptance of some sampling risk is not justified."[23]

18. PCAOB standards require that the auditor form an opinion on the effectiveness of ICFR based on the auditor's evaluation of evidence obtained from all sources, including the auditor's testing of controls, misstatements detected during the financial statement audit, and any identified control deficiencies.[24] In conducting an integrated audit, the auditor should design his or her testing of controls to obtain sufficient evidence to support 1) the auditor's opinion on ICFR and 2) the auditor's control risk assessment for purposes of the financial statement audit.[25]

19. If an auditor plans to assess control risk at less than the maximum, and modifies the nature, timing, and extent of planned substantive procedures based on that

---

[20] See AS No. 14 ¶ 3.

[21] See AS No. 15 ¶ 29; see also AU § 333.04 ("If a representation made by management is contradicted by other audit evidence, the auditor should investigate the circumstances and consider the reliability of the representation made. Based on the circumstances, the auditor should consider whether his or her reliance on management's representations relating to other aspects of the financial statements is appropriate and justified.").

[22] See Auditing Standard No. 9, Audit Planning ("AS No. 9"), ¶ 15.

[23] See AU § 350.21, Audit Sampling.

[24] See AS No. 5 ¶ 71.

[25] See AS No. 5 ¶ 7.

ORDER

lower assessment, "the auditor must obtain evidence that the controls selected for testing are designed effectively and operated effectively during the entire period of reliance."[26] An auditor's assessment of control risk should include an evaluation of "evidence obtained from all sources, including the auditor's testing of controls for the audit of internal control and the audit of financial statements, misstatements detected during the financial statement audit, and any identified control deficiencies."[27] Auditors should also incorporate knowledge obtained in past audits of the issuer's ICFR into the decision-making process for determining the testing required during the current year audit.[28]

20. Auditors are required to assess control risk at the maximum for relevant assertions when controls necessary to address the risk of material misstatement are missing or ineffective, or when the auditor has failed to obtain sufficient appropriate evidence to support a control risk assessment below the maximum.[29] When an auditor identifies control deficiencies, PCAOB standards require that the auditor evaluate the severity of those deficiencies, and revise the control risk assessment and modify planned substantive procedures as necessary.[30]

---

[26] See AS No. 13 ¶ 16. "A deficiency in design exists when (a) a control necessary to meet the control objective is missing or (b) an existing control is not properly designed so that, even if the control operates as designed, the control objective would not be met." AS No. 5 Appx. A ¶ A3. "A deficiency in operation exists when a properly designed control does not operate as designed, or when the person performing the control does not possess the necessary authority or competence to perform the control effectively." Id.

[27] See AS No. 13 ¶ 32.

[28] See AS No. 5 ¶ 57.

[29] See AS No. 13 ¶ 33.

[30] See AS No. 13 ¶ 34; see also AS No. 5 ¶ 48 ("When the auditor identifies deviations from the company's controls, he or she should determine the effect of any deviations on his or her assessment of the risk associated with the control . . . and the evidence to be obtained, as well as the operating effectiveness of the control."). The auditor is further required to determine whether the identified control deficiencies, individually or in combination, are material weaknesses. See AS No. 5 ¶ 62.

ORDER

21. When planning and performing audit procedures to evaluate accounting estimates, PCAOB standards require the auditor to "consider, with an attitude of professional skepticism, both the subjective and objective factors" on which management's estimate is based.[31] When management's estimate involves fair value measurements, the auditor must comply with PCAOB auditing standards concerning the auditing of fair value measurements and disclosures.[32] Under those standards, when a fair value measurement, such as an appraisal, is dated prior to the relevant financial reporting date, the auditor is required to obtain" evidence that management has taken into account the effects of events, transactions, and changes in circumstances occurring between the date of the fair value measurement and reporting date."[33] The auditor also evaluates whether "[m]anagement's assumptions are reasonable and reflect, or are not inconsistent with, market information" and whether "[m]anagement used relevant information that was reasonably available at the time."[34]

22. As described below, Burns failed to comply with these and other PCAOB auditing standards in connection with the audit procedures performed and the opinions he authorized on the 2013 Bancorp audit.

c. Burns Violated PCAOB Rules and Auditing Standards

23. In planning the 2013 audit, Burns identified inadequate ALLL as a significant risk. Burns also identified as fraud risks additional allowance related risks, including "charge-offs used to conceal theft" and "non-performing loans concealed by manipulation of records." Burns assessed the inherent risk for the ALLL as high based on the subjectivity associated with the estimates and the potential for management bias. Grant Thornton's guidance also identified the heightened risk associated with the ALLL, as well as the "critical" role loan reviews and appraisal evaluations play in assessing the ALLL.

---

[31] See AU § 342.04, Auditing Accounting Estimates.

[32] See AU § 328, Auditing Fair Value Measurements and Disclosures; see also In re John J. Aesoph, CPA and Darren M. Bennett, CPA, Rel. No. 34-78490, 2016 WL 4176930 (SEC Aug. 5, 2016).

[33] See AU § 328.25.

[34] See AU § 328.26.

ORDER

24. In planning the 2013 audit of Bancorp, Burns adopted a controls reliance approach to auditing the reasonableness of the valuation of Bancorp's ALLL. As the audit progressed, Burns failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to support his assertion that Bancorp's controls over the valuation of the ALLL were designed and operating effectively. Specifically, Burns failed to properly test, or ensure the engagement team properly tested, the design and operating effectiveness of Bancorp's loan review and collateral monitoring controls, as well as the operating effectiveness of Bancorp's controls over the maintenance of loan files and identification and measurement of impairment.

25. Furthermore, because Burns failed through its insufficient testing to identify deficiencies in Bancorp's ALLL-related controls, he failed to reassess the appropriateness of his controls reliance approach, failed to assess the impact on his risk assessment, and failed to appropriately expand the scope of the substantive procedures to mitigate the risk of material misstatement arising from those control deficiencies.

26. In addition, in performing substantive procedures to test net loans and the reasonableness of the ALLL, Burns failed to perform, or ensure the engagement team performed, sufficient procedures to support his conclusions related to the substantive loan reviews. Specifically, Burns failed to perform, or ensure his staff performed, substantive loan review procedures on non-impaired individually significant loans and loans with qualitative risk factors," because the engagement team failed to identify any loans meetings these definitions. Moreover, with respect to the loans Burns and the engagement team did review, Burns failed to identify and address red flags and other contrary evidence that called into question the collectability of the loans and management's TDR determinations.

27. Burns's violations stemmed from, among other things, his failure to reasonably supervise and review the work of engagement team members. Burns delegated many of his supervisory responsibilities to the senior manager, yet failed to develop a sufficient understanding as to how the senior manager carried out those duties. Burns then failed to properly review the work of inexperienced team members.

28. As a result, Burns failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to support Grant Thornton's opinions on Bancorp's 2013 financial statements and on the effectiveness of Bancorp's ICFR. Burns's substantial audit experience, which spanned three decades, makes his failure to conduct the 2013 Bancorp audit in accordance with PCAOB standards especially troubling.[35]

i. Assignment of Significant Engagement Responsibilities

29. Burns violated PCAOB auditing standards by failing to properly supervise and review the work of the engagement team.[36] Burns, as engagement partner, was responsible for the assignment of tasks to, and supervision of, the members of the engagement team and, as permitted, Burns sought the assistance of the senior manager on the engagement in fulfilling those responsibilities. Among other tasks, Burns delegated to the senior manager the responsibility for assigning test work to the staff on the engagement. Burns, however, failed to properly supervise the senior manager and failed to develop a sufficient understanding of who was performing which audit procedures or the skills of the individuals performing the procedures.

30. Despite the risks associated with Bancorp's ALLL and ALLL-related controls, the senior manager assigned the responsibility for performing test work over highly subjective areas, including the assignment of risk ratings, the identification and quantification of impairment, the identification of TDRs, and the evaluation of appraisals, to staff with little to no prior experience in auditing the ALLL for a financial services company. Indeed, the senior manager was aware that the junior staff lacked experience to draw certain audit conclusions, as he acknowledged in an email to Burns during the audit: "[T]he staff in the field are too inexperienced to understand what they've already done in order to draw connections between the different procedures and risks."

31. Burns further violated PCAOB auditing standards because he failed to inform engagement team members of their responsibilities. Burns did not instruct the staff as to which procedures to perform, the objectives of those procedures, or how the procedures should be performed. Instead, Burns again relied on the senior manager but failed to develop a sufficient understanding of the instructions the senior manager provided to the staff.

32. Burns also violated PCAOB standards by failing to properly assess the extent of supervision necessary for engagement team members to perform their work

---

[35] See In re Gregory M. Dearlove, CPA, Rel. No. 34-57244, 2008 WL 281105, at *30 and n. 119 (SEC Jan. 31, 2008).

[36] See AS No. 10 ¶¶ 3, 5, 6.

ORDER

and form appropriate conclusions.[37] Specifically, Burns failed to adequately take into account the knowledge, skill, and ability of each engagement team member, the nature of the assigned work, and the risks of material misstatement. In particular, Burns failed to appropriately increase his level of supervision in response to the relative inexperience of the engagement team.[38]

33. Burns then failed to sufficiently review the work of the engagement team to evaluate whether the work was performed and documented, the objectives of the procedures were achieved, and the results of the work supported the conclusions reached.[39] In fact, Burns failed to document that he performed any review of control test work over the ALLL, even though he had identified it as a significant risk. Moreover, to the extent Burns did review work papers, he failed to review them at a level sufficient to identify the significant problems that the 2013 audit work papers contained, including factual inaccuracies, conclusions not supported by sufficient appropriate evidence, various red flags, contrary audit evidence, and indications that audit procedures had not been properly performed.

34. Burns's failure to properly supervise and review the work of staff on the 2013 audit occurred despite his having previously received criticism for similar failures. In his fiscal year 2012 performance appraisal, Burns received negative comments from a member of Grant Thornton's National Professional Practice Director Group, who criticized him for over-relying on his senior managers and for failing to delve deeply enough into audit work papers.[40] As a result, in Burns's fiscal year 2014 performance goals, the Audit Practice Leader identified increased supervision and more in-depth and timely review as areas of focus for Burns. Accordingly, Burns knew of the need to improve his supervision of staff and his review of audit work papers, but failed to do so. Indeed, Burns reviewed only a small number of work papers until late in the audit and did not take sufficient time to complete his work paper review.

---

[37] See AS No. 10 ¶ 6.

[38] During the prior year audit, the Bancorp engagement team included an experienced senior manager, experienced manager, and experienced in-charge who had been on the audit since 2008. In contrast, the 2013 engagement team included the experienced senior manager but no manager and a brand new in-charge who had never served as an in-charge on a completed audit of either a public company or a bank.

[39] See AS No. 10 ¶ 5.

[40] Grant Thornton's fiscal year runs from August 1 to July 31.

ORDER

35. Burns's failure to properly supervise and review the work of the engagement team contributed significantly to the audit failures described below.

ii. Burns Failed to Assess Adequately the Design and Operating Effectiveness of ALLL-Related Controls

36. In performing procedures to support the financial statement and ICFR opinions, PCAOB standards required Burns to test both the design effectiveness and operating effectiveness of controls that were "important to the auditor's conclusion about whether the company's controls sufficiently address[ed] the assessed risk of misstatement to each relevant assertion."[41]

37. During the 2013 Bancorp audit, Burns failed to obtain sufficient appropriate evidence that specific controls over estimates for which there was a risk of material misstatement were designed and operating effectively. Specifically, Burns failed to obtain sufficient appropriate evidence to support his conclusions that (a) Bancorp's controls over loan file reviews and monitoring collateral were designed and operating effectively and (b) Bancorp's controls over maintaining loan files and identifying and measuring impairment were operating effectively. Moreover, Burns failed to obtain sufficient appropriate evidence to support the team's assessment that control risk was low.

38. With respect to Bancorp's controls over its loan review function, which were critical to the calculation of the ALLL, Burns failed to ensure that the engagement team performed appropriate procedures to develop a sufficient understanding of the duties of individuals and departments associated with the loan review process. In particular, despite Firm guidance that emphasized the importance of an independent loan review function, Burns failed to sufficiently assess the potential impact that certain individuals within the Bank's lending function had on the process for assigning risk ratings.

39. Further, despite evidence from the engagement team's testwork suggesting potentially ineffective controls, Burns failed to perform, or ensure the engagement team performed, sufficient procedures to assess:

- the adequacy of the timing and scope of Bancorp's loan review control;

---

[41] See AS No. 5 ¶ 39. To satisfy this requirement, Burns and the engagement team identified key controls for testing.

ORDER

- the completeness of Bancorp's loan files; and

- whether Bancorp complied with its own credit policy with respect to obtaining updated appraisals, obtaining timely information from borrowers and guarantors, and perfecting collateral rights.

40. Burns likewise failed to properly assess whether Bancorp's controls related to monitoring collateral were designed and operating effectively. Specifically, Burns:

- failed to obtain a sufficient understanding of whether the appraisal or valuation requirements set forth in Bancorp's credit policy were designed appropriately; and

- failed to properly evaluate contrary evidence, such as reliance on stale appraisals, indicating that Bancorp's control for monitoring and updating collateral values was not operating effectively.

41. Burns and the engagement team also failed to perform sufficient procedures to support their conclusions that the controls relating to Bancorp's measurement of impairment were operating effectively. Despite having raised concerns about management's use of unsupported discounts on aged appraisals during the 2012 audit, Burns and the engagement team failed to obtain sufficient evidence that management's practice did not continue to exist in 2013. In fact, in reviewing the impairment calculation for one loan, the engagement team noted that Bancorp rejected a recent appraisal of the loan's collateral and, instead, relied on a 2007 appraisal discounted by five percent. Burns and the engagement team, however, failed to sufficiently assess whether Bancorp's actions demonstrated management bias or a control deficiency.

42. In light of the deficiencies in the testing of the design and operating effectiveness of Bancorp's ALLL-related controls, Burns failed to obtain, or ensure the engagement team obtained, sufficient appropriate evidence to support the team's controls reliance approach and related risk assessment. As a result, Burns failed to obtain sufficient appropriate evidence to support Grant Thornton's financial statement and ICFR opinions.

iii. Burns Violated PCAOB Standards in Evaluating Net Loans and the ALLL

43. The engagement team's procedures to evaluate the reasonableness of the valuation of net loans and the ALLL likewise fell short of complying with PCAOB standards. Specifically, the small number of loans Burns and the engagement team reviewed was insufficient to address the risks presented by Bancorp's loan portfolio.

ORDER

44. Further, Burns failed to sufficiently consider red flags or contrary evidence indicating that loans were impaired and/or TDRs and relied on management representations without obtaining relevant and reliable evidence to corroborate those representations. As a result, Burns failed to comply with PCAOB standards, including those requiring him to exercise due professional care and professional skepticism, obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence, evaluate whether he obtained sufficient audit evidence, and perform procedures to resolve questions concerning inconsistent audit evidence.[42]

The Loan Review Scope Failed to Respond to Known Risks

45. Burns, as engagement partner, was responsible for the design and execution of audit procedures. The engagement team's substantive loan review procedures, which consisted of reviewing a random sample of 25 loans and four individually significant impaired loans, fell short of providing Burns with sufficient appropriate evidence to conclude on the reasonableness of Bancorp's reported net loans and ALLL.[43]

46. Among other things, during the 2013 audit, the engagement team, with Burns's approval:

- Substantively reviewed fewer loans than the previous year even though Burns acknowledged that there had been no change in the risk associated with Bancorp's loans from 2012;

- Failed to review any non-impaired individually significant loans or loans based on qualitative risk factors, (a) despite having reviewed 64 individually significant loans during the 2012 audit; (b) despite having

---

[42] See AU §§ 230.01, 09; AU §§ 333.03-.04; AU § 350.21; AS No. 5 ¶ 71; AS No. 14 ¶¶ 2-3, 32-36; AS No. 15 ¶¶ 4, 7, 10, 29.

[43] Moreover, Burns and the engagement team failed to select their sample to ensure that the sample was representative of the relevant population. Of the 25 loans that the engagement team reviewed as part of its random sample, 20 were direct finance leases or daily rental lines of credit even though together they only represented $195 million or 9.75 percent of the $2.0 billion loan portfolio as of December 31, 2013.

ORDER

identified certain risky loans that the engagement team characterized variously as "sticky," and "problematic;" (c) despite knowing that certain loans—in fact, 30 percent of Bancorp's portfolio of Commercial Loans—had been originated prior to the 2008 financial crisis and presented a different risk profile as compared to loans that were originated afterwards; and (d) despite Grant Thornton's own guidance requiring review of "[l]oans that me[t] certain qualitative risk characteristics;" and

- Failed to properly evaluate multi-loan lending relationships, even when cross collateralization or cross default provisions were present, thus failing to consider factors necessary to conclude on the risks presented by Bancorp's multi-loan relationships and on any necessary allowance. [44]

Burns Failed to Respond to Red Flags and Contrary Evidence During the Loan Review Procedures

47. In reviewing the loan review procedures, Burns and the engagement team failed to identify or give appropriate weight to contradictory evidence indicating that loans were improperly risk rated, impaired, and/or were TDRs. In fact, during the 2013 loan reviews, Burns and the engagement team were aware of the following information:[45]

- For one loan that was part of a $17.8 million lending relationship, Burns had information that the borrower had insufficient income to service the interest payments on the loans yet concluded that the loans were not impaired because they were current. Burns did so despite clear indicators that the borrower was drawing on his line of credit with Bancorp to service the interest only payments on that same line of credit.

- For a second loan relationship, Burns concluded that the loans were not impaired despite the fact that two-thirds of the collateral securing certain of [44] Cross collateralization is a provision in a loan agreement that gives the lender the right to use the collateral from one loan to secure another loan. Cross default is a provision in a loan agreement that states a borrower is in default on the loan if the borrower defaults on another loan.

---

[45] During the restatement audit, Grant Thornton relied on this same information, among other information, to concur in management's conclusion that Bancorp's ALLL needed to be restated.

ORDER

the loans had been sold and the borrower had not repaid any of the principal on those loans.

- On that same loan relationship, Burns concluded that the loans were not TDRs because the loans had not been modified and the borrower was not in financial distress. Burns reached this conclusion even though his team's work papers noted that, over the lives of these loans including during 2013, the loans had been modified or extended at least seven times, the borrower was diverting proceeds from the sale of collateral to service other loans, and there had been 18 late payments on one or more of the loans in the relationship.

- On a third lending relationship Burns failed to instruct the engagement team to expand its procedures to include all loans in the relationship despite clear indicators that other loans might be impaired. Significantly, Burns knew that the guarantor of one of the loans, who was also the borrower and/or guarantor across all loans in the relationship, had made only minimal payments, had been convicted in July 2012 for his role in a kickback scheme, and was serving a five-year prison sentence. Burns was also aware, through his review of another loan, that the guarantor's wife intended to repay the loan as part of a restructuring of the borrower's debt. Despite this knowledge, Burns failed to sufficiently consider whether this information might impact other loans in the relationship.

- For one loan within another relationship, Bancorp relied on a stale pre-financial crisis appraisal to value a borrower's reported equity interest in a Las Vegas casino.[46] Burns was aware the borrower had significantly reduced the value of his reported equity interests in the casino from $66 million to $20 million, yet Burns again failed to assess whether Bancorp's use of the stale valuation indicated a potential impairment or control deficiency.[47]

---

[46] Burns also failed to perform or ensure the engagement team performed any procedures to test whether Bancorp had perfected its interest in the borrower's collateral. Had Burns done so he would have learned Bancorp's collateral rights were worthless as the company that owned the Las Vegas casino had folded in 2012 and filed for bankruptcy in 2013.

[47] Although PCAOB standards required Burns to evaluate control deficiencies identified during substantive procedures, Burns failed to identify and

ORDER

Burns Inappropriately Relied on Management Representations in Concluding on his Loan Review Procedures

48. Although Burns and the engagement team identified concealment of nonperforming loans as a fraud risk, Burns, during the engagement team's loan reviews, relied on management representations without obtaining or ensuring the engagement team obtained sufficient evidence to corroborate such representations, even when the risk of possible management bias was present:

- For example, in one lending relationship, Burns relied on management's representation that a third party intended to purchase buildings serving as collateral for three of the borrower's loans and that the proceeds would be sufficient to repay all remaining loans. Burns, however, failed to obtain or ensure the engagement team obtained a copy of the purported offer or any other reliable evidence to support management's representations that there was a willing buyer or that the proceeds would indeed be sufficient to repay the loans.

- In another lending relationship, Bancorp, in measuring the necessary specific reserves, discounted a recovery strategy firm's valuation of commissions receivable (the collateral for the loans) by 30 percent. Burns concluded the specific reserves were reasonable yet failed to perform any procedures to assess the recovery strategy firm's valuation of the commissions receivable and further failed to obtain any evidence to corroborate management's 30 percent discount.[48] evaluate control deficiencies that were evident during the engagement team's substantive procedures. See AS No. 5 ¶ 71 (auditors are required to evaluate evidence obtained from all sources, including any control deficiencies identified during the audit, when forming an opinion on the effectiveness of ICFR).

---

[48] Even though Bancorp engaged the recovery strategy firm to provide a valuation, and then used that valuation for purposes of calculating a specific reserve that Burns and the engagement team also used as evidence to support the reserve, Burns failed to identify the firm as a specialist. Accordingly, Burns violated AU § 336, Use of a Specialist, because Burns failed to perform or ensure the engagement team performed any procedures to (a) evaluate the professional qualifications of the recovery strategy firm engaged by Bancorp; (b) develop an understanding of the methods and assumptions used by the recovery strategy firm; and (c) test the data Bancorp provided to the recovery strategy firm. See AU §§ 336.08-.09, .12 (when an auditor uses the work

ORDER

Burns Failed to Identify and Evaluate Potential TDRs

49. Burns likewise failed to design and perform, or ensure the engagement team performed, audit procedures to sufficiently address the risk of misstatement posed by a previously recognized TDR-related control deficiency. Because of the heightened risk associated with unidentified TDRs, Burns and the engagement team were required to obtain more persuasive evidence to support the completeness assertion associated with Bancorp's TDR disclosures.[49]

50. Burns and the engagement team, however, failed to identify and include any loans modified during the first nine months of 2013 in its population of loans subject to substantive TDR completeness procedures. Indeed, Burns and the engagement team limited the population of loans subject to test work because of the change in controls Bancorp implemented during October 2013. Thus, Burns and the engagement team failed to perform sufficient substantive testing to ensure that Bancorp's identification of TDRs for 2013 was complete.

51. Burns also failed to appropriately evaluate whether there was evidence that certain loans should have been classified as TDRs. As discussed above, in performing his review of the engagement team's loan review procedures, Burns failed to appropriately evaluate whether there was evidence that certain loans should have been classified as TDRs.

iv. Burns Violated Audit Documentation Requirements

52. Burns also violated PCAOB auditing standards that required the auditor to assemble for retention (referred to herein as "archive") a complete and final set of work papers (a) within 45 days of the release of its audit report; and (b) within 45 days of its

---

of a specialist as audit evidence, the auditor is required, among other things, to "consider the ... professional qualifications of the specialist in determining that the specialist possesses the necessary skill or knowledge in the particular field," obtain an understanding of the methods and assumptions used by the specialist, and conduct "appropriate tests of data provided to the specialist").

[49] For a description of the requirements related to the design of auditing procedures to respond to the auditor's assessment of risk, see AS No. 13 ¶ 9; see also AS No. 5 ¶¶ 57-58.

ORDER

substantially completing field work for each of its quarterly reviews.[50] Specifically, Burns failed to (i) archive, or ensure his team archived, the first quarter 2012 and 2013 Bancorp quarterly review work papers and (ii) timely archive, or ensure his team timely archived, the 2013 Bancorp audit work papers.

53. PCAOB standards also require that audit documentation contain sufficient information to enable an experienced auditor, having no previous connection with the engagement, to determine who performed the work and the date such work was completed.[51] To assist engagement team members in complying with this requirement, Grant Thornton's audit software permits more than one person to sign off as preparer for a work paper and permits individuals to sign off on behalf of someone else. Despite the requirements of PCAOB standards and the functionality of the Firm's audit software, the audit in-charge signed off as the sole preparer on a significant number of work papers for which she did not perform any procedures other than opening the work paper, skimming it to confirm it was complete, and attaching it to the audit file. Of particular significance, the in-charge signed off as the sole preparer for all but four of the loan reviews performed as part of the Firm's control testing; however, she did not actually perform any procedures on those loan reviews beyond opening them and checking to see if they appeared complete and that the conclusions did not contradict the information she skimmed. Accordingly, Burns, as the engagement partner, violated PCAOB audit documentation standards by failing to ensure that the 2013 audit work papers accurately indicated who performed the work.

v. Burns Failed to Appropriately Evaluate Facts Discovered Subsequent to Grant Thornton's 2013 Integrated Audit Report.

54. PCAOB standards require an auditor to take certain steps when, after the auditor's report, the auditor becomes aware of information that relates to the financial statements and/or ICFR that it was not aware of at the time it issued an audit report and which is of such a nature and from a source that the auditor would have investigated it

---

[50] See Auditing Standard No. 3, Audit Documentation, ¶ 15; see also Audit Documentation and Amendment to Interim Auditing Standards, PCAOB Release 2004-006, at 9 (June 9, 2004).

[51] See AS No. 3 ¶ 6.

ORDER

had it come to the auditor's attention during the course of the audit.[52] Burns violated these standards, during the first and third quarters of 2014.

55. Prior to the restatement, during the first quarter of 2014, Bancorp recorded provisions for loan and lease losses totaling $17.3 million primarily due to three large commercial loans. At that time, Burns learned in connection with the first quarter provision taken for one relationship, that the borrower had entered into a settlement agreement with Bancorp. Burns, however, failed to sufficiently consider whether the facts related to the settlement agreement, which led to the provision, occurred prior to audit report date. Indeed, during the first quarter review, Burns failed to sufficiently consider whether those newly learned facts should have caused an earlier impairment, particularly given that he had previously known that the borrower's wife had requested, prior to December 31, 2013, that the loan relationship be restructured. Likewise, when Burns learned that Bancorp had received a new appraisal for collateral securing several of the loans, he failed to inquire as to when the appraisal was received and failed to sufficiently consider whether it was appropriate to record the additional provisions and related charge-offs prior to December 31, 2013.

56. Burns further violated PCAOB standards when he failed to sufficiently consider whether information presented in a third-party consultant report[53] indicated the existence of ALLL-related control deficiencies and possible unrecorded loan impairments as of December 31, 2013.[54] The report, which Burns obtained as part of the third quarter 2014 review procedures, noted that Bancorp's risk ratings tended to congregate too much in a specific Pass category, that the information in Bancorp's loan files was often incomplete, and that the amount of follow-up credit monitoring was limited in practice. The report recommended that a significant number of risk ratings be downgraded. The third-party that prepared the report ultimately calculated an expected material loss based primarily on the credit risk associated with the loans. Burns, however, failed to sufficiently assess whether the report's findings were based on facts that existed at or before December 31, 2013. Burns further failed to properly consider whether the report's conclusions were an indication that Bancorp's risk ratings as of

---

[52] See AU §§ 561.04-.05, Subsequent Discovery of Facts Existing at the Date of the Auditor's Report; AS No. 5 ¶ 98.

[53] Bancorp retained a third-party consultant to conduct a review and valuation of its commercial lending portfolio in connection with its decision in the third quarter of 2014 to discontinue its commercial lending operations.

[54] Under AS 5 ¶ 98, auditors are required, consistent with AU § 561, to evaluate subsequently discovered facts that may have impacted their ICFR report.

ORDER

December 31, 2013 were incorrect or that the ALLL might have been materially understated as of year-end.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondent's Offer. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), David M. Burns, CPA, is hereby censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(B) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(2), David M. Burns, CPA, is barred from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm, as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i);[55]

C. After one (1) year from the date of this Order, David M. Burns, CPA, may file a petition, pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5302(b), for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm.

D. If David M. Burns, CPA, is permitted to associate once again with a registered public accounting firm, pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(B) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(3), for a period of two (2) years from the date of this Order, his role in any "audit," as that term is defined in Section 110(1) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(a)(v), shall be restricted as follows: Burns shall not (1) serve, or supervise the work of another person serving, as an "engagement partner," as that term is used in the Board's Auditing Standard No. 10 or AS 1201, Supervision of the Audit Engagement; (2) serve, or supervise the work of another person serving, as an "engagement quality reviewer," as that term is used in the Board's Auditing Standard No. 7 or AS 1220, Engagement Quality Review; (3) serve, or supervise the work of another person serving, in any role that is equivalent to, but differently denominated from, engagement partner (such

---

[55] As a consequence of the bar, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act will apply with respect to Burns. Section 105(c)(7)(B) provides: "It shall be unlawful for any person that is suspended or barred from being associated with a registered public accounting firm under this subsection willfully to become or remain associated with any issuer, broker, or dealer in an accountancy or a financial management capacity, and for any issuer, broker, or dealer that knew, or in the exercise of reasonable care should have known, of such suspension or bar, to permit such an association, without the consent of the Board or the Commission."

ORDER

as "lead partner" or "practitioner-in-charge") or engagement quality reviewer (such as "concurring partner"); (4) exercise authority, or supervise the work of another person exercising authority, either to sign a registered public accounting firm's name to an audit report, or to consent to the use of a previously issued audit report, for any issuer, broker, or dealer; (5) serve, or supervise the work of another person serving, as the "other auditor," or "another auditor," as those terms are used in the Board's Interim Auditing Standard AU Section 543 or AS 1205, Part of the Audit Performed by Other Independent Auditors; or (6) serve, or supervise the work of another individual serving as a professional practice director; and

E. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of $15,000 payable by David M. Burns is imposed. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of this civil money penalty will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. David M. Burns, CPA, shall pay this civil money penalty within 10 days of the issuance of this Order by (1) wire transfer in accordance with instructions furnished by Board staff; or (2) United States Postal Service money order, bank money order, certified check, or bank cashier's check (a) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, (b) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, and (c) submitted under a cover letter, which identifies David M. Burns, CPA as a respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB release number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe W. Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

_____

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

December 19, 2017

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street NW
Washington, DC 20006
Office: (202) 207-9100
Fax: (202) 862-8430
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of Tarvaran Askelson & Company, LLP, Eric Askelson, and Patrick Tarvaran, Respondents.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2018-001 February 27, 2018

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("Board" or "PCAOB") is (1) censuring Tarvaran Askelson & Company, LLP ("TAC" or "Firm"), revoking the registration of the Firm,[1] and imposing a civil money penalty in the amount of $15,000 on the Firm; (2) censuring Eric Askelson ("Askelson"), barring him from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm,[2] and imposing a civil money penalty of $5,000 on him; and (3) censuring Patrick Tarvaran ("Tarvaran"), barring him from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm,[3] and imposing a civil money penalty of $5,000 on him.

The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that: (a) the Firm, Askelson, and Tarvaran (collectively, "Respondents") violated PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the audit and examination engagement for Alpine Securities Corporation ("Alpine"), a broker-dealer, for the fiscal year ending ("FYE") September 30, 2015; (b) Askelson and the Firm violated PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the audit of the financial statements of Terra Tech Corp. ("Terra Tech"), an issuer, for the year ending December 31, 2015, and (c) Tarvaran and the Firm violated PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the audit of the financial statements of FitLife Brands, Inc. ("FitLife"), an issuer, for the year ending December 31, 2015.

---

[1] The Firm may reapply for registration after two (2) years from the date of this Order.

[2] Askelson may file a petition for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm after two (2) years from the date of this Order.

[3] Tarvaran may file a petition for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm after one (1) year from the date of this Order.

ORDER

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondents.

II.

In anticipation of institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondents have each submitted Offers of Settlement ("Offers") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over Respondents and the subject matter of these proceedings, which are admitted, Respondents each consent to the entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[4]

III.

On the basis of Respondents' Offers, the Board finds that:[5]

A. Respondents

1. Tarvaran Askelson & Company, LLP is a limited liability partnership organized under the laws of the state of California, and is headquartered in Dana Point, California. The Firm is licensed by the California Board of Accountancy (license no. 7104). The Firm is registered with the Board pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and

[4] The findings herein are made pursuant to the Respondents' Offers and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

[5] The Board finds that Respondents' conduct described in this Order meets the conditions set out in Section 105(c)(5) of the Act, 15 U.S.C. § 7215(c)(5), which provides that certain sanctions may be imposed in the event of: (A) intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, that results in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard; or (B) repeated instances of negligent conduct, each resulting in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard.

ORDER

PCAOB rules. The Firm currently does not serve as the principal auditor[6] for any issuer[7] audit clients or broker-dealer[8] audit clients and does not currently play a substantial role[9] in any issuer audits or broker-dealer audits. The Firm has two partners and four employees.

2. Eric Askelson, age 48, of Irvine, California, is, and at all relevant times was, a partner of the Firm and a registered public accountant licensed under the laws of California (license no. 78383). Askelson is, and at all relevant times was, an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i). Askelson served as: (a) the engagement partner for the audit and examination of Alpine for FYE September 30, 2015, and (b) the engagement partner for the audit of Terra Tech for the year ending December 31, 2015.

3. Patrick Tarvaran, age 48, of Laguna Niguel, California, is, and at all relevant times was, a partner of the Firm and a registered public accountant licensed under the laws of California (license no. 76414). Tarvaran is, and at all relevant times was, an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i). Tarvaran served as: (a) the engagement quality reviewer for the audit and examination of Alpine for FYE September 30, 2015, and (b) the engagement partner for the audit of FitLife for the year ending December 31, 2015.

B. Summary

4. This matter concerns Respondents' repeated violations of PCAOB rules and standards in connection with (a) Respondents' audit of the supporting schedules accompanying Alpine's financial statements for FYE September 30, 2015 (the "Alpine Audit"), (b) Askelson and the Firm's audit of Terra Tech for the year ending December 31, 2015 (the "Terra Tech Audit"), and (c) Tarvaran and the Firm's audit of FitLife for the

---

[6] See AU § 543, Part of Audit Performed by Other Independent Auditors (describing role of the principal auditor).

[7] See Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii) (containing definition of "issuer").

[8] See PCAOB Rule 1001(b)(iii) (containing definition of "broker"); see also PCAOB Rule 1001(d)(iii) (containing definition of "dealer").

[9] See PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(ii) (containing definition of "play a substantial role in the preparation or furnishing of an audit report").

ORDER

year ending December 31, 2015 (the "FitLife Audit"). As detailed below, Respondents failed to exercise due professional care and professional skepticism, and failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence, in connection with these audits. Among other violations, Askelson and the Firm relied solely on information produced by Alpine to audit the supplemental schedules Alpine was required to file regarding its compliance with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission's ("Commission") net capital and reserve requirements without testing that information for completeness and accuracy, or testing the Alpine controls over the completeness and accuracy of that information.

5. This matter also concerns Askelson and the Firm's violations of Attestation Standard No. 1 ("AT 1"), Examination Engagements Regarding Compliance Reports of Brokers and Dealers, when performing their examination of the statements made by Alpine, a "carrying broker-dealer,"[10] in its FYE September 30, 2015 compliance report (the "Examination") prepared pursuant to Securities Exchange Act of 1934 ("Exchange Act") Rule 17a-5, 17 C.F.R. § 240.17a-5 ("Rule 17a-5"). In particular, Askelson and the Firm failed to identify and test Alpine's internal controls over compliance with Commission rules for safeguarding certain customer assets held by Alpine.

6. Additionally, in connection with the Alpine Audit and Examination, Tarvaran violated Auditing Standard No. 7, Engagement Quality Review ("AS 7") by providing his concurring approval of issuance without performing the required engagement quality review with due professional care.

C. Respondents Violated PCAOB Rules and Standards in Connection with the Alpine Audit and Examination

Askelson and the Firm Violated PCAOB Audit Standards in Connection with Auditing Supplemental Information Accompanying the Alpine Financial Statements

7. In connection with the preparation or issuance of an audit report, PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons comply with the Board's auditing and related professional practice standards.[11] For audits of

---

[10] "Carrying broker-dealer" means a broker-dealer that carries customer or broker or dealer accounts and receives or holds funds or securities for those customers. See Broker-Dealer Reports, SEC Release No. 34-70073, p. 307 (July 30, 2013).

[11] See PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards, and PCAOB Rule 3200T, Interim Auditing Standards.

ORDER

fiscal years ending on or after June 1, 2014, Rule 17a-5(g) requires that audits of broker-dealers be performed in accordance with PCAOB standards. An auditor may express an unqualified opinion on financial statements only when the auditor has formed such an opinion on the basis of an audit performed in accordance with PCAOB standards.[12] Among other things, PCAOB standards require an auditor to exercise due professional care and professional skepticism in performing the audit, and plan and perform audit procedures to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to provide a reasonable basis for an opinion regarding the financial statements.[13]

8. PCAOB standards require that the auditor evaluate whether the financial statements are presented fairly, in all material respects, in conformity with the applicable financial reporting framework.[14] As part of the evaluation of the presentation of the financial statements, the auditor should evaluate whether the financial statements contain the information essential for a fair presentation of the financial statements in conformity with the applicable financial reporting framework.[15]

9. PCAOB standards require that the auditor properly plan the audit, including performing risk assessment procedures sufficient to provide a reasonable basis for identifying and assessing the risk of material misstatement, whether due to

---

All references to PCAOB rules and standards are to the versions of those rules and standards in effect at the time of the relevant audits. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its auditing standards using a topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Release No. 2015-002 (Mar. 31, 2015); see also PCAOB Auditing Standards Reorganized and Pre-Reorganized Numbering (January 2017), https://pcaobus.org/Standards/Auditing/Documents/ReorganizedandPreReorganizedNumbering.pdf.

[12] See AU § 508.07, Reports on Audited Financial Statements.

[13] See AU § 150, Generally Accepted Auditing Standards; AU § 230, Due Professional Care in the Performance of Work; and Auditing Standard No. 15, Audit Evidence ("AS 15").

[14] See Auditing Standard No. 14, Evaluating Audit Results ("AS 14"), ¶ 30.

[15] Id. ¶ 31.

ORDER

error or fraud, and designing further audit procedures.[16] The auditor should identify and assess the risks of material misstatement at the financial statement level and the assertion level, and design and perform audit procedures in a manner that addresses the assessed risks of material misstatement for each relevant assertion of each significant account and disclosure.[17] PCAOB standards provide that factors that should be evaluated in determining which risks are significant risks include whether the risk is a fraud risk.[18] The auditor's identification of fraud risks should include the risk of management override of controls.[19] Specifically, the auditor should design procedures to test the appropriateness of journal entries recorded in the general ledger and other adjustments made in the preparation of the financial statements for evidence of possible material misstatement due to fraud.[20] When an auditor has identified a significant risk, the auditor should perform substantive procedures, including tests of details, that are specifically responsive to the assessed risk.[21]

10. PCAOB standards require that, when the auditor is engaged to perform audit procedures and report on supplemental information accompanying the financial statements of the audit client, the auditor should perform audit procedures to obtain appropriate audit evidence that is sufficient to support the auditor's opinion regarding whether the supplemental information is fairly stated, in all material respects, in relation to the financial statements as a whole.[22] In doing so, the auditor should perform procedures to test the completeness and accuracy of the information presented in the

---

[16] See Auditing Standard No. 9, Audit Planning ("AS 9"), ¶ 4; Auditing Standard No. 12, Identifying and Assessing Risks of Material Misstatement ("AS 12"), ¶¶ 4-58.

[17] See AS 12 ¶ 59; Auditing Standard No. 13, The Auditor's Responses to the Risks of Material Misstatement ("AS 13"), ¶ 8.

[18] See AS 12 ¶ 71.b.

[19] See AS 12 ¶ 69.

[20] See AU §§ 316.58 - .62, Consideration of Fraud in a Financial Statement Audit.

[21] See AS 13 ¶ 11.

[22] See Auditing Standard No. 17, Auditing Supplemental Information Accompanying Audited Financial Statements ("AS 17"), ¶ 3.

ORDER

supplemental information to the extent that it was not tested as part of the audit of financial statements.[23] PCAOB standards also provide that the auditor should take into account relevant evidence from the audit of the financial statements and, for audits of brokers or dealers, the attestation engagements, in planning and performing audit procedures related to the supplemental information and in evaluating the results of the audit procedures to form the opinion on the supplemental information.[24]

11. PCAOB standards provide that the auditor should communicate to the audit committee an overview of the overall audit strategy, including the timing of the audit, and discuss with the audit committee the significant risks identified during the auditor's risk assessment procedures.[25]

12. PCAOB standards also provide that, if an auditor is unable to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to have a reasonable basis to conclude about whether the financial statements as a whole are free of material misstatement, the auditor should express a qualified opinion or a disclaimer of opinion.[26]

13. As described below, Askelson and the Firm failed to comply with PCAOB rules and standards in connection with auditing the supplemental information accompanying Alpine's financial statements.

Audit of Alpine's 2015 Financial Statements

14. At all relevant times, Alpine was a Utah corporation headquartered in Salt Lake City, Utah. Alpine's public filings disclose that it is registered with the Commission as a broker-dealer. At all relevant times, Alpine was a "broker" and "dealer," as defined in Section 110(3) and (4) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(b)(iii) and (d)(iii). At all relevant times, Alpine was a "carrying broker-dealer," that is, it was a broker-dealer that maintained custody of customer funds and securities.

---

[23] Id. ¶ 4(e).

[24] See AS 17 ¶ 3c, Note.

[25] See Auditing Standard No. 16, Communications with Audit Committees, ¶ 9 ("AS 16").

[26] See AS 14 ¶ 35; see also AU §§ 508.22-.34 (containing requirements regarding audit scope limitations).

ORDER

15. On November 27, 2015, Alpine filed with the Commission a Form X-17A-5 Part III for FYE September 30, 2015. Included in that filing was the Firm's FY 2015 audit report dated November 20, 2015 ("Alpine Audit Report"). Askelson authorized the Firm's issuance of the Alpine Audit Report, which expressed an unqualified opinion on Alpine's financial statements and supporting schedules, and stated, among other things, that the Firm's audit was conducted in accordance with PCAOB standards. Tarvaran, as the engagement quality reviewer, provided concurring approval of issuance of the Alpine Audit Report. As of FYE September 30, 2015, Alpine reported assets of approximately $4.3 million, revenue of approximately $13.6 million, and net income of approximately $6.3 million.

Supplemental Information in Alpine's Supporting Schedules

16. Rule 17a-5 required Alpine to file certain supporting schedules that are audited by a PCAOB-registered firm.[27] Askelson and the Firm failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence regarding the supplemental information in the supporting schedules that accompanied Alpine's FYE 2015 financial statements.

17. One of Alpine's supporting schedules reported on its compliance with a Commission rule requiring Alpine to, among other things, maintain a reserve of funds or qualified securities in an account at one or more banks for the exclusive benefit of customers (the "Reserve Requirements Rule").[28] Another Alpine supporting schedule reported on its compliance with a Commission rule requiring it to, among other things, maintain a sufficient amount of net capital liquidity to satisfy claims promptly ("Net Capital Rule").[29]

18. In its supporting schedules, Alpine reported net capital of approximately $1.2 million, which it reported was about $951,000 in excess of its minimum net capital requirement. Alpine also reported cash segregated for the exclusive benefit of its customers of approximately $221,000, which it reported was about $221,000 in excess of its reserve requirement. Askelson and the Firm's procedures concerning these supporting schedules relied solely on information produced by Alpine without testing

---

[27] See Rule 17a-5(d)(1)(i)(A), (C) and (g).

[28] See 17 C.F.R. § 240.15c3-3, Customer Protection – Reserves and Custody of Securities ("Rule 15c3-3"). Rule 15c3-3, known as the Customer Protection Rule, contains the Reserve Requirements Rule at 15c3-3(e).

[29] See 17 C.F.R. § 240.15c3-1, Net Capital Requirements for Brokers or Dealers ("Rule 15c3-1").

ORDER

that information for completeness and accuracy, or testing the Alpine controls over the completeness and accuracy of that information. Consequently, Askelson and the Firm violated PCAOB standards by failing to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence that the supplemental information in the supporting schedules was fairly stated, in all material respects, in relation to the financial statements as a whole.[30]

Askelson and the Firm Violated PCAOB Attestation Standard No. 1 in Their Examination of Alpine's FYE 2015 Compliance Report

Certain Commission Reporting Requirements for Alpine

19. Under the Commission's "financial responsibility rules,"[31] Alpine had to satisfy certain requirements relating to net capital and the protection of customer assets.[32] Additionally, Rule 17a-5 required Alpine to file with the Commission an annual report containing a) a financial report that included financial statements and supporting schedules,[33] b) a compliance report concerning, among other things, the effectiveness of Alpine's internal controls over compliance with the financial responsibility rules;[34] and c) a report by a PCAOB-registered firm based on an examination of Alpine's financial and compliance reports.[35] Rule 17a-5 also required that the audit of the financial report

---

30 See AS 17 ¶¶ 2-4.

31 The term "financial responsibility rules" includes Rule 15c3-1; Rule 15c3-3; 17 C.F.R. § 240.17a-13, Quarterly Security Counts to be Made by Certain Exchange Members, Brokers, and Dealers; and any rule of a broker's or dealer's designated examining authority that requires account statements to be sent to the customers of the broker or dealer. The financial responsibility rules are the same as the rules cited in Rule 17a-5(d)(3)(ii).

32 Although some broker-dealers qualify for exemption from one of the financial responsibility rules, Rule 15c3-3, Alpine as a carrying broker-dealer did not qualify for exemption.

33 See Rule 17a-5(d)(1)(i)(A), (d)(2).

34 See Rule 17a-5(d)(1)(i)(B)(1), (d)(3).

35 See Rule 17a-5(d)(1)(i) and (g).

ORDER

and the examination of the compliance report be performed in accordance with PCAOB standards.[36]

20. In the compliance report, Alpine had to make certain statements ("assertions") about its compliance with the financial responsibility rules, including that: a) its Internal Control Over Compliance[37] ("ICOC") was effective during the most recent fiscal year; b) its ICOC was effective as of the end of the most recent fiscal year; and c) it was in compliance with Rule 15c3-1 and Rule 15c3-3(e) as of the end of the most recent fiscal year.[38]

PCAOB Attestation Standard No. 1

21. AT 1 provides that, in performing an examination of the assertions made by a broker or dealer in a compliance report, the auditor's objective is to express an opinion regarding whether the assertions made by the broker or dealer in the compliance report are fairly stated, in all material respects.[39] AT 1 also provides that, to express such opinion, the auditor must plan and perform the examination to obtain appropriate evidence that is sufficient to obtain reasonable assurance about whether: 1) one or more material weaknesses[40] existed during the most recent fiscal year specified in the broker's or dealer's assertion; 2) one or more material weaknesses existed as of the end of the most recent fiscal year specified in the broker's or dealer's assertion; and

---

[36] See Rule 17a-5(g).

[37] Rule 17a-5(d)(3)(ii) provides: "The term Internal Control Over Compliance means internal controls that have the objective of providing the broker or dealer with reasonable assurance that non-compliance with §240.15c3-1, §240.15c3-3, §240.17a-13, or any rule of the designated examining authority of the broker or dealer that requires account statements to be sent to the customers of the broker or dealer (an 'Account Statement Rule') will be prevented or detected on a timely basis."

[38] See Rule 17a-5(d)(3)(i)(A).

[39] See AT 1 ¶ 3.

[40] A "material weakness" is a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies, in ICOC such that there is a reasonable possibility that non-compliance with the Net Capital Rule or Reserve Requirements Rule will not be prevented or detected on a timely basis or that non-compliance to a material extent with Rule 15c3-3 (except for the Reserve Requirements Rule element), among other things, will not be prevented or detected on a timely basis. See AT 1, Appendix A ¶ A4.

ORDER

3) one or more instances of non-compliance with the Net Capital Rule or the Reserve Requirements Rule existed as of the end of the most recent fiscal year specified in the broker's or dealer's assertion.[41] As noted in AT 1, the auditor's examination should evaluate the effectiveness of ICOC with each financial responsibility rule during, and as of the end of, the most recent fiscal year.[42]

22. AT 1 also provides that the auditor must exercise due professional care, which includes application of professional skepticism, in planning and performing the examination engagement, and that the engagement partner is responsible for proper planning of the examination, proper supervision of the work of engagement team members, and compliance with the requirements of AT 1.[43] Additionally, when planning the examination of the compliance report, the auditor should obtain an understanding of the broker-dealer's processes regarding compliance with the financial responsibility rules, which includes evaluating the design of controls relevant to the examination and determining whether the controls have been implemented.[44] When performing the examination, the auditor must test the controls that are important to his or her conclusion about whether the broker-dealer has maintained effective ICOC for each financial responsibility rule during the fiscal year and at fiscal year-end, and must obtain evidence that the tested controls are designed effectively and operated effectively during the fiscal year and at fiscal year-end.[45] AT 1 further requires the auditor to conduct tests to determine whether the broker-dealer was in compliance with the Net Capital Rule and Reserve Requirements Rule at fiscal year-end; the auditor does this by, among other things, testing the accuracy and completeness of the information that the broker-dealer used to compute its compliance with those rules at fiscal year-end.[46]

23. As described below, Askelson and the Firm failed to comply with applicable PCAOB rules and standards in connection with their examination of the assertions made by Alpine in its FYE September 30, 2015 compliance report.

---

41 See AT 1 ¶ 4.

42 Id. ¶ 4, Note.

43 Id. ¶¶ 6(d), 7.

44 Id. ¶ 9(b) and Note.

45 Id. ¶ 11.

46 Id. ¶ 21.

ORDER

Askelson and the Firm's Examination of Alpine's 2015 Compliance Report

24. On November 27, 2015, Alpine filed Form X-17A-5 Part III for FY 2015 with the Commission. Included in that filing was Alpine's FY 2015 compliance report dated November 20, 2015 ("Compliance Report"). On November 20, 2015, Askelson authorized the Firm's issuance of its examination report concerning Alpine's Compliance Report ("Examination Report"), and Tarvaran, as the engagement quality reviewer, provided concurring approval of issuance of the Examination Report. The Examination Report expressed Respondents' opinion that Alpine's assertions in the Compliance Report were fairly stated, in all material respects, and the Examination Report stated, among other things, that the Examination was conducted in accordance with PCAOB standards.

25. Askelson and the Firm failed to plan and perform the Examination to obtain appropriate evidence sufficient to provide reasonable assurance about whether there were material weaknesses in Alpine's ICOC, as required by AT 1.[47] In particular, other than reviewing Alpine's Written Supervisory Procedures Manual, Askelson and the Firm failed to perform any procedures to obtain an understanding of Alpine's ICOC.[48] In addition, Askelson and the Firm failed to perform any procedures to test ICOC controls and obtain evidence that they were designed effectively and operating effectively, as required by AT 1.[49]

26. Askelson and the Firm also failed to perform any procedures to test the accuracy and completeness of the information that Alpine used to compute its compliance with the Net Capital Rule and Reserve Requirements Rule at FYE September 30, 2015.[50]

27. As a result of the above deficiencies, Askelson and the Firm lacked a sufficient basis for their opinion that Alpine's assertions in its 2015 Compliance Report were fairly stated, in all material respects. Consequently, Askelson and the Firm violated AT 1.

---

47 Id. ¶ 4; Appendix A ¶ A4.

48 Id. ¶ 9(b) and Note.

49 Id. ¶¶ 9(b), 11.

50 Id. ¶ 21.

ORDER

Tarvaran Violated PCAOB Rules and Standards in Connection with the Engagement Quality Reviews for the Alpine Audit and Examination

28. AS 7 requires that an engagement quality review be performed on all audits and certain attestation engagements conducted pursuant to PCAOB standards.[51] AS 7 also provides that a firm may grant permission to an audit client to use the firm's audit report or examination report only after an engagement quality reviewer provides concurring approval of issuance of the report.[52]

29. An engagement quality reviewer should evaluate the significant judgments made by the engagement team and the related conclusions reached in forming the overall conclusion on the engagement and in preparing the engagement report.[53] In performing an engagement quality review for an audit, the engagement quality reviewer should, among other things, evaluate the engagement team's assessment of, and audit responses to, significant risks, including fraud risks, identified by the engagement team or other significant risks identified by the engagement quality reviewer.[54] The engagement quality reviewer should also evaluate whether the engagement documentation that he or she reviewed indicates that the engagement team responded appropriately to significant risks and whether the engagement documentation that he or she reviewed supports the conclusions reached by the engagement team with respect to matters reviewed.[55] Finally, the engagement quality reviewer should review the engagement completion document and other relevant information.[56]

30. In connection with the Alpine Audit, Tarvaran failed to evaluate the significant judgments made by the engagement team and the related conclusions reached regarding the supplemental information in the supporting schedules. Tarvaran similarly failed to evaluate the significant judgments made by the engagement team and the related conclusions reached regarding the testing of Alpine's ICOC and the testing

---

51 See AS 7 ¶ 1.

52 Id. ¶¶ 13, 18C.

53 Id. ¶¶ 9, 18A.

54 Id. ¶ 10(b).

55 Id. ¶ 11.

56 Id. ¶¶ 10(e), 18A.

ORDER

of Alpine's compliance with the Net Capital Rule and Reserve Requirements Rule at fiscal year-end.

31. Tarvaran provided his concurring approvals of issuance without performing the engagement quality reviews with due professional care, and accordingly Tarvaran violated AS 7.

D. Askelson and the Firm Violated PCAOB Rules and Standards in Connection with the Terra Tech Audit

32. At all relevant times, Terra Tech was a Nevada corporation headquartered in Newport Beach, California. Terra Tech's public filings disclose that, among other things, it was involved in the design, marketing and sale of hydroponic equipment for the cultivation of indoor agriculture. At all relevant times, it was an issuer as that term is defined by Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

33. Askelson, as engagement partner, authorized the issuance of an audit report, dated March 29, 2016, expressing an unqualified opinion on Terra Tech's financial statements for the year ending December 31, 2015. The audit report was included in Terra Tech's Form 10-K filed with the Commission on March 29, 2016.

34. In connection with the Terra Tech Audit, Askelson and the Firm failed to exercise due professional care, including professional skepticism, and failed to perform the audit in accordance with PCAOB standards. Specifically, Askelson and the Firm failed to perform procedures to identify and test journal entries recorded in the general ledger and other adjustments made in the preparation of the financial statements for evidence of possible material misstatement due to fraud to address the risk of management override of controls.[57]

35. Terra Tech disclosed in its 2015 Form 10-K a derivative liability of approximately $743,000, or approximately 26% of total liabilities, and short-term debt of approximately $917,000, or approximately 32% of total liabilities. The short-term debt was comprised of convertible promissory notes issued during 2015 and 2014 ("convertible debt"). The derivative liabilities related to embedded conversion options and warrants associated with the convertible debt.

36. Other than obtaining management representations, Askelson and the Firm failed to perform other procedures to evaluate whether Terra Tech had appropriately accounted for its convertible debt and warrants. Specifically, Askelson and the Firm failed to evaluate whether the embedded conversion options and warrants, which were deemed by Terra Tech to be derivative liabilities, were appropriately accounted for in accordance with U.S. GAAP.[58]

---

[57] See AU §§ 316.58 - .62.

37. In addition, Askelson and the Firm failed to perform sufficient procedures to test the valuation of the derivative liabilities. Specifically, Askelson and the Firm failed to perform procedures to evaluate the reasonableness of the significant assumptions used by management, including the expected volatility rates used by Terra Tech to determine the fair value estimates at date of issuance and year end.[59] As a result, Askelson and the Firm failed to exercise due professional care, including professional skepticism, during the Terra Tech Audit, and failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to support the audit opinion.[60]

38. Askelson and the Firm also failed to communicate to Terra Tech's audit committee an overview of the overall audit strategy or any significant risks identified during the Firm's risk assessment procedures for the Terra Tech Audit. As a result, Askelson and the Firm violated AS 16.[61]

E. Tarvaran and the Firm Violated PCAOB Rules and Standards in Connection with the FitLife Audit

39. At all relevant times, FitLife was a Nevada corporation headquartered in Omaha, Nebraska. FitLife's public filings disclose that it was a provider of innovative and proprietary nutritional supplements for health conscious consumers. At all relevant times, it was an issuer as that term is defined by Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

40. Tarvaran, as engagement partner, authorized the issuance of an audit report, dated April 14, 2016, expressing an unqualified opinion on FitLife's financial statements for the year ending December 31, 2015. The audit report was included in FitLife's Form 10-K filed with the Commission on April 14, 2016.

---

[58] See AS 14 ¶¶ 30, 31; see also FASB ASC Topic 480, Distinguishing Liabilities from Equity, and FASB ASC Subtopic 815, Derivatives and Hedging.

[59] See AU §§ 328.26 and .28, Auditing Fair Value Measurements and Disclosures.

[60] See AU § 230.02; see also AS 15 ¶ 4.

[61] See AS 16 ¶ 9.

ORDER

41. FitLife reported total assets, total revenue, and a net loss of approximately $17.6 million, $17.9 million, and $1.2 million, respectively, as of and for the year ending December 31, 2015.

42. In connection with the FitLife Audit, Tarvaran and the Firm violated PCAOB rules and standards by failing to: a) test a significant portion of FitLife's consolidated revenue; b) properly evaluate an acquisition by FitLife; and c) make all of the required communications to FitLife's audit committee.

43. PCAOB standards require that sample items should be selected in such a way that the sample can be expected to be representative of the population. Therefore, all items in the population should have an opportunity to be selected.[62]

44. FitLife earned its revenue in 2015 through two subsidiaries, NDS Nutrition Products, Inc. ("NDS") and iSatori, Inc. ("iSatori"). To test revenue, Tarvaran and the Firm selected only sales transactions above specific dollar amounts for NDS and iSatori. These transactions, however, were not representative of the entire population because this approach did not allow transactions below the dollar amounts an opportunity to be selected. Because this approach did not constitute audit sampling, Tarvaran and the Firm excluded approximately 81% of FitLife's consolidated revenue from an opportunity to be selected for testing.

45. During 2015, FitLife disclosed that it acquired iSatori for approximately $4.6 million, or approximately 26% of total assets at year end. FitLife disclosed that the acquisition resulted in the recognition of goodwill and other intangible assets, which in the aggregate, represented approximately 35% of FitLife's total assets at year end, and other acquired assets and assumed liabilities, which represented approximately 19% of total assets and 67% of total liabilities, respectively, at year end.

46. Although the engagement team discussed this acquisition during its team planning meeting, Tarvaran and the Firm failed to evaluate the risk of material misstatement at the financial statement level and the assertion level for this acquisition.[63]

47. Tarvaran and the Firm also failed to perform sufficient procedures to test the acquisition. Specifically, Tarvaran and the Firm failed to perform sufficient procedures to: a) test the fair value of the common shares, options, and warrants issued as part of the consideration for the acquisition; b) test the fair value of the acquired identified intangible assets; c) test the existence of the other assets acquired and the completeness of the liabilities assumed in connection with the acquisition; and d) evaluate the reasonableness of the fair values disclosed in FitLife's financial statements for certain other assets acquired. As a result, Tarvaran and the Firm violated PCAOB standards.[64]

---

[62] See AU § 350.24, Audit Sampling.

[63] See AS 12 ¶ 59; AS 13 ¶ 8.

48. In addition, in auditing the accounting for the acquisition, Tarvaran and the Firm read a FitLife-engaged specialist's valuation report that valued the acquired identified intangible assets using information provided by FitLife, including historical data and financial projections. The information provided by the specialist included the fair values of certain other assets acquired, which differed significantly from the fair values disclosed in FitLife's financial statements. Despite being aware of this inconsistent information, Tarvaran and the Firm failed to perform audit procedures necessary to resolve the matter and to determine the effect, if any, on other aspects of the audit.[65] As a result, Tarvaran and the Firm failed to exercise due professional care, including professional skepticism, during the FitLife Audit, and failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to support the audit opinion.[66]

49. Finally, Tarvaran and the Firm failed to communicate to FitLife's audit committee an overview of the overall audit strategy or any significant risks identified during the Firm's risk assessment procedures for the FitLife Audit. As a result, Tarvaran and the Firm violated AS 16.[67]

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondents' Offers. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

---

[64] See AU §§ 328.03, .15, .26, and .28; AU § 336.12, Using the Work of a Specialist; AS 13 ¶ 8; AS 14 ¶ 31.

[65] See AS 15 ¶ 29.

[66] See AU § 230.02; see also AS 15 ¶ 4.

[67] See AS 16 ¶ 9.

ORDER

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), Tarvaran Askelson & Company, LLP, Eric Askelson, and Patrick Tarvaran are hereby censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(A) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(1), the registration of Tarvaran Askelson & Company, LLP is revoked;

C. After two (2) years from the date of this Order, Tarvaran Askelson & Company, LLP may reapply for registration by filing an application pursuant to PCAOB Rule 2101;

D. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(B) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(2), Eric Askelson is barred from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm, as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i);[68]

E. After two (2) years from the date of this Order, Eric Askelson may file a petition, pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5302(b), for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm;

F. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(B) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(2), Patrick Tarvaran is barred from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm, as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i);[69]

G. After one (1) year from the date of this Order, Patrick Tarvaran may file a petition, pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5302(b), for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm;

---

[68] As a consequence of the bar imposed in this Order, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act will apply with respect to Askelson. Section 105(c)(7)(B) provides: "It shall be unlawful for any person that is suspended or barred from being associated with a registered public accounting firm under this subsection willfully to become or remain associated with any issuer, broker, or dealer in an accountancy or a financial management capacity, and for any issuer, broker, or dealer that knew, or in the exercise of reasonable care should have known, of such suspension or bar, to permit such an association, without the consent of the Board or the Commission."

[69] As a consequence of the bar imposed in this Order, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act, discussed supra, at n. 68, will apply with respect to Tarvaran.

ORDER

H. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), civil money penalties in the amount of $15,000 payable by Tarvaran Askelson & Company, LLP, $5,000 payable by Eric Askelson, and $5,000 payable by Patrick Tarvaran are imposed. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of these civil money penalties will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. Tarvaran Askelson & Company, LLP, Eric Askelson, and Patrick Tarvaran shall pay these civil money penalties within ten (10) days of the issuance of this Order by (1) wire transfer in accordance with instructions furnished by Board staff; or (2) United States Postal Service money order, bank money order, certified check, or bank cashier's check (a) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, (b) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, and (c) submitted under a cover letter which identifies Tarvaran Askelson & Company, LLP, Eric Askelson, or Patrick Tarvaran as a respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB Release number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe W. Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

_____

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

February 27, 2018

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street NW
Washington, DC 20006
Office: (202) 207-9100
Fax: (202) 862-8430
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of Baum & Company, P.A. and Joel S. Baum, CPA, Respondents.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2018-002 February 27, 2018

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("Board" or "PCAOB") is: (1) censuring Baum & Company, P.A. ("Firm"), a registered public accounting firm; revoking the Firm's registration,[1] and imposing a civil money penalty in the amount of $10,000 on the Firm; and (2) censuring Joel S. Baum, CPA ("Baum") and barring him from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm.[2] In ordering these sanctions, the Board took into account Respondents' extraordinary cooperation in this matter, as described in more detail below.

The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that the Firm and Baum (collectively, "Respondents") violated PCAOB rules and standards by improperly adding, backdating, and otherwise altering audit documentation in two issuer audits prior to a Board inspection.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended ("Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondents.

[1] The Firm may reapply for registration after one (1) year from the date of this Order.

[2] Baum may file a petition for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm after one (1) year from the date of this Order.

ORDER

II.

In anticipation of institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondents each submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offers") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over Respondents and the subject matter of these proceedings, which are admitted, Respondents consent to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[3]

III.

On the basis of Respondents' Offers, the Board finds that:[4]

A. Respondents

1. Baum & Company, P.A. is, and at all relevant times was, a corporation organized under the laws of Florida and is headquartered in Miami Beach, Florida. The Firm is registered with the Board pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules. The Firm is licensed to practice public accounting by the Florida Board of Accountancy (License No. AD0016605). At all relevant times, the Firm was the external auditor for the issuers discussed below.

2. Joel S. Baum, CPA, age 66, of Miami Beach, Florida is a certified public accountant licensed by the Florida Board of Accountancy (License No. AC0011883). Baum is, and at all relevant times was, the sole partner of the Firm and the Firm's sole accountant. Baum is, and at all relevant times was, an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

---

[3] The findings herein are made pursuant to the Respondents' Offers and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

[4] The Board finds that Respondents' conduct described in this Order meets the conditions set out in Section 105(c)(5) of the Act, 15 U.S.C. § 7215(c)(5), which provides that certain sanctions may be imposed in the event of intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, that results in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard.

ORDER

B. Summary

3. This matter concerns Respondents' failure to cooperate in a Board inspection and failure to adhere to the Board's standards concerning audit documentation. Respondents violated Board rules and auditing standards by adding, backdating, and otherwise altering numerous audit work papers in advance of the Board's 2017 inspection of the Firm. During the two weeks leading up to the inspection, Respondents added, backdated, or otherwise altered at least 54 work papers for the audit of Issuer A's 2016 financial statements more than eight months after the applicable documentation completion date. Respondents also added, backdated, or otherwise altered at least 5 work papers for the audit of Issuer B's 2016 financial statements after having represented to the Board's inspection staff that they had already assembled a complete and final set of audit documentation, and that the audit was therefore available to be inspected. At the start of the inspection, when providing the Board's inspection staff with the audit documentation for the selected audits, Respondents self-reported their conduct to the inspection staff but were unable to specify exactly what changes they had made to the work papers.

4. Through their conduct, Respondents violated PCAOB Rule 4006, Duty to Cooperate with Inspectors, because they interfered with the Board's ability to inspect the work that Respondents had originally performed and documented before learning of the inspection. Respondents also violated AS 1215, Audit Documentation (formerly Auditing Standard No. 3),[5] because, after the documentation completion date, they (1) added documentation to the work papers without indicating the date the documentation was added, the person who prepared the additional documentation, or the reason for the additional documentation, and (2) backdated and otherwise altered audit documentation.

---

[5] All references herein to PCAOB auditing standards are to the versions of those standards that were applicable at the time of the conduct. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its auditing standards using a topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Release No. 2015-002 (March 31, 2015); see also PCAOB Auditing Standards Reorganized and Pre-Reorganized Numbering (January 2017). The reorganization did not impose additional requirements on auditors or change substantively the requirements of PCAOB standards.

ORDER

C. Respondents Violated PCAOB Rules and Standards

5. Issuer A and Issuer B are each an "issuer" as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii). In May 2017, the Board inspected the Firm's audit of Issuer A's financial statements for the year ended April 30, 2016 and the Firm's audit of Issuer B's financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2016.

6. PCAOB rules require that registered public accounting firms and their associated persons "shall cooperate with the Board in the performance of any Board inspection."[6] This cooperation obligation includes an obligation not to provide misleading documents or information in connection with, or otherwise to interfere in, the Board's inspection processes.[7]

7. PCAOB rules require that registered public accounting firms and their associated persons comply with applicable auditing and related professional practice standards.[8] AS 1215 requires that "[a] complete and final set of audit documentation should be assembled for retention as of a date not more than 45 days after the report release date (documentation completion date)."[9] After the documentation completion date, audit documentation must not be deleted or discarded from the audit file, but it

---

[6] PCAOB Rule 4006.

[7] See, e.g., Kabani & Company, Inc., SEC Release No. 80201, at 14 (Mar. 10, 2017) (sustaining Board finding that respondents failed to cooperate with inspection where improper work paper alterations "interfered with the PCAOB's ability to fulfill its regulatory function of ensuring that auditors comply with their professional responsibilities"); Dale Arnold Hotz, CPA, Jyothi Nuthulaganti Manohar, CPA, and Michael Jared Fadner, CPA, PCAOB Release No. 105-2012-008, ¶ 7 (Nov. 13, 2012); see also Gately & Associates, LLC, SEC Release No. 34-62656, at 22-23 (Aug. 5, 2010) (sustaining Board finding that respondents failed to cooperate with inspection).

[8] PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards.

[9] AS 1215.15. The "report release date" is "the date the auditor grants permission to use the auditor's report in connection with the issuance of the company's financial statements." AS 1215.14.

ORDER

may be added as long as the auditor documents the date it was added, the name of the person who prepared it, and the reason for adding it.[10]

8. As described below, Respondents violated PCAOB Rule 4006 and AS 1215.

The Issuer A and Issuer B Audits

9. The Firm audited Issuer A's financial statements for the year ended April 30, 2016 ("Issuer A audit"). Baum served as the engagement partner for the Issuer A audit.

10. The Firm's audit report for the Issuer A audit stated that the audit was conducted in accordance with PCAOB standards. The audit report further stated that Issuer A's financial statements presented fairly, in all material respects, the company's financial position, results of operations, and cash flows in conformity with U.S. Generally Accepted Accounting Principles ("U.S. GAAP"). The audit report was included in Issuer A's annual report filed with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission ("Commission").

11. The report release date for the Issuer A audit was June 16, 2016. Accordingly, the documentation completion date for the Issuer A audit was no later than July 31, 2016.

12. The Firm audited Issuer B's financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2016 ("Issuer B audit"). Baum served as the engagement partner for the Issuer B audit.

13. The Firm's audit report for the Issuer B audit stated that the audit was conducted in accordance with PCAOB standards. The audit report further stated that Issuer B's financial statements presented fairly, in all material respects, the company's financial position, results of operations, and cash flows in conformity with U.S. GAAP. The audit report was included in Issuer B's annual report filed with the Commission.

14. The report release date for the Issuer B audit was March 24, 2017. Accordingly, the documentation completion date for the Issuer B audit was no later than May 8, 2017. As discussed below, Respondents' representations subsequently established that the documentation completion date had occurred as of March 30, 2017.

[10] AS 1215.16.

ORDER

Steps Taken in Advance of the Board's Inspection

15. On or before January 18, 2017, the Board notified Respondents that the Board's Division of Registration and Inspections ("Inspections") would inspect the firm. Inspection fieldwork was scheduled to begin on May 1, 2018. The Act "requires the Board to conduct a 'continuing program of inspections to assess the degree of compliance of each registered public accounting firm and associated persons . . . with [the Act], the rules of the Board, the rules of the Commission, or professional standards."[11]

16. The documentation completion date for the Issuer A audit, which was no later than July 31, 2016, passed more than five months before Respondents were notified of the upcoming inspection, and nine months before the inspection was scheduled to begin.

17. In contrast, the Firm had until May 8, 2017—seven days after the inspection was scheduled to begin—to assemble the complete and final set of documentation for the Issuer B audit. Nonetheless, on March 30, 2017, Respondents represented to the Inspections staff that a complete and final set of audit documentation had already been assembled for the Issuer B audit, and that the audit was therefore available to be inspected. Accordingly, the documentation completion date for the Issuer B audit had occurred as of March 30, 2017.

18. During the last two weeks of April 2017, Respondents prepared for the inspection by gathering the Issuer A and Issuer B audit work papers. During this same timeframe, Respondents also added, backdated, or otherwise altered at least 54 work papers for the Issuer A audit and added, backdated, or otherwise altered at least 5 work papers for the Issuer B audit. The audit engagement files did not contain any documentation identifying the information added, the date the information was added, the person who prepared the additional documentation, or the reason for the additional documentation. At the time they made the alterations, Respondents intended to provide the added, backdated, and altered work papers to Inspections without disclosing the fact that they had made alterations in anticipation of the inspection.

19. By the time that fieldwork for the inspection began on May 1, 2017, however, Respondents had a change of heart. Upon providing the Board's Inspections staff with the work papers, Baum told the Inspections staff that he had altered the work papers and did not feel right about what he had done. Baum said that he had not kept [11] Gately & Associates, LLC, SEC Release No. 34-62656 at 2 n.3, 2010 SEC LEXIS 2535, 2 n.3 (quoting Section 104(a) of the Act).

---

ORDER

track of the changes he had made to the work papers, but that he would attempt to recreate some documentation of the changes.

20. Respondents subsequently provided the Board's Inspections staff with a list identifying those work papers that they remembered altering and describing the alterations in general terms, with notations indicating, for example, that Respondents had "update[d]" or "revise[d]" certain work papers. Respondents were unable to provide additional detail concerning the nature of such updates and revisions. Thus, Respondents' actions frustrated the ability of the Board's Inspections staff to determine what work Respondents had performed and documented during the Issuer A and Issuer B audits, before Respondents added to, backdated, and otherwise altered the work papers in anticipation of the inspection. This interference with the Board's inspection processes violated PCAOB Rule 4006.

21. As noted previously, when information is added to audit documentation after the documentation completion date, AS 1215 requires the auditor to document the date the information was added, the name of the person who prepared the additional documentation, and the reason for adding it.[12] Respondents, after the documentation completion date, failed to indicate the dates that the additions were made to the audit documentation, the name of the person who made the additions, and the reason for making the additions after the documentation completion date, and backdated and otherwise altered audit documentation. This conduct failed to comply with AS 1215.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondents' Offers. In considering appropriate sanctions, the Board took into account Respondents' extraordinary cooperation. Specifically, Respondents voluntarily and timely self-reported the entirety of the misconduct described in this Order. Absent that extraordinary cooperation, the Board would have imposed significantly greater sanctions. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), Baum & Company, P.A. and Joel S. Baum, CPA are hereby censured;

---

[12] AS 1215.16.

ORDER

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(A) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(1), the registration of Baum & Company, P.A. is revoked;

C. After one (1) year from the date of this Order, Baum & Company, P.A. may reapply for registration by filing an application pursuant to PCAOB Rule 2101;

D. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of $10,000 is imposed upon Baum & Company, P.A. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of this civil money penalty will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. Baum & Company, P.A. shall pay this civil money penalty within ten (10) days of the issuance of this Order by (1) wire transfer in accordance with instructions furnished by Board staff; or (2) United States Postal Service money order, bank money order, certified check, or bank cashier's check (a) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, (b) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, and (c) submitted under a cover letter, which identifies the Firm as a respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB release number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe W. Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006.

E. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(B) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(2), Joel S. Baum, CPA is barred from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm, as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i);[13] and

---

[13] As a consequence of the bar, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act will apply with respect to Baum. Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act provides that "[i]t shall be unlawful for any person that is suspended or barred from being associated with a registered public accounting firm under this subsection willfully to become or remain associated with any issuer, broker, or dealer in an accountancy or a financial management capacity, and for any issuer, broker, or dealer that knew, or in the exercise of reasonable care should have known, of such suspension or bar, to permit such an association, without the consent of the Board or the Commission."

ORDER

F. After one (1) year from the date of this Order, Joel S. Baum, CPA may file a petition, pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5302(b), for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

February 27, 2018

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street NW
Washington, DC 20006
Office: (202) 207-9100
Fax: (202) 862-8430
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of Shedjama Inc. and Edward Opperman, CPA, Respondents.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2018-003 March 13, 2018

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (the "Board" or "PCAOB") is (1) censuring Shedjama Inc. ("Firm"), a registered public accounting firm, revoking the Firm's registration,[1] and imposing a civil money penalty in the amount of $10,000 upon the Firm; and (2) censuring Edward Opperman, CPA ("Opperman") and barring him from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm.[2] The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that the Firm and Opperman (collectively "Respondents") violated PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the Firm's audits and attestation engagements of 23 broker-dealer clients for the fiscal year 2015 and 30 broker-dealer clients for the fiscal year 2016.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondents.

II.

In anticipation of institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondents have each submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offers") that the Board has determined to accept. Respondents admit the facts, findings, and violations

[1] The Firm may reapply for registration after two (2) years from the date of this Order.

[2] Opperman may file a petition for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm after two (2) years from the date of this Order.

ORDER

set forth below, and consent to entry of this Order Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order").[3]

III.

On the basis of Respondents' Offers, the Board finds that:[4]

A. Respondents

1. Shedjama Inc. d/b/a Edward Opperman, CPA is a registered public accounting firm located in Lafayette, Indiana. At all relevant times, the Firm was licensed by the Indiana Professional Licensing Agency (license no. FP 50700038) and by the State of Connecticut (CPAP No. 0005359), the State of Florida (Lic. No. AD69786), the Illinois Department of Financial and Professional Regulation (Lic. No. 066004494) and the State of Michigan Department of Licensing and Regulatory Affairs (Lic. No. 1102003894). The Firm has been registered with the Board since 2009 pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and Board rules. On October 15, 2015, the Board sanctioned the Firm for its failure to comply with the auditor independence requirements.[5] At all relevant times, the Firm was the external auditor for each of the broker-dealers identified in the attached Appendix.

2. Edward Opperman, CPA, age 49, is, and at all relevant times was, the sole owner of the Firm and a certified public accountant licensed by the State of Indiana (Lic. No. CP19700406). Opperman is, and at all relevant times was, an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

---

[3] The findings herein are made pursuant to Respondents' Offers and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

[4] The Board finds that Respondents' conduct described in this Order meets the conditions set out in Section 105(c)(5) of the Act, 15 U.S.C. § 7215(c)(5), which provides that certain sanctions may be imposed in the event of (1) intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, that results in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard; or (2) repeated instances of negligent conduct, each resulting in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard.

[5] SHEDJAMA, Inc., PCAOB Release No. 105-2015-037 (Oct. 15, 2015).

ORDER

B. Summary

3. This matter concerns the Firm's repeated failure to comply with AS 1220 (formerly, Auditing Standard No. 7), Engagement Quality Review, with respect to the audit and attestation engagements[6] of 23 broker-dealer clients in fiscal year 2015 and 30 broker-dealer clients in fiscal year 2016.[7] With respect to each broker-dealer audit and attestation engagement identified in the Appendix, the Firm failed to obtain an engagement quality review and concurring approval of issuance as required by AS 1220.

4. In addition, Opperman violated PCAOB Rule 3502, Responsibility Not to Knowingly or Recklessly Contribute to Violations, because he took or omitted to take actions knowing, or recklessly not knowing, that his acts and omissions would directly and substantially contribute to the Firm's violations of PCAOB rules and standards.

C. The Firm Violated PCAOB Rules and Standards Relating to Engagement Quality Reviews

5. In connection with the preparation or issuance of an audit report, PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons comply with the Board's auditing and related professional standards.[8]

---

[6] The Firm issued review reports pursuant to Attestation Standard No. 2, Review Engagements Regarding Exemption Reports of Brokers and Dealers, based on reviews of the statements made by a broker or dealer in an exemption report prepared pursuant to Exchange Act Rule 17a-5, 17 C.F.R. § 240.17a-5.

[7] All references to PCAOB rules and standards are to the versions of those rules and standards in effect at the time of the relevant audits and reviews. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its auditing standards using a topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Release No. 2015-002 (Mar. 31, 2015); see also PCAOB Auditing Standards Reorganized and Pre-Reorganized Numbering (January 2017). The reorganization did not impose additional requirements on auditors or change substantively the requirements of PCAOB standards.

[8] PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Standards.

ORDER

6. AS 1220 requires an engagement quality review and concurring approval of issuance for audit and attestation engagements of broker-dealers for fiscal years ending on or after June 1, 2014.[9] AS 1220 further provides that a firm may grant permission to a client to use the engagement reports from such audits and attestation engagements only after an engagement quality reviewer provides concurring approval of issuance.[10]

7. Each broker-dealer identified in the Appendix is a "broker" or "dealer" as defined in Sections 110(3) and 110(4) of the Act and PCAOB Rules 1001(b)(iii) and 1001(d)(iii). For each broker-dealer, the Firm failed to obtain an engagement quality review for the audit and attestation engagement as described in the Appendix even though PCAOB standards required an engagement quality review to be performed. And in each instance, the Firm improperly permitted the issuance of its unqualified audit report and review report without obtaining an engagement quality review and concurring approval of issuance. As a result, the Firm repeatedly violated AS 1220.

D. Opperman Contributed to the Firm's Violations of PCAOB Rules and Standards

8. PCAOB Rule 3502 prohibits an associated person of a registered public accounting firm from taking or omitting to take an action knowing or recklessly not knowing, that the act or omission would directly and substantially contribute to a violation by that firm of the Act, the rules of the Board, the provisions of the securities laws relating to the preparation and issuance of audit reports and the obligations and liabilities of accountants with respect thereto, including the rules of the Commission issued under the Act, or professional standards.

9. Opperman was the sole owner of the Firm and the engagement partner for all of the audits identified in the Appendix. For each audit engagement, Opperman was responsible for ensuring that the Firm complied with PCAOB rules and standards. Opperman knew, or was reckless in not knowing, that he was directly and substantially contributing to the Firm's violations of AS 1220, as described above. As a result, Opperman violated PCAOB Rule 3502.

---

[9] AS 1220.01.

[10] AS 1220.13, .18C.

ORDER

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondents' Offers. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), Shedjama Inc. and Edward Opperman CPA, are hereby censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(A) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(1), the registration of Shedjama Inc. is revoked;

C. After two (2) years from the date of this Order, Shedjama Inc. may reapply for registration by filing an application pursuant to PCAOB Rule 2101;

D. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of $10,000 is imposed upon Shedjama Inc. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of this civil money penalty will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. Shedjama Inc. shall pay the civil money penalty within 10 days of the issuance of this Order by (1) wire transfer in accordance with instructions furnished by Board staff; or (2) United States Postal Service money order, bank money order, certified check, or bank cashier's check (a) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, (b) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, and (c) submitted under a cover letter, which identifies the payor as a respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB release number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe W. Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006.

E. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(B) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(2), Edward Opperman, CPA is barred from being an associated person of a

ORDER

registered public accounting firm, as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i);[11] and

F. After two (2) years from the date of this Order, Edward Opperman, CPA may file a petition, pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5302(b), for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

March 13, 2018

[11] As a consequence of the bar, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act will apply with respect to Opperman. Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act provides that "[i]t shall be unlawful for any person that is suspended or barred from being associated with a registered public accounting firm under this subsection willfully to become or remain associated with any issuer, broker, or dealer in an accountancy or a financial management capacity, and for any issuer, broker, or dealer that knew, or in the exercise of reasonable care should have known, of such suspension or bar, to permit such an association, without the consent of the Board or the Commission."

APPENDIX
Shedjama, Inc.
Audits & Attestations Not Performed in Accordance with AS 1220
Fiscal Year: 2015

No.	Broker-Dealer Name	Fiscal Year-end Reported on by the Firm	BD Engagement Partner	EQR Partner
1	Alaska Capital Management Corporation dba Aurora Securities	12/31/2015	E. Opperman	E. Opperman
2	Bull & Bear Brokerage Services, Inc.	12/31/2015	E. Opperman	E. Opperman
3	Cascade Partners BD, LLC	12/31/2015	E. Opperman	E. Opperman
4	Cornerstone Financial Services, Inc.	12/31/2015	E. Opperman	E. Opperman
5	Downer & Company, LLC	12/31/2015	E. Opperman	E. Opperman
6	EBH Securities, Inc.	12/31/2015	E. Opperman	E. Opperman
7	Economy Securities, Inc.	12/31/2015	E. Opperman	E. Opperman
8	Edelman & Co., LTD.	12/31/2015	E. Opperman	E. Opperman
9	Fenwick Securities, Inc.	12/31/2015	E. Opperman	E. Opperman
10	Indiana Securities, LLC	12/31/2015	E. Opperman	E. Opperman
11	Koehler Financial, LLC	12/31/2015	E. Opperman	E. Opperman
12	LocalStake Marketplace LLC	12/31/2015	E. Opperman	E. Opperman
13	Midwestern Securities Trading Co., LLC	12/31/2015	E. Opperman	E. Opperman
14	Money Management Advisory, Inc.	12/31/2015	E. Opperman	E. Opperman
15	Newcastle Distributors LLC	12/31/2015	E. Opperman	E. Opperman

No.	Broker-Dealer Name	Fiscal Year-end Reported on by the Firm	BD Engagement Partner	EQR Partner
16	Periculum Advisors, LLC	12/31/2015	E. Opperman	E. Opperman
17	Powder Point Financial LLC	12/31/2015	E. Opperman	E. Opperman
18	Regional Investment Services, Inc.	12/31/2015	E. Opperman	E. Opperman
19	SCH Enterprises, Inc.	12/31/2015	E. Opperman	E. Opperman
20	Sikich Corporate Finance LLC	12/31/2015	E. Opperman	E. Opperman
21	Sycamore Financial Group	12/31/2015	E. Opperman	E. Opperman
22	TrustFirst, Inc.	12/31/2015	E. Opperman	E. Opperman
23	WEA Investment Services, Inc.	12/31/2015	E. Opperman	E. Opperman

Shedjama, Inc.
Audits & Attestations Not Performed in Accordance with AS 1220
Fiscal Year: 2016

No.	Broker-Dealer Name	Fiscal Year-end Reported on by the Firm	BD Engagement Partner	EQR Partner
1	Abacus Investments, Inc.	9/30/2016	E. Opperman	E. Opperman
2	Allen C. Ewing & Co.	12/31/2016	E. Opperman	E. Opperman
3	Alaska Capital Management Corporation dba Aurora Securities	12/31/2016	E. Opperman	E. Opperman
4	Bull & Bear Brokerage Services, Inc.	12/31/2016	E. Opperman	E. Opperman
5	Confidential Management Financial Services, Inc.	6/30/2016	E. Opperman	E. Opperman
6	Cornerstone Financial Services, Inc.	12/31/2016	E. Opperman	E. Opperman
7	Coventry Capital, Inc.	9/30/2016	E. Opperman	E. Opperman
8	Alantra, LLC (formerly, Downer & Company, LLC)	12/31/2016	E. Opperman	E. Opperman
9	EBH Securities, Inc.	12/31/2016	E. Opperman	E. Opperman
10	Economy Securities, Inc.	12/31/2016	E. Opperman	E. Opperman
11	Edelman & Co., LTD.	12/31/2016	E. Opperman	E. Opperman
12	General Securities Corp	7/31/2016	E. Opperman	E. Opperman
13	Indiana Securities, LLC	12/31/2016	E. Opperman	E. Opperman
14	InvestShares Inc.	12/31/2016	E. Opperman	E. Opperman
15	Koehler Financial, LLC	12/31/2016	E. Opperman	E. Opperman

No.	Broker-Dealer Name	Fiscal Year-end Reported on by the Firm	BD Engagement Partner	EQR Partner
16	LocalStake Marketplace LLC	12/31/2016	E. Opperman	E. Opperman
17	Midwestern Securities Trading Co., LLC	12/31/2016	E. Opperman	E. Opperman
18	Money Management Advisory, Inc.	12/31/2016	E. Opperman	E. Opperman
19	Morris Group, Inc.	3/31/2016	E. Opperman	E. Opperman
20	Newcastle Distributors LLC	12/31/2016	E. Opperman	E. Opperman
21	Pactolus Securities, LLC	6/30/2016	E. Opperman	E. Opperman
22	Periculum Advisors, LLC	12/31/2016	E. Opperman	E. Opperman
23	Powder Point Financial LLC	12/31/2016	E. Opperman	E. Opperman
24	Regional Investment Services, Inc.	12/31/2016	E. Opperman	E. Opperman
25	SCH Enterprises, Inc.	12/31/2016	E. Opperman	E. Opperman
26	Sikich Corporate Finance LLC	12/31/2016	E. Opperman	E. Opperman
27	Sycamore Financial Group	12/31/2016	E. Opperman	E. Opperman
28	TrustFirst, Inc.	12/31/2016	E. Opperman	E. Opperman
29	WEA Investment Services, Inc.	12/31/2016	E. Opperman	E. Opperman
30	William C. Burnside & Co., Inc.	6/30/2016	E. Opperman	E. Opperman

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street NW
Washington, DC 20006
Office: (202) 207-9100
Fax: (202) 862-8430
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of Ömer Tanriöver, Respondent.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2018-007 May 9, 2018

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("Board" or "PCAOB") is: (1) censuring Ömer Tanriöver ("Tanriöver" or "Respondent"); and (2) barring Tanriöver from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm. The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that Tanriöver failed to cooperate with a Board investigation by refusing to provide information in response to an Accounting Board Demand.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(3) against Respondent.

II.

In anticipation of the institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondent has submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offer") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over him and the subject matter of these proceedings, which are admitted, Respondent consents to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[1]

[1] The findings herein are made pursuant to Respondent's Offer and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

ORDER

III.

On the basis of Respondent's Offer, the Board finds[2] that:

A. Respondent

1. Ömer Tanriöver, age 53, is a former partner of DRT Bagimsiz Denetim ve Serbest Muhasebeci Mali Musavirlik A.Ş. ("Deloitte Turkey" or "Firm").[3] From 2004 through June 2007, and from April 2010 through May 2016, Tanriöver served as Risk and Reputation Leader for Deloitte Turkey. In that capacity, Tanriöver was a contact between the Firm and the PCAOB during the Board's 2014 inspection of Deloitte Turkey. On August 19, 2016, the Firm placed Tanriöver on administrative leave, and he resigned from Deloitte Turkey as of January 1, 2017, in accordance with the Firm's partnership agreement. At all relevant times, Tanriöver was an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

B. Respondent Failed to Cooperate with a Board Investigation

Applicable PCAOB Rules

2. Section 105(b)(3)(A) of the Act authorizes the Board to sanction an associated person of a registered public accounting firm for "refus[ing] to…cooperate with the Board in connection with an investigation[.]"[4] Board rules include procedures for implementing that authority.[5] Noncooperation with a Board investigation includes "fail[ing] to comply with an accounting board demand ['ABD']."[6]

---

[2] The sanctions that the Board is imposing on Respondent in this Order are imposed pursuant to Section 105(b)(3) of the Act, 15 U.S.C. § 7215(b)(3), and PCAOB Rule 5300(b).

[3] The Firm registered with the Board on September 15, 2004, pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB Rules.

[4] 15 U.S.C. § 7215(b)(3)(A).

[5] See PCAOB Rule 5110, Noncooperation with an Investigation; PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(3), Commencement of Disciplinary Proceedings.

[6] PCAOB Rule 5110(a)(1).

ORDER

Background

3. Beginning in July 2016, the PCAOB Division of Enforcement and Investigations (the "Division") conducted an informal inquiry and, beginning on December 20, 2016, a formal investigation of Deloitte Turkey concerning whether former members of Deloitte Turkey management devised and then implemented an improper audit document alteration plan in advance of the PCAOB's 2014 inspection, culminating in the Firm's making documentation available to PCAOB inspectors without revealing that improper alterations had been made ("Improper Alteration Plan").[7]

Respondent Refused to Provide Information in Response to an Accounting Board Demand

4. On February 14, 2017, the Division issued an ABD to Tanriöver requiring him to provide information to the Division by February 28, 2017. The ABD sought, among other things, information concerning Tanriöver's possible knowledge of, or possible involvement in, the Improper Alteration Plan.

5. On April 13, 2017, Tanriöver informed the Division through his counsel that he would not provide responses to any of the demands for information included in the ABD. By not complying with the ABD, Tanriöver failed to cooperate with a Board investigation.[8]

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondent's Offer. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(b)(3)(A)(iii) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(b)(1), Ömer Tanriöver is censured; and

B. Pursuant to Section 105(b)(3)(A)(i) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(b)(1), Ömer Tanriöver is barred from being an associated person of

---

[7] See DRT Bagimsiz Denetim ve Serbest Muhasebeci Mali Musavirlik A.Ş., PCAOB Rel. No. 105-2017-050 (Dec. 19, 2017); Berkman Özata, PCAOB Rel. No. 105-2017-051 (Dec. 19, 2017); Şule Firuzment, PCAOB Rel. No. 105-2017-052 (Dec. 19, 2017).

[8] See PCAOB Rule 5110(a).

ORDER

a registered public accounting firm, as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).[9]

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

May 9, 2018

[9] As a consequence of the bar imposed in this Order, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act will apply with respect to Ömer Tanriöver. Section 105(c)(7)(B) provides: "It shall be unlawful for any person that is suspended or barred from being associated with a registered public accounting firm under this subsection willfully to become or remain associated with any issuer, broker, or dealer in an accountancy or a financial management capacity, and for any issuer, broker, or dealer that knew, or in the exercise of reasonable care should have known, of such suspension or bar, to permit such an association, without the consent of the Board or the Commission."

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street NW
Washington, DC 20006
Office: (202) 207-9100
Fax: (202) 862-8430
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of Hüseyin Gürer, Respondent.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2018-005 May 9, 2018

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("Board" or "PCAOB") is: (1) censuring Hüseyin Gürer ("Gürer" or "Respondent"); (2) barring Gürer from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm;[1] and (3) imposing a civil money penalty in the amount of $25,000 on Gürer. The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that Gürer directly and substantially contributed to a registered public accounting firm's (1) failure to cooperate with a Board inspection; and (2) violation of PCAOB quality control standards related to personnel performing professional responsibilities with integrity and in compliance with professional standards.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondent.

II.

In anticipation of the institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondent has submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offer") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over him and the subject matter of these proceedings, which are admitted, Respondent

[1] Gürer may file a petition for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm after three (3) years from the date of this Order.

ORDER

consents to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[2]

III.

On the basis of Respondent's Offer, the Board finds[3] that:

A. Respondent

1. Hüseyin Gürer, 57, is a former partner of the registered public accounting firm DRT Bagimsiz Denetim ve Serbest Muhasebeci Mali Musavirlik A.Ş. ("Deloitte Turkey" or "Firm"). Gürer served as the Firm's Chief Executive Officer and the Chairman of the Firm's Executive Committee from 2007 to May 2016. In those roles, Gürer's responsibilities encompassed the management of the Deloitte Turkey partnership, including the development and implementation of policies and procedures to provide reasonable assurance that the Firm's audit engagement personnel met applicable professional standards, including PCAOB standards, and that engagement personnel performed all professional responsibilities with integrity.

2. On or about September 8, 2016, the Firm placed Gürer on administrative leave due to the conduct described in this Order, and effective October 30, 2016, he retired from the Firm. At all relevant times, Gürer was an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

---

[2] The findings herein are made pursuant to Respondent's Offer and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

[3] The Board finds that Respondent's conduct described in this Order meets the conditions set out in Section 105(c)(5)(A) of the Act, which provides that certain sanctions may be imposed in the event of intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, that results in violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard.

ORDER

B. Respondent Directly and Substantially Contributed to Deloitte Turkey's Failure to Cooperate with a Board Inspection and to the Firm's Violation of PCAOB Quality Control Standards

Applicable PCAOB Rules and Standards

3. PCAOB Rule 4006, Duty to Cooperate with Inspectors, requires registered firms and their associated persons to cooperate with inspections conducted by the Board.[4] The cooperation requirement of Rule 4006 includes an obligation "not to provide misleading documents or information in connection with the Board's inspection processes."[5]

4. PCAOB rules also require that associated persons of registered public accounting firms comply with applicable auditing and related professional practice standards.[6] Auditing Standard No. 3, Audit Documentation ("AS 3"), requires that the complete and final set of documentation for an audit be assembled for retention by the "documentation completion date," a date no later than 45 days from the date on which the auditor grants permission to use its report.[7] After the documentation completion date, audit documentation must not be deleted or discarded from the audit file, but it may be added as long as the auditor documents the date the information was added,

---

[4] All references to PCAOB rules and standards are to the versions of those rules and standards in effect at the time of the relevant conduct. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its auditing standards using a topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Rel. No. 2015-002 (Mar. 31, 2015).

[5] DRT Bagimsiz Denetim ve Serbest Muhasebeci Mali Musavirlik A.Ş., PCAOB Rel. No. 105-2017-050 (Dec. 19, 2017); Berkman Özata, PCAOB Rel. No. 105-2017-051 (Dec. 19, 2017); Şule Firuzment, PCAOB Rel. No. 105-2017-052 (Dec. 19, 2017).

[6] See PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards.

[7] AS 3 ¶ 15.

ORDER

the name of the person who prepared the additional documentation, and the reason for adding the documentation.[8]

5. PCAOB rules further require that a registered public accounting firm comply with the Board's quality control standards.[9] PCAOB quality control standards require that a registered public accounting firm "have a system of quality control for its accounting and auditing practice."[10] As part of its system of quality control, a firm should establish policies and procedures to provide the firm with reasonable assurance that (1) "personnel … perform all professional responsibilities with integrity;"[11] and (2) "the work performed by engagement personnel meets applicable professional standards, regulatory requirements, and the firm's standards of quality."[12]

6. Finally, PCAOB rules also prohibit associated persons of registered public accounting firms from taking or omitting to take any action "knowing, or recklessly not knowing, that the act or omission would directly and substantially contribute to a violation by that registered public accounting firm of," among other things, PCAOB rules or standards.[13]

Respondent Violated PCAOB Rule 3502 in Connection with the Board's 2014 Inspection of Deloitte Turkey

7. The Board conducted its first inspection of Deloitte Turkey in 2014. On or about August 28, 2014, the Board's Division of Registration and Inspections ("Inspections") informed the Firm that its work in connection with three particular issuer audits would be inspected. At the time Inspections notified the Firm of the engagements it had selected for inspection, the documentation completion date for each of the audits

---

[8] See id. ¶ 16.

[9] See PCAOB Rule 3400T, Interim Quality Control Standards.

[10] QC § 20.02, System of Quality Control for a CPA Firm's Accounting and Auditing Practice.

[11] QC § 20.09.

[12] QC § 20.17.

[13] PCAOB Rule 3502, Responsibility Not to Knowingly or Recklessly Contribute to Violations.

ORDER

had long since passed, and a complete and final set of documentation had been assembled for retention ("archived").[14]

8. Following the PCAOB's notification of the engagements it had selected for inspection, Gürer was informed by certain senior partners of the Firm that "preparations" would need to be made in connection with the PCAOB's inspection. In furtherance of those "preparations," one of the senior partners requested that Gürer approve the use of three laptop computers with administrative rights.[15] Gürer approved the request with the understanding that it was being made in connection with an effort to potentially improperly alter the previously archived work papers for the three engagements the PCAOB had selected for inspection.

9. As an experienced auditor and the Firm's CEO, Gürer knew that, if improper alterations were made to the previously archived work papers, that conduct would violate PCAOB audit documentation standards. He also knew that, if improperly altered documentation was made available to PCAOB inspectors, that conduct would violate the Firm's obligation to cooperate with the PCAOB's inspection. As the individual ultimately responsible for the Firm's system of quality control, Gürer also was aware that his approval of a project pursuant to which Firm personnel might engage in such conduct was inconsistent with the Firm's obligation to implement policies and procedures to provide reasonable assurance that personnel performed their professional responsibilities with integrity and in compliance with professional standards.

10. Following Gürer's approval of the use of three computers with administrative rights, and in advance of the PCAOB's inspection, the lead partner for one of the engagements the PCAOB had selected for inspection did, in fact, improperly alter the previously archived work papers for that engagement. Moreover, she

---

[14] One issuer filed its Form 20-F with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") on March 21, 2014, and thus the documentation completion date for that audit was no later than May 5, 2014. The other two issuers filed Forms 10-K with the SEC on February 28, 2014 and June 5, 2014, respectively, and thus the documentation completion dates for those audits were no later than April 14, 2014 and July 20, 2014, respectively.

[15] Firm policy required CEO approval for the release of computers with administrative rights.

ORDER

subsequently made those improperly altered work papers available to Inspections, without revealing that the alterations had occurred.[16]

11. As a result of the conduct described above, Deloitte Turkey (a) violated its duty to cooperate with Inspections; and (b) violated PCAOB quality control standards requiring the Firm to establish and maintain policies and procedures to provide it with reasonable assurance that its personnel "perform all professional responsibilities with integrity" and that "the work performed by engagement personnel meets applicable professional standards, regulatory requirements, and the firm's standards of quality."[17]

12. Through the conduct described above, Gürer took or omitted to take actions knowing, or recklessly not knowing, that his acts and/or omissions would directly and substantially contribute to the Firm's violation of its duty to cooperate with Inspections and its violations of PCAOB quality control standards. Gürer thereby violated PCAOB Rule 3502.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondent's Offer. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), Hüseyin Gürer is censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(B) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(2), Hüseyin Gürer is barred from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i);[18]

---

[16] See Şule Firuzment, PCAOB Rel. No. 105-2017-052 (Dec. 19, 2017).

[17] QC §§ 20.09, 17.

[18] As a consequence of the bar imposed in this Order, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act will apply with respect to Gürer. Section 105(c)(7)(B) provides: "It shall be unlawful for any person that is suspended or barred from being associated with a registered public accounting firm under this subsection willfully to become or remain associated with any issuer, broker, or dealer in an accountancy or a

ORDER

C. After three (3) years from the date of this Order, Hüseyin Gürer may file a petition, pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5302(b), for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm; and

D. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of $25,000 is imposed upon Hüseyin Gürer. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of this civil money penalty will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. Gürer shall pay this civil money penalty within ten (10) days of the issuance of this Order by (1) wire transfer in accordance with instructions furnished by Board staff; or (2) United States Postal Service money order, bank money order, certified check, or bank cashier's check (a) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, (b) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, and (c) submitted under a cover letter, which identifies Gürer as a respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB release number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe W. Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

_____

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

May 9, 2018

---

financial management capacity, and for any issuer, broker, or dealer that knew, or in the exercise of reasonable care should have known, of such suspension or bar, to permit such an association, without the consent of the Board or the Commission."

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street NW
Washington, DC 20006
Office: (202) 207-9100
Fax: (202) 862-8430
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of Gökhan Alpman, Respondent.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2018-006 May 9, 2018

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("Board" or "PCAOB") is: (1) censuring Gökhan Alpman ("Alpman" or "Respondent"); and (2) barring Alpman from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm.[1] The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that Alpman directly and substantially contributed to a registered public accounting firm's violation of PCAOB quality control standards related to personnel performing professional responsibilities with integrity and in compliance with professional standards in connection with a plan that resulted in the improper alteration of work papers related to one engagement involving one issuer.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondent.

II.

In anticipation of the institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondent has submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offer") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over him and the subject matter of these proceedings, which are admitted, Respondent

[1] Alpman may file a petition for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm after two (2) years from the date of this Order.

ORDER

consents to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[2]

III.

On the basis of Respondent's Offer, the Board finds[3] that:

A. Respondent

1. Gökhan Alpman, 46, is a former partner of the registered public accounting firm DRT Bagimsiz Denetim Ve Serbest Muhasebeci Mali Musavirlik A.Ş. ("Deloitte Turkey" or "Firm"). Alpman served as Audit Business Leader for Deloitte Turkey between June 1, 2012 and May 31, 2016, and was a member of the Firm's Executive Committee from March 2010 to August 17, 2016. In those roles, Alpman had responsibilities for implementing and maintaining certain aspects of the Firm's system of quality control. Among other things, Alpman had responsibility for Deloitte Turkey's overall audit business, and, together with other senior members of the Firm, had certain responsibilities for implementing policies and procedures to provide reasonable assurance that the work of audit engagement personnel met applicable professional standards, including PCAOB standards, and that engagement personnel performed all professional responsibilities with integrity.

2. On June 1, 2016, Alpman became the Chief Executive Officer of Deloitte Turkey, but on or about August 17, 2016, he was placed on administrative leave due to the conduct described in this Order, and effective January 1, 2017, he separated from the Firm. At all relevant times, Alpman was an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

---

[2] The findings herein are made pursuant to Respondent's Offer and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

[3] The Board finds that Respondent's conduct described in this Order meets the conditions set out in Section 105(c)(5) of the Act.

ORDER

B. Respondent Violated PCAOB Rule 3502 by Directly and Substantially Contributing to Deloitte Turkey's Violation of PCAOB Quality Control Standards

Applicable PCAOB Rules and Standards

3. PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm comply with the Board's quality control standards.[4] PCAOB quality control standards require that a registered public accounting firm "have a system of quality control for its accounting and auditing practice."[5] As part of its system of quality control, a firm should establish policies and procedures to provide the firm with reasonable assurance that (1) "personnel … perform all professional responsibilities with integrity;"[6] and (2) "the work performed by engagement personnel meets applicable professional standards, regulatory requirements, and the firm's standards of quality."[7]

4. PCAOB rules also prohibit associated persons of registered public accounting firms from taking or omitting to take any action "knowing, or recklessly not knowing, that the act or omission would directly and substantially contribute to a violation by that registered public accounting firm of," among other things, PCAOB rules or standards.[8]

---

[4] See PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards; PCAOB Rule 3400T, Interim Quality Control Standards. All references to PCAOB rules and standards are to the versions of those rules and standards in effect at the time of the relevant conduct. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its auditing standards using a topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Rel. No. 2015-002 (Mar. 31, 2015).

[5] QC § 20.02, System of Quality Control for a CPA Firm's Accounting and Auditing Practice.

[6] QC § 20.09.

[7] QC § 20.17.

[8] PCAOB Rule 3502, Responsibility Not to Knowingly or Recklessly Contribute to Violations.

ORDER

Other Relevant PCAOB Rules and Standards

5. PCAOB rules require that associated persons of registered public accounting firms comply with applicable auditing and related professional practice standards.[9] Auditing Standard No. 3, Audit Documentation ("AS 3"), requires that the complete and final set of documentation for an audit be assembled for retention by the "documentation completion date," a date no later than 45 days from the date on which the auditor grants permission to use its report.[10] After the documentation completion date, audit documentation must not be deleted or discarded from the audit file, but it may be added as long as the auditor documents the date the information was added, the name of the person who prepared the additional documentation, and the reason for adding the documentation.[11]

6. In addition, PCAOB Rule 4006, Duty to Cooperate with Inspectors, requires registered firms and their associated persons to cooperate with inspections conducted by the Board. The cooperation requirement of Rule 4006 includes an obligation "not to provide misleading documents or information in connection with the Board's inspection processes."[12]

Respondent Violated PCAOB Rule 3502 in Connection with the Board's 2014 Inspection of Deloitte Turkey

7. The Board conducted an inspection of Deloitte Turkey in 2014. This was the first PCAOB inspection of Deloitte Turkey. On or about August 28, 2014, the Board's Division of Registration and Inspections ("Inspections") informed the Firm that its work in connection with three particular issuer audits would be inspected. Alpman was the lead partner for two of the three engagements. At the time Inspections notified the Firm

---

[9] See PCAOB Rule 3100.

[10] AS 3 ¶ 15.

[11] See id. ¶ 16.

[12] DRT Bagimsiz Denetim ve Serbest Muhasebeci Mali Musavirlik A.Ş., PCAOB Rel. No. 105-2017-050 (Dec. 19, 2017); Berkman Özata, PCAOB Rel. No. 105-2017-051 (Dec. 19, 2017); Şule Firuzment, PCAOB Rel. No. 105-2017-052 (Dec. 19, 2017).

ORDER

of the engagements it had selected for inspection, the documentation completion date for each of the audits had long since passed.[13]

8. Following the PCAOB's notification of the engagements it had selected for inspection, Alpman participated in one or more discussions among senior members of the Firm to address various issues, including the upcoming inspection. During one of those discussions, another partner, who was senior to Alpman, approved a plan concerning the audit documentation for the engagements selected for inspection (the "previously archived work papers"). Under that plan, the engagement teams would be given the opportunity, in advance of the PCAOB's inspection, to improperly alter the previously archived work papers without indicating to the PCAOB that any such alterations had occurred (the "Improper Alteration Plan"). Although Alpman did not make any improper alterations of the work papers for the two engagements on which he served as the lead partner, he left the meeting believing that the partner for the other engagement selected for inspection ("Partner A") might make improper alterations to the previously archived work papers for that engagement and did not raise any objections to the Improper Alteration Plan.

9. As an experienced auditor and the Firm's Audit Leader, Alpman knew that, if improper alterations were made to any audit documentation, that conduct would violate PCAOB audit documentation standards and that to the extent that documentation was subject to the PCAOB's 2014 inspection, that conduct would violate the Firm's obligation to cooperate with the PCAOB inspections. In addition, Alpman was aware that the development and any execution of the Improper Alteration Plan were inconsistent with the Firm's obligation to establish and maintain quality control policies and procedures related to personnel performing professional responsibilities with integrity and in compliance with professional standards, including PCAOB standards.

10. Following the discussions described above, and in advance of the PCAOB's inspection, Partner A, with the help of others, in fact, carried out the Improper Alteration Plan with respect to the engagement on which Partner A had served.

---

[13] One issuer filed its Form 20-F with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") on March 21, 2014, and thus the documentation completion date for that audit was no later than May 5, 2014. The other two issuers filed Forms 10-K with the SEC on February 28, 2014 and June 5, 2014, respectively, and thus the documentation completion dates for those audits were no later than April 14, 2014 and July 20, 2014, respectively.

ORDER

Specifically, Partner A improperly altered the previously archived work papers for that engagement and subsequently made those improperly altered work papers available to Inspections, without revealing that the alterations had occurred.[14]

11. Alpman himself did not make improper alterations or otherwise participate in the implementation of the Improper Alteration Plan. Alpman did, however, as discussed above, participate in discussions in which the Improper Alteration Plan was formulated and had the impression that Partner A might make improper alterations. Yet Alpman did not raise objections to the Improper Alteration Plan and never took any steps to halt the plan. Further, during the 2014 inspection, Alpman interacted with PCAOB inspectors in both his role as lead partner for two of the engagements inspected and in his role as a member of Firm Leadership responsible for implementing and maintaining certain aspects of the Firm's system of quality control, but he never informed any of the PCAOB inspectors of the Improper Alteration Plan.

12. As a result of the conduct described above, Deloitte Turkey violated PCAOB quality control standards requiring the Firm to establish and maintain policies and procedures to provide it with reasonable assurance that its personnel "perform all professional responsibilities with integrity" and that "the work performed by engagement personnel meets applicable professional standards, regulatory requirements, and the firm's standards of quality."[15]

13. As described above, Alpman participated in discussions that led to the Improper Alteration Plan, had the impression that Partner A might make improper alterations to previously archived work papers, and had responsibility for implementing and maintaining certain aspects of the Firm's system of quality control related to integrity and engagement performance. Despite that knowledge and those responsibilities, Alpman took or omitted to take actions knowing, or recklessly not knowing, that his acts and/or omissions would directly and substantially contribute to the Firm's violation of PCAOB quality control standards. Alpman thereby violated PCAOB Rule 3502.[16]

---

[14] See Şule Firuzment, PCAOB Rel. No. 105-2017-052 (Dec. 19, 2017); Berkman Özata, PCAOB Rel. No. 105-2017-051 (Dec. 19, 2017).

[15] QC §§ 20.09, 17.

[16] See PCAOB Rule 3502.

ORDER

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondent's Offer. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), Gökhan Alpman is censured; and

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(B) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(2), Gökhan Alpman is barred from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i);[17]

C. After two (2) years from the date of this Order, Gökhan Alpman may file a petition, pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5302(b), for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

May 9, 2018

[17] As a consequence of the bar imposed in this Order, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act will apply with respect to Alpman. Section 105(c)(7)(B) provides: "It shall be unlawful for any person that is suspended or barred from being associated with a registered public accounting firm under this subsection willfully to become or remain associated with any issuer, broker, or dealer in an accountancy or a financial management capacity, and for any issuer, broker, or dealer that knew, or in the exercise of reasonable care should have known, of such suspension or bar, to permit such an association, without the consent of the Board or the Commission."

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street NW
Washington, DC 20006
Office: (202) 207-9100
Fax: (202) 862-8430
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of Elliot D. Kim, CPA, Respondent.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2018-010 May 23, 2018

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("Board" or "PCAOB") is: (1) censuring Elliot D. Kim, CPA ("Kim" or "Respondent"); (2) barring Kim from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm;[1] and (3) requiring Kim to complete, before filing any petition for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm, forty (40) hours of continuing education, at least twenty (20) hours of which shall be in the subject of ethics and the remainder of which shall be in subjects that are directly related to the audits of issuer financial statements under PCAOB standards. The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that Kim violated PCAOB rules and standards by improperly altering audit documentation for one issuer audit in connection with a Board inspection and failing to disclose the alterations to the Board's inspection team.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended ("Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondent.

II.

In anticipation of institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondent submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offer") that the Board has determined to accept. Respondent admits to the facts, findings, and violations set forth

[1] Kim may file a petition for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm after one (1) year from the date of this Order.

ORDER

below, and consents to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order").[2]

III.

On the basis of Respondent's Offer, the Board finds that:[3]

A. Respondent

1. Elliot D. Kim, CPA, age 29, of Cypress, California, is a certified public accountant licensed under the laws of California (License No. 134403). Kim was employed by KPMG LLP ("KPMG" or "Firm") between October 2013 and December 2017. He was a senior associate on KPMG's audit of the 2016 year-end financial statements and internal control over financial reporting of an issuer ("Issuer A"). At all relevant times, Kim was an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

B. Summary

2. This matter concerns Kim's failure to cooperate in a Board inspection and to adhere to the Board's standards concerning audit documentation. During the Board's inspection of KPMG's audit of Issuer A, and after the documentation completion date, Respondent (1) added information to a control testing document without indicating the date the information was added, the person who prepared the additional documentation, or the reason for the additional documentation, (2) provided a screenshot of metadata that inaccurately indicated that the control testing document had last been modified during the audit, and (3) failed to disclose the alterations during a discussion with the Board's inspection staff concerning the control testing document.

---

[2] The findings herein are made pursuant to Respondent's Offer and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

[3] The Board finds that Respondent's conduct described in this Order meets the condition set out in Section 105(c)(5)(A) of the Act, which provides that certain sanctions may be imposed in the event of intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, that results in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard.

ORDER

C. Respondent Violated PCAOB Rules and Standards

3. At all relevant times, Issuer A was an "issuer" as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii). In July and August 2017, the Board's Division of Registration and Inspections ("Inspections") inspected the Firm's audit of Issuer A's financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2016 ("Issuer A audit").

4. PCAOB rules require that registered public accounting firms and their associated persons comply with the Board's auditing and related professional practice standards.[4] AS 1215, Audit Documentation (formerly, Auditing Standard No. 3), requires that "[a] complete and final set of audit documentation should be assembled for retention as of a date not more than 45 days after the report release date (documentation completion date)."[5] After the documentation completion date, audit documentation must not be deleted or discarded from the audit file, but additional documentation may be added as long as the auditor documents the date the information was added, the name of the person who prepared the information, and the reason for adding it.[6]

5. PCAOB rules require that registered public accounting firms and their associated persons "shall cooperate with the Board in the performance of any Board inspection."[7] This cooperation obligation includes an obligation not to provide

---

[4] PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards. All references to PCAOB rules and standards are to the versions of those rules and standards in effect at the time of the relevant conduct. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its auditing standards using a topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Rel. No. 2015-002 (Mar. 31, 2015); see also PCAOB Auditing Standards: Reorganized and Pre-Reorganized Numbering (Jan. 2017).

[5] AS 1215.15. The "report release date" is "the date the auditor grants permission to use the auditor's report in connection with the issuance of the company's financial statements." AS 1215.14.

[6] AS 1215.16.

[7] PCAOB Rule 4006, Duty to Cooperate With Inspectors.

ORDER

misleading documents or information in connection with, or otherwise to interfere in, the Board's inspection processes.[8]

6. Kim served as a senior associate on the Issuer A audit. KPMG's audit report release date was February 27, 2017. The Firm was required to assemble a complete and final set of audit documentation within 45 days of the audit report release date—i.e., by April 13, 2017.[9]

7. Kim first learned of the Board's inspection in July 2017, when a senior manager ("Senior Manager A") on the Issuer A audit asked him to compile certain audit documentation that had not been included in the Firm's final, archived audit file. Among the documentation that Kim compiled was a control testing document that did not include documentation of certain procedures that Kim performed at the time of the audit.

8. On July 15, 2017, Kim added language to the control testing document concerning the procedures he had performed and sent the altered document to a second senior manager ("Senior Manager B") on the Issuer A audit. Kim knew that the altered document could be provided to the Board's Inspections staff, but did not tell Senior Manager B or anyone else about the alterations. Nor did Kim prepare any documentation identifying the information added to the control testing document, the date the information was added, the person who prepared the additional documentation, or the reason for the additional documentation.

9. On July 20, 2017, Kim sent Senior Manager A a screenshot of metadata for the control testing document that misleadingly appeared to show that the document had last been modified on January 16, 2017. Kim knew that the screenshot could be provided to the Board's Inspections staff, but did not tell Senior Manager A or anyone else that the last modified date indicated by the screenshot was inaccurate or that he had actually modified the document only five days earlier.

---

[8] See, e.g., Kabani & Company, Inc., SEC Release No. 34-80201, at 14 (Mar. 10, 2017) (sustaining Board finding that respondents failed to cooperate with inspection where improper work paper alterations "interfered with the PCAOB's ability to fulfill its regulatory function of ensuring that auditors comply with their professional responsibilities"); Dale Arnold Hotz, CPA, Jyothi Nuthulaganti Manohar, CPA, and Michael Jared Fadner, CPA, PCAOB Release No. 105-2012-008, ¶ 7 (Nov. 13, 2012); see also Gately & Associates, LLC, SEC Release No. 34-62656, at 22-23 (Aug. 5, 2010) (sustaining Board finding that respondents failed to cooperate with inspection).

[9] See AS 1215.15.

ORDER

10. On July 25, 2017, the Firm provided the Board's Inspections staff with a set of eleven documents that it represented had inadvertently not been included in the final, archived audit file. The eleven documents included the control testing document that Kim had altered. The other ten documents had not been altered.

11. On August 2, 2017, Kim, Senior Manager B, and certain other Firm personnel participated in a meeting with the Board's Inspections staff. The Inspections staff was shown the altered control testing document, and Kim walked them through the procedures that he had added to the document on July 15. When the Inspections staff asked if the control testing document they had been shown was the original document from the time of the audit, Senior Manager B responded affirmatively and the Inspections staff was shown the screenshot from Kim that inaccurately indicated the document had not been modified since January 2017. Kim did not correct Senior Manager B or otherwise disclose that the screenshot was inaccurate, that the control testing document he had just discussed was not the original document, or that he had altered the document approximately two weeks previously.

12. The Firm subsequently discovered that Kim had improperly altered the control testing document. Upon making this discovery, the Firm terminated Kim and reported the issue to the Board's staff.

13. As a result of the conduct described above, Kim violated PCAOB Rule 4006 and AS 1215.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondent's Offer. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), Elliot D. Kim, CPA is hereby censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(B) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(2), Elliot D. Kim, CPA is barred from being an associated person of a

ORDER

registered public accounting firm, as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i);[10]

C. After one (1) year from the date of this Order, Elliot D. Kim, CPA may file a petition, pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5302(b), for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm; and

D. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(F) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(6), Elliot D. Kim, CPA is required to complete, before filing any petition for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm, forty (40) hours of continuing education, at least twenty (20) hours of which shall be in the subject of ethics and the remainder of which shall be in subjects that are directly related to the audits of issuer financial statements under PCAOB standards (such hours shall be in addition to, and shall not be counted in, the continuing professional education he is required to obtain in connection with any professional license).

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

May 23, 2018

[10] As a consequence of the bar, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act will apply with respect to Kim. Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act provides that "[i]t shall be unlawful for any person that is suspended or barred from being associated with a registered public accounting firm under this subsection willfully to become or remain associated with any issuer, broker, or dealer in an accountancy or a financial management capacity, and for any issuer, broker, or dealer that knew, or in the exercise of reasonable care should have known, of such suspension or bar, to permit such an association, without the consent of the Board or the Commission."

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street NW
Washington, DC 20006
Office: (202) 207-9100
Fax: (202) 862-8430
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS

In the Matter of Deloitte & Touche LLP,

Respondent.

PCAOB Release No. 105-2018-008

May 23, 2018

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (the "Board" or "PCAOB") is censuring Deloitte & Touche LLP ("Deloitte" or "Respondent" or "Firm"), a registered public accounting firm, and imposing on Deloitte a civil money penalty in the amount of $500,000. The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that Deloitte violated PCAOB rules and standards in connection with its integrated audits of Jack Henry & Associates, Inc. ("Jack Henry" or "Company") for the fiscal years ("FY") ended June 30, 2014, 2013, and 2012.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted against Respondent pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1).

II.

In anticipation of institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondent has submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offer") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over Respondent and the subject matter of these proceedings, which are admitted, Respondent consents to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[1]

[1] The findings herein are made pursuant to Respondent's Offer and are not binding on any other persons or entities in this or any other proceeding.

ORDER

III.

On the basis of Respondent's Offer, the Board finds that:

A. Respondent

1. Deloitte & Touche LLP, a Delaware limited liability partnership with headquarters in New York, New York, registered with the Board on October 20, 2003. The Firm is licensed to practice public accounting in multiple jurisdictions, including Missouri (License No. C1071F). Deloitte served as Jack Henry's independent auditor from May 1997 to December 2015. Originally based in the Firm's St. Louis, Missouri office, the Jack Henry engagement was transferred to Deloitte's Kansas City, Missouri office in 2010.

B. Issuer

2. Jack Henry & Associates, Inc. is a Delaware corporation with headquarters in Monett, Missouri. Jack Henry provides integrated computer systems, software, transaction processing, business process automation, and other products and services for banks, credit unions, and other financial institutions. The Company's common stock is registered pursuant to Section 12(b) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and is listed on NASDAQ under the symbol "JKHY." Jack Henry is an issuer within the meaning of Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

C. Summary

3. This case is about Deloitte's failures in auditing Jack Henry's recognition of software license revenue from multiple-element software arrangements. In each of the FY14, FY13, and FY12 audits, Deloitte's engagement teams specifically identified risks of material misstatement (including fraud risks) concerning software license revenue. Due to its high gross profit margins, software license revenue could have had a material impact on Jack Henry's reported net income and earnings per share, even though it represented about five percent of the Company's total revenue.

4. Deloitte's engagement teams planned and performed audit procedures intended to address the significant risks associated with software license revenue. As executed, however, those procedures did not adequately address certain of the identified and assessed risks of material misstatement. As a result, the engagement teams failed to, among other things, obtain sufficient appropriate evidence to support the Firm's unqualified opinions on Jack Henry's financial statements and management's assessments of the effectiveness of internal control over financial reporting ("ICFR") in the FY14, FY13, and FY12 audits. The engagement teams also failed to exercise the requisite due professional care and professional skepticism in those audits.

5. The audit deficiencies described in this Order came to light after Deloitte received notice from the PCAOB that the Jack Henry FY14 audit would be reviewed during the Board's 2015 annual inspection of the Firm. After getting the notice, the then engagement partner asked another Deloitte partner, who had more auditing experience in the software industry, to review certain FY14 revenue work papers to help anticipate questions that might be asked during the PCAOB inspection. That partner's review raised questions about the Company's accounting for software license revenue, which led Deloitte to examine the Company's accounting and the audit more closely. As a result, the Firm identified a number of audit and accounting issues concerning Jack Henry's recognition of software license revenue. Deloitte promptly reported those issues (which are the subjects of paragraphs 29-37 below) to the PCAOB inspection team before the inspection field work began.

6. After the audit and accounting issues were identified, Deloitte performed remedial audit procedures that ultimately led to Jack Henry restating its FY14, FY13, and FY12 financial statements in June 2015. As the Company disclosed, the restatement corrected historical errors concerning its accounting for multiple-element software arrangements. Due to those errors, Jack Henry had recognized software license revenue before it was allowed to under the then-applicable U.S. generally accepted accounting principles ("GAAP").

7. Various factors contributed to the deficiencies in the FY14, FY13, and FY12 Jack Henry audits, but it was the Firm's actions and inactions—beyond those of its engagement personnel—that make it primarily responsible for the violations of PCAOB standards described in this Order. Deloitte did not include as part of the Jack Henry engagement teams an auditor who possessed sufficient industry-specific experience and knowledge (including of the relevant GAAP) to properly evaluate and audit the Company's accounting for software license revenue. In addition, although this Order concerns Deloitte's FY14, FY13, and FY12 Jack Henry audits, the Firm failed to appropriately act on two earlier opportunities to identify and correct some of the same audit deficiencies described in this Order.

D. Background

Relevant Aspects of Jack Henry's Software Business

8. At all relevant times, Jack Henry disclosed that it was a leading provider of technology solutions and payment processing services for financial institutions. The majority of its revenue was derived from recurring transaction processing fees, outsourcing fees, and support and service fees. The Company also sold software licenses for several, functionally-distinct core processing systems and more than 100 complementary software products and services to purchasers of its core systems.

9. Jack Henry's customers could opt for in-house installation of the Company's software or they could outsource their transaction and information processing to Jack Henry using Company-hosted systems. The Company's software license revenue came from customers who entered into software license agreements for in-house installations. In-house installation customers licensed Jack Henry's proprietary software based on initial license fees. Many in-house customers also contracted for annual software maintenance and support services (known as "postcontract customer support" or "PCS"). They also often purchased implementation services ("implementation") in connection with their systems. A complete core system implementation typically included detailed planning, project management, data conversion, and testing by Jack Henry personnel.

Recognizing Revenue from Multiple-Element Software Arrangements

10. Jack Henry's software license agreements often included multiple licensed software products whose deliveries were staggered, sometimes over the course of a year or more. In most instances, the Company bundled the software with related implementation and PCS, and delivered the software before other elements. At all relevant times, Jack Henry purported to account for these multiple-element software arrangements in accordance with FASB Accounting Standards Codification ("ASC") 985-605, Software—Revenue Recognition, which provided authoritative guidance on the timing and amount of revenue recognized in connection with such arrangements.[2]

11. Under ASC 985-605, Jack Henry was required to allocate the total arrangement fee to all elements based on "vendor-specific objective evidence of fair value"[3] (or "VSOE"), regardless of how those elements were separately priced in

[2] ASC 985-605 codified Statement of Position 97-2, Software Revenue Recognition, which was released in October 1997. Effective for public company annual reporting periods beginning after December 15, 2017, ASC 985-605 was superseded by ASC 606, Revenue from Contracts with Customers.

[3] Under ASC 985-605-25-6, vendor-specific objective evidence of fair value was limited to: (a) the price charged when the same element was sold separately, or (b) for an element that was not yet being sold separately, the price established by management, provided it was probable that the price, once established, would not change before the separate introduction of the element into the marketplace.

ORDER

customer contracts. Subject to certain exceptions, if Jack Henry was unable to establish VSOE for all elements of an arrangement (i.e., all software licenses, implementations, initial PCS terms, and other products and services sold in the arrangement), ASC 985-605 required the Company to defer all revenue from the arrangement until all elements had been delivered.

12. ASC 985-605 provided an exception to revenue deferral when a seller could establish VSOE for all undelivered elements in an arrangement, but could not establish VSOE for one or more delivered elements. Under this exception—known as the residual method—the total arrangement fee was first allocated to the undelivered elements based on those elements' VSOE, and the remainder of the fee, if any, was allocated to the delivered elements for which no VSOE existed.[4] The revenue allocated to the delivered elements was recognized upon delivery (i.e., up-front) while the revenue allocated to the undelivered elements was deferred.

13. At all relevant times, Jack Henry asserted that it had established and maintained (a) VSOE for implementation services based on the pricing used when those services were sold separately, and (b) VSOE for PCS based on stated contractual renewal rates. The Company further asserted that it used the residual method to recognize revenue from software licenses (which lacked VSOE) when the software was delivered to customers in advance of implementation and PCS; revenue from the undelivered implementation and PCS elements was deferred.

14. Under ASC 985-605, Jack Henry had to satisfy several preconditions to properly recognize software license revenue up-front using the residual method. Those preconditions required Jack Henry to, among other things: (a) properly define the arrangement; (b) properly identify all deliverables (i.e., elements) in the arrangement; (c) properly establish and maintain VSOE for all undelivered elements (including implementation and PCS); and (d) properly allocate the total arrangement fee to all deliverables based on the VSOE of the undelivered elements.

Jack Henry Restated its FY14, FY13, and FY12 Financial Statements Due to Errors in its Accounting for Multiple-Element Software Arrangements

15. In June 2015, Jack Henry restated its FY14, FY13, and FY12 consolidated financial statements. In connection with the restatement, the Company disclosed that management had "identified historical accounting errors relating to its accounting for [4] See ASC 985-605-25-10e.

ORDER

certain software license, maintenance [i.e., PCS] and service agreements."[5] The prior period errors primarily related to the Company's accounting for multiple-element software arrangements.[6]

16. The errors, which caused Jack Henry to prematurely recognize software license revenue, largely concerned the Company's failures to satisfy one or more of the preconditions noted above regarding use of the residual method.[7] For instance, in FY14, FY13, FY12, and earlier years, Jack Henry failed to properly define its multiple-element arrangements and identify all deliverables (i.e., elements) in those arrangements.

17. To use an example, in accounting for a software license agreement that sold four software products (e.g., a core system and three complementary products) delivered at different times, Jack Henry erroneously treated that contract as containing four separate arrangements (each comprised of a software product with related implementation and PCS), and improperly recognized license revenue each time a software product was delivered.[8] Under ASC 985-605, that contract should have been accounted for as a single arrangement containing multiple software licenses and other deliverables. Even if the Company had established VSOE for all other deliverables

---

[5] See Jack Henry Form 10-K/A (June 25, 2015), at 49.

[6] Due to the errors, previously reported revenue for FY14, FY13, and FY12 was overstated by $36.8 million (3 percent), $21.9 million (2 percent), and $9.4 million (1 percent), respectively. Previously reported net income for FY14, FY13, and FY12 was overstated by $14.4 million (7 percent), $9 million (5 percent), and $2.9 million (2 percent), respectively. Total previously reported deferred revenue (current and non-current) was understated by $171.8 million (54 percent), $135 million (44 percent), and $113.1 million (38 percent) as of June 30, 2014, 2013, and 2012, respectively.

[7] See Jack Henry & Associates, Inc., SEC Rel. No. 34-79650 (Dec. 21, 2016), at 3-5 (Jack Henry consented, without admitting or denying the findings except as to jurisdiction, to a cease-and-desist order that (1) found that it violated the reporting, books and records, and internal control provisions of the federal securities laws, namely Sections 13(a), 13(b)(2)(A), and 13(b)(2)(B) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, and Rules 12b-20, 13a-1, 13a-11, and 13a-13 thereunder, during FY14, FY13, and FY12; and (2) imposed a civil money penalty of $780,000).

[8] See id. at 4.

(which it had not), no revenue should have been recognized on the contract until all licenses, for which no VSOE existed, were delivered.[9]

18. Also in FY14, FY13, FY12, and earlier years, Jack Henry erred in concluding that it had properly established and maintained VSOE for implementation and PCS. Because the Company could not establish VSOE for implementation and PCS, it should have deferred recognition of all revenue from multiple-element software arrangements until every element had been delivered or until the only undelivered element was PCS.[10]

E. Deloitte Violated PCAOB Rules and Standards in its Integrated Audits of Jack Henry for FY 2014, FY 2013, and FY 2012

19. In each of the FY14, FY13, and FY12 integrated audits of Jack Henry (collectively, the "Audits"), Deloitte performed an audit of management's assessment of the effectiveness of ICFR that was integrated with its audit of Jack Henry's financial statements. Deloitte issued audit reports expressing unqualified opinions on Jack Henry's financial statements and ICFR at the end of each Audit.

20. In planning the Audits, Deloitte's engagement teams identified and assessed a number of risks of material misstatement (including fraud risks) regarding Jack Henry's recognition of license revenue from multiple-element software arrangements. In performing the Audits, however, Deloitte violated PCAOB standards when its engagement teams failed to adequately execute their planned responses to those risks.

---

[9] See id.

[10] If the only undelivered element was PCS, the entire arrangement fee should have been recognized ratably over the remaining initial PCS term. See, e.g., ASC 985-605-25-10a.

ORDER

21. PCAOB rules[11] require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons comply with the Board's auditing standards.[12] An auditor may express an unqualified opinion on an issuer's financial statements only when that opinion has been formed on the basis of an audit performed in accordance with PCAOB standards.[13] Among other things, PCAOB standards require auditors to design and implement audit responses that address the risks of material misstatement identified and assessed by the auditors.[14] They must also evaluate the results of the audit to determine whether the audit evidence obtained is sufficient and appropriate to support the opinion to be expressed in the auditor's report.[15] Moreover, PCAOB standards require auditors to exercise due professional care and professional skepticism in planning and performing financial statement and ICFR audits.[16] For the reasons set forth below, Deloitte failed to comply with these and other PCAOB auditing standards in connection with the audit procedures it performed concerning software license revenue and the reports it issued in the Audits.

---

[11] All references to PCAOB rules and standards are to the versions of those rules and standards in effect at the time of the relevant audit. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its auditing standards using a topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Release No. 2015-002 (Mar. 31, 2015); see also PCAOB Auditing Standards Reorganized and Pre-Reorganized Numbering (Jan. 2017). The reorganization did not impose additional requirements on auditors or change substantively the requirements of PCAOB standards.

[12] See PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards; PCAOB Rule 3200T, Interim Auditing Standards.

[13] See AU § 508.07, Reports on Audited Financial Statements.

[14] Auditing Standard No. 13, The Auditor's Responses to the Risks of Material Misstatement ("AS 13"), ¶ 3.

[15] Auditing Standard No. 14, Evaluating Audit Results, ¶ 2; see also Auditing Standard No. 15, Audit Evidence, ¶ 3.

[16] See AU § 230, Due Professional Care in the Performance of Work; Auditing Standard No. 5, An Audit of Internal Control Over Financial Reporting That is Integrated with An Audit of Financial Statements ("AS 5"), ¶ 4.

ORDER

Deloitte's Engagement Teams Identified Fraud Risks and Other Significant Risks of Material Misstatement Relating to Software License Revenue

22. Jack Henry's software license revenue was approximately $53 million in FY14 and $55 million in each of FY13 and FY12. In each of those years, software license revenue represented about five percent of Jack Henry's total revenue. Though relatively small compared to total revenue, Deloitte's engagement teams concluded in each Audit that license revenue was both quantitatively and qualitatively material to Jack Henry's financial statements. The engagement teams also identified software license revenue as a fraud risk based on, among other things, gross profit margins of about ninety percent.

23. Due to its high profitability, an overstatement of license revenue (whether by fraud or error) could have materially inflated the net income and earnings per share ("EPS") reported by Jack Henry. As Deloitte's engagement teams knew, Jack Henry's common stock was covered by multiple securities analysts, resulting in quarterly consensus estimates of the Company's EPS,[17] and management routinely discussed earnings guidance in quarterly calls with analysts.

24. In each Audit, the engagement teams also identified software license revenue as a "significant account," meaning there was "a reasonable possibility that the account…could contain a misstatement that, individually or when aggregated with others, has a material effect on the financial statements…."[18] As to that account, Deloitte identified the occurrence and accuracy of license revenue as "relevant assertions," meaning those financial statement assertions had "a reasonable possibility of containing a misstatement or misstatements that would cause the financial statements to be materially misstated."[19]

25. Part of identifying significant accounts and their relevant assertions is determining the likely sources of potential misstatements that could cause the financial

---

[17] For example, Jack Henry originally reported diluted EPS that met or exceeded consensus estimates for six of the eight quarters in FY14 and FY13. In four of those six quarters, the Company's 2015 restatement reduced diluted EPS below both the originally reported numbers and the consensus estimates.

[18] AS 5 ¶ A10; Auditing Standard No. 12, Identifying and Assessing Risks of Material Misstatement ("AS 12"), ¶ 59e.

[19] AS 5 ¶ A9; AS 12 ¶ 59e.

statements to be materially misstated.[20] In each Audit, Deloitte's engagement teams identified several risks of material misstatement ("RoMMs") concerning Jack Henry's use of the residual method to recognize software license revenue.

26. The RoMMs identified by the engagement teams largely related to risks that Jack Henry might fail to satisfy one or more of the preconditions identified in paragraph 14 above regarding use of the residual method. For example, the RoMMs included risks that Jack Henry management (a) might not appropriately define its arrangements and identify all deliverables (i.e., elements) in those arrangements; (b) might fail to establish or maintain VSOE for implementations; (c) might fail to establish or maintain VSOE for PCS; and (d) might fail to properly allocate revenue among the various elements in an arrangement on the basis of VSOE. In numerous cases, the engagement teams assessed these RoMMs as significant risks and/or fraud risks.[21]

Deloitte's Engagement Teams Failed to Respond Appropriately to the Risks of Material Misstatement Regarding Jack Henry's Software License Revenue

27. In designing and implementing appropriate responses to the RoMMs, the auditor's objective is "to address the risks of material misstatement through appropriate overall audit responses and audit procedures." [22] The auditor should design and implement overall responses to address the assessed RoMMs by, among other things, making appropriate assignments of significant engagement responsibilities to persons whose knowledge, skill, and ability are commensurate with the assessed risks of material misstatement. [23] In addition, PCAOB standards provide that "[a]uditors should be assigned to tasks…commensurate with their level of knowledge, skill, and ability so that

---

[20] See AS 5 ¶ 30; AS 12 ¶ 61.

[21] A significant risk is "[a] risk of material misstatement that requires special audit consideration." AS 12 ¶ A5. In determining whether an identified and assessed risk is significant, "the auditor should evaluate whether the risk requires special audit consideration because of the nature of the risk or the likelihood and potential magnitude of misstatement related to the risk." Id. ¶ 70. Identified fraud risks are also significant risks. Id. ¶ 71 & note.

[22] AS 13 ¶ 2.

[23] See id. ¶ 5a.

they can evaluate the audit evidence they are examining."[24] In connection with the Audits, Deloitte violated these PCAOB standards when it did not include as part of the engagement teams an auditor who possessed sufficient industry-specific experience and knowledge (including of the relevant GAAP) to properly evaluate and audit the Company's accounting for software license revenue.

28. In addition to overall audit responses, auditors "should design and perform audit procedures in a manner that addresses the assessed risks of material misstatement for each relevant assertion of each significant account and disclosure."[25] Moreover, when addressing fraud risks in the audit of the financial statements, "the auditor should perform substantive procedures, including tests of details, that are specifically responsive to the assessed fraud risks."[26] In each Audit, Deloitte's engagement team planned and performed substantive procedures, including tests of details, intended to address the RoMMs they identified and assessed concerning Jack Henry's up-front recognition of software license revenue. For the reasons set forth below, however, those procedures failed to adequately address those risks.[27]

---

[24] AU § 230.06.

[25] AS 13 ¶ 8.

[26] Id. ¶ 13. Auditors should also perform substantive procedures, including tests of details, that are specifically responsive to significant risks. See id. ¶ 11.

[27] Deloitte also failed to adequately address those risks in auditing management's assessment of the effectiveness of ICFR. The internal controls identified and tested by the engagement teams in FY14, FY13, and FY12 were not designed to adequately address the identified and assessed RoMMs concerning Jack Henry's software license revenue. As a result, Deloitte's engagement teams did not, as required by AS 5, obtain reasonable assurance about whether material weaknesses existed as of the dates of the Company's ICFR assessments. In its 2015 restatement, Jack Henry identified a material weakness based on ICFR deficiencies that included the Company's failure to design and implement appropriate controls concerning multiple-element software arrangements. See Jack Henry Form 10-K/A (June 25, 2015), at 26. Consequently, the Company concluded, and Deloitte revised its ICFR audit report to conclude, that Jack Henry did not maintain effective ICFR as of June 30, 2014.

ORDER

Insufficient License Revenue Contract Testing

29. In each Audit, Deloitte's engagement team performed a test of details that included reviewing a sample of Jack Henry's software license agreements ("contract testing"). In performing the testing, engagement team members first selected a sample of software license revenue transactions from the Company's general ledger and commission sale logs, and then obtained contracts, invoices, payment support, and other evidence of the transactions. They also discussed each selected transaction with the appropriate implementation manager and others at Jack Henry.

30. By means of the contract testing in each Audit, Deloitte's engagement teams obtained audit evidence showing, among other things: (a) that Jack Henry's contracts often included multiple software products whose deliveries occurred at different times; (b) that Jack Henry treated such contracts as containing not one, but several, multiple-element arrangements, each comprised of a software product plus implementation and PCS; and (c) that Jack Henry separately recognized license revenue on delivery of each software product. As the Company disclosed in its 2015 restatement, that practice of separating software contracts into multiple arrangements did not comply with ASC 985-605, and caused Jack Henry to prematurely recognize license revenue. During the Audits, the engagement teams failed to recognize that the Company's practice was not compliant with GAAP. As a result, the contract testing failed to address a number of RoMMs, including the risk that the Company might fail to appropriately identify all deliverables in its multiple-element software arrangements.

Insufficient Testing of VSOE for PCS

31. Establishing and maintaining VSOE for PCS was a precondition to Jack Henry's up-front recognition of software license revenue using the residual method. At all relevant times, Jack Henry asserted that it had established VSOE for PCS based on stated renewal rates—i.e., rates that were fixed and stated in the Company's software license contracts.[28] But instead of using fixed and stated rates, the Company's agreements included, for example, renewal rates that were contingent on future events. Jack Henry concluded in its 2015 restatement that those renewal provisions did not provide a proper basis for establishing VSOE of PCS under ASC 985-605. It further [28] See ASC 985-605-25-67 ("The fair value of the postcontract support shall be determined by reference to the price the customer will be required to pay when it is sold separately (that is, the renewal rate).").

ORDER

concluded that its pricing for stand-alone sales of PCS was not sufficiently consistent to establish VSOE.[29]

32. The contract testing in each Audit was intended to address, among other things, the RoMM that Jack Henry might fail to properly establish VSOE for PCS by failing to include stated renewal rates in its software agreements. But the testing failed to address that RoMM because the engagement team members who reviewed PCS renewal provisions in the Company's software contracts did not appropriately evaluate whether those provisions qualified as stated renewal rates for purposes of establishing VSOE.

Insufficient Testing of VSOE for Implementations

33. Jack Henry's up-front recognition of software license revenue under the residual method was also preconditioned on its ability to establish and maintain VSOE for implementation services, which the Company asserted was based on pricing used when it sold those services separately. In their risk assessments during the Audits, Deloitte's engagement teams identified a RoMM that Jack Henry might fail to satisfy this precondition.

34. For implementation services sold in multiple-element arrangements, Jack Henry asserted that VSOE was based on the same standard hourly labor rate it used when selling those services on a stand-alone basis (i.e., when it sold implementation separately from software). VSOE for implementation services was an estimate of revenue arrived at by multiplying the standard hourly labor rate by the number of hours management anticipated would be needed to complete the services. The Company deferred the estimated implementation revenue when license revenue was recognized upon delivery of the corresponding software.

35. Jack Henry's estimates of labor hours, which were a key factor in determining VSOE for implementations, necessarily involved subjective factors that made them potentially susceptible to misstatement or bias.[30] For example, such

---

[29] See Jack Henry Form 10-K/A (June 25, 2015), at 49.

[30] See, e.g., AU § 342.04, Auditing Accounting Estimates ("As estimates are based on subjective as well as objective factors, it may be difficult for management to establish controls over them. Even when management's estimation process involves competent personnel using relevant and reliable data, there is potential for bias in the subjective factors. Accordingly, when planning and performing procedures to evaluate misstatement or bias could occur if management (whether through fraud or error) underestimated the hours to complete implementations. In that case, the deferred revenue allocated to implementations under the residual method would be reduced and the revenue recognized up-front on (much more profitable) software licenses would be inflated.

36. To properly establish VSOE for implementations based on its standard labor rate, Jack Henry had to be able to make reasonable estimates of labor hours to complete implementations. Under PCAOB standards, "[t]he auditor is responsible for evaluating the reasonableness of accounting estimates made by management in the context of the financial statements taken as a whole."[31] In evaluating reasonableness, "[t]he auditor should obtain an understanding of how management developed the estimate,"[32] and "normally should consider the historical experience of the entity in making past estimates as well as the auditor's experience in the industry."[33] The auditor also should normally concentrate on "key factors and assumptions" that are, among other things, "[s]ubjective and susceptible to misstatement and bias."[34]

37. In each Audit, Deloitte's engagement teams violated PCAOB standards by failing to sufficiently evaluate the reasonableness of Jack Henry's estimates of hours to complete implementations.[35] The teams failed: (a) to perform procedures sufficient to accounting estimates, the auditor should consider, with an attitude of professional skepticism, both the subjective and objective factors.").

---

[31] Id.

[32] AU § 342.10.

[33] AU § 342.09.

[34] Id.

[35] In performing contract testing, engagement team members asked Jack Henry implementation managers about the timing of implementation projects related to their test selections. But those inquiries were insufficient to evaluate the reasonableness of management's estimates of hours to complete implementations. See AU § 333.02, Management Representations (management representations "are not a substitute for the application of those auditing procedures necessary to afford a reasonable basis for an opinion regarding the financial statements under audit"). In addition, in the FY14 and FY13 audits, the engagement teams tested whether Jack Henry consistently sold stand-alone implementations at its standard hourly labor rate for purposes of supporting obtain an understanding of how management developed those estimates; (b) to evaluate the reasonableness of the subjective factors and assumptions underlying the estimates; and (c) to adequately consider Jack Henry's historical experience in making past estimates of hours to complete implementations. In its 2015 restatement, Jack Henry disclosed that—in FY14, FY13, FY12, and earlier periods—"its mechanisms for tracking and estimating implementation hours [were] not capable of producing reliable estimates in support of its assertion of VSOE for implementation services…."[36]

F. Prior PCAOB Inspection and Deloitte Internal Inspection

38. Although this Order concerns Deloitte's FY14, FY13, and FY12 Jack Henry audits, the improper software accounting existed in earlier years during which the Firm served as the Company's auditor. During the Board's 2005 inspection of Deloitte, a PCAOB inspection team reviewed the Firm's audit of Jack Henry's financial statements for the year ended June 30, 2004, as to which Deloitte issued an unqualified audit report. The PCAOB inspection found that there was no evidence in the audit documentation, and no persuasive other evidence, that the Firm tested how the Company allocated value to each element of its multiple-element software contracts based on VSOE, and therefore that the Firm had not assessed whether the appropriate amount of revenue was recognized in the proper periods. Following these 2005 inspection findings, Deloitte failed to identify that Jack Henry was unable to properly support its VSOE assertions in subsequent audits.

39. In 2010, Deloitte performed an internal inspection (as part of the Firm's system of quality control) that involved a review of the integrated audit of Jack Henry for the year ended June 30, 2009, as to which the Firm issued unqualified opinions on the financial statements and ICFR. In performing that inspection, the Deloitte reviewers focused on, among other areas, the audit work around software license revenue, including VSOE. But they failed to identify certain audit deficiencies in the software revenue work papers they reviewed, including the absence of substantive testing of VSOE for implementation and evidence that Jack Henry may have improperly separated a material software contract into multiple arrangements.

40. By failing to appropriately address the audit deficiencies identified in the Board's 2005 inspection and to identify the audit deficiencies evidenced in the work management's VSOE assertion. But that testing did not address the reasonableness of the Company's estimates of hours to complete implementations.

---

[36] See Jack Henry Form 10-K/A (June 25, 2015), at 49.

ORDER

papers reviewed during the 2010 internal inspection, the Firm contributed to the violations of PCAOB standards that occurred during its FY14, FY13, and FY12 audits of Jack Henry.

IV.

41. Deloitte has certified to the Board that prior to entry of this Order, it established and implemented the following changes to its quality control processes and procedures:

a. Deloitte enhanced its process to more effectively assess the match between the industry expertise of its engagement partners/engagement quality reviewers and the issuer audits to which they are assigned. The enhanced process includes identifying issuer audit clients that utilize complex accounting for material revenue streams other than their primary revenue stream, and ensuring that appropriate personnel have been assigned to address any related industry-specific risks.

b. Deloitte enhanced its internal inspection process to more effectively assess the industry experience of inspection reviewers when assigning them to review specific areas of complex accounting for issuer audit engagements. Among other things, the Firm specifically assesses whether the internal inspection team has appropriate industry experience regarding all issuer revenue streams subject to inspection procedures.

V.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondent's Offer. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), Deloitte & Touche LLP is hereby censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of $500,000 is imposed upon Deloitte & Touche LLP. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of this civil money penalty will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. Deloitte & Touche LLP shall pay the civil money penalty within 10 days of the issuance of this Order by (1) wire transfer in accordance with instructions furnished by Board staff; or (2) United States Postal Service money order, bank money order, certified check, or bank cashier's check (a) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, (b) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, and (c) submitted under a cover letter, which identifies the payor as a respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB release number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe W. Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006; and

ORDER

C. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(G) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(9), for a period of three years from the date of this order, Deloitte & Touche LLP shall provide the PCAOB Division of Registration and Inspections with prompt written notice in the event of any decision to rescind the enhancements of the processes specified in Section IV above and the reason(s) therefor.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

_____

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

May 23, 2018

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street NW
Washington, DC 20006
Office: (202) 207-9100
Fax: (202) 862-8430
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of Adam M. Sanderson, Respondent.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2018-009 May 23, 2018

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("Board" or "PCAOB") is: (1) censuring Adam M. Sanderson ("Sanderson" or "Respondent"); (2) barring Sanderson from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm;[1] and (3) if Sanderson is permitted to associate once again with any registered public accounting firm, limiting his activities in connection with any "audit," as that term is defined in Section 110(1) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), until two (2) years from the date of this Order, by prohibiting Sanderson from serving in certain capacities in any audit as described in Section IV herein. The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that Sanderson violated PCAOB audit documentation standards in connection with one engagement involving the subsidiary of one issuer.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondent.

II.

In anticipation of the institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondent has submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offer") that the Board has determined to accept. Respondent admits to the facts, findings, and violations set

[1] Sanderson may petition for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm after one (1) year from the date of this Order.

ORDER

forth below, and consents to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order").[2]

III.

On the basis of Respondent's Offer, the Board finds[3] that:

A. Respondent

1. Adam M. Sanderson, 32, of London, United Kingdom, is an accountant who was employed by Deloitte LLP ("Deloitte UK" or the "Firm") between November 2009 and April 2017. During the relevant times in which he was employed by Deloitte UK, Respondent was a manager in the audit and assurance practice area. Respondent was an audit manager on Deloitte UK's audit of the year-end 2015 financial statements and internal control over financial reporting of an issuer ("Issuer A"). At all relevant times, Respondent was an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

B. Respondent Violated PCAOB Audit Documentation Standards

2. In connection with the preparation or issuance of an audit report, PCAOB rules require that associated persons of registered public accounting firms comply with applicable auditing and related professional practice standards.[4] Auditing Standard No. 3, Audit Documentation ("AS No. 3"), requires that the complete and final set of

---

[2] The findings herein are made pursuant to Respondent's Offer and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

[3] The Board finds that Respondent's conduct described in this Order meets the condition set out in Section 105(c)(5)(A) of the Act, which provides that certain sanctions may be imposed in the event of intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, that results in violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard.

[4] See PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards. All references to PCAOB rules and standards are to the versions of those rules and standards in effect at the time of the relevant conduct. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its auditing standards using a topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Rel. No. 2015-002 (Mar. 31, 2015).

ORDER

documentation for an audit be assembled for retention by the "documentation completion date,"[5] a date no later than 45 days from the date on which the auditor grants permission to use its report ("report release date").[6] AS No. 3 also requires that "[p]rior to the report release date, the auditor must have completed all necessary auditing procedures and obtained sufficient evidence to support the representations in the auditor's report."[7] It further requires that the auditor "document the procedures performed, evidence obtained, and conclusions reached with respect to relevant financial assertions. Audit documentation must clearly demonstrate that the work was in fact performed."[8] And it requires that "[a]ny documentation added [after the documentation completion date] must indicate the date the information was added, the name of the person who prepared the additional documentation, and the reason for adding it."[9]

3. In violation of AS No. 3, Sanderson, who served as the engagement manager on the Deloitte UK component engagement team that audited a subsidiary of Issuer A, improperly created a work paper to falsely indicate that the component engagement team had performed work before the release of the audit opinion when, in fact, the team had not done so. This improper alteration occurred shortly after Sanderson learned that the PCAOB would be inspecting Deloitte UK's 2015 audit of Issuer A.[10]

4. On August 2, 2016, Sanderson learned that the PCAOB was going to inspect Deloitte UK's audit of Issuer A. On August 9, 2016, Sanderson created audit documents which he added to the work papers. One of the newly created audit documents falsely described the performance of certain journal entry testing work that he was responsible for making sure the subsidiary component engagement team completed but that the subsidiary component engagement team had never actually completed.

---

[5] AS No. 3 ¶ 15.

[6] Id. ¶ 14.

[7] Id.

[8] Id. ¶ 6.

[9] Id. ¶ 16.

[10] Deloitte UK released its audit opinion in April 2016, and therefore the documentation completion date for the audit was some time in May 2016.

ORDER

5. Further, in a separate memorandum also dated August 9, 2016 which Sanderson primarily authored and then added to the work papers, Sanderson falsely indicated that, though the new audit document described in Paragraph 4 above had not been signed off prior to the release of the audit opinion, the underlying journal entry testing work described in it was performed prior to the release of the audit opinion. As a result of these actions, Sanderson violated AS No. 3.

6. Prior to any documents being provided to the Board's inspectors, the Firm discovered that Sanderson had improperly altered the new audit documents. Upon making this discovery, the Firm terminated Sanderson, reported the issue to the Board's staff, and did not archive the improperly altered audit documents.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondent's Offer. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), Adam M. Sanderson, is hereby censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(B) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(2), Adam M. Sanderson, is barred from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm, as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i);[11]

C. After one (1) year from the date of this Order, Adam M. Sanderson, may file a petition, pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5302(b), for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm; and

D. If Adam M. Sanderson is permitted to associate once again with a registered public accounting firm, pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(C) of the [11] As a consequence of the bar, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act will apply with respect to Sanderson. Section 105(c)(7)(B) provides: "It shall be unlawful for any person that is suspended or barred from being associated with a registered public accounting firm under this subsection willfully to become or remain associated with any issuer, broker, or dealer in an accountancy or a financial management capacity, and for any issuer, broker, or dealer that knew, or in the exercise of reasonable care should have known, of such suspension or bar, to permit such an association, without the consent of the Board or the Commission."

ORDER

Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(3), for a period of two (2) years from the date of this Order, his role in any "audit," as that term is defined in Section 110(1) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(a)(v), shall be restricted as follows: Sanderson shall not (1) serve, or supervise the work of another person serving, as an "engagement partner," as that term is used in the Board's AS 1201, Supervision of the Audit Engagement; (2) serve, or supervise the work of another person serving, as an "engagement quality reviewer," as that term is used in the Board's AS 1220, Engagement Quality Review; (3) serve, or supervise the work of another person serving, in any role that is equivalent to, but differently denominated from, engagement partner (such as "lead partner" or "practitioner-in-charge") or engagement quality reviewer (such as "concurring partner"); (4) exercise authority, or supervise the work of another person exercising authority, either to sign a registered public accounting firm's name to an audit report, or to consent to the use of a previously issued audit report, for any issuer, broker, or dealer; (5) assist the engagement partner in fulfilling his or her responsibilities under Paragraph 4 of AS 1201, Supervision of the Audit Engagement; (6) serve, or supervise the work of another person serving, as the "other auditor," or "another auditor," as those terms are used in the Board's AS 1205, Part of the Audit Performed by Other Independent Auditors; or (7) serve, or supervise the work of another individual serving, as a professional practice director.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

_____

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

May 23, 2018

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street NW
Washington, DC 20006
Office: (202) 207-9100
Fax: (202) 862-8430
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of Richard J. Girasole, CPA PC and Richard J. Girasole, CPA, Respondents.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2018-012 June 13, 2018

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("Board" or "PCAOB") is censuring Richard J. Girasole, CPA PC ("Firm"), a registered public accounting firm, revoking the Firm's registration,[1] and imposing a civil money penalty in the amount of $10,000 on the Firm; and censuring Richard J. Girasole, CPA ("Girasole"), and barring him from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm.[2] The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that (1) the Firm and Girasole (collectively, "Respondents") violated PCAOB rules and standards concerning auditor independence; (2) Respondents violated PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the audit of a broker-dealer; (3) Respondents violated PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the Firm's review engagement regarding the examination of the broker-dealer's exemption report; and (4) the Firm violated PCAOB rules in connection with its failure, in 2013, to file a Form 3 Special Report, pursuant to Section 102(d) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 2203, Special Reports.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondents.

---

[1] The Firm may reapply for registration after two (2) years from the date of this Order.

[2] Girasole may file a petition for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm after two (2) years from the date of this Order.

ORDER

II.

In anticipation of institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondents each submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offers") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over them and the subject matter of these proceedings, which are admitted, Respondents consent to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order").[3]

III.

On the basis of Respondents' Offers, the Board finds that:[4]

A. Respondents

1. Richard J. Girasole, CPA PC is, and at all relevant times was, a professional service corporation organized under the laws of New York and headquartered in Brooklyn, New York. The Firm is registered with the Board pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules. The Firm's license to practice public accountancy in New York (PSC No. 027298) expired on August 31, 2017. At all relevant times, the Firm was the external auditor for the broker-dealer identified below.

2. Richard J. Girasole, CPA, age 62, of Brooklyn, New York, is a certified public accountant licensed by the New York State Education Department (License No. 045076), the state of New Jersey (License No. 20CC02233900) and the state of Florida (License No. AC46292). At all relevant times, Girasole was the sole owner of the Firm and was the Firm's sole certified public accountant. Girasole is, and at all relevant times

[3] The findings herein are made pursuant to the Respondents' Offers and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

[4] The Board finds that Respondents' conduct described in this Order meets the conditions set out in Section 105(c)(5) of the Act, 15 U.S.C. § 7215(c)(5), which provides that certain sanctions may be imposed in the event of (1) intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, that results in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard; or (2) repeated instances of negligent conduct, each resulting in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard.

ORDER

was, an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

B. Summary

3. This matter concerns Respondents' violations of PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the Firm's audit of the financial statements of TerraNova Capital Equities, Inc. ("TerraNova"), a broker-dealer, for the fiscal year ("FY") ended December 31, 2015 ("FY 2015"). As detailed below, Respondents failed, among other things, to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence and exercise due care and professional skepticism in connection with the TerraNova audit. Additionally, Respondents violated PCAOB Attestation Standard No. 2, Review Engagements Regarding Exemption Reports of Brokers and Dealers ("AT 2") in performing a review of the statements by TerraNova in its exemption report prepared pursuant to the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 ("Exchange Act") Rule 17a-5, 17 C.F.R. § 240.17a-5 ("Rule 17a-5").

4. In addition, Respondents violated PCAOB Rule 3520, Auditor Independence, and AU § 220, Independence, by failing to remain independent of TerraNova throughout the audit and professional engagement period.[5]

5. The Firm also failed to comply with Auditing Standard No. 7, Engagement Quality Review ("AS 7"), in connection with the TerraNova audit by failing to have an engagement quality review performed by a partner or another individual in an equivalent position before issuing its audit opinion and attestation report. The engagement quality review was performed by a senior accountant employed by the Firm who was not a partner or an individual in an equivalent position. Additionally, Girasole violated PCAOB Rule 3502, Responsibility Not to Knowingly or Recklessly Contribute to Violations, by contributing to the Firm's violation of AS 7.

6. Finally, this matter concerns the Firm's violation of Section 102(d) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 2203, Special Reports, as a result of the Firm's failure to disclose certain reportable events to the Board as required by PCAOB rules.

---

[5] All references to PCAOB rules and standards are to the versions of those rules and standards in effect at the time of the relevant audits. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its auditing standards using a topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Release No. 2015-002 (Mar. 31, 2015); see also PCAOB Auditing Standards Reorganized and Pre-Reorganized Numbering (January 2017).

ORDER

C. Respondents Violated PCAOB Rules and Standards

7. PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons comply with the Board's auditing and related professional practice standards.[6] For audits of fiscal years ending on or after June 1, 2014, including the TerraNova audit, Rule 17a-5(g) requires that audits of broker-dealers be performed in accordance with PCAOB standards.

8. Rule 17a-5(d)(1) requires, among other things, that every broker or dealer registered under section 15 of the Exchange Act file annually a financial report audited by an independent public accountant. Rule 17a-5(d)(2) requires that the financial report filed by a registered broker or dealer contain, among other things, certain financial statements: a Statement of Financial Condition, a Statement of Income, a Statement of Cash Flows, a Statement of Changes in Stockholders' or Partners' or Sole Proprietor's Equity, and a Statement of Changes in Liabilities Subordinated to Claims of General Creditors. Rule 17a-5(d)(2) also requires that the financial report contain certain supporting schedules—a Computation of Net Capital, a Computation for Determination of the Reserve Requirements, and Information Relating to the Possession or Control Requirements—as well as a reconciliation between either computation and any materially different corresponding computation in the most recent Part II or Part IIA of Form X-17A-5 filed by the broker-dealer.

9. Rule 17a-5(g) requires that an independent public accountant prepare a report based on an examination of the financial report required to be filed by the broker or dealer under Rule 17a-5(d) in accordance with PCAOB standards.

10. PCAOB rules and standards also require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons be independent of the firm's audit client throughout the audit and professional engagement period.[7] The independence criteria are set forth in the rules and standards of the PCAOB and the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission ("Commission").

> [A] registered public accounting firm or associated person's independence obligation with respect to an audit client encompasses not only an obligation to satisfy the independence criteria applicable to the

---

[6] See PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards, and PCAOB Rule 3200T, Interim Auditing Standards.

[7] See PCAOB Rule 3520; AU § 220.

ORDER

> engagement set out in the rules and standards of the PCAOB, but also an obligation to satisfy all other independence criteria applicable to the engagement, including the independence criteria set out in the rules and regulations of the Commission under the federal securities laws.[8]

11. Pursuant to Rule 17a-5(f)(1), certain of the Commission's auditor independence criteria described in Rule 2-01 of Regulation S-X[9] apply to audits of brokers and dealers.[10] The applicable provisions include Rule 2-01(c)(4), which states in part:

> An accountant is not independent if, at any point during the audit and professional engagement period, the accountant provides the following non-audit services to an audit client:
>
> (i) Bookkeeping or other services related to the accounting records or financial statements of the audit client. Any service, unless it is reasonable to conclude that the results of these services will not be subject to audit procedures during an audit of the audit client's financial statements, including:
>
> . . .
>
> (B) Preparing the audit client's financial statements that are filed with the Commission or that form the basis of financial statements filed with the Commission . . . .

12. An auditor may express an unqualified opinion on financial statements only when the auditor has formed such an opinion on the basis of an audit performed in

---

[8] PCAOB Rule 3520, Note 1.

[9] See 17 C.F.R. § 210.2-01.

[10] Not all independence criteria described in Rule 2-01(c) apply to audits of brokers and dealers. As the Commission has explained, those audits "are not subject to the partner rotation requirements or the compensation requirements of the Commission's independence rules [Rules 2-01(c)(6) and (c)(8)] because the statute mandating those requirements is limited to issuers," and they "are not subject to the audit committee pre-approval requirements or the cooling-off period requirements for employment [Rules 2-01(c)(7) and (c)(2)(iii)(B)] because those requirements only reference issuers." See Exchange Act Release No. 70073 at II.E.

ORDER

accordance with PCAOB standards.[11] Among other things, PCAOB standards require an auditor to exercise due professional care and professional skepticism, and obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to afford a reasonable basis for an opinion regarding the financial statements.[12]

13. PCAOB standards also require that an audit be properly planned, including performing risk assessment procedures sufficient to provide a reasonable basis for identifying and assessing the risks of material misstatement, whether due to error or fraud.[13] The auditor should identify and assess the risks of material misstatement at the financial statement level and the assertion level, and design and perform audit procedures in a manner that addresses the assessed risks of material misstatement for each relevant assertion of each significant account and disclosure.[14]

14. An auditor should also evaluate whether the information gathered from the risk assessment procedures indicates that one or more fraud risk factors are present and should be taken into account in identifying and assessing fraud risks.[15] If the auditor is unable to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to have a reasonable basis to conclude about whether the financial statements as a whole are free of material misstatement, the auditor should express a qualified opinion or a disclaimer of opinion.[16]

15. PCAOB standards also require the auditor to perform procedures to evaluate whether a company has properly identified its related parties and relationships

---

[11] See AU § 508.07, Reports on Audited Financial Statements.

[12] See AU § 150, Generally Accepted Auditing Standards; AU § 230, Due Professional Care in the Performance of Work; Auditing Standard No. 15, Audit Evidence ("AS 15").

[13] See Auditing Standard No. 9, Audit Planning ("AS 9"), ¶ 4; Auditing Standard No. 12, Identifying and Assessing Risks of Material Misstatement ("AS 12"), ¶ 4.

[14] See AS 12 ¶ 59; Auditing Standard No. 13, The Auditor's Responses to the Risks of Material Misstatement ("AS 13"), ¶ 8.

[15] See AS 12 ¶ 65.

[16] See Auditing Standard No. 14, Evaluating Audit Results, ¶ 35.

ORDER

and transactions with related parties.[17] PCAOB standards also require auditors to evaluate whether related party transactions have been properly accounted for and disclosed in the financial statements.[18] The auditor should also perform procedures to obtain an understanding of the company's relationships and transactions with related parties that might reasonably be expected to affect the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements in conjunction with performing risk assessment procedures in accordance with AS 12.[19]

16. As described below, Respondents failed to comply with the applicable PCAOB rules and standards.

Independence Violations

17. At all relevant times, TerraNova was a broker-dealer incorporated in the state of Delaware with its principal place of business in New York, New York. TerraNova's public filings disclose that its business is limited to acting as a private placement agent and providing consultation services in connection with mergers and acquisitions. It claims an exemption from the Customer Protection Rule under paragraph (k)(2)(ii) of Exchange Act Rule 15c3-3 ("Rule 15c3-3").[20] At all relevant times, TerraNova was a "broker" and "dealer," as defined in Section 110(3) and (4) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(b)(iii) and (d)(iii).

18. On February 29, 2016, TerraNova filed Form X-17A-5 Part III for FY 2015 with the Commission. Included in that filing was the Firm's FY 2015 audit report dated February 26, 2016 ("Audit Report").

19. During 2015, Respondents performed certain bookkeeping services[21] for TerraNova by maintaining and preparing certain accounting records and financial statements of TerraNova. Specifically, Respondents assisted in the preparation of the

---

[17] See Auditing Standard No. 18, Related Parties ("AS 18"), ¶ 14.

[18] See id. ¶ 17.

[19] See id. ¶¶ 3, 10-13.

[20] See Rule 15c3-3, 17 C.F.R. § 240.15c3-3, Customer Protection – Reserves and Custody of Securities (the "Customer Protection Rule").

[21] See 17 C.F.R. § 210.2-01(c)(4)(i).

ORDER

financial statements by obtaining TerraNova's trial balance, aggregating and changing certain amounts within line items, and then updating the disclosures in the accompanying notes to the financial statements.

20. Respondents also assisted in the preparation of TerraNova's supplemental information accompanying the FY 2015 audited financial statements and the broker dealer's exemption report. Specifically, Respondents computed TerraNova's net capital as of December 31, 2015, and they prepared the supporting statement of computation of net capital accompanying the audited financial statements. Respondents also prepared the broker dealer's exemption report.

21. As a result of these actions, Respondents were not independent of TerraNova in connection with the FY 2015 audit and violated PCAOB Rule 3520 and AU § 220.

Audit Violations

Audit of TerraNova's 2015 Financial Statements

22. Girasole was the engagement partner for the Firm's audit of TerraNova's financial statements for FY 2015. Girasole authorized the Firm's issuance of TerraNova's Audit Report included in TerraNova's Form X-17A-5 Part III for FY 2015 filed with the Commission on February 29, 2016. The Audit Report expressed an unqualified opinion on TerraNova's financial statements, and stated, among other things, that the Firm's audit was conducted in accordance with PCAOB rules and standards.

23. Respondents failed to comply with applicable PCAOB standards in connection with TerraNova's FY 2015 audit. Respondents' audit planning was limited to a statement that "the audit is completed by examining the books and records and performing 90% expense verification." Respondents failed to properly plan the audit because they failed to: (i) establish an overall audit strategy setting the scope, timing, and direction of the audit;[22] (ii) develop and document an audit plan that included a description of the planned nature, timing, and extent of the risk assessment and substantive procedures;[23] and (iii) perform any procedures to identify, appropriately

---

[22] See AS 9 ¶¶ 8-9.

[23] See id. ¶ 10.

ORDER

assess, and respond to the risks of material misstatement due to fraud, including the presumption that improper revenue recognition is a fraud risk.[24]

24. TerraNova's FY 2015 financial statements disclosed that "[t]he Company's business is limited to acting as a private placement agent and to consult in connection with mergers and acquisitions." For FY 2015 TerraNova reported revenue of $375,470.

25. Although Respondents agreed all revenue amounts to cash deposits in bank statements during FY 2015 and obtained copies of service agreements and private placement agreements, these audit procedures were not sufficient because these procedures failed to provide a reasonable basis to determine whether the cash deposits were generated from the sale of consulting services, recorded in the proper period, and properly valued. Further, Respondents failed to perform any procedures to test the presentation and disclosure of revenue because the notes to the financial statements did not contain a revenue recognition policy disclosure. As a result, Respondents failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to determine whether revenue was recorded in the proper period, properly valued, and properly presented and disclosed.[25]

26. Respondents also failed to perform any procedures regarding related parties and relationships and transactions with related parties. TerraNova's public filings disclosed that TerraNova is a wholly owned subsidiary of TerraNova Capital Partners, Inc. The notes to the financial statements, however, did not contain any related party footnote disclosure. Although Respondents were aware of this relationship, they failed to perform any audit procedures to determine whether the company had properly identified, accounted for and disclosed its related parties and relationships and transactions with related parties.[26]

Violation of Attestation Standard No. 2

27. Rule 17a-5(d)(1)(i)(B)(2) requires broker-dealers that claim an exemption from Rule 15c3-3, or the Customer Protection Rule, to prepare an exemption report, in which the broker-dealer (1) identifies the exemption provision of paragraph (k) of Rule 15c3-3 under which the broker-dealer claims an exemption; (2) states that the broker-

---

[24] See AS 12 ¶¶ 3, 68; AS 13 ¶ 3.

[25] See AS 15 ¶¶ 4-6; AS 13 ¶ 36.

[26] See AS 18.

ORDER

dealer met the identified exemption provision throughout the most recent fiscal year without exception or met the identified exemption provisions throughout the most recent fiscal year except as described in the exemption report; and (3) if applicable, includes a statement that identifies each exception during the most recent fiscal year in meeting the identified exemption provision and that briefly describes the nature of each exception and the approximate date(s) on which the exception existed.[27] Rule 17a-5 also requires the broker-dealer to engage an independent public accountant registered with the PCAOB to review, and independently report on, the statements by the broker-dealer in the exemption report.[28]

28. AT 2 establishes requirements when an auditor is engaged to perform a review of the statements made by a broker-dealer in an exemption report.[29] When performing the review, the auditor must plan and perform the review engagement to obtain appropriate evidence that is sufficient to obtain moderate assurance about whether one or more conditions exist that would cause one or more of the broker-dealer's assertions not to be fairly stated, in all material respects.[30] The review engagement should be coordinated with the audit of the financial statements and take into account relevant evidence from the audit of the financial statements and the audit procedures performed on the supplemental information of the broker-dealer.[31] Prior to issuing a review report, the auditor is required to obtain written representations from management of the broker-dealer.[32]

29. As part of the FY 2015 audit, Respondents issued a review report dated February 26, 2016. As the engagement partner, Girasole was responsible for the review engagement and performance of the review procedures.[33]

---

[27] See also, Attestation Standard No. 2, Review Engagements Regarding Exemption Reports of Brokers and Dealers ("AT 2"), ¶ 2.

[28] See Rule 17A-5(d)(1)(i)(C) and (g)(2)(ii).

[29] See AT 2 ¶ 1.

[30] See id. ¶ 4.

[31] See id. ¶ 7.

[32] See id. ¶ 13.

[33] See id. ¶ 6.

ORDER

30. Respondents failed to plan and perform the review engagement to obtain appropriate evidence sufficient to obtain moderate assurance about whether one or more conditions existed during the most recent fiscal year that would cause one or more of TerraNova's assertions not to be fairly stated, in all material respects.[34] Respondents failed to perform any procedures, including inquiries, to identify exceptions to the exemption provisions as required by AT 2.[35]

31. Additionally, Respondents failed to obtain written representations from TerraNova's management required by AT 2.[36] The failure to obtain written representations from management constituted a limitation on the scope of the review engagement.[37]

The Firm Violated AS 7 and Girasole Violated Rule 3502

32. For audits and attestations of broker-dealer financial statements for fiscal years ending on or after June 1, 2014, AS 7 requires that an engagement quality review be performed on audits and attestations conducted pursuant to PCAOB standards.[38] AS 7 also provides that, in an audit, a firm may grant permission to a client to use the engagement report only after an engagement quality reviewer provides concurring approval of issuance.[39] An engagement quality reviewer from the firm that issues the engagement report must be a partner or another individual in an equivalent position.[40]

33. The Firm issued its audit report and review report for TerraNova's FY 2015 financial statements, dated February 26, 2016, after obtaining an engagement quality review and concurring approval of issuance from an individual at the Firm who was not a partner of the Firm or an individual in an equivalent position. The individual who

---

34 See id. ¶ 4.

35 See id. ¶¶ 4, 10.

36 See id. ¶ 13.

37 See id. ¶¶ 14, 20.

38 See AS 7 ¶ 1.

39 See id. ¶¶ 13, 18C.

40 See id. ¶ 3.

ORDER

performed the engagement quality review was a senior accountant employed by the Firm. As a result, the Firm violated AS 7.

34. PCAOB Rule 3502 prohibits an associated person of a registered public accounting firm from taking or omitting to take an action knowing, or recklessly not knowing, that the act or omission would directly and substantially contribute to a violation by that firm of the Act, the rules of the Board, the provisions of the securities laws relating to the preparation and issuance of audit reports and the obligations and liabilities of accountants with respect thereto, including the rules of the Commission issued under the Act, or professional standards.

35. Girasole, the sole partner of the Firm, was principally responsible for the TerraNova audit conducted by the Firm. Accordingly, Girasole had primary responsibility for the audit, including ensuring that the Firm complied with PCAOB rules and standards.

36. Girasole knew, or was reckless in not knowing, that he was directly and substantially contributing to the Firm's violation of AS 7 on the TerraNova audit when he improperly allowed an individual at the Firm who was not a partner or in an equivalent position to perform the engagement quality review. As a result, he violated PCAOB Rule 3502.

The Firm Violated PCAOB Rule 2203, Special Reports

37. PCAOB Rule 2203 provides that a registered public accounting firm must file a special report on Form 3 to report any event specified in that form within thirty days of the event's occurrence.[41] One such specified event occurs when a firm "has become aware that, in a matter arising out of his or her conduct in the course of providing professional services for a client, a partner, shareholder, principal, owner, member, or audit manager of the Firm who provided at least ten hours of audit services for any issuer, broker, or dealer during the Firm's current fiscal year or its most recently completed fiscal year has become a defendant or respondent in a civil or alternative dispute resolution proceeding initiated by a governmental entity or in an administrative [41] See PCAOB Rule 2203. As the Board noted when adopting its rules on special reporting, "[R]eportable events will sometimes occur, and the public interest, as well as the ability to consider whether prompt action is warranted by the Board's inspection staff or enforcement staff, will be served by contemporaneous reporting of the event." PCAOB Rel. No. 2008-004, at 17 (June 10, 2008).

ORDER

or disciplinary proceeding other than a Board disciplinary proceeding" ("Item 2.9 Proceeding").[42] With respect to one event involving an Item 2.9 Proceeding, the Firm failed to timely file a Form 3 with the Board.

38. On August 21, 2013, Girasole entered into a Consent Order with the New Jersey State Board of Accountancy whereby his license to practice public accountancy in New Jersey was revoked for two years, retroactive to November 1, 2012. The Consent Order followed a Stipulation of Settlement Girasole entered into with the Department of Insurance, Bureau of Fraud Deterrence, State of New Jersey. Both proceedings arose out of the Firm's provision of tax and other non-audit professional services to certain clients. According to the Consent Order and the Stipulation of Settlement, Girasole prepared state and federal tax returns for clients, which contained incomplete payroll figures. He then provided those tax returns to a worker's compensation insurer, which affected the clients' worker's compensation insurance premium calculations in favor of Girasole's clients' companies. The Firm, owned by Girasole, learned of the proceeding no later than April 12, 2012.

39. In violation of Rule 2203, the Firm failed to file a Form 3 with respect to the Item 2.9 Proceeding.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondents' Offers. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), Richard J. Girasole, CPA PC, and Richard J. Girasole, CPA are hereby censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(B) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(2), Richard J. Girasole, CPA is barred from being an associated person of a [42] PCAOB Form 3, at Item 2.9 (italics in the original). To be reportable under Item 2.9, the proceeding only has to relate to professional services for a client, and does not necessarily have to involve an audit of an issuer, broker, or dealer as those terms are defined under PCAOB rules.

---

ORDER

registered public accounting firm, as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i);[43]

C. After two (2) years from the date of this Order, Richard J. Girasole, CPA may file a petition, pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5302(b), for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm;

D. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(A) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(1), the registration of Richard J. Girasole, CPA PC is revoked;

E. After two (2) years from the date of this Order, Richard J. Girasole, CPA PC may reapply for registration by filing an application pursuant to PCAOB Rule 2101; and

F. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of $10,000 payable by the Firm is imposed. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of these civil money penalties will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. The Firm shall pay this civil money penalty within 30 days of the issuance of this Order by (1) wire transfer in accordance with instructions furnished by Board staff; or (2) United States Postal Service money order, bank money order, certified check, or bank cashier's check (a) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, (b) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, and (c) submitted under a cover letter which identifies the Firm as a respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB Release number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe W. Brown, Secretary, Public

---

[43] As a consequence of the bar, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act will apply with respect to Girasole. Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act provides that "[i]t shall be unlawful for any person that is suspended or barred from being associated with a registered public accounting firm under this subsection willfully to become or remain associated with any issuer, broker, or dealer in an accountancy or a financial management capacity, and for any issuer, broker, or dealer that knew, or in the exercise of reasonable care should have known, of such suspension or bar, to permit such an association, without the consent of the Board or the Commission."

ORDER

Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

_____

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

June 13, 2018

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street NW
Washington, DC 20006
Office: (202) 207-9100
Fax: (202) 862-8430
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of Frazier & Deeter, LLC, Respondent.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2018-013 July 12, 2018

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("Board" or "PCAOB") is censuring Frazier & Deeter, LLC ("Respondent" or "Firm"), imposing a civil money penalty of $15,000 on the Firm, and requiring the Firm to undertake certain remedial measures. The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that Respondent violated PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the audits of three issuer audit clients.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondent.

II.

In anticipation of institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, the Respondent has submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offer") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over Respondent and the subject matter of these proceedings, which are admitted, Respondent consents to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[1]

[1] The findings herein are made pursuant to the Respondent's Offer and are not binding on any other persons or entities in this or any other proceeding.

III.

On the basis of Respondent's Offer, the Board finds that:

A. Respondent

1. Frazier & Deeter, LLC is, and at all relevant times was, a Georgia limited liability company headquartered in Atlanta, Georgia. The Firm is registered with the Board pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules. The Firm is licensed to practice public accounting in multiple jurisdictions, including Georgia (Lic. No. ACF000776). At all relevant times, the Firm was the independent auditor for the three issuers identified in this Order.

B. Summary

2. This matter concerns Respondent's repeated failures to comply with Auditing Standard No. 7, Engagement Quality Review ("AS 7"),[2] with respect to three issuer audits. Specifically, in each of three issuer audits, Respondent assigned as the engagement quality reviewer an individual who previously had served as the engagement partner for that issuer audit client in the prior year. By making those assignments, Respondent violated the mandatory, two-year "cooling-off" period for former engagement partners under AS 7.[3]

3. This matter also concerns Respondent's violations of PCAOB rules and quality control standards by failing to establish and implement quality control policies and procedures sufficient to provide Respondent with reasonable assurance that it would comply with applicable professional standards, specifically the "cooling-off" requirement of AS 7.

---

[2] All references to PCAOB rules and standards are to the versions of those rules and standards in effect at the time of the relevant audits. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its auditing standards using a topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Release No. 2015-002 (Mar. 31, 2015); see also PCAOB Auditing Standards Reorganized and Pre-Reorganized Numbering (Jan. 2017). The reorganization did not impose additional requirements on auditors or change substantively the requirements of PCAOB standards.

[3] See AS 7 ¶ 8; see also PCAOB Release No. 2009-004, Auditing Standard No. 7—Engagement Quality Review and Conforming Amendment to the Board's Interim Quality Control Standards (July 28, 2009) at 11-12. At all relevant times, the Firm had five or more issuer clients and ten or more partners, and thus did not qualify for an exemption under AS 7 ¶ 8.

C. The Firm Repeatedly Violated the "Cooling-Off" Requirement of Auditing Standard No. 7

4. In connection with the preparation and issuance of an audit report, PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons comply with the Board's auditing and related professional practice standards.[4]

5. AS 7 requires that an engagement quality review be performed on audit engagements, reviews of interim financial information, and certain attestation engagements conducted pursuant to PCAOB standards.[5] Further, paragraph 8 of AS 7 provides: "The person who served as the engagement partner during either of the two audits preceding the audit subject to the engagement quality review may not be the engagement quality reviewer."[6] The Firm failed to comply with AS 7 ¶ 8 as described below.

6. At all relevant times, Wells Mid-Horizon Value-Added Fund I, LLC ("Wells") was a Georgia limited liability company headquartered in Norcross, Georgia. Its investor member shares were registered under Section 12(g) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 ("Exchange Act"). At all relevant times, Wells was an issuer as that term is defined by Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii). The Firm audited Wells' financial statements for the fiscal years ("FY") ended December 31, 2012 and December 31, 2013, and issued unqualified audit reports that were filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission ("Commission").[7] The Firm member who served as the engagement quality reviewer on the FY13 Wells audit had served as the engagement partner on the FY12 Wells audit in violation of AS 7's two-year "cooling-off" period for former engagement partners.

7. At all relevant times, Global Healthcare REIT, Inc. ("Global") was a Utah corporation headquartered in Atlanta, Georgia. Its common stock was registered under Section 12(g) of the Exchange Act and was quoted on the OTC Bulletin Board. At all

---

[4] PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards.

[5] See AS 7 ¶ 1.

[6] AS 7 ¶ 8. In its release on AS 7, the Board noted that it included the "cooling-off" period because "it believed that it would be harder for an engagement partner who has had overall responsibility for the audit for at least a year to perform the [engagement quality] review with the necessary level of objectivity." PCAOB Rel. No. 2009-004 (July 28, 2009) at 11-12.

[7] On August 14, 2015, Wells filed with the Commission a Form 15 notice of termination of registration under Section 12(g) of the Exchange Act.

relevant times, Global was an issuer as that term is defined by Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii). The Firm audited Global's December 31, 2013 and December 31, 2014 financial statements and issued unqualified audit reports that were filed with the Commission. The Firm member who served as the engagement quality reviewer on the FY14 Global audit had served as the engagement partner on the FY13 Global audit in violation of AS 7's two-year "cooling-off" period for former engagement partners.

8. At all relevant times, Diversified Resources, Inc. ("Diversified Resources") was a Nevada corporation headquartered in Littleton, Colorado. Its common stock was registered under Section 12(g) of the Exchange Act and quoted on the OTC Bulletin Board. At all relevant times, Diversified Resources was an issuer as that term is defined by Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii). The Firm audited Diversified Resources' October 31, 2014 and October 31, 2015 financial statements and issued unqualified audit reports that were filed with the Commission. The Firm member who served as the engagement quality reviewer on the FY15 Diversified Resources audit had served as the engagement partner on the FY14 Diversified Resources audit in violation of AS 7's two-year "cooling-off" period for former engagement partners.

D. The Firm Violated PCAOB Rules and Standards Related to Quality Control

9. PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons comply with the Board's quality control standards.[8] PCAOB quality control standards require that a registered public accounting firm establish policies and procedures to provide the firm with reasonable assurance that the work performed by engagement personnel meets applicable professional standards, regulatory requirements, and the firm's standards of quality.[9] Policies and procedures for engagement performance encompass all phases of the design and execution of the engagement.[10] To the extent appropriate and as required by applicable professional standards, these policies and procedures should cover planning, performing, supervising, reviewing, documenting, and communicating the results of each engagement.[11] These policies and procedures also should address engagement quality reviews pursuant to AS 7.[12]

---

[8] PCAOB Rule 3100; PCAOB Rule 3400T, Interim Quality Control Standards.

[9] QC § 20.17, System of Quality Control for a CPA Firm's Accounting and Auditing Practice.

[10] QC § 20.18.

[11] Id.

[12] Id.

10. Throughout the relevant time period, the Firm failed to implement and maintain a system of quality control that would provide it with reasonable assurance that the work performed by the engagement personnel would comply with applicable professional standards. Specifically, the Firm failed to establish and implement quality control policies and procedures to provide reasonable assurance that the Firm would comply with the "cooling-off" requirement of AS 7 ¶ 8.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondent's Offer. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), Frazier & Deeter, LLC is hereby censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of $15,000 is imposed upon Frazier & Deeter, LLC. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of this civil money penalty will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. Frazier & Deeter, LLC shall pay this civil money penalty within 10 days of the issuance of this Order by (a) wire transfer in accordance with instructions furnished by Board staff; or (b) United States Postal Service postal money order, certified check, bank cashier's check or bank money order; (c) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board; (d) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006; and (e) submitted under a cover letter which identifies Frazier & Deeter, LLC as a Respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB Release Number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to the Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006;

C. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(G) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(9), Frazier & Deeter, LLC is required:

1. within ninety (90) days from the date of this Order, to establish policies and procedures, or review and/or supplement existing policies and procedures, for the purpose of providing the Firm with reasonable assurance of compliance with the two-year "cooling-off" period set forth in paragraph 8 of AS 1220, Engagement Quality Review;

2. within ninety (90) days from the date of this Order, to establish a policy of ensuring training, whether internal or external, on an annual or more frequent basis, concerning AS 1220, of any Firm audit personnel who participate in any way in the planning or performing of any audit services (as defined in PCAOB Rule 1001(a)(vii)); and

3. to certify in writing to the Director of the Division of Enforcement and Investigations, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, the Firm's compliance with paragraphs C(1) and C(2) above. The certification shall identify the undertakings, provide written evidence of compliance in the form of a narrative, and be supported by exhibits sufficient to demonstrate compliance. The Firm shall submit such certification within one hundred twenty (120) days from the date of this Order. The Firm shall also submit such additional evidence of and information concerning compliance as the staff of the Division of Enforcement and Investigations may reasonably request.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

_____

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

July 12, 2018

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street NW
Washington, DC 20006
Office: (202) 207-9100
Fax: (202) 862-8430
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of East West Accounting Services, LLC and Frasat Farooq, CPA Respondents.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2018-015 July 12, 2018

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (the "Board" or "PCAOB") is censuring East West Accounting Services, LLC ("East West" or the "Firm"), a registered public accounting firm, and revoking the Firm's registration;[1] and censuring Frasat Farooq, CPA ("Farooq") and barring him from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm.[2] The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that the Firm and Farooq (collectively, "Respondents") violated PCAOB rules and standards in connection with an audit of an issuer client.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondents.

II.

In anticipation of institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondents have submitted an Offer of Settlement (the "Offers") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction

[1] The Firm may reapply for registration after two (2) years from the date of this Order.

[2] Farooq may file a petition for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm after two (2) years from the date of this Order.

over them and the subject matter of these proceedings, which are admitted, Respondents consent to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[3]

III.

On the basis of Respondents' Offers, the Board finds that:[4]

A. Respondents

1. East West Accounting Services, LLC, is, and at all relevant times was, a limited liability company organized under the laws of the State of Florida and headquartered in Princeton, Florida. East West is registered with the Board pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules. East West was licensed to practice public accountancy by the Florida Board of Accountancy (License No. AD69181). Its license expired on December 31, 2017. At all relevant times the Firm was the external auditor for Escue Energy, Inc. ("Escue").

2. Frasat Farooq, CPA, of Princeton, Florida, is a certified public accountant licensed by the Florida Board of Accountancy (License No. AC0022501) and the Georgia Board of Accountancy (License No. CPA033764). At all relevant times, Farooq was the sole proprietor of East West and served as engagement partner on the Escue audit discussed below. Farooq is an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

B. Summary

3. This matter concerns Respondents' violations of PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the issuance of an audit report on the financial statements of Escue. As detailed below, Respondents failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit

---

[3] The findings herein are made pursuant to Respondents' Offers and are not binding on any other persons or entities in this or any other proceeding.

[4] The Board finds that Respondents' conduct described in this Order meets the conditions set out in Section 105(c)(5) of the Act, 15 U.S.C. § 7215(c)(5), which provides that certain sanctions may be imposed in the event of (1) intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, that results in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard; or (2) repeated instances of negligent conduct, each resulting in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard.

evidence and exercise due care and professional skepticism in connection with the audit of the December 31, 2015 financial statements of Escue.

4. This matter also concerns the Firm's failure to comply with Auditing Standard No. 7, Engagement Quality Review ("AS 7").[5] In the Firm's audit of Escue's 2015 financial statements, the Firm failed to obtain an engagement quality review even though it was required under AS 7.

5. Additionally, Farooq took or omitted to take actions knowing, or recklessly not knowing, that his acts and omissions would directly and substantially contribute to the Firm's violations of PCAOB rules and standards concerning the requirement for engagement quality reviews.

C. Respondents Violated PCAOB Rules and Auditing Standards

6. In connection with the preparation or issuance of any audit report, PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons comply with the Board's auditing and related professional practice standards.[6] An auditor may express an unqualified opinion on an issuer's financial statements only when the auditor has formed such an opinion on the basis of an audit performed in accordance with PCAOB standards.[7] Those standards require, among other things, that an auditor plan and perform the audit to obtain appropriate audit evidence that is sufficient to provide a reasonable basis for the opinion expressed in the auditor's report.[8] PCAOB standards further require that an auditor exercise due professional care and professional skepticism in performing the audit.[9] PCAOB standards also require that an auditor evaluate

---

[5] All references to PCAOB rules and standards are to the versions of those rules and standards in effect at the time of the relevant audit. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its auditing standards using a topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Release No. 2015-002 (Mar. 31, 2015); see also PCAOB Auditing Standards, Reorganized and Pre-Reorganized Numbering (Jan. 2017).

[6] See PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards; PCAOB Rule 3200T, Interim Auditing Standards.

[7] See AU § 508.07, Reports on Audited Financial Statements.

[8] See Auditing Standard No. 15, Audit Evidence, ¶ 4.

[9] See AU § 150, Generally Accepted Auditing Standards and AU § 230, Due Professional Care in the Performance of Work.

whether the financial statements are presented fairly, in all material respects, in conformity with the applicable financial reporting framework.[10]

7. AS 7 requires that an engagement quality review be performed on audits, interim reviews, and certain attestation engagements conducted pursuant to PCAOB standards.[11] AS 7 also provides that a firm may grant permission to a client to use the engagement report only after an engagement quality reviewer provides concurring approval of issuance.[12]

8. PCAOB Rule 3502 prohibits an associated person of a registered public accounting firm from "tak[ing] or omit[ting] to take an action knowing, or recklessly not knowing, that the act or omission would directly and substantially contribute to a violation by that registered public accounting firm of the Act, the Rules of the Board, the provisions of the securities laws relating to the preparation and issuance of audit reports and the obligations and liabilities of accountants with respect thereto, including the rules of the Commission issued under the Act, or professional standards."[13]

9. As described below, Respondents failed to comply with PCAOB rules and standards in connection with East West's audit of Escue's 2015 financial statements.

Audit of Escue's 2015 Financial Statements

10. Escue is a Nevada corporation headquartered in Dallas, Texas. Escue's public filings disclose that, at all relevant times, Escue was a development stage company that intended to design, manufacture and then market vertical axis wind turbine technology. Escue filed its Form S-1 Registration Statement with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission ("Commission" or "SEC") on October 23, 2015, and subsequently filed a Form S-1/A on July 7, 2016.[14] This amended registration statement included an audit report containing an unqualified audit opinion on Escue's financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2015. The Form S-1/A filed on July 7, 2016, was Escue's fourth amended Registration Statement. Escue ultimately filed ten

---

[10] See Auditing Standard No. 14, Evaluating Audit Results ("AS 14"), ¶ 30.

[11] See AS 7 ¶ 1.

[12] See AS 7 ¶ 13.

[13] See PCAOB Rule 3502, Responsibility Not to Knowingly or Recklessly Contribute to Violations.

[14] Escue reported in its Registration Statement filed on October 23, 2015, that its common stock traded on the OTC Markets – Pink Sheets.

amended Registration Statements, prior to withdrawing its Registration Statement and all Amendments on October 30, 2017. At all relevant times, Escue was an issuer as that term is defined by Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

11. Farooq, as engagement partner, authorized the Firm's issuance of an audit report, dated July 2, 2016, expressing an unqualified audit opinion on Escue's financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2015. The audit report was included in the Form S-1/A filed with the Commission on July 7, 2016.

12. In Escue's 2015 financial statements, Escue disclosed as of and for the period ended December 31, 2015, consolidated total assets of $40,000,010 for certain acquired patent rights and a net loss of $461,000 in the fiscal year ended December 31, 2015.

13. In connection with the Escue 2015 Audit, Respondents failed to exercise due professional care and professional skepticism and failed to plan and perform the audit in accordance with PCAOB standards. Specifically, Respondents failed to establish an overall audit strategy for the engagement and to develop an audit plan.[15] Additionally, Respondents failed to perform any risk assessment procedures to identify and assess the risks of material misstatement.[16]

14. Escue's financial statements disclosed a transaction with a related party, Escue Wind S.L., to acquire certain patents for a turbine.[17] Escue paid Escue Wind S.L. $10 and distributed 40,000,000 shares of Escue's common stock in consideration for the patents. Escue reported the transaction on the financial statements as $6.28 million at "historical cost of the seller" and $33.72 million as an additional "price for the patent purchase over and above the historical cost of the seller." Other than obtaining management representations, Respondents failed to perform any procedures to evaluate whether Escue's accounting for the patent rights was in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles ("GAAP").[18]

---

[15] See Auditing Standard No. 9, Audit Planning, ¶¶ 6-10.

[16] See Auditing Standard No. 12, Identifying and Assessing Risks of Material Misstatement, ¶ 4.

[17] Escue Wind S.L had acquired the patent rights from Saeed Quraeshi, Escue's Chairman of the Board and Chief Technology Officer.

[18] See AS 14 ¶ 30; see also Auditing Standard No. 18*, Related Parties* ("AS 18"), ¶ 17. Escue's July 7, 2016 Form S-1/A filing disclosed that, at the time of Escue's acquisition of the patents, Escue Wind S.L.'s Chief Executive Officer held more than 50% of the voting ownership interest of Escue and Escue Wind S.L. Accordingly, the

15. On September 12, 2016, Escue filed another Form S-1/A disclosing the value of the acquired patents at $10.

16. In addition, although Escue disclosed that the patents were acquired from a related party, Respondents failed to perform procedures to obtain an understanding of Escue's relationships and transactions with its related parties that might reasonably be expected to affect the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, including obtaining an understanding of Escue's process and performing inquiries.[19]

17. The Firm also failed to obtain an engagement quality review for the audit even though it was required to be performed. The Firm improperly permitted the issuance of its engagement report without first obtaining an engagement quality review for the audit and concurring approval of issuance.[20] As a result, the Firm violated AS 7.

18. Farooq, the sole owner of the Firm, was the engagement partner for the audit conducted by the Firm and was responsible for that audit. Accordingly, he had overall responsibility for ensuring that the Firm complied with PCAOB rules and standards. Farooq knew, or was reckless in not knowing, that his acts and omissions would directly and substantially contribute to the Firm's violations of AS 7. As a result, Farooq violated PCAOB Rule 3502.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit

---

acquisition of the patents may have qualified as a transaction between entities under common control. When accounting for a transfer of assets between entities under common control, the receiving entity recognizes the assets transferred at their carrying amounts in the financial statements of the transferring entity on the date of the transfer. See Accounting Standards Codification 805-50-30-5, Business Combinations: Transactions Between Entities Under Common Control. In addition, transfers of nonmonetary assets to a company by its shareholders prior to or at the time of the company's initial public offering normally should be recorded at the transferor's historical cost basis determined under GAAP. See Standard Accounting Bulletin Topic 5: Miscellaneous Accounting, G. Transfers of Nonmonetary Assets by Promoters or Shareholders (SAB Topic 5.G).

[19] See AS 18 ¶ 3.

[20] See AS 7 ¶ 13.

reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondents' Offers. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), East West Accounting Services, LLC, and Frasat Farooq are hereby censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(B) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(2), Frasat Farooq is barred from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm, as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i);[21]

C. After two (2) years from the date of this Order, Frasat Farooq may file a petition, pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5302(b), for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm;

D. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(A) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(1), the registration of East West Accounting Services, LLC, is revoked; and

E. After two (2) years from the date of the Order, East West Accounting Services, LLC, may reapply for registration by filing an application pursuant to PCAOB Rule 2101.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

_____

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

July 12, 2018

---

[21] As a consequence of the bar, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act will apply with respect to Farooq. Section 105(c)(7)(B) provides: "It shall be unlawful for any person that is suspended or barred from being associated with a registered public accounting firm under this subsection willfully to become or remain associated with any issuer, broker, or dealer in an accountancy or a financial management capacity, and for any issuer, broker, or dealer that knew, or in the exercise of reasonable care should have known, of such suspension or bar, to permit such an association, without the consent of the Board or the Commission."

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street NW
Washington, DC 20006
Office: (202) 207-9100
Fax: (202) 862-8430
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of David S. Friedkin, CPA, and David Scott Friedkin, CPA, Respondents.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2018-014 July 12, 2018

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (the "Board" or "PCAOB") is (1) censuring David S. Friedkin, CPA ("DSF" or the "Firm") and revoking the Firm's registration;[1] and (2) censuring David Scott Friedkin, CPA ("Friedkin") and barring him from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm.[2] The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that the Firm and Friedkin (collectively, "Respondents") violated PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the audit of the December 31, 2016 financial statements of Mansfield-Martin Exploration Mining, Inc. ("MMEM").

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondents.

II.

In anticipation of institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondents have each submitted an Offer of Settlement (the "Offers") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over Respondents and the subject matter of these proceedings, which are

[1] The Firm may reapply for registration after two (2) years from the date of this Order.

[2] Friedkin may file a petition for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm after two (2) years from the date of this Order.

admitted, Respondents consent to the entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[3]

III.

On the basis of Respondents' Offers, the Board finds that:[4]

A. Respondents

1. David S. Friedkin, CPA, is, and at all relevant times was, a sole proprietorship located in River Vale, New Jersey. The Firm is registered with the PCAOB, pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules. The Firm served as the external auditor of MMEM's 2016 financial statements.

2. David Scott Friedkin, CPA, age 52, of River Vale, New Jersey, is a certified public accountant licensed by the New Jersey State Board of Accountancy (License No. 20CC01880600). At all relevant times, Friedkin was the Firm's sole proprietor and served as the engagement partner for the Firm's audit of MMEM's 2016 financial statements. Friedkin is an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

B. Summary

3. This matter concerns Respondents' violations of PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the Firm's audit of MMEM's 2016 financial statements.[5] As detailed below, Respondents failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence and exercise due professional care and professional skepticism in connection with the audit.

4. In particular, Respondents failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence concerning the most significant transactions in 2016—a legal settlement with

---

[3] The findings herein are made pursuant to Respondents' Offers and are not binding on any other persons or entities in this or any other proceeding.

[4] The Board finds that Respondents' conduct described in this Order meets the conditions set out in Section 105(c)(5) of the Act, 15 U.S.C. § 7215(c)(5), which provides that certain sanctions may be imposed in the event of (1) intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, that results in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard; or (2) repeated instances of negligent conduct, each resulting in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard.

[5] All references to PCAOB rules and standards are to the versions of those rules and standards in effect at the time of the relevant conduct.

related parties and certain related-party convertible debt transactions arising out of that settlement. Those transactions resulted in a windfall to the majority shareholder and diluted the interests of the minority shareholders. Yet Respondents failed to obtain and review the underlying documents, and failed to obtain other sufficient appropriate evidence to evaluate whether the transactions with related parties had been appropriately accounted for and accurately disclosed in the financial statements.

5. The Firm also failed to comply with AS 1220, Engagement Quality Review, by failing to obtain an engagement quality review with respect to the audit even though it was required. Additionally, Friedkin violated PCAOB Rule 3502, Responsibility Not to Knowingly or Recklessly Contribute to Violations, because he took or omitted to take actions knowing, or recklessly not knowing, that his acts and omissions would directly and substantially contribute to the Firm's violation of AS 1220.

C. Respondents Violated PCAOB Rules and Standards

6. In connection with the preparation or issuance of an audit report, PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons comply with the Board's auditing and related professional practice standards.[6] An auditor may express an unqualified opinion on an issuer's financial statements only when the auditor has formed such an opinion on the basis of an audit performed in accordance with PCAOB standards.[7] Among other things, those standards require that an auditor exercise due professional care and professional skepticism in planning and performing the audit.[8]

7. The auditor must plan and perform audit procedures to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to provide a reasonable basis for his or her opinion.[9] To be appropriate, audit evidence must be both relevant and reliable in providing support for the conclusions on which the auditor's opinion is based.[10] "If the auditor has not obtained sufficient appropriate audit evidence about a relevant assertion or has substantial doubt about a relevant assertion, the auditor should perform procedures to

---

[6] See PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards ("PCAOB Rule 3100"); PCAOB Rule 3200, Auditing Standards ("PCAOB Rule 3200").

[7] See AS 3101, Reports on Audited Financial Statements, ¶ 7.

[8] See AS 1015, Due Professional Care in the Performance of Work.

[9] See AS 1105, Audit Evidence, ¶ 4.

[10] See AS 1105 ¶ 6.

obtain further audit evidence to address the matter." [11] Representations from management are part of the evidential matter the independent auditor obtains, but they are not a substitute for the application of those auditing procedures necessary to afford a reasonable basis for an opinion regarding the financial statements under audit.[12]

8. PCAOB standards require that the audit report state whether the financial statements are presented in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles.[13] "The auditor must evaluate whether the financial statements are presented fairly, in all material respects, in conformity with the applicable financial reporting framework."[14] "As part of the evaluation of the presentation of the financial statements, the auditor should evaluate whether the financial statements contain the information essential for a fair presentation of the financial statements in conformity with the applicable financial reporting framework."[15]

9. In particular, the auditor must evaluate whether related party transactions have been properly accounted for and disclosed in the financial statements.[16] For each related party transaction that is either required to be disclosed in the financial statements or determined to be a significant risk, the auditor should, among other things:

a. Read the underlying documentation and evaluate whether the terms and other information about the transaction are consistent with explanations from inquiries and other audit evidence about the business purpose (or the lack thereof) of the transaction;

b. Determine whether the transaction has been authorized and approved in accordance with the company's established policies and procedures

---

[11] AS 2810, Evaluating Audit Results, ¶ 35.

[12] See AS 2805, Management Representations, ¶ 2.

[13] See AS 3101.

[14] AS 2810, ¶ 30.

[15] AS 2810 ¶ 31.

[16] See AS 2410, Related Parties, ¶ 17; see also AS 2410 ¶ 11 ("The auditor must design and implement audit responses that address the identified and assessed risks of material misstatement. This includes designing and performing audit procedures in a manner that addresses the risks of material misstatement associated with related parties and relationships and transactions with related parties." (footnotes omitted)).

regarding the authorization and approval of transactions with related parties; and

c. Determine whether any exceptions to the company's established policies or procedures were granted.[17]

10. PCAOB Rule 3502 also prohibits an associated person of a registered public accounting firm from taking or omitting to take an action knowing, or recklessly not knowing, that the act or omission would directly and substantially contribute to the firm's violation of PCAOB rules or professional standards.

11. As described below, Respondents failed to comply with PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the Firm's audit of MMEM's 2016 financial statements.

Audit of MMEM's 2016 Financial Statements

12. Mansfield-Martin Exploration Mining, Inc. was, at all relevant times, a Nevada corporation with its principal executive office in Tombstone, Arizona. MMEM's public filings disclosed that, from approximately June 2014 through March 2016, it had been developing a business to engage in the retail sale of medical and personal use marijuana. Its public filings further disclosed that it ceased its marijuana-related activities in March 2016, settled certain legal claims relating to that business in June 2016, and then entered into an agreement in November 2016 to issue shares of its common stock in exchange for certain rights and interests in mining properties. At all relevant times, MMEM's common stock was traded on the OTCQB Bulletin Board. At all relevant times, MMEM was an issuer as that term is defined by Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

13. Friedkin, as engagement partner, authorized the Firm's issuance of an audit report dated April 12, 2017, expressing an unqualified audit opinion on MMEM's financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2016. The audit report was included with MMEM's Form 10-K filed with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission ("Commission") on April 17, 2017.

Respondents Failed to Adequately Perform Engagement Acceptance and Risk Assessment Procedures

14. PCAOB standards provide that an auditor should not accept an engagement until certain communications with the predecessor auditor have been evaluated.[18] The successor auditor should make specific and reasonable inquiries of

---

[17] See AS 2410 ¶ 12.

[18] See AS 2610, Initial Audits—Communications Between Predecessor and Successor Auditors, ¶¶ 3, 7-10.

the predecessor auditor regarding matters that will assist the successor auditor in determining whether to accept the engagement, such as information that might bear on the integrity of management, disagreements with management, the predecessor auditor's understanding as to the reasons for the change of auditors, and the predecessor auditor's understanding of the nature of the company's relationships and transactions with related parties and significant unusual transactions.[19]

15. Contrary to the foregoing PCAOB standards, Respondents did not make inquiries to the predecessor auditor until after they had completed all fieldwork for the audit, and they failed to receive and evaluate the responses to their inquiries before issuing the audit report. Despite accepting the audit engagement in February 2017, Respondents waited until Friday, April 14, 2017, to send their inquiries to the predecessor auditor. On the next business day, Monday, April 17, 2017, Friedkin, in violation of PCAOB standards, authorized the issuance of DSF's audit report on MMEM's 2016 financial statements, without having received any response from the predecessor auditor.

16. To properly plan the audit, the auditor should also perform risk assessment procedures that are sufficient to provide a reasonable basis for identifying and assessing the risks of material misstatement, whether due to error or fraud, and designing further audit procedures.[20] When performing risk assessment procedures, the auditor should identify and assess the risks of material misstatement at the financial statement level and the assertion level.[21]

17. Respondents failed to adequately plan the MMEM audit because they failed to perform a risk assessment that complied with PCAOB standards. Specifically, Respondents did not identify and assess the risks of material misstatement at the assertion level, as required by PCAOB auditing standards.[22] Instead, Respondents documented one generalized assessment that the risk of material misstatement and fraud in the audit was limited.

Respondents Failed to Obtain Sufficient Appropriate Audit Evidence

18. As set forth below, during the MMEM audit, Respondents failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence concerning significant accounts and transactions.

---

[19] See AS 2610 ¶ 09.

[20] See AS 2110, Identifying and Assessing Risks of Material Misstatement, ¶ 4.

[21] See AS 2110 ¶ 59.

[22] See id.

As a result, Respondents failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to support their opinion that MMEM's 2016 financial statements were, in all material respects, presented in conformity with U.S. Generally Accepted Accounting Principles ("U.S. GAAP").

19. MMEM's 2016 financial statements disclosed that, during 2016, MMEM had: (1) terminated a contract through which one of its subsidiaries had provided services to marijuana dispensaries owned by a company controlled by MMEM's principal shareholder, and (2) entered into a legal settlement with the principal shareholder and his company over fees and other reimbursements that MMEM believed were owed to it for the services provided to the dispensaries. The disclosures indicated that, as part of the settlement, MMEM had relinquished claims to approximately $80,000 in accrued fees and its interests in the dispensaries and one of MMEM's subsidiaries, and had also assigned a trademark to the principal shareholder. The disclosures also indicated that MMEM's remaining claims for approximately $343,000 against the related parties had been satisfied in the form of a reduction in MMEM's debt to the principal shareholder.

20. However, as part of the settlement, the existing note payable to the principal shareholder was reportedly replaced by a new convertible note payable to the principal shareholder (the "New Note"), which could permit the principal shareholder to substantially dilute the ownership of MMEM's other shareholders. The principal and accrued interest for the New Note as of year-end 2016 totaled more than $881,000 and comprised over 92% of MMEM's reported liabilities. MMEM disclosed in its Form 10-K for 2016 that, in November 2016, the principal shareholder exercised the conversion feature of the New Note to convert $150 of debt into 1.5 million common shares with a fair value of $217,350. MMEM also disclosed in its Form 10-K that the further exercise of the conversion feature could cause up to 881 million additional shares to be issued to the principal shareholder.

21. The settlement transactions were significant transactions that occurred in 2016 and provided substantial benefits to a related party. Nevertheless, other than obtaining management representations, Respondents failed to perform any procedures to evaluate whether the settlements had, in fact, occurred and were recorded in the proper period. Specifically, Respondents failed to obtain and review the underlying documentation and to evaluate whether the terms and other information about the settlement transactions were consistent with the explanations Respondents received from management.[23] Respondents also failed to determine whether the transactions had been authorized and approved in accordance with the company's established policies and procedures regarding the authorization and approval of transactions with related parties, or whether any exceptions to those policies or procedures had been granted.[24]

[23] See AS 2410 ¶ 12(a).

22. Respondents likewise failed to perform procedures to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence concerning the New Note.[25] Respondents failed to obtain an executed copy of the New Note. Although management provided Respondents with a document that Respondents believed was the New Note, that document was unexecuted and had both a different date and different face amount than the New Note. Respondents failed to perform any audit procedures to resolve those inconsistencies.[26] As a result, Respondents failed to obtain reliable evidence regarding the New Note, and failed to perform any procedures to evaluate whether the terms and other information about the transaction were consistent with explanations from their inquiries to management.[27]

23. With respect to the New Note, Respondents also failed to evaluate whether the financial statements were presented fairly, in all material respects, in conformity with U.S. GAAP.[28] Respondents failed to perform procedures to evaluate whether the New Note's conversion feature met the definition of a beneficial conversion feature that needed to be separately recognized.[29]

24. As a result, Respondents failed to perform audit procedures to obtain sufficient appropriate evidence with respect to these transactions, and to evaluate whether these transactions with related parties were properly accounted for and disclosed in the financial statements.[30]

---

[24] See AS 2410 ¶¶ 12(b)-(c).

[25] See AS 1105 ¶ 4.

[26] See AS 1105 ¶ 29.

[27] See AS 1105 ¶ 6; AS 2410 ¶ 12(a).

[28] See AS 2810 ¶ 30.

[29] See Financial Accounting Standards Board Accounting Standards Codification Topic 470-20-25-5, Debt ("An embedded beneficial conversion feature present in a convertible instrument shall be recognized separately at issuance by allocating a portion of the proceeds equal to the intrinsic value of that feature to additional paid-in capital.").

[30] See AS 1105; AS 2410 ¶¶ 2, 17.

Respondents Failed to Obtain Written Management Representations

25. PCAOB standards require that an auditor receive certain written representations from management in connection with an audit of financial statements.[31] Although Respondents requested written representations during the audit, they failed to actually obtain them.[32]

Respondents Failed to Obtain an Engagement Quality Review

26. PCAOB standards provide that an engagement quality review be performed on audits, interim reviews, and certain attestation engagements conducted pursuant to PCAOB standards.[33] "In an audit, the firm may grant permission to the client to use the engagement report only after the engagement quality reviewer provides concurring approval of issuance."[34]

27. The Firm improperly permitted issuance of its audit report without first obtaining an engagement quality review and concurring approval of issuance. As a result, the Firm violated AS 1220.

28. Friedkin knew, or was reckless in not knowing, that he was directly and substantially contributing to the Firm's violations of AS 1220 when he caused the Firm to grant permission to MMEM to use the audit report. As a result, Friedkin violated PCAOB Rule 3502.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondents' Offers. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), David S. Friedkin, CPA, and David Scott Friedkin, CPA, are hereby censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(B) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(2), David Scott Friedkin, CPA, is barred from being an associated person of a

---

[31] See AS 2805 ¶¶ 1, 5-6.

[32] See id.

[33] See AS 1220 ¶ 1.

[34] AS 1220 ¶ 13.

registered public accounting firm, as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i);[35]

C. After two (2) years from the date of this Order, David Scott Friedkin, CPA, may file a petition, pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5302(b), for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm;

D. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(A) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(1), the registration of David S. Friedkin, CPA, is revoked; and

E. After two (2) years from the date of the Order, David S. Friedkin, CPA, may reapply for registration by filing an application pursuant to PCAOB Rule 2101.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

July 12, 2018

[35] As a consequence of the bar, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act will apply with respect to David Scott Friedkin, CPA. Section 105(c)(7)(B) provides: "It shall be unlawful for any person that is suspended or barred from being associated with a registered public accounting firm under this subsection willfully to become or remain associated with any issuer, broker, or dealer in an accountancy or a financial management capacity, and for any issuer, broker, or dealer that knew, or in the exercise of reasonable care should have known, of such suspension or bar, to permit such an association, without the consent of the Board or the Commission."

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street NW
Washington, DC 20006
Office: (202) 207-9100
Fax: (202) 862-8430
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of Leigh J Kremer CPA and Leigh J. Kremer, CPA, Respondents.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2018-016 July 24, 2018

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("Board" or "PCAOB") is: (1) censuring Leigh J Kremer CPA ("Firm"), a registered public accounting firm, revoking the Firm's registration,[1] and imposing a civil money penalty in the amount of $10,000 on the Firm; and (2) censuring Leigh J. Kremer, CPA ("Kremer") and barring him from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm.[2]

The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that the Firm and Kremer (collectively, "Respondents") (1) violated the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended ("Act"), and PCAOB rules by permitting an individual who was subject to a Board-ordered bar to become an "associated person" of the Firm during the pendency of the bar, and (2) violated PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the Firm's audit and review of an exemption report for one broker-dealer audit client.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondents.

II.

In anticipation of institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondents each submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offers") that the

[1] The Firm may reapply for registration after three (3) years from the date of this Order.

[2] Kremer may file a petition for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm after three (3) years from the date of this Order.

Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over Respondents and the subject matter of these proceedings, which are admitted, Respondents consent to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[3]

III.

On the basis of Respondents' Offers, the Board finds that:[4]

A. Respondents

1. Leigh J Kremer CPA is a sole proprietorship organized under the laws of the state of New Jersey with a headquarters in Monmouth Beach, New Jersey. On November 4, 2014, the Firm registered with the Board pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules. The Firm is licensed to practice public accounting by the New Jersey State Board of Accountancy (License No. 20CB00717000).

2. Leigh J. Kremer, CPA, age 56, of Red Bank, New Jersey, is a certified public accountant licensed by the New Jersey State Board of Accountancy (License No. 20CC01637900). Kremer is, and at all relevant times was, the sole partner of the Firm. He is, and at all relevant times was, an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

B. Other Relevant Individual

3. Brian D. Donahue, CPA ("Donahue"), age 61, of Highlands, New Jersey, is a certified public accountant licensed by the New Jersey State Board of Accountancy (License No. 20CC01355000). On June 14, 2016, the Board issued an Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions, In the Matter of Donahue Associates LLC and Brian D. Donahue, CPA, PCAOB Release No. 105-2016-020 ("2016 Bar Order").

---

[3] The findings herein are made pursuant to Respondents' Offers and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

[4] The Board finds that Respondents' conduct described in this Order meets the condition set out in Section 105(c)(5)(A) of the Act, which provides that certain sanctions may be imposed in the event of intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, that results in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard.

C. Summary

4. This matter concerns the Firm's violations of the Act and PCAOB rules by permitting Donahue to become an "associated person" of the Firm during the pendency of a Board order barring Donahue from associating with a registered public accounting firm.[5] In exchange for Donahue's referral to the Firm of two issuer and ten broker-dealer audit clients, the Firm paid Donahue a percentage of the audit fees that it collected from those clients after the issuance of the 2016 Bar Order. Section 2(a)(9)(A) of the Act, Definitions: Person Associated with a Public Accounting Firm, and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i), Definitions of Terms Employed in Rules: Person Associated with a Public Accounting Firm, each define an associated person of a registered public accounting firm to include anyone who, "in connection with the preparation or issuance of any audit report . . . shares in the profits of, or receives compensation in any other form from, that firm." Thus, the Firm's payment to Donahue of a portion of its issuer and broker-dealer audit fees resulted in Donahue becoming an associated person of the Firm, in violation of Section 105(c)(7)(A) of the Act, Effect of Suspension: Association with a Public Accounting Firm, and PCAOB Rule 5301(b), Effect of Sanctions: Effect on Registered Public Accounting Firms.

5. Additionally, the Firm failed to comply with AS 1220, Engagement Quality Review (formerly, Auditing Standard No. 7), by failing to obtain an engagement quality review and concurring approval of issuance in connection with the Firm's audit and review of an exemption report for one broker-dealer client.[6]

6. With respect to Donahue's association with the Firm during the pendency of his bar and the failure to obtain an engagement quality review, Kremer took or omitted to take actions knowing, or recklessly not knowing, that his acts and omissions would directly and substantially contribute to the Firm's violations of Section 105(c)(7)(A) of the Act, PCAOB Rule 5301(b), and AS 1220, in violation of PCAOB Rule 3502, Responsibility Not to Knowingly or Recklessly Contribute to Violations.

---

[5] Neither the Board nor the Securities and Exchange Commission ("Commission") consented to Donahue's association, as would have been required for the association to comply with the Act and the Board's rules.

[6] All references to PCAOB rules and standards are to the versions of those rules and standards in effect at the time of the relevant conduct. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its auditing standards using a topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Release No. 2015-002 (Mar. 31, 2015); see also PCAOB Auditing Standards Reorganized and Pre-Reorganized Numbering (Jan. 2017).

D. Respondents Violated the Act and PCAOB Rules and Standards

The Firm Allowed Donahue to Become an Associated Person

7. On June 14, 2016, the Board issued the 2016 Bar Order, with Donahue's consent. The 2016 Bar Order resulted from the Board's findings that Donahue and his accounting firm, Donahue Associates LLC, violated PCAOB rules and standards in connection with audits of three issuer clients and violated Section 10A(b)(2) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 ("Exchange Act") in connection with the audit of one issuer client. Among other things, the 2016 Bar Order barred Donahue from being an "associated person of a registered public accounting firm," as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i), with a right to petition for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm after one year.

8. Section 105(c)(7)(A) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5301(b) prohibit a registered public accounting firm that knows, or in the exercise of reasonable care should know, of a suspension or bar from permitting the suspended or barred individual to associate with the firm without Board or Commission consent. Section 2(a)(9)(A) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i) define an associated person of a registered public accounting firm to include anyone who, "in connection with the preparation or issuance of any audit report . . . shares in the profits of, or receives compensation in any other form from, that firm." Accordingly, the note to Rule 5301(b) specifies that a registered public accounting firm may not permit a suspended or barred individual, "in connection with the preparation or issuance of any audit report, to . . . share in the profits of, or receive compensation in any other form from, such firm."

9. Respondents and Donahue recognized that the 2016 Bar Order would preclude Donahue from participating in issuer or broker-dealer audits, and they decided to negotiate a "buy-out" by the Firm of Donahue's issuer and broker-dealer audit clients. Respondents and Donahue ultimately agreed that Donahue would refer to the Firm two of his issuer audit clients and ten of his broker-dealer audit clients in exchange for receiving a series of payments made pursuant to a formula based on a percentage of the audit fees that the Firm collected from those clients. With respect to the issuer audit clients, the Firm agreed to pay Donahue 70% of the audit fees it collected for auditing the issuers' 2016 financial statements and 50% of the audit fees it collected for auditing their 2017 financial statements. With respect to the broker-dealer audit clients, the Firm agreed to pay Donahue 75% of the audit fees it collected for auditing the broker-dealers' 2016 financial statements. Between September 7, 2016 and October 6, 2017, Kremer, on behalf of the Firm, made a series of payments to Donahue in accordance with this agreement.

10. In paying Donahue a percentage of its issuer and broker-dealer audit fees, the Firm allowed Donahue to become an associated person of the Firm despite the bar that the Board had imposed against him. Specifically, Donahue's receipt of those payments constituted "shar[ing] in the profits of, or receiv[ing] compensation in any other form from" a registered public accounting firm "in connection with the preparation or issuance of any audit report." As a result, this conduct violated Section 105(c)(7)(A) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5301(b).

The Firm Failed to Obtain an Engagement Quality Review

11. Wolf A. Popper, Inc. ("Wolf Popper") was, at all relevant times, a New York corporation with a principal place of business in New York, New York. Wolf Popper's public filings disclose that, during 2016, it was engaged in the business of introducing transactions of its clients on a fully disclosed basis to a clearing member/broker-dealer. At all relevant times, Wolf Popper was a "broker" and "dealer," as defined in Sections 110(3) and (4) of the Act and PCAOB Rules 1001(b)(iii) and (d)(iii).

12. AS 1220.01 requires an engagement quality review and concurring approval of issuance in connection with an audit conducted pursuant to PCAOB standards. This requirement also applies to the review of statements made by a broker-dealer in an exemption report prepared pursuant to Exchange Act Rule 17a-5.[7] A firm may not grant its client permission to use its engagement report until after an engagement quality reviewer provides concurring approval of issuance.[8]

13. The Firm audited Wolf Popper's June 30, 2016 financial statements and reviewed the statements made by Wolf Popper in its exemption report for fiscal year 2016. Prior to the issuance of the 2016 Bar Order, the Firm arranged for Donahue to act as the engagement quality reviewer for the audit and review. Because the Board issued the 2016 Bar Order before the Firm completed its audit and review of Wolf Popper, Donahue did not perform an engagement quality review. Nor did the Firm arrange for anyone else to perform an engagement quality review. Instead, the Firm issued its audit report and exemption review report for Wolf Popper, both of which were filed with the Commission, without obtaining an engagement quality review and concurring approval of issuance. As a result, the Firm violated AS 1220.

Kremer Contributed to the Firm's Violations

14. PCAOB Rule 3502 prohibits an associated person of a registered public accounting firm from taking or omitting to take an action knowing, or recklessly not knowing, that the act or omission would directly and substantially contribute to a violation by the firm of the Act, the rules of the Board, the provisions of the securities laws relating to the preparation and issuance of audit reports and the obligations and liabilities of accountants with respect thereto, including the rules of the Commission issued under the Act or professional standards.

---

[7] AS 1220.01.

[8] AS 1220.13; AS 1220.18C.

15. Kremer, the sole partner of the Firm, had overall responsibility for ensuring that the Firm complied with PCAOB rules and standards. Kremer knew, or was reckless in not knowing, that he was directly and substantially contributing to the Firm's violations of Section 105(c)(7)(A) of the Act, PCAOB Rule 5301(b), and AS 1220. As a result, Kremer violated Rule 3502.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondents' Offers. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), Leigh J Kremer CPA and Leigh J. Kremer, CPA are hereby censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(A) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(1), the registration of Leigh J Kremer CPA is revoked;

C. After three (3) years from the date of this Order, Leigh J Kremer CPA may reapply for registration by filing an application pursuant to PCAOB Rule 2101;

D. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of $10,000 is imposed upon Leigh J Kremer CPA. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of this civil money penalty will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. Leigh J Kremer CPA shall pay this civil money penalty within ten (10) days of the issuance of this Order by (1) wire transfer in accordance with instructions furnished by Board staff; or (2) United States Postal Service money order, bank money order, certified check, or bank cashier's check (a) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, (b) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, and (c) submitted under a cover letter, which identifies the Firm as a respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB release number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe W. Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006.

E. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(B) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(2), Leigh J. Kremer, CPA is barred from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm, as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i);[9] and

F. After three (3) years from the date of this Order, Leigh J. Kremer, CPA may file a petition, pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5302(b), for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

_____

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

July 24, 2018

[9] As a consequence of the bar, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act will apply with respect to Kremer. Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act provides that "[i]t shall be unlawful for any person that is suspended or barred from being associated with a registered public accounting firm under this subsection willfully to become or remain associated with any issuer, broker, or dealer in an accountancy or a financial management capacity, and for any issuer, broker, or dealer that knew, or in the exercise of reasonable care should have known, of such suspension or bar, to permit such an association, without the consent of the Board or the Commission."

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street NW
Washington, DC 20006
Office: (202) 207-9100
Fax: (202) 862-8430
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of Brian D. Donahue, CPA, Respondent.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2018-017 July 24, 2018

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("Board" or "PCAOB") is: (1) censuring Brian D. Donahue, CPA ("Donahue" or "Respondent"); (2) barring Donahue from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm;[1] and (3) imposing a civil money penalty in the amount of $15,000 on Donahue.

The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that Donahue violated the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended ("Act"), and PCAOB rules by becoming an "associated person" of a registered public accounting firm while he was subject to a Board-ordered bar.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondent.

II.

In anticipation of institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondent submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offer") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over Respondent and the subject matter of these proceedings, which are admitted,

[1] Donahue may file a petition for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm after five (5) years from the date of this Order.

Respondent consents to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[2]

III.

On the basis of Respondent's Offer, the Board finds that:[3]

A. Respondent

1. Brian D. Donahue, CPA, age 61, of Highlands, New Jersey, is a certified public accountant licensed by the New Jersey State Board of Accountancy (License No. 20CC01355000). On June 14, 2016, the Board issued an Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions, In the Matter of Donahue Associates LLC and Brian D. Donahue, CPA, PCAOB Release No. 105-2016-020 ("2016 Bar Order"). At all relevant times, Donahue was an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

B. Relevant Firm

2. Leigh J Kremer CPA ("Firm") is a sole proprietorship organized under the laws of the state of New Jersey with a headquarters in Monmouth Beach, New Jersey. On November 4, 2014, the Firm registered with the Board pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules. The Firm is licensed to practice public accounting by the New Jersey State Board of Accountancy (License No. 20CB00717000).

C. Summary

3. This matter concerns Donahue's violations of the Act and PCAOB rules by becoming an "associated person" of the Firm during the pendency of a Board order barring Donahue from associating with a registered public accounting firm.[4] In exchange for Donahue's referral to the Firm of two issuer and ten broker-dealer audit clients, the

---

[2] The findings herein are made pursuant to Respondent's Offer and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

[3] The Board finds that Respondent's conduct described in this Order meets the condition set out in Section 105(c)(5)(A) of the Act, which provides that certain sanctions may be imposed in the event of intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, that results in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard.

[4] Neither the Board nor the Securities and Exchange Commission ("Commission") consented to Donahue's association, as would have been required for the association to comply with the Act and the Board's rules.

Firm paid Donahue a percentage of the audit fees that it collected from those clients after the issuance of the 2016 Bar Order. Section 2(a)(9)(A) of the Act, Definitions: Person Associated with a Public Accounting Firm, and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i), Definitions of Terms Employed in Rules: Person Associated with a Public Accounting Firm, each define an associated person of a registered public accounting firm to include anyone who, "in connection with the preparation or issuance of any audit report . . . shares in the profits of, or receives compensation in any other form from, that firm." Thus, Donahue's receipt of a portion of the Firm's issuer and broker-dealer audit fees resulted in Donahue becoming an associated person of the Firm, in violation of Section 105(c)(7)(A) of the Act, Effect of Suspension: Association with a Public Accounting Firm, PCAOB Rule 5000, General, and PCAOB Rule 5301(a), Effect of Sanctions: Effect on Persons.[5]

D. Respondent Violated the Act and PCAOB Rules

4. On June 14, 2016, the Board issued the 2016 Bar Order, with Donahue's consent. The 2016 Bar Order resulted from the Board's findings that Donahue and his accounting firm, Donahue Associates LLC, violated PCAOB rules and standards in connection with audits of three issuer clients and violated Section 10A(b)(2) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 in connection with the audit of one issuer client. Among other things, the 2016 Bar Order barred Donahue from being an "associated person of a registered public accounting firm," as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i), with a right to petition for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm after one year.

5. Section 105(c)(7)(A) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5301(a) prohibit a suspended or barred individual from willfully becoming or remaining associated with a registered public accounting firm without Board or Commission consent. Section 2(a)(9)(A) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i) define an associated person of a registered public accounting firm to include anyone who, "in connection with the preparation or issuance of any audit report . . . shares in the profits of, or receives compensation in any other form from, that firm." Accordingly, the note to Rule 5301(a) specifies that a suspended or barred individual "may not, in connection with the preparation or issuance of any audit report . . . share in the profits of, or receive compensation in any other form from, any registered public accounting firm." Furthermore, PCAOB Rule 5000 requires registered firms and their associated persons to "comply with all Board orders to which the firm or person is subject."

6. Donahue and the Firm recognized that the 2016 Bar Order would preclude Donahue from participating in issuer or broker-dealer audits, and they decided to negotiate a "buy-out" by the Firm of Donahue's issuer and broker-dealer audit clients. Donahue and the Firm ultimately agreed that Donahue would refer to the Firm two of his issuer audit clients and ten of his broker-dealer audit clients in exchange for receiving a series of payments made pursuant to a formula based on a percentage of the audit fees that the Firm collected from those clients. With respect to the issuer audit clients, the Firm agreed to pay Donahue 70% of the audit fees it collected for auditing the issuers' 2016 financial statements and 50% of the audit fees it collected for auditing their 2017 financial statements. With respect to the broker-dealer audit clients, the Firm agreed to pay Donahue 75% of the audit fees it collected for auditing the broker-dealers' 2016 financial statements. Between September 7, 2016 and October 6, 2017, the Firm made a series of payments to Donahue in accordance with this agreement.

[5] All references to PCAOB rules and standards are to the versions of those rules and standards in effect at the time of the relevant conduct.

7. In receiving payments from the Firm based on a percentage of the Firm's issuer and broker-dealer audit fees, Donahue became an associated person of the Firm despite the bar that the Board had imposed against him. Specifically, Donahue's receipt of those payments constituted "shar[ing] in the profits of, or receiv[ing] compensation in any other form from" a registered public accounting firm "in connection with the preparation or issuance of any audit report." As a result, this conduct violated Section 105(c)(7)(A) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5301(a). Furthermore, Donahue, by willfully becoming an associated person of the Firm in contravention of the bar set forth in the 2016 Bar Order, violated PCAOB Rule 5000.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondent's Offer. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), Brian D. Donahue, CPA is hereby censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(B) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(2), Brian D. Donahue, CPA is barred from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm, as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i);[6]

[6] As a consequence of the bar, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act will apply with respect to Donahue. Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act provides that "[i]t shall be unlawful for any person that is suspended or barred from being associated with a registered public accounting firm under this subsection willfully to become or remain associated with any issuer, broker, or dealer in an accountancy or a financial management capacity, and for any issuer, broker, or dealer that knew, or in the exercise of reasonable care should have known, of such suspension or bar, to permit such an association, without the consent of the Board or the Commission."

C. After five (5) years from the date of this Order, Brian D. Donahue, CPA may file a petition, pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5302(b), for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm; and

D. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of $15,000 is imposed upon Brian D. Donahue, CPA. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of this civil money penalty will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. Donahue shall pay this civil money penalty within ten (10) days of the issuance of this Order by (1) wire transfer in accordance with instructions furnished by Board staff; or (2) United States Postal Service money order, bank money order, certified check, or bank cashier's check (a) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, (b) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, and (c) submitted under a cover letter, which identifies Donahue as a respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB release number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe W. Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

_____

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

July 24, 2018

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street NW
Washington, DC 20006
Office: (202) 207-9100
Fax: (202) 862-8430
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of Breard & Associates, Inc. Certified Public Accountants and Kevin G. Breard, CPA, Respondents.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2018-018 August 9, 2018

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (the "Board" or "PCAOB") is censuring Breard & Associates, Inc. Certified Public Accountants ("Firm"), a registered public accounting firm, revoking the Firm's registration,[1] and imposing a civil money penalty in the amount of $75,000 upon the Firm; and censuring Kevin G. Breard, CPA ("Breard") and barring him from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm.[2] The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that the Firm and Breard (collectively "Respondents") repeatedly violated PCAOB rules and standards in connection with 135 audit and attestation engagements by the Firm of its broker-dealer clients for fiscal years 2014, 2015 and 2016.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondents.

II.

In anticipation of institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondents have each submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offers") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any

[1] The Firm may reapply for registration after five (5) years from the date of this Order.

[2] Breard may file a petition for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm after five (5) years from the date of this Order.

other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over them and the subject matter of these proceedings, which are admitted, Respondents consent to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[3]

III.

On the basis of Respondents' Offers, the Board finds that:[4]

A. Respondents

1. Breard & Associates, Inc. Certified Public Accountants is, and at all relevant times was, a corporation organized under the laws of the state of California, and headquartered in Northridge, California. The Firm is registered with the Board pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules. The Firm is licensed to practice by the California Board of Accountancy (License no. 3059) and holds licenses in several additional states.[5] At all relevant times, the Firm was the external auditor for each of the broker-dealers identified below.

2. Kevin G. Breard, CPA, age 59, is a certified public accountant licensed by the California Board of Accountancy (License no. 41061). Breard also holds licenses in several additional states.[6] Breard is the founder, managing partner, and principal

---

[3] The findings herein are made pursuant to Respondents' Offers and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

[4] The Board finds that Respondents' conduct described in this Order meets the conditions set out in Section 105(c)(5) of the Act, 15 U.S.C. § 7215(c)(5), which provides that certain sanctions may be imposed in the event of (1) intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, that results in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard; or (2) repeated instances of negligent conduct, each resulting in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard.

[5] The Firm is licensed in the following additional states: Oregon (License no. 2570); Washington (License no. 4971); Florida (License no. AD66919); Nevada (License no. Corp-0526); and New York (License no. 092356).

[6] Breard is licensed in the following additional states: Wisconsin (License no. 24338-001); Arizona (License no. 16482); Connecticut (License no. CPAL.0014708); Florida (License no. AC41844); Idaho (License no. CP-5463); Massachusetts (License no. 32160); Maryland (License no. 0041469); New Jersey (License no. 20CC03915900); Nevada (License no. CPA-4411R); New York (License no. 096658); Tennessee (License no. 21081); Texas (License no. 093988); Washington (License no. 25691); and Oregon (License no. 12260).

shareholder of the Firm and was the engagement partner for each of the audits identified below. Breard is, and at all relevant times was, an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

B. Summary

3. This matter concerns the Firm's repeated failure to comply with AS 1220, (formerly, Auditing Standard No. 7)[7], Engagement Quality Review, with respect to 135 audit and attestation engagements for fiscal years 2014, 2015, and 2016. With respect to each of those broker-dealer audit and attestation engagements, the Firm failed to obtain an engagement quality review and concurring approval of issuance even though PCAOB standards required an engagement quality review be performed.

4. This matter also concerns Breard's direct and substantial contribution to the Firm's violations of PCAOB rules and standards concerning the requirements for engagement quality reviews. With respect to each of the audit and attestation engagements, Breard took or omitted to take actions knowing, or recklessly not knowing, that his actions and omissions would directly and substantially contribute to the Firm's violations of PCAOB rules and standards.

C. The Firm Violated PCAOB Rules and Standards Relating to Engagement Quality Reviews

5. In connection with the preparation or issuance of an audit report,[8] PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons comply with all applicable auditing and related professional practice standards.[9]

---

[7] All references to PCAOB rules and standards are to the versions of those rules and standards in effect at the time of the relevant audit and attestation engagements. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its auditing standards using a topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Release No. 2015-002 (Mar. 31, 2015); see also PCAOB Auditing Standards Reorganized and Pre-Reorganized Numbering (January 2017).

[8] Rule 17a-5(d) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 ("Exchange Act"), 17 CFR § 240.17a-5(d), Annual Filing of Audited Financial Statements, requires every broker or dealer registered pursuant to Section 15 of the Exchange Act to file annually, a report audited by an independent public accountant. Each broker-dealer identified below is a "broker" or "dealer" as defined in Sections 110(3) and 110(4) of the Act and PCAOB Rules 1001(b)(iii) and 1001(d)(iii).

[9] PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Standards.

6. For audit engagements, reviews of interim financial information, and attestation engagements of broker-dealers for fiscal years ending on or after June 1, 2014, AS 1220 requires that an EQR be performed pursuant to PCAOB standards.[10] In addition, a firm may grant permission to a client to use an engagement report only after an engagement quality reviewer provides concurring approval of issuance.[11]

7. The Firm failed to obtain an engagement quality review for each of the 135 audit and attestation engagements set forth in the attached Appendix, even though PCAOB standards required an engagement quality review be performed. In each instance, the audit was of a "broker" and "dealer," as defined in Sections 110(3) and 110(4) of the Act and PCAOB Rules 1001(b)(iii) and 1001(d)(iii). And in each instance, the Firm improperly permitted the issuance of its unqualified audit report and examination or review report without obtaining an engagement quality review and concurring approval of issuance. As a result, the Firm repeatedly violated AS 1220.

D. Breard Contributed to the Firm's Violations of PCAOB Rules and Standards

8. PCAOB Rule 3502 prohibits an associated person of a registered public accounting firm from taking or omitting to take an action knowing or recklessly not knowing, that the act or omission would directly and substantially contribute to a violation by that firm of the Act, the rules of the Board, the provisions of the securities laws relating to the preparation and issuance of audit reports and the obligations and liabilities of accountants with respect thereto, including the rules of the Commission issued under the Act, or professional standards.

9. Breard was the principal owner of the Firm and the engagement partner for all of the audits identified below. For each audit engagement, Breard was responsible for ensuring that the Firm complied with PCAOB rules and standards. Breard knew that he was directly and substantially contributing to the Firm's violations of AS 1220, as described above. As a result, Breard violated PCAOB Rule 3502.

---

[10] AS 1220.01.

[11] AS 1220.13, .18C.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondents' Offers. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), Breard and Associates, Inc. Certified Public Accountants, and Kevin G. Breard, CPA, are hereby censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(B) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(2), Kevin G. Breard, CPA is barred from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm, as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i);[12]

C. After five (5) years from the date of this Order, Kevin G. Breard, CPA may file a petition, pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5302(b), for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm;

D. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(A) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(1), the registration of Breard and Associates, Inc. Certified Public Accountants is revoked;

E. After five (5) years from the date of this Order, Breard and Associates, Inc. Certified Public Accountants may reapply for registration by filing an application pursuant to PCAOB Rule 2101; and

F. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of $75,000 is imposed upon Breard and Associates, Inc. Certified Public Accountants. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of this civil money penalty will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. Breard and Associates, Inc. Certified Public Accountants shall pay the civil money penalty within 10 days of the issuance of this Order by (1) wire transfer in accordance with instructions furnished by Board staff; or (2) United States Postal Service money order, bank money order, certified check, or bank cashier's check (a) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, (b) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, and (c) submitted under a cover letter, which identifies the payor as a respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB release number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe W. Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006.

---

[12] As a consequence of the bar, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act will apply with respect to Breard. Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act provides that "[i]t shall be unlawful for any person that is suspended or barred from being associated with a registered public accounting firm under this subsection willfully to become or remain associated with any issuer, broker, or dealer in an accountancy or a financial management capacity, and for any issuer, broker, or dealer that knew, or in the exercise of reasonable care should have known, of such suspension or bar, to permit such an association, without the consent of the Board or the Commission."

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

_____

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

August 9, 2018

Appendix

Breard & Associates, Inc.
Broker-Dealer Audits & Attestations Not Performed in Accordance with AS 1220 (formerly AS 7)

#	Broker-Dealer	Fiscal Year Ended	Reports Issued Without EQR	Engagement Partner[1]
1	Euro Pacific Capital, Inc.	June 30, 2014	Audit	K. Breard
2	Western Growers Financial Services, Inc.	June 30, 2014	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
3	Conover Securities Corporation	August 31, 2014	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
4	Lawson Financial Corporation	September 30, 2014	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
5	Montrose Securities International	October 31, 2014	Audit	K. Breard
6	Investment Security Corporation	November 30, 2014	Audit	K. Breard
7	Ansley Securities, LLC	December 31, 2014	Audit	K. Breard
8	Aurora Capital LLC	December 31, 2014	Audit	K. Breard
9	Backstrom McCarley Berry & Co., LLC	December 31, 2014	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
10	Blakeslee & Blakeslee Inc.	December 31, 2014	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
11	C.A. Botzum & Co.	December 31, 2014	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
12	CA Funds Group, Inc.	December 31, 2014	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
13	Corporate Investments Group, Inc.	December 31, 2014	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
14	Geneve International Corporation	December 31, 2014	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
15	Glacier Point Capital LLC	December 31, 2014	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
16	Greenbrier Diversified, Inc.	December 31, 2014	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
17	Hollencrest Securities, LLC	December 31, 2014	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
18	Hunter Wise Securities LLC	December 31, 2014	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
19	KEMA Partners LLC	December 31, 2014	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
20	Lakeshore Securities, LP	December 31, 2014	Audit	K. Breard
21	Mallory Capital Group, LLC	December 31, 2014	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
22	MD Global Partners, LLC	December 31, 2014	Audit	K. Breard
23	Medalist Securities, Inc.	December 31, 2014	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
24	Red Cedar Trading, LLC	December 31, 2014	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
25	Securities Equity Group	December 31, 2014	Audit	K. Breard
26	Shareholders Service Group, Inc.	December 31, 2014	Audit	K. Breard
27	StockShield, LLC	December 31, 2014	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
28	Vaquero Capital, LLC	December 31, 2014	Audit	K. Breard
29	Woodbridge Financial Group, LLC	December 31, 2014	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
30	G. W. Sherwold Associates, Inc.	January 31, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
31	Pflueger & Baerwald, Inc.	March 31, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
32	Robert Blum Municipals, Inc.	March 31, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
33	Thomas Capital Group, Inc.	March 31, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
34	KCPAG Brokerage LLC	April 30, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
35	Alliance Advisory & Securities, Inc.	June 30, 2015	Audit	K. Breard
36	James Fox Securities, Inc.	June 30, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard

[1] Mr. Breard also listed himself as the EQR for all of the audit and attestation engagements of the Firm identified in the Appendix.

#	Broker-Dealer	Fiscal Year Ended	Reports Issued Without EQR	Engagement Partner[1]
37	JCP Securities, Inc.	June 30, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
38	Mutual Securities, Inc.	June 30, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
39	Western Growers Financial Services, Inc.	June 30, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
40	Conover Securities Corporation	August 31, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
41	Infinity Securities, Inc.	September 30, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
42	Lawson Financial Corporation	September 30, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
43	McClurg Capital Corporation	September 30, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
44	Pension Dynamics Securities Corporation	September 30, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
45	Searle & Co.	September 30, 2015	Audit	K. Breard
46	Montrose Securities International	October 31, 2015	Audit	K. Breard
47	Rothschild Lieberman, LLC	October 31, 2015	Audit	K. Breard
48	Agency Desk, LLC	November 30, 2015	Audit	K. Breard
49	John W. Loofbourrow Associates, Inc.	November 30, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
50	Aaron Capital Incorporated	December 31, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
51	Ackrell Capital, LLC	December 31, 2015	Audit	K. Breard
52	Advisors Clearing Network	December 31, 2015	Audit	K. Breard
53	AFS Securities, LLC	December 31, 2015	Audit	K. Breard
54	American Medtech Equity Advisors, LLC	December 31, 2015	Audit	K. Breard
55	Argenthal & Co., Inc	December 31, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
56	Atlantic State Partners, LLC	December 31, 2015	Audit	K. Breard
57	Aurora Capital LLC	December 31, 2015	Audit	K. Breard
58	Backstrom McCarley Berry & Co., LLC	December 31, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
59	BIA Capital Strategies, LLC	December 31, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
60	Blakeslee & Blakeslee Inc.	December 31, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
61	Broker/Dealer, Inc.	December 31, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
62	BMA Securities, LLC	December 31, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
63	Brandis Tallman	December 31, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
64	Butler Muni, LLC	December 31, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
65	CA Funds Group, Inc.	December 31, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
66	Capital Research Brokerage Services, LLC	December 31, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
67	Champlain Advisors, LLC	December 31, 2015	Audit	K. Breard
68	Clarkeson Research Inc.	December 31, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
69	Con Am Securities, Inc.	December 31, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
70	Coombe Financial Services, Inc.	December 31, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
71	Crest Capital LLC	December 31, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
72	Dorn & Co., Inc.	December 31, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
73	E A Markets Securities LLC	December 31, 2015	Audit	K. Breard
74	E1 Asset Management, Inc.	December 31, 2015	Audit	K. Breard
75	Equilibrium Capital Services, LLC	December 31, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
76	Financial Goal Securities, Inc.	December 31, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
77	First Liberties Securities, Inc.	December 31, 2015	Audit	K. Breard
78	FMV Capital Markets, LLC	December 31, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
79	FundMe Securities, LLC	December 31, 2015	Audit	K. Breard
80	Fusion Analytics Securities LLC	December 31, 2015	Audit	K. Breard

#	Broker-Dealer	Fiscal Year Ended	Reports Issued Without EQR	Engagement Partner[1]
81	Geneve International Corporation	December 31, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
82	Global Wine Partners (U.S.) LLC	December 31, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
83	Greenbrier Diversified, Inc.	December 31, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
84	Griffinest Asia Securities, LLC	December 31, 2015	Audit	K. Breard
85	Hankerson Financial, Inc.	December 31, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
86	Hodin Associates, Inc.	December 31, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
87	Hollencrest Securities, LLC	December 31, 2015	Audit	K. Breard
88	Innovation Capital, LLC	December 31, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
89	Investment Visa Consultants, LLC	December 31, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
90	KEMA Partners LLC	December 31, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
91	Lakeshore Securities, LP	December 31, 2015	Audit	K. Breard
92	Lam Securities Investments, Inc.	December 31, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
93	MAA - Mentor Alternative Advisors LLC	December 31, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
94	Mallory Capital Group, LLC	December 31, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
95	McCafferty & Company, LLC	December 31, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
96	MD Global Partners, LLC	December 31, 2015	Audit	K. Breard
97	Meyers Associates, LP	December 31, 2015	Audit	K. Breard
98	NHCohen Capital LLC	December 31, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
99	Opening Night Capital, LLC	December 31, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
100	Private Placement Insurance Products, LLC	December 31, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
101	Pursuit Partners LLC	December 31, 2015	Audit	K. Breard
102	R H Investment Corporation	December 31, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
103	RMK Maritime Capital, LLC	December 31, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
104	Robinhood Financial, LLC	December 31, 2015	Audit	K. Breard
105	RP Capital LLC	December 31, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
106	Sanderlin Securities, LLC	December 31, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
107	Schlitt Investor Services, Inc.	December 31, 2015	Audit	K. Breard
108	Securities Equity Group	December 31, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
109	Silver Portal Capital LLC	December 31, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
110	SpiderRock EXS, LLC	December 31, 2015	Audit	K. Breard
111	Stacey Braun Financial Services, Inc.	December 31, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
112	Sterling Monroe Securities, LLC	December 31, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
113	StockShield, LLC	December 31, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
114	Synergy Advisors Group, LLC	December 31, 2015	Audit	K. Breard
115	Time Equities Securities, LLC	December 31, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
116	TKG Financial, LLC	December 31, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
117	Transactiondrivers, LLC	December 31, 2015	Audit	K. Breard
118	Vaquero Capital, LLC	December 31, 2015	Audit	K. Breard
119	Veber Partners LLC	December 31, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
120	Vista Point Advisors, LLC	December 31, 2015	Attestation	K. Breard
121	Waveland Capital	December 31, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
122	Waypoint Direct Investments, LLC	December 31, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
123	Westfield Investment Group, Inc.	December 31, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
124	Woodbridge Financial	December 31, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
125	Wulff, Hansen & Co.	December 31, 2015	Audit	K. Breard
126	Wyche Securities, Inc.	December 31, 2015	Audit	K. Breard
127	Zimbalist Smith Investments, LLC	December 31, 2015	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard

#	Broker-Dealer	Fiscal Year Ended	Reports Issued Without EQR	Engagement Partner[1]
128	G. W. Sherwold Associates, Inc.	January 31, 2016	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
129	Pflueger & Baerwald, Inc.	March 31, 2016	Audit	K. Breard
130	Thomas Capital Group, Inc.	March 31, 2016	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
131	KCPAG Brokerage LLC	April 30, 2016	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
132	Edgemont Capital Partners, LP	June 30, 2016	Audit	K. Breard
133	Modern Equity Services, LLC	June 30, 2016	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
134	Sanderlin Securities, LLC	December 31, 2016	Audit & Attestation	K. Breard
135	Union Gaming Securities, LLC	December 31, 2016	Audit	K. Breard

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street NW
Washington, DC 20006
Office: (202) 207-9100
Fax: (202) 862-8430
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of Zhang Hongling CPA, P.C. and Hongling Zhang, CPA, Respondents.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2018-019 October 2, 2018

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("Board" or "PCAOB") is: (1) censuring Zhang Hongling CPA, P.C. ("Firm"), a registered public accounting firm, revoking the Firm's registration,[1] and imposing a civil money penalty in the amount of $15,000 on the Firm; and (2) censuring Hongling Zhang, CPA ("Zhang"), barring her from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm,[2] and requiring her to complete, before filing any petition for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm, fifty (50) hours of continuing professional education in subjects that are directly related to the audits of issuer financial statements under PCAOB standards.

The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that the Firm and Zhang (collectively, "Respondents") (1) violated PCAOB rules and standards by failing to perform adequate procedures with respect to related party transactions during one issuer audit, (2) violated PCAOB rules by providing backdated audit documentation to PCAOB staff in connection with a Board inspection of one issuer audit and failing to disclose the backdating to the Board's inspection team, and (3) violated PCAOB rules and standards by failing to obtain engagement quality reviews in connection with four audits for two issuers.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent

[1] The Firm may reapply for registration after two (2) years from the date of this Order.

[2] Zhang may file a petition for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm after two (2) years from the date of this Order.

audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondents.

II.

In anticipation of institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondents each submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offers") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over Respondents and the subject matter of these proceedings, which are admitted, Respondents consent to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[3]

III.

On the basis of Respondents' Offers, the Board finds that:[4]

A. Respondents

1. Zhang Hongling CPA, P.C. is a corporation organized under the laws of the state of New York with headquarters in Flushing, New York, and an additional office in Syosset, New York. On August 10, 2016, the Firm registered with the Board pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules. The Firm is licensed to practice public accounting by the New York State Board for Public Accountancy (License No. 095908).

2. Hongling Zhang, age 47, is a certified public accountant licensed by the New York State Board for Public Accountancy (License No. 088065). She is the sole partner of the Firm and served as the Firm's engagement partner for the four audits discussed herein. Zhang is an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

---

[3] The findings herein are made pursuant to Respondents' Offers and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

[4] The Board finds that Respondents' conduct described in this Order meets the condition set out in Section 105(c)(5)(A) of the Act, which provides that certain sanctions may be imposed in the event of intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, that results in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard.

B. Issuers

3. Sino United Worldwide Consolidated Ltd. (formerly known as AJ Greentech Holdings, Ltd.) ("Sino United") is a Nevada corporation with a principal executive office in Flushing, New York. Sino United's public filings disclose that, during 2015 and 2016, Sino United was engaged in the business of providing electronic products and general cargo trading and related consulting services. Its common stock is registered under Section 12(g) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 ("Exchange Act") and is quoted on the OTC Pink Marketplace under the symbol "SUIC." At all relevant times, Sino United was an issuer as that term is defined by Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii). The Firm audited Sino United's financial statements for the fiscal years ended December 31, 2015 ("2015 Sino United Audit") and December 31, 2016 ("2016 Sino United Audit").

4. Shenzhen ZhongRong Morgan Investment Holding Group Co., Ltd. (formerly known as Malaysia Pro-Guardians Security Management Corporation) ("Shenzhen") is a Nevada corporation with a principal executive office in Flushing, New York. Shenzhen's public filings disclose that, during 2015 and 2016, Shenzhen was a shell company with no or nominal operations and assets that was seeking a merger with or acquisition by a larger entity. Shenzhen's common stock is registered under Section 12(g) of the Exchange Act and is quoted on the OTC Pink Marketplace under the symbol "ZRMG." At all relevant times, Shenzhen was an issuer as that term is defined by Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii). The Firm audited Shenzhen's financial statements for the fiscal years ended December 31, 2015 ("2015 Shenzhen Audit") and December 31, 2016 ("2016 Shenzhen Audit").

C. Summary

5. This matter concerns Respondents' violations of PCAOB rules and standards in connection with (1) the 2015 and 2016 Sino United Audits, (2) the Board's inspection of the 2015 Sino United Audit, and (3) the 2015 and 2016 Shenzhen Audits.

6. During the 2015 Sino United Audit, Respondents failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence and to exercise due professional care and professional skepticism. In particular, Respondents failed to perform any procedures to test the occurrence and valuation of certain related party transactions that the company asserted had occurred during the year under audit.[5]

---

[5] All references to PCAOB rules and standards are to the versions of those rules and standards in effect at the time of the relevant conduct. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its auditing standards using a topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Release No. 2015-002 (Mar. 31, 2015); see also PCAOB Auditing Standards Reorganized and

7. During a 2017 Board inspection of the 2015 Sino United Audit, Respondents violated PCAOB Rule 4006, Duty to Cooperate With Inspectors, by providing the inspection team with debt cancellation agreements that had been created during the 2017 inspection but backdated to 2015, without informing the inspection team of those facts.

8. In addition, the Firm failed to comply with AS 1220, Engagement Quality Review (formerly, Auditing Standard No. 7), by failing to obtain engagement quality reviews and concurring approvals of issuance in connection with audits for the two issuers discussed above.

9. With respect to the Firm's failure to obtain engagement quality reviews, Zhang took or omitted to take actions knowing, or recklessly not knowing, that her acts and omissions would directly and substantially contribute to the Firm's violations of AS 1220, in violation of PCAOB Rule 3502, Responsibility Not to Knowingly or Recklessly Contribute to Violations.

D. Respondents Violated PCAOB Rules and Standards

10. In connection with the preparation or issuance of an audit report, PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons comply with the Board's auditing and related professional practice standards.[6] An auditor may express an unqualified opinion on an issuer's financial statements only when the auditor has formed such an opinion on the basis of an audit performed in accordance with PCAOB standards.[7] Among other things, those standards require that an auditor exercise due professional care and professional skepticism in planning and performing the audit.[8]

Pre-Reorganized Numbering (Jan. 2017). The reorganization did not impose additional requirements on auditors or change substantively the requirements of PCAOB standards. While Respondents' conduct occurred both before and after the reorganization, the reorganized standards are cited herein for purposes of clarity.

[6] PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards; PCAOB Rule 3200, Auditing Standards.

[7] AU 5AS 3101.07, Reports on Audited Financial Statements (formerly, AU § 508).

[8] See AS 1015, Due Professional Care in the Performance of Work (formerly, AU § 230).

Respondents Violated PCAOB Standards During the 2015 Sino United Audit

11. On September 15, 2016, the Firm issued its audit report on Sino United's December 31, 2015 financial statements, and Sino United included the audit report in a Form 10-K filing with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (the "Commission").

12. PCAOB standards require the auditor to plan and perform audit procedures to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to provide a reasonable basis for his or her opinion.[9] The auditor also is required to evaluate whether related party transactions have been accounted for and disclosed appropriately in the financial statements.[10] For each related party transaction that is either required to be disclosed in the financial statements or is determined to be a significant risk, the auditor should, among other things, read the underlying documentation and evaluate whether the terms are consistent with explanations from inquiries and other audit evidence about the business purpose (or the lack thereof) of the transaction.[11]

13. Sino United's December 31, 2015 financial statements disclosed that, during 2015, the company had issued 57.5 million shares of common stock in exchange for the cancellation of debt owed to shareholders. Respondents understood at the time that the shares had been issued to Sino United's sole director and her relatives.

14. Although Respondents obtained board resolutions authorizing the share issuances, this audit procedure was not sufficient because the procedure failed to provide a reasonable basis to determine whether the shares were actually issued to the related parties and whether the debt had been forgiven by those related parties. Respondents failed to perform any other procedures, such as reading the underlying documentation and evaluating whether the terms and other information about the transactions were consistent with other audit evidence.[12] As a result, Respondents failed to obtain sufficient appropriate evidence to determine whether the transactions with related parties had occurred, were recorded in the proper period, and were properly valued.

---

[9] AS 1105.04, Audit Evidence (formerly, Auditing Standard No. 15).

[10] AS 2410.17, Related Parties (formerly Auditing Standard No. 18).

[11] AS 2410.12.

[12] See AS 1105.04; AS 2410.12.

Respondents Failed to Cooperate With a Board Inspection

15. In June 2017, the Board's Division of Registration and Inspections ("Inspections") inspected the Firm's 2015 Sino United Audit.

16. PCAOB rules require that registered public accounting firms and their associated persons "shall cooperate with the Board in the performance of any Board inspection."[13] This cooperation obligation includes an obligation not to provide misleading documents or information in connection with, or otherwise to interfere in, the Board's inspection processes.[14]

17. During the inspection, the Board's Inspections staff asked Zhang if Sino United had executed debt cancellation agreements in connection with the 57.5 million share issuance in 2015. After Zhang replied that such agreements existed but that she had not obtained them during the audit, the Inspections staff requested copies of the agreements. Zhang subsequently provided the Inspections staff with thirteen debt cancellation agreements, all dated July 8, 2015. However, as Zhang knew, Sino United had created the debt cancellation agreements during the 2017 inspection, not in July 2015.

18. In response to the Inspection staff's request, Zhang initially requested that Sino United send her debt cancellation agreements in June 2017. Following her June 2017 request, Zhang received an email in which Sino United personnel stated that they were preparing the agreements using a sample format provided by an agent of the company. Zhang also received several emails in which Sino United personnel questioned what the contents of the agreements should be. For example, they asked who the parties should be, what the par value of the issued shares should be, and what the amount of the cancelled debt should be.

19. Accordingly, Respondents were aware that Sino United had created the debt cancellation agreements in June 2017 and that the agreements had not existed during the 2015 Sino United Audit. Yet Respondents failed to disclose those facts when

---

[13] PCAOB Rule 4006.

[14] See, e.g., Kabani & Company, Inc., SEC Release No. 34-80201, at 14 (Mar. 10, 2017) (sustaining Board finding that respondents failed to cooperate with inspection where improper work paper alterations "interfered with the PCAOB's ability to fulfill its regulatory function of ensuring that auditors comply with their professional responsibilities"); Dale Arnold Hotz, CPA, Jyothi Nuthulaganti Manohar, CPA, and Michael Jared Fadner, CPA, PCAOB Release No. 105-2012-008, ¶ 7 (Nov. 13, 2012) (PCAOB Rule 4006 "includes an obligation not to provide misleading documents or information in connection with the Board's inspection processes." (internal quotation omitted)).

they provided the debt cancellation agreements to the Board's Inspections staff. This conduct violated Rule 4006.

The Firm Failed to Obtain Engagement Quality Reviews

20. An auditor is required to obtain an engagement quality review and concurring approval of issuance for audits conducted pursuant to PCAOB standards.[15] The auditor may not grant its client permission to use its audit report until after an engagement quality reviewer provides concurring approval of issuance.[16]

21. The Firm failed to obtain an engagement quality review or concurring approval of issuance in connection with its 2015 Sino United Audit. As noted above, the Firm nonetheless issued its audit report on September 15, 2016.

22. On May 15, 2017, the Firm issued its audit report on Sino United's December 31, 2016 financial statements, and Sino United included the audit report in a Form 10-K filing with the Commission. On June 16, 2017, the Firm issued its audit report on Shenzhen's December 31, 2015 financial statements and its audit report on Shenzhen's December 31, 2016 financial statements, and Shenzhen included the audit reports in Form 10-K filings with the Commission.

23. Although the Firm engaged an engagement quality reviewer for the 2016 Sino United Audit, the 2015 Shenzhen Audit, and the 2016 Shenzhen Audit during the course of those audits, no engagement quality review was performed before the Firm issued its audit reports. Instead, the Firm improperly issued its audit reports for each of those three audits without first obtaining an engagement quality review and concurring approval of issuance. The engagement quality reviewer did not perform a review and provide a concurring approval of issuance until after the Firm had already issued its audit reports.

24. As a result, the Firm violated AS 1220 in connection with the 2015 and 2016 Sino United Audits and the 2015 and 2016 Shenzhen Audits.

Zhang Contributed to the Firm's Violations

25. PCAOB rules prohibit an associated person of a registered public accounting firm from taking or omitting to take an action knowing, or recklessly not

---

[15] AS 1220.01.

[16] AS 1220.13.

knowing, that the act or omission would directly and substantially contribute to the firm's violation of PCAOB rules or professional standards.[17]

26. Zhang, the sole partner of the Firm, had overall responsibility for ensuring that the Firm complied with PCAOB rules and standards. Zhang knew, or was reckless in not knowing, that she was directly and substantially contributing to the Firm's violations of AS 1220. As a result, Zhang violated Rule 3502.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondents' Offers. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), Zhang Hongling CPA, P.C. and Hongling Zhang, CPA are hereby censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(A) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(1), the registration of Zhang Hongling CPA, P.C. is revoked;

C. After two (2) years from the date of this Order, Zhang Hongling CPA, P.C. may reapply for registration by filing an application pursuant to PCAOB Rule 2101;

D. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of $15,000 is imposed upon Zhang Hongling CPA, P.C. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of this civil money penalty will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. Zhang Hongling CPA, P.C. shall pay this civil money penalty within ten (10) days of the issuance of this Order by (1) wire transfer in accordance with instructions furnished by Board staff; or (2) United States Postal Service money order, bank money order, certified check, or bank cashier's check (a) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, (b) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, and (c) submitted under a cover letter, which identifies the Firm as a respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB release number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to Office of the Secretary, Attention:

[17] PCAOB Rule 3502.

Phoebe W. Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006;

E. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(B) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(2), Hongling Zhang, CPA is barred from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm, as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i);[18]

F. After two (2) years from the date of this Order, Hongling Zhang, CPA may file a petition, pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5302(b), for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm; and

G. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(F) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(6), Hongling Zhang, CPA is required to complete, before filing any petition for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm, fifty (50) hours of continuing professional education in subjects that are directly related to the audits of issuer financial statements under PCAOB standards (such hours shall be in addition to, and shall not be counted in, the continuing professional education she is required to obtain in connection with any professional license).

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

_____

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

October 2, 2018

---

[18] As a consequence of the bar, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act will apply with respect to Zhang. Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act provides that "[i]t shall be unlawful for any person that is suspended or barred from being associated with a registered public accounting firm under this subsection willfully to become or remain associated with any issuer, broker, or dealer in an accountancy or a financial management capacity, and for any issuer, broker, or dealer that knew, or in the exercise of reasonable care should have known, of such suspension or bar, to permit such an association, without the consent of the Board or the Commission."

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street NW
Washington, DC 20006
Office: (202) 207-9100
Fax: (202) 862-8430
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS	PCAOB Release No. 105-2018-020
In the Matter of Deloitte LLP,	October 16, 2018
Respondent.

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("Board" or "PCAOB") is censuring Deloitte LLP ("Deloitte Canada" or "Respondent" or "Firm"), imposing a civil money penalty of $350,000 on the Firm, and requiring the Firm to undertake a review of relevant policies and procedures, and related professional and educational training, to provide reasonable assurance of compliance with applicable independence criteria. The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that, in connection with three audits of an issuer client, the Firm violated PCAOB rules and standards by failing to satisfy applicable independence criteria, including as set forth in U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission ("Commission") rules.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted against Respondent pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1).

II.

In anticipation of the institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondent has submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offer") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over Respondent and the subject matter of these proceedings, which is admitted, Respondent consents to the entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[1]

[1] The findings herein are made pursuant to Respondent's Offer and are not binding on any other persons or entities in this or any other proceeding.

III.

On the basis of Respondent's Offer, the Board finds that:

A. Respondent Firm

1. Deloitte LLP is a public accounting firm organized as a limited liability partnership under the laws of Canada and headquartered in Toronto. It is the Canadian member firm of the Deloitte Touche Tohmatsu Limited global network of firms ("DTTL"). At all relevant times, the Firm was the external auditor for issuer Banro Corporation ("Banro"). The Firm ceased serving as Banro's external auditor in April 2017. The Firm is, and at all relevant times was, registered with the Board pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules.

B. Relevant Associated Entities

2. Deloitte & Touche ("Deloitte South Africa") is a public accounting firm organized as a partnership under the laws of South Africa and headquartered in Johannesburg. It is the South African member firm of DTTL. It is, and at all relevant times was, registered with the Board pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules, and an associated entity of Deloitte Canada within the meaning of PCAOB Rule 1001(a)(iv) and Rule 2-01(f)(2) of Commission Regulation S-X.[2] It is considered part of Deloitte Canada for purposes of the Commission's auditor independence rules.[3]

3. Venmyn Deloitte (Pty) Ltd. ("Venmyn Deloitte") is a mining services company based in South Africa and a wholly owned subsidiary of Deloitte South Africa. Venmyn Deloitte was created in connection with Deloitte South Africa's acquisition of certain assets of the mining services company Venmyn Rand (Pty) Ltd. ("Venmyn Rand") on November 1, 2012. Venmyn Deloitte is, and at all relevant times since November 1, 2012 has been, an associated entity of Deloitte Canada within the meaning of PCAOB Rule 1001(a)(iv) and Rule 2-01(f)(2) of Regulation S-X. It is considered part of Deloitte Canada for purposes of the Commission's auditor independence rules.[4]

C. Issuer

4. Banro Corporation is a Canadian gold mining company with operations in the Democratic Republic of the Congo ("DRC"). At all relevant times, Banro had

---

[2] 17 C.F.R. § 210.2-01(f)(2).

[3] Under the Commission's auditor independence rules, the term "accounting firm" is defined to include the firm's "associated entities, including those located outside the United States." Id.

[4] Id.

securities registered for trading on the NYSE MKT LLC pursuant to Section 12(b) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, and was an issuer as that term is defined by Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

5. The Firm issued audit reports on Banro's financial statements for the fiscal years ending on, and internal control over financial reporting as of, December 31 of 2012, 2013, and 2014. The Firm's audit reports were included in annual reports Banro filed with the Commission on Forms 20-F or 40-F.

D. Summary

6. This matter concerns Deloitte Canada's failure to comply with PCAOB rules and standards that require a registered public accounting firm, including any associated entity of the firm, to be independent of the firm's audit client throughout the audit and professional engagement period. Deloitte Canada failed to maintain its independence in connection with the Firm's audits of Banro for fiscal years 2012, 2013, and 2014 as a result of certain non-audit services that Venmyn Deloitte (f/k/a Venmyn Rand) provided Banro during these years in connection with two gold mines in the DRC.

7. In early 2012, prior to its acquisition by Deloitte South Africa, Venmyn Rand prepared a technical report for Banro on the company's Namoya gold mine in the DRC ("2012 Namoya Report") in accordance with the statutory requirements of Canadian National Instrument 43-101, Standards of Disclosure for Mineral Projects ("NI 43-101").[5] The 2012 Namoya Report, which Banro publicly furnished to the Commission, contained certain gold mineral resource estimates and a related valuation of the Namoya mine based on a discounted cash flow analysis. Venmyn Rand estimated that the Namoya mine had a fair value of $366 million.

8. In connection with the Firm's subsequent audit of Banro's 2012 financial statements, and after Deloitte South Africa's acquisition of Venmyn Rand, Venmyn Deloitte's managing director confirmed for the Deloitte Canada engagement team that he was the "qualified person" responsible for the 2012 Namoya Report.[6] The engagement team then relied on the report's valuation as audit evidence supporting management's representations regarding the carrying value of the Namoya mining assets reported in Banro's financial statements, as well as Banro's ability to continue as a going concern. The engagement team also evaluated certain key assumptions underlying the valuation. Venmyn Deloitte and its managing director also consented to Banro's public use of their names in connection with the 2012 Namoya Report, which was referenced in Banro's 2012 annual report filed with the Commission.

---

[5] 34 Ontario Securities Commission Bulletin ("OSCB") 7043 (2011).

[6] A "qualified person" is defined in NI 43-101 as an engineer or geoscientist with certain education, experience, and professional credentials related to mineral exploration or mining. 34 OSCB 7043, at 7046-47.

9. In 2013 and 2014, Venmyn Deloitte prepared two additional NI 43-101 technical reports for Banro, one for the Lugushwa gold mine in the DRC ("2013 Lugushwa Report") and a new one for the Namoya gold mine in the DRC ("2014 Namoya Report"). Both technical reports, which Banro publicly furnished to the Commission, contained certain gold mineral resource or reserve estimates that Banro had previously disclosed publicly in press releases. Each press release stated that Venmyn Deloitte's managing director had reviewed and approved the release, and that he was the "qualified person" under NI 43-101 "responsible" for certain of the mineral resource or reserve estimates disclosed therein. Similarly, each technical report stated that Venmyn Deloitte's managing director was the "qualified person" under NI 43-101 who took responsibility for the entire report, including the mineral resource and reserve estimates therein.

10. As a result, Deloitte Canada's independence during the 2012, 2013, and 2014 Banro audits was impaired. Deloitte Canada's independence was impaired during the 2012 audit because the engagement team relied on the valuation in the 2012 Namoya Report, for which Venmyn Deloitte and its managing director took responsibility, as audit evidence supporting Banro management's representations, and subjected it to audit procedures. By auditing work for which its associated entity, Venmyn Deloitte, took responsibility, Deloitte Canada in effect audited its own work under relevant independence rules. Deloitte Canada's independence during the 2012, 2013, and 2014 Banro audits also was impaired because Venmyn Deloitte publicly took responsibility in the technical reports and related press releases for certain of Banro's gold mineral resource and reserve estimates, thereby creating a mutual interest between Deloitte Canada and Banro in those estimates being correct. Accordingly, Deloitte Canada violated PCAOB Rule 3520, Auditor Independence, because it was not independent of Banro in both fact and appearance within the meaning of Rule 2-01(b) of Regulation S-X,[7] and Interim Auditing Standard ("AU") § 220, Independence.[8]

E. The Firm Failed to Comply with the Auditor Independence Requirements

11. In connection with the preparation or issuance of any audit report, PCAOB rules provide that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons shall comply with all applicable auditing and related professional practice standards.[9]

---

[7] 17 C.F.R. § 210.2-01(b).

[8] All references herein to PCAOB rules and standards are to the versions of those rules and standards in effect at the time of the relevant conduct. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its auditing standards using a topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Rel. No. 2015-002 (Mar. 31, 2015).

[9] PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards; PCAOB Rule 3200T, Interim Auditing Standards.

PCAOB rules and standards also require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons be independent of the firm's audit client, including throughout the audit and professional engagement period.[10] The audit and professional engagement period includes the period covered by any financial statements being audited or reviewed, and the period of the engagement to audit or review an audit client's financial statements or prepare a report filed with the Commission.[11]

12. A registered public accounting firm's independence obligation with respect to an issuer audit client encompasses not only an obligation to satisfy the independence criteria set out in the rules and standards of the PCAOB, but also an obligation to satisfy all other independence criteria applicable to the engagement, including the independence criteria set out in the rules and regulations of the Commission under the federal securities laws.[12]

13. Rule 2-01 of Regulation S-X "is designed to ensure that auditors are qualified and independent of their audit clients both in fact and in appearance."[13] Rule 2-01(b), which "sets forth the general standard of auditor independence",[14] provides that an accountant is not independent of an audit client if, at any point during the audit and professional engagement period, "the accountant is not, or a reasonable investor with knowledge of all relevant facts and circumstances would conclude that the accountant is not, capable of exercising objective and impartial judgment on all issues encompassed within the accountant's engagement."[15] Rule 2-01(f) of Regulation S-X defines the term "accountant" to include a registered public accounting firm,[16] and the term "accounting firm" to include the firm's "associated entities, including those located outside the United States."[17]

---

[10] PCAOB Rule 3520; AU § 220.

[11] PCAOB Rule 3501, Definitions of Terms Employed in Section 3, Part 5 of the Rules, subsection (a)(iii).

[12] PCAOB Rule 3520, Note 1.

[13] 17 C.F.R. § 210.2-01, Preliminary Note 1.

[14] Id.

[15] 17 C.F.R. § 210.2-01(b). Rule 2-01(b) further provides that a determination of whether an accountant is independent takes into consideration "all relevant circumstances, including all relationships between the accountant and the audit client, and not just those relating to reports filed with the Commission."

[16] 17 C.F.R. § 210.2-01(f)(1).

[17] 17 C.F.R. § 210.2-01(f)(2).

14. Application of Rule 2-01(b) involves looking "in the first instance to whether a relationship or the provision of a service: creates a mutual or conflicting interest between the accountant and the audit client; places the accountant in the position of auditing his or her own work; results in the accountant acting as management or an employee of the audit client; or places the accountant in a position of being an advocate for the audit client."[18]

Deloitte Canada's 2012 Banro Audit

15. Banro engaged Deloitte Canada to audit its 2012 financial statements and internal control over financial reporting ("2012 Audit"). Deloitte Canada issued unqualified audit reports dated March 26, 2013. Banro included the audit reports in an Annual Report on a Form 40-F publicly filed with the Commission on March 27, 2013 ("2012 Annual Report").

16. Before Deloitte South Africa acquired Venmyn Rand's assets, Banro engaged Venmyn Rand to prepare the 2012 Namoya Report pursuant to NI 43-101. NI 43-101 provides, among other things, that "[a]ll disclosure of scientific or technical information made by an issuer, including disclosure of a mineral resource or mineral reserve, concerning a mineral project on a property material to the issuer must be (a) based upon information prepared by or under the supervision of a qualified person; or (b) approved by a qualified person."[19] A "qualified person" is defined in NI 43-101 as an engineer or geoscientist with certain education, experience, and professional credentials related to mineral exploration or mining.[20]

17. In March 2012, Venmyn Rand and its managing director ("Managing Director") provided Banro with the 2012 Namoya Report. In the report, the Managing Director certified that he was the "qualified person" within the meaning of NI 43-101 and stated, "I am responsible for the entire Technical Report".

18. The report described Namoya's technical aspects, verified Banro's estimates of Namoya's gold resources, and provided Venmyn Rand's economic assessment of Namoya. For the economic assessment, the Managing Director utilized the discounted cash flow valuation method and determined the net present value of Namoya's estimated future cash flows over the useful life of the mine, to arrive at a fair value for Namoya of $366 million as of January 24, 2012. As set forth in the report, the valuation relied on the Managing Director and Venmyn Rand's forecast of certain operational and cash flow results for Namoya, including forecasts of the quality and amount of gold ore that would be mined and processed, Namoya's operating costs, and

---

[18] 17 C.F.R. § 210.2-01, Preliminary Note 2.

[19] 34 OSCB 7043, at 7047.

[20] Id. at 7046-47.

its capital expenditures. On March 12, 2012, Banro publicly furnished a copy of the 2012 Namoya Report to the Commission, attached as an exhibit to a Form 6-K.

19. On November 1, 2012, Deloitte South Africa acquired certain assets of Venmyn Rand and in connection therewith created Venmyn Deloitte as a wholly owned subsidiary. The managing director of Venmyn Rand became the managing director of Venmyn Deloitte.

20. In December 2012, a Venmyn Deloitte employee emailed a Deloitte Canada partner on the 2012 Audit engagement team ("Audit Partner") asking for approval for Venmyn Deloitte to prepare an NI 43-101 technical report on Banro's Lugushwa gold mine.

21. The Audit Partner consulted with Deloitte Canada's then-National Director of Independence ("NDI") and then-National Professional Practice Director ("NPPD") about the request. Among other things, they reviewed Venmyn Deloitte's draft engagement letter and an unpublished technical review that Venmyn Rand had previously prepared for Banro concerning the Lugushwa mine. The group expressed concerns as to whether the proposed engagement would impair Deloitte Canada's independence, and agreed to consider the issue further.

22. As reflected in a 2012 Audit work paper dated January 29, 2013, and written by the Audit Partner ("2012 Audit Independence Memo"), the group participated with Venmyn Deloitte's managing director in a conference call the previous day regarding the potential independence implications of the proposed technical report for the Lugushwa mine. During the call, the Managing Director represented to the Audit Partner, NDI, and NPPD that Venmyn Deloitte would use information provided by Banro to recalculate management's estimates of the mineral resource levels at Lugushwa and determine whether the estimates were valid. The Managing Director stated that Venmyn Deloitte's work would merely provide a "sanity check" on Banro's work.

23. The 2012 Audit Independence Memo sets forth the conclusion, based on the Managing Director's representations, that Venmyn Deloitte's preparation of the proposed report would not impair Deloitte Canada's independence. Even though Deloitte Canada was aware that Venmyn Deloitte would be preparing the proposed technical report in accordance with the statutory requirements of NI 43-101, there was no discussion whether it would be consistent with the independence requirements for the Managing Director to take responsibility for the entire contents of the report as the "qualified person", and for the report to be publicly furnished to the Commission. There also was no discussion whether it would be acceptable for the Managing Director to publicly take responsibility for management's gold resource or reserve estimates in press releases issued by Banro.

24. On January 31, 2013, only three days later, Banro issued a press release that disclosed certain gold mineral resource estimates for Lugushwa and stated that the Managing Director was the "qualified person" within the meaning of NI 43-101 who was "responsible" for those estimates ("2013 Lugushwa Press Release"). The press release stated in relevant part:

> [The] Managing Director of Venmyn Deloitte (Pty) Ltd., is the "qualified person" (as such term is defined in National Instrument 43-101) who is responsible for the Lugushwa Mineral Resource estimates disclosed in this press release. [He] has reviewed and approved the contents of this press release.

Banro publicly furnished a copy of the press release to the Commission, attached as an exhibit to a Form 6-K, on February 1, 2013.

25. On March 15, 2013, Venmyn Deloitte provided Banro with an NI 43-101 technical report on Lugushwa and a revised report on April 15, 2013 (collectively referred to as the 2013 Lugushwa Report). Banro publicly furnished copies of the reports to the Commission on March 21, 2013 and April 17, 2013, respectively, attached as exhibits to Forms 6-K. The 2013 Lugushwa Report disclosed the same mineral resource estimates as the 2013 Lugushwa Press Release. In the 2013 Lugushwa Report, Venmyn Deloitte's managing director certified that he was the "qualified person" within the meaning of NI 43-101 and stated, "I am responsible for all of the Technical Report".

26. On March 26, 2013, Venmyn Deloitte and the Managing Director each provided Banro with a signed letter stating that they consented ("2013 Consents") to Banro's use of their names in connection with the 2012 Namoya Report and 2013 Lugushwa Report, both of which Banro listed as exhibits to and incorporated by reference in its 2012 Annual Report. In particular, the Annual Information Form ("AIF") and management discussion and analysis ("MD&A") included in the 2012 Annual Report contained a discussion of Banro's mining assets and referenced both technical reports for further information. Banro attached the 2013 Consents as exhibits to the 2012 Annual Report.

27. During the 2012 Audit, the Deloitte Canada engagement team sent a letter to the Managing Director at Venmyn Deloitte, but addressed it to him at the no-longer existent "Venmyn Rand," stating that Deloitte Canada intended to rely on the 2012 Namoya Report as "audit evidence" ("Reliance Letter"). The Reliance Letter referenced the 2012 Namoya Report as containing "the assessment result and assessment procedures performed by yourselves." The Reliance Letter further stated, "These results will be used to form the basis for a number of significant management analyses. We intend to use your report as part of our audit."

28. The Managing Director signed and returned the Reliance Letter on February 28, 2013, confirming that, among other things, he was the "qualified person" responsible for the 2012 Namoya Report and understood that Deloitte Canada would use the report as audit evidence.

29. During the 2012 Audit, the engagement team included a copy of the 2012 Namoya Report in its audit work papers and relied on the report to assess whether there was any indication that the carrying value of the Namoya mining assets on Banro's balance sheet was impaired under International Accounting Standard ("IAS") 36, Impairment of Assets. In particular, the engagement team evaluated the assumptions used in the report by the Managing Director and Venmyn Rand to estimate Namoya's fair value as $366 million, including assumptions concerning discount rates and gold prices, and determined that the assumptions were reasonable. As a result, the engagement team concluded that Namoya's fair value was greater than its carrying value, and agreed with management's conclusion that there was no reason to conduct a full impairment test for Namoya under IAS 36. The 2012 Namoya Report was the only representation of Namoya's fair value of $366 million that Banro's management provided Deloitte Canada in connection with the 2012 Audit.

30. The engagement team also relied on the 2012 Namoya Report, among other factors, to conclude that there was no material uncertainty about Banro's ability to continue as a going concern. In reaching its conclusion, the engagement team assessed the "robustness of the cost and revenue assumptions" and the "feasibility of the projects" included in the 2012 Namoya Report, and analyzed the gold resource estimates therein.

31. In connection with the 2012 Audit and Deloitte Canada's issuance of an unqualified audit report on Banro's 2012 financial statements, Deloitte Canada did not consider the fact that, even though the 2012 Namoya Report had been prepared prior to the Venmyn Rand acquisition, in early 2013 Venmyn Deloitte and its managing director took responsibility for the report in the Reliance Letter and the 2013 Consents. By placing reliance on the 2012 Namoya Report as audit evidence, the Firm put itself in the position of auditing its own work because an associated entity, Venmyn Deloitte, had now taken responsibility for that work. In addition, Deloitte Canada did not consider the impact on the Firm's independence of (a) the 2013 Lugushwa Press Release and its statement, reviewed and approved by Venmyn Deloitte's managing director, that he was responsible for the mineral resource estimates disclosed therein; and (b) the 2013 Lugushwa Report and the Managing Director's statement therein that he was responsible for all of the report, including the mineral resource estimates disclosed therein.

Deloitte Canada's 2013 Banro Audit

32. Banro engaged Deloitte Canada to audit its 2013 financial statements and internal control over financial reporting ("2013 Audit"). Deloitte Canada issued unqualified audit reports dated March 29, 2014. Banro included the audit reports in an Annual Report on a Form 40-F publicly filed with the Commission on March 31, 2014 ("2013 Annual Report").

33. On March 27, 2014, a few days earlier, Banro issued a press release that disclosed certain gold mineral resource and reserve estimates for Namoya, and stated that the Managing Director was the "qualified person" within the meaning of NI 43-101 "responsible" for the reserve estimates ("2014 Namoya Press Release"). The press release stated, in relevant part:

> [The] Managing Director of Venmyn Deloitte (Pty) Ltd., is the "qualified person" (as such term is defined in National Instrument 43-101) who is responsible for the Namoya Mineral Reserve estimates disclosed in this press release. [He] has reviewed and approved the contents of this press release.

Banro publicly furnished a copy of the press release to the Commission, attached as an exhibit to a Form 6-K, on March 27, 2014.

34. On March 29, 2014, the Managing Director and Venmyn Deloitte each provided Banro with a signed letter stating that they consented ("2014 Consents") to Banro's use of their names in connection with the 2012 Namoya Report, 2013 Lugushwa Report, and 2014 Namoya Press Release, each of which Banro listed as an exhibit to and incorporated by reference in its 2013 Annual Report. In particular, the AIF and MD&A included in the 2013 Annual Report contained a discussion of Banro's mining assets and referenced both technical reports for further information. Banro attached the 2014 Consents as exhibits to its 2013 Annual Report.

35. In connection with the 2013 Audit and Deloitte Canada's issuance of an unqualified audit report on Banro's 2013 financial statements, Deloitte Canada did not consider the impact on the Firm's independence of (a) the 2013 Lugushwa Press Release and 2013 Lugushwa Report; or (b) the 2014 Namoya Press Release and its statement, approved by Venmyn Deloitte's managing director, that he was responsible for the Banro mineral reserve estimates disclosed therein. Instead, the engagement team merely included the 2012 Audit Independence Memo, without updating it, in its audit work papers for the 2013 Audit.

Deloitte Canada's 2014 Banro Audit

36. Banro engaged Deloitte Canada to audit its 2014 financial statements and internal control over financial reporting ("2014 Audit"). Deloitte Canada issued an unqualified audit report on Banro's financial statements, and a qualified audit report on Banro's internal control over financial reporting given certain material weaknesses, both dated April 6, 2015. Banro included these audit reports in an Annual Report on a Form 20-F publicly filed with the Commission on April 7, 2015 ("2014 Annual Report").

37. Venmyn Deloitte provided Banro with the 2014 Namoya Report on May 12, 2014. Banro publicly furnished a copy of the report to the Commission on May 20, 2014, attached as an exhibit to a Form 6-K. The report disclosed the same mineral resource and reserve estimates as the 2014 Namoya Press Release. In the report, the Managing Director certified that he was the "qualified person" within the meaning of NI 43-101 and stated, "I am responsible for the entire Technical Report".

38. Although Banro did not obtain consents from the Managing Director and Venmyn Deloitte to use their names in connection with the 2013 Lugushwa Report and 2014 Namoya Report, both reports were listed by Banro as exhibits to and incorporated by reference in its 2014 Annual Report. In particular, the 2014 Annual Report contained a discussion of Banro's mining assets and referenced both technical reports for further information.

39. In 2014, Deloitte Canada was inspected by the PCAOB's Division of Registration and Inspections ("DRI"), and the Banro 2013 Audit was selected for review. In early 2015 as part of this inspection, DRI communicated to the Firm its independence concerns as to the non-audit services provided, and related public statements made, by the Managing Director and Venmyn Deloitte in connection with the 2013 Lugushwa Report and 2014 Namoya Report.

40. In response to DRI's concerns, and prior to the Firm's issuance of its 2014 audit reports on April 6, 2015, Deloitte Canada considered the impact on the Firm's independence of the non-audit work reflected in the 2013 Lugushwa Report and 2014 Namoya Report, and concluded the Firm's independence had not been impaired. In doing so, the Firm did not adequately consider the impact on its independence of the public statements made by Venmyn Deloitte's managing director as the "qualified person" "responsible" for the gold mineral resource estimates in the 2013 Lugushwa Press Release and 2013 Lugushwa Report, and gold mineral reserve estimates in the 2014 Namoya Press Release and 2014 Namoya Report.

Deloitte Canada Violated Auditor Independence Requirements

41. As a result of the above conduct, Deloitte Canada's independence in connection with the 2012 Audit was impaired because, when the engagement team elected to use the 2012 Namoya Report as audit evidence to support key management representations and conclusions, and evaluated the underlying assumptions of the Namoya valuation therein, the engagement team put itself in the position of auditing its own work because the report now belonged to an associated entity of the Firm. By the time of the 2012 Audit, it was Venmyn Deloitte, and not Venmyn Rand, that was reaffirming and taking responsibility for the report's valuation of the Namoya mine as reflected in the Reliance Letter and 2013 Consents.

42. In addition, as a result of the above conduct, Deloitte Canada's independence in connection with the 2012 Audit, 2013 Audit, and 2014 Audit was also impaired because of public statements made by Venmyn Deloitte's managing director taking responsibility as the "qualified person" for certain mineral resource and reserve estimates for Banro's gold mines, as reflected in the 2013 Lugushwa Press Release, 2013 Lugushwa Report, 2014 Namoya Press Release, and 2014 Namoya Report. These public statements by Venmyn Deloitte, an associated entity of Deloitte Canada, created a mutual interest between Deloitte Canada and Banro, the Firm's audit client, in the present and future accuracy of these mineral resource and reserve estimates.

43. Thus, Deloitte Canada was not independent of Banro in fact and in appearance during the 2012 Audit, 2013 Audit, and 2014 Audit. Accordingly, Deloitte Canada violated PCAOB Rule 3520 because it was not independent of Banro within the meaning of Rule 2-01(b) of Regulation S-X and AU § 220.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in the Offer. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), Deloitte LLP is hereby censured.

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of $350,000 is hereby imposed upon Deloitte LLP. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of this civil money penalty will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. Deloitte LLP shall pay the civil money penalty within ten (10) days of the issuance of this Order by (1) wire transfer pursuant to instructions provided by Board staff; or (2) United States Postal Service money order, bank money order, certified check, or bank cashier's check (a) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, (b) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, and (c) submitted under a cover letter that identifies Deloitte LLP as a respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB release number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe W. Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006.

C. Pursuant to Sections 105(c)(4)(F) and (G) of the Act and PCAOB Rules 5300(a)(6) and (9), the Board hereby orders that:

1. Independence Policies and Procedures – Deloitte LLP shall conduct a review of its independence policies and procedures relating to non-audit services relevant to this Order, and determine whether modifications should be made or additional policies and procedures should be adopted for the purpose of providing Deloitte LLP with reasonable assurance of compliance with auditor independence requirements applicable to audits and reviews conducted pursuant to PCAOB standards.

2. Independence Training – Deloitte LLP shall conduct a review of its professional education and training concerning auditor independence and non-audit services relevant to this Order, and determine whether modifications should be made or additional education and training should be adopted for the purpose of providing Deloitte LLP with reasonable assurance of compliance with auditor independence requirements applicable to audits and reviews conducted pursuant to PCAOB standards.

3. Reporting – No later than ninety (90) days from the date of this Order, Deloitte LLP shall submit a written report to the Director of the Division of Enforcement and Investigations describing the reviews specified in IV.C.1 and IV.C.2 above. The report shall be in narrative form. It shall include as exhibits any modified or additional independence policies and procedures or professional education and training adopted by Deloitte LLP or, if no such policies and procedures or professional education and training are adopted, a detailed explanation of all the reasons why Deloitte LLP believes no modified or additional policies and procedures or professional education and training should be adopted. In addition, Deloitte LLP shall submit any additional information and evidence concerning the report, the information in the report, the exhibits thereto, and Deloitte LLP's compliance with this Order as the staff of the Division of Enforcement and Investigations may reasonably request.

4. Certificate of Compliance – No later than one hundred twenty (120) days from the date of this Order, Deloitte LLP's Chief Executive Officer shall certify in writing ("Certificate of Compliance") to the Director of the Division of Enforcement and Investigations that Deloitte LLP has undertaken the actions and satisfied the conditions specified above. The Certificate of Compliance shall provide written evidence of Deloitte LLP's compliance in narrative form, identify the actions undertaken to satisfy the conditions specified above, and be supported by exhibits sufficient to demonstrate compliance.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

October 16, 2018

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street NW
Washington, DC 20006
Office: (202) 207-9100
Fax: (202) 862-8430
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of Ricardo Agustín García Chagoyán, José Ignacio Valle Aparicio, and Rubén Eduardo Guerrero Cervera, Respondents.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2018-021 October 30, 2018

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("Board" or "PCAOB") is censuring Ricardo Agustín García Chagoyán ("García"), José Ignacio Valle Aparicio ("Valle"), and Rubén Eduardo Guerrero Cervera ("Guerrero") and barring each of them (collectively, "Respondents") from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm.[1] The Board is also imposing civil money penalties in the amounts of $50,000 upon García and Valle and $30,000 upon Guerrero. The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that García, Valle, and Guerrero violated PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the audits of the consolidated financial statements of EZCORP, Inc. ("EZCORP") as of and for the fiscal years ended September 30, 2013 ("FY 2013") and September 30, 2014 ("FY 2014").

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended ("Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondents.

[1] Each Respondent may file a petition for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm after two (2) years from the date of this Order.

II.

In anticipation of the institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondents have each submitted an Offer of Settlement (collectively, the "Offers") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over Respondents and the subject matter of these proceedings, which is admitted, Respondents consent to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[2]

III.

On the basis of Respondents' Offers, the Board finds[3] that:

A. Respondents

1. Ricardo Agustín García Chagoyán, 53, of Mexico City, Mexico, is a registered public accountant licensed under the laws of Mexico (license no. 15784). García is a partner in the Mexico City office of the PCAOB registered firm Galaz, Yamazaki, Ruiz Urquiza, S.C. ("Deloitte Mexico" or the "Firm"). Garcia was the partner responsible for Deloitte Mexico's component audit work in connection with the audit of EZCORP's September 30, 2013 consolidated financial statements. At all relevant times, García was an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

2. José Ignacio Valle Aparicio, 46, of Mexico City, Mexico, is a registered public accountant licensed under the laws of Mexico (license no. 17649). Valle is a partner in Deloitte Mexico's Mexico City office. Valle was the partner responsible for Deloitte Mexico's component audit work in connection with the audit of EZCORP's September 30, 2014 consolidated financial statements. From October 2015 to July

---

[2] The findings herein are made pursuant to Respondents' Offers and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

[3] The Board finds that Respondents' conduct described in this Order meets the conditions set out in Section 105(c)(5) of the Act, which provides that certain sanctions may be imposed in the event of: (A) intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, that results in violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard; or (B) repeated instances of negligent conduct, each resulting in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard.

2018, he also served as leader of Deloitte Mexico's Financial Services Industry program. At all relevant times, Valle was an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

3. Rubén Eduardo Guerrero Cervera, 37, of Mexico City, Mexico, is a registered public accountant licensed under the laws of Mexico (license no. 15532). Guerrero was a manager assigned to the Deloitte Mexico engagement teams that performed component audit work in connection with the audits of EZCORP's September 30, 2013 and September 30, 2014 financial statements. Guerrero's responsibilities included supervision of other members of the Deloitte Mexico engagement teams; review of the work performed and conclusions reached by the teams; and communications with EZCORP's principal auditor, U.S.-based Deloitte LLP ("Deloitte US"). In June 2015, Guerrero became a partner of Deloitte Mexico. At all relevant times, Guerrero was an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

B. Relevant Entities

4. Deloitte Mexico is a partnership organized under the laws of Mexico and headquartered in Mexico City. It is a member of the Deloitte Touche Tohmatsu Limited global network ("Deloitte Global"). Deloitte Mexico registered with the PCAOB on May 28, 2004. It currently serves as the auditor for approximately three issuer audit clients and, moreover, performs audit work that other PCAOB-registered firms, including member firms of Deloitte Global, use or rely on in issuing audit reports for their issuer clients.

5. Deloitte US is a Delaware limited liability partnership with headquarters in New York, New York. It is a member of Deloitte Global. It registered with the PCAOB on October 20, 2003.

6. EZCORP is a Delaware corporation headquartered in Rollingwood, Texas. EZCORP's common stock is registered under Section 12(b) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and quoted on the NASDAQ under ticker symbol "EZPW." At all relevant times, EZCORP was an issuer, as defined in Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii). During the relevant time, the company's public filings disclosed that it was a provider of pawn loans, short-term consumer loans, and credit services in the United States, Mexico, Canada, and the United Kingdom. Deloitte US prepared and issued the audit reports on EZCORP's consolidated financial statements and internal control over financial reporting ("ICFR") as of and for each of the years ended September 30, 2013 and 2014, which were filed with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission on November 26, 2013 and November 26, 2014, respectively.

7. Prestaciones Finmart, S.A.P.I. de C.V., SOFOM, E.N.R. ("Finmart") was, at all relevant times, a Mexican subsidiary of EZCORP. Finmart was a payroll withholding lender headquartered in Mexico City, Mexico. Finmart made loans to Mexican government employees, subject to agreements authorizing the employing agencies to withhold loan repayments from borrowers' paychecks and to deposit those amounts with Finmart. Deloitte Mexico audited Finmart's financial information[4] and performed procedures on certain aspects of Finmart's ICFR as of and for each of the years ended September 30, 2013 and 2014. After each of those engagements (the "2013 Audit" and the "2014 Audit," respectively, and collectively the "2013 and 2014 Audits"), Deloitte Mexico issued a Financial Information Clearance Memorandum stating it had audited Finmart's financial information, as well as an Internal Control Clearance Memorandum stating it had evaluated the design, implementation, and operating effectiveness of the Finmart controls specified therein, and submitted both clearance memoranda along with other component audit deliverables to Deloitte US.

C. Summary

8. This matter concerns Respondents' failures to exercise due professional care, to respond adequately to a known significant risk, and to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence, as well as their misrepresentations of the work they performed in communications with the principal auditor. That conduct occurred in the course of Respondents' component audit work in 2013 and 2014 with respect to Finmart, EZCORP's then-largest subsidiary.

9. Finmart accounted in FY 2013 and FY 2014 for approximately 21% and 26% of EZCORP's consolidated assets and approximately 23% and 42% of EZCORP's consolidated pre-tax income, respectively.

10. Deloitte US determined in its audits of EZCORP's financial statements and ICFR for both FY 2013 and FY 2014 that Finmart should be in scope for audit procedures. Deloitte US engaged its Mexican affiliate—Deloitte Mexico—to perform component audit work concerning Finmart and instructed Deloitte Mexico to perform that audit work in accordance with PCAOB auditing standards.[5] Deloitte US relied on that work in issuing its audit reports expressing unqualified opinions on EZCORP's financial statements and ICFR for FY 2013 and FY 2014.

---

[4] The referral instructions issued by Deloitte US directed Deloitte Mexico, among other things, to perform an audit of Finmart's financial information, which included account balances and classes of transactions on Finmart's balance sheet and income statement.

[5] Deloitte Mexico's component audits in both years were engagements to which AU Section 543, Part of Audit Performed by Other Independent Auditors, applied.

11. García and Guerrero in the 2013 Audit, and Valle and Guerrero in the 2014 Audit, assessed Finmart's allowance for loan losses ("Loan Reserve")—the total amount that Finmart estimated it would not be able to collect from borrowers—as a significant risk. In each audit, Respondents understood that a critical element of Finmart's Loan Reserve calculation was its classification of a loan as "in-payroll" or "out-of-payroll." A loan was considered in-payroll if the borrower was still a government employee having repayment amounts withheld from his or her paycheck. A loan was considered out-of-payroll if the borrower was no longer a government employee having amounts withheld. During the audits, Respondents understood that out-of-payroll loans carried a much higher risk of nonpayment. Respondents were also aware of the importance of whether Finmart was accurately classifying loans as in-payroll or out-of-payroll when estimating its Loan Reserve. Yet Respondents failed in each audit to test the accuracy of that classification. They also failed to perform retrospective reviews of the Loan Reserve—that is, to compare prior-year estimates with actual results. Accordingly, they failed to obtain sufficient evidence that the Loan Reserve was reasonable.

12. Respondents also failed to perform procedures with respect to Finmart's ICFR that they claimed to have performed in communications with the principal auditor. In the 2013 Audit, García and Guerrero misrepresented to Deloitte US that they had evaluated the design and operating effectiveness of 28 specified controls. In fact, García and Guerrero had failed to evaluate the operating effectiveness of all but one of those controls, and also had failed to evaluate the design effectiveness of nine reported controls that related to the Loan Reserve. In the 2014 Audit, Valle and Guerrero misrepresented in Deloitte Mexico's final deliverables that they had evaluated the operating effectiveness of controls relating to Finmart's Loan Reserve, when in fact they had failed to perform any operating effectiveness testing of Finmart's Loan Reserve controls.

13. In November 2015, EZCORP amended its FY 2014 Form 10-K to restate its financial statements for FY 2014, FY 2013, and FY 2012. EZCORP disclosed that the need to restate related in part to Finmart's misclassification of certain loans as in-payroll when in fact they were out-of-payroll. Because those misclassified loans carried a much higher risk of nonpayment than loans subject to payroll withholdings, the misclassification caused Finmart to understate its Loan Reserve and loan bad debt expense.

14. EZCORP also disclosed that it had reassessed its evaluation of the effectiveness of its ICFR as of September 30, 2014 and concluded that it had failed to maintain effective ICFR. EZCORP further disclosed that management had failed to recognize the extent of non-performing loans at Finmart or understand the reasons that loans were non-performing due to control deficiencies, including missing or inadequate processes to identify and address overdue loans and failures by accounting and management personnel to review detailed loan performance data.

D. Respondents Violated PCAOB Rules and Standards

15. PCAOB rules[6] require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons comply with the Board's auditing standards.[7] Among other things, PCAOB standards require auditors to design and implement audit responses that address the risks of material misstatement identified and assessed by the auditors.[8] They must also perform audit procedures to obtain sufficient appropriate evidence to provide a reasonable basis for the opinion expressed in the auditor's report,[9] as well as evaluate the results of the audit to determine whether the audit evidence obtained is sufficient and appropriate to support that opinion[10] Moreover, PCAOB standards require auditors to exercise due professional care and professional skepticism in planning and performing audits.[11] For the reasons set forth below, Respondents failed to comply with these and other PCAOB auditing standards in connection with the 2013 and 2014 Audits.

García and Guerrero Violated PCAOB Rules and Standards in the 2013 Audit

16. On July 30, 2013, Deloitte US issued referral instructions to Deloitte Mexico for the 2013 Audit. Those instructions "set out the scope of work to be performed" by Deloitte Mexico "as component auditors for the purpose of the audit of

---

[6] All references to PCAOB rules and standards are to the versions of those rules and standards in effect at the time of the relevant audits. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its auditing standards using a topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Release No. 2015-002 (March 31, 2015); see also PCAOB Auditing Standards Reorganized and Pre-Reorganized Numbering (January 2017).

[7] See PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards; PCAOB Rule 3200T, Interim Auditing Standards.

[8] Auditing Standard No. 13, The Auditor's Responses to the Risks of Material Misstatement ("AS 13"), ¶ 3.

[9] Auditing Standard No. 15, Audit Evidence ("AS 15"), ¶ 4.

[10] Auditing Standard No. 14, Evaluating Audit Results ("AS 14"), ¶ 2.

[11] See AU § 150.02, Generally Accepted Auditing Standards; AU § 230, Due Professional Care in the Performance of Work.

[EZCORP]'s financial statements for the year ending 30 September 2013," and stated that Deloitte Mexico's procedures should be completed in accordance with PCAOB auditing standards. Deloitte Mexico was also "requested to evaluate the design, determine the implementation and test the operating effectiveness of controls, consistent with the account balances and classes of transactions to be subjected to testing by" Deloitte Mexico.

17. García and Guerrero each read and understood Deloitte US's referral instructions during the audit and understood them to reflect what the principal auditor wanted performed by the component auditor. García authorized, signed, and directed the submission to Deloitte US of an "Acknowledgment of Referral Instructions" stating, among other things, that Deloitte Mexico "will be able to comply with the instructions," and Guerrero subsequently emailed that document to Deloitte US.

18. As part of their assessment of the risks of material misstatement for the 2013 Audit, García and Guerrero identified Finmart's Loan Reserve as a significant risk and as one of the "main accounting estimates performed by management." García and Guerrero also concluded that the Loan Reserve was a factor for determining that the 2013 Audit posed "Greater than Normal" risk. Those risk assessment determinations were set out in an Audit Summary Memorandum that García and Guerrero reviewed during the audit and that Guerrero emailed to Deloitte US.

19. Upon completion of the 2013 Audit, García authorized, signed, and directed the submission to Deloitte US of, and Guerrero emailed to Deloitte US, Deloitte Mexico's Financial Information Clearance Memorandum and Internal Control Clearance Memorandum.

Failure to Appropriately Evaluate the Reasonableness of Finmart's Loan Reserve

20. The audit work that Deloitte US instructed Deloitte Mexico to perform included evaluating the reasonableness of Finmart's Loan Reserve. Deloitte US also instructed Deloitte Mexico not to rely on Finmart's controls in connection with substantive testing for the financial information audit.

21. As originally recorded as of September 30, 2013, Finmart's outstanding receivables from the loan portfolio were approximately $137.1 million, offset by a Loan Reserve of approximately $0.8 million. The resulting net total of $136.3 million represented 76% of Finmart's recorded assets as of September 30, 2013. Finmart classified those loans as either in-payroll ("en nómina") or out-of-payroll ("fuera de nómina"). Finmart's policy was to classify a loan as out-of-payroll if the borrower was no longer employed by the entity at which the borrower was employed when the loan was originated.

22. Finmart's estimated Loan Reserve was calculated based on Finmart's classification of loans as in-payroll versus out-of-payroll. Specifically, Finmart policy was to record a Loan Reserve equal to 100% of out-of-payroll loans with two or more missed payments (i.e., more than 30 days without payment).

23. Under PCAOB standards, the auditor is responsible for obtaining and evaluating sufficient appropriate evidential matter to support significant accounting estimates in an audit of financial statements and for evaluating the reasonableness of accounting estimates in the context of the financial statements taken as a whole.[12] Finmart's Loan Reserve was a significant accounting estimate.

24. Moreover, because Finmart's Loan Reserve was assessed as a significant risk, García and Guerrero were required to obtain a greater amount of persuasive audit evidence[13] and to perform substantive procedures specifically responsive to the assessed risks.[14]

25. Under AU § 342, Auditing Accounting Estimates, García and Guerrero should have used one or a combination of the following approaches in evaluating the reasonableness of the Loan Reserve estimate:

> "a. Review and test the process used by management to develop the estimate.
>
> b. Develop an independent expectation of the estimate to corroborate the reasonableness of management's estimate.
>
> c. Review subsequent events or transactions occurring prior to the date of the auditor's report."[15]

---

[12] AU § 342.01, .04, Auditing Accounting Estimates.

[13] See AS 13 ¶ 9.a ("the auditor should obtain more persuasive audit evidence the higher the auditor's assessment of risk."), see also id. ¶ 37 ("As the assessed risk of material misstatement increases, the evidence from substantive procedures that the auditor should obtain also increases"); see also AS 15 ¶ 5 ("As the risk increases, the amount of evidence that the auditor should obtain also increases. For example, ordinarily more evidence is needed to respond to significant risks.")

[14] See AS 13 ¶ 11 ("For significant risks, the auditor should perform substantive procedures, including tests of details, that are specifically responsive to the assessed risks.")

[15] AU § 342.10.

26. García and Guerrero failed to perform appropriately any of these approaches. Although Garcia, Guerrero, and their engagement team performed certain limited procedures over Finmart's Loan Reserve calculation, such as re-sorting a Finmart-prepared loan portfolio listing and adding up loan balances, they failed to test the accuracy of the data underlying Finmart's Loan Reserve calculation. Specifically, García and Guerrero failed to perform any procedures to test the accuracy of the critical input into Finmart's Loan Reserve: whether a loan was in-payroll or out-of-payroll.[16]

27. García and Guerrero noted certain fields in database information obtained from Finmart that reflected whether each loan in Finmart's portfolio was in-payroll or out-of-payroll, and they understood that Finmart populated those fields based on reports from government agencies. However, García and Guerrero took for granted the accuracy of those fields and failed to obtain evidence about the accuracy of the reports. They did not, for example, seek to compare them against any reliable information from the government agencies themselves. The failure to test the data underlying the Loan Reserve calculation or otherwise obtain sufficient appropriate evidence that the estimate was reasonable meant García and Guerrero did not obtain reasonable assurance concerning the Loan Reserve.[17]

28. Moreover, García and Guerrero should have performed a retrospective review of Finmart's Loan Reserve.[18] The referral instructions that Deloitte US sent to Deloitte Mexico included a retrospective review as one of seven planned procedures to be performed by Deloitte Mexico to test the Loan Reserve. García and Guerrero, however, never performed a retrospective review.

29. Because García and Guerrero failed to test the accuracy of the data underlying the Loan Reserve and to perform a retrospective review, they failed to [16] See AS 15 ¶ 10 ("When using information produced by the company as audit evidence, the auditor should evaluate whether the information is sufficient and appropriate for purposes of the audit by performing procedures to: Test the accuracy and completeness of the information, or test the controls over the accuracy and completeness of that information . . . .").

---

[17] See AS 15 ¶¶ 4, 10; AU § 342.07b; see also AU § 150.02; AU § 230.

[18] See AU § 316.64, Consideration of Fraud in a Financial Statement Audit ("The auditor also should perform a retrospective review of significant accounting estimates reflected in the financial statements of the prior year to determine whether management judgments and assumptions relating to the estimates indicate a possible bias on the part of management."); see also AU § 342.14; AS 14 ¶ 27, Note; AU § 150.02; AU § 230.

evaluate appropriately the Loan Reserve, to exercise due professional care, and to obtain sufficient audit evidence to support Deloitte Mexico's reporting on Finmart's financial information to Deloitte US.

Lack of Due Professional Care in Testing Controls

30. At the time of the 2013 Audit, García and Guerrero understood that Deloitte US planned to opine on the effectiveness of EZCORP's ICFR as of September 30, 2013, and that Deloitte US's ICFR opinion would be based in part on Deloitte Mexico's Internal Control Clearance Memorandum.[19] García nevertheless approved and signed, and Guerrero reviewed and emailed to Deloitte US, Deloitte Mexico's Internal Control Clearance Memorandum knowing that Deloitte Mexico had not performed certain of the control testing described therein, in violation of the requirement of due professional care.

31. The Internal Control Clearance Memorandum stated that for the 28 controls listed, Deloitte Mexico had "tested whether each relevant control was operating effectively . . . to prevent, or detect and correct, material misstatements at the relevant assertion level." In fact, however, García and Guerrero had failed to test the operating effectiveness of all but one of those 28 controls.

32. Moreover, the Internal Control Clearance Memorandum stated that Deloitte Mexico had tested 28 controls, identified by one- or two-sentence descriptions, for design effectiveness. Of the 28 controls, nine were controls over Finmart's Loan Reserve. García and Guerrero, however, never tested the design effectiveness of the Loan Reserve controls described in the Internal Control Clearance Memorandum. Indeed, the descriptions of Loan Reserve controls included in the Memorandum were not even controls that García and Guerrero identified as being in place at Finmart in FY 2013. Nonetheless, Guerrero reviewed the Internal Control Clearance Memorandum containing those descriptions, García approved and signed it, and Guerrero sent the signed document to Deloitte US. García's and Guerrero's conduct demonstrated a lack of due professional care[20] and violated audit documentation requirements.[21]

---

[19] Although Deloitte US instructed Deloitte Mexico not to rely on controls in connection with substantive testing for the financial information audit, Deloitte US instructed Deloitte Mexico to test Finmart's controls in order to support Deloitte US's ICFR opinion for EZCORP.

[20] See AU § 150.02; AU § 230.

[21] See Auditing Standard No. 3, Audit Documentation ("AS 3"), ¶ 6.a. (Audit documentation "must contain sufficient information to enable an experienced auditor,

Valle and Guerrero Violated PCAOB Rules and Standards in the 2014 Audit

33. Valle and Guerrero in the 2014 Audit failed to appropriately evaluate the reasonableness of the Loan Reserve and made misrepresentations to principal auditor Deloitte US about the procedures they performed to test Finmart's controls.

34. Deloitte US for FY 2014 instructed Deloitte Mexico to perform certain audit work on Finmart's financial information and controls to support Deloitte US's audit opinions on EZCORP's financial statements and ICFR, and further instructed that Deloitte Mexico's audit work be performed in accordance with PCAOB standards.

35. Valle and Guerrero each read and understood Deloitte US's FY 2014 referral instructions. Valle authorized, signed, and directed the submission to Deloitte US of an "Acknowledgment of Referral Instructions" stating, among other things, that Deloitte Mexico "will be able to comply with the instructions," and Guerrero subsequently emailed that document to Deloitte US.

36. As part of their assessment of the risks of material misstatement for the 2014 Audit, Valle and Guerrero identified the Loan Reserve as a significant risk. Valle and Guerrero also identified the Loan Reserve as an accounting estimate that was "highly dependent upon judgment or assumptions" and as a factor for assigning "Greater than Normal" risk to the 2014 Audit.

37. Upon completion of the 2014 Audit, Valle authorized, signed, and directed the submission to Deloitte US of, and Guerrero emailed to Deloitte US, Deloitte Mexico's Financial Information Clearance Memorandum and Internal Control Clearance Memorandum.

Failure to Appropriately Evaluate the Reasonableness of Finmart's Loan Reserve

38. Deloitte US for FY 2014 instructed Deloitte Mexico to audit certain financial information of Finmart, which included evaluating the reasonableness of Finmart's Loan Reserve. Deloitte US again instructed Deloitte Mexico not to rely on Finmart's controls in connection with substantive testing for the financial information audit.

---

having no previous connection with the engagement . . . [t]o understand the nature, timing, extent, and results of the procedures performed, evidence obtained, and conclusions reached.").

39. As originally recorded as of September 30, 2014, Finmart's outstanding receivables from the loan portfolio were approximately $115.8 million, offset by a Loan Reserve of $4.5 million. The resulting net total of $111.3 million represented 43% of recorded assets recorded as of September 30, 2014.

40. Finmart's policy in FY 2014 was to record a Loan Reserve equal to 100% of out-of-payroll loans with two or more missed payments (i.e., more than 30 days without payment). As in the previous year, therefore, Finmart's calculation of its Loan Reserve as of September 30, 2014 was based on its classification of loans as in-payroll versus out-of-payroll.

41. Valle and Guerrero in the 2014 Audit took substantially the same approach with respect to the Loan Reserve as García and Guerrero in the 2013 Audit. They performed the same limited procedures over Finmart's Loan Reserve calculation, but again failed to test the accuracy of the data underlying that calculation. Specifically, Valle and Guerrero failed to obtain evidence or otherwise perform procedures to test the accuracy of Finmart's classification of in-payroll versus out-of-payroll loans. Instead, Valle and Guerrero treated Finmart database information concerning the classification of loans as in-payroll versus out-of-payroll as if it were itself audit evidence, rather than as untested client information underlying a significant accounting estimate. Accordingly, Valle and Guerrero failed to evaluate appropriately the reasonableness of the Loan Reserve and to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence.

42. Moreover, although Valle and Guerrero included a retrospective review of the Loan Reserve as part of their audit plan and informed Deloitte US that they planned to perform such a review, they never performed a retrospective review.

43. Because Valle and Guerrero failed to test the accuracy of the data underlying the Loan Reserve and to perform a retrospective review, they failed to evaluate appropriately the reasonableness of the Loan Reserve, to exercise due professional care, and to obtain sufficient audit evidence to support Deloitte Mexico's reporting on Finmart's financial information to Deloitte US.

Lack of Due Professional Care in Testing Controls

44. Valle and Guerrero in the 2014 Audit made misrepresentations concerning their control testing in Deloitte Mexico's reporting to Deloitte US.

45. Specifically, Valle and Guerrero included in the Internal Control Clearance Memorandum submitted to Deloitte US a list of Finmart controls, including Loan Reserve controls, that Deloitte Mexico had purportedly evaluated to determine whether each "was operating effectively." Valle and Guerrero, however, failed to test the operating effectiveness of Finmart's Loan Reserve controls.[22]

46. Valle approved and signed, and Guerrero reviewed and sent to Deloitte US, Deloitte Mexico's Internal Control Clearance Memorandum even though it mischaracterized Deloitte Mexico's procedures as including the testing of operating effectiveness of Finmart's Loan Reserve controls. This conduct demonstrated a lack of due professional care[23] and violated audit documentation requirements.[24]

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondent's Offer. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), Ricardo Agustín García Chagoyán, José Ignacio Valle Aparicio, and Rubén Eduardo Guerrero Cervera are hereby censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(B) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(2), Ricardo Agustín García Chagoyán is barred from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm, as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i);[25] and

---

[22] As with the 2013 Audit, Deloitte US for the 2014 Audit instructed Deloitte Mexico not to rely on controls in connection with substantive testing for the financial information audit, but instructed Deloitte Mexico to test Finmart's controls in order to support Deloitte US's ICFR opinion for EZCORP.

[23] See AU § 150.02; AU § 230.

[24] See AS 3 ¶ 6.a.

[25] As a consequence of the bar, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act will apply with respect to García. Section 105(c)(7)(B) provides: "It shall be unlawful for any person that is suspended or barred from being associated with a registered public accounting firm under this subsection willfully to become or remain associated with any issuer, broker, or dealer in an accountancy or a financial management capacity, and for any issuer, broker, or dealer that knew, or in the exercise of reasonable care should have known, of such suspension or bar, to permit such an association, without the consent of the Board or the Commission."

C. After two (2) years from the date of this Order, Ricardo Agustín García Chagoyán may file a petition, pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5302(b), for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm;

D. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(B) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(2), José Ignacio Valle Aparicio is barred from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm, as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i);[26] and

E. After two (2) years from the date of this Order, José Ignacio Valle Aparicio may file a petition, pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5302(b), for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm;

F. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(B) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(2), Rubén Eduardo Guerrero Cervera is barred from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm, as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i);[27] and

G. After two (2) years from the date of this Order, Rubén Eduardo Guerrero Cervera may file a petition, pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5302(b), for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm; and

H. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), civil money penalties in the amounts of $50,000 payable by Ricardo Agustín García Chagoyán, $50,000 payable by José Ignacio Valle

---

[26] As a consequence of the bar, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act will apply with respect to Valle. Section 105(c)(7)(B) provides: "It shall be unlawful for any person that is suspended or barred from being associated with a registered public accounting firm under this subsection willfully to become or remain associated with any issuer, broker, or dealer in an accountancy or a financial management capacity, and for any issuer, broker, or dealer that knew, or in the exercise of reasonable care should have known, of such suspension or bar, to permit such an association, without the consent of the Board or the Commission."

[27] As a consequence of the bar, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act will apply with respect to Guerrero. Section 105(c)(7)(B) provides: "It shall be unlawful for any person that is suspended or barred from being associated with a registered public accounting firm under this subsection willfully to become or remain associated with any issuer, broker, or dealer in an accountancy or a financial management capacity, and for any issuer, broker, or dealer that knew, or in the exercise of reasonable care should have known, of such suspension or bar, to permit such an association, without the consent of the Board or the Commission."

ORDER

Aparicio, and $30,000 payable by Rubén Eduardo Guerrero Cervera are imposed. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of these civil money penalties will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. Ricardo Agustín García Chagoyán, José Ignacio Valle Aparicio, and Rubén Eduardo Guerrero Cervera shall pay these civil money penalties within ten (10) days of the issuance of this Order by (1) wire transfer pursuant to instructions provided by Board staff; or (2) United States Postal Service money order, bank money order, certified check, or bank cashier's check (a) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, (b) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, and (c) submitted under a cover letter that identifies Ricardo Agustín García Chagoyán, José Ignacio Valle Aparicio, or Rubén Eduardo Guerrero Cervera as a respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB release number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe W. Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

_____

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

October 30, 2018

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street NW
Washington, DC 20006
Office: (202) 207-9100
Fax: (202) 862-8430
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of Crowe MacKay LLP, Respondent.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2018-025 December 20, 2018

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("Board" or "PCAOB") is censuring Crowe MacKay LLP ("Respondent" or "Firm"), imposing a civil money penalty of $25,000 on the Firm, and requiring the Firm to undertake certain remedial measures. The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that Respondent violated PCAOB rules and standards in connection with fiscal year end 2014 and 2015 audits of one issuer client and violated PCAOB quality control standards concerning client acceptance and continuance and engagement performance.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondent.

II.

In anticipation of institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, the Respondent has submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offer") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over Respondent and the subject matter of these proceedings, which are admitted,

Respondent consents to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[1]

III.

On the basis of Respondent's Offer, the Board finds that:

A. Respondent

1. Crowe MacKay LLP is, and at all relevant times was, a Canadian limited liability partnership headquartered in Edmonton, Alberta, with a total of eight offices, each in Canada. The Firm is registered with the Board pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules. The Firm is licensed to practice public accounting by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of British Columbia, License No. 002067. At all relevant times, the Firm was the independent auditor for the issuer identified in this Order.

B. Summary

2. This matter concerns Respondent's violations of PCAOB rules and standards in connection with its audits of the fiscal year ended December 31, 2014 and December 31, 2015 financial statements of Hunt Mining Corp. ("HMC"), as well as violations of PCAOB quality control standards in the areas of client acceptance and continuance, and engagement performance.

C. The Firm Violated PCAOB Rules and Standards

3. In connection with the preparation and issuance of an audit report, PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons comply with the PCAOB's auditing and related professional practice standards.[2] PCAOB

---

[1] The findings herein are made pursuant to the Respondent's Offer and are not binding on any other persons or entities in this or any other proceeding.

[2] PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards; PCAOB Rule 3200T, Interim Auditing Standards. All references to PCAOB rules and standards are to the versions of those rules and standards in effect at the time of the relevant audits. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its auditing standards using a topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Release No. 2015-002 (Mar. 31, 2015); see also PCAOB Auditing Standards Reorganized and Pre-Reorganized Numbering (Jan. 2017).

standards also provide that due professional care be exercised in the planning and performance of the audit and the preparation of the report.[3]

4. PCAOB auditing standards state that the auditor should perform certain activities at the beginning of the audit, including performing procedures regarding the continuance of a client relationship and the specific audit engagement.[4] PCAOB standards also require that the auditor plan and perform audit procedures to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to provide a reasonable basis for his or her opinion.[5]

5. As part of planning activities, PCAOB auditing standards also require that the auditor evaluate whether certain matters are important to the company's financial statements and internal control over financial reporting, and if so, how they will affect the auditor's procedures, including, but not limited to: matters affecting the industry in which the company operates, such as financial reporting practices, economic conditions, laws and regulations; matters relating to the company's business, including its organization, operating characteristics, and capital structure; and legal or regulatory matters of which the company is aware.[6]

6. As described below, Respondents failed to comply with PCAOB rules and standards during the 2014 and 2015 HMC audits.

D. The Firm's 2014 and 2015 HMC Audits

7. HMC, at all relevant times, was a Canadian corporation incorporated in British Columbia, and headquartered in the United States, in Liberty Lake, Washington. HMC's public filings disclose that it is an "exploration-stage" mineral company engaged in the acquisition and exploration of mineral properties. At all relevant times, HMC was an "issuer" as that term is defined by Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

8. In January 2015, HMC engaged the Firm as its auditor, and the Firm agreed to audit HMC's fiscal year ended December 31, 2014 financial statements. However, in accepting the client and planning the audit, the Firm failed to exercise due care and

---

[3] See AU § 150, Generally Accepted Auditing Standards; AU § 230, Due Professional Care in the Performance of Work.

[4] Auditing Standard ("AS") No. 9, Audit Planning, ¶ 6.

[5] AS No. 15, Audit Evidence, ¶ 4.

[6] AS No. 9 ¶ 7.

professional skepticism, and failed to plan audit procedures to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to provide a reasonable basis for the Firm's audit report.[7]

9. In particular, the Firm failed to evaluate relevant public information about matters important to the company's financial statements and internal control over financial reporting, namely HMC's most recent annual filings with the Canadian Securities Administrators, which stated that HMC was a registered "foreign private issuer for the purposes of United States federal securities laws."[8]

10. The Firm also failed to consider information in the prior year's audit working papers obtained from the predecessor auditor. Specifically, these working papers indicated that HMC was a United States foreign private issuer and its 2013 financial statements were required to be audited under PCAOB standards as a result of filing a registration statement with the Securities and Exchange Commission ("Commission") on Form F-1 in 2012.

11. Generally speaking, the Firm used International Standards on Auditing audit programs in performing audits, which did not include, or sufficiently address, PCAOB auditing standards requirements.

12. On May 1, 2015, HMC filed a Form 20-F with the Commission that included its financial statements as of and for the year ended December 31, 2014, and the Firm's audit report dated April 30, 2015. The Firm's audit report stated that its audit was conducted in accordance with both Canadian Generally Accepted Auditing Standards ("Canadian GAAS") and PCAOB standards.

13. The Firm also performed an audit of HMC's 2015 financial statements. At the outset of the 2015 audit, the Firm failed to perform sufficient procedures regarding the continuance of the client relationship with HMC.[9] As in the prior year, the Firm's working papers included documentation indicating that HMC was a United States issuer, including a copy of the Form 20-F filed with the Commission on May 1, 2015. Despite having this information, the Firm again failed to exercise due care and professional skepticism, and failed to perform sufficient procedures during audit planning to evaluate relevant public information about the company, or obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to provide a reasonable basis for the Firm's audit report.[10]

---

[7] See AU §§ 150, 230; AS No. 15 ¶ 4.

[8] AS No. 9 ¶ 7.

[9] See AS No. 9 ¶ 6; QC Section 20.14, System of Quality Control for a CPA Firm's Accounting and Auditing Practice.

[10] See AU §§ 150, 230; AS No. 9 ¶ 7; AS No. 15 ¶ 4.

14. On May 26, 2016, HMC filed a Form 20-F that included its financial statements as of and for the year ended December 31, 2015, and the Firm's audit report dated May 5, 2016. Although the audit was required to be performed in accordance with PCAOB standards, the Firm's audit report on the issuer's December 31, 2015 financial statements indicated that the audit was conducted in accordance with Canadian GAAS, and did not make reference to PCAOB standards.

15. After the two aforementioned audits were performed, the PCAOB conducted an inspection of the Firm in January 2017. During the inspection, PCAOB Division of Registration and Inspections staff ("Inspections staff") identified that the Firm's audit reports were included in HMC's filings with the Commission, even though the Firm had not included HMC in its initial list of issuer clients provided to the PCAOB. As a result, the Firm notified the Inspections staff during fieldwork that it only then became aware that its reports were included with these filings and that HMC was a United States issuer that required audits pursuant to PCAOB standards.

16. As a result, the Firm resigned as HMC's auditor, informed HMC that its 2014 and 2015 reports were filed without its knowledge, withdrew its audit reports, and asked HMC to advise the appropriate regulators, including the Commission, that the reports had been withdrawn.

17. On April 3, 2017, HMC filed a Form 8-K dated March 31, 2017 with the Commission indicating that the Firm had resigned as the issuer's independent registered public accountant effective March 20, 2017. The filing stated that there were no disagreements or reportable events as defined in Item 304 of Regulation S-K in connection with the Firm's resignation, and did not mention that the Firm had withdrawn its reports.

18. On April 13, 2017, the Firm, in a letter to the Commission, stated that it agreed with the statements in HMC's March 31, 2017 Form 8-K. The letter, which was included in HMC's Form 8-K filed with the Commission on April 14, 2017, did not inform the Commission that the Firm had withdrawn its reports, had no knowledge of their inclusion with HMC's filings, and that the 2014 and 2015 audits had not been conducted pursuant to PCAOB standards.

E. The Firm Violated PCAOB Rules and Standards Related to Quality Control

19. PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons comply with the Board's quality control standards.[11] PCAOB quality control standards require that a registered public accounting firm establish policies and procedures to provide the firm with reasonable assurance that the work performed by engagement personnel meets applicable professional standards, regulatory requirements,

[11] PCAOB Rule 3100; PCAOB Rule 3400T, Interim Quality Control Standards.

and the firm's standards of quality.[12] PCAOB quality control standards also require that registered firms establish quality control policies and procedures for deciding whether to accept or continue a client relationship and whether to perform a specific engagement for that client.[13] These policies and procedures are required to provide reasonable assurance that the firm undertakes only those engagements that the firm can reasonably expect to be completed with professional competence.[14] PCAOB quality control standards also require, "[t]o minimize the risk of misunderstandings regarding the nature, scope, and limitations of the services to be performed," that a firm's quality control policies and procedures "provide for obtaining an understanding with the client regarding those services."[15]

20. Throughout the relevant time period, the Firm failed to have in place procedures providing reasonable assurance that the work performed by the engagement personnel met applicable professional standards, regulatory requirements, and the firm's standards of quality. As described above, the Firm failed to establish and implement procedures necessary to decide whether to accept or continue a client relationship and whether to perform a specific engagement for that client.[16] The Firm also failed to establish and implement quality control policies and procedures to provide reasonable assurance that the work performed by the Firm met applicable PCAOB standards and regulatory requirements.[17]

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondent's Offer. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), Crowe MacKay LLP is hereby censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of $25,000 is imposed upon Crowe

---

[12] QC Section 20.17.

[13] QC Section 20.14.

[14] See QC Section 20.15.

[15] See QC Section 20.16.

[16] See QC Section 20.14-.16.

[17] QC Section 20.17.

MacKay LLP. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of this civil money penalty will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. Crowe MacKay LLP shall pay this civil money penalty within 10 days of the issuance of this Order by (a) wire transfer in accordance with instructions furnished by Board staff; or (b) United States Postal Service postal money order, certified check, bank cashier's check or bank money order; (c) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board; (d) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006; and (e) submitted under a cover letter which identifies Crowe MacKay LLP as a Respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB Release Number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to the Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006;

C. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(G) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(9), Crowe MacKay LLP is required:

1. within ninety (90) days from the date of this Order, to establish policies and procedures, or review and/or supplement existing quality control policies and procedures, for the purpose of providing the Firm with reasonable assurance that:

   a. The Firm undertakes only those engagements that the Firm can reasonably expect to be completed with professional competence, and that such policies and procedures provide for obtaining an understanding with the client regarding services to be performed, in compliance with QC Section 20.15-.16;

   b. The work performed by engagement personnel meets applicable professional standards, regulatory requirements, and the Firm's standards of quality, in compliance with QC Section 20.17;

   c. The Firm's quality control monitoring procedures taken as a whole enable the Firm to obtain reasonable assurance that its system of quality control is effective, in compliance with QC Section 30.03;

2. within ninety (90) days from the date of this Order, to establish a policy of ensuring training, whether internal or external, on an annual or more frequent basis, concerning identification of audit clients subject to PCAOB audit standards for all Firm personnel involved in audit services; and

3. to certify in writing to the Director of the Division of Enforcement and Investigations, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, the Firm's compliance with paragraphs C(1) & C(2) above. The certification shall identify the undertakings, provide written evidence of compliance in the form of a narrative, and be supported by exhibits sufficient to demonstrate compliance. The Firm shall submit such certification within one hundred twenty (120) days from the date of this Order. The Firm shall also submit such additional evidence of and information concerning compliance as the staff of the Division of Enforcement and Investigations may reasonably request.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

_____

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

December 20, 2018

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street NW
Washington, DC 20006
Office: (202) 207-9100
Fax: (202) 862-8430
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of Wayne J. Kaplan, CPA, Respondent.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2019-002 February 26, 2019

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (the "Board" or "PCAOB") is: (1) censuring Wayne J. Kaplan, CPA ("Kaplan" or "Respondent"); (2) limiting his activities in connection with any "audit," as that term is defined in Section 110(1) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), until two (2) years from the date of this Order, by prohibiting Kaplan from serving as an engagement quality reviewer under AS 1220, Engagement Quality Review; and (3) requiring that he complete ten (10) hours of continuing professional education concerning PCAOB standards relating to serving as an engagement quality reviewer.

The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that Kaplan violated PCAOB rules and auditing standards in connection with the integrated audit of Issuer A's December 31, 2013 financial statements and internal control over financial reporting ("ICFR").

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondent.

II.

In anticipation of institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondent has submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offer") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over Respondent and the subject matter of these proceedings, which are admitted,

Respondent consents to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[1]

III.

On the basis of Respondent's Offer, the Board finds that:[2]

A. Respondent

1. Wayne J. Kaplan, age 52, of Ambler, Pennsylvania, is a certified public accountant licensed by the Pennsylvania State Board of Accountancy (license no. CA028606L) and the New Jersey State Board of Accountancy (license no. 20CC03104600). Kaplan has been a partner at Grant Thornton LLP ("Grant Thornton" or "GT") since 1995, and was the office managing partner of GT's Philadelphia office from August 2011 through July 2014. Kaplan served as the engagement quality reviewer on Grant Thornton's integrated audits of the December 31, 2012 and 2013 financial statements and ICFR of Issuer A. Kaplan, as the engagement quality reviewer, provided his concurring approval of the issuance of Grant Thornton's March 3, 2014 audit report containing an unqualified opinion on Issuer A's December 31, 2013 financial statements and ICFR. At all relevant times, Kaplan was an audit partner in the Philadelphia office of Grant Thornton and an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined by Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

B. Relevant Entities

2. Grant Thornton LLP is a limited liability partnership organized under the laws of the state of Illinois, and headquartered in Chicago, Illinois. Grant Thornton registered with the Board on September 24, 2003, pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules. Grant Thornton has served as Issuer A's independent auditor since Issuer A's inception in 2005.

---

[1] The findings herein are made pursuant to Respondent's Offer and are not binding on any other persons or entities in this or any other proceeding.

[2] The Board finds that Respondent's conduct described in this Order meets the conditions set out in Section 105(c)(5) of the Act, 15 U.S.C. § 7215(c)(5), which provides that certain sanctions may be imposed in the event of: (1) intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, that results in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard; or (2) repeated instances of negligent conduct, each resulting in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard.

3. Issuer A is a Maryland corporation with headquarters in New York, New York. Issuer A is a diversified real estate finance company that is organized and conducts its operations to qualify as a REIT. Issuer A's investment strategy focuses on commercial real estate, commercial real estate-related assets, and, to a lesser extent, commercial finance assets. At all relevant times, Issuer A's common stock was registered under Section 12(b) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and was traded on the NYSE. At all relevant times, Issuer A was an "issuer" as the term is defined in Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

C. Summary

4. This matter concerns Kaplan's violations of PCAOB rules and auditing standards in connection with the audit of Issuer A's December 31, 2013 financial statements and ICFR ("2013 audit"). Specifically, Kaplan failed to comply with Auditing Standard No. 7, Engagement Quality Review ("AS 7") and failed to exercise due professional care, including appropriate professional skepticism, in his performance of the engagement quality review of the 2013 Issuer A audit.[3] Kaplan failed to properly evaluate (a) the engagement team's assessment of, and audit responses to, significant risks, including fraud risks; and (b) whether the engagement documentation indicated the engagement team responded appropriately to significant risks and supported the conclusions reached by the engagement team.

5. As a result of his failure to perform the engagement quality review with due professional care in conformity with PCAOB standards, Kaplan lacked an appropriate basis to provide his concurring approval of issuance of Grant Thornton's unqualified opinion on Issuer A's 2013 financial statements and ICFR.

6. Kaplan did not perform the engagement quality review with due professional care despite being on notice that Richard Huff, the engagement partner on the 2013 Issuer A audit, had significant quality issues dating back several years.[4] Because of issues including Huff's known quality problems, Grant Thornton, with Kaplan's input, placed Huff on a Partner Performance Plan ("Performance Plan") in June 2013, which mandated, among other things, that Huff take certain steps to improve his performance. Kaplan was also aware that an internal GT review team concluded that the 2012 Issuer A audit failed to comply with PCAOB standards, and that Kaplan, as engagement quality reviewer, failed to conduct an appropriate engagement quality review. Despite having this understanding regarding Huff's quality issues and findings about his own work in the prior year, at the time of his 2013 review Kaplan failed to adjust the procedures he performed to reflect the risks associated with the 2013 Issuer A audit.

---

[3] All references to PCAOB rules and standards are to the versions of those rules and standards in effect at the time of the relevant audit or review. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its auditing standards using a topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Release No. 2015-002 (Mar. 31, 2015); see also PCAOB Auditing Standards Reorganized and Pre-Reorganized Numbering (January 2017).

[4] See Richard H. Huff, Jr., CPA, PCAOB Rel. No. 105-2019-001 (Feb. 26, 2019); see also Grant Thornton LLP, PCAOB Rel. No. 105-2017-054 (Dec. 19, 2017).

D. Background

7. As of December 31, 2013, Issuer A reported total assets of $2.2 billion, including $1.4 billion in loans. Commercial real estate ("CRE") loans comprised $826 million or 59% of Issuer A's loan portfolio. Issuer A maintained an allowance for loan losses ("ALL") to cover probable losses that existed in the loan portfolio as of each period end. Issuer A's ALL for bank and CRE loans comprised two components, specific reserves based on estimated losses on individually reviewed impaired loans and a general loss reserve for non-impaired loans. GT's work papers also indicated that Issuer A relied on its loan review process, at least in part, to identify impaired loans, calculate specific reserves, and assess the sufficiency of its ALL.

8. Issuer A's impaired loans totaled $204 million or 9 percent of Issuer A's reported total assets at December 31, 2013. Impaired CRE loans comprised $194 million or 95% of total impaired loans. Issuer A reported an ALL of $13.8 million as of December 31, 2013, of which Issuer A allocated $10.4 million to CRE loans. The $10.4 million in ALL allocated to CRE loans included $4.6 million in specific reserves.

9. Before the 2013 Issuer A audit, Kaplan was aware that Huff had a history of poor quality audits. Indeed, Huff served as engagement partner for four issuer audits during 2008 through 2011 that the PCAOB inspected between 2009 and 2012. In all four, the PCAOB inspections staff found deficiencies of such significance that it appeared those audits were not supported by sufficient appropriate audit evidence. Kaplan was also aware that Huff had received negative quality indicators on his annual quality report based on his lack of professional skepticism and had also been reminded in his partner scorecards of his need to be more involved in his audit engagements and to be more skeptical of his clients. In January 2013, Kaplan and others at Grant Thornton considered removing Huff from his public and private bank and credit union clients. They did so, in part, due to concerns about the quality of Huff's audit work.

10. Grant Thornton, in response to audit quality concerns with Huff, including the PCAOB inspection results, placed Huff on a Performance Plan in mid-2013. The terms of the Performance Plan were determined by Kaplan in consultation with GT's national office. Under the terms of the Performance Plan, Huff could be removed from the partnership if he failed to show sufficient progress in, among other things, improving the quality of his audit work.

11. Shortly after the Performance Plan took effect, the Firm selected the 2012 Issuer A audit, for which Huff served as engagement partner, for an Audit Practice Review ("2013 APR"), which is an internal review during which a separate GT team reviews the audit work papers to determine whether the engagement team complied with GT's policies and professional standards. The APR team identified numerous deficiencies in the audit, including with respect to ICFR, and ultimately concluded that the 2012 Issuer A audit was noncompliant with Firm policies and PCAOB standards. The APR team also concluded that Kaplan failed to conduct an appropriate engagement quality review.

E. Applicable PCAOB Rules and Auditing Standards

12. PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons comply with the Board's auditing and related professional practice standards.[5] AS 7 required GT to perform an engagement quality review and obtain a concurring approval of issuance of its audit opinion on the 2013 Issuer A audit.[6]

13. Under AS 7, the engagement quality reviewer may provide concurring approval of issuance for an audit report only if, after performing with due professional care the review required by AS 7, he or she is not aware of a significant engagement deficiency.[7] To perform an engagement quality review with due professional care, the engagement quality reviewer must exercise sufficient professional skepticism under the circumstances.[8]

14. An engagement quality reviewer should evaluate the significant judgments made by the engagement team and the related conclusions reached in forming the overall conclusion on the engagement and in preparing the engagement report.[9] In performing an engagement quality review for an audit, the engagement quality review

---

[5] See PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards; PCAOB Rule 3200T, Interim Auditing Standards.

[6] AS 7 ¶ 1.

[7] AS 7 ¶ 12. A significant engagement deficiency in an audit exists when: "(1) the engagement team failed to obtain sufficient appropriate evidence in accordance with the standards of the PCAOB, (2) the engagement team reached an inappropriate overall conclusion on the subject matter of the engagement, (3) the engagement report is not appropriate in the circumstances, or (4) the firm is not independent of its client." Id., Note.

[8] See AU § 230.07-09.

[9] AS 7 ¶ 9.

should, among other things, evaluate the engagement team's assessment of, and audit responses to, significant risks, including fraud risks, identified by the engagement team or other significant risks identified by the engagement quality reviewer.[10] The engagement quality reviewer should also evaluate whether the engagement documentation that he or she reviewed indicates that the engagement team responded appropriately to significant risks and whether the engagement documentation that he or she reviewed supports the conclusions reached by the engagement team with respect to matters reviewed.[11]

15. As described below, Kaplan violated these PCAOB auditing standards in connection with his engagement quality review on the 2013 Issuer A audit because he failed to perform a "rigorous review" that provided "a meaningful check on the work performed by the engagement team."[12] Moreover, the engagement quality reviewer may provide concurring approval of issuance for an audit report only if, after performing with due professional care the review required by AS 7, he or she is not aware of a significant engagement deficiency.[13] AS 7 states that a "significant engagement deficiency in an audit exists when (1) the engagement team failed to obtain sufficient appropriate evidence in accordance with the standards of the PCAOB, (2) the engagement team reached an inappropriate overall conclusion on the subject matter of the engagement, (3) the engagement report is not appropriate in the circumstances, or (4) the firm is not independent of its client."[14] As described below, Kaplan failed to comply with the above PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the 2013 Issuer A audit.

F. Kaplan Violated PCAOB Rules and Auditing Standards in Connection with GT's Audit of Issuer A's 2013 Financial Statements

16. In performing his review of the 2013 Issuer A audit, Kaplan failed to adequately: (a) evaluate the engagement team's assessment of significant risks, including fraud risks; (b) evaluate the engagement team's audit responses to the significant risks the team had identified; and (c) evaluate whether the engagement documentation that he reviewed supported the conclusions reached by the engagement team.

---

[10] AS 7 ¶ 10b.

[11] AS 7 ¶ 11.

[12] See PCAOB Release No. 2009-004 (July 28, 2009) at 19.

[13] See AS 7 ¶ 12.

[14] See AS 7 ¶ 12, Note.

17. Kaplan provided his concurring approval of issuance for the audit without performing the engagement quality review with due professional care in violation of AS 7. Kaplan, despite being aware that the APR team had concluded that the 2012 Issuer A audit failed to comply with PCAOB standards, including his own engagement quality review, failed to increase the scope and depth of his engagement quality review and failed to take steps to confirm that the prior year significant engagement deficiencies were addressed in the 2013 audit approach.

Kaplan failed to adequately evaluate the engagement team's assessment of significant risks, including fraud risks

18. Kaplan, as engagement quality reviewer, was required to evaluate whether the engagement team properly assessed significant risks, including fraud risks.[15] Despite this requirement, Kaplan failed to review sufficient work papers to evaluate the foundation of the engagement team's risk assessment process, including the identification of significant risks and fraud risks, and its planned audit approach. Among the risk assessment related work papers that Kaplan failed to review were the Key Control Summary, Prior Year Significant Deficiencies Memo, Auditing Accounting Estimates Work Book, various Estimates Templates, What Could Go Wrong Work Paper, and Audit Approach Summary.

19. Kaplan also did not attend the Approval of Audit Approach Meeting for the 2013 audit, the end product of which was meant to be the agreement by the engagement partner and the engagement quality reviewer to the planned audit approach, or otherwise hold discussions with the audit team. The purpose of that meeting was to do a "deep-dive into the audit strategy, risk assessments, and related responses" and was "intended to include an in-depth, meaningful dialogue of the audit, accounting, and reporting issues related to the engagement."

20. Through his failure to sufficiently review key risk assessment related work papers and his failure to hold sufficient discussions with the audit team, Kaplan was left without an appropriate basis to evaluate the engagement team's assessment of significant risks and did not exercise due professional care. Accordingly, Kaplan provided his concurring approval of issuance for the audit without performing the engagement quality review with due professional care, in violation of AS 7.[16]

---

[15] See AS 7 ¶ 10. To do so, the engagement quality reviewer should hold discussions with the engagement team and review documentation to evaluate the engagement team's judgments and conclusions. See AS 7 ¶ 9.

[16] See AS 7 ¶ 12.

Kaplan failed to evaluate the engagement team's responses to significant risks, including fraud risks

21. PCAOB standards also required that Kaplan evaluate the engagement team's responses to significant risks identified during the engagement team's risk assessment process.[17] The engagement team identified significant risks associated with the valuation of investments priced with models or similar techniques and the ALL, as well as fraud risks related to rental income, interest income on loans, and interest income on investments. Accordingly, Kaplan was required to assess the engagement team's audit response to each of those risks.

22. On the 2013 Issuer A audit, Kaplan failed to sufficiently evaluate the engagement team's audit responses to those significant risks. Indeed, Kaplan failed to understand how the engagement team addressed those risks, including by failing to sufficiently assess the team's tests of controls for any of the significant risks, including fraud risks, identified by the engagement team. Among other things, Kaplan provided his concurring approval of issuance of the audit reports without reviewing test of controls work papers, or other relevant audit documentation, related to the known significant risks.

23. Kaplan's failure to sufficiently evaluate the team's test of controls, was compounded by his decision to review a narrow set of substantive work papers related to those significant risks and fraud risks. For example, the engagement team's planned response to address the significant risk associated with the ALL was to perform substantive loan reviews. Kaplan, however, failed to review the work paper documenting the engagement team's approach to selecting CRE loans for review and reviewed only two of the substantive loan reviews performed by the engagement team on CRE loans.[18] Because Kaplan failed to review the work paper setting forth the engagement team's approach to selecting loans for review, or other relevant audit documentation, he failed to discover that the engagement team did not make an appropriate selection of loans to test.[19]

24. Because Kaplan failed to review additional loan reviews, or other relevant audit documentation, he failed to discover that the engagement team did not

---

[17] See AS 7 ¶ 10b.

[18] Significantly, Kaplan – who was aware or should have been aware that a significant percentage of the CRE loans originated before the financial crisis presented an increased risk – reviewed only one substantive loan review performed on such a "legacy loan."

[19] See Richard H. Huff, Jr., CPA, PCAOB Rel. No. 105-2019-001 (Feb. 26, 2019).

appropriately (i) identify and evaluate potential control deficiencies; (ii) address red flags indicating that risk ratings might have been inappropriate and/or that specific reserves may have been required; and (iii) obtain relevant and reliable evidence to corroborate management's representations.

25. Kaplan also failed to review the engagement team's work papers documenting its substantive impairment test work over impaired loans that it had selected. Because Kaplan failed to review the test work, or other relevant audit documentation, he failed to discover that the engagement team did not properly evaluate the reasonableness of the specific reserves against the loans in those relationships, and failed to discover that the engagement team had not sufficiently addressed contrary audit evidence. In fact, Kaplan failed to discover that the engagement team had failed to assess whether it had obtained an impairment calculation from Issuer A that complied with Generally Accepted Accounting Principles and whether the team appropriately assessed whether Issuer A's controls over the calculation of impairment were designed and operating effectively.

26. Kaplan also failed to review any work papers documenting the engagement team's substantive procedures over the identification of TDRs within the CRE loan portfolio.

27. The limited scope of Kaplan's work paper review did not provide him with a sufficient basis to evaluate the reasonableness of the engagement team's responses to significant risks. Accordingly, Kaplan provided his concurring approval of issuance for the audit without performing the EQR with due professional care, in violation of AS 7.[20]

Kaplan failed to properly evaluate whether the engagement documentation supported the engagement team's conclusions

28. PCAOB standards require an engagement quality reviewer to evaluate whether the documentation that he or she reviewed indicates that the engagement team responded appropriately to significant risks and whether it supports the conclusions reached by the engagement team.[21] Kaplan violated PCAOB standards because he failed to properly evaluate whether the limited number of work papers he did review responded appropriately to significant risks and whether they supported the engagement team's conclusions.

29. For example, Kaplan reviewed one of the legacy loans selected for loan review. The purpose of that loan review was to test Issuer A's process for assigning risk ratings, its ability to timely identify impaired loans, including TDRs, its ability to

---

[20] See AS 7 ¶ 12.

[21] AS 7 ¶ 11.

appropriately calculate specific reserves, and its ability to timely recognize charge-offs. On the face of the work papers Kaplan reviewed, it was clear, however, that the loan relationship was already classified as impaired by virtue of its designation as a TDR. Accordingly, the biggest risk associated with the loan that Kaplan reviewed was that the specific reserve was inadequate. The loan review, however, failed to properly assess whether specific reserves were required.

30. Kaplan provided his concurring approval of issuance without evaluating whether the audit documentation, with respect to the one loan he reviewed, supported the engagement team's conclusion that no specific reserve was required and that the risk rating was appropriate. Based on his limited work paper review, Kaplan failed to identify significant deficiencies in the engagement team's work, including its:

- failure to identify and evaluate potential control deficiencies related to, among other areas, the monitoring of collateral and the assignment of risk ratings;
- failure to properly evaluate contrary evidence or red flags indicating that the risk rating was inappropriate and/ or that specific reserves may have been required, including insufficient operations to service principal and interest payments and the use of modifications to keep loans current;[22]
- failure to identify a sufficient source of repayment to support its reserves determination;
- failure to consider the impact of Issuer A's subordinated status when calculating debt service ratios and loan-to-value ratios; and
- reliance on management representations that the loans were fully collectible without obtaining relevant and reliable evidence to corroborate those representations.

31. Because the loans had already been classified as impaired and TDRs, the inclusion of the loans in the substantive loan review procedures failed to achieve two of the primary objectives of the audit procedures. Kaplan, however, failed to identify this flaw. Accordingly, to the limited extent Kaplan reviewed work papers, he failed to properly evaluate whether the documentation he reviewed supported the conclusions reached by the engagement team.

[22] As discussed above, Kaplan failed to review the team's work papers documenting its impairment test work, or other relevant audit documentation, and as a result, he failed to discover additional red flags and contrary evidence that the engagement team ignored or failed to respond appropriately to including, among other things, the deferral of principal and interest payments and the forced liquidation of six of the twelve properties securing the loans.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondent's Offer. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), Wayne J. Kaplan, CPA, is hereby censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(C) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(3), for a period of two (2) years from the date of this Order, Wayne J. Kaplan's role in any "audit," as that term is defined in Section 110(1) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(a)(v), shall be restricted as follows: Kaplan shall not (a) serve, or supervise the work of another person serving, as an "engagement quality reviewer," as that term is used in AS 1220, Engagement Quality Review, or (b) serve, or supervise the work of another person serving, in any role that is equivalent to, but differently denominated from, engagement quality reviewer (such as "concurring partner"); and

C. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(F) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(6), Wayne J. Kaplan is required to complete, within one (1) year from the date of this Order, ten (10) hours of professional education and training relating to performing engagement quality reviews in accordance with AS 1220; however, Kaplan will receive credit for five (5) hours of such professional education already taken since the date of the conduct at issue but prior to the date of this Order.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

_____

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

February 26, 2019

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street NW
Washington, DC 20006
Office: (202) 207-9100
Fax: (202) 862-8430
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of Richard H. Huff, Jr., CPA, Respondent.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2019-001 February 26, 2019

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (the "Board" or "PCAOB") is: (1) censuring Richard H. Huff, Jr. ("Huff" or "Respondent"); (2) suspending Huff from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm for the period of one year from the date of this Order; (3) limiting his activities in connection with any "audit," as that term is defined in Section 110(1) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), for one year following the termination of the suspension, by prohibiting Huff from serving in certain capacities in any audit as described in Section IV herein; and (4) requiring Huff to complete ten hours of additional professional education as described in Section IV herein.

The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that Huff violated PCAOB rules and auditing standards in connection with the integrated audit of Issuer A's December 31, 2013 financial statements and internal control over financial reporting ("ICFR").

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondent.

II.

In anticipation of institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondent has submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offer") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over Respondent and the subject matter of these proceedings, which are admitted,

Respondent consents to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[1]

III.

On the basis of Respondent's Offer, the Board finds that:[2]

A. Respondent

1. Richard H. Huff, Jr., age 57, of Blue Bell, Pennsylvania, is a certified public accountant licensed by the Pennsylvania State Board of Accountancy (license no. CA022709L) and the Maryland Board of Public Accountancy (license no. 37117). Huff originally joined Grant Thornton LLP ("Grant Thornton" or "GT") in 1987. Huff was the engagement partner on Grant Thornton's integrated audits of the December 31, 2012 and 2013 financial statements and ICFR of Issuer A. Huff, as engagement partner, authorized the issuance of Grant Thornton's March 3, 2014 audit report containing an unqualified opinion on Issuer A's December 31, 2013 financial statements and ICFR. At all relevant times, Huff was an audit partner in the Philadelphia office of Grant Thornton and an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined by Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i). Huff retired from the Firm effective July 31, 2016, and is currently employed at another registered public accounting firm.

B. Relevant Entities

2. Grant Thornton LLP is a limited liability partnership organized under the laws of the state of Illinois, and headquartered in Chicago, Illinois. Grant Thornton registered with the Board on September 24, 2003, pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules. Grant Thornton has served as Issuer A's independent auditor since Issuer A's inception in 2005.

3. Issuer A is a Maryland corporation with headquarters in New York, New York. Issuer A is a diversified real estate finance company that is organized and

---

[1] The findings herein are made pursuant to Respondent's Offer and are not binding on any other persons or entities in this or any other proceeding.

[2] The Board finds that Respondent's conduct described in this Order meets the conditions set out in Section 105(c)(5) of the Act, 15 U.S.C. § 7215(c)(5), which provides that certain sanctions may be imposed in the event of: (1) intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, that results in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard; or (2) repeated instances of negligent conduct, each resulting in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard.

conducts its operations to qualify as a REIT. Issuer A's investment strategy focuses on commercial real estate, commercial real estate- related assets and, to a lesser extent, commercial finance assets. At all relevant times, Issuer A's common stock was registered under Section 12(b) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and was traded on the NYSE. At all relevant times, Issuer A was an "issuer" as the term is defined in Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

C. Summary

4. This matter concerns Huff's violations of PCAOB rules and auditing standards in connection with the integrated audit of Issuer A's December 31, 2013 financial statements and ICFR ("2013 audit"). Specifically, Huff, among other things, failed to exercise due professional care, including appropriate professional skepticism, and failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence concerning Issuer A's reported net loans and its allowance for loan losses ("ALL"), as well as its ALL-related internal controls. Huff further failed to appropriately evaluate the reasonableness of Issuer A's ALL—a known significant risk and significant accounting estimate. As a result of his failure to perform the audit in conformity with PCAOB standards, Huff lacked an appropriate basis to authorize the issuance of Grant Thornton's unqualified opinion on Issuer A's 2013 financial statements and ICFR.

5. Despite knowing that Issuer A's ALL presented significant risks to Issuer A's financial statements and ICFR, Huff failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to evaluate the reasonableness of Issuer A's ALL. Although Huff knew that Issuer A had numerous material impaired loans for which it recorded zero specific reserves, he failed, among other things, to sufficiently evaluate whether the engagement team obtained sufficient appropriate evidence to corroborate that specific reserves were not required on those loans. Further, Huff failed to ensure that the engagement team tested an appropriate sample of material impaired loans, instead relying on a flawed sample that improperly eliminated material loans from selection. With respect to the loans tested that Huff did review, he failed to, among other things, (a) consider the impact of senior loans when assessing the collectability of Issuer A's subordinated loans; (b) perform any procedures to assess collateral valuation even though Issuer A relied on the borrower's ability to refinance to support full repayment of its loans; and (c) sufficiently test management's assertions that the borrower's operations were a source of repayment even where he should have been aware of contrary audit evidence indicating that those operations were insufficient to service both principal and interest repayment.

6. Huff's failures extended to, among other things, testing the design and operating effectiveness of certain of Issuer A's ALL-related controls, including, among others, controls related to measurement of impairment, identification of troubled debt restructurings ("TDRs"), loan reviews, loan file maintenance, monitoring of collateral, risk ratings, and disclosures.

7. Significantly, Huff violated PCAOB standards despite being on notice that his prior audit work, including audit procedures performed over the ALL on the 2012 Issuer A audit, was deficient.

D. Background

8. As of December 31, 2013, Issuer A reported total assets of $2.2 billion, including $1.4 billion in loans. Commercial real estate ("CRE") loans comprised $826 million or 59% of Issuer A's loan portfolio. Issuer A maintained an ALL to cover probable losses that existed in the loan portfolio. Issuer A's ALL for bank and CRE loans comprised two components: specific reserves based on estimated losses on individually reviewed impaired loans and a general loss reserve for non-impaired loans. GT's work papers also indicated that Issuer A relied on its loan review process, at least in part, to identify impaired loans, calculate specific reserves, and assess the sufficiency of its ALL.

9. Issuer A's impaired loans totaled $204 million or 9 percent of Issuer A's reported total assets at December 31, 2013. Impaired CRE loans comprised $194 million or 95% of total impaired loans. Issuer A reported an ALL of $13.8 million as of December 31, 2013, of which Issuer A allocated $4.6 million in specific reserves for impaired CRE loans.

10. GT placed Huff on a partner performance plan to address audit quality issues that arose before the 2013 audit. That plan mandated that Huff take certain steps to improve his performance, in mid-2013.[3] Shortly after the performance plan took effect, the Firm selected the 2012 Issuer A audit, for which Huff served as engagement partner, for an Audit Practice Review ("2013 APR"), an internal review during which another GT team reviewed the audit work papers to determine whether the engagement team complied with GT's policies and professional standards. The APR team identified numerous deficiencies in the audit and ultimately concluded that the 2012 Issuer A audit was noncompliant with Firm policies and PCAOB standards. The results of the 2013 APR were communicated to Huff and the engagement team in August 2013, prior to the commencement of fieldwork for the 2013 Issuer A audit.

---

[3] See Grant Thornton LLP, PCAOB Rel. No. 105-2017-054 (Dec. 19, 2017).

E. Applicable PCAOB Rules and Auditing Standards[4]

11. PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons comply with the Board's auditing and related professional practice standards.[5] An auditor may express an unqualified opinion on an issuer's financial statements only when the auditor has formed such an opinion on the basis of an audit performed in accordance with PCAOB standards.[6] Among other things, PCAOB standards require an auditor to exercise due professional care, exercise professional skepticism, and plan and perform audit procedures to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to provide a reasonable basis for the auditor's opinion.[7]

12. When planning and performing audit procedures to evaluate accounting estimates, PCAOB standards require the auditor to "consider, with an attitude of professional skepticism, both the subjective and objective factors" on which management's estimate is based.[8] When management's estimate involves fair value measurements, the auditor must comply with PCAOB auditing standards concerning the auditing of fair value measurements and disclosures.[9] Under those standards, when a fair value measurement, such as an appraisal, is dated other than at the relevant financial reporting date, the auditor is required to obtain "evidence that management has taken into account the effect of events, transactions, and changes in circumstances occurring between the date of the fair value measurement and the reporting date."[10]

---

[4] All references to PCAOB rules and standards are to the versions of those rules and standards in effect at the time of the relevant audit or review. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its auditing standards using a topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Release No. 2015-002 (Mar. 31, 2015); see also PCAOB Auditing Standards Reorganized and Pre-Reorganized Numbering (January 2017).

[5] See PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards; PCAOB Rule 3200T, Interim Auditing Standards.

[6] See AU § 508.07, Reports on Auditing Financial Statements.

[7] See AU § 150.02, Generally Accepted Auditing Standards; AU § 230.01, Due Professional Care in the Performance of Work; Auditing Standard No. 13, The Auditor's Responses to the Risks of Material Misstatement ("AS No. 13"), ¶ 7; Auditing Standard No. 15, Audit Evidence ("AS No. 15"), ¶ 4.

[8] See AU § 342.04, Auditing Accounting Estimates.

[9] See AU § 328, Auditing Fair Value Measurements and Disclosures.

[10] See AU § 328.25.

The auditor also evaluates whether "[m]anagement's assumptions are reasonable and reflect, or are not inconsistent with, market information" and whether "[m]anagement used relevant information that was reasonably available at the time."[11]

13. Management representations "are part of the evidential matter the independent auditor obtains, but they are not a substitute for the application of those auditing procedures necessary to afford a reasonable basis for an opinion regarding the financial statements under audit."[12] Under PCAOB standards "[t]he auditor neither assumes that management is dishonest nor assumes unquestioned honesty. In exercising professional skepticism, the auditor should not be satisfied with less than persuasive evidence because of a belief that management is honest."[13]

14. In designing the audit procedures to be performed, PCAOB auditing standards require that the auditor [o]btain more persuasive audit evidence the higher the auditor's assessment of risk."[14] PCAOB standards further require that an auditor evaluate the results of the audit to determine whether the audit evidence obtained is sufficient and appropriate to support the opinion to be expressed in the auditor's report.[15] The "auditor should take into account all relevant audit evidence, regardless of whether it appears to corroborate or to contradict the assertions in the financial statements."[16] Further, if audit evidence obtained from one source is inconsistent with that obtained from another, the auditor should perform the audit procedures necessary to resolve the matter and should determine the effect, if any, on other aspects of the audit.[17]

---

[11] See AU § 328.26.

[12] See AU § 333.02, Management Representations.

[13] See AU § 230.09.

[14] See AS No. 13 ¶ 9; see also Auditing Standard No. 5, An Audit of Internal Control Over Financial Reporting That Is Integrated With An Audit of Financial Statements ("AS No. 5"), ¶ 46 ("As the risk associated with the control being tested increases, the evidence that the auditor should obtain also increases.").

[15] See Auditing Standard No. 14, Evaluating Audit Results ("AS No. 14"), ¶ 2.

[16] See AS No. 14 ¶ 3; see also id. ¶ 34.b.

[17] See AS No. 15 ¶ 29; see also AU § 333.04 ("If a representation made by management is contradicted by other audit evidence, the auditor should investigate the circumstances and consider the reliability of the representation made. Based on the circumstances, the auditor should consider whether his or her reliance on

15. Under PCAOB auditing standards, the auditor is required to assess the sufficiency of substantive tests of details. When planning a sample for a substantive test of details, the auditor should individually examine "those items for which, in his judgment, acceptance of some sampling risk is not justified."[18]

16. PCAOB standards require that the auditor form an opinion on the effectiveness of ICFR by evaluating evidence obtained from all sources, including the auditor's testing of controls, misstatements detected during the financial statement audit, and any identified control deficiencies.[19] In conducting an integrated audit, the auditor should design his or her testing of controls to obtain sufficient evidence to support 1) the auditor's opinion on ICFR as of year-end and 2) the auditor's control risk assessment for purposes of the audit of the financial statements.[20]

17. If an auditor plans to assess control risk at less than the maximum by relying on controls, and the nature, timing, and extent of planned substantive procedures are based on that lower assessment, the auditor must obtain evidence that the controls selected for testing are designed effectively and operated effectively during the entire period of reliance.[21] The auditor should assess control risk for relevant assertions by evaluating evidence obtained from all sources, including the auditor's testing of controls for the audit of internal control and the audit of financial statements, misstatements detected during the financial statement audit, and any identified control deficiencies.[22] Auditors should also incorporate knowledge obtained in past audits of the management's representations relating to other aspects of the financial statements is appropriate and justified.").

---

[18] See AU § 350.21, Audit Sampling.

[19] See AS No. 5 ¶ 71.

[20] See AS No. 5 ¶ 7.

[21] See AS No. 13 ¶ 16. "A deficiency in design exists when (a) a control necessary to meet the control objective is missing or (b) an existing control is not properly designed so that, even if the control operates as designed, the control objective would not be met." AS No. 5 Appx. A ¶ A3. "A deficiency in operation exists when a properly designed control does not operate as designed, or when the person performing the control does not possess the necessary authority or competence to perform the control effectively." Id.

[22] See AS No. 13 ¶ 32.

issuer's ICFR into the decision-making process for determining the nature, timing, and extent of testing necessary in subsequent years' audits.[23]

18. Control risk should be assessed at the maximum level for relevant assertions for which controls necessary to sufficiently address the risk of material misstatement in those assertions are missing or ineffective, or when the auditor has failed to obtain sufficient appropriate evidence to support a control risk assessment below the maximum level.[24]

19. The engagement partner is responsible for the engagement and its performance. Accordingly, the engagement partner is "responsible for proper supervision of the work of engagement team members and for compliance with PCAOB standards."[25] As part of those responsibilities, the engagement partner is required to (i) inform engagement team members of their responsibilities, (ii) direct engagement team members to bring significant accounting and auditing issues to his attention or the attention of other engagement team members performing supervisory activities, and (iii) review the work of engagement team members to evaluate whether: (1) the work was performed and documented; (2) the objectives of the procedures were achieved; and (3) the results of the work supported the conclusions reached.[26] In determining the extent of supervision necessary, the engagement partner is required to take into account (i) the nature of the company, (ii) the nature of the assigned work, (iii) the risks of material misstatement, and (iv) the knowledge, skill, and ability of each engagement team member.[27]

20. As described below, Huff failed to comply with these and other PCAOB auditing standards in connection with the audit procedures performed and the opinions he authorized on the 2013 Issuer A audit.

F. Huff Violated PCAOB Rules and Auditing Standards in Connection with GT's Audit of Issuer A's 2013 Financial Statements

21. Huff and the engagement team identified inadequate ALL as a significant risk and assessed the inherent risk as high for the ALL based on the complex

---

[23] See AS No. 5 ¶ 57.

[24] See AS No. 13 ¶ 33.

[25] See Auditing Standard No. 10, Supervision of the Audit Engagement ("AS No. 10"), ¶ 3.

[26] See AS No. 10 ¶ 5.

[27] See AS No. 10 ¶ 6.

accounting and judgments associated with the significant estimates involved. GT's guidance also highlighted the heightened risk associated with ALL estimates, loan reviews, and appraisal evaluations. The guidance stated that, "[b]ecause of the subjective nature of the loan risk grading and review processes, experienced audit personnel with relevant knowledge should perform and/or supervise loan review procedures."

22. Huff and the engagement team were aware that $365 million or nearly 45% of the $826 million in Issuer A's CRE loans outstanding at December 31, 2013 had been originated prior to the financial crisis, and that the majority of those pre-financial crisis loans had been restructured and extended numerous times. Huff was also aware that many of these "legacy loans" had deferred payment terms and were serviced (a) by interest reserves established at loan origination or during subsequent modifications or (b) through Issuer A's extension of new mezzanine loans. Indeed, of the $194 million in impaired CRE loan relationships at December 31, 2013, all were originated prior to the financial crisis, and were determined to be TDRs. Despite the heightened risk, the specific reserves that Issuer A established for these loans totaled only $4.6 million or 2.36% of total impaired CRE loans.[28]

23. Accordingly, Huff was aware or should have been aware that the legacy CRE loans presented an increased risk and therefore required him to exercise sufficient professional skepticism in the performance of audit procedures with respect to those loans. Instead, however, Huff relied almost exclusively on management representations that the legacy CRE loans were collectible, ignoring potential red flags and contrary evidence. Huff did so despite claiming to have identified a fraud risk associated with Issuer A's ALL—a fraud risk he failed to document or communicate to anyone on the engagement team.

24. In response to identifying inadequate ALL as a significant risk, the engagement team documented that it planned to perform tests of controls and substantive tests of details aimed at evaluating management's process in calculating the allowance. The engagement team planned to evaluate the reasonableness of Issuer A's allowance by tracing its components back to source documents, testing whether significant assumptions were properly documented and supported by objective evidence, and confirming that there was an appropriate level of monitoring and review being performed by Issuer A personnel. The engagement team also planned to test specific controls including Issuer A's controls over loan file reviews and risk ratings, the identification and measurement of loan impairment, identification of TDRs, and inputs to the ALL calculation. Huff approved the engagement team's plan for auditing Issuer A's allowance.

---

[28] The engagement team set planning materiality for the 2013 audit at $1.98 million.

25. In evaluating the reasonableness of Issuer A's recorded net loans and its ALL and ALL-related controls, Huff violated PCAOB audit standards in his performance or review of audit procedures over impairment measurement, loan reviews, identification of TDRs, and certain ALL-related controls. As a result, Huff failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to support Grant Thornton's opinions on Issuer A's 2013 financial statements.

Substantive Impairment Test Work

26. Huff failed to properly assess whether Issuer A had adequate specific reserves for its impaired loans. Huff's failure occurred, in part, because he and the engagement team relied on a flawed sample that failed to adequately address the risks presented.[29] Indeed, the engagement team tested only two of Issuer A's impaired loan relationships to determine whether any associated reserves were sufficient. In light of the known risks, the scope of this testing of impaired loans was inadequate, given that only two percent of impaired loans had specific reserves.[30]

27. With respect to the two impaired loan relationships selected for testing, Huff and the engagement team failed to properly evaluate the reasonableness of the specific reserves against the loans in those relationships. In both instances, the engagement team failed to appropriately evaluate whether the impairment calculation it obtained from Issuer A complied with Generally Accepted Accounting Principles

---

[29] See AU § 350.16 ("When planning a particular sample for a substantive test of details, the auditor should consider [i] the relationship of the sample to the relevant audit objective[; 2] [t]olerable misstatement[; 3] [t]he auditor's allowable risk of incorrect acceptance[; and 4] [C]haracteristics of the population, that is, the items comprising the account balance or class of transactions of interest"); AU § 350.17 ("When planning a particular sample, the auditor should consider the specific audit objective to be achieved and should determine that the audit procedure, or combination of procedures, to be applied will achieve that objective. The auditor should determine that the population from which he draws the sample is appropriate for the specific audit objective."); AU § 350.21 ("The sufficiency of tests of details for a particular account balance or class of transactions is related to the individual importance of the items examined as well as to the potential for material misstatement. When planning a sample for a substantive test of details, the auditor uses his judgment to determine which items, if any, in an account balance or class of transactions should be individually examined and which items, if any, should be subject to sampling. The auditor should examine those items for which, in his judgment, acceptance of some sampling risk is not justified. For example, these may include items for which potential misstatements could individually equal or exceed the tolerable misstatement.")

[30] See AU § 350.21.

("GAAP"), and, in both instances, the engagement team failed to assess whether Issuer A's controls over the calculation of impairment were designed and operating effectively.

28. With respect to one of the loan relationships selected for testing, which had a net recorded balance of $38 million and had been restructured in 2012, Huff failed to ensure that the engagement team performed any procedures to assess the reasonableness of management's conclusion that no specific reserve was required. Indeed, the only evidence the engagement team obtained was a cash flow calculation prepared by Issuer A as part of the 2012 restructuring to determine whether the loan was a TDR ("TDR cash flow").

29. Huff's use of the 2012 cash flow calculation as audit evidence to support the valuation of the selected impaired loan failed to comply with PCAOB standards for several reasons:

- GAAP requires that impairment be measured at each reporting date, but Huff failed to obtain any updated impairment calculation from Issuer A;[31]

- Huff and his team failed to assess the reasonableness of the significant assumptions Issuer A used to calculate the 2012 TDR cash flow, including the assumption that the borrower would repay the loans in full; and

- Huff failed to evaluate the effects of the 2012 restructuring in assessing management's conclusion that no specific reserve was necessary. Significantly, as part of that restructuring, the borrower was required to list for sale half of the collateral within two years of the restructuring. Huff, however, failed to perform or ensure the engagement team performed any procedures to develop an understanding of how the forced liquidation of the collateral was proceeding or whether the sales proceeds were sufficient to support repayment of the loans.

---

[31] Under ASC 310-10-35-22, impairment should be measured at each reporting date based on the present value of expected future cash flows discounted at the loan's effective interest rate. As a practical expedient, a creditor may measure impairment based on the loan's observable market price or, for collateral dependent loans, the fair value of the collateral. The engagement team, however, did not adequately assess whether Issuer A used either of those methods to determine whether impairment reserves were required. Instead, the engagement team only obtained a comparison of the net present value of pre- and post-modification cash flows assuming 100% repayment and using a market interest rate rather than the loan's effective interest rate.

Substantive Loan File Reviews

30. GT's substantive loan review procedures, which Huff reviewed and signed-off on, failed to address adequately the known risks presented by Issuer A's reported net loans and ALL and did not provide sufficient appropriate evidence to conclude on the reasonableness of those accounts.

31. In testing to determine whether Issuer A properly risk-rated its loans and identified impaired loans, the engagement team relied on a flawed sample by failing to segregate out impaired loans from the population selected for loan reviews, and selecting only two non-impaired legacy loans.[32] Because impaired loans were included within the population eligible for sample selection, the selection of individually significant loans for testing was skewed. Indeed, because the sample selections included loans that had already been identified as impaired and TDRs, the review of such loans failed to achieve the objectives of testing management's rating process or its ability to timely identify impaired loans and TDRs. Huff, however, failed to recognize the problems with the sample, including that GT's loan review test work failed to achieve the objectives of testing management's ability to timely identify impaired loans and TDRs.

32. Huff also failed to obtain sufficient appropriate evidence in connection with certain specific loan reviews because he (a) repeatedly ignored red flags or contradictory evidence indicating that loans may have been improperly risk rated, impaired, and/or require reserves; (b) repeatedly relied on management representations without obtaining relevant and reliable evidence to corroborate those representations; and (c) failed to identify and evaluate potential control deficiencies.

33. Among the most egregious examples of Huff's failures to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence are the loan review procedures performed over four impaired loan relationships with a combined carrying value of $162 million. Across each of these loan reviews, which Huff reviewed and signed-off on, the engagement team:

- failed to accurately document and consider important loan terms such as the loan's guarantor, payment terms (e.g., amortizing versus interest only), the terms of any restructuring, and the subordinated position of the loan;

- failed to appropriately evaluate whether there were sufficient sources of repayment;

- relied on non-amortizing debt service coverage ("DSC") ratios;

- relied on loan-to-value ("LTV") ratios calculated using stale pre-financial crisis appraisals;

---

[32] See AU §§ 350.16-17.

- failed to identify that the actual operating results of collateral fell far short of the assumptions used to value the collateral at origination;

- failed to evaluate the ability and intent of guarantors and partners to continue to service loans; and

- failed to evaluate the risk associated with the use of mezzanine loans to service loans.

34. With respect to their review of the loan relationship with a carrying value of $38 million, Huff failed to perform or ensure the engagement team performed sufficient procedures to assess whether (i) the ongoing operations of the remaining collateral would be sufficient to repay Issuer A's subordinated loans; or (ii) the proceeds from the sale of collateral would be sufficient to repay the senior and subordinated loans. Specifically, although the work papers cited the strong performance of the hotel properties and lack of an expected decrease in operations, as well as the DSC greater than 1.0 and the LTV of less than 85%, the work papers failed to note that the borrower was required to liquidate half the collateral by October 2014 and had already sold three hotel properties by December 31, 2013. In addition, the DSC that Huff and the engagement team used as audit evidence (i) included only the interest-only debt service on the subordinated loans held by Issuer A; and (ii) failed to include the debt service on more than $1.0 billion in senior loans or the impact of an amortizing payment. The LTV that the engagement team calculated (1.86%) failed to include any of the more than $1 billion in loans senior to Issuer A's loans and included three hotel properties that the borrower had sold prior to December 31, 2013. Moreover, the engagement team failed to note that the loans were only performing because, as a result of the 2012 restructuring, there was no principal debt service required during 2013 and Issuer A was advancing most, if not all, of the interest payments.

35. With respect to review of another loan relationship selected for testing with a carrying value of $33 million, Huff ignored contrary evidence indicating that specific reserves may have been necessary and failed to obtain or instruct his staff to obtain corroborating evidence to support management's representation that the loans were fully collectible. Significantly, Huff was aware or should have been aware that the operations of the property fell short of both the borrower's budget and the projections in the appraisal that the engagement team obtained, which should have prompted Huff to seek, or instruct his staff to seek, additional evidence to support management's assertion that no impairment reserves were required. Indeed, although Huff was aware that shortfalls were being covered by partner capital and additional funding, he failed to perform or instruct the engagement team to perform any procedures to test the ability and intent of the partner to continue to fund shortfalls. Huff also failed to consider the impact of the borrower's reliance on mezzanine funding to service the interest on the senior loan and the future availability of those funds for debt service.

36. Huff and the engagement team's substantive loan review test work over two non-impaired legacy loans selected for testing, with a combined carrying value of $53 million, was likewise flawed. Huff and the engagement team agreed with management that the loans were (i) properly risk rated green/satisfactory performance, (ii) were not impaired, (iii) did not require specific reserves, (iv) were not TDRs, and (v) did not require charge-off. In both instances, Huff and the engagement team reached their conclusions based primarily on interest-only DSC ratios and LTV ratios calculated using pre-financial crisis appraisals, appraisals that were then more than six years old. Huff and the engagement team failed to note that neither loan was amortizing and that neither loan had sufficient cash flows from operations to repay the principal due at maturity. Huff and the engagement team further failed to identify any source of repayment that was sufficient to repay both the principal and interest due on the loans even though the loans had maturity dates of January 10, 2017 and January 5, 2019, respectively. The work papers, which Huff reviewed and signed-off on, provided no documented basis for how Issuer A and Huff determined that the loans were expected to repay in full.

37. Huff also failed to ensure the performance of any procedures to assess the reasonableness of relying on the pre-financial crisis appraisals when citing the LTV ratios as support for the risk rating and lack of reserves. Critically, Huff also failed to consider whether management's reliance on and use of non-amortizing DSC ratios to risk rate its loans and its failure to obtain current appraisals on its legacy loans constituted control deficiencies.

Troubled Debt Restructuring Disclosure

38. Huff violated PCAOB standards by (i) failing to obtain or instruct his staff to obtain sufficient appropriate evidence as to whether Issuer A had identified all TDRs that occurred during 2013 and (ii) failing to properly evaluate whether Issuer A's TDR disclosures complied with GAAP.[33]

39. Huff failed to test or ensure the engagement team tested the completeness and accuracy of Issuer A's list of restructured loans subject to TDR determinations. All of the loans selected for testing had been classified as TDRs prior to 2013, and thus, Huff failed to perform or ensure the engagement team performed sufficient procedures to evaluate whether Issuer A had missed classifying any loans as a TDR in 2013.

---

[33] ASC 310-10-50-33 requires entities to disclose quantitative and qualitative information about TDRs that occurred during each period for which a statement of income is presented, including how the financing receivables were modified and the financial effects of the modifications. The standard also requires disclosure, by portfolio segment, of qualitative information about how such modifications are factored into the determination of the allowance for credit losses.

40. In assessing whether loans should be classified as TDRs, Huff failed to ensure the engagement team appropriately obtained and documented evidence concerning the financial condition of the borrower or whether the borrower was granted a concession.[34]

41. Further, Huff failed to properly evaluate whether Issuer A's financial statements included essential information regarding TDRs.[35] Issuer A disclosed that in 2012 and 2013 it had modified $181 million and $143 million, respectively, in CRE loans that it classified as TDRs. Issuer A also disclosed that all of its CRE loans were performing as of December 31, 2012 and 2013. Huff, however, knew or should have known that many of Issuer A's TDRs were only "performing" because of deferred payments terms included in the restructurings, the use of interest reserves to service debt, and/or the use of mezzanine financing to service debt.[36]

G. Huff Violated PCAOB Rules and Auditing Standards in Connection with GT's Audit of Issuer A's 2013 ICFR

42. Huff, who adopted a controls reliance approach to the financial statement audit, failed to obtain sufficient appropriate evidence and failed to exercise sufficient due professional care and professional skepticism in his assessment of the design and operating effectiveness of certain of Issuer A's controls. Huff failed to test or instruct the engagement team to test the design effectiveness of certain key controls over the adequacy of the ALL for the CRE portfolio including controls concerning the

---

[34] Under ASC 310-40, a loan should be classified as a TDR if Issuer A, in the course of restructuring a loan, "for economic or legal reasons related to the [borrower's] financial difficulties grant[ed] a concession to the [borrower] that it would not otherwise consider."

[35] AS No. 14 ¶¶ 30-31 requires that the auditor evaluate whether the financial statements are presented fairly, in all material respects, and that as part of its evaluation of the presentation of the financial statements, the auditor should evaluate whether the financial statements contain the information essential for a fair presentation in conformity with the financial reporting framework.

[36] An auditor's opinion that an issuer's financial statements are presented in conformity with GAAP must be based on an audit performed in accordance with PCAOB standards. PCAOB standards require an auditor to perform audit procedures sufficient to evaluate the issuer's adherence to GAAP. This Order's description of audit failures relating to GAAP departures in an issuer's financial statements necessarily reflects the Board's judgment concerning the proper application of GAAP. Any such description of GAAP departures, however, should not be understood as an indication that the Commission has considered or made any determination concerning the issuer's compliance with GAAP.

measurement of impairment, identification of TDRs, and loan reviews. In fact, rather than directly testing certain controls, Huff, instead relied on the results of audit procedures that were substantive in nature.

43. Huff and the engagement team identified inadequate ALL as a significant risk and identified "calculate and record impairment" as a very important process. Huff, however, failed to include in GT's test of controls any procedures to test the design and operating effectiveness of Issuer A's key controls related to the process for measuring impairment for CRE loans. Specifically, Huff failed to identify and test specific controls over Issuer A's calculation of specific reserves.

44. Huff and the engagement team also identified Issuer A's control over the identification of TDRs as a key control. Huff, however, failed to ensure that the engagement team assessed whether the control was designed effectively to assess Issuer A's TDR determinations.

45. In addition, Huff and the engagement team identified as a key control over Issuer A's process for monitoring the CRE loan portfolio the Senior Accountant's review of three loans from the watch list report to determine whether the risk ratings assigned by management were appropriate. Huff, however, failed to assess or instruct the engagement team to assess the design effectiveness of this control. Specifically, Huff failed to assess or instruct the engagement team to sufficiently assess (i) whether the control operator was qualified to perform a review of the loans and assess the appropriateness of the risk ratings assigned by management; (ii) whether the control operator had sufficient and timely information to make risk rating determinations; and (iii) whether the criteria used and sample selected by the control operator was sufficient. Additionally, Huff failed to note the substantive nature of the procedures performed and failed to ensure that any of the loans reviewed by the control operator were subject to control testing.

46. Last, Huff failed to identify or instruct the engagement team to identify any controls related to either the monitoring of collateral or the maintenance of loan files. As a result, neither Huff nor the engagement team performed any procedures to determine whether Issuer A had controls in place to ensure that loan files included timely and complete information and that collateral values for higher risk collateral dependent loans were updated to reflect current market values.

H. Huff Failed to Properly Supervise and Review the Work of the Engagement Team

47. Huff violated PCAOB standards by failing to properly assess the extent of supervision necessary for engagement team members to perform their work and form appropriate conclusions.[37] Specifically, Huff failed to adequately take into account the knowledge, skill, and ability of each engagement team member, the nature of the assigned work, and the risks of material misstatement. Huff further violated PCAOB standards because he failed to inform engagement team members of their responsibilities in sufficient detail to ensure that sufficient appropriate evidence was obtained. Huff did not specifically instruct the staff as to which procedures to perform, the objectives of those procedures, or how the procedures should be performed. Instead, Huff relied on the senior manager on the audit, but failed to develop an understanding of the instructions the senior manager provided to the staff.[38] Critically, Huff also failed to inform the engagement team of the fraud risk he claims to have identified concerning the ALL. As a result, the work papers and test work performed failed to reflect and respond to a risk of fraud associated with the ALL.

[37] See AS No. 10 ¶ 6.

48. Huff then failed to sufficiently review the work of the engagement team. To the extent Huff did review work papers, he failed to review them at a level sufficient to identify factual inaccuracies, conclusions not supported by sufficient appropriate evidence, various red flags, contrary audit evidence, and indications that audit procedures had not been properly performed. Moreover, Huff failed to discover that the engagement team did not document a fraud risk related to the ALL and did not adequately respond to such fraud risk.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondent's Offer. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), Richard H. Huff, Jr., CPA, is hereby censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(B) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(2), Richard H. Huff, Jr., CPA, is suspended for a period of one (1) year from the date of this Order from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm, as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i);[39]

---

[38] Indeed, Huff spent significantly less time in the field with the team during the 2013 audit despite the results of the 2012 APR and the risks associated with the 2013 Issuer A audit.

[39] As a consequence of the suspension, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act will apply with respect to Huff. Section 105(c)(7)(B) provides: "It shall be unlawful for any person that is suspended or barred from being associated with a registered public accounting firm under this subsection willfully to become or remain

C. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(C) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(3), for one (1) year following the termination of the suspension ordered in paragraph B, Richard H. Huff, Jr.'s role in any "audit" of an "issuer," as those terms are defined in Section 110(1) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(a)(v), and Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii), respectively, shall be restricted as follows: Huff shall not (1) serve, or supervise the work of another person serving, as an "engagement partner," as that term is used in the Board's Auditing Standard No. 10 or AS 1201, Supervision of the Audit Engagement; (2) serve, or supervise the work of another person serving, as an "engagement quality reviewer," as that term is used in the Board's Auditing Standard 1220, Engagement Quality Review; (3) serve, or supervise the work of another person serving, in any role that is equivalent to, but differently denominated from, engagement partner (such as "lead partner" or "practitioner-in-charge") or engagement quality reviewer (such as "concurring partner"); (4) exercise authority, or supervise the work of another person exercising authority, either to sign a registered public accounting firm's name to an audit report, or to consent to the use of a previously issued audit report, for any issuer; (5) serve, or supervise the work of another person serving, as the "other auditor," or "another auditor," as those terms are used in AS 1205, Part of the Audit Performed by Other Independent Auditors; or (6) serve, or supervise the work of another individual serving as a professional practice director; and

D. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(F) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(6), Richard H. Huff, Jr. is required to complete, within one (1) year from the date of this Order, ten (10) hours of additional financial services related professional education and training, covering among other topics the allowance for loan losses.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

_____

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

February 26, 2019

---

associated with any issuer, broker, or dealer in an accountancy or a financial management capacity, and for any issuer, broker, or dealer that knew, or in the exercise of reasonable care should have known, of such suspension or bar, to permit such an association, without the consent of the Board or the Commission."

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street NW
Washington, DC 20006
Office: (202) 207-9100
Fax: (202) 862-8430
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of WDM Chartered Professional Accountants, Respondent.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2019-007 March 19, 2019

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (the "Board" or "PCAOB") is censuring registered public accounting firm WDM Chartered Professional Accountants ("Firm" or "Respondent"), imposing a civil money penalty in the amount of $2,500, and requiring the Firm to undertake certain remedial measures to establish policies and procedures directed toward ensuring future compliance with PCAOB reporting requirements. The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that the Firm failed to timely file required Forms AP, in violation of PCAOB Rule 3211, Auditor Reporting of Certain Audit Participants.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondent.

II.

In anticipation of the institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondent has submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offer") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over Respondent and the subject matter of these proceedings, which are admitted, Respondent consents to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order").[1]

[1] The findings herein are made pursuant to the Respondent's Offer and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

III.

On the basis of Respondent's Offer, the Board finds that:

A. Respondent

1. WDM Chartered Professional Accountants is a chartered accounting firm located in Vancouver, Canada. The Firm is registered with the Board pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules. At all relevant times, the Firm was the external auditor for Digatrade Financial Corp. ("Digatrade").

B. Respondent Failed to Timely File Form AP Reports in Violation of PCAOB Rule 3211

2. PCAOB Rule 3211, which took effect for issuer audit reports issued on or after January 31, 2017, provides that each registered public accounting firm must provide information about engagement partners and other accounting firms that participate in audits of issuers by filing a Form AP, Auditor Reporting of Certain Audit Participants, for each audit report issued by the firm for an issuer. Forms AP are due by the 35th day after the date the audit report is first included in a document filed with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC"),[2] subject to a shorter filing deadline that applies when the audit report is first included in a Securities Act registration statement.[3]

3. WDM conducted audits of the financial statements of Digatrade as of and for the years ended December 31, 2016, and December 31, 2017. WDM issued audit reports dated April 28, 2017, and April 27, 2018, respectively, which were included in Digatrade's Forms 20-F, filed with the SEC on May 2, 2017, and May 9, 2018, respectively.

4. WDM failed to file the required Form AP with the Board by the 35th day after the date the audit reports were first included with the Forms 20-F filed with the SEC in violation of Rule 3211.

5. In connection with a July 2017 inspection of the Firm, the PCAOB inspections staff brought to the Firm's attention its failure to file a Form AP regarding its audit of Digatrade's 2016 financial statements. The Firm responded by representing, among other things, that it planned to file Forms AP within the required time frame in the future.

---

[2] See Rule 3211(b)(1).

[3] In that instance, a firm is required to file the Form AP by the tenth day after the date the audit report is first included in a document filed with the SEC. See Rule 3211(b)(2).

6. Notwithstanding the notice from the inspections staff, the Firm failed to file the Form AP related to its audit of Digatrade's 2016 financial statements. In addition, notwithstanding the Firm's representation as to future filings, the Firm failed to file a Form AP related to its subsequent audit of Digatrade's 2017 financial statements, in violation of Rule 3211.

7. On November 7, 2018, the Division of Enforcement and Investigations sent a charging letter to WDM regarding the Firm's failure to file the Forms AP related to Digatrade's May 2, 2017 and May 9, 2018 filings. WDM filed the aforementioned Forms AP on November 10, 2018, and November 11, 2018, after receiving the charging letter.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondent's Offer.

Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), WDM Chartered Professional Accountants is hereby censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil monetary penalty in the amount of $2,500 is imposed upon WDM Chartered Professional Accountants. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of this civil money penalty will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. WDM Chartered Professional Accountants shall pay this civil money penalty within 10 days of the issuance of this Order by (a) wire transfer in accordance with instructions furnished by Board staff; or (b) United States Postal Service postal money order, certified check, bank cashier's check or bank money order; (c) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board; (d) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006; and (e) submitted under a cover letter which identifies WDM Chartered Professional Accountants as a Respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB Release Number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to the Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006;

C. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(G) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(9), WDM Chartered Professional Accountants is required:

1. within ninety (90) days from the date of this Order, to establish policies and procedures, or review and/or supplement existing policies and procedures, for the purpose of providing the Firm with reasonable assurance of compliance with PCAOB Rule 3211 and that Forms AP are filed in a timely and complete manner;

2. within ninety (90) days from the date of this Order, to establish policies to ensure training concerning PCAOB Rule 3211, at least annually, of any Firm personnel who participate in the Firm's PCAOB reporting process; and

3. within one hundred twenty (120) days from the date of this Order, certify in writing to the Director of the Division of Enforcement and Investigations, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, the Firm's compliance with paragraphs C(1) and C(2) above. The certification shall identify the undertakings, provide written evidence of compliance in the form of a narrative, and be supported by exhibits sufficient to demonstrate compliance. The Firm shall also submit such additional evidence of and information concerning compliance as the staff of the Division of Enforcement and Investigations may reasonably request.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

_____

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

March 19, 2019

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street NW
Washington, DC 20006
Office: (202) 207-9100
Fax: (202) 862-8430
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of RSM US LLP*,* Respondent.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2019-004 March 19, 2019

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("Board" or "PCAOB") is censuring RSM US LLP (the "Firm" or "Respondent"), a registered public accounting firm, and imposing a civil money penalty in the amount of $15,000 upon the Firm. The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that the Firm failed to timely disclose certain reportable events to the Board on PCAOB Form 3, Special Report, in violation of PCAOB rules.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondent.

II.

In anticipation of institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondent has submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offer") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over Respondent and the subject matter of these proceedings, which are admitted, Respondent consents to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[1]

[1] The findings herein are made pursuant to the Respondent's Offer and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

III.

On the basis of Respondent's Offer, the Board finds that:

A. Respondent

1. RSM US LLP, is, and at all relevant times was, a limited liability partnership organized under the laws of the state of Illinois, and headquartered in Chicago, Illinois. The Firm is a member of the RSM US Alliance and the RSM International global network. At all relevant times, the Firm has been registered with the Board pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules. As of its 2018 Annual Report on PCAOB Form 2, the Firm had 6,365 accountants.

B. Respondent Failed to Timely Disclose Certain Reportable Events to the Board, in Violation of PCAOB Rules

2. This matter concerns the Firm's failures to disclose on a timely basis four reportable events, concerning two disciplinary proceedings, to the Board on Form 3 as required by PCAOB rules.

3. PCAOB Rule 2203 provides that a registered public accounting firm must file a special report on Form 3 to report any event specified in that form within thirty days of the event's occurrence.[2] One such specified event occurs when a firm "has become aware that, in a matter arising out of the Firm's conduct in the course of providing professional services for a client, the Firm has become a defendant or respondent in a civil or alternative dispute resolution proceeding initiated by a governmental entity or in an administrative or disciplinary proceeding other than a Board disciplinary proceeding" ("Item 2.7 Proceeding").[3] Another such specified event occurs when a firm "has become aware that" an Item 2.7 Proceeding "has been concluded."[4] With respect to four such events, involving two Item 2.7 Proceedings, the Firm failed to timely file a Form 3 with the Board.

---

[2] See PCAOB Rule 2203, Special Reports. As the Board noted when adopting its rules on special reporting, "[R]eportable events will sometimes occur, and the public interest, as well as the ability to consider whether prompt action is warranted by the Board's inspection staff or enforcement staff, will be served by contemporaneous reporting of the event." PCAOB Rel. No. 2008-004, at 17 (June 10, 2008).

[3] PCAOB Form 3, at Item 2.7 (italics in the original removed). To be reportable under Item 2.7, the proceeding only has to relate to professional services for a client, and does not necessarily have to involve an audit of an issuer, broker, or dealer, as those terms are defined under PCAOB rules.

[4] PCAOB Form 3, at Item 2.10.

4. On or around October 4, 2010, the Firm became aware that the Commodity Futures Trading Commission ("CFTC") had initiated and simultaneously concluded a disciplinary proceeding against it. The CFTC proceeding related to the Firm's provision of professional services to a company that was not an issuer.[5]

5. On or around June 4, 2018, the Firm became aware that the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") had initiated and simultaneously concluded a separate disciplinary proceeding against it. The SEC proceeding related to the Firm's provision of professional services to another company that was not an issuer.

6. In violation of Rule 2203, the Firm failed to file a Form 3 with respect to the initiation and conclusion of the CFTC and SEC proceedings until November 30, 2018, around eight years after the Firm learned of the initiation and conclusion of the CFTC proceeding and around four months after it learned of the initiation and conclusion of the SEC proceeding.

7. The Firm's internal compliance and reporting systems failed to identify the initiation and conclusion of the proceedings described above as being reportable to the PCAOB. As a result, the Firm inappropriately delayed notifying the PCAOB of the initiation and conclusion of the disciplinary proceedings.

IV.

8. The Firm has represented to the Board that, since the events described in this Order, it has established and implemented the following changes to its policies and procedures for the purpose of providing the Firm with reasonable assurance of compliance with PCAOB reporting requirements:

a. The Firm has revised and supplemented its policies and procedures for the purpose of providing the Firm with reasonable assurance of compliance with PCAOB reporting requirements, including policies and procedures providing reasonable assurance that reportable events are identified by Firm personnel who participate in the Firm's PCAOB reporting process and that those events are reported on the applicable PCAOB form in a timely and complete manner; and

b. The Firm has established policies to ensure training concerning PCAOB reporting requirements, at least annually, of any Firm personnel who participate in the Firm's PCAOB reporting process.

---

[5] The term "issuer" means an issuer (as defined in Section 3 of the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934 ("Exchange Act")), the securities of which are registered under Section 12 of the Exchange Act, or that is required to file reports under Section 15(d) of the Exchange Act, or that files or has filed a registration statement that has not yet become effective under the Securities Act of 1933, and that it has not withdrawn. See PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

9. The Firm has also represented to the Board that it has assigned the role of compliance with PCAOB reporting matters to an individual within the Firm who possesses adequate knowledge and experience with PCAOB reporting requirements and sufficient authority within the Firm to fulfill those requirements on behalf of the Firm.

V.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondent's Offer. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), the Firm is hereby censured; and

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of $15,000 is imposed upon the Firm. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of this civil money penalty will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. The Firm shall pay this civil money penalty within ten (10) days of the issuance of this Order by: (1) wire transfer pursuant to instructions provided by Board staff; or (2) United States Postal Service money order, bank money order, certified check, or bank cashier's check (a) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, (b) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, and (c) submitted under a cover letter, which identifies the Firm as a respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB release number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe W. Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

_____

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

March 19, 2019

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street NW
Washington, DC 20006
Office: (202) 207-9100
Fax: (202) 862-8430
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter RSM Hong Kong, Respondent.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2019-005 March 19, 2019

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("Board" or "PCAOB") is censuring RSM Hong Kong (the "Firm" or "Respondent"), a registered public accounting firm, imposing a civil money penalty in the amount of $10,000 upon the Firm, and requiring the Firm to undertake certain remedial measures, including measures to establish policies and procedures directed toward ensuring compliance with PCAOB reporting requirements. The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that the Firm failed to timely disclose certain reportable events to the Board on PCAOB Form 3, Special Report, in violation of PCAOB rules.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondent.

II.

In anticipation of institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondent has submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offer") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over Respondent and the subject matter of these proceedings, which are admitted, Respondent consents to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[1]

[1] The findings herein are made pursuant to the Respondent's Offer and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

III.

On the basis of Respondent's Offer, the Board finds that:

A. Respondent

1. RSM Hong Kong is, and at all relevant times was, a partnership organized under Hong Kong law, and headquartered in Hong Kong. The Firm is a member of the RSM International global network. At all relevant times, the Firm has been registered with the Board pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules. As of its 2018 Annual Report on PCAOB Form 2, the Firm had 276 accountants, issued no audit reports for issuers or broker-dealers during the reporting period, and did not play a substantial role in the preparation or furnishing of an audit report for an issuer or broker-dealer that was issued during the reporting period. The Firm is licensed in Hong Kong by the Hong Kong Institute of Certified Public Accountants ("HKICPA").

B. Summary

2. This matter concerns the Firm's failures to timely disclose two reportable events, concerning two disciplinary proceedings, to the Board on Form 3 as required by PCAOB rules. PCAOB rules required the Firm to complete and file a PCAOB special report on Form 3 to report any event specified in that form within 30 days of the event's occurrence. Among the events that the Firm was required to report on Form 3 were its becoming a respondent in certain disciplinary proceedings.

3. Between October 2014 and November 2014, the Firm became a respondent in two separate disciplinary proceedings initiated by the HKICPA. The initiation of each of those two proceedings against the Firm was a reportable event under Form 3. With respect to each of the proceedings, the Firm failed to file a Form 3 reporting that it had become a respondent in the proceeding until approximately two and a half years after learning of the initiation of the proceeding, well after the 30-day reporting deadline.

C. Respondent Failed to Timely Disclose Certain Reportable Events to the Board, in Violation of PCAOB Rules

4. PCAOB Rule 2203 provides that a registered public accounting firm must file a special report on Form 3 to report any event specified in that form within thirty days of the event's occurrence.[2] One such specified event occurs when a firm "has become aware that, in a matter arising out of the Firm's conduct in the course of providing professional services for a client, the Firm has become a defendant or respondent in a civil or alternative dispute resolution proceeding initiated by a governmental entity or in an administrative or disciplinary proceeding other than a Board disciplinary proceeding."[3] With respect to two such events occurring in 2014, the Firm failed to timely file a Form 3 with the Board.

[2] See PCAOB Rule 2203, Special Reports. As the Board noted when adopting its rules on special reporting, "[R]eportable events will sometimes occur, and the public interest, as well as the ability to consider whether prompt action is warranted by the Board's inspection staff or enforcement staff, will be served by contemporaneous reporting of the event." PCAOB Rel. No. 2008-004, at 17 (June 10, 2008).

5. During October and November 2014, the Firm became aware that the HKICPA had initiated two disciplinary proceedings against it. Each of the proceedings related to the provision of professional services by the Firm to Hong Kong companies that were not issuers.[4] The Firm first learned of the initiation of each of the proceedings on or around the following respective dates:

- Proceeding 1: October 24, 2014
- Proceeding 2: November 4, 2014

6. In violation of Rule 2203, the Firm failed to file a Form 3 with respect to the initiation of these two proceedings until May 22, 2017, around two and a half years after learning of the initiation of the proceedings.

7. The Firm's internal compliance and reporting systems failed to identify the initiation of the proceedings described above as being reportable to the PCAOB. As a result, the Firm inappropriately delayed notifying the PCAOB of the initiation of the disciplinary proceedings.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondent's Offer. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

---

[3] PCAOB Form 3, at Item 2.7 (italics in the original removed). To be reportable under Item 2.7, the proceeding only has to relate to professional services for a client, and does not necessarily have to involve an audit of an issuer, broker, or dealer, as those terms are defined under PCAOB rules.

[4] The term "issuer" means an issuer (as defined in Section 3 of the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934 ("Exchange Act")), the securities of which are registered under Section 12 of the Exchange Act, or that is required to file reports under Section 15(d) of the Exchange Act, or that files or has filed a registration statement that has not yet become effective under the Securities Act of 1933, and that it has not withdrawn. See PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

ORDER

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), the Firm is hereby censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of $10,000 is imposed upon the Firm. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of this civil money penalty will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. The Firm shall pay this civil money penalty within ten (10) days of the issuance of this Order by: (1) wire transfer pursuant to instructions provided by Board staff; or (2) United States Postal Service money order, bank money order, certified check, or bank cashier's check (a) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, (b) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, and (c) submitted under a cover letter, which identifies the Firm as a respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB release number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe W. Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006; and

C. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(G) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(9), the Firm is required:

1. within ninety (90) days from the date of this Order, to establish policies and procedures, or revise and/or supplement existing policies and procedures, for the purpose of providing the Firm with reasonable assurance of compliance with PCAOB reporting requirements, including policies and procedures providing reasonable assurance that reportable events are identified by Firm personnel who participate in the Firm's PCAOB reporting process and that those events are reported on the applicable PCAOB form in a timely and complete manner;

2. within ninety (90) days from the date of this Order, to establish policies to ensure training concerning PCAOB reporting requirements, at least annually, of any Firm personnel who participate in the Firm's PCAOB reporting process;

3. within ninety (90) days from the date of this Order, to assign the role of compliance with PCAOB reporting matters to an individual within the Firm who possesses adequate knowledge and experience with PCAOB reporting requirements and sufficient authority within the Firm to fulfill those requirements on behalf of the Firm; and

4. within one hundred twenty (120) days from the date of this Order, to have the individual referenced in paragraph C.3 above certify in writing to the Director of the Division of Enforcement and Investigations, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, the Firm's compliance with paragraphs C.1 through C.3 above. The certification shall identify the undertakings, provide written evidence of compliance in the form of a narrative, and be supported by exhibits sufficient to demonstrate compliance. The Firm shall also submit such additional evidence of and information concerning compliance as the staff of the Division of Enforcement and Investigations may reasonably request.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

_____

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

March 19, 2019

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street NW
Washington, DC 20006
Office: (202) 207-9100
Fax: (202) 862-8430
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of Deloitte & Touche Ltda., Respondent.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2019-006 March 19, 2019

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("Board" or "PCAOB") is censuring Deloitte & Touche Ltda. (the "Firm" or "Respondent"), a registered public accounting firm, and imposing a civil money penalty in the amount of $15,000 upon the Firm. The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that the Firm failed to timely disclose certain reportable events to the Board on PCAOB Form 3, Special Report, in violation of PCAOB rules.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondent.

II.

In anticipation of institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondent has submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offer") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over Respondent and the subject matter of these proceedings, which are admitted, Respondent consents to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[1]

[1] The findings herein are made pursuant to the Respondent's Offer and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

III.

On the basis of Respondent's Offer, the Board finds that:

A. Respondent

1. Deloitte & Touche Ltda., is, and at all relevant times was, a limited liability corporation organized under Colombian law, and headquartered in Bogota, Colombia. The Firm is a member of the Deloitte Touche Tohmatsu Limited global network. At all relevant times, the Firm has been registered with the Board pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules. As of its 2018 Annual Report on PCAOB Form 2, the Firm had 550 accountants, issued one audit report for one issuer during the reporting period, and did not play a substantial role in the preparation or furnishing of an audit report for an issuer that was issued during the reporting period. The Firm is licensed in Colombia by the Junta Central de Contadores ("JCC"), part of the Colombian Ministry of Commerce, Industry and Tourism, the foreign auditor oversight authority in Colombia.[2]

B. Summary

2. This matter concerns the Firm's failures to timely disclose 12 reportable events, concerning seven disciplinary proceedings, to the Board on Form 3 as required by PCAOB rules. PCAOB rules required the Firm to complete and file a PCAOB special report on Form 3 to report any event specified in that form within 30 days of the event's occurrence. Among the events that the Firm was required to report on Form 3 were: (a) its becoming a respondent in certain disciplinary proceedings; and (b) the conclusion of certain disciplinary proceedings in which it had been a respondent.

3. Between August 2014 and October 2016, the Firm became a respondent in seven separate disciplinary proceedings initiated by the JCC. The initiation of each of those seven proceedings was a reportable event under Form 3. With respect to each of the proceedings, the Firm failed to file a Form 3 reporting the initiation of the proceeding until well after the 30-day reporting deadline. The Firm's delays in filing the required Forms 3 for the proceedings ranged from around six months to two years after the Firm learned of the initiation of the proceedings.

4. The Firm also failed to timely file a Form 3 reporting the conclusion of five of the seven proceedings. Specifically, the Firm failed to file the required Form 3 for periods ranging from between around four months to 13 months after learning of the conclusion of these five proceedings.

---

[2] A "foreign auditor oversight authority" means any governmental body or other entity empowered by a foreign government to conduct inspections of public accounting firms or otherwise to administer or enforce laws related to the regulation of public accounting firms. See PCAOB Rule 1001(f)(iii).

C. Respondent Failed to Timely Disclose Certain Reportable Events to the Board, in Violation of PCAOB Rules

5. PCAOB Rule 2203 provides that a registered public accounting firm must file a special report on Form 3 to report any event specified in that form within thirty days of the event's occurrence.[3] One such specified event occurs when a firm "has become aware that, in a matter arising out of the Firm's conduct in the course of providing professional services for a client, the Firm has become a defendant or respondent in a civil or alternative dispute resolution proceeding initiated by a governmental entity or in an administrative or disciplinary proceeding other than a Board disciplinary proceeding" ("Item 2.7 Proceeding").[4] Another such specified event occurs when a firm "has become aware that" an Item 2.7 Proceeding "has been concluded."[5] With respect to 12 such events, involving seven Item 2.7 Proceedings, the Firm failed to timely file a Form 3 with the Board.

The Firm Failed to Timely Disclose the Initiation of Seven Reportable Events

6. During 2015 and 2016, the Firm became aware that the JCC had initiated seven disciplinary proceedings against the Firm. Each of the proceedings related to the provision of professional services by the Firm to Colombian companies that were not issuers.[6] The Firm first learned of the initiation of each of the proceedings on or around the following respective dates:

- Proceeding 1: June 3, 2015

---

[3] See PCAOB Rule 2203, Special Reports. As the Board noted when adopting its rules on special reporting, "[R]eportable events will sometimes occur, and the public interest, as well as the ability to consider whether prompt action is warranted by the Board's inspection staff or enforcement staff, will be served by contemporaneous reporting of the event." PCAOB Rel. No. 2008-004, at 17 (June 10, 2008).

[4] PCAOB Form 3, at Item 2.7 (italics in the original removed). To be reportable under Item 2.7, the proceeding only has to relate to professional services for a client, and does not necessarily have to involve an audit of an issuer, broker, or dealer, as those terms are defined under PCAOB rules.

[5] PCAOB Form 3, at Item 2.10.

[6] The term "issuer" means an issuer (as defined in Section 3 of the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934 ("Exchange Act")), the securities of which are registered under Section 12 of the Exchange Act, or that is required to file reports under Section 15(d) of the Exchange Act, or that files or has filed a registration statement that has not yet become effective under the Securities Act of 1933, and that it has not withdrawn. See PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

- Proceeding 2: October 5, 2015
- Proceeding 3: December 17, 2015
- Proceeding 4: January 12, 2016
- Proceeding 5: February 12, 2016
- Proceeding 6: August 16, 2016
- Proceeding 7: December 1, 2016

7. In violation of Rule 2203, the Firm failed to file a Form 3 with respect to the initiation of these seven proceedings until June 30, 2017, between around seven months and two years after learning of the initiation of these seven proceedings.

The Firm Failed to Timely Disclose the Conclusion of Five Reportable Events

8. During 2016 and 2017, the Firm became aware that five of the seven disciplinary proceedings against the Firm had concluded. The Firm first learned of the conclusion of each of the proceedings on or around the following respective dates:

- Proceeding 1: February 17, 2017
- Proceeding 2: September 5, 2016
- Proceeding 3: May 26, 2016
- Proceeding 4: November 16, 2016
- Proceeding 5: June 15, 2016

9. In violation of Rule 2203, the Firm failed to file a Form 3 with respect to the conclusion of these five proceedings until June 30, 2017, between around four months and 13 months after learning of the conclusion of these five proceedings.

Failures in the Firm's Internal System of Compliance

10. The Firm's internal compliance and reporting systems failed to identify the initiation of the proceedings described above as being reportable to the PCAOB. In addition, the Firm's systems failed to identify the conclusion of the proceedings as being reportable to the PCAOB. As a result, the Firm inappropriately delayed notifying the PCAOB of the initiation and/or conclusion of disciplinary proceedings.

IV.

11. The Firm has represented to the Board that, since the events described in this Order, it has established and implemented the following changes to its policies and procedures for the purpose of providing the Firm with reasonable assurance of compliance with PCAOB reporting requirements:

a. The Firm has revised and supplemented its policies and procedures for the purpose of providing the Firm with reasonable assurance of compliance with PCAOB reporting requirements, including policies and procedures providing reasonable assurance that reportable events are identified by Firm personnel who participate in the Firm's PCAOB reporting process and that those events are reported on the applicable PCAOB form in a timely and complete manner;

b. The Firm has established policies to ensure training concerning PCAOB reporting requirements, at least annually, of any Firm personnel who participate in the Firm's PCAOB reporting process; and

c. The Firm has assigned the role of compliance with PCAOB reporting matters to an individual within the Firm who possesses adequate knowledge and experience with PCAOB reporting requirements and sufficient authority within the Firm to fulfill those requirements on behalf of the Firm.

V.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondent's Offer. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), the Firm is hereby censured; and

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of $15,000 is imposed upon the Firm. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of this civil money penalty will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. The Firm shall pay this civil money penalty within ten (10) days of the issuance of this Order by: (1) wire transfer pursuant to instructions provided by Board staff; or (2) United States Postal Service money order, bank money order, certified check, or bank cashier's check (a) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, (b) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, and (c) submitted under a cover letter, which identifies the Firm as a respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB release number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe W. Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

_____

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

March 19, 2019

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street NW
Washington, DC 20006
Office: (202) 207-9100
Fax: (202) 862-8430
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of Bharat Parikh & Associates Chartered Accountants, Bharatkumar Balmukund Parikh, FCA, and Anuj Bharatkumar Parikh, Respondents.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2019-003 March 19, 2019

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (the "Board" or "PCAOB") is censuring Bharat Parikh & Associates Chartered Accountants ("BPA" or the "Firm"), revoking the Firm's registration,[1] and imposing a $15,000 civil money penalty on the Firm; censuring Bharatkumar Balmukund Parikh, FCA ("Bharat Parikh"), and barring him from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm;[2] and censuring Anuj Bharatkumar Parikh ("Anuj Parikh") and barring him from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm.[3] The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that the Firm, Bharat Parikh and Anuj Parikh (collectively, "Respondents") violated PCAOB rules and standards in connection with audits of two issuer clients.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondents.

---

[1] The Firm may reapply for registration after five (5) years from the date of this Order.

[2] Bharat Parikh may file a petition for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm after five (5) years from the date of this Order.

[3] Anuj Parikh may file a petition for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm after one (1) year from the date of this Order.

II.

In anticipation of institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondents have each submitted an Offer of Settlement (the "Offers") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over them and the subject matter of these proceedings, which is admitted, Respondents consent to the entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[4]

III.

On the basis of Respondents' Offers, the Board finds that:[5]

A. Respondents

1. Bharat Parikh & Associates Chartered Accountants is an accounting firm headquartered in Vadodara, Gujarat, India. The Firm is licensed by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India ("ICAI") (license no. 101241-W). The Firm is registered with the PCAOB, pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules. At all relevant times BPA was the external auditor for the issuers identified below.

2. Bharatkumar Balmukund Parikh, FCA, age 65, of Vadodara, Gujarat, India, is a Fellow Chartered Accountant, licensed by the ICAI (member no. 038204). Bharat Parikh is the Senior Managing Partner and Controlling Partner of the Firm, and he served as the engagement partner on each of the audits discussed below. Bharat Parikh is an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

3. Anuj Bharatkumar Parikh, age 31, of Vadodara, Gujarat, India, is the Firm's Senior Consultant and Engagement Manager. Anuj Parikh served as engagement manager on each of the audits discussed below. As engagement manager, Anuj Parikh was responsible for client contact and coordination, and he was also involved in the supervision and performance of the audits, each of which was performed with the assistance of other junior BPA staff. As discussed below, Anuj Parikh also simultaneously served as the engagement quality reviewer for three of the audits. Anuj Parikh is an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

---

[4] The findings herein are made pursuant to Respondents' Offers and are not binding on any other persons or entities in this or any other proceeding.

[5] The Board finds that Respondents' conduct described in this Order meets the conditions set out in Section 105(c)(5) of the Act, 15 U.S.C. § 7215(c)(5), which provides that certain sanctions may be imposed in the event of (1) intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, that results in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard; or (2) repeated instances of negligent conduct, each resulting in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard.

B. Summary

4. This matter concerns Respondents' violations of PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the issuance of audit reports on the financial statements of Issuer A, for the fiscal years ("FY") ended September 30, 2014 through 2017 and Issuer B for the fiscal years ended May 31, 2015 and 2016. As detailed below, Respondents failed to exercise due professional care, including professional skepticism, and failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence, in connection with the audits. BPA and Bharat Parikh also failed to adequately consider whether a significant scope limitation in the FY 2015 Issuer B audit required BPA to issue a qualified audit report, or disclaim an opinion, for that audit.

5. This matter also concerns Respondents' failure to prepare sufficient audit documentation for each of the Issuer A audits; Bharat Parikh's failure to adequately supervise the Issuer A and Issuer B audits; the Firm's failure to comply with PCAOB quality control standards; and Bharat Parikh's failure to take appropriate steps to establish and monitor an appropriate system of quality control for the Firm.

6. Finally, this matter concerns Respondents' failure to comply with AS 1220, Engagement Quality Review (formerly, Auditing Standard No. 7).[6] The Firm failed to have an engagement quality review performed that complied with PCAOB standards during the FY 2014 and 2015 Issuer A audits and the FY 2015 Issuer B audit. In violation of AS 1220, Anuj Parikh served as the engagement quality reviewer on those audits while also acting as an active member of the engagement team. By assigning Anuj Parikh to both roles, Bharat Parikh knowingly or recklessly contributed to the Firm's violation.

---

[6] All references to PCAOB rules and standards are to the versions of those rules and standards in effect at the time of the relevant audits. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its auditing standards using a topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Release No. 2015-002 (Mar. 31, 2015); see also PCAOB Auditing Standards Reorganized and Pre Reorganized Numbering (Jan. 2017). The reorganization did not impose additional requirements on auditors or change substantively the requirements of PCAOB standards. While Respondents' conduct occurred both before and after the reorganization, the reorganized standards are cited herein for purposes of clarity.

C. Respondents Violated PCAOB Rules and Standards

7. In connection with the preparation or issuance of any audit report, PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons comply with the Board's auditing and related professional practice standards.[7] An auditor may express an unqualified opinion on an issuer's financial statements only when the auditor has formed such an opinion on the basis of an audit performed in accordance with PCAOB standards.[8] Those standards require among other things, that an auditor plan and perform audit procedures to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to provide a reasonable basis for the auditor's opinion.[9] PCAOB standards further require that an auditor exercise due professional care and professional skepticism in performing the audit.[10]

8. PCAOB standards state that, in planning an audit, an auditor should, among other things, establish an overall audit strategy for the engagement and develop an audit plan.[11] The auditor should also identify and assess the risks of material misstatement at the financial statement level and the assertion level, and design and perform audit procedures in a manner that addresses the assessed risks of material misstatement for each relevant assertion of each significant account and disclosure.[12] The auditor should perform substantive procedures for each relevant assertion of each significant account and disclosure, regardless of the assessed level of control risk.[13] For significant risks, including fraud risks, the auditor should likewise perform

---

[7] See PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards, and PCAOB Rule 3200, Auditing Standards.

[8] See AS 3101, Reports on Audited Financial Statements (formerly, AU § 508), ¶ 7. AS 3101 was subsequently replaced for audits of fiscal years ending on or after December 15, 2017. All references to AS 3101 in this Order are to the version of that standard in effect as of the Board's December 31, 2016 reorganization of its auditing standards.

[9] See AS 1105, Audit Evidence (formerly, Auditing Standard No. 15), ¶ 4.

[10] See AS 1015, Due Professional Care in the Performance of Work (formerly, AU § 230).

[11] See AS 2101, Audit Planning (formerly, Auditing Standard No. 9), ¶¶ 4-5.

[12] See AS 2110, Identifying and Assessing Risks of Material Misstatement (formerly, Auditing Standard No. 12), ¶ 59; AS 2301, The Auditor's Responses to the Risks of Material Misstatement (formerly, Auditing Standard No. 13), ¶ 8.

[13] See AS 2301 ¶ 36.

substantive procedures, including tests of details, that are specifically responsive to the assessed risks.[14]

9. To be appropriate, audit evidence must be both relevant and reliable in providing support for the conclusions on which the auditor's opinion is based.[15] PCAOB standards provide that, "if conditions indicate that a document may not be authentic or that the terms in a document have been modified but that the modifications have not been disclosed to the auditor, the auditor should modify the planned audit procedures or perform additional audit procedures to respond to those conditions and should evaluate the effect, if any, on the other aspects of the audit."[16] When using information produced by the company as audit evidence, the auditor should evaluate whether the information is sufficient and appropriate for purposes of the audit by performing procedures to: test the accuracy and completeness of the information, or test the controls over the accuracy and completeness of that information; and evaluate whether the information is sufficiently precise and detailed for purposes of the audit.[17]

10. PCAOB standards further require that an auditor evaluate the results of the audit to determine whether the audit evidence obtained is sufficient and appropriate to support the opinion to be expressed in the auditor's report.[18] In forming an opinion on whether the financial statements are presented fairly, in all material respects, the "auditor should take into account all relevant audit evidence, regardless of whether it appears to corroborate or to contradict the assertions in the financial statements."[19] If the auditor has not obtained sufficient appropriate audit evidence about a relevant assertion or has substantial doubt about a relevant assertion, the auditor should perform procedures to obtain further audit evidence to address the matter.[20] If the auditor is unable to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to have a reasonable basis to conclude about whether the financial statements as a whole are free of material misstatement, the auditor should express a qualified opinion or a disclaimer of opinion.[21]

---

[14] See AS 2301 ¶¶ 11, 13.

[15] See AS 1105 ¶ 6.

[16] AS 1105 ¶ 9.

[17] See AS 1105 ¶ 10.

[18] See AS 2810, Evaluating Audit Results (formerly, Auditing Standard No. 14), ¶ 2.

[19] AS 2810 ¶ 3.

[20] See AS 2810 ¶ 35.

[21] Id.

Representations from management are part of the evidential matter the independent auditor obtains, but they are not a substitute for the application of those auditing procedures necessary to afford a reasonable basis for an opinion regarding the financial statements under audit.[22]

11. Restrictions on the scope of the audit, whether imposed by the client or by circumstances, may require the auditor to qualify his or her opinion.[23] Restrictions on the application of audit procedures to important elements of the financial statements require the auditor to decide whether he or she has examined sufficient appropriate audit evidence to permit him or her to express an unqualified or qualified opinion, or whether he or she should disclaim an opinion.[24]

12. As described below, Respondents failed to comply with these and other PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the audits of Issuer A and Issuer B.

1. The Issuer A Audits

13. Issuer A is a Delaware corporation with a principal office in Farmingdale, New York. During the relevant time, Issuer A's public filings disclosed that it provided electronic manufacturing services and broad-based industrial services. At all relevant times, Issuer A was an "issuer" as the term is defined in Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

14. When planning each of the FY 2014 through 2017 Issuer A audits, BPA and Bharat Parikh failed to perform sufficient risk assessment procedures to identify the risks of material misstatement at both the financial statement level and assertion level.[25] Although BPA identified and documented some significant risks for the audits, the Firm failed to assess inherent risk, control risk, or the risk of material misstatement at the financial statement level or at the assertion level for each area of the audit.

15. As detailed below, when performing the audits, Respondents also failed to exercise due professional care and professional skepticism and failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to support the opinions expressed in the Firm's audit reports.

---

[22] See AS 2805, Management Representations (formerly, AU § 333), ¶ 2.

[23] See AS 3101 ¶ 22.

[24] See AS 3101 ¶ 24.

[25] See AS 2110 ¶ 59.

The FY 2014 Issuer A Audit

16. Bharat Parikh served as the engagement partner on the FY 2014 Issuer A audit and Anuj Parikh served as engagement manager. Bharat Parikh authorized the issuance of BPA's audit report, dated December 24, 2014, which contained an unqualified opinion on Issuer A's FY 2014 financial statements. Issuer A included that audit report in its Form 10-K, which was filed with the Commission on December 29, 2014.

17. Issuer A reported accounts receivable of approximately $4.0 million as of September 30, 2014, which constituted approximately 20% of total assets. During the FY 2014 Issuer A audit, Respondents identified accounts receivable as a significant account and identified a significant risk concerning the existence of accounts receivable. Despite this risk, Respondents failed to plan and perform sufficient audit procedures to address the risk and to determine whether the accounts receivable were properly recorded and properly valued.[26] Although confirmation of accounts receivable is a generally accepted auditing procedure,[27] Respondents failed to perform any confirmation procedures, and failed to document how they overcame the presumption that confirmation procedures were required.[28] While Respondents performed certain analytical procedures concerning the accounts receivable balance, those analytical procedures were not tests of details and did not serve as a substantive audit procedure because Respondents failed to develop a sufficiently precise expectation for those analytics to provide the desired level of assurance that potential misstatements would be identified.[29]

The FY 2015 Issuer A Audit

18. Bharat Parikh served as the engagement partner on the FY 2015 Issuer A audit and Anuj Parikh served as the engagement manager. Bharat Parikh authorized the issuance of BPA's audit report, dated December 18, 2015, which contained an unqualified opinion on Issuer A's FY 2015 financial statements. Issuer A included the audit report in its Form 10-K, which was filed with the Commission on December 21, 2015.

---

[26] See generally AS 2301 ¶¶ 8-9, 11, 36.

[27] See AS 2310, The Confirmation Process (formerly, AU § 330), ¶ 34.

[28] See AS 2310 ¶¶ 34-35.

[29] See generally AS 2305, Substantive Analytical Procedures (formerly AU § 329), ¶¶ 5, 9, 11, 17-19.

19. Issuer A reported accounts receivable of approximately $4.8 million as of September 30, 2015, which constituted approximately 21% of total assets. During the FY 2015 audit, Respondents identified a significant risk concerning the existence of accounts receivable. Despite this risk, Respondents failed to plan and perform sufficient audit procedures to address the risk and to determine whether the accounts receivable were properly recorded and properly valued. Respondents failed to perform any confirmation procedures concerning Issuer A's accounts receivable balance, and failed to document how they overcame the presumption that such confirmation procedures were required. Although Respondents examined Issuer A's bank statements and accounts receivable ledger to determine whether customers with large receivable balances made payments after year end, Respondents failed to match any of those cash receipts to invoices outstanding at year-end. As a result, Respondents failed to determine if the payments related to specific accounts receivable balances that should have been recorded at year end.

20. Issuer A reported finished goods and work-in-progress inventory of approximately $3.2 million as of September 30, 2015, which constituted approximately 14% of total assets. Respondents failed to perform sufficient procedures to test whether the finished goods and work-in-progress inventory were properly recorded and properly valued. Specifically, although observing inventory is a generally accepted auditing procedure,[30] Respondents failed to observe the issuer's inventory count for finished goods and work-in-progress and failed to perform any other audit procedures to test the quantities on hand for these inventories.[31] Further, although Respondents obtained Issuer A's computations of the value for certain work-in-progress and finished goods inventory, Respondents failed to perform procedures to evaluate the reasonableness of Issuer A's estimates of the value of these inventories.

The FY 2016 Issuer A Audit

21. Bharat Parikh served as the engagement partner on the FY 2016 Issuer A audit and Anuj Parikh served as the engagement manager. Bharat Parikh authorized the issuance of BPA's audit report, dated December 28, 2016, which contained an unqualified opinion on Issuer A's FY 2016 financial statements. Issuer A included the audit report in its Form 10-K, which was filed with the Commission on the same day.

22. Issuer A reported accounts receivable of approximately $13.6 million as of September 30, 2016, which constituted approximately 24% of total assets. Respondents again identified a significant risk concerning the existence of accounts receivable. Despite this risk, Respondents failed to plan and perform sufficient audit procedures to address the risk and to determine whether the accounts receivable were properly

---

[30] See AS 2510, Auditing Inventories (formerly, AU § 331), ¶ 1.

[31] See AS 2510 ¶¶ 9-12.

recorded and properly valued. The engagement team sent confirmation requests for accounts receivable of $13.1 million at year-end 2016, but received no responses. The engagement team performed alternative procedures for nonresponses, consisting of tracing the receivables to subsequent cash receipts of approximately $5.7 million, or 44% of the amount selected for confirmation. However, Respondents then failed to evaluate the combined evidence provided by the confirmations and the alternative procedures to determine whether sufficient evidence had been obtained about the existence and value of the receivables balance, or whether additional procedures needed to be performed.[32]

23. Issuer A reported inventory of approximately $14.1 million as of September 30, 2016, which constituted approximately 25% of total assets. Respondents failed to perform sufficient procedures to test whether inventory was properly valued. Specifically, Respondents failed to perform any procedures to test the unit costs assigned to inventory items at year-end 2016. While Respondents performed certain analytical procedures concerning the ending inventory balance, those analytical procedures did not serve as a substantive audit procedure because Respondents failed to develop a sufficiently precise expectation for those analytics to provide the desired level of assurance that potential misstatements would be identified.

24. Issuer A's FY 2016 financial statements consolidated the financial accounts of eight subsidiaries incorporated in four countries.[33] Issuer A's FY 2016 consolidation included the financial accounts for certain subsidiaries which were denominated in currencies other than U.S. dollars and, therefore, needed to be translated into U.S. dollars for consolidation purposes. Issuer A disclosed that it eliminated intercompany transactions and balances such as intercompany purchases and sales and related intercompany payables and receivables. Respondents failed to perform sufficient audit procedures to test whether Issuer A's consolidated financial statements agreed or reconciled with the underlying accounting records, including whether foreign currency translations and intercompany eliminations were appropriately recorded.[34]

---

[32] See AS 2310 ¶¶ 33.

[33] A consolidated financial statement is a statement that brings together all assets, liabilities, and operating accounts of a parent company and its subsidiaries. It presents the financial position and results of operation of the parent company and its subsidiaries as if the group were a single company with one or more branches. In order to do this, all intercompany transactions and intercompany relationships must be eliminated. See ASC 810, Consolidation.

[34] See AS 2301 ¶ 41a.

The FY 2017 Issuer A Audit

25. Bharat Parikh served as the engagement partner on the FY 2017 Issuer A audit and Anuj Parikh served as the engagement manager. Bharat Parikh authorized the issuance of BPA's audit report, dated December 13, 2017, which contained an unqualified opinion on Issuer A's FY 2017 financial statements. Issuer A included the audit report in its Form 10-K, which was filed with the Commission on the same day.

26. Issuer A reported accounts receivable of $15.5 million as of September 30, 2017, which constituted approximately 22% of total assets. Respondents again identified a significant risk concerning the existence of accounts receivable. Despite this risk, Respondents failed to plan and perform sufficient audit procedures to address the risk and to determine whether the accounts receivable were properly recorded and properly valued. Respondents failed to perform confirmation procedures for two of Issuer A's subsidiaries with accounts receivable totaling $7 million, which constituted approximately 10% of total assets, and failed to document how they overcame the presumption that confirmation procedures at these subsidiaries were required.

27. For Issuer A's other subsidiaries, Respondents selected accounts receivable totaling $6.5 million for confirmation, and performed alternative procedures for nonresponses, consisting of tracing the receivables to subsequent cash receipts. Respondents received responses for accounts totaling approximately $540,000, and traced approximately $2.9 million of the receivable balance to subsequent cash receipts recorded in company-generated spreadsheets.[35] Respondents, however, failed to test the completeness and accuracy of the spreadsheets used to test for subsequent cash receipts. Respondents also failed to evaluate the combined evidence provided by the confirmations and the alternative procedures to determine whether sufficient evidence had been obtained about the existence and value of the total $15.5 million accounts receivable balance, or whether additional procedures needed to be performed.

28. Issuer A's FY 2017 financial statements consolidated the financial accounts of ten subsidiaries incorporated in four countries. Issuer A's FY 2017 consolidation once again included the financial accounts for certain subsidiaries which were denominated in currencies other than U.S. dollars and, therefore, needed to be translated into U.S. dollars for consolidation purposes. Issuer A disclosed that it eliminated intercompany transactions and balances such as intercompany purchases and sales and related intercompany payables and receivables. Respondents failed to perform sufficient audit procedures to test whether Issuer A's consolidated financial statements agreed or reconciled with the underlying accounting records, including whether foreign currency translations and intercompany eliminations were appropriately recorded.

[35] For approximately $3 million of the receivables, Respondents did not receive a confirmation response or obtain evidence of subsequent cash receipts, and failed to perform any other alternative procedure.

2. The Issuer B Audits

29. Issuer B was, at all relevant times, a Nevada corporation with its principal office located in Gdansk, Poland. Issuer B's public filings disclosed that it was a development-stage company engaged in the distribution of office chair products in the United States. At all relevant times, Issuer B was an "issuer" as the term is defined in Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

The FY 2015 Issuer B Audit

30. BPA became Issuer B's auditor after responding to an email solicitation. The solicitation requested, among other things, that any recipient interested in performing the audit answer "[i]f you can do everything over email only (no visit required)." After Bharat Parikh expressed interest in the engagement, Issuer B asked for confirmation that BPA would not visit Issuer B during the audit, which Bharat Parikh confirmed. After obtaining this confirmation, Issuer B engaged BPA as its independent auditor.

31. Bharat Parikh served as the engagement partner on the FY 2015 Issuer B audit and Anuj Parikh served as the engagement manager. Bharat Parikh authorized the issuance of BPA's audit report, dated September 18, 2015, which contained an unqualified opinion on Issuer B's FY 2015 financial statements. Issuer B included the report in its Form S-1, which was filed with the Commission on October 13, 2015, and in three subsequent Forms S-1/A.

32. Issuer B was incorporated approximately two months prior to its May 31, 2015 fiscal year end. It disclosed in its Form S-1 that it had no employees, and that its sole officer and director had "no professional training or experience in the distribution of office chair products." Issuer B reported $30,873 in revenues for FY 2015, consisting of a single sale of office chairs five days before the end of the fiscal year, with cost of goods sold of $16,393. Approximately 74% of the company's assets at year-end were attributed to an office building that it reported to have purchased two days before year-end. Its only other asset was cash.

33. When planning the FY 2015 audit, BPA and Bharat Parikh failed to comply with PCAOB standards. They failed to establish an overall audit strategy for the engagement or to develop and document an audit plan that included planned risk assessment procedures and planned responses to the risks of material misstatement.[36] BPA and Bharat Parikh also failed to identify and assess inherent risk, control risk, and [36] See AS 2101 ¶¶ 4-5, 10; see also AS 2110.

the risk of material misstatement at the financial statement level and the assertion level.[37]

34. Respondents also failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence concerning the issuer's reported revenue, cost of sales, cash, and real property. In particular, Respondents relied exclusively on audit evidence that was provided by the company, while failing to perform procedures to test the accuracy and completeness of the audit evidence.[38] Respondents' principal audit procedures for revenue, cost of sales, cash, and real property consisted of tracing recorded transactions and balances to entries and balances in company-provided bank statements, copies of checks, invoices and contracts. However, Respondents failed to take any steps to authenticate or otherwise determine the reliability of any of those company-provided documents, and failed to evaluate whether the information contained in them was sufficient and appropriate evidence for purposes of the audit.[39]

35. PCAOB standards provide that an auditor should presume that there is a risk of material misstatement due to fraud for revenue.[40] During the audit, Respondents were aware that Issuer B recorded its single revenue transaction at an 88% mark-up despite disclosing in its Form S-1 that it sold its products at a 15–20% mark-up. Respondents were also aware that Issuer B did not record any marketing or delivery expense related to the sale. Nevertheless, Respondents failed to perform any procedures to respond to the risk of fraud, failed to seek any reliable evidence to corroborate that the purchase or sale transaction had actually taken place, and failed to seek any evidence that Issuer B's supplier or customer actually existed.[41]

36. Respondents likewise failed to seek reliable evidence that the office building in Poland existed, that Issuer B had actually acquired the building, or whether there was any unrecorded debt associated with that asset. Respondents traced the purchase price amount to a bank statement and a check copy, and obtained from management two Polish-language documents which management indicated were related to the building purchase. Respondents, however, failed to perform any procedures to authenticate or otherwise determine the reliability of either document. Additionally, although Polish land and mortgage registry (księga wieczysta) information was publicly available over the internet, Respondents did not attempt to independently

---

37 See AS 2110 ¶ 59.

38 See AS 1105 ¶ 10.

39 See AS 1105 ¶¶ 8, 10.

40 See AS 2110 ¶ 68.

41 See AS 2301 ¶ 13; AS 1105 ¶¶ 4-6.

verify the existence or the ownership of the building, or to determine whether there were any liens on the property.

37. Finally, although Respondents had planned to perform a bank confirmation procedure to verify the company's cash balance, they failed to perform that procedure at the audit client's request. Respondents also failed to obtain any other reliable evidence to support that the company's reported cash assets actually existed.

38. As a result of the foregoing, Respondents failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to provide a reasonable basis for the Firm's opinion.

39. Bharat Parikh also failed to assess with due professional care whether the scope limitations placed on the audit required disclosure in the audit report and a qualified opinion.[42] BPA's audit report failed to disclose that it had been restricted from visiting Issuer B's office and from performing a bank confirmation in connection with the FY 2015 audit.

The FY 2016 Issuer B Audit

40. Bharat Parikh served as the engagement partner on the FY 2016 Issuer B audit and Anuj Parikh served as the engagement manager. Bharat Parikh authorized the issuance of BPA's audit report, dated August 30, 2016, containing an unqualified opinion on Issuer B's FY 2016 financial statements. Issuer B included that report in its Form 10-K, which was filed with the Commission on September 8, 2016.

41. For FY 2016, Issuer B reported revenue of $132,821, and cost of goods sold of $125,434, consisting of four transactions all with the same customer and the same supplier as in FY 2015. Respondents again failed to plan and perform sufficient procedures to respond to the risk of fraud. Similar to the prior year, Respondents exclusively relied upon management-provided documents to test those accounts, while failing to take any steps to authenticate or otherwise determine the reliability of those documents. Respondents' principal test for revenue and cost of sales consisted of matching entries on management-provided bank statements to amounts listed on management-provided invoices. Respondents again failed to seek any evidence that Issuer B's sole customer and sole supplier actually existed, or to obtain reliable evidence that the transactions had actually occurred. Although management provided Respondents with documents that management claimed were proofs of delivery to its customer for three of the sales transactions, those documents were typewritten, bore no signature, and did not indicate: the shipper, the product delivered, or that Issuer B was the seller.

---

[42] See AS 3101 ¶¶ 22-24.

42. Respondents also failed to plan and perform sufficient audit procedures to address a fraud risk they identified related to a reported $39,847 expense for the development of a custom brand office chair. The original management-provided invoice for that expense, dated May 3, 2016, identified the customer as another entity with no known connection to Issuer B. After management provided a new copy of the invoice to BPA, which identified Issuer B as the customer, Respondents sent a confirmation request to the vendor, using the email address that appeared on the management-provided invoice, and received a response from that same e-mail address. Respondents, however, failed to obtain evidence to support the validity of the response.[43] In particular, Respondents failed to take any steps to verify the existence of the vendor or that the e-mail address on the invoice was associated with that vendor. Additionally, the confirmation response only acknowledged the existence of a contract, and did not provide evidence concerning the terms of the contract, whether payment had been received, or whether the services of the contract had been provided.

43. In addition, Respondents failed to perform any audit procedures in connection with Issuer B's office building asset, which constituted more than 96% of total assets and was a significant account.

44. As a result of the foregoing, Respondents failed to obtain sufficient appropriate evidence to provide a reasonable basis for the Firm's opinion.

D. Respondents Failed to Prepare Sufficient Audit Documentation

45. PCAOB standards require that auditors document the procedures performed, evidence obtained, and conclusions reached with respect to relevant financial statement assertions.[44] "Audit documentation must clearly demonstrate that the work was in fact performed."[45] Audit documentation must contain sufficient information to enable an experienced auditor, having no previous connection with the engagement to: (a) understand the nature, timing, extent, and results of the procedures performed, evidence obtained, and conclusions reached, and (b) determine who performed the work and the date such work was completed as well as the person who reviewed the work and the date of such review.[46]

---

[43] See AS 2310 ¶¶ 27, 29.

[44] See AS 1215 ¶ 6, Audit Documentation (formerly, Auditing Standard No. 3).

[45] Id. ¶ 6.

[46] See id.

46. Respondents violated the foregoing standards during each of the Issuer A audits because the documentation for each of those audits was insufficient to demonstrate the nature, timing, extent, and results of the procedures performed, evidence obtained, and conclusions reached, including in those areas of the audits involving significant risks. For the FY 2016 and 2017 Issuer A audits, the documentation also failed to demonstrate who performed the work and the date such work was completed. Additionally, in each of the Issuer A and Issuer B audits, the audit documentation was insufficient to demonstrate which aspects of the audit and which audit documentation Bharat Parikh reviewed.

E. Bharat Parikh Failed to Appropriately Supervise the Audits

47. PCAOB standards require that an audit engagement be supervised.[47] The engagement partner is responsible for proper supervision of the work of engagement team members and for compliance with PCAOB standards.[48] Supervising an audit engagement includes reviewing the work of engagement team members to evaluate whether the work was performed and documented, the objectives of the procedures were achieved, and the results of the work support the conclusions reached.[49]

48. As the engagement partner, Bharat Parikh was responsible for proper supervision of the work of the Issuer A and Issuer B engagement team members and for compliance with PCAOB standards.[50] Bharat Parikh was required to review the work of engagement team members to evaluate whether the work was performed and documented, the objectives of the procedures were achieved, and the results of the work supported the conclusions reached.[51] However, the work papers for the Issuer A and Issuer B audits indicate that Bharat Parikh failed to review any of the documentation relating to the substantive procedures performed by the BPA engagement teams. As discussed above, Bharat Parikh and the engagement teams failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence in several areas during the Issuer A and Issuer B audits, and failed to adequately document the work performed during those audits. As a result, Bharat Parikh failed to appropriately supervise these audit engagements.

---

[47] See AS 1201, Supervision of the Audit Engagement (formerly, Auditing Standard No. 10), ¶ 2.

[48] See id. ¶ 3.

[49] See id. ¶ 5c.

[50] See id. ¶ 3.

[51] See id. at ¶ 5c.

F. Respondents Failed to Comply with the Engagement Quality Review Requirements

49. For audit engagements, AS 1220 requires that an engagement quality review be performed pursuant to PCAOB standards.[52] AS 1220 also states that the engagement quality reviewer must be independent of the company, perform the engagement quality review with integrity, and maintain objectivity in performing the review.[53] To maintain objectivity, the engagement quality reviewer should not make decisions on behalf of the engagement team or assume any of the responsibilities of the engagement team.[54]

50. Anuj Parikh concurrently served as both the engagement quality reviewer and engagement manager for the FY 2014 and 2015 Issuer A audits and the FY 2015 Issuer B audit. As engagement manager, Anuj Parikh made decisions on behalf of the engagement team and assumed substantial responsibilities of the engagement team. As a result, Anuj Parikh failed to maintain objectivity as the engagement quality reviewer, and the Firm failed to obtain concurring approvals of issuance from an engagement quality reviewer who maintained objectivity during these audits, in violation of AS 1220.

51. In his roles as the Firm's managing partner and engagement partner for each of those audits, Bharat Parikh was responsible for the assignment of BPA personnel and had direct knowledge that Anuj Parikh was concurrently serving as engagement manager and engagement quality reviewer. As a result, Bharat Parikh knowingly or recklessly contributed to the Firm's violation of AS 1220, in violation of PCAOB Rule 3502, Responsibility Not to Knowingly or Recklessly Contribute to Violations.

G. The Firm Failed to Maintain an Adequate System of Quality Control and Bharat Parikh Contributed to that Failure

52. PCAOB rules and standards require that a registered public accounting firm comply with the Board's quality control standards.[55] PCAOB quality control standards require that a registered public accounting firm "shall have a system of quality

---

[52] See AS 1220 ¶ 1.

[53] See id. at ¶ 6.

[54] See id. at ¶ 7.

[55] See PCAOB Rule 3400T, Interim Quality Control Standards.

control for its accounting and auditing practice."[56] Pursuant to those standards, a registered firm should establish quality control policies and procedures to provide the firm with reasonable assurance that, among other things: personnel maintain objectivity in discharging their professional responsibilities;[57] and the work performed by engagement personnel meets applicable professional standards, regulatory requirements, and the firm's standards of quality.[58]

53. Throughout the relevant time period of 2014 through 2017, the Firm violated PCAOB quality control standards because it failed to maintain an adequate system of quality control. As described above, BPA failed to have in place adequate policies and procedures to provide reasonable assurance that the Firm and its personnel maintained objectivity and performed and documented their work in accordance with PCAOB auditing standards. Among other things, BPA's deficient system of quality control permitted the Firm to repeatedly (1) fail to perform procedures necessary to comply with PCAOB standards during the course of the audits described herein, (2) fail to comply with PCAOB audit documentation requirements, and (3) assign the engagement quality reviewer role to a person who was not objective.

54. At all relevant times, Bharat Parikh served as the Firm's managing partner and held ultimate responsibility for the Firm's adopting and maintaining an adequate system of quality control. In that role, Bharat Parikh took, or omitted to take actions that he knew, or was reckless in not knowing, would directly and substantially contribute to the Firm's violations of PCAOB's quality control standards. As a result, Bharat Parikh violated PCAOB Rule 3502.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondents' Offers. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), Bharat Parikh & Associates Chartered Accountants, Bharatkumar Balmukund Parikh, FCA, and Anuj Bharatkumar Parikh are hereby censured;

---

[56] Quality Control ("QC") § 20.01, System of Quality Control for a CPA Firm's Accounting and Auditing Practice.

[57] See QC § 20.09.

[58] See QC §§ 20.17-.18.

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(B) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(2), Bharatkumar Balmukund Parikh, FCA, and Anuj Bharatkumar Parikh are each barred from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm, as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i);[59]

C. After five (5) years from the date of this Order, Bharatkumar Balmukund Parikh, FCA, may file a petition, pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5302(b), for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm;

D. After one (1) year from the date of this Order, Anuj Bharatkumar Parikh, may file a petition, pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5302(b), for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm;

E. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(A) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(1), the registration of Bharat Parikh & Associates Chartered Accountants is revoked;

F. After five (5) years from the date of the Order, Bharat Parikh & Associates Chartered Accountants may reapply for registration by filing an application pursuant to PCAOB Rule 2101; and

G. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of $15,000 is imposed upon Bharat Parikh & Associates Chartered Accountants. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of these civil money penalties will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. The Firm shall pay the civil money penalty imposed withinthirty (30) days of the issuance of this Order by (1) wire transfer pursuant to instructions provided by Board staff; or (2) United States Postal Service money order, bank money order, certified check, or bank cashier's check (a) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, (b) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, and (c) submitted under a cover letter that

---

[59] As a consequence of the bar, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act will apply with respect to both Bharatkumar Balmukund Parikh, FCA, and Anuj Bharatkumar Parikh. Section 105(c)(7)(B) provides: “It shall be unlawful for any person that is suspended or barred from being associated with a registered public accounting firm under this subsection willfully to become or remain associated with any issuer, broker, or dealer in an accountancy or a financial management capacity, and for any issuer, broker, or dealer that knew, or in the exercise of reasonable care should have known, of such suspension or bar, to permit such an association, without the consent of the Board or the Commission.”

identifies the Firm as a Respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB release number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of said cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe W. Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

_____

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

March 19, 2019

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street NW
Washington, DC 20006
Office: (202) 207-9100
Fax: (202) 862-8430
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of Raich Ende Malter & Co. LLP, Respondent.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2019-009 April 9, 2019

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("Board" or "PCAOB") is censuring Raich Ende Malter & Co. LLP ("Respondent" or "Firm"), imposing a civil money penalty of $15,000 on the Firm, and requiring the Firm to undertake certain remedial measures. The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that Respondent violated Section 10A(j) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 ("Exchange Act"), Exchange Act Rule 10A-2, and PCAOB rules and standards in connection with the Firm's audits of two issuer audit clients.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondent.

II.

In anticipation of institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, the Respondent has submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offer") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over Respondent and the subject matter of these proceedings, which are admitted, Respondent consents to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[1]

[1] The findings herein are made pursuant to Respondent's Offer and are not binding on any other persons or entities in this or any other proceeding.

III.

On the basis of Respondent's Offer, the Board finds that:

A. Respondent

1. Raich Ende Malter & Co. LLP is, and at all relevant times was, a New York limited liability partnership headquartered in East Meadow, New York. The Firm is registered with the Board pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules. The Firm is licensed to practice public accounting in New York (Lic. No. 77-41150), New Jersey (Lic. No. 20CZ00005800) and other jurisdictions. At all relevant times, the Firm was the independent auditor for the two issuers discussed in this Order.

B. Summary

2. This matter concerns Respondent's violations of Section 10A(j) of the Exchange Act, Exchange Act Rule 10A-2, and PCAOB rules and standards that require a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons be independent of the firm's issuer audit clients throughout the audit and professional engagement period. Respondent was not independent of Issuer A, an audit client, during one audit and professional engagement period because a Firm partner served as lead or concurring partner on the audits of Issuer A's financial statements for more than five consecutive years.[2]

3. Respondent also violated the mandatory, two-year "cooling-off" period for former engagement partners under Auditing Standard 1220, Engagement Quality Review ("AS 1220") (formerly AS 7).[3] For two years of audits of Issuer B, Respondent assigned as the engagement quality reviewer an individual who previously had served as the engagement partner for that client in the prior year, in violation of the mandatory two-year "cooling off" period for former engagement partners.

4. This matter also concerns Respondent's violations of PCAOB quality control standards by failing to establish and implement quality control policies and procedures sufficient to provide Respondent with reasonable assurance that Firm

---

[2] See Section 10A(j) of the Exchange Act; Exchange Act Rule 10A-2; PCAOB Rule 3520, Auditor Independence; and AS 1005, Independence (formerly AU 220). All references to PCAOB rules and standards are to the versions of those rules and standards in effect at the time of the relevant audits. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB reorganized its auditing standards using a topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Release No. 2015-002 (Mar. 31, 2015); see also PCAOB Auditing Standards Reorganized and Pre-Reorganized Numbering (Jan. 2017).

[3] See AS 1220.08.

personnel would comply with applicable professional standards, specifically the partner rotation and mandatory two-year "cooling-off" requirements, and that its monitoring procedures were effective.

C. The Firm Violated PCAOB and Exchange Act Rules, and PCAOB Auditing Standards

The Partner Rotation Requirements

5. In connection with the preparation and issuance of an audit report, PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons comply with all applicable auditing and related professional practice standards.[4] PCAOB rules and standards require a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons be independent of the firm's audit client throughout the audit and professional engagement period.[5] A registered public accounting firm's independence obligation with respect to an issuer audit client encompasses not only an obligation to satisfy the independence criteria set out in the rules and standards of the PCAOB, but also an obligation to satisfy all other independence criteria applicable to the engagement, including the independence criteria set out in the rules and regulations of the Securities and Exchange Commission ("Commission") under the federal securities laws.[6]

6. Section 10A(j) of the Exchange Act provides, "It shall be unlawful for a registered public accounting firm to provide audit services to an issuer if the lead (or coordinating) audit partner (having primary responsibility for the audit), or the audit partner responsible for reviewing the audit, has performed audit services for that issuer in each of the 5 previous fiscal years of that issuer." Exchange Act Rule 10A-2 provides that it shall be unlawful for an auditor not to be independent with respect to the partner rotation requirements of Commission Regulation S-X, among other requirements.

7. Rule 2-01 of Commission Regulation S-X provides that an accountant is not independent of an audit client when an audit partner performs the services of lead or concurring audit partner for the same issuer for more than five consecutive years.[7] At all relevant times, the Firm had more than 5 issuer audit clients and more than 10

---

[4] PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards.

[5] See PCAOB Rule 3520; see also AS 1005.

[6] See PCAOB Rule 3520, Note 1.

[7] See Rule 2-01(c)(6)(i)(A)(1) of Regulation S-X, 17 C.F.R. § 210.2-01(c)(6)(i)(A)(1).

partners and did not qualify for the exemption in Rule 2-01 from this requirement for small firms.[8]

8. At all relevant times, Issuer A was a limited partnership formed under the laws of the State of Delaware. Its principal business was to invest as a limited partner in other partnerships that were eligible for low-income tax credits under the Tax Reform Act of 1986. Issuer A's limited partnership interests and beneficial assignment certificates were securities registered pursuant to Section 12(g) of the Exchange Act. At all relevant times, Issuer A was an "issuer" as that term is defined by Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

9. The Firm audited Issuer A's financial statements for the fiscal years ended ("FYE") March 31, 2012 through FYE March 31, 2017. For each of these six audits of Issuer A, the Firm issued unqualified audit reports that were filed with the Commission. During the FYE 2012 audit of Issuer A, the Firm assigned an individual to serve as the engagement quality review ("EQR") partner. This individual continued to serve on the audits of Issuer A as the engagement partner for FYE 2013 through FYE 2017.

10. During the FYE 2017 audit and professional engagement period, the Firm was not independent of Issuer A because the engagement partner had served for more than five consecutive years on Issuer A's engagement, first as the EQR partner during the FYE 2012 audit followed by his service as the engagement partner for the FYE 2013 through FYE 2017 audits. As a result, the Firm failed to comply with Section 10A(j) of the Exchange Act, Exchange Act Rule 10A-2, PCAOB Rule 3520 and AS 1005.

The Cooling Off Period Violations

11. AS 1220.01 requires an EQR be performed on audit engagements, reviews of interim financial information, and certain attestation engagements conducted pursuant to PCAOB standards. AS 1220.08 further provides that "[t]he person who served as the engagement partner during either of the two audits preceding the audit subject to the EQR may not be the engagement quality reviewer."[9] The Firm failed to comply with AS 1220.08 as described below.

12. At all relevant times, Issuer B was an emerging growth company in the beverage industry incorporated in the State of Delaware with its principal office in New York, New York. Its shares were registered under Section 12(g) of the Exchange Act and were quoted on the OTCQB. At all relevant times, Issuer B was an "issuer" as that term is defined by Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii). The Firm audited Issuer B's financial statements for FYE May 31, 2015 through FYE May 31,

---

[8] Id. at § 210.2-01(c)(6)(ii).

[9] The Firm did not qualify for the small firm exemption under Rule 2-01(c)(6)(ii) of Regulation S-X, 17 C.F.R. § 210.2-01(c)(6)(ii), which also applies to the mandatory two-year "cooling off" requirement of AS 1220.08.

2017 and issued unqualified audit reports that were filed with the Commission. The engagement partner who served on Issuer B's FYE 2015 audit also served as the engagement quality reviewer on the FYE 2016 and FYE 2017 audits without satisfying the mandatory two-year "cooling-off" period for former engagement partners in violation of AS 1220.

D. The Firm Violated PCAOB Rules and Standards Related to Quality Control

13. PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons comply with the Board's quality control standards.[10] PCAOB quality control standards require that a registered public accounting firm establish policies and procedures to provide the firm with reasonable assurance that the work performed by engagement personnel meets applicable professional standards, regulatory requirements, and the firm's standards of quality.[11] Quality control policies and procedures should be established to provide the firm with reasonable assurance that personnel maintain independence (in fact and in appearance) in all required circumstances, which includes compliance with the Commission's independence requirements.[12] The policies and procedures also should address EQRs pursuant to AS 1220.[13] A firm should also have monitoring procedures to enable it to obtain reasonable assurance that its system of quality control is effective.[14]

14. Throughout the relevant time period, the Firm failed to implement and maintain a system of quality control that would provide it with reasonable assurance that the work performed by the engagement personnel complied with applicable professional standards. First, the Firm failed to establish policies and procedures to ensure compliance with partner rotation independence requirements, including failing to sufficiently monitor the number of years individuals served as engagement partner or EQR partner on an issuer audit engagement. Second, the Firm also failed to establish and implement quality control policies and procedures to provide reasonable assurance that the Firm would comply with the mandatory two-year "cooling-off" requirement of AS 1220.

---

[10] PCAOB Rule 3400T, Interim Quality Control Standards.

[11] QC § 20.17, System of Quality Control for a CPA Firm's Accounting and Auditing Practice.

[12] QC § 20.09.

[13] QC § 20.18.

[14] QC § 30.03, Monitoring a CPA Firm's Accounting and Auditing Practice.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondent's Offer. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), Raich Ende Malter & Co. LLP is hereby censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of $15,000 is imposed upon Raich Ende Malter & Co. LLP. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of this civil money penalty will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. Raich Ende Malter & Co. LLP shall pay this civil money penalty within 10 days of the issuance of this Order by (a) wire transfer in accordance with instructions furnished by Board staff; or (b) United States Postal Service postal money order, certified check, bank cashier's check or bank money order; (c) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board; (d) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006; and (e) submitted under a cover letter which identifies Raich Ende Malter & Co. LLP as a Respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB Release Number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to the Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006;

C. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(G) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(9), Raich Ende Malter & Co. LLP is required:

1. within ninety (90) days from the date of this Order, to establish policies and procedures, or review and/or supplement existing policies and procedures, for the purpose of providing the Firm with reasonable assurance of compliance with the partner rotation requirements of Section 10A(j) of the Exchange Act, Exchange Act Rule 10A-2 and Rule 2-01 (c)(6)(i)(A)(1) of the Commission's Regulation S-X, and the mandatory two-year "cooling-off" period set forth in AS 1220.08;

2. within ninety (90) days from the date of this Order, to establish a policy of ensuring training, whether internal or external, on an annual or more frequent basis, concerning the partner rotation and mandatory two-year "cooling off" requirements, of any Firm audit personnel who participate in any way in the planning or performing of any audit services (as defined in PCAOB Rule 1001(a)(vii)); and

3. to certify in writing to the Director of the Division of Enforcement and Investigations, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, the Firm's compliance with paragraphs C(1) and C(2) above. The certification shall identify the undertakings, provide written evidence of compliance in the form of a narrative, and be supported by exhibits sufficient to demonstrate compliance. The Firm shall submit such certification within one hundred twenty (120) days from the date of this Order. The Firm shall also submit such additional evidence of and information concerning compliance as the staff of the Division of Enforcement and Investigations may reasonably request.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

_____

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

April 9, 2019

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street NW
Washington, DC 20006
Office: (202) 207-9100
Fax: (202) 862-8430
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER MAKING FINDINGS AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of KPMG Audit Limited and Damion J. Henderson, CA, Respondents.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2019-008 April 9, 2019

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("Board" or "PCAOB") is: (1) censuring KPMG Audit Limited ("KPMG Bermuda" or the "Firm"); (2) imposing a civil money penalty in the amount of US $250,000 upon the Firm; (3) requiring KPMG Bermuda to undertake and certify the completion of certain improvements to the Firm's system of quality control; (4) censuring Damion J. Henderson, CA (collectively, with KPMG Bermuda, the "Respondents"); (5) imposing a civil money penalty in the amount of US $10,000 upon Henderson; and (6) limiting Henderson's role in the Firm's system of quality control for a period of two (2) years from the date of this Order.

The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that, from 2014 to 2015, KPMG Bermuda's system of quality control failed to provide reasonable assurance that Firm personnel would comply with applicable professional standards and the firm's standards of quality, including with respect to performing all professional responsibilities with integrity. Through his acts and omissions, Henderson directly and substantially contributed to the Firm's violations. Respondents' violations related to current and former Firm personnel re-executing and backdating certain independence affidavits to replace misplaced original documents that they had previously executed, in advance of, and because of, a Board inspection.

I.

On March 21, 2019, the Board instituted disciplinary proceedings pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002 (the "Act"), as amended, and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondents. These proceedings were not public pursuant to Section 105(c)(2) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5203. The Board determined, under Section 105(c)(2) and PCAOB Rule 5203, that good cause was shown to make the hearing in this proceeding public, and the Division of Enforcement and Investigations consented to making the hearing in this proceeding public. Respondents submitted their Offers of Settlement pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205 on March 22, 2019. Respondents did not file an answer and therefore did not consent to making the hearing public.

II.

In response to these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondents have each submitted an Offer of Settlement (collectively, the "Offers") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over Respondents and the subject matter of these proceedings, which are admitted, Respondents each consent to the entry of this Order Making Findings and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[1]

III.

On the basis of Respondents' Offers, the Board finds that:

A. Respondents

1. KPMG Audit Limited is a limited liability company headquartered in Hamilton, Bermuda. KPMG Bermuda registered with the Board on June 14, 2004.[2] The Firm is licensed to practice public accountancy by The Chartered Professional Accountants of Bermuda ("CPA Bermuda"). KPMG Bermuda is a member of the KPMG International Cooperative network of firms.

2. Damion J. Henderson, CA, 48, of Hamilton, Bermuda, is a chartered accountant licensed by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of England and Wales (license no. 8440803) and CPA Bermuda. Henderson is a managing director (the equivalent of a partner) of KPMG Bermuda. At all relevant times, Henderson was in charge of the Firm's Ethics and Independence Department ("E&I Department") and supervised the work of E&I Department staff (e.g., the Senior Manager and the Administrative Assistant, as defined below). At all relevant times, Henderson was an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

---

[1] The findings herein are made pursuant to Respondents' Offers and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

[2] On June 14, 2004, the Firm's predecessor, Butterfield & Steinhoff Holdings ("Butterfield"), registered with the Board. On February 1, 2010, Butterfield changed its legal name to "KPMG." And on September 24, 2012, KPMG Bermuda succeeded to KPMG's registration with the Board.

B. Other Relevant Persons

3. The "Senior Manager" is a former employee of KPMG Bermuda who, at all relevant times, provided manager support to the E&I Department. At all relevant times, the Senior Manager was an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

4. The "Administrative Assistant" is a former employee of KPMG Bermuda who, at all relevant times, was an administrative assistant at the Firm, and who provided administrative support to the E&I Department.

C. Summary

5. This matter concerns KPMG Bermuda's failure to establish and maintain a system of quality control to provide reasonable assurance that Firm personnel would comply with applicable professional standards and the Firm's own standards of quality. These failures related to the implementation and monitoring of the Firm's own written standards of quality concerning: (a) independence, integrity, and objectivity; (b) preparing and maintaining appropriate documentation for a sufficient period of time; and (c) training Firm personnel concerning the preparation and retention of appropriate documentation, including making appropriate documentation available to the Board's inspectors. This matter also concerns Henderson's conduct, which directly and substantially contributed to the failure of the Firm's system of quality control.

6. In October 2014, E&I Department personnel learned that they had misplaced written independence confirmations, which the Firm referred to as "affidavits," for 27 present and former employees. In response to the discovery of the misplaced affidavits, the E&I Department asked these employees to re-execute the affidavits in the same manner as they had executed the original affidavits, and to backdate the re-executed affidavits to approximate the date that they had signed the originals. Most of these employees complied and returned these documents to the E&I Department. Henderson and the Senior Manager then backdated their own initials on the re-executed affidavits to approximate the date that they had reviewed and dated the original affidavits.

7. The Board conducted an inspection of KPMG Bermuda in the spring of 2015. During the inspection, the Firm made a binder of affidavits available to Board inspectors. That binder included certain of the affidavits that had been re-executed and backdated in advance of the inspection. At no time did Henderson or any other Firm personnel disclose to Board inspectors that the original affidavits had been lost, re-executed, and back-dated.

8. Prior to misplacing the affidavits, KPMG Bermuda had adopted its Quality & Risk Manual ("Manual"), which set forth certain policies and procedures of the Firm.

Among other things, the Manual discussed how Firm personnel should: (a) maintain integrity and objectivity; (b) prepare and maintain appropriate documentation; and (c) conduct themselves in connection with regulatory inspections. However, the Firm failed to implement appropriately these policies and procedures, including by failing adequately to train Firm personnel, such that multiple people at the Firm: (a) failed to maintain appropriate documentation for a sufficient period of time; and (b) failed to understand that it was not permissible to re-execute and backdate missing documents and to present such documents to the Board's inspectors without indicating that these documents were not originals.

9. As a result of this conduct, the Firm failed to comply with PCAOB quality control standards. Through his acts and omissions, Henderson, the head of the E&I Department, directly and substantially contributed to the Firm's violations.

D. Factual Background

The Independence Affidavit Process at KPMG Bermuda

10. During 2014 and 2015, KPMG Bermuda's system of quality control included policies and procedures intended to provide reasonable assurance that Firm personnel maintained independence.[3] Those policies and procedures required, among other things, that Firm personnel execute written independence confirmations ("Independence Affidavits") periodically during their employment at the Firm, including: (a) when an individual joined the Firm ("Starter"); (b) when the individual departed the Firm ("Leaver"); and (c) annually, in October of each year ("Annual").

11. Starters and Leavers were required to fill out Independence Affidavits and present the completed, hard-copy documents to the E&I Department. The Independence Affidavits for the Starters and Leavers were reviewed and signed off by the Senior Manager. The Independence Affidavits were then presented to Henderson for his review and sign off. The sign offs of Henderson and the Senior Manager included their initials and the respective dates that they each had reviewed the executed documents.

12. After review and sign off by Henderson and the Senior Manager, the Administrative Assistant typically placed the completed, hard-copy Independence Affidavits in a binder, and the E&I Department maintained these documents for the

[3] Such policies and procedures are mandated by PCAOB quality control standards. See QC § 20.09, System of Quality Control for a CPA Firm's Accounting and Auditing Practice (requiring firms to have policies and procedures to provide reasonable assurance that personnel maintain independence).

Firm. The E&I Department did not have any backup system in place in the event that the original Independence Affidavits were lost or destroyed.

The Firm Misplaced 27 Independence Affidavits in Fall 2014

13. In October 2014, the Administrative Assistant, the Senior Manager, and Henderson each understood that the E&I Department had misplaced 27 Independence Affidavits: 10 for Starters; and 17 for Leavers. Among the missing documents were Independence Affidavits for personnel who had worked on issuer audits. As a result of losing these Independence Affidavits, on December 5, 2014, before the Firm was formally notified of an upcoming PCAOB inspection, the Administrative Assistant asked each of the 10 Starters to re-execute their missing Independence Affidavits and to backdate the re-executed affidavits to approximate the date that they had signed the originals. Each of the 10 Starters complied with this request from the E&I Department.

14. Henderson and the Senior Manager in the E&I Department backdated their own sign offs on each of these re-executed Starter Independence Affidavits, to approximate the date that they had originally reviewed and initialed the documents. In doing so, Henderson and the Senior Manager did not indicate that the documents were not originals.

15. At the time that Henderson and the Senior Manager backdated their sign offs on these re-executed Starter Independence Affidavits, they understood that the Board would inspect the Firm in 2015, as part of the Board's inspection program.

16. In December 2014, the E&I Department presented a training module to Firm personnel that discussed the upcoming inspection. The E&I Department advised Firm personnel that the Independence Affidavit process would be an area of focus for the Board during the upcoming 2015 inspection. Specifically, the E&I Department PowerPoint presentation included a reference to "Areas of focus by PCAOB during inspection: E&I training and education; Affidavit process/personal compliance audits."

Steps Taken Following Notice of the Inspection

17. On December 15, 2014, the Board formally notified KPMG Bermuda that inspection field work would take place in May 2015. And in early January 2015, the Board requested documents and information from the Firm including documents and information from the E&I Department.

18. In mid-January 2015, the Firm notified personnel that KPMG Bermuda would be inspected in May 2015. Beginning in February 2015, the Administrative Assistant contacted the 17 Leavers whose Independence Affidavits the Firm had misplaced. The Administrative Assistant asked the Leavers to re-execute their missing Independence Affidavits in the same manner as they had executed the original affidavits, and to backdate the re-executed affidavits to approximate the date that they had signed the originals. Fifteen of the 17 Leavers complied with these requests. The Administrative Assistant stated "[i]t is imperative that we have [the Independence Affidavits] on file as we are preparing for PCAOB inspection."

19. Significantly, one of the Leavers raised concerns to the Senior Manager about re-executing and backdating his Independence Affidavit. In response to the Leaver's concerns, the Senior Manager emailed the Leaver, on February 9, 2015: "I completely understand where you are coming from, as it is unreasonable of us to expect this. The only reason we are asking is that the Firm, including the E&I function, is being inspected by the PCAOB in May 2015 covering the previous 12 months."

20. As with the missing Starter Independence Affidavits, both Henderson and the Senior Manager backdated their sign offs on the re-executed Leaver Independence Affidavits without indicating that the documents were not originals.

21. In mid-April 2015, the Board requested that the Firm make available to the Board's inspectors Annual Independence Affidavits for Firm partners and managers who worked on the three engagements the inspectors selected for inspection. The Firm instructed Henderson to take responsibility for gathering the requested Independence Affidavits.

22. The Administrative Assistant, acting at the direction of Henderson, assembled a binder to be made available to the Board's inspectors. In addition to the partner and manager Annual Independence Affidavits specifically requested by the inspectors, the Administrative Assistant included Annual Independence Affidavits and Leaver Independence Affidavits for all engagement team members who worked on the audits subject to the inspection. While all of the requested Annual Independence Affidavits included in the binder were originals, at least two of the Leaver Independence Affidavits were re-executed and backdated.

23. On Sunday May 3, 2015, immediately before the Board's inspection commenced on Monday May 4, 2015, the Administrative Assistant emailed Henderson, stating "I have a few affidavits that need to be signed before putting copies in the binder." Henderson replied, one minute later: "On way in now."

24. Henderson and the Administrative Assistant continued their efforts to obtain re-executed and backdated Independence Affidavits after the Board's inspection commenced. On May 5, 2015, Henderson called a Leaver who previously had worked on an issuer audit subject to the inspection who had not yet provided a re-executed and backdated Independence Affidavit. On May 6, 2015, the Leaver emailed her re-executed and backdated Independence Affidavit to the Administrative Assistant and Henderson. That same day, Henderson and the Senior Manager backdated their sign offs on the Leaver's Independence Affidavit to approximate the date that they had reviewed the original document. The Leaver Independence Affidavit ultimately was placed into the binder that the E&I Department prepared for the Board's inspectors.

25. The E&I Department made the binder available to the Board's inspectors. At no time did Henderson or any other Firm personnel disclose to the Board's inspectors either that the binder contained re-executed documents or that the Firm had lost certain original Starter and Leaver Independence Affidavits.

26. After the Board opened an informal inquiry in this matter, the Firm conducted an internal investigation and the Firm ultimately located substantially all of the misplaced original Independence Affidavits, which were substantially similar to the re-executed documents. None of these misplaced original Independence Affidavits that were located identified violations of independence policies by the Starters and Leavers.

The Firm's Written Policies and Procedures

27. At the time the Independence Affidavits were re-executed and backdated, the Firm's written policies and procedures, as set forth in its Manual, discussed how Firm personnel should: (a) maintain independence, integrity and objectivity; (b) prepare and maintain appropriate documentation; and (c) conduct themselves in connection with regulatory inspections. For instance, the Firm had written policies and procedures, set forth in the Manual: (i) stating that Firm personnel shall maintain their integrity and objectivity, and exercise a high standard of professional judgment; (ii) describing how the Firm should prepare and maintain sufficient documentation to evidence the operation of each element of its system of quality control, including ethics and independence; and (iii) describing how Firm personnel should respond to requests made by regulators in connection with regulatory inspections and investigations. The Firm, however, failed to take appropriate steps to implement and monitor those policies and procedures.

E. Respondents Violated PCAOB Rules and Standards

28. PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons comply with the Board's quality control standards.[4] PCAOB quality control standards require that a registered public accounting firm shall effectively design, implement, and maintain a system of quality control for the firm's accounting and auditing practice.[5] A "system of quality control is broadly defined as a process to provide the firm with reasonable assurance that its personnel comply with applicable professional standards and the firm's standards of quality."[6]

---

[4] See PCAOB Rule 3400T, Interim Quality Control Standards.

[5] QC §§ 20.01 and 20.02.

29. As part of its system of quality control, a firm should establish policies and procedures "to provide the firm with reasonable assurance that personnel maintain independence (in fact and in appearance) in all required circumstances, perform all professional responsibilities with integrity, and maintain objectivity in discharging professional responsibilities."[7]

30. In addition, PCAOB quality control standards require that a firm "should communicate its quality control policies and procedures to its personnel in a manner that provides reasonable assurance that those policies and procedures are understood and complied with."[8]

31. A firm also "should prepare appropriate documentation to demonstrate compliance with its policies and procedures for the quality control system discussed herein. . . . Documentation should be retained for a period of time sufficient to enable those performing monitoring procedures and a peer review to evaluate the extent of the firm's compliance with its quality control policies and procedures."[9]

32. Finally, PCAOB quality control standards require each firm to establish policies and procedures "to provide the firm with reasonable assurance that the policies and procedures established by the firm for each of the other elements of quality control . . . are suitably designed and are being effectively applied."[10] "Monitoring procedures taken as a whole should enable the firm to obtain reasonable assurance that its system of quality control is effective."[11]

33. During 2014 and 2015, KPMG Bermuda's system of quality control failed to provide reasonable assurance that Firm personnel would comply with professional standards and the Firm's standards of quality, including with respect to: (a)

---

[6] QC § 20.03.

[7] QC § 20.09.

[8] QC § 20.23.

[9] QC § 20.25.

[10] QC § 20.20. See also QC § 30.02, Monitoring a CPA Firm's Accounting and Auditing Practice (same).

[11] QC § 30.03.

independence, integrity, and objectivity; and (b) preparing and maintaining appropriate documentation for a sufficient period of time.

34. Specifically, the Firm failed to maintain appropriate documentation for a sufficient period of time, and multiple Firm personnel failed to understand that it was not permissible, based on Firm policies and professional standards, to re-execute and backdate missing Independence Affidavits and to present those quality control documents to the Board's inspectors without disclosure that the documents were not originals.

35. PCAOB Rule 3502 states that an associated person of a registered public accounting firm shall not "take an action knowing, or recklessly not knowing, that the act or omission would directly and substantially contribute to a violation by that registered public accounting firm of the Act, the Rules of the Board, the provisions of the securities laws relating to the preparation and issuance of audit reports and the obligations and liabilities of accountants with respect thereto, including the rules of the Commission issued under the Act, or professional standards."[12]

36. As the partner in charge of the E&I Department, Henderson was responsible, in part, for implementing, maintaining, and monitoring portions of the Firm's system of quality control related to the ethics and integrity of Firm personnel. For example, Henderson was responsible for overseeing the documentation of the independence of Firm personnel and the retention of appropriate documentation of such independence for a sufficient period of time. Henderson also was responsible for overseeing the implementation of the Firm's policies and procedures, including through the training of Firm personnel, to provide reasonable assurance that Firm personnel maintained independence. In addition, Henderson was responsible, in part, for overseeing and participating in appropriate interactions with regulators, including the Board's inspectors.

37. Henderson's knowing and/or reckless actions and omissions, described above, directly and substantially contributed to the Firm's violations of Quality Control Sections 20 and 30. As a result, Henderson violated PCAOB Rule 3502.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit

[12] PCAOB Rule 3502, Responsibility Not to Knowingly or Recklessly Contribute to Violations.

reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondents' Offers. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), KPMG Bermuda and Henderson are censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of US $250,000 is imposed upon KPMG Bermuda and a civil money penalty in the amount of US $10,000 is imposed upon Henderson. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of these civil money penalties will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. KPMG Bermuda and Henderson shall each pay their respective civil money penalty within 20 days of the issuance of this Order by: (1) wire transfer in accordance with instructions furnished by Board staff; or (2) United States Postal Service money order, bank money order, certified check, or bank cashier's check (a) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, (b) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, and (c) submitted under a cover letter that identifies the Firm or Henderson, as applicable, as a respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB release number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to the Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe W. Brown, Secretary, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006;

C. Henderson Limitation – Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(C) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(3), Henderson shall not play any role in the design, implementation, or monitoring of any aspect of the Firm's system of quality control for a period of two (2) years from the date of this Order; and

D. Firm Undertakings – Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(G) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(9), KPMG Bermuda shall complete the following undertakings:

(1) Initial Undertakings – Within thirty (30) days from the date of this Order, the Firm shall establish and implement quality control policies and procedures, or revise and/or supplement existing policies and procedures, to provide reasonable assurance that: (a) personnel perform professional responsibilities with integrity; and (b) personnel maintain appropriate quality control documentation for a sufficient period of time.

(2) Certification – Within sixty (60) days of the entry of this Order, the Firm shall provide a certification, signed by the Chairman of KPMG Bermuda and an additional appropriate signatory of the Firm, to the Director of the PCAOB's Division of Enforcement and Investigations, stating that the Initial Undertakings, described in Section IV(D)(1) above, have been completed.

(3) Additional Firm Undertakings

(a) For two (2) years from the date of this Order, the Firm will promptly report to the Board any allegation of improper document alterations in connection with (i) the Firm's system of quality control, (ii) any audit subject to the PCAOB's jurisdiction, or (iii) any PCAOB inspection or investigation.

(b) For two (2) years from the date of this Order, within one week after being notified that the Firm will be inspected, the Firm shall notify personnel of the inspection and shall specifically instruct personnel of their obligation to cooperate with Board inspections, including by not preparing or making available to the Board's inspectors documents containing misleading information.

(c) No later than 30 days after the date of this Order, the Firm shall provide an electronic or paper copy of this Order to all of its associated persons.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

_____

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

April 9, 2019

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street NW
Washington, DC 20006
Office: (202) 207-9100
Fax: (202) 862-8430
www.pcaobus.org

ORDER INSTITUTING DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING SANCTIONS In the Matter of Timothy M. Kosiek, Respondent.	PCAOB Release No. 105-2019-010 April 26, 2019

By this Order, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("Board" or "PCAOB") is: (1) censuring Timothy M. Kosiek ("Kosiek" or "Respondent"); (2) barring Kosiek from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm;[1] and (3) imposing a civil money penalty in the amount of $25,000 on Kosiek. The Board is imposing these sanctions on the basis of its findings that Kosiek violated PCAOB rules and auditing standards in connection with the integrated audit of the financial statements and internal control over financial reporting of Flagstar Bancorp, Inc., as of and for the year ended December 31, 2013.

I.

The Board deems it necessary and appropriate, for the protection of investors and to further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, that disciplinary proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted pursuant to Section 105(c) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended (the "Act"), and PCAOB Rule 5200(a)(1) against Respondent.

II.

In anticipation of the institution of these proceedings, and pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5205, Respondent has submitted an Offer of Settlement ("Offer") that the Board has determined to accept. Solely for purposes of these proceedings and any other proceedings brought by or on behalf of the Board, or to which the Board is a party, and without admitting or denying the findings herein, except as to the Board's jurisdiction over him and the subject matter of these proceedings, which are admitted, Respondent

[1] Kosiek may file a petition for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm after two (2) years from the date of this Order.

consents to entry of this Order Instituting Disciplinary Proceedings, Making Findings, and Imposing Sanctions ("Order") as set forth below.[2]

III.

On the basis of Respondent's Offer, the Board finds[3] that:

A. Respondent

1. Timothy M. Kosiek, CPA, 60, of Minneapolis, Minnesota, was, at all relevant times, a certified public accountant licensed by the Minnesota Board of Accountancy (license no. 13127) and a partner of the PCAOB-registered public accounting firm Baker Tilly Virchow Krause, LLP ("Baker Tilly" or "Firm"). Kosiek is, and at all relevant times was, an associated person of a registered public accounting firm as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i).

2. From 1980 until 2000, Kosiek was an auditor at a Big Four accounting firm, eventually rising to the position of partner, with responsibilities that included the audits of financial institutions. In 2000, Kosiek left auditing to become the Chief Financial Officer of a bank holding company. He returned to auditing in 2009 when he joined Baker Tilly as a partner. Kosiek took over as the engagement partner for the Firm's audits of Flagstar Bancorp, Inc. ("Flagstar"), in 2010.

B. Relevant Entities

3. Baker Tilly Virchow Krause, LLP, was, at all relevant times, a limited liability partnership organized under Illinois law, and headquartered in Chicago, Illinois. The Firm is registered with the Board pursuant to Section 102 of the Act and PCAOB rules, and is licensed by the Minnesota Board of Accountancy, among others. The Firm acted as the external auditor for Flagstar for fiscal years 2005 through 2014.

4. Flagstar Bancorp, Inc., was, at all relevant times, a Michigan corporation headquartered in Troy, Michigan, and the holding company for Flagstar Bank, FSB.[4]

---

[2] The findings herein are made pursuant to Respondent's Offer and are not binding on any other person or entity in this or any other proceeding.

[3] The Board finds that Respondent's conduct described in this Order meets the condition set out in Section 105(c)(5) of the Act, 15 U.S.C. § 7215(c)(5), which provides that certain sanctions may be imposed in the event of (A) intentional or knowing conduct, including reckless conduct, that results in violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard; or (B) repeated instances of negligent conduct, each resulting in a violation of the applicable statutory, regulatory, or professional standard.

Flagstar's common stock was registered under Section 12(b) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 ("Exchange Act") and was traded on the New York Stock Exchange under the symbol "FBC." At all relevant times, Flagstar was an issuer as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(7) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(i)(iii).

C. Summary

5. Flagstar is one of the nation's largest mortgage originators and the largest bank in Michigan, with 99 branches statewide and a mortgage division that operates a network in all 50 states. For the year ended December 31, 2013 ("FY 2013"), Flagstar reported assets of $9.4 billion, which at the time made it one of the ten largest savings banks in the United States. Flagstar is regulated by a number of federal government agencies, including the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency ("OCC").

6. For FY 2013, Flagstar disclosed in its annual report that real estate and economic conditions could adversely affect its business, and specifically that:

> "[t]here is a risk of default with respect to all of our mortgages and other loans, and our remedies to collect, foreclose or otherwise recover may not fully satisfy the debt owed to us. We maintain an allowance for loan losses, which is a reserve established through a provision for loan losses charged to expense, to provide for probable and inherent losses in our loans held for our investment portfolio. Our allowance for loan losses, however, may not be adequate to cover actual credit losses, and future provisions for credit losses could adversely affect our business, financial condition, results of operations, cash flows and prospects."[5]

One of the most important aspects of Flagstar's accounting in FY 2013, therefore, was its allowance for loan and lease losses ("ALLL").

7. This matter concerns Kosiek's failure to comply with PCAOB rules and standards in connection with Baker Tilly's integrated audit of Flagstar's financial statements and internal control over financial reporting ("ICFR") for FY 2013. In particular, Kosiek failed to exercise due professional care, including appropriate professional skepticism, and failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence in connection with the reported value of and controls over Flagstar's ALLL for year-end 2013.

---

[4] Flagstar Bancorp, Inc., and Flagstar Bank, FSB, are referred to jointly in this Order as "Flagstar."

[5] See Flagstar Bancorp, Inc., Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2013, filed Mar. 5, 2014 ("Flagstar 10-K"), at 41.

8. First, at the time of his FY 2013 audit of Flagstar ("2013 Audit"), Kosiek was in his fourth year as the engagement partner on Flagstar's audit and understood that Flagstar's ALLL was a financial statement account that presented a high risk of material misstatement. Kosiek also knew that one of Flagstar's principal regulators, the OCC, had for two years been communicating concerns to Flagstar about its methodology for estimating its ALLL and whether that method was consistent with U.S. Generally Accepted Accounting Principles ("GAAP"). Kosiek identified "[c]ontinued criticisms from regulator examination reports" to be a risk of material misstatement, regularly communicated with the OCC, and believed "that the views of regulatory agencies such as the OCC needed to be considered when evaluating any financial statement assertions under GAAP."

9. During the 2013 Audit, Kosiek understood from a "company-prepared summary" that Flagstar was changing its ALLL methodology in the fourth quarter, in part to address the OCC's concerns, by adding improved risk factors to its residential segmentation process and by applying a qualitative adjustment to account for the loss history of certain non-performing loans.

10. By the end of the 2013 Audit, Kosiek became aware that Flagstar was reducing its reported ALLL from $305 million at year-end 2012 to $207 million, and was decreasing the corresponding expense against earnings from $276 million to $70 million.[6] Additionally, by the time Kosiek signed the audit opinion, members of Kosiek's engagement team had received and documented in the audit work papers evidence that Flagstar, based on its quantitative and qualitative assessment set forth in a company-prepared summary, was excluding the loss history of certain non-performing loans from its ALLL model, without applying a planned off-setting qualitative adjustment. Kosiek concurred with this conclusion to exclude the loss history of the non-performing loans from its ALLL model, based on his review of the audit documentation, without noticing that the documentation showed that Flagstar did not apply the planned qualitative adjustment.

11. Second, with respect to Flagstar's internal controls, Kosiek failed to obtain sufficient audit evidence that Flagstar designed its ALLL controls to address the valuation assertion, which Kosiek believed was the most significant financial statement assertion for the ALLL account, and he obtained evidence that the ALLL controls that did exist were not operating effectively. Nevertheless, he concluded that Flagstar's internal controls were designed and operating effectively and relied on those controls in testing the ALLL reported in the financial statements.

12. Third, Kosiek did not sufficiently evaluate the methodology Flagstar used to arrive at the ALLL. In particular, Kosiek (i) failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence concerning the completeness and accuracy of information produced by Flagstar management, (ii) failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence concerning certain aspects of Flagstar's ALLL estimate and failed to evaluate for bias the selection and application of accounting policies related to the estimate, (iii) failed to adequately assess management's estimates as a whole for bias or fraud, and (iv) failed to adequately perform a qualitative assessment of Flagstar's accounting practices.

---

[6] See id. at 99.

13. Later, as Kosiek approached the completion of his audit work, he failed to respond to evidence that undermined his understanding that Flagstar had re-introduced the loss history of the non-performing loans back into its ALLL model in the fourth quarter of 2013 through a qualitative adjustment—an understanding on which he based his evaluation of Flagstar's ALLL estimate. Just two weeks before Flagstar filed its Form 10-K, Kosiek learned that Flagstar's reported ALLL was not going to change between the third quarter of 2013 and year-end 2013. Kosiek, however, as part of the overall review, failed to evaluate sufficiently whether this information was unexpected in light of his belief that Flagstar had re-introduced the loss history of the non-performing loans back into its ALLL model in the fourth quarter through a qualitative adjustment. Five days later, Kosiek became aware of evidence that Flagstar's year-end ALLL may have been understated by at least $30 million. Nevertheless, Kosiek authorized the Firm's issuance of an audit report containing an unqualified opinion on Flagstar's ICFR and financial statements.

14. In the first quarter of 2014, Flagstar made an adjustment to its ALLL, increasing it from $207 million to $307 million and recording an increased loss expense against earnings.

15. Finally, Kosiek failed to make certain required disclosures to Flagstar's Audit Committee concerning Baker Tilly's audit of Flagstar's ALLL.

16. As a result of this conduct, Kosiek failed to act with due professional care, failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence, and failed to perform certain required audit procedures during the 2013 Audit of Flagstar's financial statements and ICFR.

D. Kosiek Violated PCAOB Rules and Standards in Connection with the Audit of Flagstar's FY 2013 Financial Statements and ICFR.

Applicable PCAOB Rules and Auditing Standards

17. In connection with the preparation or issuance of an audit report, PCAOB rules require that a registered public accounting firm and its associated persons comply with the Board's auditing and related professional practice standards.[7] An auditor may express an unqualified opinion on an issuer's financial statements only when the auditor has formed such an opinion on the basis of an audit performed in accordance with PCAOB standards,[8] and after the auditor has evaluated whether the financial statements are "presented fairly, in all material respects, in conformity with" applicable accounting principles.[9] Among other things, PCAOB standards require that an auditor (i) exercise due professional care, including professional skepticism, in the performance of the audit,[10] and (ii) plan and perform audit procedures to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to provide a reasonable basis for the audit opinion.[11] Audit evidence is all the information, whether obtained from audit procedures or other sources, that is used by the auditor in arriving at the conclusions on which the auditor's opinion is based.[12] If the auditor is unable to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to have a reasonable basis to conclude about whether the financial statements as a whole are free of material misstatement, the auditor should express a qualified opinion or a disclaimer of opinion.

[7] See PCAOB Rule 3100, Compliance with Auditing and Related Professional Practice Standards; PCAOB Rule 3200T, Interim Auditing Standards. All references to PCAOB rules and standards are to the versions of those rules and standards in effect at the time of the 2013 Audit. As of December 31, 2016, the PCAOB

18. PCAOB auditing standards require that, when using information produced by the company as audit evidence, the auditor should evaluate whether the information is sufficient and appropriate for purposes of the audit by performing procedures both (i) "[t]est[ing] the accuracy and completeness of the information, or test[ing] the controls over the accuracy and completeness of that information," and (ii) "[e]valuat[ing] whether the information is sufficiently precise and detailed for purposes of the audit."[13]

19. PCAOB auditing standards also require auditors to perform certain procedures relating to management estimates. Those standards state that auditors should perform procedures to "obtain sufficient appropriate evidential matter to provide reasonable assurance" that those estimates are reasonable in the context of the reorganized its auditing standards using a topical structure and a single, integrated numbering system. See Reorganization of PCAOB Auditing Standards and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards and Rules, PCAOB Rel. No. 2015-002 (Mar. 31, 2015); see also PCAOB Auditing Standards Reorganized and Pre-Reorganized Numbering (Jan. 2017).

---

[8] See AU § 508.07, Reports on Audited Financial Statements.

[9] Auditing Standard No. 14, Evaluating Audit Results ("AS No. 14"), ¶ 30.

[10] See Auditing Standard No. 13, The Auditor's Responses to the Risks of Material Misstatement ("AS No. 13"), ¶ 7; AU § 150, Generally Accepted Auditing Standards; AU §§ 230.01, .07, Due Professional Care in the Performance of Work.

[11] See Auditing Standard No. 15, Audit Evidence ("AS No. 15"), ¶ 4.

[12] See id. ¶ 2.

[13] AS No. 15 ¶ 10.

financial statements taken as a whole and are presented in conformity with GAAP,[14] and should evaluate whether the company's selection and application of accounting principles related to the estimates indicate management bias.[15] Additionally, in connection with both evaluating management's judgments as a whole and evaluating whether the financial statements might be materially misstated due to fraud, the auditor should perform procedures to evaluate potential bias in estimates, including a retrospective review of significant accounting estimates used in the prior year.[16]

20. When evaluating whether the financial statements as a whole are free of material misstatement, the auditor should: (i) evaluate potential management bias in accounting estimates as part of the larger evaluation of "the qualitative aspects of the company's accounting practices";[17] and (ii) perform analytical procedures to evaluate significant accounts and disclosures, including to evaluate any unusual or unexpected amounts or relationships in the financial statements.[18]

21. PCAOB standards state that, if an auditor obtains "sufficient and appropriate audit evidence...to assess control risk at less than the maximum," the auditor may "modify the nature, timing, and extent of planned substantive procedures" in reliance on the company's internal controls.[19] An auditor should perform control testing procedures to obtain that evidence.[20] If the auditor does not obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to support a control risk assessment below the maximum level, he or she should assess control risk at the maximum level for the relevant assertions.[21]

22. In connection with an integrated audit of financial statements and ICFR, the auditor must "plan and perform the audit to obtain appropriate evidence that is sufficient to obtain reasonable assurance about whether material weaknesses exist" in the issuer's ICFR as of the date specified in management's assessment.[22] In doing so,

---

[14] AU §§ 342.04, .07.

[15] See AS No. 13 ¶ 5(d).

[16] See AS No. 14 ¶ 27; AU § 316.64, Consideration of Fraud in a Financial Statement Audit.

[17] AS No. 14 ¶¶ 24, 25(d).

[18] See id. ¶¶ 5-6.

[19] AS No. 13 ¶ 16 & n.12.

[20] See id. ¶ 9(c)(1).

[21] See id. ¶ 33.

[22] Auditing Standard No. 5, An Audit of Internal Control Over Financial Reporting That Is Integrated with An Audit of Financial Statements ("AS No. 5"), ¶ 3. A the auditor should identify significant accounts and disclosures and their relevant assertions,[23] should test the design effectiveness of controls by determining whether they satisfy the control objectives and can effectively prevent or detect errors or fraud that could result in a material misstatement,[24] and should test those controls that are important to the auditor's conclusion about whether the company's controls sufficiently address the assessed risk of misstatement for each relevant assertion.[25] The evidence necessary to persuade the auditor that the control is effective depends upon the risk associated with the control: as the risk associated with the control being tested increases, the evidence that the auditor should obtain also increases.[26]

23. If an engagement partner supervises the performance of audit procedures by members of the engagement team, the partner is required under PCAOB standards to review the work of the team members to evaluate whether the objectives of the procedures were achieved and whether the results of the work support the conclusions reached.[27] In determining the extent of supervision necessary in such circumstances, the partner should also take into account the assessed risks relating to accounts that present a risk of material misstatement.[28] material weakness may exist even when the financial statements are not materially misstated. See id.

---

[23] See id. ¶ 28.

[24] See id. ¶ 42.

[25] See id. ¶ 39.

[26] See id. ¶ 46.

[27] See Auditing Standard No. 10, Supervision of the Audit Engagement ("AS No. 10"), ¶ 5(c).

[28] See AS No. 13 ¶ 5(b).

Background: Flagstar's ALLL

24. When Flagstar disclosed its financial statements for each quarter, one asset on its balance sheet was its portfolio of loans classified as held for investment ("HFI"). Certain of those loans were marked to fair value, but most were recorded at the value of their unpaid balances, with an accompanying ALLL that represented Flagstar's estimate of the probable future losses associated with those loans. Flagstar also disclosed on its income statement the provision for loan losses ("loss expense") by which it was required to reduce pre-tax earnings in order to maintain an adequate ALLL.[29]

25. GAAP required that Flagstar's methodology for estimating its ALLL ("ALLL methodology") include two separate, but related, processes. For impaired loans (i.e., loans for which Flagstar believed it was probable that it would not collect all amounts due based on an individualized assessment), Flagstar was required to establish a separate allowance for each loan.[30] For unimpaired loans, Flagstar was required to estimate its potential losses for the portfolio as a whole.[31] Flagstar calculated these potential losses by dividing the unimpaired portfolio into segments and then estimating the probable losses for each segment based on its historical loss experience.

26. To arrive at the ALLL that it disclosed in its financial statements, Flagstar multiplied the value of each segment of unimpaired loans by the estimated loss percentage for that segment, then aggregated those with the separate allowance for each of its impaired loans.

27. The reasonableness of Flagstar's ALLL, therefore, depended in large part on a number of complex and often subjective decisions, which were subject to the potential for management bias, such as: (i) properly identifying and valuing impaired loans; (ii) appropriately segmenting its unimpaired loans into groups that were sufficiently homogeneous that it was appropriate to apply a single loss rate to the entire group; and (iii) applying an appropriate loss rate, derived from Flagstar's relevant historical experience, to each unimpaired segment.

---

[29] See ASC 450-20 (formerly Statement of Financial Accounting Standard ["FAS"] 5, Accounting for Contingencies); ASC 310-10-35 (formerly FAS 114, Accounting by Creditors for Impairment of a Loan). This Order's description of audit failures relating to Flagstar's application of GAAP necessarily reflects the Board's judgment concerning the proper application of GAAP; any such description, however, should not be understood as an indication that the Board or the Commission has considered or made any determination concerning Flagstar's compliance with GAAP.

[30] See ASC 310-10-35.

[31] See ASC 450-20; see also ASC 310-10-35-33.

28. During the summer of 2013, Flagstar sold two bundles of nonperforming and restructured residential loans ("Spartan Loans").[32] It then removed the data regarding the Spartan Loans' historical losses from its ALLL model.[33]

Background: Kosiek's Awareness of Issues Raised by the OCC Prior to 2013

29. Flagstar's methodology for calculating its ALLL was reviewed by the OCC, one of its federal banking regulators. As part of Baker Tilly's reviews and audits of Flagstar's financial statements, Kosiek regularly communicated directly with the OCC to learn the results of the OCC's reviews. Kosiek gave weight to the OCC's views in making his own determination concerning Flagstar's compliance with GAAP.

30. On October 23, 2012, the OCC and Flagstar agreed to a Consent Order that, among other things, required Flagstar to "adopt written policies and procedures for maintaining adequate [ALLL] in accordance with [GAAP]," including "procedures for validating the ALLL methodology."[34] Specifically, the OCC required Flagstar to adopt "written policies and procedures for maintaining adequate [ALLL] in accordance with [GAAP]." The OCC further required that the policies and procedures at a minimum include procedures for determining loan impairment consistent with GAAP, procedures for segmenting the loan portfolio consistent with GAAP, procedures for validating the ALLL methodology, and a process to ensure that Flagstar's Board of Directors reviewed the ALLL.[35]

31. In its Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2012, Flagstar reported an ALLL of $305 million, which required it to take a loss expense against earnings of $276 million, an increase of $100 million from the prior year. For the 2012 fiscal year, the company reported net income of $68 million.

32. As the engagement partner on the Flagstar audit since 2010, Kosiek was familiar with the OCC's views concerning Flagstar's ALLL, the Consent Order generally, and how Flagstar reported on its ALLL at year end.

---

[32] "Spartan" referred to an internal project and not the name of a bank.

[33] When non-performing loans are removed from the loss history of an ALLL model, the model's projection for the performance of similar remaining loans that are performing improves because the model considers it less likely that those remaining loans will also become non-performing.

[34] Flagstar Bancorp, Inc., Form 8-K, filed Oct. 24, 2012, attaching the Consent Order.

[35] The Consent Order remained in place during the 2013 Audit discussed herein. On December 20, 2016, Flagstar announced that the OCC had terminated the Consent Order.

2013 Audit

33. Kosiek acted as the engagement partner for the integrated audit of Flagstar's FY 2013 ICFR and financial statements. Based on that audit, the Firm issued an unqualified audit report on March 4, 2014, stating that Flagstar's FY 2013 financial statements were fairly presented in accordance with GAAP and that Flagstar maintained effective ICFR as of December 31, 2013. That report was included in Flagstar's Form 10-K filed with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission ("Commission") on March 5, 2014.

34. In its Form 10-K for FY 2013, Flagstar reported total assets of $9.4 billion, of which approximately $4 billion were HFI loans.[36] These loans consisted primarily of consumer loans, including approximately $2.7 billion of residential mortgages and home equity lines of credit, but also included commercial real estate and other loans.[37] Of the $4 billion HFI portfolio, $238 million was marked to fair value, while approximately $3.8 billion was recorded as unpaid balances with an accompanying ALLL of $207 million.

Kosiek's Knowledge of Facts Regarding Flagstar's ALLL Methodology

35. At the time of the 2013 Audit, Kosiek had been the engagement partner for Baker Tilly's Flagstar audit since 2010. He was, therefore, on notice, as a result of multiple events, that Flagstar management's process for estimating and reporting its ALLL might be affected by bias. Kosiek knew before and during the 2013 Audit that the OCC had concerns regarding Flagstar's ALLL methodology, and Kosiek identified "[c]ontinued criticisms from regulator examination reports" to be a risk of material misstatement. In response, he planned to monitor Flagstar's progress relative to the Consent Order to understand Flagstar's actions to address the items therein. As part of that monitoring, Kosiek understood that Flagstar had changed its ALLL methodology in part to address the OCC's concerns. Kosiek failed to obtain sufficient evidence to support his understanding, even when presented with indications that Flagstar, based on its assessment of portfolio performance and characteristics, including the exclusion of the actual losses incurred on the sale of the Spartan Loans from its historical loss experience, had not changed its fourth quarter ALLL methodology. He therefore failed during the 2013 Audit to sufficiently evaluate whether Flagstar's approach to its fourth quarter ALLL methodology indicated management bias in the application of the ALLL accounting policy.

36. Kosiek, who had been the engagement partner for Baker Tilly's Flagstar audit since 2010, had knowledge of the OCC's continued concerns about Flagstar's ALLL methodology and was aware that the OCC had not yet terminated the Consent Order. He also knew that Flagstar was planning to reduce its reported ALLL from $305

---

[36] See Flagstar 10-K at 127.

[37] See id. at 142, 168.

million to $207 million, resulting in the company recording a loss expense of only $70 million for all of FY 2013. Kosiek failed, however, both to apply appropriate professional skepticism to his audit procedures concerning Flagstar's ALLL methodology and to evaluate whether these events were indications of bias in the application of accounting policies.[38]

37. Regarding segmentation for its residential loans, Flagstar used two factors—loan to value[39] and credit score of the loan holder—to segment the portfolio. Flagstar told Kosiek that: (i) it was adjusting the two risk factors—loan to value and credit score—that it used to segment its residential portfolio, and (ii) it had concluded based on internal analysis that, in light of that adjustment, additional segmentation factors were unnecessary to address the OCC's concerns. Kosiek failed to perform sufficient procedures to determine whether Flagstar's adjustment and internal analysis had been appropriately performed in the fourth quarter of 2013 and if the resulting ALLL was an appropriate estimate. Kosiek thus failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to allow him to evaluate whether the data underlying Flagstar's adjusted segmentation was complete and accurate or whether the adjustment obviated the need for additional segmentation factors.

38. Concerning the Spartan Loans, Kosiek came to understand from a "company-prepared summary" that, in part to address the OCC's concerns, Flagstar was adding the Spartan Loans' performance history back into its FY 2013 analysis through a qualitative adjustment during the fourth quarter. Other than reviewing this client-prepared document, however, Kosiek failed to obtain any audit evidence to support his understanding. As discussed below, both his understanding and this failure persisted even after the engagement team received and documented a later representation from Flagstar that contradicted Kosiek's earlier understanding.

Kosiek Violated PCAOB Standards in Auditing Flagstar's ALLL Controls and Methodology During the 2013 Audit.

39. Kosiek failed to obtain sufficient evidence during the 2013 Audit that Flagstar's ALLL controls were designed and operating effectively, and also failed to properly evaluate Flagstar's ALLL methodology in the context of its reported financial statements.[40]

---

[38] See AS No. 13 ¶ 5(d).

[39] "Loan to value" is a comparison between the unpaid balance of a loan and the value of its underlying collateral, such as a house in the case of a residential mortgage. Generally, loans that represent a large share of (or exceed) the value of the collateral are considered to pose a higher risk of default.

[40] This Order's description of audit failures relating to Flagstar's ICFR necessarily reflects the Board's judgment concerning the proper application of Internal

40. At the time of the 2013 Audit, Kosiek came to understand from a "company-prepared summary" that, for its year-end FY 2013 financial statements, Flagstar would make another attempt to respond to the OCC's concerns by taking a number of steps to improve its ALLL methodology. These steps included adding the loss history of the Spartan Loans back into the ALLL model through a qualitative adjustment. Kosiek carried out the 2013 Audit in reliance on that understanding, despite obtaining no other evidence to support it, and, as discussed below, failed to respond to evidence that Flagstar had not, in fact, added the Spartan Loans back into its model.

Kosiek Failed to Obtain Sufficient Appropriate Audit Evidence Concerning Flagstar's ALLL Controls

41. In anticipation of Baker Tilly's audit report covering Flagstar's financial statements and its ICFR, Kosiek planned to audit Flagstar's ICFR both to support that aspect of the Firm's audit report[41] and to permit reliance on Flagstar's controls over its ALLL to reduce the extent of the engagement team's substantive procedures concerning that account.[42] He failed, however, to obtain sufficient audit evidence to accomplish either objective.

42. In connection with both the ICFR and the financial statement audit, Kosiek determined that the ALLL was one of the highest risk accounts on the balance sheet. He also recognized that the valuation assertion was the most significant assertion for the ALLL account, and that the valuation assertion presented a significant risk of material misstatement. Under PCAOB standards, therefore, Kosiek was required to make the valuation assertion for the ALLL a focus of his attention for the ICFR audit, and to obtain an increased level of evidence to support his conclusions concerning controls over valuation.[43]

43. Kosiek failed, however, to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence concerning both the design and the operating effectiveness of Flagstar's ALLL controls. First, Kosiek did not obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence that the ALLL controls were designed to even address the valuation assertion.

44. Second, Kosiek knew that his team's testing of the operating effectiveness of Flagstar's ALLL controls consisted merely of reviewing and commenting on Flagstar's

---

Control – Integrated Framework, issued by the Committee of Sponsoring Organizations of the Treadway Commission; any such description, however, should not be understood as an indication that the Board or the Commission has considered or made any determination concerning whether Flagstar's ICFR contained a material weakness.

41 See AS No. 5.

42 See AS No. 13 ¶ 16 & n.12.

43 See AS No. 5 ¶¶ 11, 46.

documentation of its internal control testing process, documentation that identified operating deficiencies in the ALLL controls related to management's review process, documentation process, and change control process. Kosiek failed to take any additional steps to obtain sufficient appropriate evidence to conclude that Flagstar's ALLL controls were operating effectively.

45. As a result, Kosiek failed to comply with PCAOB standards when he failed to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to support his unqualified ICFR report, and when he assessed control risk at below maximum without having obtained sufficient appropriate evidence to support an assessment below the maximum level.[44]

Kosiek Failed to Obtain Sufficient Appropriate Evidence Concerning Flagstar's ALLL Methodology for the Financial Statement Audit.

46. Despite failing to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to support a control risk assessment for the ALLL below the maximum level, Kosiek, in fact, modified the nature, timing, and extent of his substantive procedures as if he had. This reliance on Flagstar's controls over its ALLL violated PCAOB standards.[45] Additionally, he failed in other ways to obtain sufficient appropriate evidence that the ALLL, including the valuation assertion, was reasonable when auditing Flagstar's financial statements.

47. As stated above, because the ALLL was an estimate, Kosiek was required by PCAOB standards to perform procedures to evaluate the ALLL both individually and in the larger context of management's financial reporting, including by performing procedures to address the possibility of management bias. Kosiek failed to perform these required procedures with due professional care, including professional skepticism.[46]

48. First, Flagstar's ALLL for its unimpaired loans was calculated by a model that received inputs from multiple internal reports, some of which provided the information on which the model segmented the loan portfolio into what were represented to be homogeneous groups, and some of which fed into the loss rate that the model calculated for each segment based on historical experience. Kosiek planned that the Baker Tilly engagement team would evaluate the reasonableness of the ALLL by reviewing and testing management's process for using those reports in the ALLL model. Consistent with that approach, the team received copies of the internal reports from Flagstar, but PCAOB standards required that in order to use those reports as evidence, Kosiek should have evaluated whether the information was sufficient and

---

[44] See AS No. 5 ¶ 3; AS No. 13 ¶ 33.

[45] See AS No. 13 ¶ 33.

[46] See AU § 230.02.

appropriate for purposes of the audit by performing procedures to test the accuracy and completeness of the information.[47]

49. Kosiek failed to perform procedures to obtain sufficient evidence concerning the accuracy and completeness of those management reports. In fact, Kosiek failed to obtain any evidence of completeness as to any of the reports, and as to most of them he failed to obtain any evidence of accuracy. For example:

- The reports from management concerning consumer credit scores and loan-to-value information formed the basis for the segmentation of the residential loans into what were represented to be homogeneous groups within the ALLL model. Kosiek failed to perform any procedures, such as reviewing loan files, to test the accuracy and completeness of the credit score and loan-to-value information.

- Other reports from management contained the historical loss experience that was used to calculate the loss rate for each segment of residential loans. Kosiek failed, however, to perform any procedures to test the accuracy and completeness of the historical loss information.

- For Flagstar's commercial loans, Kosiek planned that the engagement team would perform a review of specific loan files to obtain evidence concerning Flagstar's commercial risk rating process. During the audit, he decided to rely instead on processes conducted by Flagstar and its agents. Kosiek failed, however, to perform procedures to test the accuracy and completeness of the information generated by those processes. For the first half of the year, Flagstar's loan file reviews were performed by an outside consultant; for the second half of the year, they were performed by internal reviewers. Despite the fact that the outside consultant detected weaknesses in Flagstar's risk rating systems caused by "[i]ncomplete or inaccurate credit analyses," Kosiek simply assumed, without evidence, that Flagstar's commercial risk ratings for the entire year were accurate and complete.

50. Second, in evaluating the ALLL estimate itself, Kosiek failed to obtain sufficient evidence that the estimate was reasonable, and failed to adequately evaluate whether Flagstar's application of its ALLL methodology indicated management bias. Other than the management-provided reports mentioned above, the only additional evidence Kosiek gathered concerning Flagstar's ALLL methodology was (i) management documents describing the methodology, (ii) evidence concerning the basis for certain qualitative adjustments that Flagstar made to its projected loss rates, and (iii) evidence from a recalculation procedure that the ALLL model calculations were mathematically accurate. This evidence did not, as a whole, provide him with sufficient appropriate audit evidence to determine whether the ALLL was properly valued, and Kosiek did not adequately evaluate whether management was biased in its application of the ALLL methodology.[48]

---

[47] See AS No. 15 ¶ 10.

51. For example, one important aspect of Flagstar's ALLL estimation process was its identification of impaired loans to be segregated for individual assessment. Kosiek failed to perform, and failed to ensure that his team performed, any procedures, such as reviewing loan files, to obtain evidence concerning Flagstar's process for identifying impaired loans. In fact, Kosiek knew that the Baker Tilly engagement team did not review any loan files, consumer or commercial, during the 2013 Audit. These failures occurred despite Kosiek's knowledge that the OCC had concerns about Flagstar's ALLL methodology, and that the OCC had not yet terminated the Consent Order, which, among other things, required Flagstar to include policies and procedures for determining loan impairment consistent with GAAP.

52. Third, Kosiek failed to properly evaluate management's estimates as a whole, both by failing to evaluate the estimates in total for bias and by failing to conduct a retrospective review of those estimates. During the planning phase of the 2013 Audit, Kosiek planned to conduct a retrospective review of Flagstar's accounting estimates, including its ALLL, and in fact Kosiek believed at the time that such a review was performed. He took no steps, however, to review any work papers to verify that the procedure had been performed or what the results were. He therefore failed both to conduct the retrospective review and to properly supervise his team in the performance of its procedures.[49] Additionally, Kosiek failed to evaluate whether the cumulative effect of differences between estimates included in the financial statements and estimates best supported by the audit evidence indicated potential management bias in the estimates.[50] These failures occurred despite the fact that Kosiek identified the ALLL as a significant risk and identified Flagstar's valuation of its ALLL, a management estimate, as one of the highest risk areas of the audit, which should have affected the extent of the supervision necessary on the engagement team's work concerning the ALLL.[51]

53. Fourth, Kosiek failed at the end of the 2013 Audit to adequately evaluate the qualitative aspects of Flagstar's accounting, including potential management bias in accounting estimates, and to perform adequate analytical procedures to evaluate unusual or unexpected amounts or relationships in Flagstar's financial statements. These failures occurred in part because Kosiek failed to act upon updated management

---

[48] See AU §§ 342.04, .07; AS No. 13 ¶ 5(d).

[49] See AU § 316.64; AS No. 10 ¶ 5(c).

[50] See AS No. 14 ¶ 27.

[51] See AS No. 13 ¶ 5(b).

representations that he received in February 2014 concerning Flagstar's treatment of the Spartan Loans.

54. On February 19, 2014, two weeks before Baker Tilly's audit report was issued, Kosiek read and assessed the principal ALLL work paper. The work paper documented Flagstar's decision to set the 2013 year-end ALLL at $207 million—the exact same amount as Flagstar's September 30, 2013 ALLL.

55. The work paper also contained a note from Kosiek's engagement team explaining, in part, why the ALLL had not changed from the third quarter to the fourth quarter—namely, that the team had received a new management representation in January 2014 that, contrary to Kosiek's understanding, Flagstar was not going to re-introduce the Spartan Loans' loss history back into its ALLL model for FY 2013 through an adjustment to its qualitative factors due to a lack of internal follow-up. Kosiek failed to respond to this information.

56. Five days later, on February 24, 2014, the day before Kosiek presented the results of the 2013 Audit to the Flagstar Audit Committee, Kosiek became aware of evidence that Flagstar's year-end ALLL may have been understated by at least $30 million. This $30 million amount represented over 40 percent of the loss expense that Flagstar planned to report for the year, as well as over 25 percent of its net interest income after the provision for loan losses. As part of the overall review, Kosiek failed to evaluate whether no change in the ALLL at year end was unexpected under the circumstances (despite his belief that Flagstar had introduced the Spartan Loans back into its ALLL model in the fourth quarter), and, thereby, failed to evaluate whether the evidence gathered in response to the unexpected ALLL amount was sufficient.[52]

* * *

57. On March 4, 2014, Kosiek authorized Baker Tilly's issuance of an unqualified report on Flagstar's financial statements and ICFR. This authorization was based on his conclusion that Flagstar's financial statements, containing an ALLL of $207 million and a loss expense of $70 million, were fairly stated. In coming to this conclusion, Kosiek failed to adequately evaluate (i) whether the evidence he had gathered in response to unusual or unexpected events was sufficient, and (ii) whether he had obtained sufficient appropriate audit evidence to support his opinion on the financial statements.[53]

---

[52] See AS No. 14 ¶ 6.

[53] See id. ¶¶ 6(a), 33.

58. As a result of the above conduct, Kosiek failed to perform the 2013 Audit with due professional care, including professional skepticism.[54]

59. On May 9, 2014, Flagstar filed its Form 10-Q for the first quarter of 2014 with the Commission. In its first-quarter 2014 financial statements, Flagstar reported an ALLL of $307 million, a $100 million increase over year-end 2013, only three months earlier. The higher estimate was due, in part, to Flagstar's adding the loss history of the Spartan Loans back into its model. As a result of its higher ALLL, Flagstar was required for the first quarter to take a provision against earnings of over $112 million.

E. Kosiek Failed to Make All Required Communications to the Flagstar Audit Committee.

Applicable PCAOB Auditing Standards

60. PCAOB Auditing Standard No. 16, Communications with Audit Committees ("AS No. 16"), requires that the auditor make certain communications to the client's audit committee at the conclusion of an audit, including: (a) changes in management's significant accounting policies and practices;[55] (b) any significant changes management made to the processes used to develop critical accounting estimates or significant assumptions, a description of management's reasons for the changes, and the effects of the changes on the financial statements;[56] and (c) any other "matters arising from the audit that are significant to the oversight of the company's financial reporting process," including "complaints or concerns regarding accounting or auditing matters that have come to the auditor's attention during the audit and the results of the auditor's procedures regarding such matters."[57]

Kosiek Violated PCAOB Auditing Standards Concerning Audit Committee Communications.

61. As stated above, Kosiek was aware during the 2013 Audit that Flagstar's year-end ALLL may have been understated by at least $30 million. Under the circumstances, Kosiek was required to inform the Flagstar Audit Committee about such evidence. Kosiek was also required to communicate to the Audit Committee more generally the effect of the Spartan Loans sales on Flagstar's accounting estimates. Kosiek failed, however, to communicate any of these matters to the Audit Committee, either at the February 25, 2014 meeting or at any other time. Kosiek therefore failed to comply with AS No. 16.

---

54 See AU §§ 230.02, .07.

55 See AS No. 16 ¶ 12(a)(1).

56 See id. ¶ 12(c).

57 Id. ¶ 24.

IV.

In view of the foregoing, and to protect the interests of investors and further the public interest in the preparation of informative, accurate, and independent audit reports, the Board determines it appropriate to impose the sanctions agreed to in Respondent's Offer. Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that:

A. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(E) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(5), Timothy M. Kosiek is censured;

B. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(B) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(2), Timothy M. Kosiek is barred from being an associated person of a registered public accounting firm, as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(9) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 1001(p)(i);[58]

C. After two (2) years from the date of this Order, Timothy M. Kosiek may file a petition, pursuant to PCAOB Rule 5302(b), for Board consent to associate with a registered public accounting firm; and

D. Pursuant to Section 105(c)(4)(D) of the Act and PCAOB Rule 5300(a)(4), a civil money penalty in the amount of $25,000 is imposed upon Timothy M. Kosiek. All funds collected by the Board as a result of the assessment of this civil money penalty will be used in accordance with Section 109(c)(2) of the Act. Kosiek shall pay this civil money penalty within ten (10) days of the issuance of this Order by: (1) wire transfer in accordance with instructions furnished by Board staff; or (2) United States Postal Service money order, bank money order, certified check, or bank cashier's check (a) made payable to the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, (b) delivered to the Controller, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006, and (c) submitted under a cover letter, which identifies Kosiek as a respondent in these proceedings, sets forth the title and PCAOB release number of these proceedings, and states that payment is made pursuant to this Order, a copy of which cover letter and money order or check shall be sent to Office of the Secretary, Attention: Phoebe W. Brown, Secretary,

---

[58] As a consequence of the bar imposed in this Order, the provisions of Section 105(c)(7)(B) of the Act will apply with respect to Kosiek. Section 105(c)(7)(B) provides: "It shall be unlawful for any person that is suspended or barred from being associated with a registered public accounting firm under this subsection willfully to become or remain associated with any issuer, broker, or dealer in an accountancy or a financial management capacity, and for any issuer, broker, or dealer that knew, or in the exercise of reasonable care should have known, of such suspension or bar, to permit such an association, without the consent of the Board or the Commission."

Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 1666 K Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20006.

ISSUED BY THE BOARD.

/s/ Phoebe W. Brown

_____

Phoebe W. Brown
Secretary

April 26, 2019

PCAOB
Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

1666 K Street NW
Washington, DC 20006
Office: (202) 207-9100
