Managed Document Review

Our managed document review experts deliver comprehensive legal review globally - from initial project planning to completion of your matter with laser focus on review effectiveness. Using Virtual Managed Review (VMR), we drive-efficiency at every step, ensuring provision of key information early in your case and frequently throughout the review. This enables your teams to defensively manage your matter, deliver quality results and drive cost reduction.

FTI Consulting's managed document review service, Acuity®, simplifies the complex document review process with an integrated approach – with one point of contact and accountability for the entire document review, from processing to production. Acuity® workflows combine analytic technology and specialised teams required for projects of any magnitude – all in direct collaboration with counsel. We recruit and retain our own review lawyers, including foreign language experts, who are trained on our platform and processes, and a variety of case types, ensuring any review can be efficiently executed with confidence.

SPEED

The quicker you can identify relevant data, the sooner you can develop a case strategy. Acuity® workflows utilise advanced analytics with leading e-Discovery review software, including Relativity and Nuix Discover (formerly known as Ringtail), to reveal key facts quickly with more depth than standard review methodologies. Informed and responsive review strategies can begin within days of implementing a project and can be updated daily as new insights are derived from the data.

QUALITY

You shouldn't have to sacrifice quality for cost. Hourly rates and line item pricing decoupled from an efficiently managed document review process can ultimately result in higher overall costs and potentially impact review quality. With decades of experience in legal review, we provide clients optimal outcomes without sacrificing quality or budget.

EFFICIENCY

Some of the greatest efficiencies can be achieved with workflows designed for a specific case type, or which can be adapted as priorities and requirements change. Our expert review managers bring real-world experience to each project and are uniquely qualified to advise on workflows in collaboration with counsel to maximise efficiency and accuracy from start to finish. Proactive review management ensures your project stays on schedule and budget.

FTI Consulting staffs a core team of review lawyers who are expertly trained on the Acuity® workflows. Our multi-lingual review teams are able to quickly find relevant data in multiple languages, translate inline and deliver results securely.
